So because killing is not possible or eternal, only superficial function, show, so no pain of being killed there, only for the līlā of Kṛṣṇa. Such show has been affected there. Both parties, the loser and the gainer, both parties are satisfied ultimately. Like a drama, a play. So, it is such. Because all is eternal, can't be harmed, but only a play, to produce some satisfaction for Kṛṣṇa, a play. If drama is done to satisfy suppose the king or the audience, so for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa and His men the drama is going on. Something like that. That is not for show but that is really the substance, that is the difference. It is not a show, only superficial. But if our deepest interest is there, that is līlā. Here it is a play, a show, but there that is līlā, the heart is there, fully, heart's satisfaction is there.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Who was that dhātri, dhātri means, what is it? Who was with the boy. In his lap he began to control the boy. "That you have got this maṇi on your neck." And from Kṛṣṇa's higher place, He was concealed, private place, He heard that dhātri. Dhātri means that Pūtānā who came in the garb of?

Devotees: Witch.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Witch? Not in witch. An artificial form of a mother, in the garb of a mother, disguised. So that dhātri, who is supposed to help the mother.

Devotees: Nurse. Dhātri means nurse, one of the seven mothers.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not nurse exactly but guardian nurse, nurse as guardian. He came with the boy, with the gem on the neck of the boy, around, Jāmbavān's son, and she began to sing this poetry, poem.

And Kṛṣṇa caught from there, “Then it is all right, that gem is here.”

simha prasena avadhuta simho jambavata sukha mada kamadabi tava desa [?]

“Such a valuable gem you have got around your neck, and boy you are crying. What is this?”

There Kṛṣṇa caught that, “Here is the gem.” And just came to snatch it, and the dhātri fled away, being afraid. And there was an uproar, and then they came and then the fighting began.

_____ [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The fight was going on for long time, twenty eight days or so perhaps. And the Yādavas they thought that Jāmbavān has killed Him, and they all came away, and performed Kṛṣṇa's śrāddha. And there placed in such a way that śrāddha's food, that gave strength to Kṛṣṇa more. And then He began to fight with greater vigour.

Then Jāmbavān thought, "What is this? I can't defeat this man. I did so many things in Tretā-yuga, and this ordinary man I can't fight him out. So I must have committed something wrong against Rāmacandra."

With a special mālā he put in the neck of Rāmacandra and that came to fire, and then found that same mālā is on the neck of Kṛṣṇa. "What is this? Again go, this is there, how it can come here?" Then he was perplexed. "Who are you? You're fighting a month with me, which is impossible for any human being. And how is it that garland has come around your neck? Who are you? You are Rāmacandra Himself."

Then there was a compromise. Jāmbavatī was given to Him, and the gem also. Presentation, the gem was given to Him.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. This is Dvārakā līlā. Vṛndāvana is more. [?] Dvārakeśa, when He finds His own photo of Him in Vṛndāvana life, He becomes charmed Himself, what to speak of others. When He Himself finds His Śrī Mūrti of Vṛndāvana, Kīśora, He becomes little outside.

Normal position. So charming, Kīśora, Nanda Kīśora. Yaśomatī Nandana. This parakīya, the rareness makes it more valuable.

A glass of water on the battlefield, only one glass of water is so valuable in a battlefield when a man is dying, a general is dying, only for a glass of water.

So circumstance makes it sweet or bitter. Circumstance. And that is done by Yogamāyā, Baladeva, potency of Baladeva. He's at the backing. Jñāna, bala, krīya, ca, feeling, thinking, willing. Bala, energy, that is arranged in such a way as to make possible the play, to perform the circumstances favourable to the play. Vṛndāvana.

So Rādhārāṇī though met in Kurukṣetra, the very Kṛṣṇa - "That He's that very Kṛṣṇa, I'm that very Rādhā, but still no pleasure. I want to have Him in Vṛndāvana. That is My place there where I'm free."

Vṛndāvaneśvarī. Hari-niṣkuṭa-vṛndā-vipineśe. [From Rūpa Goswāmī's Śrī Rādhikā-stava, 1] She's all in all in Vṛndāvana. There She wants Kṛṣṇa otherwise She's not happy with any half hearted _____ [?]

That gives Her more pain.

So Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura wanted that, "I shall construct a thatched cottage in Kurukṣetra and there I shall pass the rest of the days of my life."

Both are nearer to one another, but the pangs of separation is more acute. Very near but They cannot meet, cannot be united according to Their necessity and will. So that is at the highest point, the spirit of separation. And that is the time when we should serve our [?] Service is more valuable there only, according to the necessity. There the necessity of the service in its highest form. They're both there but can't meet. Can't meet according to Their own way. So the feeling of separation in its highest point, and that demands service, acute and the most intense service for both the parties at that time. They're going to faint, can't contain Their own personality, going to faint. This is the moment when service is necessary, very urgent.

And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says, "There I should construct a cottage and pass my days, the whole life trying to render service to my Lord and Lady, my Master and Mistress. Service is valuable according to the urgent necessity. There we can fetch more value from a little service.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

What Kṛṣṇa told, the external meaning was, “All people come to Me with affection for their best benefit. You have got also affection for Me, so you also will serve Me.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. The external meaning. And the internal meaning, “All people will come to Me to show affection for their highest benefit. I am the goal of everyone. And such am I, and that I, has highest affection for you. All people want Me, and I want you, to be fulfilled in My life. So you rest assured, wherever I be, I am yours.”

When Rādhārāṇī came to understand the meaning of that śloka in this way, She was satisfied, She came back. “He’s coming. He’s coming very soon.” With the satisfaction of Her heart He came back.

sei śloka sunera radha kunde sakha badha krsna prapti [?]

“Wherever He may be does not matter, but He’s mine.” That confidence satisfied Her, that He will come very soon to Vṛndāvana.

And Jīva Goswāmī has shown, nitya līlā, Gopāla Temple, that Kṛṣṇa came to Vṛndāvana. That is another kalpa. But Mahāprabhu and the Goswāmīs, they have arranged the līlā in Mathurā, up to Mathurā of Sanātana Goswāmī. Up to Mathurā, it was necessary in the rasa, then after [?] again the wheel moves in such a way, the wheel of time again comes to his former position. Just as after the summer, the winter comes, so Mathurā go on.

Again such circumstance, environment was created that Mahārāja Nanda has no child for long time, Yaśodā childless, pray, they can get some child. Such atmosphere in such time again comes suddenly. And they began to expect that Nanda must have a child, Yaśodā must have a child. She's worshipping this god, that god, "I may be blessed with a child." Then again that comes in, Kṛṣṇa comes in Mathurā. Vasudeva carries Him to here. And this līlā goes to, after development, goes to Mathurā again. Kāmsa is killed. After [?] wheel again comes. Sanātana Goswāmī has described in such a way in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, up to Mathurā.

*[krsno 'nyo yadu sambhuto yah purnah so 'styatah parah] vrndavanam
parityajya sa kvacit naiva gacchati*

[The Kṛṣṇa known as Yadu-kumara is Vasudeva Kṛṣṇa. He is different from the Kṛṣṇa who is the son of Nanda Mahārāja. Yadu-kumara manifests His pastimes in the cities of Dvārakā and Mathurā, but Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the son of Nanda Mahārāja never at any time leaves Vṛndāvana, even for a moment.]

[Laghu-Bhāgavatāmṛta, Purva-khanda, 165] & [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 7.42]

Vṛndāvana means Vraja-maṇḍala, up to Mathurā, because that sort of separation, that is also a peculiar rasa. Vipralamba rasa, that is a necessary part of rasa, otherwise this sambhoga rasa may not go on independent. So there must be prabāsa. Then again the wheel comes in the same position. In this way nitya-līlā is going on. The sun is being set and again sun rising, in this way, a cyclic order. Everything which is to continue for eternity, that is posed in a cyclic order, automatically it goes.

Anurādhā: So what is the position of Devakī? She doesn't have any children. Her last son also taken.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Devakī's child has gone back to her.

Anurādhā: When?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From there he goes to Dvārakā. That part. Devakī also goes to Dvārakā. That is another part. That is not Vrajendra-nandana, not Kṛṣṇa of Vṛndāvana. That is Devakī-nandana, Vasudeva. From Mathurā to Dvārakā, all these play. Rūpa Goswāmī has connected between the two līlā, he has given some connection. That is also very peculiar.

I asked, “Why this difference between Rūpa and Sanātana?”

Our Guru Mahārāja, he answered in a word, “Why it has been told as adhokṣaja? Acintya bhedābheda, everything is possible simultaneously.” That was his word.

Rūpa Goswāmī has connected, he has taken from Vṛndāvana in a modified way Rādhārāṇī, then Candrāvalī, then Jāmbavatī, all from there to that Dvārakā līlā. Lalitā was Jāmbavatī. You say Anurādhā, Lalitā. She was Jāmbavatī there in Dvārakā. And Rādhārāṇī became Satyabhāmā. And Candrāvalī became Rukmiṇī. Rukmiṇī, Rādhārāṇī as regard sentiment, Rādhārāṇī had the highest position in Vṛndāvana. But Candrāvalī was more clever. And in Dvārakā in some lower position that cleverness comes to the higher position, and sentiments go down, in lower level. But in Vṛndāvana, sentiment has got the highest position. And Rādhārāṇī _____ [?] everyone there, sneha. Love, sentiment, bhāva. But as regards this intelligence of lower order in Dvārakā, that gets the supreme position, that soberness; intelligence and sober. Rukmiṇī, she got the higher position _____ [?] lower position. The lower gets higher position there. In this way. Hare Kṛṣṇa. These are very high talks.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: for Kṛṣṇa.

Badrinārāyaṇa: She always acts humble.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: British say ‘humbug.’ Hindenbug, Hindenburg. Self Hindenbug, as well as self Hindenburg, German.

Devotee: [?] This is one letter from her. One, two, three...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Three letters came from her.

Badrinārāyaṇa: She took Hari Nāma mantra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, Hari Nāma [?] Devotees: [?] Devotee: That letter was so beautiful, I can remember.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very sincere, heartfelt appeal.

Devotee: They were going through much difficulty.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: My Guru Mahārāja, he desired me to go to the west, I did not go. Now he is fulfilling his desire in some way or other. It is his wealth. Of course, all my Godbrothers mostly say that what I say, they feel that our Guru Mahārāja is saying that, of that nature, in my talk, my speech is of his nature, ontological. As Mahāprabhu, He was the highest scholar, and then He came to be a devotee. So the real devotion is above scholarship, above knowledge. Karma, jñāna, anāvṛtam. Crossing the exploitation and renunciation, then there is the exploitation of Kṛṣṇa, not of any plurality but of unity. So words must cross, must be conscious of these two outer coatings. Then talks from that realm, it will have something.

*anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyam, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam [ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-

["One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa favourably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.1.11] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.167] & [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.21.11, purport]

These three covers, anyābhilāṣa, fleeting desires, karma, organised exploitation, morality, and then renunciation, liberation. These three layers, outward covers, must be crossed, then the domain of reality. And one must talk from that plane, being conscious that this salvation and elevation, all down. From that plane one should talk. And the sweetness of that plane will be real sweetness, sweetness proper. That is devotion proper. Otherwise it is a mixture, something. It is anyābhilāṣa, karma, and jñāna, mixture, yoga, karma, jñāna, anāvṛtam. From that plane I should talk. That is śuddha bhakti, bhakti proper.

Has she any inclination for song, any capacity, singing, any connection with?

Devotee: I like bhajans very much.

Anurādhā [?]: She says she likes bhajans.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And of what character, bhajan means that singing?

Devotee: Singing, yes kīrtana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is most, or talking, or reading, or worshipping?

Devotee: Singing with instruments. I like musical instruments.

Devotee: She likes musical instruments.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And interested in Vṛndāvana līlā of Kṛṣṇa? Eh?

Devotee: Interested in Vṛndāvana līlā of Kṛṣṇa?

Devotee: Oh. Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: More interest with the service of the gopīs?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. So I shall go now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You don't know what is kṛpa?

Devotee: Yes, I know what is kṛpa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is kindness, you know. That has got its quality. One may give, a poor has come without food, begging for food, you can give some food, that is a kindness, kṛpa. A material transaction, to help materially, that is also kṛpa, of lower kind. So education, the solution for the food, no longer begging, given a job you work and earn your food, that is greater kṛpa. In this way we are suffering.

Our ultimate suffering, janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhī [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9], the kṛpa of those that are above the standard of janma-mṛtyu they will then some knowledge get out from this disease, that is kṛpa. From higher to lower, the help that comes, that is kṛpa. Kṛpa means help, from higher to lower. The higher stage, what he extends his help towards the lower, that is called kṛpā. So in the lower level, material, and the mental, and the spiritual, the gradation is there. So kṛpā proper which can help us from all sorts of wants, that is spiritual help, generally that is known as kṛpā. Real kṛpā is our spiritual extension, extension of spiritual knowledge and love. That is kṛpā, which comes from higher to the lower. That help, it begins from lower level, and it goes up to the highest level, kṛpā. The help that comes from upper towards lower.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The gentleman who has come yesterday, is he here?

Devotee: Yes, Vedānta Prabhu.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: ...[17th] verse, 4th Chapter, Bhagavad-gītā.

*karmaṇo hy api boddhavyaṁ, boddhavyaṁ ca vikarmaṇaḥ akarmaṇaś
ca boddhavyaṁ, gahanā karmaṇo gatiḥ*

[The intricacies of action are very hard to understand. Therefore one should know properly what action is, what forbidden action is and what inaction is.] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.17]

So Swāmī Mahārāja, in the purport he's saying like this: "If one is serious about getting free from material bondage, one must apply himself to an analysis of action, reaction and perverted actions, because it is a very difficult subject matter. To understand all this one has to associate with authorities in Kṛṣṇa consciousness and learn the secret from them.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the beginning? Akarmaṇaś ca boddhavyaṁ, gahanā karmaṇo gatiḥ. The most unintelligible, unknowable. That is infinite probability, karma. To energise, karma means to energise. Its result, its consequence is unlimited. According to the posing it will fetch different results.

kiṁ karma kim akarmeti, kavayo 'py atra mohitāḥ [tat te karma pravakṣyāmi, yaj jñātvā mokṣyase 'śubhāt]

[Even very learned men are baffled in ascertaining the nature of action and inaction. Some cannot comprehend action, while others cannot comprehend inaction. Hence, I shall now teach you about such action and inaction, knowing which you will attain liberation from the evil world.]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 4.16]

What is karma, what is absence of karma? To understand this the scholars also are befooled. Then what is the beginning of the śloka?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Karmaṇo hy api boddhavyaṁ, boddhavyaṁ ca vikarmaṇaḥ.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Karmaṇo hy api boddhavyaṁ, boddhavyaṁ ca vikarmaṇaḥ. What is vikarma, what is karma? Boddhavyaṁ ca vikarmaṇaḥ. Akarmaṇaś ca boddhavyaṁ, gahanā karmaṇo gatiḥ. What is akarma, what is vikarma, what is karma? Karma means generally which is recommended by the śāstra, that varṇāśrama dharma. That is karma. Vikarma, immoral action. And akarma, to stop all sorts of energising. That is not possible altogether. One must take food, one must sleep, one must work. So akarma, akarmaṇi ca karma yaḥ.

[One who realises that the selfless action performed by the man of pure knowledge is never subject to bondage and is therefore in fact inaction whereas the abnegation practised by a renunciate of impure heart is the ill-fated cause of bondage he is, among men, the intelligent yogī and factual executor of all works.] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.18]

He's the real intelligent man who can find karma in akarma, and akarma in karma. That means that by controlling our inner self we can get out of karma. A man, yoga-sthaḥ kuru karmāṇi, [saṅgaṁ tyaktvā dhanañjaya siddhy-asiddhyoḥ samo bhūtvā, samatvaṁ yoga ucyate]

[“O Dhanañjaya (Arjuna), after giving up desire for the fruits of action, situate yourself on the path of devotion (bhakti-yoga). Equally disposed to success and failure, carry out the duties prescribed according to your nature. To remain equipoised in either success or failure of the outcome of action is certainly known as yoga.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.48]

A man who is, who works properly adjusted, that does not want any consequence of his karma, really akarma is there. And when one wants to, in mind he's wanting so many, when mind is fickle, always moving, wanting this or that without checking that he stops the external karma, that is foolishness. So karmāṇi akarma, he's seen to do many karma outside but he does not want any result. He's in really akarma. And the one who has stopped all his physical activity but mentally thinking of so many things, he's in karma. Not only physical, external, but internal position should be marked very carefully.

na hi kaścit kṣaṇam api, jātu tiṣṭhaty akarma-kṛt [kāryate hy avaśaḥ karma, sarvaḥ prakṛti-jair guṇaiḥ]

[No one can remain without acting even for a moment. Everyone is forced to act helplessly, stimulated by the modes of material nature. Therefore, it is improper for a person of impure consciousness to reject the purificatory duties prescribed by the scriptures.] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.5]

Really none can stop wholesale the karma.

śarīra-yātrāpi ca te, na prasidhyed akarmaṇaḥ

[Perform your ablutions, worship, and other daily duties. Since even bodily sustenance is not possible without action, it is better for an unqualified person to perform his duty rather than renounce it. By giving up fruitive action and regularly performing your daily obligatory duties, your heart will be gradually purified. Then, surpassing the plane of renunciation, you will attain pure devotion, beyond the mundane plane.]

What more? Even you cannot live altogether if you leave all karma. You must take your food, you must go to the latrine, this is also karma. But to get out of karma does not mean that we should get out of the physical karma, but the mental desire, karmana vasana. That is the real karma and not external. Externally we can do anything, we can kill the whole brahmāṇḍa, still, we may not do anything. So external activity has got no value. The valuation of karma is within, vasana. I want something separate. The ordinary wave, the universal wave is passing. And I want to put something special on it. I can't, do not adjust with the universal wave, but a separate wave I want to create. That is karma. And that will come in clash with the universal wave. So many, local, provincial, so many waves there are.

But the final wave, the most fundamental wave, that of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, I must come to understanding with that wave, that harmony. Then I'm not in karma. I'm dancing with the universal wave. That is what is necessary. And without that, in whatever planes, different waves are going, if I participate there, identify there, then I have got reaction, I will have to get reaction. That is karma. Karma proper means to create wave of separate interest in this world. So such attempt internally, that you face, and what nirguṇa wave is going on Kṛṣṇa consciousness, you must come in understanding with that Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And then there will be no karma.

Otherwise all different waves are creating according to separate interest, that is all karma, of different waves. Everyone is suffering from his own karma, reaction. Reaction clashes with the higher wave and becomes destroyed, in this way. So internally try to get out of the spirit of karma. That is, try to be one with Kṛṣṇa consciousness, that universal wave, and dance there in that. Vikarma means immoral action, karma that moral action is better than that, but again akarma, that vaidantic karma that is to give up all internal desires for different resolution, all stop. Then a party wants samādhī like slumber.

But the Vaiṣṇava they want to connect with Kṛṣṇa consciousness which is a dynamic one and healthy wave, all good, absolute. That is dynamic and not static like the Buddhists and the Śāṅkarites, not nirvana. But they can connect with Kṛṣṇa consciousness which is moving, and that is the ultimate, the wave of love. The wave of love, and beauty, charm, mercy, that wave, connect with that. So movement, or giving and taking, that is not bad. But there must not be black marketing. It must be based on universal truth.

He's the possessor. He can deal absolute with everything. We can't do. But if we think ourselves that, 'I'm a king, I can do, I can give,' ultimately it's not possible for me. We're all black marketeers. From the possibility of prospect we make transaction and ultimately we fail and we are victim of reaction. This is the matter.

Vikarma, karma, akarma. Vikarma, kukarma one thing. That is immoral, not recommended by the scriptures. And varṇāśrama karma, that is generally karma, do this, and further instruction you will get when you will finish this duty. Then naiṣkarmyam which is recommended by Bhāgavatam, jñāna- virāga- bhakti-sahitaṁ naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ.

śrīmad-bhāgavatam purāṇam amalaṁ yad vaiṣṇavānāṁ priyaṁ yasmin pāramahaṁsyam ekam amalaṁ jñānaṁ param gīyate tatra jñāna-virāga- bhakti-sahitaṁ naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ tac chṛṇvan su-paṭhan vicāraṇa paro bhaktyā vimucyen naraḥ [“Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is the spotless Purāṇa. It is especially dear to the Vaiṣṇavas; it has knowledge that is especially appreciated by the paramahaṁsas. When carefully studied, heard, and understood again and again, it opens the door to pure devotion through which one never returns to the bondage of illusion.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.13.18]

The naiṣkarmya, the yogīs and the jñānīs, by naiṣkarmya they understand like this, samādhi, that is eternal slumber. But Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam says that bhāgavata naiṣkarmya, that stop your selfish activity and act for Kṛṣṇa. That is naiṣkarmya. Jñāna, vairāgya, bhakti, with all this naiṣkarmya, give up your selfish transaction, work for Kṛṣṇa. The stopping of every movement is naiṣkarmya, it is not. Naiṣkarmya means to give up all local desires, separate interest, and work for universal, Kṛṣṇa consciousness. That is naiṣkarmya proper in Bhāgavatam. And that is different from the speculation of the salvationist that only in samādhi, eternal slumber, there is naiṣkarmya. Bhāgavata dismissed that, Vaiṣṇava School. The naiṣkarmya to join the universal movement, karma. That is naiṣkarmya proper. Jñāna-virāga-bhakti-sahitaṁ naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ. So Bhāgavata naiṣkarmya means proper bhakti, busy, but busy for Kṛṣṇa's interest. That is naiṣkarmya, a dynamic naiṣkarmya, not a static naiṣkarmya recommended by the yogīs and jñānīs vaidantic.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Do you follow?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes. At the initiation the karma is taken by the spiritual master, that is a fact? And we're struggling actually to become free of karma, yes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To do everything, that will help, that will throw yourself in nirguṇa movement, Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Throw yourself, the teaching underlying in mantra, throw yourself to Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Connect with naiṣkarmya proper. Work on behalf of Kṛṣṇa, not for any selfish, or any national, or social group, extended selfishness there.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: In Sudhīra Goswāmī's seventeen page paper he mentions Bon Mahārāja_____ [?] from England. And he said to yourself and Swāmī Mahārāja, “There were questions that cannot be answered. There were questions in the west, the westerners were asking questions that could not be answered.” So I was wondering, because the next line says that, “You answered all the questions. You asked him what are the questions and you answered. And Swāmī Mahārāja, he spoke, “Today India has conquered the West.” Yes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When I answered and he could not say anything, then Swāmī Mahārāja pronounced, “Here Europe is defeated by Asia.” He told this, “Europe is defeated by Asia.” This was pronounced by Swāmī Mahārāja at that round table conference.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I was interested when I read that to ask if you can tell us perhaps some of those questions and some of those answers.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I do not remember it now. I shall have to try hard to again remember them.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: There is one question that the Christians come with in our preaching activities in the West. And it is one difficult question to answer. I was wondering if you might say something about: In the Bible and also the Koran there is some mention against idol worship. So this is one complaint they have against us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is their inconsideration. If we can use the sound, why not the colour and figure. God is not within the sound, He's above sound. The ethereal expression. Then this light, heat, all these mundane. Sound is also mundane, but if sound can be utilised to have any idea of Him, why not the colour, figure and other things. Those emblems also similarly may be utilised for His purpose. It's a general question. We can't avoid sound. Some sort of medium must be necessary from that world to this world, some symbol. Generally they use sound. We also lay much stress on sound, śruti. But if śruti, the sound can be utilised in the mundane plane to understand the transcendental thing, then why not the colour, the figure and other, the taste? Everything will have some contribution, can help us to certain extent. If sound can do, the others can do more or less. Everything can be used an emblem to take us to that realm. Do you follow? On that basis, if He can come through sound, He can come through colour, He can come through figure, He can come through taste, He can come through touch. He can approach towards us in any way. Only ear, but ear is extensively admitted by all. We also lay much stress in śruti. But at the same time we admit that He can approach to us in this mundane world through every possible medium, He can come. Then what is the objection there? He can come only through sound, mundane sound and He cannot come in other way He cannot approach us?

One thing, another gentleman told, one Christian Father was explaining Bible in a meeting and one boy, the old man told, "When I was a boy, at that time, when that Father explained that Moses saw in his dream that such and such things happened, the boy asked to the Father, that in dream he saw God, but in what form he saw? He saw, it is written in the Bible that Moses in dream he saw that God has come to him and He's addressing, saying, in what form, in the dream. Must be form of some way or other. What is that? And if that form may be seen in dream, why not that may be utilised when we are awake?"

"This boy has put a very serious question. Yes, I shall try to think it out and answer tomorrow.”

The general basis that He’s transcendental, it is all right. But we’re in the mundane plane, we cannot but He can communicate with us in any way. Generally sound is the most subtle. So through sound He can communicate with us. But why the other things should be neglected, only the ear? The eye, the nose, everything can be used as His weapon to approach us, a medium. All sorts of medium may be used by Him to approach us, to embrace us, and that is true, not only one. Their idea of God is a vague one, no definite conception of what God is, a hazy something. So their ways of obtaining Him also something like hazy. But here it is clear in all phases.

prati aṅga lāgi kānde, prati aṅga mora

[“Every part of My being cries for the corresponding part of Him.”] [From Jñāna Dāsa’s Vaiṣṇava-padāvali - Anthology of Vaiṣṇava Songs]

My every limb can be utilised for corresponding limb for His service. This is full-fledged theism, not haphazard, not at distant, but full-fledged and very near, very close connection with Him. So all these things must have to come. But everything is transcendental. When we approach the Deity, the eye is not the master of the subject mind to measure Him. He’s seeing me. I’m there as an offender and I’m standing in such attitude. He may have a kind glance on me, that my sins may be removed. The subjective conception there. Not only wood, or white colour, all these things, but He’s in the subjective realm. He’s in the superior position and He may cast a graceful glance towards me. Then what sort of seeing? And their figure is also, suppose the coronation day, do they not put the portrait of the King and garland, all these things, they do not do?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, any utility, or all ludicrous? To show some veneration to the photo of the King, or any father, what is this, it is all ludicrous? Or there is some substantial message there, showing respect to their photo?

So why this cannot be utilised for His case, the Almighty who can do anything and everything? I cannot approach Him, but He can approach me in any way He likes. And it is His ordination that He will come in every way. It is possible, not impossible, not unreasonable. All reasonable thing. He can come through sound, He can come through eye, He can come through touch, He can come through taste. Why not? What is the reasonable objection to that?

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Do you follow?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes, I follow Mahārāja. Guru Mahārāja, specifically the Bible states, “A graven image, or an image carved by one man.” That is the opposition to that sort of thing, that a man could actually carve an image of God. They are saying this is wrong.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If you understand this then you’ll be able to understand all other subsidiary questions. All sounds are not God sound. It depends on the man. If a father is well established, his word about God is not equal with another ordinary man as God. So the sound, vaikunṭha-nāma-grahaṇam [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.2.14] So some may see idol. All does not see idol. All sound may not be effective about God but, vaikunṭha-nāma-grahaṇam. So there is nāmāparādha, nāmābhāsa, viśuddha-nāma. In the sound also there is classification. A sound from a proper plane, it will be effective and not any imitation sound. So also in the case of the idol, and everywhere, it is such. The quality must be present there. It must have some connection with the Lord, the mundane and the transcendental sound. This Śrī Mūrti and the doll, transcendental and mundane, the conception there is different.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Prasāda also, when the Vaiṣṇava has taken to take that, mahā-mahā-prasadam. Only one is taking prasadam that is not prasadam, there is degree of the presence of divinity there. The gradation is there everywhere.

In Vighraha darśana, Mahāprabhu used to have darśana of Jagannātha, tears flowing from His eyes incessantly. Can we have such darśana when looking at Jagannātha? And Mahāprabhu was not an ordinary foolish man. As a scholar also He was a genius. And how did He see the Deity? With tears running down, incessantly, like a stream. What does He see? Is He only wood?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, if prasadam is distributed to the mass of people, they benefit, yes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It depends upon who is the director, who is at the bottom, it depends on him, his connection with divinity.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: As to whether it is properly sanctified?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The current must be there. Only wiring has no value. Do you follow?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I'm hearing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Electric wiring but no current. So vaikuṇṭha-nāma-grahaṇam, the Vaikuṇṭha connection, transcendental connection must be there. Otherwise form is form, useless. But the spirit must be within the form. Form is also necessary, wiring also necessary to utilise the electric current. But mere wiring has got no utility. The current must be there. So prasāda distribution, all these external exhibition, but if the real connection with divinity otherwise all trade, otherwise ulterior motive may be there as a business. Yati Goswāmī, the Bhāgavata reading, taking money and reading Bhāgavata, is a class of trade. That may be trade, but if the man who is at the back he has got sincere connection with the Lord, then the connection coming and pervades everywhere, that is prasādam. Otherwise imitation. Imitation is not a real thing.

So Bhaktivinode Ṭhākura's congregation saṅkīrtana. At least one man, the leader of the party must be śuddha bhakta, pure devotee, the kīrtana party guided under a pure devotee. Then we shall join that, otherwise all will be dancing and jumping in the mundane plane. Connection must be there, the electric connection. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: How can one perceive that connection? This requires some...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That who has got eye, for that we have to get eye.

om ajñāna-timirāndhasya jñānāñjana-śalākayā, [cakṣur unmilitaṁ yena,

Our own realisation will be the guarantee, our own knowledge. We see that sort of eye, that is given by Gurudeva. Ajñāna-timirāndhasya jñānāñjana, cakṣur unmilitaṁ. The cataract is removed by Gurudeva, he gives the divya darśana, the divine eye. Divya cakṣur, dīkṣā, dīkṣā means, divyaṁ jñānaṁ yato dadyāt, [kuryāt pāpasya saṅkṣayam tasmād dīkṣeti sā proktā, deśikais tattva-kovidaiḥ]

Transcendental knowledge is imparted. And as much as he has got that sort of knowledge he can detect, as in other fields, other cases. How we can know whether this is a gem, it is gold, or it is brass? How to detect whether it is glass, or it is diamond? How we can detect? The expert knowledge must be there. And one who has got that knowledge he can detect. The fools, ordinary persons, ignorant, cannot differentiate. Everywhere this is applicable. Whenever we go to purchase anything, the medicine, this, that, everything may be tampered, imitation. And this [?] how we understand. Here also, something like that. That expert knowledge must be there. Mundane, what is mundane, what is transcendental. The sevonmukha, the sincere, the sevā, where it is meant for the service of the Lord, or to fulfil some ulterior purpose of him. Who has got that fine eye they can detect.

jigana vaisnava cinya loilya arya kori vrajave [?]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, “We shall serve Vaiṣṇava. But before that we shall have to get the capacity of recognition who is Vaiṣṇava who is non Vaiṣṇava. Only this figure, tilak, mālā, dress, that cannot be the criterion of a sādhū. All these things we’re to understand. And that capacity of recognition is possible, and that is dīkṣā, divya jñāna. We’re all expert in some stage, in some plane. We’re to differentiate things everywhere, every time, the gold marketing, this, that. We’re to discriminate. We must have that knowledge, otherwise we’ll be exploited by the merchant. If we can know the thing before purchasing. So everywhere, in every stage of life, that understanding with him. So it is only with the case of divinity, transcendental truth. That is also possible, only transcendental eye, transcendental capacity, judgement. That must be with us.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Devotee [Nārada Muni?]: Mahārāja, there are numerous reasons why I have left.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Have you seen Swāmī Mahārāja? Did you see?

Devotee: Prabhupāda.

Devotee: No, I have not.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: I came from San Jose, California with Bhakti Sudhīra Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You're coming now?

Devotee: Just now, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That was the zone of Tamāla Kṛṣṇa?

Devotee: I was in Austin, Texas, Mahārāja.

Cornelius: Does that mean that we have to give up material life at once, and become...[?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not at once: gradually, according to one's own particular case. Who has got much affinity towards worldly life, suddenly, if he leaves that, he may not keep up, he may again go down. So, according to personal question, individual question, that is to be. But we should have our eagerness always to give up everything and to devote us exclusively for the highest duty. That sort of. And who will have courage enough, he'll jump into the unknown. "Kṛṣṇa will protect me. I'm jumping in the name of God. He's everywhere. He will take me on His lap." With this idea he may jump, who has got such eagerness for the truth.

Cornelius: For ten years, I've tried to come into this process for ten years. In ten years I keep from eating the meat, and fish, and eggs. I don't want all the outward material things, I have no attraction for them. I have leave this all behind. But there's only one thing what is, I want to give it up, and also, I don't want to give it up! This is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: He's saying that he has been trying to enter purely this process of devotion, and he has been able to give up everything except for one attachment, one thing, and that is he smokes ganja, and he likes the effect of that.

Cornelius: And I've also tried not to smoke that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a small thing. The real difficulty is women for the men. And the second, money, and the third, good name, fame. If classified, then these three things are our enemy. And this ganja, intoxication, that is a small thing, anyone can give it up easily. But these three things are fundamental aspiration of every animal, whether a tree, whether a bird, whether a man, whether god, these three are everywhere. But this intoxication, and other fleeting habits, they're very negligible thing, and they can be conquered very easily, gradually, it is a gradual process, it will go in gradual process.

Cornelius: But I can't... for ten years I...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As you have come, and you have entered in gradually, so you are to come out gradually, and not suddenly.

In the time after War, that Goering, Goering was a great intoxicating man. But when put into jail, no intoxication is supplied, as a law. Then he got sick, and the treatment went on, but no intoxication was supplied for the prisoner. You know it well, I have seen it from the newspaper that Goering, he was habituated to take much intoxication, Hitler's air general. But when he was put into jail, he was not supplied with any intoxication, so he was sick, and the treatment went on, and he was cured, that disease was cured by the medicine.

So with this opium, we have seen with our own eyes, so many opium eaters also came in the Maṭha, and they left it gradually. Generally these ordinary sādhus, they use this ganja. Ganja helps concentration, but that is material mind, concerned with material mind, and disturbs the faith, the enemy to the faith. Only faith can take us there, śraddhā, and not any material intoxication. But the misguided souls, they think that ganja, siddhi, charas, so many things helps in our meditation. It may do something, but that is limited, that will frustrate in time of need, and cannot rise up very high, cannot help.

Cornelius: I know, but I cannot keep from the ganja. I keep from the tobacco, the coffee, alcohol, opium,...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, coffee, this tea, the betel, everything, this tea also, tea, coffee, betel nut, all these things, that is Kali. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam advises us that these five things should be rejected, should be renounced.

[abhyarthitas tadā tasmai, sthānāni kalaye dadau dyūtaṁ pānaṁ striyaḥ sūnā, yatrādharmas catur-vidhaḥ]

Dyūtaṁ, gambling, that is diplomacy. Pānaṁ, this intoxication. Dyūtaṁ pānaṁ. Striyaḥ, this unlawful, illegal woman-love, striyaḥ. Sūnā, then this butchering. And the transaction of the gold. Trade in gold, that is also very apathetic to ones progress in the line of faith. Very tempting towards them. What to speak of this mania that intoxication will help me in my meditation about the transcendental, Devarṣi Nārada says,

yadvat, tathāddhātmā na śāmyati]

Even by prāṇāyāma, by meditation, what we acquire, that is for the time being, no permanent effect. Only śraddhā, in bhakti mārga, in śuddha bhakti, the basis is only faith and sādhū saṅga. The association with the saint, and the good scripture, and the faith, and no other help, that is all material calibre. Even mental meditation, that is also not to be relied on, what to speak of physical things, material things, even mental things, that prāṇāyāma, pratyāhāra, all these things, dhyāna. This is all empirical, ascending method. But ascending method cannot give us that. Descending method to be adopted. He can come down, we cannot go up. This basic principle should be understood. He can come down to my plane and take me up, but I cannot go by the dint of my own abilities of different kinds. Can't even touch His domain. So subtle, and so great, so noble. This is the basic position of both the parties. He can connect, but I cannot connect. Only I shall hanker, "You please come." He's positive, I'm negative. So, I should encourage my quality of negativity that I'm the most wretched. I'm the most desirable fallen soul, that needs the best help, best attention of You. So wretched, there is no other. Please come down to help me, to deliver me from this lowest position. This is progress.

Even Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanya Deva says that, “I'm shedding tears so much in the Name, taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] But it began with some other thing. That is acquired fortune, bhāgyavān jīva, sukṛti.

[brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya bhakti-latā-bīja]

When we are wandering in this universe unconsciously we come in contact with so many saints, and anyhow we collect some spiritual tendency from them. And that is accumulated, to be as śraddhā, and then when śraddhā is awakened, one can come to the saint proper, and surrender to him. Ajñāta- sukṛti, jñāta-sukṛti, then śraddhā, ādau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅgo’.

ādau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅgo’ tha bhajana-kriyā tato’ nārtha-nivṛttiḥ syāt tato niṣṭhā rucis tataḥ athāśaktis tato bhāvas tataḥ premābhyudañcati sādhakānām ayaṁ premṇaḥ prādurbhāve bhavet kramāḥ associating with pure devotees. Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness.”][Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

That maybe come anywhere and everywhere. Now he's in America, perhaps in previous life he was in India, or in some other place, or he gathered some sukṛti. Sukṛti means energy. Unconsciously one's energy is utilised by the saint, and as a reaction some sukṛti comes there. One's energy. Suppose one has built a garden, some sādhū came and took the flower and offered to the Deity. The energy of the man who created that garden, he gets something in return, because by his energy the flower has been produced and flower is offered to the Lord. And then the reaction, whose property, that flower, he gets. Or one has dug a tank, and one saint comes and takes bath there, and also with the water, he offers to the Lord. Man who has built that tank, he gets something in return. In this way, unconsciously. In this way, sukṛti is gathered, and when accumulated to a certain degree, then it produces what is known as śraddhā. Then when that śraddhā he gets, śraddhā guides him. Śraddhā means faith. Faith guides him towards a proper person, and then the transaction begins, his spiritual life begins there.

The scientist, Jagadish Bose here, and another gentleman far away perhaps in America or England, both at the same time came to invent that electric wireless. Wireless was discovered by Jagadish Bose, here, and far away, perhaps in England or anywhere from another gentleman. They both combined, in the same time, far away, but they came in consciousness of electric power. Some Faraday or someone.

So also devotion, may awakened here, and in America, in Africa, and everywhere. Not only in human species, but even in animals also we can trace that sukṛti, or śraddhā. It is possible. A dog may have sukṛti, and he will roam, wander about the temple and guard the temple properties. Dog's fortune has taken him to engaging him in the service of the Lord, it is also possible. Trees also, there are so many plants whose flower is dedicated to the Lord, but not all. He has got that birth as a particular flower, and he's serving as a plant, serving the Lord. The milk cow, giving service, that is going, offered to the Lord. In this way, anywhere the sukṛti may be gathered, and that produces śraddhā. Śraddhā means faith, proper faith, and faith takes us to the sādhū, then the transaction on the surface begins. Otherwise all underground. So, anything can be utilised, even stealing may be utilised for the service of God.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Cyclic order, Satya, Tretā, Dvāpara, Kali. Satya, Tretā, Dvāpara, Kali. Cyclic order, as a result of the, the consequence of the karma of the collective persons. The collective karma-phala, the result, the consequence of the karma, of the whole. Circumstances is created by the persons, collectively. At the same time it has got its advantage, so much so that even persons who really can understand the gist and substance of the thing and not the cover, they in Satya-yuga they pray for a birth in Kali-yuga. The special grant is in the Kali.

kṛtādiṣu prajā rājan, kalāv icchanti sambhavam [kalau khalu bhaviṣyanti, nārāyaṇa-parāyaṇāḥ kvacit kvacin mahā-rāja, draviḍeṣu ca bhūriśaḥ]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.38]

They aspire after a birth in Kali-yuga, in this age, this iron age. Everything is unfavourable, but still it has got its advantage, a great advantage. What is that? A special grant of the Lord, for the fallen. Just as at the time of famine, government helps the relief work begin. So, in Kali-yuga also, the Name of the Lord, if it is taken sincerely, it will absolve all difficulties and take him up.

*[kaler doṣa-nidhe rājann asti hy eko mahān guṇaḥ] kīrttanād eva

[Śukadeva Goswāmī tells Parīkṣit Mahārāja: “O King, the age of Kali, the repository of all evils, has but one glorious characteristic: in this age, those who simply chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa are liberated and reach the Supreme Lord.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.3.51]

Śukadeva says in the assembly of the great scholars and authorities of the then India in the spiritual line.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śukadeva says, [?]

Kaler doṣa-nidhe rājann asti hy eko mahān guṇaḥ. This iron age is full of all disadvantages, but one special advantage it has got. Kīrttanād eva kṛṣṇasya mukta-saṅgaḥ paraṁ vrajet. If one can chant the Name of Kṛṣṇa, he will be absolved from all sorts of bondage and difficulties, and he will reach the higher plane.

In the Nārada-Pañcarātra,

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If the medium is true, then anything can be utilised by him for the service of the Lord. Stealing property also, what to speak of by selling, getting money. If I steal something from another's house and give it to Gurudeva, and if Gurudeva utilises that for the service of the Lord, then my stealing is also justified because whose property I am stealing, he will get benefit from the service of Kṛṣṇa. So, I'm doing no harm to anybody, but I'm doing well. I'm distributing Kṛṣṇa. Because I'm using the energy of someone for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, and as a reaction whose energy he will be benefited. So, if Guru is all right, then under him, whatever we do under his direction then it will fetch some value.

In the Rāmānuja sampradāya we find that one Āḷvār, he engaged some dacoits. He first approached some moneyed men for the construction of the temple, Ranganatham, but they refused. Then he organised a party of dacoits, and by committing robbery, collected money and constructed. And at last by one clever man, he destroyed those dacoits also. In it is mentioned. And that man who managed, he was Āḷvār, means of eternal interest, parṣada bhakta, he came down from up to here. He used in this way.

So, stealing, stolen property also may be utilised for the service of Kṛṣṇa, and no harm because whose property is stolen he will get benefit unconsciously. So, what to ... by the sale of ordinary people, they are addicted to thievery and supplying them and getting money, and money paid to Gurudeva, and Gurudeva will utilise. So, that should not be any cause of leaving spiritual master.

But when spiritual master is engaged not in service, but ulterior motive is seen that he's not serving the master properly, and he's committing some aparādha, offence against the Lord and His servants, the Vaiṣṇava, then of course we must cut off his association.

Devotee: That is one other thing Mahārāja. When I came back to ISCKON, after being gone for six months, when I left at first, your Divine Grace was considered by all ISKCON devotees as a pure exalted devotee of Kṛṣṇa. And then upon my return, I'm hearing this, "That anyone who is associated with Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, and anyone who even thinks of him is a wholesale demon." That I could not understand. So, I cannot, I've formulated that this is some kind of offence to a pure devotee of Kṛṣṇa. And in order to save my spiritual life I cannot remain in that place any longer.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As a policy, they have taken such a step. Because Swāmī Mahārāja gave some recognition about me, and now after he has disappeared, general inclination of the mass that heard about me, their attraction will come naturally towards me. And if it be allowed in such way, then of course their position will be a little lowered. They won't be able to maintain their prestige, their activity, which has got so much respect in the country. That will be at stake. So they are taking some caution.

In the beginning they told, "Śrīdhara Mahārāja is too old, so none should go and see him, that means disturbance. So none should go to disturb him."

Because they thought that if they come in his connection then they may be attracted by his personality. But when they saw that in this way their motive is not going to be satisfied, then they took more strict measures. That none should go there, because in the meantime many who were living with them, many devotees of Swāmī Mahārāja, came with some complaints to me.

And at one time three Ācārya also they were found criminal to the committee. And I dissuaded them from taking, giving any punishment to them. That will be a great harm to the very institution, the very ISKCON, in general. Anyhow they submitted, they accepted my proposal.

But in the meantime many dissatisfied persons with ISKCON they came to me and complained. I put those complaints towards the committee. But they saw that it is not possible to obey by my request, accept my request. Then, these people being disappointed again and again approached me, and at last I told them, you form a committee and go on with 'relief work.' Those that are disappointed, dejected, by the behaviour of ISKCON, collect them together and keep them under the banner of Mahāprabhu and Swāmī Mahārāja. And they began that work. I asked them, don't be aggressive, no competition, but only relief work, with submissive spirit, to save those that are away from ISKCON. In this way many came, and now they have organised them, in some form or other, and going on in their activity.

So your, that Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja, that Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī, he's one of them. A very strong person, with very deep knowledge in the scriptures. And he found a special interest in my [?] recorded from, tapes from my discussions. And he's preaching that for the benefit of the people.

And many others came. Jayatīrtha Mahārāja, Ācārya of London, he also could not keep his association with the ISKCON, because they told him to stop totally any connection with me, they won't allow them to give my tapes, not even the words of our Guru Mahārāja.

They asked, "You must confine yourself to the books published by Swāmī Mahārāja. And you can't have any association with Śrīdhara Mahārāja or Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī."

But he refused that. "No. I can't." He told also in a modified way, "That amongst the disciples I shall discuss about Swāmī Mahārāja's work. And for myself, personal interest, I shall go through Śrīdhara Mahārāja, and Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī, and others."

"No."

Then he replied, "Then I cut off your connection. I can't cut off my connection with Śrīdhara Mahārāja, and Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura."

So he, and so many others, who lost their faith in present ISKCON, they come and trying to form a committee and going on independently there.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. You are a little sick?

Devotee: Little sick, yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some stomach troubles?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So you should take some diet, not take anything and everything, but curd, rice, and potato boiled diet only, and [?] powder. Boiled potato, [?] powder, and curd, and rice. No other curries or anything.

Devotee: Jaya Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: So, Mahārāja, so after hearing that they were once considering you pure devotee, and then they were blaspheming you. They were calling you demon, and they were calling everyone else demon that has anything to do with you. And so, in order...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're outside of ISKCON, and they're under those that differ from ISKCON, they're considered to be demons?

Devotee: Yes. They're saying that, "Unless one is in ISKCON one cannot go back to Godhead."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. Godhead of their concoction.

Devotee: Ah. So after hearing this blasphemy I could not stay in the association of ISKCON any longer. I had to leave, to save my spiritual life, because where there's blasphemy of a pure devotee I cannot stay. So then I have ran to San Jose to take shelter under your banner.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. How long you are out of ISKCON?

Devotee: Almost three months now Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Three months. And when you cut off the connection did you meet Tamāla Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja?

Devotee: I sent him one letter.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Letter, with the purpose?

Devotee: I sent him letter explaining, just to through out a feeler to see how he would react. I suggested, I submitted to him that I have accepted Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja as my śikṣā Guru, that I'm asking his blessings on this matter. But I did not get no response, in a personal response, but through one other medium, er, what's his name? Um? He just took, Ācārya?

Devotee: Pañca Dravida Mahārāja.

Devotee: Pañca Dravida Mahārāja, he had called on behalf of one other boy that also left with me. And he had said that, "Tamāla Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is not concerned about Nārada Muni, but he's wanting his other disciple, Paradoya. That is all he's concerned about." So that was my only response.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So another gentleman, who is he? He's the disciple of Tamāla Kṛṣṇa or Haṁsadūta Mahārāja?

Devotee: Tamāla Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja. His name is Paradoya dāsa. And he is also in San Jose with Bhakti Sudhīra Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So I hear that you have a mind to stay here for some time more.

Devotee: I have three month visa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Three month visa. August, September, October. And you are not required by Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja to go back to help him, no?

Devotee: No Mahārāja. He says I could stay as long as necessary.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Here? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari. The class, the pāṭ, that takes place here, you cannot understand. So Vidagdha-Mādhava Prabhu, you hold a class amongst them sometime.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: O.k Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometime, suitably. As Haṁsadūta Mahārāja used to take class [?] So either in this hall, or there in that room, together you take class [?]

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Discussions, questions answered [?]

Devotee: Mahārāja, we've been reading from The Nectar of Devotion, together, every night at around five o'clock we had started doing this. That was very enlivening, I found.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nectar of Devotion, _____ Devotion?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu.

[?] Ambrosia? A book? What is Nectar of Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, as translated by Swāmī Mahārāja?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a science of devotion. In a scientific way that has given us what is bhakti, to understand, what is devotion proper, what does it mean?

Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu.

82.07.27.A

Vidagdha-Mādhava: They're not initiated into ISKCON. They have known about ISKCON for some time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. These two?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: These three. This boys name is Cornelius, this is Hans, and this is Eric.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now, what for they have come to India?

Visitor [?]: Pilgrimage.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They speak Dutch? Vidagdha-Mādhava: They also speak English. Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: English also?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Visitor: We came to just visit the holy places like Navadvīpa, Vṛndāvana, Purī. That was the main reason we came to India.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How have you come to know all these things, by books?

Visitor: Yes, by books, Śrīla Prabhupāda, Bhaktivedānta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What books?

Visitor: Bhagavad-gītā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhagavad-gītā. Gītā As It Is by Swāmī Mahārāja?

Visitor: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. Long, long before, one German scholar he stressed his opinion that the Gītā is the highest spiritual book. And his point was that Gītā clearly advises us not to correct the environment, but correct your own self to adjust with the environment. That is the key of the advice of Gītā. Cure thyself. You have no power to bring about change in the environment. That is the Divine Will. That is irremovable. The result of all the forces that are acting outside, you have no hand to interfere with that. That will be useless loss of energy only. Try to correct yourself so that you can adjust with the circumstances outside. This is the key to success of life.

Visitor: We have to appreciate also the life outside.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo. [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8] You have your duty to do but don't aspire after the result, mā phaleṣu kadācana.

[karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana

mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi]

["I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

The result depends on the external force. You have your contribution. There are thousands of lākhs of contributions of others and the result, that will create the environment. So you may contribute, you may give up your quota. But what you will find, you are to take it as the best because it is the interference of the highest, of the Absolute there. That so many result of individual activity but harmonised by the Absolute Will. You are to see and look at it like that and adjust yourself accordingly.

tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam hṛd-vāg-vapurbbhir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya bhāḥ

[“One who, in the hope of achieving Your grace, goes on enduring the inauspicious fruit of his own karma, and passes his days practising devotion unto You in every thought, word, and deed - such a person is heir to the land of freedom: he attains to the plane of positive immortality.”]

In Bhāgavat it is said, and Gītā [2.47] says: karmaṇy evādhikāras te, you have responsibility in only discharging your duty, your quota, mā phaleṣu kadācana, and never aspire after any definite environment. It will go in its own way. You can't transform it, you can't change it, you have no power to change the circumstance, the environment. You try your best to change your own self so that the suit, that you may come in consonance with the environment. Karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana, never in the result, never in the consequence of your action. You are doing something but the result you find another thing. So because I work for this particular result and I don't find that so I should be discouraged? No. You go on doing your own duty and it is throwing in the Infinite and Infinite will shape it in Its own way. Whatever you are contributing, contribute it towards the Infinite and the Infinite will mould it in Its own way. You are not to detect that. If you do that you are lost. Karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana, mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr , so never aspire after any particular consequence for your action. Mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi, at the same time don't be idle, don't be worthless. Go on discharging your duty, go on discharging your duty independent of any consequence outside.

Visitor: But we have to remember Kṛṣṇa. While we are doing this we must remember Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Then you'll be able to come in the relativity of Kṛṣṇa, the Autocrat outside. And you'll gradually come to realise that that is friendly. When your previous actions will disappear in this way, you will find everything, every wave carrying good news to you. When your egoistic attitude will vanish you will find yourself in the midst of the sweet waves all around. To do away with what wrong you have done hitherto, such attitude is necessary. Do your duty, never expect for any definite result. You cast it towards Infinite and then one day will come when you'll find when your egoistic feeling will be dissolved and from within your real self, real member of the Infinite will spring up, awaken, you will find yourself in the sweet wave of the environment, everything is sweet.

madvena santosa dina damat santosana madhu madhu madhu [?]

Sweet, sweet, sweet, everything. The breeze is sweet, the water is sweet, the trees are sweet. Whatever you come in contact with, everything is sweet. Your internal ego is your enemy, and to dissolve that ego such process is necessary. Do your duty as you think fit, but never expect any response according to your will.

Then this karma-yoga if you adopt then in no time you will find that the wrong ego, or who was expecting something crooked for you selfish purpose, that vanishes, and the broad, wide ego within, that has come out, and you are in harmony with the whole universe. The harmonious world will come before you. The cover will disappear, the cover of our selfish desire, selfish end, that will disappear. The disease is within. The cause is not outside, for everyone. A paramahansa Vaiṣṇava, a saint, he sees that everything is all right, nothing to complain. The furthest extremity everything is good, everything is sweet. Then he comes to live in the plane of divinity. The ego is creating disturbance, and that ego should be dissolved.

In Bhāgavatam [10.14.8]: tat te 'nukampām, not only the environment is enemy, but we shall try hard to find out that this is the grace, whatever is coming to me like enemy, this is the grace of the Lord. I can't see. The dirt is on my eye. I can't see, I see rather opposite. But everything is divine. Such searching attitude is necessary. All grace of the Lord. Really it is so, but the disease in my eye, disease in my feeling, disease in my ear. I am diseased and if disease is cured I shall find I'm in the midst of the graceful world. I'm a member of the gracious world. Only the cover is deceiving me from having the real estimation of the world.

You will be a bona fide student of the devotional school, who will be able to accept such attitude towards the environment, towards the Lord, because we're to think that His will is everywhere. Even a straw that is shaking, it can't do so if not sanctioned by the Supreme Authority. Every detail detected and controlled by Him. In this way we are to look out on the environment, to be optimistic and the pessimism with me. My ego, that is responsible for all sorts of evil. This is Vaiṣṇavism. If we can do such, then in no time our disease will be cured and we'll be in the midst of ample, infinite blissfulness. Not to cure what we see on the outside, not to cure. Our tendency at present is like that, "That everything may be favourable to my will, my understanding," we all want that. "Let everything follow my control, my sweet will." Then we are happy. "Everything will obey me then I'm happy." But just the opposite direction to be taken. Do you follow? No?

Visitor: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

*tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā / amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ
sadā hariḥ*

[“One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa.”][Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

No resistance we should create for the environment. Tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api. Still if some attack, undesirable things come towards me, I am to forbear that. To my utmost patience I am to tolerate. I won't harm, but if some attack comes to me I shall have forbearance to the extreme. Amāninā mānadena. I shall honour everyone but won't seek any honour. In this way we shall contact with the sound aspect of the Lord Himself, the Name. This is with least energy, and in the least time we can attain our highest goal. The plane of Kṛṣṇa where He's living, that is the most fundamental plane. We can, our inner heart, our inner soul, all these encasements will vanish, die, and the inner soul will awaken and that soul will find that he's a plane in a sweet wave dancing. Dancing and merry making in Vṛndāvana, in relation to Kṛṣṇa and His followers, His group.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

What do you think? Is it unreasonable?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: No. It's completely ecstatic.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. Most general explanation, what is Vṛndāvana, not a fable, not any concocted story. The broadest, the widest plane of the whole universe, that is beauty and sweetness and blissfulness is there. We have to dive deep. The ego has floated us on the surface of trouble in māyā, illusion, concoction, imagination, the selfish aspiration, crookedness, most crooked. Seeking for our selfish satisfaction, searching for selfish satisfaction has taken us here. And that must be dissolved for final, for eternity, that must be dissolved. And from within that golden self will come out and find that he's in the plane of happy, dancing mood in Vṛndāvana, golokete sthiti. Self-determination, according to Hegel, self determination. Die to live. Die to live. If you want to have a real life, self-determination life, you'll have to die as you are at present, wholesale die.

Visitor: Leave the material life, leave all the material habits [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That ego, all these material habits from different births. Not only the experience of human birth but the animal birth, the tree birth, all these, so many births and those colours are collected in the ego in subtle forms. The wholesale dissolution of the ego, that concocted selfish figure within, that is the enemy and has covered me and my real self is buried under that, hopelessly. I do not know my own self, I do not know my own self, I can't recognise it. So far I have come from my real self. So much is the depth of my forgetfulness, I do not know who I am. So, "Die to live," Hegel says, the German philosopher. Perfectionism is the name of his philosophy. And "Reality is for Itself." The world is not created for our selfish end. It has got a universal end and I'm a part and parcel of that. I must come to an understanding with the whole. The whole is there. He's dancing and playing and singing in His own way, and I must go to enter into that harmonious dance. It is necessary. And I'm a point. "I shall want that the whole infinite that will be controlled by me. By my whim everything will go on." This is the most crooked and most heinous object ever conceived, and we are suffering from such disease.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Now any question, on this?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, they have one question. In the west, many people are afraid of the war. They're thinking it is coming soon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. That is a point in the line, or a line in the plane, or a plane in the solid. So many times wars are coming and going. So many times the sun, earth, the solar system, disappearing and again springing up. We're in the midst of such thought in the eternity. This is a point, what of that? Every individual is dying and the earth will die. The whole human section will disappear. Let it be. Try to live in the eternity, not any particular span of time or space. Prepare yourself for that, that eternal benefit, not any particular thing. You are to be conscious of the fact that sun, moon, planets, they come and they vanish, they die and again they are created. In such eternity we are to meet and live in. From that standpoint, religion covers that sort where you will go. Not only this body, even the human race, the animals, the trees, and with whole, the earth, the sun, all vanishes and again springs up. Karma, brahmaṇḍa, creation, dissolution, creation, dissolution. It will continue in the domain of misconception. At the same time there is another world which is eternal. We are requested to enter, to have a cottage in that plane which does not come in the jaw of death, of any change.

[na tad bhāsayate sūryo, na śaśāṅko na pāvakah] yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama

[“My supreme holy abode is that place which the surrendered souls reach, never to return again to this deathly plane. Upon going there, one never returns to this material world. Neither sun, nor moon, nor fire - nothing can illuminate that all-illuminating supreme abode.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.6]

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna [mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

[“O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth.”][Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

Up to Brahmā the creator, the creator himself also has to die. Ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna, up to Brahmaloḥka the whole material energy changes in such way. But if we can cross that area of misunderstanding and proper understanding area, then there is not creation, that is eternal. And our soul is a factor of that soil, a child of that soil, our soul. And the body and mind they're child of this soil which comes and goes, is created and dies. So we're to get out of this creation and death, dissolution. Yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramam mama. Mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate. You have gone through Bhagavad-gītā?

Visitor: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are in such area. What to do? So you try to get out, try your best to get out of this mortal area. And there is a zone, and you are really: śṛṇvantu viśve amṛtasya putrāḥ: really you are a child of the nectar that does not die. You are anyhow misguided here. But really you are a child of that soil which is eternal, no death, no birth. And with wide and broad heart we are to approach there. And that is our, Mahāprabhu, or Gītā, or Upaniṣad, Bhāgavat, they all say such. And that is very sweet, sweet home, back to God, back to home. So try your best to go home, and other also. "Come home my friends, let us go home. Why in foreign land we're suffering so much trouble unnecessarily." That is real, this is rather unreal. One springing, vanishing, springing, vanishing, coming, going, coming, going. A farce, from the world of farce, come to reality. That is the point. Not only one war, but wars after wars, wars after wars, so many, this civilised war.

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Your question again, over this?

Visitor: Maybe you can give some advice. It is difficult for us to make a choice.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: So Mahārāja, the question is, “How to attain this platform of eternity? How to escape this world of war?”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How you are getting this idea, how? This sort of dream, that this is a possibility, how are you getting?

Visitor: That it is possible to escape? I was reading in...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now you have come to, “How we can attain that?” This idea, how you have got?

Visitor: From Bhagavad-gītā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhagavad-gītā, that is śāstra and śāstra is also given by, written by whom? Some saint. So the association of the sādhū and śāstra.

*sādhū-śāstra-kṛpāya yadi kṛṣṇonmukha haya / [sei jīva nistare, māyā
tāhāre chāḍaya]*

The sādhū, saint, is a living scripture. And the scripture is also there in a passive way to advise you. Sādhū actively can approach, and passively we may get benefit from the scripture. The association of these two can help us to have our realisation in that way. Sādhū-śāstra-kṛpāya. By the grace of the scripture and the saints, the scripture personified who are living the life of the scriptural advice. They’re more powerful. By their association we can imbibe such higher, subtle knowledge and faith. Faith can lead us, śraddhā, faith. All our experience are futile. Just as if we are to connect with the sun and the moon, the air, earth, these instruments will fail. But only electricity will help to have connection with the furthest place. So śraddhā, faith, can give us information and the necessary achievement that faith can give us. It is far, far away, beyond the jurisdiction of our meagre limited experience of eye, ear, mind, all these things. It is very meagre, very limited. And faith can rise up and pierce through this area and go far away to the moon, sun, in this way.

Do you follow? Faith should be developed with the help of the scripture and the saints. That this is real and this unreal. This will be night, that will be day. Now this is the day and that is night to us, all darkness. The eternal world is dark to us, and we’re awake in this mortal world. But the opposite has to be effected. We must be awake there and this will be neglected and will be disregarded and it will be dark to us, night.

bhūtāni, sā niśā paśyato muneḥ*

[“While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self- realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his un-interrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

Do you understand?

Visitor: The Sanskrit I cannot understand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is night to one is day to another.

Visitor: This I understand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A scientist, he’s awake in some matter, and a dacoit he’s working in another plane. Two worlds, they’re living in two separate worlds. A saint is living in a particular world, and a rowdy is living in another world. Is it not? One’s day is night to another, can’t see. The ignorant ordinary persons cannot see what the Einstein and Newton has seen, they cannot see. And what they are seeing, they ignore it, they don’t see it, in selfish life, mundane.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Visitor: Should we associate with the saints of ISKCON, or with the saints from Caitanya Association?

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a direct question put. If you want my clear impartial decision I may say that what they're doing that is primary. They fail to catch the higher realisation. They're going at present in a business way. The connection with pure spirituality has been lessened there, degraded. As regards to the adherence with the highest ideal, the real ideal, according to me they have deviated and going lower to the material conception of the thing. The monopoly of trade, that is to enjoy the credit of their Gurudeva, exploiting the name of their Guru. Going far down from the high ideal, the abstract thing, and more or less being materialised. Organisation to be admired according to the ideal for which they're organised. The deviation from the high ideal, then the organisation will fetch a lower value. The ideal will have the best importance.

So I cannot give ditto to their activities, so they're now preaching against me. And I'm told that so much that they have been preaching me as a demon, and I'm injecting poison, according to them. Because I say that they're below the standard. A big organisation, that is good, approaching many souls for their delivery. That is one thing, that quantity. But as regards quality, they're lacking, according to my decision, as sincerely speaking as I feel I say so.

I have got my fifty-five years experience in the Maṭh, and seen many things, and experienced many things. Though it is not within this mundane experience, but experience with the association of the sādhū, that is something. And with that experience and aspiration, and as supported by our God friends also. What I can understand is that they're afraid of keeping, or making contact with Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Bhaktisiddhānta Saravatī Ṭhākura, and my faith. What I say, I'm saying from the beginning, from the time of Swāmī Mahārāja. They're also coming, during Swāmī Mahārāja's lifetime many came to me, even Swāmī Mahārāja, we had a talk. I think I'm in that standard, my talk is of that standard. But they say that is going against them, against their committee, their combined resolution. I have got my independent opinion. And when it comes in clash with them they say it is a poison.

Of course: sisye dikari ya nista [?] It is the fashion that the karmī will say: "This is the highest, not jñāna, not devotion." And the jñānī will say: "This is the highest, karma is also bad, devotion is also bad." To make firm the mentality of their own persons it has been adopted in the different departments of the scripture: "Do this faithfully. Don't disturb yourself with going this side or that side for then you'll not be able to finish your duty. So be attentive in your duty. This is the highest." This fashion has been adopted in the scriptures and by the Ṛṣis also. Sisye dikari ya nista saguna parika [?] Be attentive in your own duty. Don't look hither, thither. Then you won't be able to do your duty perfectly. So this process has been adopted by many. But still if we want to go up we must leave the place.

["It is better to carry out one's own duties a little imperfectly rather than faultlessly perform another's duties. Know that even death is auspicious in the discharge of one's duties appropriate to his natural position in the ordained socio-religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous."]

By discharging ones own duty he will rather die. Don't be carried by the ideals or duties of ABC and so on. Then when that stage will be finished he will automatically be put in the higher position. So jñānīs they say that: "This is all." The yogīs say: "This is the best." Still there is a possibility of comparative study and we are to note that bhakti, or pure devotion, that is the highest. And there is Nārāyaṇa devotion and Kṛṣṇa devotion, one is of love, another is of a sense of duty. The differentiation, the progress, is always there. And for the lower section it is necessary sometimes: "Mind your own lesson. Then don't go to put oil in the machine of others. Oil your own machine. Don't move hither thither." This is also a class of advice. But for the ambitious, they won't be satisfied with them, all won't be satisfied with that. They will hanker after progress, elimination and acceptance. Progress means elimination of the present and acceptance of the future, that means progress. So one who has got a hankering for the progressive life they're compelled to neglect all these things.

sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]*

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

"Give up all your duties. Come at once to Me. I shall look after you." This will attract them, more. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

82.07.27.C_82.07.29.A

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's high. I'm dependant to Him. And that consciousness, that is true. And if we can put himself in that plane of truth, then automatically He cannot leave me. He'll come to embrace me, according to my purity. And purity is negativity, not any positive thing. We're to think in that way. The śakti, and potency, not potency holder. The master of the potency is He, and we are potency, we are dependant. That is our position.

Visitor: We should be dependant on Kṛṣṇa all the time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm? What does he say?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: He's saying, "One must be fully dependant on Kṛṣṇa, His mercy."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. As much as the degree and intensity of dependent conception on Him will be within us, found within us, He cannot but be attracted towards us. We're not subject. He's super-subject. We may be subject of the objective world. But He's super-subject. He can make us object, but we cannot make Him object of our experience. He's adhokṣaja, transcendental, not to come within the jurisdiction of our sensual activity. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Anything else, enquiry?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Still, Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pure devotion, definition.

sarvopādhi-vinirmuktaṁ, tat paratvena nirmalam [hṛṣīkena hṛṣīkeśa-sevanaṁ bhaktir ucyate]

[“Devotional service to Kṛṣṇa means engaging all our senses in the service of the Lord, the master of all the senses. By rendering service to the Supreme Personality of Godhead, there are two side effects. One is freed from all material designations and one’s senses are purified.”]

[Nārada-Pañcarātra] & [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Purva-vibhaga, 1.10] & [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 13.7]

In all scripture, all the upādhi means foreign covers. The body, the mind, all foreign covers. We’re not represented there. This comes and goes like garments. But the soul within, that is with our own real acquaintance, the soul. And this mind and body are coming and going, changing like dresses. Sarvopādhi- vinirmuktaṁ, tat paratvena nirmalam. And only one ended, the all interest in Him, the centre current, that attraction towards the centre, which represents everything. That should be our characteristic. Tat paratvena nirmalam. Purity depends upon our faithful adherence to the centre, to the Almighty. That is chastity, that is purity, and that can give us enough, than we can imagine. This is devotion, thorough submission, cent per cent submission to the Absolute. There we thrive most.

ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-śīlanaṁ bhaktir uttamā]

["One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa favourably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.1.11] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19-167] & [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.21.11, purport]

So we're to understand what is devotion. Karma, jñāna, anāvṛtam, this energetic life, and the knowledge, they're enemy. Can you think that knowledge is enemy to a high soul? Can you think it? It is very difficult to think.

Visitor: Knowledge is an enemy?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That knowledge is enemy. That we're subject, we can know many things, that is enemy. Because, what I'm seeing, it depends on His will. He can show it in any other way if He likes. Nothing is stable, nothing is firm. His will.

"Let there be water. There was water. Let there be fire. There was fire."

Whole thing designed and destined by Him. So no fixed or stable thing. It is His will. Acintya bhedābheda. And that is inconceivable within our calculation, or our reasoning process. So submission, so faith and submission, that can give us our highest prospect. That is bhakti, jñāna-sunya-bhakti.

In the talk with Rāmānanda, jñāna miśrā, that I can know, as a subject, and I can make that my object of knowledge. This is a mania, this is false. As He'll like you to see, you're bound to see in that way. Your seer is under His control. You, the seer, is under His control. If He wants you to see that this is black, you are compelled to see black. If He says, "No. This is white." You are compelled to see, controls the seer.

So what is this world of experience? That has got no value. So give up that mania, that I can know.

_____ [?] the submission, devotion, jñāna-sunya-bhakti. I don't like any calculation. Only through submission. Whatever He will say, I will do that. I'm His slave, kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa'. That is the highest position of a jīva soul, and that can give us admission, visa into the highest loka. If we're so much faithful, then we're allowed to enter into the highest realm. So much faithfulness, blind faithfulness, so slave mentality, that has got real position there. And mastership, it will throw us down in the lower realm. And as much slave mentality we can develop within us, for His cause, we'll be taken in and in, higher and higher, nearer and nearer.

Blind love. The love, the beauty, is autocrat, it does not give recognition of any second thing. All comprehensive beauty captures, wholesale, captured by beauty, by love. That is the nature of beauty and love. And if you like to have that company, no injustice there, that is above even justice. That is the land of mercy. Justice, what we can think as justice is the highest thing, justice cannot enter there. So benevolent, so generous, so great, no possibility of injustice there. Beauty and love profuse, everyone may get it to their hearts fulfilment, no want. The land of love divine. No question of deception. No question of encroachment, selfish attempt. Where's the room for justice there? But justice cannot enter in that plane. It is so sufficient, so perfect, so full in its own way.

Gaura Hari. All giving. The competition of sacrifice. Competition of sacrifice, so many units all sacrificing, very eager to sacrifice to the highest point. And no selfish absorption, all giving away, just opposite to this world, all eager to give away. Die to live. If we can create such temperament within us, of welcoming death at every point, we'll gain in every point. Die to live. The Hegel's expression is very favourite to me, very dear, favourite, die to live. As much as you can die, you will find that you are living in such a high degree. So we're in the midst of negative side, all, give up, give up, and be pure. Be pure. All this rubbish, give up, give up, as much as you can give up, the purest thing will come within you, will spring up. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Tat paratvena nirmalam, the purity depends on the intensity of dedication towards the Absolute Centre. This we're to understand. And as much as we'll be self seeker we shall go to hell. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, there's one other question. These boys, they want to know, when they go back to Europe, they understand they must study śāstra, but who - could you explain association and sādhū, and how will they know who to associate with.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then by, in present situation, and because ISKCON has put me in the rank of their enemy, then I'm compelled to say that who is in my connection, that Jayatīrtha Mahārāja, or that Sudhīra Goswāmī, or those that are in connection with me, their connection may help you the best. I'm bound to say like that. Because the other party they have declared that I'm their enemy.

Still, one may have their association, with internal cautiousness, that what they say, that is not all, but there is something more. With this idea, cautiously, they may associate there.

What the ISKCON says, that is the beginning of things, and there is many things above. With this idea you may associate with them. But at the same time when they will say ill about anything truth that will create some offence, with this risk you are to mix with them. But you are to go through the scripture. Swāmī Mahārāja's scripture, so many English translation books, you may go through them. And if to connect with some person, then you may try those that are in association with me. I can say so. Hamsadūta Mahārāja is also there. He has got some love for me. And Jayatīrtha Mahārāja will be nearer, whose centre is in London. He was in charge of London ISKCON Maṭha, but now he's banished. He has found another mission somewhere. You can connect with that. Holland and England, nearby, closer. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Visitor: If it is also possible that if we chant maybe six rounds, and we read, consulting the books, we can do it on our own?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: He's saying, "Can they work independently, chanting rounds, reading Swāmī Mahārāja's books? Chanting maybe six rounds, something. Trying to make progress by themselves. Can they do like that?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Doing regular, but a connection with a living source is indispensable. In the beginning you may, something like rehearsal, you may do something, but connection with a saint, His bona fide agent, that is indispensable for real spiritual life. But in the beginning, as spade work, you may go on with reading books, Swāmī Mahārāja.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, I have a question. Can you explain sādhū saṅga in its different aspects. Higher and lower association with sādhū. Is there a gradation of associating with a sādhū?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, gradation. It is according to Mahāprabhu's direction, Rūpa Goswāmī has written that,

kṛṣṇeti yasya giri taṁ manasādriyeta, dīkṣāsti cet praṇatibhiś ca bhajantam īśam śuśrūṣayā bhajana-vijñam ananyam anya-, nindādi-

śūnya-hṛdam īpsita-saṅga-labdhyā

[“One should mentally honour the devotee who chants the Holy Name of Lord Kṛṣṇa, one should offer humble obeisances to the devotee who has undergone spiritual initiation (dīkṣā) and is engaged in worshipping the Deity, and one should associate with and faithfully serve that pure devotee who is advanced in undeviated devotional service and whose heart is completely devoid of the propensity to criticise others.”] [Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 5]

According to his status we'll have to deal with him in a different way. Ordinary devotional spirit we find anywhere, or we may have some liking, some preference for them, adoration. Manasā dṛiyeta, mentally I can encourage him, encouraging words should be said to him, but not submission. Then, one who has got dīkṣā, who has got real connection with a real saint, then I shall show my obeisance to him. Because he has got some connection with the divinity real, reality in him, so I must show some respect towards that person who is a bona fide student of the devotional school. And who has not got such connection we may appreciate them, admire them, mentally. But who has got that initiation, that real connection with that higher type saint, we must show our obeisance to them. Then, who is cent per cent engaged in devotional activity, we'll try to serve them, and thereby to get their tendency imbibed within me. Serve them. And if such a person is found, by the touch, by connection of him, one feels that he's getting devotion, then he will adore him in any way with all his energy and force and knowledge and everything. This is said. According to the gradation of the sādhū our behaviour with them has been advised to be done in such a way.

Have you not come with this śloka?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes, Upadeśāmṛta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Upadeśāmṛta [?] this is mentioned, how we are to deal with what section of devotees of the Lord.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: You also mentioned Mahārāja, association is not necessarily in the presence, vapu, in the presence of the Spiritual Master, it was more a mental connection.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is, his body may be far away, but if we have submission to a particular centre that will flow to me from soul to soul. Just as all these sounds are passing, by mental submission we can associate with a person. The physical distance, material distance, cannot affect. Mental nearness, that is necessary, soul nearness. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Visitor: [?]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: One of the men has one problem. He took one initiation from Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī of Rādhā-kuṇḍa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: This boy. Not Kṛṣṇadāsa who just left us in Nandagram, Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī in Rādhā-kuṇḍa, who gave one initiation. But now...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We do not care for that imitationist. We do not consider them to be pure devotees.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes. But he's wondering should he...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're, according to our Guru Mahārāja and our best of knowledge they're all imitationist.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: So he's wondering if he should take this initiation seriously or not, because now he has found out that maybe he's not so bona fide.

Visitor: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is not deepest connection, not soul to soul, that is mental connection in the external plane. The transaction in the mental plane, not in the plane of soul. That is mental concoction. That is not reality. What the sahajiyā bābājī are doing, their transaction is all in the mental plane, never in the plane of the soul proper.

Visitor: He said he would have a mental connection with me, but for me it is the soul.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: He said, the same as you just said Mahārāja, he said he would have mental connection with him. But he's not satisfied, he wants soul connection.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. So you are to give up that. If he feels it really, then he will shake off that. That is imitation, that is a concoction. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Very cheap. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: His question is, "How can such a person live at Rādhā-kuṇḍa for forty years?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Not only such persons, there are so many monkeys...

Devotees: (Group laughter)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and so many dogs are also living in Rādhā-kuṇḍa. That Rādhā-kuṇḍa or spiritual Rādhā-kuṇḍa, and what in the mundane feeling Rādhā-kuṇḍa and between the two there are so many covers, covers. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, how should one try to meditate? In your book, Ambrosia in the lives of surrendered souls, there is one verse where it is encouraged that one meditate on the name, qualities, form, pastimes, of the Lord.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No meditation, but it will come automatically if we can acquire serving attitude. Meditation will progress in such a line that to have touch of the plane proper where the name, the quality, the colour, rūpa, all these things. With that earnestness, eagerness, with that devotional prayer, we should want to be reinstated in that plane. That sort of meditation. Meditation does not mean that in the mental sphere.

jayati jayati nāmānanda rūpam murarer viramita nija dharma dhyāna pujyadhi yatna [katham api sakṛdāttam muktidaṁ prāninām yat paramāmṛtam ekaṁ jīvanam bhuṣanam me]

[Sanātana Goswāmī says: “Let ecstasy in the service of the Divine Name be victorious. If somehow we can come in contact with that sound, nāma rūpaṁ murāreḥ, then all our other activities will be paralysed; we will have no necessity of performing any other activity. Our many variegated duties will have no importance to us at all if we can achieve the service of the Divine Name of Kṛṣṇa.”][Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, 1.1.9]

Viramita. That will put a final stop to all the meditation. Dhyāna pūjā. Even worshipping, the arcan, viramita, dharma, and the duty of the varṇāśrama, all will go, will vanish gradually when we shall get the touch of the fitness, of the smell, of the pure name of Kṛṣṇa. These attempts will be slackened and go down, and we’ll have entrance there in the flesh and the separate plane of His līlā. And these things meant, to enter that varṇāśrama dharma, the meditation, all these are meant to lead us to that level. But more or less they’re all ascending, so we get the chance of Nāma bhajan, then we must be indifferent to all these things which are recommended for the lower section of the people. These will go away, vanish. Dying means, die to live, dying means a progressive stage. And in dying, as a member of the baby school, as a member of the communist school, as a member of the arcan school, that will also gradually die, and we'll go up.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Many times we look for some higher taste in the beginning, something to attract us away from the gross.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That will be accepted and again that will be left back and we shall make progress. Milestone. We're progressing, one milestone and then after two miles there's a milestone. In this way the stone is mile after mile. So something what is necessary in the beginning, that will be put back gradually and we'll have to make progress.

"Eho bāhya, āge kaha āra, eho bāhya [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59] "Yes, it is, go further." First, "This is external, go inner." Then, "This is also external, go inner." "This is also external, go inner, deeper." "Oh, it is, go further." "It is, go further." "It is good, go more." And, "It is the best. Anything else than this?" In this way it is progressing, in Rāmānanda-saṁvāda we have found. In the talk of Mahāprabhu and Rāya Rāmānanda how through gradual progress.

When we have come in the soil proper, then also there is progress, śanta, dāsya, sākhyā, vātsalya, mādhyā, in Vṛndāvana. There is also progress, the śanta, dāsya, sākhyā, vātsalya, mādhyā. In this way it's always progressing.

So, I'm getting tired.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: OK. We'll close here Mahārāja? Jaya Om Viṣṇu-Pāda Paramahaṁsa Parivrājakācārya Aṣṭottara-śata Śrī Śrīmad His Divine Loving Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī kī jaya!

Devotees: Jaya!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Goswāmī Prabhupāda kī jaya! A.C. Bhaktivedānta...

...

Viṣṇupāda dāsa, disciple of [?] Swāmī. He has written, he read some books of Sadānanda Brahmācārī, a German devotee, our Godbrother [?] another gentleman. And their representation of Bhāgavatam, and the representation of ISKCON differs. The difference according to him that the Sadānanda Brahmācārī and others they understood Bhāgavatam as rasa śāstra, transcendental rasa, ecstasy. [?] geographical and historical representation. A great difference. What to do? In this way, put some questions, that gentleman. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Where is this devotee from Mahārāja? Viṣṇupāda dāsa. From Australia?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From Brazil perhaps. Brazil in South America?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, from Brazil, and addressed to Parvat Mahārāja, Bhakti Vilāsa Parvat, his names mentioned there. In Brazil generally Spanish?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Portuguese.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Spanish speaking. Portuguese.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes. Portuguese speaking.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So English is not very good, Portuguese speaking persons [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: That is interesting question. The Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is being cited as historical, rather than rasa śāstra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Historical and geographical, history and geography, has become the principal thing of ISKCON. But the Sadānanda Brahmācārī and the other gentleman, direct disciple of Prabhupāda, they represented Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam as an ecstatic and transcendental ecstasy _____ [?] transcendental ecstasy, ānandam, rasa. He has mentioned the word rasa, rasa śāstra.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Is that correct?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is the principal thing, rasa śāstra. Akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ Kṛṣṇa. But geography and history, that has been given there, especially geography, that cannot be tenable with the present conception of the [?]

...Moon, Sun. Sun is the nearest, Moon is far away. The double distance from Sun, it is mentioned in Bhāgavatam.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Can you explain.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja told that, “I told that this Moon, this is not the proper Moon.” In this way he has explained away. Who came to ask him that when Bhāgavatam mentioned the Sun is the nearest, the Moon in the double distance. Then maṅgala more far away. In this way Bhāgavatam [?] Further, further. What is this? This is not even the measurement of the present science.

Then I gave some explanation, that this nearness, not according to the physical distance, but from the standpoint of influence. And I gave example, “Indians may say that Russia is nearer to us than Pakistan.” Russia’s influence is more harmonious than Pakistan, nearest neighbour.

In this way, from the standpoint of influence, Sun may be the nearest to the Earth. And the next influence we get from the Moon. And the third from Mars. In this way it may be measured, not from the standpoint of physical distance. The interest in distance, measurement about the influence. So in that way it may be explained.

Then, I have got my other conception. That is the Absolute. That what we see, we feel, about the objective world, that is controlled by the Absolute. So, if Absolute Will wills, He can show something to me, and something to you, though we're in one and same place.

“If I say see this, you're destined to see this. And you know you are seeing this, that will be true. Let there be water. There was water. Let there be light. There was light.”

The Supreme Will is controlling everything. The subject, the seer, the seer is controlled by the over- seer, and no objective ability, eligibility. As He likes, so He can show us, independent of the objective. Objective things are produced from the sight from the eye, the sound from the ear, in this way it comes down. One may hear a sound, another may not hear, if the Supreme Will wills. One may see a sight, another may not see, if He controls, like hypnotism.

Just as Viśvarūpa. “Oh Arjuna.”

Arjuna prayed, “I want to see that sort of Your representation.” “You, yes, see. You see this and that.”

Arjuna's seeing, and, “I can't see any longer such representation. Please stop.” It was stopped.

So how it is possible? So super subject is controlling the subject, the seer, the feeler. That's the way. And these are things may seem very rigid, and very stable, but no. Seeing every experience comes from higher, controlled from the higher subjective world. As He wants us to see, we cannot but see that. Do you follow?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So Śukadeva when he's describing, he's forced to see some position of the Earth [?] and that is in every case. Some are conscious, some unconscious. The stone, one may see the stone, another may see that is water. In a person also, all visionary, all visionary, no rigidity of this world. That is all controlled from the higher meaning principal.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Only the conception of different things of different type. The world in the mind, not mind in the world. Berkley. The world in the mind. Ideal realism. Ideal is not an abstract unordinary thing. Ideal is the reality. And what is floating on the idea, that stone, and tree, wood, all these things, the brick, so rigid it may be but it is nothing, only different forms of conception of the mind. It is hard, yet that is only a conception. Ha, ha.

Or just as in the dream also we see so many things. We see tree also, we see earth also, we see water also, in a dream, but they're not water, they're not wood, or they're not stone. In persons also, we talk with them also [?]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: So, to try to convince the mundane people about Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam being accurate description of this Earth, that is the wrong approach, because they're seeing differently?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. No stability, of this vision, or sound, or anything, the whole science is gone. Ha, ha. He may withdraw the laws of nature and introduce another law of nature, if He likes. Because He has introduced some law, some higher universal law, and the dependant mind is honouring, following that. If He withdraws that law, and gives another law, just as an organiser of an office, office organiser. In his mind he has organised different table, chair, machine, all these things, so many men etc, then can withdraw the whole thing and can organise in another way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

yadā sa deva jāgartti, jadedarṇ ceṣṭitarṇ jagat [yadā savṛti-śāntātmā, tadā sarvvarṇ nimīlate]

[“When the jagad-puruṣa, or universal form of the Lord, falls asleep, then everything naturally falls asleep along with Him. Then there is no more creation, no more external activity because all are dissolved. And again, with the awakening of Him, everything becomes active.”] [Manu-saṁhitā]

In Manu-saṁhitā. When that universal mind, universal person, He awakens, the creation begins. When He goes to sleep, everything gone, vanishes. Just as we also when we go to sleep everything gone. Again we awake everything comes in. Again when sleeping, everything gone. What I see, that is in the universal mind. Hegel has explained in that way. Our mind is a part of the universal mind. Just as this body is a part of the physical world, so our mind is a part of the universal mind, and it depends on that. If Earth is dissolved then this body and everything will be dissolved. So universal mind dissolved, all individual minds will be dissolved [?] With the dissolution of the universal mind, this individual mind will vanish. The mind is a part of that.

Just as the government in the mental world, the Yāmarāja, he's the judge there. Independent of this physical body so many mental bodies are living in the mental sphere. There is a government. They're caught and punished and rewarded, in the heaven, or in the hell, all these things in the mental world. All in the mental [?] And generally the ordinary soul [?] from the body, they leave entering Moon. [?]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Satellite.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Satellite, of Earth. The Earth's centre satellite, Moon [?] that the ordinary [?] that crosses the limit of the Earth and enters into the domain of the universe, solar system. Through the Sun, through light, passes up to Brahmaloḥa, light consciousness. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja, Swāmī Mahārāja also caused some excitement by saying the Americans never went to the Moon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That was mentioned that this Moon is not the real Moon mentioned in Bhāgavatam. He told like that. And he also gave some sort of analogy, that in every nation there is first Sun, then Moon, then Mars, then Mercury, then Jupiter. These are counted successively in this way. Why? That was his one point.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He told me. Everywhere the first [?] The Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, what is the meaning, that they're successively [?]

But I told him, this may be adjusted in this way, from the question of influence. The measurement not by physical distance, but by the interest of the Earth. It draws more interest nearer the Sun, however physically far it may be, but it gets the highest benefit from the Sun. And next from the Moon, and perhaps next from the Mars. In this way, nearer, nearer in interest, nearer is not in physical distance. I told him like that.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. And there was another question. [?] And then another island, then [?] The seven oceans. That is also described in such way. Not only this water, but including the atmosphere. That is, Earth is surrounded by the water, then watery gases, and that has got differentiation in the stages. Earth is surrounded. The water is also in the form of gases, in this way. And there are different places where the souls are living, in different mental bodies.

Some other scholars, Bengali scholars, [?] that book was published in [?] purchased perhaps from Swāmī Mahārāja, that he has explained in this way, that set motions of certain types. And not only just the water, but water represented in the gas form. That is the air surrounding the Earth. There we can trace differentiation, in this way.

Anyhow, the last point is there, as He wills us to see, we cannot but see that. Subjective control.

When Kṛṣṇa's entering into the arena of Kāṁsa, different sections of people are seeing Him differently.

mallānām aśanir nṛṇām naravaraḥ strīṇām smaro mūrttimān gopānām svajano 'satām kṣitibhujām śāstā svapitro śīśuḥ mṛtyur bhojapater virāḍ aviduṣām tattvaṁ paraṁ yoginām vṛṣṇīnām paradevateti vidito raṅgaṁ gataḥ sāgrajaḥ

[“O King, Śrī Kṛṣṇa then appeared as a thunderbolt to the wrestlers, as the supreme male to the men, as Cupid incarnate to the ladies, as a friend to the cowherdsmen; as an emperor to the wicked kings, as a child to His father and mother, as death to Kāṁsa, as the universal form of the world to the ignorant; as the Supreme Truth to the yogīs, as the Supreme Worshipful Lord to the Vṛṣṇis - and along with Baladeva He entered the arena.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.43.17]

Different group having different impression by his sight. He's one, entering, but different groups will see Him in different ways. It is possible. As He likes to express Himself to a particular - he may see that.

When Kṛṣṇa in Kuru sabhā, Duḥśāsana came to bind Him with rope and to put in the prison, He showed Himself in such a way they all wondered, 'what is this?' astonished by His figure. Where to put the rope and tie [?] Bhīṣma and others, Nārada, so many Ṛṣis were there. Kṛṣṇa had come for negotiation of peace with the Kurus. And Yadavas, the Pāṇḍavas, many Ṛṣis also came. They began to praise, hymns, in His favour.

Then Dhṛtarāṣṭra, he was blind, he heard all those hymns, and asked Kṛṣṇa, “Oh. What I hear I understand [?] You are showing Yourself in such a beautiful way, and wonderful way, that they’re all astounded to see You. And they’re going on using their praise. Please, for the time being, You can do anything and everything, for the time being remove my blindness. Give me eye that I can see You. And again You’ll make me blind.”

Kṛṣṇa told, “No, no. Blindness is not necessary to be removed. I say, you see Me.”

And Dhṛtarāṣṭra saw. What does it mean? Without removing the blindness, Dhṛtarāṣṭra was shown His rūpa. What does it mean? What does it mean that without the sense of the physical the rūpa can be seen. It is mental connection. If He likes, He wants to show, then He can show. No physical senses necessary.

There it is mentioned that, “No necessity of removing your blindness. Only I say, you can see Me, and you will see.”

And Dhṛtarāṣṭra saw. What does it mean? That eyes are not indispensable to see _____ [?] the mind can see, if He wants to make Himself...

...that is created through the senses.

I saw in paper, two or three years ago, one French scientist he's of opinion that, not that eye can see the colour, but colour is produced from the eye. So sound created from the ear, not that it enters the outside. So in Bhagavad-gītā, guṇa-pravṛddhā viṣaya-pravālāḥ.

*[adhaś cordhvaṁ prasṛtās tasya śākhā, guṇa-pravṛddhā viṣaya-pravālāḥ
adhaś ca mūlāny anusantatāni, karmānubandhīni manuṣya-loke]*

[“Some of its branches extend upwards (in the planets of the demigods and celestial beings), some of the branches extend downwards (in the planets of the humans, animals, and lower species), and its mature (three modes of) nature and aim and object (of sound, smell, touch, taste, and form) are its fresh, young shoots. Some aerial roots also extend downwards, to take root in the land of exploitation, within the human plane.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.2]

Viṣaya, [?] this earth, air, and the water, heat, towards the outside, to be experienced by our senses. That is like pravālāḥ, just as the branches of the tree, the sprouts come out, so from the individual comes out.

The Sun is there, the eye is there, and the colour is there. With the help of the Sun, eye can cooperate, can come in touch with colour. So ether is there, ear is there, sound is there. Three things, one satya guṇa, raja guṇa, tama guṇa, and recipient instrument and they're making it possible another is represented as the thing of experience, in this way, evolved. From subtle, gross is being evolved. Gross has not got its stability. First fossil, and then life, no. The fossil is only a part of the conception of the consciousness. Consciousness presupposes, fossil presupposes consciousness. Everything, every experience, presupposes consciousness. So consciousness [?] and these conceptions floating on the ocean of consciousness, either individual consciousness, or in the universal consciousness, floating.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. These are abstruse philosophic ontological questions. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: So Guru Mahārāja, this same principle...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So everything is to be, we're ordered to see everything with veneration. They're all of superior position than us. The Earth also, that is a part of universal consciousness. So I shall revere everything. Every part connected with Kṛṣṇa. Every part should be connected with Kṛṣṇa, and should be venerable, worshipped. I'm the worshipper, not the enjoyer, exploiter. I'm a servant. I'm a serving unit in this universe. Everything is of higher origin universal consciousness [?] transformed. Instead of seeing everything materially, we're requested to see everything spiritually, opposite. Whatever you come in contact with, try to see it with respect, of spirituality, not materially, a product in your view. That will help you to come in real contact with things, reality. So serving attitude takes us nearer to reality, and exploiting tendency takes us far from the reality, māyā, misconception. Exploiting tendency takes us far from the reality, that is misconception, māyā.

Centre of reality may be dependent on Him in all matters, very much giving life, a grateful life. That is noble faculty, devotion, gratefulness, benevolence, worshipping, service. We should live in the midst of these noble faculties, and that nobility will transfer its quality to me. I shall be noble coming in contact with them. And coming in contact with lower things, 'I'm the master and they're like slaves, I can mould him in any way I like,' that association takes me down to be materialised, to my lowest position. It will take me so close to the matter, I'll be as free as stone.

Die to live. And apparently you may think that is we're losing our interest, no. By sacrifice we thrive, and by exploiting we go down, we lose. Exploitation takes us lower. Apparently, 'I'm master of all I see, I'm monarch of all I see,' but that is the most heinous disease, will take down to the lower position. 'I'm servant of all I see' will take you nearer to [?] section of the world. So die to live, try to die for others. You are insignificant of the insignificant - think like that. You may be utilised and earn your fortune by serving of the higher entity. Their influence will be injected in you in their association. So service is your food. You can thrive in service, and you'll have to die in enjoyment, exploitation. We're taṭasthā śakti, we're created with the possibility_____ [?] both kinds of adaptability within us [?]

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: So Mahārāja, Kṛṣṇa gives the bhakta faith. Kṛṣṇa bestows faith on His devotee, as the devotee needs vision, to see, to have faith one has to see the Lord working through his environment. Yes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow it. Kṛṣṇa says? Where? In Gītā?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Kṛṣṇa says in Gītā, that if one worships a particular demigod, He makes his faith steady, in that demigod.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He says if you worship demigod you'll get that demigod position.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes. But He's making that faith steady. So He's bestowing some vision? As you were explaining, subjective vision, then we're inclined to think this way or that way. So if one is seeing the Lord working through the material energy then his faith is increased. Yes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow. Who will worship the demigods, he will attain the closeness of the demigods.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is there, yo yac chraddhaḥ sa eva saḥ [Bhagavad-gītā, 17.3] "But who worships Me, he will come to Me. And who will worship other gods, he'll go there. But that is transient, confined only in this transient world, and I am transcendental."

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes. If Kṛṣṇa wants you to see white He'll make you see white, as you explained...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa withdrawn there. When they're worshipping other gods there is no Kṛṣṇa. He's that independent.

na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāṇi, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ [na karma-phala-samyogam, svabhāvas tu pravartate]

[“Due to their tendency towards ignorance since immeasurable time, the living beings act, considering themselves the doers or inaugurators of action. The Supreme Lord does not generate their misconception of considering themselves doers, nor does He generate their actions or their attachment to the fruits of those actions.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.14]

Whenever He comes to interfere that is another thing. And if He comes to interfere, not without cause, must be some sukṛti comes from the sādhū, then His interference. Otherwise they're all left free. You have got your meagre, the small particle of free will, it is with you. You are a particle, your freedom is also a particle. And you're at large in this field, world, you select your own and going on with your own. That is this world of misconception. And here, Kṛṣṇa does not come to interfere.

When, only through His saint, and sometimes He comes here personally, instruction, when He comes as an incarnation and says, “Do this. Don't do that. This is this, this is this. This is black, this is white. If you take white you'll get this thing, if you take black you'll get this thing."

That is from not direct interference in their activity, but a passive advice. And then His saints, devotees, also come and canvas, without interfering with the freedom of the individuality. And if by choice of their free will they accept the advice of Kṛṣṇa or the saints and devotees, then they gradually come in connection with Kṛṣṇa camp, otherwise not. He's aloof.

na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāṇi, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ na karma-phala-saṁyogam, svabhāvas tu pravartate

That is, He has left us in our own nature to handle with the environment. It is there, you are there, you select your own prospect [?]

But sometimes He comes. "Don't do this. If you do this, this will be the bad effect. If you do this it will give you good result."

In this way He comes and advises. He does not partake in control His soul to take a particular course, no. Non interfering attitude. Otherwise, the jīva has got, has not any freedom. So a conscious unit means endowed with freedom. So He does not interfere with the freedom of the consciousness. They're all particle of consciousness, and consciousness means endowed with freedom.

...under the care of Vidagdha-Mādhava Prabhu. Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, one last question in this regard, on the subject of subjective vision. There are nine Deity forms, and one of those is, in the mind. There's wood, stone, jewel, there's different substance a Deity can be fashioned, from wood, from stone, from earth, from jewel...

Devotee: [?]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: A Mūrti can be fashioned in nine ways.

Devotee: Eight ways.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Eight ways. So one, is in the mind. Yes?

Devotee: One is mind.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Everything is in mind. Why one?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Because nothing can, there... that seems to be the best. Isn't it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

śailī dāru-mayī lauhī, lepyā lekhyā ca saikatī mano-mayī maṇi-mayī, pratimāṣṭa-vidhā smṛtā

["The Deity form of the Lord appears in eight varieties of material substances: stone, metal, wood, earth, paint, sand, the mind, and jewels."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.27.12]

There is a śloka, in Sanskrit. The mano-mayī, generally the sannyāsīns, it is recommended for the sannyāsa āśrama. They will wander here and there, and mentally they will worship. Everything is mentally done, should be done by the sannyāsī class, mano-mayī. But really He's cinmayī, but the nearest approach is mano-mayī. Then there is lekhyā, only by, in a wall with some paint. Paint means this mud or something like, this cement or something, lekhyā, only by the paint, lepyā lekhyā. Then dāru-mayī, by wood. Maṇi-mayī, then [?] śīlā-mayī. In this way, eight kinds of Arcā-Mūrti to be worshipped, representation.

Devotee: But transcendental.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes. So how to accomplish the Deity of the mind? How to accomplish? Is there a process to actually accomplish that goal?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To have conception of the principle of Arcā, it has been asked, when you are worshipping any Deity, you are asked for meditation, the mantram is there, the meaning is there. Without the help of the external, material things, you are to do everything in your mind. That is mano-mayī.

Devotee: In worship Deity, that is mano-mayī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You may have a conception of any of the śilā-mayī, or dāru-mayī, or anything in your mind in meditation. In Jagannātha you may conceive, have conception of Purī Jagannātham, and worship in the mind. Mahāprabhu, here or there, in any place, as you, which has attracted you most, you can think of His figure, and will do the necessary things. Everything, in imagination, you are collecting flowers, rubbing candana, but it may be so strong that it can defeat the physical representation also. Jīva Goswāmī has mentioned one instance. That one brāhmaṇa he used to worship mentally. Every day he used to give some paramāṇna bhoga. Paramāṇna you know?

Devotees: Sweet rice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sweet rice he used to give, bhogam to his Deity, in mind. One day, suddenly this thought came in his mind, “Perhaps it is too hot?” So, whether it is too hot, not fit for the eating of the Deity, so he unconsciously tried to measure the heat of the food, and with this finger, thumb, he wanted to touch that imaginary food, paramāṇna. And suddenly he felt it is too hot, and there was an abscess.

So the mental representation may be sometimes so concrete that it produces [?] result. Though it was all in imagination, it is also possible. So imagination and external things have got an intimate connection. So strong intensity of mental force can create this physical thing. We are to understand by this example.

Let there be water, there was water. Let there be light, there was light. That is mentioned in Bible, that God created in this way. His will is sufficient. So sometimes the will of a devotee is so much intensified that it can create [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] He won't think that the blame will be any other person. The whole blame is mine. I shall have to take the whole responsibility for my own self, not to accuse any others.

[“One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

We must not be excited. With gentle humility we shall try to go on the way. Tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā. And that according to standard of a standard man, that is Vaiṣṇava. Not as if so many mad that is found in the lower. The standard of humility, that must come from normal thinking man, that is Vaiṣṇava, trnad api sunicena taror api sahisnuna. And when past actions, they will come to take their, to clear, to get back all their dues from me in the previous life, and I must not deny, must not refuse them.

“Oh, I was in loan to you, all right, here, take it, take it.” As much as will be exacted from me, “That you are in loan, all these things, you are to clear it.” “Yes, take.”

Take like a tree, when he’s cutting me, still I shall lose no temper. I shall try to keep up my optimistic nature. The Lord is there and He’s everything. And whatever is going here, that is all transient, useless thing, so I should not lose my temper. Taror api sahisnuna amanina amanadena. I won’t hanker after any name, any glorification of anything else. At the same time I shall be ready to give due respect to the whole environment. With this attitude if we go on with the devotional activities then in the shortest time I shall be able to get the grace of the Lord. No complain. All complain we are to meet, due to my previous due, loan, I’m to clear silently, and maintain the balance of my mind. And I shall try my best and approach towards the highest entity. That attitude helps us best for easy and for quick attainment.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, can we have one darśana this afternoon when Nārada Muni comes to see you, we can have one short darśana, maybe this afternoon? Because he has much news and many offerings from Sudhīra Goswāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who's Nārada Muni?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Nārada Muni is the new devotee who just came from San Jose.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This morning? Yes, I shall talk with him, first what is matter, then I shall say it to you. Might have come with a letter perhaps? Any letter?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes. He has letters, and much news from San Jose, and letters and offerings.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have heard something from him already?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes, something.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. ISKCON is very apathetic to him. ISKCON is creating trouble?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I did not hear that. He said that Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī is so absorbed in editing your new book, he's hardly going to the program. Both Mukunda Mālā and Sudhīra Goswāmī are very much enlivened by your tape transcriptions, and they're very busy making your book.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Deeply engaged.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes, and it's going very well. It looks like they will finish shortly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How many months?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: He did not say, but it's coming, quickly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. And this gentleman has come only with news?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Some letters and some offerings, some offerings from the devotees also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The other day that lady who took Hari Nāma, that Kṛṣṇa Nandinī?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You did not hear?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I wrote one letter to Sudhīra Goswāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She sent a letter also, and some money, Guru dakṣiṇā. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: ...or chanting aloud, or does it make any difference at all?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The mind is silent or aloud, that matters little, but the attitude is most important, sevonmukha. Whatever I'm doing, I'm doing for His interest, for the interest of my Lord, and not for myself, or for similar persons like me. The centre consciousness, vaikuṇṭha-nāma-grahaṇam aśeṣāgha-haraṁ viduḥ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.2.14] It has been told in the scriptures that Name can do away all the sins, but the Name must be Vaikuṇṭha. That Name must be of transcendental type, not mundane type, which can be produced by the tongue and the lip, not physical sound. Sound has to be of colour of transcendentality. That is the all important thing. God-centred. Self-sacrifice and God satisfaction. That nature must be present there. Otherwise only an innumerable number of physical sound imitating the Name, that has got not much meaning. Name proper, Name of the Lord, Lord is Vaikuṇṭha, transcendental. So the sound must have that transcendental characteristic to produce any effect. There's the rub. Otherwise only one Name can do away so much sin as a person has no capacity...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

yadā sa deva jāgartti, jadedam ceṣṭitam jagat [yadā savṛti-śāntātmā, tadā sarvvaṁ nimīlate]

[“When the jagad-puruṣa, or universal form of the Lord, falls asleep, then everything naturally falls asleep along with Him. Then there is no more creation, no more external activity because all are dissolved. And again, with the awakening of Him, everything becomes active.”] [Manu-saṁhitā]

In Manu-saṁhitā. When that universal mind, universal person, He awakens, the creation begins. When He goes to sleep, everything gone, vanishes. Just as we also when we...

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I have one question Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: He was, generally, he liked to hear something about Lord Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa's description has been given in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, in a beautiful ontological search. Akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ. If you can conceive that all different types of ecstasy, joy, be personified, He's so. Ānandam, rasam, happiness, ecstasy, blissfulness, that is transcendental, that emanates, not mundane. That is in Upaniṣad, raso vai saḥ.

ko hyevānyāt kaḥ prāṇyāt yadeṣa ākāśa ānando na syāt eṣa hyevānandayati]

["Śrī Kṛṣṇa is the embodiment of all ecstatic bliss; He is the reservoir of all pleasure. Having derived ecstasy from Him, the individual souls become blissful. For, who indeed, could breath, who could be alive if this Blissful Lord were not present within the hearts of all souls. He alone bestows ecstasy."] [Taittirīya Upaniṣad, 2.7] & [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 9.2]

That is controlling the whole market, that happiness, joy, higher divine joy, divine happiness, not mundane. Anyhow, on the whole, every one of us wants to be happy. Happiness, transcendental, original, that is the most universal thing. In Veda it has been told as rasa, ānanda. Some say it is beauty, satyam, śivam, sundaram. Some say it is prema, love divine.

That can be divided into different parts. Indian transcendental scientists, they have divided that transcendental wealth mainly in two divisions. One transitory, the other permanent. Five permanent rasas. Just as conjugal, filial, friendly. The relation of one friend to another friend, a particular rasam, friendly happiness, interchange of friendly happiness. Then wife, husband, conjugal consortherhood, that sort of friendship. Son and mother, father and son, and children of five friends. Śanta, dāsyā, sākhya, vātsalya. So man and master, that is also a particular relationship, or rasa, ānanda, happy relation, man and master. Śanta, that is submission to particular authority. That is also rasa. Śanta, dāsyā, sākhya, vātsalya, mādhurya, five kinds of standing relation of happiness.

And another seven transitory, passing. Just as hāsyā, the laughing rasa. Adbhuta, wonderful, strange, that is also a kind of rasa. Vīra, sometimes varied temperament, that is also a particular rasa.

_____ [?] sometimes very piteousness, kindness, very benevolent, that is also a kind of rasa. Bībhatsa also, there is a relationship of contempt, we see and we can't see it, rotten things, so many things we can't see, bībhatsa. Bhayānaka, a fearful rasa, a tiger [?] What is in African jungle, a mammoth, it will come and I'm afraid, bhayānaka. These are flickering, that are seven.

Where we find a centre which combines all these rasas in one place. Mainly the Śrī, the beauty, is the main place. That is Kṛṣṇa, Śrī, Reality the beautiful. Kṛṣṇa, reality the beautiful. His colour, His sound, His gait, His temperament, His movement, His laughing, His eating, His laughing. Everything is very, very charming to one and all. But, that is the abode of all His rasa, but still He's personal. He's a person. Not only substance, not an abstract thing, but He has got all the qualities of a great person, caitan, personality is there. If the Absolute Beauty has got any personality, then it is Kṛṣṇa. The Absolute Love having personality, He's Kṛṣṇa. Beauty, charm, love, mercy, all these.

Mercy means above justice. We can't think that any good thing can remain beyond justice. Justice must be the highest standard of our thinking. But mercy is above justice. Justice is necessary when a decision is inevitable between two or more parties. Then the question of justice comes. But when the whole thing is one, no justice. One is paramount power. He's come to get justice from Him. He's all in all. He's autocrat. He can make or mar. The world is designed and destined by Him. He's such. He can design, He can abolish this creation, and if He likes He can do it in any other way. Designed by Him. Diabolically opposed it may be which we cannot conceive even in our present state, sum total, absent.

He's by Itself. The German philosopher Hegel's saying. He's by Itself. He's His own cause. None has created Him. And also, He's for Himself. That means He's meant to satisfy His own whims, not to satisfy the whim of any other, third person, entity, then that entity will hold higher position. So, He's for Himself. That is His īlā, His pastimes. He's not to explain for His activities to any other higher principle. So, He's such. For Himself, and everything for Him, destined and designed by Him. Such prime cause.

And we're part and parcel of His potency. He's got various potencies, and we're a part of His potency, still endowed with certain amount of freedom, free will. And by the use and misuse of that free will, what little we have got, we can thrive or we can lose our prospect, little.

So Kṛṣṇa is such: the fulfilment of everything that is found in this world. Everything may have its fulfilment in Him. In Him means in His service, in rendering His satisfaction. He's for Himself, and other things are for Him.

So Hegel says, "Die to live." Whatever independent free will you have got, give them up, and throw yourself in the whim of that autocrat absolute. Apparently you'll have to die, because your selfish ideas, thoughts, are to be abolished. But you'll gain when you'll come to Him and get Him, you'll find that you have got enough, more than you could expect, beyond your expectation when you have been gainer. So die to live. Real life is there. And this egoistic life of external mundane membership, this is a farce to us. Because there is death, there is disease, there is infirmity, and there is birth. All these influences of nature we're to undergo. But if we're to get rid of all the troubles we find here, wholly, then we're to die as we are. We're to dissolve our ego, the false ego that has been created by false aspirations, that if I get this I shall be happy. If I get that I shall be happy. I get the fourth I shall be happy. All these false notions, ideas, I've fostered, and the ego has been created. That false ego, pernicious ego, that must be put into fire, and golden ego will come out. Fire means, the universal wave, that for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa you'll throw yourself. Not for any particular selfish idea, but for universal. More than universe. Universe is in one part.

Infinite is in one part. He's such. The container of all possible infinities. If from infinite, from zero, if zero is minus, it remains zero. Zero added to zero, zero. Zero into zero, zero. Zero divided by zero. So infinite plus infinite is infinite. Infinite minus infinite is infinite. Infinite divided by infinite is infinite. In infinite it is infinite.

ekāṁśena sthito jagat*

[Bhagavad-gītā, 10.42]

In Bhagavad-gītā we see. "What more I shall speak to you? I have spoken much. Nothing again to speak. But in nutshell you know that whatever you can think is in My one part. The conception of your infinite is in My one part. I'm such, I'm so and so."

So with that idea we're to approach Him. Back to God, back to home, that is sweet, sweet home. We have not come to colonise another land, and to give the hoax that we shall [?] Sweet, sweet home. Take us back to our home. It is very, very sweet. Leave the land of death _____ [?] go home. That home, and yourself, is eternal. Sat, cit, it is conscious, ānandam, you will find in your own intrinsic position that it is the path of blissfulness in itself. Now it is covered. This path may be covered with some other thing. Be cautious. This path [?] The jewel is covered with alloy. Remove the alloy, it will shine. Something like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

So in soul, you're all right, but soul - just as this body is a part and parcel of this earth, of this material world, so the soul is a part and parcel of that world. That is not produced by this mass of flesh. Soul is eternal, immortal.

Socrates had to, support, death was, the penalty of death, because he told, “Soul is immortal.” That was his fault. And that existing government imparted capital punishment on him, because he simply said, he told that, “Soul is immortal.”

And Christ had also, was given same fate when he declared that, “Everything belongs to Father.”

Romans, they’re very much disturbed. “ [?] then that man he’s against, he’s preaching disloyalty. Everything belongs to Rome. But he says that it does not belong to Rome.

Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu came with this, that beauty is above all, above power.

There is another one. We’re habituated to think that the power is ultimately controlling the whole thing, the power is the greatest thing. But Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu [?]

change, no, the ultimate controlling principle is love and beauty [?] A powerful man also may be controlled by beauty, the beauty of voice, song. The flute of Kṛṣṇa. Sound beauty and colour beauty, figure beauty. Beauty may be of different kinds. But all beauties combined in Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣ, attraction, and ṇa, giving something in return. Attraction, Sun, Moon, all attracting one another, but when attraction endowed with life, that becomes love, affection. Living attraction means love, affection. Kṛṣṇa, the living absolute principle, is attracting everything, through affection and love, through beauty and charm. And even the most powerful, he’s also disarmed by the [?] beauty _____ [?] vanishes. He's defeated by the force of beauty, if it can be told so. Love is the highest thing, principle, and all accommodating. No complaint should be against that.

Rather, if I want to control you by force, by power, there may be injustice. But if I'm nurtured by real love, not a facsimile, this fleshy love, that is lust. Lust and love, that must be differentiated. 'This is what is lust, that is the perverted reflection of love.' That is treacherous, like a trap, this lust. This is mundane, this is very low. It has got bad reaction. But the love divine has got no reaction. All reaction of the similar nature, that love divine, transcendental.

These are the effects, in a general way I give you some idea. But the details if you want it you are to study systematically and [?] and your energy. That is devoting yourself gradually. Higher knowledge if you want to have, then that cannot come to me to serve me. His position is higher. I'm to go for His interest towards Him. I'm for Him. He's not for me. He's for me in another way, but I must oblige Him. I must serve Him. And as a reaction I'll be a gainer. And He has got higher position. He won't come to serve my lower whims. But His noble whims if I can serve then I'll be gainer [?]

Super subjective, He's in the super subjective area, transcendental, supramental, super subjective. I'm subject, this world is object to me. He's subject, higher subject, and I'm object to Him. He holds such position. Jñāta, means knower, knower of many. I'm knower of this objective world. He's knower, including this objective world, and also what's within me. More subtle than my fine conception, higher and subtler conception in all respects.

So praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā, so with serving attitude only can we have entrance into that domain. We're to acquire, collect a visa, and the visa they won't allow if they think that it is for the loss of their country. Everyone will think that if we shall get something from him, then he'll issue visa. Otherwise they won't issue any visa. And without visa we cannot enter. So if we want, if we prove that I'm going for the good of that land where I want to enter, then we'll be allowed. That serving spirit, for the service of that land, then you'll be allowed. And with disservice we'll be dismissed from the going.

The first connection we get, the help to enter that, the sound, divine sound, the Name, Mahāprabhu says, Bhāgavatam says. The sound aspect is the cover of the whole, so that is [?] Ether is the subtle-most of this mundane, and there also that their ether coming together, that is also circumference, devoting all, covering the whole. So sound of the both, who are transcendental and mundane, they come closer. So with the help of the sound we can connect with them _____ [?]

Here, sound is the subtle-most, and there sound is the grossest. Within sound everything. But here, the sound is the finest thing, it permeates everywhere, sound, ether.

So it has been recommended [?] sound, but whatever it may be, it must be of the interest of that land. And the spiritual will never come to serve mundane. But if anyone plodding under mundane trouble wants to be relieved, released, relieved of it, and fix his membership with that world, to serve that world, then they will give him connection. By agents, Vaiṣṇava are the agents of that land. They come here by the will of the divine, and canvas for the good life there. And one who hears them, listens to their words, and thinks that it is very, very good prospect to go and live there, in various ways they'll connect and they'll try to get a ticket. Find out how they can enter into that place, the land of the beautiful, the land of fairness, which is above judgement, which can stand above judgement. That is affection, mercy, love, charm, all these things, above judgement. Here is also poor judgement, very filthy, very nasty. Even so there judgement also fears to come to effect a compromise. That is also, in our judgement, that judgement has nothing to say. My thing I'm giving to you. I'm the proprietor. I'm giving something to you. [?] Why you be kind to him? Judgement comes. The land of giving, every unit they're busy to help others. Here, every unit is an exploiting one, every unit exploiting one. Those that have hands...

["Those who are devoid of hands are prey for those who have hands; those devoid of legs are prey for the four-legged. The weak are the subsistence of the strong, and the general rule holds that one living being is food for another."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.13.47]

...hands, they're eating those that have no hands. Those that have got legs, they're eating those who have got no legs, creepers, all these things. And the stronger they're eating the weaker. At the cost of so many lives, one body is maintained. To maintain one body, how many bodies are killed in a life? A nuisance. But to every action there is equal and opposite reaction. We can't get off Scott free. We must have to pay for that. And I shall have to come down. I'm riding on the horse, the horse is going to be entitled to ride on me [?] To every action there's equal and opposite reaction. Nature wants no vacuum, does not tolerate any vacuum. So I can't take French leave. So here we're all exploiting units, but in that land everyone is a dedicating unit. That's the difference. Our soul really is a dedicating unit. Competition of dedication, here competition of exploitation, and there competition of dedication. But in the land of eternal, stuff is eternal, no dissipation, no want, no death, but all, the whole, dedicating unit. Opulence enough, in the land of opulence all giving. All giving money into the bank but no cheque he's cutting, only giving, giving, everyone is giving to one another. And it's eternal, it cannot be finished, no question of emptiness. Such a possibility, affection, beauty, love, charm, ecstasy.

We're in the world of concrete reality, but everything will evaporate one day. Even the Earth, the Sun, everything will disappear. Even the scientists they're also of such opinion, what about the philosophers. Philosophers they say that this is all transient, all mortal. Scientists they have moderated_____ [?] But it was created, the Sun, Moon, all these, and again they will be dissolved. And after [?] the great dissolution, again they will be created, again dissolved. This fun is going on in this mundane world from time immemorial. And like us we're victims, in the name of mastery, kingship, monarchy, we're crushed about here, like so many units of coolies. We're recruited coolies to fill up this mundane world of death and nastiness.

But the recruiters from that land also they're moving, wandering, though very rarely found. And just as Swāmī Mahārāja went to the west, and how many he has collected for the Vaikuṇṭha land, the higher transcendental land [?] The land of Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Everything, in imagination, you are collecting flowers, rubbing candana, but it may be so strong that it can defeat the physical representation also. Jīva Goswāmī has mentioned one instance. That one brāhmaṇa he used to worship mentally. Every day he used to give some paramāṇna bhoga. Paramāṇna you know?

Devotees: Sweet rice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sweet rice he used to give, bhogam to his Deity, in mind. One day, suddenly this thought came in his mind, “Perhaps it is too hot?” So, whether it is too hot, not fit for the eating of the Deity, so he unconsciously tried to measure the heat of the food, and with this finger, thumb, he wanted to touch that imaginary food, paramāṇna. And suddenly he felt it is too hot, and there was an abscess.

So the mental representation may be sometimes so concrete that it produces [?] result. Though it was all in imagination, it is also possible. So imagination and external things have got an intimate connection. So strong intensity of mental force can create this physical thing. We are to understand by this example.

Let there be water, there was water. Let there be light, there was light. That is mentioned in Bible, that God created in this way. His will is sufficient. So sometimes the will of a devotee is so much intensified that it can create [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. What’s the time?

Devotee: Nine twenty five Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nine twenty five [?]

82.08.05.A_02_19

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I think...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Something tangible, however subtle. I must be master of some subtle_____ [?] that I can count, that I have got something. Only in the infinite vacuum to remain forever, how one can tolerate, being an energetic man?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja, I think this is the reason why some devotees fall down into intoxication. They are searching for this experience and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is some anartha. That may be in connection with real saints then that anartha will go away, leave them.

The help of intoxication, with the help of this yoga. Only the minimum medicine to keep up the body together. I have got my fixed program that I'm to do all these kinds of service under the direction of our Guru Mahārāja. And to keep me fit I may take the medicine proper, yukta-vairāgya.

What will keep my body fit, I shall take such food. And that intoxication will help me in my meditation and when intoxication is taken away meditation will go. To keep the body fit, that we shall accept from the environment, to keep the body fit. And with a sober mind, the service of the Vaiṣṇava, the service of the Lord under the direction of the Vaiṣṇava, both, in the matter of direct teachings. [?]

And particular, just as Tulasī Devī can help us, a creeper, a plant. So why not this ganga? By Tulasī Devī we do not mean a particular shrub, a particular plant. But she is there, just as in Śālagrāma, just as in Śrī Mūrti, just as in the Ganges water, the divine presence, that is there. And not that that particular tree, plant, the physical representation will help us. The spirit behind, you mind that. That is superior, holds superior position than that of mine. And we appeal to them as devotees. And do not use that shrub, that by eating Tulasī we will be, the plants, the leaves of Tulasī if I eat, then I will attain Kṛṣṇa bhakti. This [?] conception, that will be offence to Tulasī. Even we do not use Tulasī as a medicine. Tulasī leaf is considered medicine by the ordinary people. But we don't go there, to utilise Tulasī for my bodily health. For spiritual health we want. It is not an ordinary plant, but there is the existence of the grace of Kṛṣṇa.

So spirit can help our spirit. No matter can help our spirit. Our ailment of our soul must come from the souls region, and never from any material plane. It is a plain thing. And we are suffering from anartha, from ignorance, when we find that this material thing can help me to attain my spiritual realisation. No! It is His own independent sweet will, autocrat. Only He's little dependent to His devotees. Devotees recommendation He cannot avoid, does not avoid. So no dependence on material substance for attainment of Him. He's for Himself. He's not subservient to anything, that that thing will force Him to come down to this man. He's for Himself. Hegelian expression, is very reliable and very substantial, very strong basis. By itself and for itself. And die to live. I use these expressions very often. Helps me a great deal, this Hegel. And it is unchallengable.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: It expresses the idea well.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. Unchallengable. He's for Himself and everything for Himself. Then He's absolute. Otherwise only give a name absolute and treat Him as our servant, no, the two things won't go together. He's for Himself. And His devotees means His own agent, own servants. They may be considered amongst His group. And [?] is for Himself, is by Himself, and die to live. And not by trying to live. If you try to live you will die. If you can die to this idea, with this idea that He's for Himself, you will die with this idea, it will be great help to you. I'm dying for Him, the main thing, back bone, of the devotional attempt. No compromise. You must have courage to admit this fact, that He's for Himself. I am for Himself. And I have no separate end. If it is there, I'm a culprit. I'm a traitor. I'm a diseased person. Die wholesale death, not partial. We go a few steps and then say no, no further, no, wholesale death. Ha, ha, ha. And as long as you'll go to die, you will feel of course that you are living, you are getting real life. Long missing link, back to home. You are going?

Devotee: I was going.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But you are stopped, forcibly?

Devotee: If I had gone I would have missed all of this.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mr. Hegel, he has stopped you, very clear, and very bona fide, strong. None can easily deny it. Reality must be by itself and for itself. This has done away with all other philosophy. The absolute, advaya-jñāna.

*[vadanti tat tattva-vidas, tattvaṁ yaj jñānam advayam] brahmeti
paramātmēti, bhagavān iti śabdyate*

Three genuine conceptions of Him. The lower class is Brahman conception, the second Paramātmā, and the third, highest conception of Him [?] as the enjoyer. All comprehensive, all-cognitive, and all-swallowing, devouring. Bhagavān. Jīva Goswāmī has given the meaning of the word Bhagavān. Bhajanīya-guṇa-viśiṣṭha. Bhagavān, He has got so charming representation that everyone cannot do without being attracted to Him, to serve Him. Whenever anyone comes in contact with Him, he cannot restrain himself without casting himself in His service. He's so charming. Bhajanīya-guṇa-viśiṣṭha. Bhagavān, He commands our service. Bhagavān means commands our service.

“That My service is fulfilment of your life.” He proposes like that. He's Bhagavān.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...back to home, back to God. We shall awake in our home.

Now we are wandering in the foreign land just like a madman aimlessly wandering on the street and collecting some piece of paper, or some piece of cloth. And wandering in the street forgetful of his own home, own father, mother, children everything, wandering in the street. Our condition more or less like that.

If that man, that madman may be roused to his own former temperament. “You are a son of that family. You have got that property. You are so and so.”

“Oh.” Then he will give up that collecting on the street, the nasty things, he will come back to home and live with the family, happily. That is something like that. Follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dīkṣā means that, to take back to Kṛṣṇa consciousness where is our own home. And at present our attention focused towards the external charm of substances. Sometimes in human form, both men and women, and sometimes in animal form, sometimes in tree. Many stages of living. And wandering just as in a dream, wandering in different stages of consciousness. But the absolute consciousness within, that will be aroused and you will find that I am a child of this soil, the soil of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, the land of beauty and love, prema. That is in a nutshell, it may be said like that. So I'm tired, I shall close.

Devotee: Merry making, playful mood.

Devotee: This is Kṛṣṇa's mood with the cowherd boys?

Devotee: No. Kṛṣṇa's mood with the young girls, with most young girls. Juvenile, in juvenile age. Not Kṛṣṇa, Mahāprabhu, he's saying. When Mahāprabhu used to take bath in the Ganges, and throwing water.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sporting mood.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I find Your Divine Grace brings new life to the English language, for myself. I find these words completely adequate to describe that mood. I would not have thought of these words: sportive, like this, merrymaking. This is more like old English. In America the language has lost some of its life, some of its descriptive nature. The old English was better. Now it is business language.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I like the style of Wordsworth. Not even Milton. Milton is too gorgeous. Wordsworth is a lover of nature, simple and deep thinking in the nature, natural resources, Wordsworth. I'm fond of his style.

Devotee: [?] to live in these not years and thoughts, but breaths in feeling of a figure of a child. We should count time by heart throbs [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...first time come here?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nimāi Paṇḍita in His young age...

Devotee:

śrī-nimāi-paṇḍiteti-nāma-deśa-vanditaṁ

[navya-tarka-dakṣa-lakṣa-dambhi-dambha-khaṇḍitam sthāpitārtha-khaṇḍa-khaṇḍa-khaṇḍitārtha-sambharaṁ prema-dhāma-devam eva naumi gaura-sundaram]

[During the Lord's adolescent pastimes, Śrī Gaurasundar was known throughout Nadia district as the brilliant scholar Nimāi Paṇḍita. With His ingenious arguments He could humble the proud logicians who thought they were so clever they could outwit everyone they meet. Rendering the scholars speechless by cancelling and reversing their logic and conclusions, the Lord would then refute His own opinions and re-justify His opponent's original proposals. I sing with joy the unending glories of my sweet Lord, my golden Gaurasundar, the One and Only Divine Abode of Pure Love.][Śrī Śrī Premadhāma-deva-stotram, 9]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Say that again.

Devotee: Śrī-nimāi-paṇḍiteti-nāma-deśa-vanditaṁ. Who's teaching you this?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Hari Charan prabhu came last night.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is from Premadhāma-stotram, Śrī-nimāi-paṇḍiteti-nāma-deśa-vanditaṁ. Because He was an exceptional scholar, all the scholars that came to Navadvīpa and they were defeated by Nimāi Paṇḍita. He was a genius from His young age. So the fame of Nimāi Paṇḍita was all around the country. Nimāi Paṇḍita was a very strong paṇḍita, personality. Any paṇḍitas, any scholars from different corners of India came to talk with Him, but they're defeated, can't go further. Śrī-nimāi-paṇḍiteti-nāma-deśa-vanditaṁ. His name was honoured throughout the country. Nimāi- paṇḍiteti-nāma-deśa-vanditaṁ. What the others produced He cut into asunder, and again He corrected them and explained Himself very perfectly. But when others put it to Him He cut it, smashed it. Again that [?] He corrected and put the meaning. So, khaṇḍa-khaṇḍa-khaṇḍitārtha-sambharaṁ.

Preaching very profusely, and He was such a great logician that He could cut asunder. They could not do anything. Again He corrected them in their front. So in this way, this capacity here. Sthāpitārtha- khaṇḍa-khaṇḍa-khaṇḍitārtha-sambharaṁ. A dreadful figure to the scholars, in His young age.

Again when He came to Kṛṣṇa bhakti that is also of that type, He lost Himself in the ocean of divine love. So much deep, so much intensity. People could not conceive that adherence to the Lord may come to such a great intensity, great degree, of self abnegation, so high. He can't tolerate His own existence.

"I can't stand, I can't stay. Please show Me Kṛṣṇa. I can't live without that, without having a sight of Kṛṣṇa. My friends, help Me. I'm gone, I'm lost. Help Me. I'm dying."

So such intensity, His adherence to Kṛṣṇa. "Kṛṣṇa is in Your chest."

"Oh, in My chest?"

Gadādhara told, "Yes. Why You are so much eager for Kṛṣṇa? Kṛṣṇa is within Your chest." "Oh?" He began to break [?] took it, Kṛṣṇa is within Me?"

"Yes?"

Something like that, mad, mad for search of Kṛṣṇa. So what's your news?

Your name?

Devotee: [?] Bāla.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Bāla. Only difficulty that the doctor's not allowing you to come out. Only one difficulty now.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes. Now they will keep her until Monday.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Monday, so long? Why not Saturday?

...thinking that my patient is a Vaiṣṇava. He dealt like that.

Mālā should be kept in a respectable position, and then obeisance, not on one hand.

Tulasī should always be revered. Put in a proper position, you should keep, that is what should be done.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Tulasī is given to the feet of Nārāyaṇa, not to the feet of Gurudeva. It is also be revered by Gurudeva's hand. Tulasī should be put in the hand of Gurudeva while arcana. So that the Gurudeva will put this Tulasī on the foot of Nārāyaṇa, Kṛṣṇa. Tulasī [?]

There is an understanding between Hari and Tulasī that, “Wherever You will be I must be nearby. I shall be present nearby, near about.” [?] Wherever there is Tulasī, Hari must be nearby.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. In Garga Saṁhitā perhaps, it is written one is asking Rādhārāṇī, “Where from You have got so much love for Kṛṣṇa?”

She said that, “In My previous life I rendered service to Tulasī, and by her grace I have attained this position.”

But this is a part of līlā. Though Rādhārāṇī She’s the highest amongst all the servitors, but still She says in some kalpa She might have done such līlā, līlā perhaps. But anyhow it is showing the dignified position of Tulasī. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are eager to start for the place of service. So if you like you can start, leave here today by two o’clock. After that the time will be inauspicious. Then again tomorrow morning, as it suits you tomorrow morning. [?] Nimāi Paṇḍita he was eager to go to London?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes. But we’ll wait today. We’ll leave tomorrow morning, altogether, all three.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. All three will start tomorrow morning.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Devotee: First I must go to Calcutta to book my flight back.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And you want his help? He wants your help?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes. I will help both.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Paramānanda he will also go to Bombay, you will have to go to Bombay to help Mādhava Purī Mahārāja.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So he will also start tomorrow morning, start for Calcutta, morning, before sunrise.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes. Guru Mahārāja, what is the energy in Thursday afternoon that makes Thursday afternoon inauspicious for starting a journey?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Every day has got some influence of the planet, a little different. So this is calculated. This is meant for aprākṛta līlā. Devotees in the middle stage may not care for it. But these subtle signs in the nature is seen to be read even by the gopīs. They accept every movement to serve some purpose in the līlā.

In Govinda-līlāmṛta it is written, when Rādhārāṇī She's approaching to meet Kṛṣṇa in the forest, some day She finds good signs and can meet Him. And some day it is described that when She's starting there's some ominous signs and that day_[] To read from the symbols of the nature, the future. The futures success or failure may be read from different symptoms of the nature.

You see we're told that earthquake is known by some birds. And sometimes also by the deer and other animals. But still, human brain has not yet found out when earthquake will come. But some birds began to cry, not all sorts of birds. There are some that the wave in the subconscious region, when the flood is coming the ants are seen to go up with their eggs, they can know, that intuition is there. It is intuition. What the man cannot know by his brain calculation, so many beasts they can understand by intuition. That is suggestion of the nature, future. Future reflects itself in the present, through different symptoms. And it is not superstition, it is fact.

In the newspaper we found once, a sādhū was living in Darjeeling Hill, here. And he was very liberal and so many animals used to come to him, and some licking his body, and some he's brushing some animal's body. In this way very friendly relation. Now once, the earthquake will come, and that portion of the hill that will be dissolved, separated from the main, the sādhū will have to die. The animals, especially the stag, the deer, they came and anyhow began by their horns began to push this sādhū out of his āśrama. And anyhow they took the sādhū out of that portion and immediately there was an earthquake came, and that portion of the hill was gone, down. It has also been said that intuition, subconscious region, the waves come.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: So Mahārāja, if one is going to follow the influence, or understand there's some bad influence on Thursday afternoon, what is one to do, or to avoid on a Thursday afternoon?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is not always effective. There are so many other things also. Not only the day, but the tithi, the other yoga, so many things, so combination produces something. It cannot be particularly said that Thursday afternoon will always be bad. There are different combinations also. If you're are to calculate in a subtle way, then there are many things to calculate. And generally when we're going forth with service of Kṛṣṇa, with God overhead, suppose if any urgent necessity arises in some inauspicious time, then what should we do? We shall have to attend that duty. So, we shall think about the Lord and go on _____ [?] It is a general thing. But in particular case, whether it's good or bad, we must go do our service. Forgetful of our future, taking wealth of service, we must go on to discharge our service. It is not desirable that in an ominous time, inauspicious time, we shall sit idle. That will also be bad.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Also in West Virginia, America, they see caterpillars, they have much hair, or the horses they grow a full coat of hair, they know it's going to be cold that winter, a harsh winter. The nature certainly points out future in different ways. The country people, they know some of these things. Is there some śāstra connected with some of these indications? Or is it just the people, they know these things, they observe these things?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: The nature, these signs, omens, are they in the śruti, are they in the scripture, any of these omens? Can they be found, pointing out future?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't follow you. In New Vṛndāvana in America, a part of America, Swāmī Mahārāja has given the name of New Vṛndāvana. And you say that there, the customs, usage of the people of the locality is different from that of other locality? Eh?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes. No. My question is this. You were saying before that there are omens. You see a sign in nature and you know a flood is coming, the ants are taking their eggs up and you can see. If you see that you can know the flood is coming.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And so, what do you say?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: In śāstra, are these in revealed scripture?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, yes. The ominous side and the auspicious side. When Kṛṣṇa disappeared, Arjuna coming from Dvārakā alone. Mahārāja Yudhiṣṭhira is saying so many ominous things, he's enumerating, “I saw this, I saw that, all ominous signs.” Now Arjuna come like a mad fool. “What’s the matter Arjuna? I am experiencing all these ominous signs in nature.”

Then Arjuna told, “We’re deceived by that Great Lord who came in human form and became our friend. He has withdrawn from here my brother. We’re helpless now. We’re thrown into the great ocean of grief. He has left us alone.”

So many bad signs are mentioned in the śāstra. [?] got recognition in the śāstra.

Devotee: Could I ask one question Mahārāja? You mentioned earlier that sometimes Rādhārāṇī sees a good sign and so She goes to see Kṛṣṇa. I didn’t hear very clearly. Did you say that sometimes She sees bad signs?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She’s in jñāna sunya bhakti, aprākṛta Vṛndāvana, all human characteristic. No divinity they’re awake in. Just as, “We’re ordinary men.” That is the mental imposition there. They’re ordinary people of lower section, the milkmaid men. We are so, there in the Deities, there in other Gods.

Yaśodā, if any sādhū comes, ordinarily, takes his feet dust putting on the head of her son, Kṛṣṇa, Gopāla. Saying, “Bless him. He’s my son.”

This is their mood, jñāna sunya bhakti. No divinity to be traced there. No transcendental knowledge to be traced there. Jñāna sunya bhakti, the life above calculation, the calculative world. No connection with calculative...

82.08.19.B_82.08.05.B

Devotee: ... they're great devotees who are suffering in disease and old age. And I was wondering why this is so? Because I have read in some śāstra, for example, Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, that by chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa, by seeing the āratī of Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa, that even the reactions to past sinful acts can be destroyed. So er?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Different stages, different graduation. There may be some stages where the past actions are being finished by suffering. And in higher stages we can see that may be when the soul is awakened and soul is connected with happy plane, ecstatic plane, the outward suffering is nothing to them.

Suppose a man, when sacrificing voluntarily for his country, he's feeling happiness, joy within. And externally, some sort of suffering. So many patrons they're offering their life for the cause of countrymen. So the external suffering is reduced to almost nothing. Internal joy is everything, something like that.

When in Kṛṣṇa connection, their soul is connected with plane of Kṛṣṇa, there they're feeling ecstatic sentiment life, and only on the surface some sort of bodily trouble cannot affect them much. Still it is shown sometimes to teach others. It is necessary through him to teach others, so Kṛṣṇa manages in that way sometimes.

[When you see a Vaiṣṇava of the highest order who seems to be suffering from material misery, you should know for sure that he is really experiencing the highest ecstasy. (When ordinary people see that a devotee has no material wealth of his own, that he is not enjoying the mellows of family life and has no important position in society, they think that he is suffering. They do not understand that a devotee takes no pleasure in wealth, women, and prestige, but takes transcendental pleasure in humbly serving the Lord.) Bewildered by sense enjoyment and puffed up with pride in their knowledge, education, birth, wealth, beauty, and so on, the ignorant people in general cannot understand the activities or position of a Vaisnava. (One should not think, however, that because a devotee does not consider these things important that he is therefore ignorant. A devotee simply cannot be understood in terms of birth, beauty, education or wealth.) A Vaiṣṇava, on the other hand never considers birth, education, and wealth to be important qualifications, but distributes the Lord's mercy to everyone, regardless of their social position.] [Caitanya-Bhāgavata, Madhya, 9.240-241] & [within Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.19.5, Purport] & [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 3.49]

Caitanya Bhāgavata. Whatever you will find, troubles, of the Vaiṣṇavas externally, you can know it really that internally they're enjoying much happiness. Just as in the case of the soldier, the general, giving his life smilingly. It is possible. So some sort of happiness within, and externally some sort of pain. But that is negligible to them. In this way, you can think of that. But whether this country love is very small thing and God love, infinite love, is infinitely greater. The comparison should be drawn in that way. When country love can ignore the bodily misery, then God love can how ignore this bodily misery. Do you follow? This is negligible.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: So when one pure devotee, or one very elevated, sincere devotee is suffering, apparently there is some...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So we shall think that God is, that suffering is giving food to me first, the chance for serving Vaiṣṇava, and thereby the Lord will be highly satisfied. I have got a chance. A Vaiṣṇava is showing suffering, is in disease, and trouble in my head, trouble in my ... That is, it is meant by the divine arrangement to give chance to the lower section to serve, attend them. And then through that way you will be able to go inner and higher. Do you follow? The Vaiṣṇava will say, the minor Vaiṣṇava will say, that he's suffering, it is only to make me grace, to give me chance for service, it is really not so. We're to take it in that way. The Guru, Vaiṣṇava, whom we can stress that he's beyond this mortal influence, but still we find suffering.

That as Kṛṣṇa did. "I have got a headache, strong headache. Oh Nārada, give some medicine." "What is the medicine, Lord?"

"Feet dust of My devotee, take it, take it. I'm suffering very greatly."

Ha, ha, ha. That imitation only to give chance for me to serve. This should be our standpoint.

Devotee: Jagannātha also becomes sick, doesn't He, after Ratha-Yatra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Why? To give chance to the public to receive some special service. "I'm one of you." He says, that, "I'm one of you. I also have sickness."

This is all līlā. Kṛṣṇa. [?]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: One last question? Our Swāmī Mahārāja was coming to America with such an exalted mission for Lord Caitanya, and he suffered two heart attacks on the boat. Also he was gored by one bull, or one cow. Right after taking sannyāsa, Swāmī Mahārāja was gored by one cow. He was hurt. One cow horned Swāmī Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One cow?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Knocked him down, and opened him, bleeding. You did not know? One cow attacked him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When? Before starting for America?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes, just after taking sannyāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some wound, and bleeding?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes, he was very dangerously wounded.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I did not hear so long, this incident.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: So, I'm asking, in this situation, how are we to understand that Kṛṣṇa is, in His pure devotee, he seems to be being attacked by some obstacles, you know, very dangerous obstacles. So how are we to understand that? Of course the devotees they...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Two angles of vision: one, suppose he's nothing, he's ordinary man, so, mukam karoti vācālaṁ panghum langhāyate girīm [yat kṛpā tam ahaṁ vande śrī gurun dīna-tāraṇam]

["I offer my respectful obeisances unto Mādhava, Who is the Personification of transcendental bliss. By His mercy, a blind man can see the stars in the sky, a lame man can cross mountains, and a dumb man can speak eloquent words of poetry."] [Bhavārtha Dipikā, maṅgala stotram, 1]

Kṛṣṇa entered him and through him did such wonderful work; one angle of vision.

The second, he's a higher realised soul, but all his posing, failure. He has so many defects. He had a wife who was half mad, and stark mad his eldest son. And the second son he was an atheist, communist. And the third son he was an idiot. This is his physical paraphernalia. And he tried his best to trade successfully but he failed. Then his life was full of struggle. All these are show, that he's one of the members of the mundane world, all may be hoax.

From another standpoint as I told, but still an ordinary panghu, cripple, but Kṛṣṇa's divine will can dance him like anything. Both, his personal realisation, and also if not personal realisation, still, anyone may be used by the Supreme Lord to perform anything and everything. That is one angle of vision.

And even when higher realised soul, they sometimes show that. Mahāprabhu when going to Gaya, He showed fever, to teach His company they are neglecting those brāhmaṇas who are ploughing in the field. And to teach them He had fever. And what, no medicine is curing Him when He's going to Gaya.

Then He Himself told, “Take the feet water of these brāhmaṇas and that will cure.”

Then what to do? They took the feet water of the brāhmaṇas that were apparently all cultivators. And by drinking that He was cured from that pernicious fever. He showed purposely, with some purpose He showed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Have you been given the addresses of Sudhīra Mahārāja and Mādhava Purī Mahārāja?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja, can I ask a question?

There is separation, separation with desert [?] creeper [?]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja, in Bhagavad-gītā one śloka, “A true yogī observes Me in all beings.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] an inductive process, ascending. You are trying to establish some relation with the [?] control and the nervous system, both are foreign material. By the help of the material you want to have the highest spiritual realisation. How is it possible? It is jugglery. What is there in yoga? In yoga there is some Vasudeva, on the forehead. That comes to Godliness, spiritualism. Otherwise you will take the help, just of so many āsanas and so many other things. It is all concerned with physical, the air and your body. And they can combine a conspiracy to compel the supreme authority. What do you think? What is yoga?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Well, there’s also bhakti yoga, yes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhakti yoga is all right. Then, what is the trouble? Why you have any preference for yoga? Because that is a definite way promising you some definite result. Do you find that? Saraṇāgati is uncertain, indefinite, to hanker after His sweet will? And by following the process of yoga you feel that you are going to control, you are going to solve the result? What good do you find in the yoga?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Well, I was actually, was going to ask you that actually one who sees Kṛṣṇa everywhere and in everything...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the connection with yoga? Yoga means reconnecting with Kṛṣṇa, that is all right. That is yoga. Yogamāyā, the central in-carrying current. To catch the central in- carrying current, Yogamāyā. It is taking us to connect with Kṛṣṇa, centre. That is Yogamāyā. And Mahāmāyā, out-carrying current. In-carrying current, out-carrying current. But what do you mean by yoga? This prāṇāyāma, pratyāhāra, dhāraṇa, āsana, all these things.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: One who is simply linked up with the Lord. Yoga means linked, linked up.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Link up. If you form an alliance with the nervous system of your body and [?] outwardly affected. The authority will be affected by that. Raja yoga and hatha yoga. Hatha yoga only attempting with physical things. The raja yoga, something mental. Yama, yama means [?] all these practices. To make oneself aloof from the material charm, charm of material life. Yama, niyama, āsana, prāṇāyāma, pratyāhāra, all these things. All concerning to this material, dealings with the material environment, yama means. To take out the self, to disconnect the self from the material bondage. But if we cannot have, we cannot establish any real connection with the spiritual, the material disconnection is not complete. Āruhya kṛcchreṇa paraṁ padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādrta.

[ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ āruhya kṛcchreṇa paraṁ padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādrta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ]

["O lotus-eyed Lord, although non-devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32]

We can climb up to the highest degree, the highest position of the negative side, the abscissa, we can climb up to, but if we do not have any visa then we'll have to come back anywhere in this plane. To establish connection with the agent of the visa area, that is what is most important. The agents, the sādhus, they're wandering here, and to connect with them and to secure a visa. And visa people will manage for us to secure a passport here [?]

Devotee: Descending process.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, automatically. They will recommend. 'I want this gentleman to take our notation because this plane has got great respect for the other plane.' The māyā has got its fulfilment there.

Whenever such news will come to the agents of the māyā that the other party is now wanting this man for their utility there, they will succumb to that, give to us, agree to that. Because the authority knows that I am only a negligent part of the highest place, so we must abide by the order of the higher authority who has come with the visa. Something like that.

This is Bhāgavata dharma, and this yoga, this varṇāśrama dharma, all the other things, by our trial and dealing with the material things we can go up to that end of this country. And then if we cannot secure any visa, any entrance there, then what to do? Wait for some time here, that will be our fate. That is more independent, more fine, more sweet, than every place that holds superior position. This is only a perverted reflection, having no existence of its own, can't stand on its own leg. It is a dependent state. So this māyā state is always in obligation with that original state. Anyhow to have connection with that state, that is most valuable thing.

Even if he is adept at the practice of mystic yoga or the honest endeavour of maintaining his family and relatives, he must be driven by his own mental speculations and must engage in the service of the Lord's external energy. How can there be any good qualities in such a man?”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.18.12]

Have you come in connection with this śloka? Yasyāsti bhaktir bhagavaty. If anywhere we can trace that faith in the Supreme Lord, in least. Sarvair guṇais tatra. So many qualities, main quality is faithfulness to the authority. And if that is there in anyone's heart, then other qualities with their masters cannot but be there, reluctantly or within [?] Because the highest authority's representation is there. So they must attend the place. And if the ultimate authority is not represented, then all the partial representations, their presence has got no value. [?]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: So Guru Mahārāja, our system is acceptance and rejection, accepting things favourable for Kṛṣṇa consciousness and rejecting those unfavourable things...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is included in devotion, not below.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: But if someone has some trouble concentrating his mind for chanting, or some problem, agitated by body or mind, yoga mitigates these, yes? But it should not be used?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will not be valuable, that way, intoxication. By his intoxication for the time being he can have some help of apparent concentration. But that is physical, material.

Devotee: Like Viśvāmītra Muni. For some time he meditated.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Meditation, this penance, they have got their respective results. But as climbing on the summit of that power, even one may be a demon, one may not be theistic.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: The reason many of Swāmī Mahārāja's disciples have gone away is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Even Śaṅkara, Mahādeva, he's considered to be the highest attainment of all this yoga, tapa, etc. But still he's not considered to be a śuddha bhakta. Jñāna miśra, yoga miśra, karma miśra, something like that.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahādeva is not śuddha bhakta?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

na tathā me priyatama ātmayonir na śaṅkaraḥ

[na ca saṅkarṣaṇo na śrīr naivātmā ca yathā bhavān]

[“Neither Brahmā nor Śiva are as dear to Me as you; My elder brother Saṅkarṣaṇa is not as dear to Me as you, nor even Lakṣmī Devī. Even My own Self is not as dear to Me as you.”][Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam , 11.14.15]

Mahādeva says, “If you want to see, feel what is real devotion, devotion proper, pure devotion, go to Prahlāda.” Mahādeva saying to Devarṣi Nārada. “Go to Prahlāda. You can find pure devotion there. We have got our personal concern. Sometimes we jump in opposition with the paramount power of Nārāyaṇa. So our position is not reliable. Go to Prahlāda, ananya bhakti, exclusive devotion, you can find there.”

Prahlāda says, “Yes.” He also denies, “That sometimes I want to fight with Kṛṣṇa, some demonic element is in me. And what I do that is also something like passive things, this meditation and others. But no active service in me. Go to Hanumān.” In this way, going up.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja, so the westerners I think what's missing is that they're trying to get a higher taste, some experience that's going to give them some reassurance that they are actually practising the proper path. The westerners are impatient for some higher taste.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Westerners are impatient to get something within their fist.

Devotee: Very quickly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Its nature is just the opposite. It is opposite. If you think you have got, then you are deceived. When you think 'I am nowhere,' you will find He's just on your side. So to increase the positive side, to catch Him, that is useless. I told many times, try to increase the negative side. Then you will have Him on your side. So jñāne prayāsam udapāśya [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3], when you will come to realise that all your acquisition is no qualification to attain Him. Only His grace, and grace comes to the humble. But they're puffed up with their own quality, capacity, grace does not descend there. As a master you will capture Him, He's a property and you are the possessor of the property, give that idea to the burial ground. That is no bhakti. Bhakti is helplessness, and the necessary feeling for the purpose of Him. I'm nothing, I'm nowhere. Your grace is everything, I have got no right. And the right which is asserted by the devotees, that is also of a negative character. I'm the most wretched, so I'm the highest candidate of Your grace. That is an appeal in the negative side.

[Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says: “Your grace is given in accordance with the necessity of those who really deserve it. In that consideration, I have some claim. I am fallen of the fallen, the most fallen, so I have some claim to Your grace.”] [Gītāmālā, Yāmuna-bhāvāvali, 19]

This way.

Badrinārāyaṇa: So anartha nivṛtti is always there Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anartha nivṛtti means the elimination of the external elements in us which gives us hope that I shall make me a king, those things, give up our dependence on those things. Those promising friends. God save me from my friends, or so called friends, that are giving hope that I shall make you a king, to disperse them all, wholesale, forever. I don’t want your help, you go away.

Try to realise the negative characteristic of our real self. We’re potency, not owner of the potency. We’re potency itself, not owner of the potency, so always dependent on the owner. That will be our position, real position. The substance and the potency. Potency is dependent on the substance. And to think that we’re substance, that is the wrong with us, the possessor of potency, no. We’re infinitesimal part of His potency, and the potency also not of the first class; third class potency. An infinitesimal part of the third class potency of the substance, that is our real position. So when we’re in our highest realisation, we’re also to be adjusted in the third class potency section, to work there.

Svarūpeṇa vyavasthitiḥ. The mañjarī class, the sakhī, prana sakhī, all these things here. The Nanda, Yaśodā, the sakhā, there is also different groups. And the new recruits will have a particular position in sākhya rasa. Always under the guidance of the main sakhā of any one, either in the retinue of Subala, or Śrīdāmā, or Mādhumaṅgala, and they are in sākhya rasa. Nanda, Yaśodā, the vātsalya rasa. Anyone in helping hand of Yaśodā or Nanda, in this way. There he will draw the maximum rasa. If misplaced, then he will have to fast, half fed, no capacity.

So ‘ham. We must eliminate exhaustively from us the spirit of so ‘ham, ‘I want something big.’

We’re one of many and where your real position is to be adjusted when you are free, from there only you can get your first highest benefit. He’s misplaced, you’re dead, you’re nowhere, you’re cast aside. Your body as proper food, this something is poison, something is too much rich, so your body will thrive only with the particular type of food. If you want to eat like elephant, you are gone, or like tiger. Your food will be limited to a particular position.

Gopeśvara: Nineteen seventy four, with...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Along with many of your Godbrothers, along with Swāmī Mahārāja. About one hundred and fifty persons. With that group you were. All right.

Gopeśvara: Yes. And again in nineteen seventy six I think, you came to that Maṭha, and Prabhupāda was inviting you to stay.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: During installation ceremony.

Gopeśvara: I think so, yes, but you didn't, you chose not to stay. And then again in nineteen seventy, Svetadwīpa dāsa brahmacārī ...

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes I know him. He's gone now, he's left the movement. We have not seen. He was last seen in Rādhā-kuṇḍa when he was living by himself like a bābājī. And then after that, this was in nineteen seventy seven, then after that he was kicked out of Rādhā-kuṇḍa and then...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Went back?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To America?

Badrinārāyaṇa: America.

Gopeśvara: No, this is a different Svetadwīpa prabhu. This brahmacārī he was actually from Bangladesa and he was working for the Nāma-hatta program in Māyāpur.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Under Jayapatāka Mahārāja.

Gopeśvara: Yes, under Jayapatāka Mahārāja. And one day he came with me to Navadwīpa. I needed a guide. I was doing some work for developing the Māyāpur program, I was speaking with the development board officer, and he took the opportunity, he just took me to meet you. I didn't know who you were but he introduced me, and at that time you spoke with me for over an hour. And since then, those things that you told me, I have been preaching to many people, everyone I met.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What peculiarity you find in my speech?

Gopeśvara: You are teaching that the following of purity is more important. Purity is more important than any show or any external opulence.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, quality, sincerity of the purpose. The quality within, that is more valuable than external energising. All right. So, you were married then? Afterwards married?

Gopeśvara: In nineteen eighty when I came here last time I was married.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Came with your wife?

Gopeśvara: No, then I didn't.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She's coming for the first time here?

Gopeśvara: Yes, to meet you, for the first time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In India she came?

Gopeśvara: Yes, she was staying in Calcutta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not Māyāpur?

Gopeśvara: Only for two weeks she stayed in Māyāpur.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Caitanya Candrodaya Maṭha? Which year?

Gopeśvara: Nineteen eighty. Was it eighty, or seventy nine?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mādhana's mother, Pishima was living at that time, no?

Gopeśvara: No, she wasn't. It was seventy nine, wasn't it? We went to England in January, nineteen eighty.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She has entered ISKCON movement how long ago?

Gopeśvara: In [nineteen] seventy four.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Seventy four. In England or in Germany?

Gopeśvara: Germany, yes. She was under Haṁsadūta in Germany since [nineteen] seventy four.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Seventy four. Swāmī Mahārāja was there, living.

Gopeśvara: Yes. She's initiated by Śrīla Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Sarvabhavana, he comes from Germany. And his wife is also a German lady. Does she know her?

Gopeśvara: Yes. She knows.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And his child, what's his name?

Gopeśvara: Abhimanyu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And, so did she stay in Calcutta with her?

Gopeśvara: Well, we had our own room there in Calcutta, but they were friends.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Does she know that Bhakti Caru Mahārāja also?

Gopeśvara: Yes, she knows Bhakti Caru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: First friend of Sarvabhavana.

Now did you write a letter to Akṣayānanda Mahārāja some months ago?

Gopeśvara: Yes sir, I wrote a letter to you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you like farming?

Gopeśvara: Yes sir. I like these things.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Akṣayānanda Mahārāja told that, “He’s well known to me and he likes this farming. We have acquired a place for you [?] in the south, boundary wall, less than three acres of land, a garden house.” And Akṣayānanda Mahārāja says, “He loves this, but he does not like to take any responsibility, permanent responsibility, but he likes this farming work, service.” Something like that.

Gopeśvara: I don’t mind the permanent responsibility, but I’m mistrustful any more of who I’m working for. So I’m very careful before I enter into someone’s service now. That is actually the predicament.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is all old topics. No news you have come with perhaps from Aranya Mahārāja.

Gopeśvara: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Did you meet that Goswāmī Mahārāja also, Dhīra Kṛṣṇa?

Gopeśvara: Yes, Sudhīra Mahārāja also came to visit.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sudhīra Goswāmī Mahārāja, now he's known by that name. Did you meet him in London?

Gopeśvara: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now, what's the result there? Any letter?

Gopeśvara: I don't have any letter because I had to leave quickly from London. So he wrote down some points for me to discuss with you and then to communicate back to him your answers.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then how long we can expect you to stay here? If suitable, for long time. Otherwise withdraw soon.

Gopeśvara: If suitable I would very much like to stay. I have been trying to come sooner. After I wrote this letter to you in April.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Remember the letter?

Devotee: No Mahārāja.

Gopeśvara: Sudhīra Mahārāja read it to you.

Devotee: It's in the file.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And mentioned your name there?

Gopeśvara: Yes. So he told me that you appreciated it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Akṣayānanda Mahārāja was dealing all those letters. Now the points may be discussed tomorrow morning. What do you think?

Gopeśvara: Yes. As you like sir.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By tomorrow's mail you like to send the reply, is it? As soon as possible?

Gopeśvara: Yes. we have some tapes here also. We are making tape of your comment. And Sañjaya is going to London the twenty-fifth.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You met Sañjaya?

Gopeśvara: Yes, I met Sañjaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Calcutta?

Gopeśvara: Yes, last night.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, then you came via Delhi?

Gopeśvara: No, we came Moscow, Calcutta. Yes, London, Moscow, Calcutta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then Calcutta [?] or America. Why? He was compelled to leave?

Gopeśvara: No, he wasn't. Actually Aranya Mahārāja and I went to him and we spoke personally with him. And I asked him just to his face, please tell me what you are doing so I know and I can make my choice as to what to do. There are so many rumours about you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The trouble arose from his intoxicating habit?

Gopeśvara: Yes, but I didn't believe it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The whole party?

Gopeśvara: Not the whole party.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, he himself and other few?

Gopeśvara: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His closest intimates. They used to take intoxication, regular?

Gopeśvara: Yes. Well, Jayatīrtha told me and Aranya Mahārāja that he was taking regularly, and that some of his intimate disciples like Kedar and some others, they found out that he was using. So he said they forced him to tell us what you are doing, what are your experiments.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who forced?

Gopeśvara: Kedar. Kedar forced Tīrtha Mahārāja to tell him what he was doing and how he was doing it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, what did he play game?

Gopeśvara: And so then Tīrtha he said ok. And then he's explaining to his men, Kedar etc., how to take hashish and LSD for spiritual realisation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He has got that sort of conviction?

Gopeśvara: Yes, exactly, conviction, he said.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That this can help him in his spiritual realisation?

Gopeśvara: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So he's taking that, and there is no question of leaving that. It is his opinion?

Gopeśvara: Well, he's saying that intellectually he knows that it's not what Prabhupāda says, it's not in the śāstras, and it would displease you also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He cannot feel, he cannot realise that it is anti, cannot realise. But only through śāstra he knows that there is a saying like this and that is all empty words. That is his realisation. That that śāstric voice is only empty. All right. So determined not to give up intoxication he has gone to America side. Do you think like that?

Gopeśvara: Well, he spoke with us a little differently. He spoke that he would feel better if he was not taking these things, but still his conviction is such that he more or less uses it as his sādhana. And he would like to give it up. And he gave the explanation...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He lived here for so many days. He could make any question to me regarding that. He could have done so. Anyhow, I got a telegram from Aranya Mahārāja that Tīrtha Mahārāja is such and such. Then I replied both Jayatīrtha Mahārāja and Aranya Mahārāja. Aranya Mahārāja I wrote that deal slowly, carefully and affectionately. Tīrtha Mahārāja wired that, 'I'm already wiring him.' And I also sent a telegram to Tīrtha Mahārāja, please help us stopping intoxication if any. Situation emergent. But I did not get any reply from Aranya Mahārāja as yet. But Jayatīrtha Mahārāja gave a long telegram reply from America. There it is not very clear but he says that I'm not going to challenge the committee. And I can't come just now to you for want of money. These two important points there. No mention that on principle I cannot give up this intoxication. I don't like to go out of the committee. Is it not? Something like that.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes. Go against authority.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: 'And also I can't go to you immediately for want of money. So many other things. I am a rogue, I am very mean, so and so, nasty, I am not fit for your company.' All those things. In the midst of those expressions, these two points. 'I can't go now for want of money to you immediately, otherwise I would have come and got a settlement direct from you. And another, I don't like to go out of the committee we have constructed.' Something like that.

Gopeśvara: He said that in nineteen eighty, I think when he took his wife back, then he said at that time...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where is his wife Manjuali, is in ISKCON?

Gopeśvara: Yes, she's in ISKCON. They're bringing the girls back to ISKCON.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Girls?

Gopeśvara: The girls that were in India, Manjuali is encouraging them to come back to ISKCON.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And her son Vaiṣṇava Carana is also there with her, young boy?

Gopeśvara: Yes. He's in the Gurukula.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She gave a letter to me when Jayatīrtha Mahārāja was ousted from the London temple and Rāmeśvara and Bhagavān dāsa took charge there and ousted him, Manjuali wrote a letter to me.

She said, "Things are such, I want to know from you what should be." She told that, "When he left, had sannyāsa, he was almost forced to take sannyāsa. As gṛhastha he got deputation from Swāmī Mahārāja to do the work of Ācārya, as gṛhastha. But these people pressed him to take sannyāsa. And anyhow he agreed and took sannyāsa. But he could not keep it."

He told that one lady he accepted as his second wife for some time. For some time or so accepted wife, she wrote. But I was told by other members that anyhow, that lady was also the wife of Pradyumna or someone, he's in Canada. Anyhow through intimate service she became very intimate and the two boys they detected him. And when he came to understand that he's caught red handed, then he wanted to commit suicide.

But those boys anyhow prevented him committing suicide, and told that, "We won't give it out to any. You please don't commit."

Then, thinking about his weakness, the wife the boys he took to him, former married wife, took to him. And thinking that I am not fit for the post of an Ācārya, and the managerial, he went on pilgrimage. And when he came to Purī, Jagannātha, on pilgrimage with his wife and child.

Then Jayapatāka Mahārāja came to me. "Such is the things are happening in this way. So please try to help us." I told that ... before this Jayapatāka Mahārāja once again came to tell something against Jayatīrtha Mahārāja. "That he's showing much sentimentalism, and saying that this is all transcendental sentiments." He asked me, "Is it so?"

Never. This cannot be transcendental sentiment. What is the proof? I showed him, that these are the scriptural quotes, and the facts, that we can never accept it as transcendental sentiment.

Then when he left and took his wife and child and came here, Jayapatāka again came. "He has come here, and if you can make him understand the position, the credit of ISKCON is going down. He was one of the principle Ācāryas, his important place in London, he's a good organiser, all these things. If he goes down in this way then it will be a great loss to ISKCON." In this way.

I told that I can't say anything to you, hearing one side. But I want to hear from his side also. So we may take him here, and I shall hear both sides, and then I shall think what to do. Then they managed to take him, only first Jayatīrtha Mahārāja. But after first hearing I asked, I want to see your wife also. Then wife was also taken here. All the sides I heard. Then I asked Jayatīrtha Mahārāja, when once you have accepted sannyāsa āśrama you should not go back to be grhastha. Only accidental fall, that is not everything. You must have courage. Your Guru Mahārāja appointed you as a general to fight against māyā. And you must not leave your position.

Naturally Manjuali and the boy also began to cry when he accepted my proposal. I also encouraged them. You are already disciple of Swāmī Mahārāja before your marriage, I heard. So you also encourage him, he's a general, fighting as a general with māyā, with so many soldiers. And if he comes back you must encourage him. Viṣṇupriyā Devī she left Mahāprabhu for the good of the public. You must remember her ideal. And for Kṛṣṇa you must come ahead to do anything and everything, all sorts of sacrifice for Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa is not a dead matter. He will look after you. Your greatest sacrifice for Kṛṣṇa. Anyhow they were both encouraged.

And ready to take sannyāsa. Bhakti Caru Mahārāja was also there. Then I sent them, send a letter to your former sannyāsa Guru Kīrtanānanda, that please permit me I am going again to take, retake, for the time being. And I advised to go to Katwa, the place where Mahāprabhu took His sannyāsa, Śrī Caitanyadeva. Go to that place and there you again take that sannyāsa dress. That will give you strength. So Bhakti Caru and Govinda Mahārāja and others were sent and he took sannyāsa. And he went this way, they went that way.

And afterwards he told, “Yes, I have got the strength. As if I have got from Swāmī Mahārāja I have got sannyāsa.” Before going to Katwa, they asked me to touch the kaupīna and the daṇḍa and I did it. “I have got strength from all these things, now I’m strong.” He was working very well.

Now the trouble arose, in the last Gaura Pūrṇimā. When the ISKCON committee they saw whatever their resolution, and their behaviour, many men are going away. And from long time like this Hiranyagarbha and so many other gentlemen, many came to me, “The committee is not working in the right path. They are working whimsically.”

And the committee itself came to me that they are going to punish these three Ācārya, Jayatīrtha and Haṁsadūta and Tamāla Kṛṣṇa, for some reasons or other. I stopped them. What do you say? They got direct recognition from Swāmī Mahārāja. If you do so, what will be the reaction within their disciples? My Guru is vulnerable. These three Guru Ācārya have no real position in the transcendental world. Then they will say your position is also vulnerable. Anyone, no position. ISKCON will lose its hold there. Don’t do so. But if they have done some wrong, amicable settlement within you. Don’t go to eject or punish them openly, publicly. Never do this.

Anyhow they accepted my direction. But many people are always coming to me, “Oh, they’re doing this, they’re doing that, many things objectionable. We can’t tolerate this.”

I first told them, wait and see, perhaps more than a year, wait and see. And I put some letters also to Tamāla Kṛṣṇa and others that, eighteen points of complaint against you. Please consider and do the needful. Otherwise these important persons leave its painful. In this way. They ignored. Then I told the party that are ignored, disappointed, that you meet amongst each other and form an organisation and have some resolution and put it to them, to the committee. That we the aggrieved party are of such an opinion, if you do not consider our case then we shall have to go against your decision. Do something like that. Then they did something like that, but they did not care.

Over again they were more tight, that none could come to me. “Don’t go to Śrīdhara Mahārāja.” First they told that, “Śrīdhara Mahārāja is an old man. Don’t go to disturb him.” Next they told, “No, don’t go there. You all confine yourself in the writings and advices of our Guru Mahārāja only, and not outside that.”

But still any one coming to me and asking questions and they’re recording on tapes. And Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja he collected so many important tapes from the beginning. He was president in a temple where all the tapes from the time of Swāmī Mahārāja, they are reserved there. And he got copy of all those and he began to preach my tapes. And they told that it is deeper and more sweet. In this way.

Then the committee they were in a difficult position and they passed a resolution, “No one should have any connection with Śrīdhara Mahārāja, if they want to be within the range of ISKCON.” But then Tamāla Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja or Haṁsadūta Mahārāja they were silenced, but anyhow the resolution was passed.

And Jayatīrtha Mahārāja told boldly, “I have got much faith in Śrīdhara Mahārāja and I can’t give up his tape reading.” Jayatīrtha Maharaja he introduced against a temple along with reading about Swāmī Mahārāja’s books, my tapes also, and of my Guru Mahārāja’s books.

But they prohibited, “No. No, only Swāmī Mahārāja’s books should be discussed and read, and no other. No other words of Gauḍīya Maṭha, including Śrīdhara Mahārāja.”

But Jayatīrtha Mahārāja said, “No. All right, I shall do it for myself. Saraswatī Ṭhākura’s Brahmā-saṁhitā and all these things, and Śrīdhara Mahārāja’s tapes I shall use for myself, and not for the disciples.”

But, “No, you won’t be able to use it for yourself also.”

Then he revolted. “No. Then I want to cut off my connection with you. I can’t cut off my connection with Śrīdhara Mahārāja.”

That was the ... and they wanted then, “You leave your centre there.”

Then in the television he gave a piece there. “Yes. I do not abide by the resolution of the ISKCON committee, and the temple is under ISKCON so I give it up, my post as the president of that London temple.” He gave a lecture.

And at that time they took that incident that, “You lost your character, you had a fall.”

He admitted that, “Yes. I had such unhappy accident in my life of that type.” That also he propagated.

And on the basis of that declaration that Rāmeśvara Mahārāja and Bhagavān dāsa, they went straight there and took possession of that temple.

Then to some outside members amongst his disciples he sent another telegram. “That such is the case, I have left the temple, but those that are still faithful to me, my guidance, they may come out.”

So many came out, more than hundred ladies and gents, some came out there and more than hundred came here. And anyhow he had some trouble, took them, and that house here, and all these things.

Then after long time, I’m not accustomed to go on with so much trouble. He removed some of them to Nepal. And then from there to Bangalore and Delhi, in this way, gradually. And there perhaps the money became short, and he was not caring so much, a fatalist.

Then I told him, the others came out and they’re trying to form another centre there. I requested him to go straight to London and to help them, those that are establishing a new centre. And also help those that are here and take them in. He went.

And I got letter, in the name of Kedar, that when they reached there they’re very much encouraged. And Jayatīrtha Mahārāja is all right, going on well. And they’re sending tickets to those that are here. Gradually they will join.

In the meantime I got a letter from Aranya Mahārāja, and telegram especially. “My previous letter cancelled. What I say in the telegram this is up to date, truth.”

Then I gave two telegrams too, to both sides. And Jayatīrtha’s reply I got, he wrote from America. And I was just going to wire to Aranya Mahārāja, what is the meaning, that you have come.

In the meantime we got some report from Akṣayānanda Mahārāja from Delhi, “Some have come and they are hearing that there is trouble about that intoxication, and perhaps many of the members are dispersed. The new temple that is dispersed, and Jayatīrtha Mahārāja went to America with very few of his intimate followers, something like that.

And very strongly our Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja as well as Arunya Mahārāja opposed Jayatīrtha Mahārāja and asked his disciples not to follow that way of intoxication. Such is the position.

Gopeśvara: It was done in a very gentlemanly way though. Aranya Mahārāja and I approached Jayatīrtha for clarification of these things. So he told us directly that he was using these intoxications. And he said that ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Experimenting. But, did he not try that it is my centre, the temple of my disciples, so if you do not like it you may preach it outside. Don’t come to disturb here my disciples. Did he not say like that, Jayatīrtha Mahārāja and Kedar, his partner?

Gopeśvara: Well. he simply said that he didn’t want all of these disciples anyway. He'd been trying to get rid of them twice in nineteen eighty when he came here with Mother Manjuali. That time he wanted to give up all disciples. And then again when he came here to you after Māyāpur festival, again he wanted to give up all disciples. He says but these disciples keep coming to him and so he doesn't have time to be with himself in order to solve his problem. This is what he explained to us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's a man of renunciation spirit. Jayapatāka Mahārāja visited him here three, four days continuously tried to convert him. But he did not budge an inch. Jayapatāka Mahārāja went on frustrated, disappointed.

He says, "I do not want anything. I'm a man of my own principles. What I understand I shall do that."

That is his nature. It's true that he told in the beginning that, "I don't want any disciples. You may take them." He asked me, "You take all these things."

I said no, no, I am not going to capture anyone's disciples. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Now again the same show repeated, "I don't want anything but I'm going on with my experiment."

A very cheap way to Goloka, cheap way by the help of intoxication we can go to Goloka. His foolish idea. After discussing, and understanding, and reading, and chanting, through the śāstra and mahā-jana vākya, still I wonder that he's of such opinion, wonderful.

But it is not a very serious thing that anyone has some little bad previous habit. But the danger is there that he wants to experiment, he wants to have confidence that this sort of intoxication can help devotional path, the danger lies there. But accidental bad habit has got no very great value. It may go. I know that this is bad, but I can't give it up so soon. Take some time and then I shall take it. But to think that this can help devotion, this intoxication through drugs, it is a dangerous thing. But he did not ask it to me when he was here.

Gopeśvara: We asked him why you didn't ask Śrīla Śrīdhara Deva, why you didn't explain to him the situation. Because he was using regularly before he met you even. And he simply said that he didn't have the courage to ask you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He told, he admitted?

Gopeśvara: Yes, he admitted to Aranya Mahārāja and myself, he didn't have the courage to tell you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He is a plain speaker, at least. He does not hide anything. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So he says that he could not come to me for want of money. Otherwise he could try to discuss it with me, and if possible clear it up.

Gopeśvara: I don't think so, sir. If I may say, I don't believe that ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You think that he's determined to experiment, to go on experimenting?

Gopeśvara: Well, I think he's trying to get more time at least to decide what he really wants to do. He's not decided yet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If he's got such faith that it is unnecessary, it is harmful, but due to my weakness I can't leave it immediately. I may have some time to shake it off. That is something. But on principle to accept it, that I am making experiment with the drugs, that whether they can help to take us to Vaikuṇṭha or not, that is the most foolish thing, anti devotional conception. What do you say Badrinārāyaṇa prabhu?

Badrinārāyaṇa: In our sampradāya no one has ever done it before.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now that temple is there and very few are there. And Aranya Mahārāja in charge of that temple. So at least it is kept under the vigilance of this party. And Jayatīrtha Mahārāja has gone with about how many, a dozen?

Gopeśvara: He has taken only a few with him, two or three Kedar, Kedar's wife, there is also very much rumour he's having relation with Kedar's wife.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Gopeśvara: Jayatīrtha. There's very much talk about that also in the temple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja for some service. But Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja did not like her, for her smoking or the filthy habits. So he asked Kedar to take her away. And Kedar went there and took her away. So he's disgusted with Kedar and his wife already, that Sudhīra Goswāmī Mahārāja. And Sudhīra Mahārāja immediately came and [?] them Aranya Mahārāja and then boldly both of them they approached Jayatīrtha Mahārāja for direct proposal.

Gopeśvara: No. Sudhīra did not approach Jayatīrtha. Aranya Mahārāja and I approached Jayatīrtha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Sudhīra Mahārāja was there?

Gopeśvara: No, he came afterwards.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, he came afterwards. After coming, what was his opinion? Jayatīrtha Mahārāja there, or he already left for America, when Sudhīra Mahārāja came?

Gopeśvara: He had gone into hiding. Jayatīrtha, he asked Aranya Mahārāja and I what should I do? He didn't know what to do any more.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He got my telegram.

Gopeśvara: Because his disciples were going back and forth taking everything out of the temple and going back to Jayatīrtha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The householders they're coming and keeping connection with Jayatīrtha Mahārāja?

Gopeśvara: Not only householders but Navanita Cora and Dāsa Avatāra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The other day we received a letter from Navanita Cora, that Irishman?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes, about three days ago.

82.08.20.B

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No butter is there. Butter affairs all in Vṛndāvana. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Gopeśvara: So he also went to America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Jayatīrtha Mahārāja was staying in a different house.

Gopeśvara: Yeah, so, er?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Deplorable.

Gopeśvara: Yes. So Sudhīra Mahārāja never got to speak with Jayatīrtha, because after Aranya Mahārāja and I spoke with him...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But now, where Jayatīrtha Mahārāja is at America, that is in hiding or publicly he's staying somewhere?

Gopeśvara: He's staying with some devotees who have bad reputation. They're no longer full time ISKCON devotees, but they are doing business also with drugs and things.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're this side, not that side?

Gopeśvara: Yes, that's right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Such householders, devotees of Swāmī Mahārāja?

Gopeśvara: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who are they, any name?

Gopeśvara: Yes, Bhakta dāsa, Madhuvisa Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you know them?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Madhuvisa, Mahārāja, sannyāsī?

Gopeśvara: Yes, at one time sannyāsī. But long time ago, about seven years he left sannyāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Another gentleman he was president of ISKCON, he has left sannyāsa and went away. What was his name?

Gopeśvara: Yes. Ādi Keśava.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you know about Acyutānanda, anything you know?

Gopeśvara: I'm asking but I haven't heard from him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you know Pradyumna?

Gopeśvara: Pradyumna has gone to California. He was in London, England, but he left to California for some teaching.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He left ISKCON and the four principles and has gone to the extreme?

Gopeśvara: That I don't know actually.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And his wife, that Arundati and son Anhiruddha, they are under care of ISKCON [?

Gopeśvara: Are they?

Badrinārāyaṇa: That's what we heard.

Gopeśvara: There is some good news.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is that?

Gopeśvara: Aranya Mahārāja says that he will distribute all of the books, your book.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That Ambrosia.

Gopeśvara: Yes. He can distribute all of them and collect all the money necessary. He promises he can do that. He has ten men he can...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I'm anxious for the loan. Purī Mahārāja incurred 80,000 loan for the publication of that book. So that loan may be cleared. I like to see that. I have some sort of anxiety from that loan.

Gopeśvara: He will free you from that anxiety. He said he will take care of that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And [?] may be utilised for that purpose?

Gopeśvara: Perhaps. I don't know specifically about her.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She may do that. She's an expert in distributing books, I was told. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Here when they came, that Karnani, Gurupada, he was a strict follower of Jayatīrtha Mahārāja. Another African gentleman, from South Africa.

Gopeśvara: Yes, Tīrtha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was also delivering lectures here in favour of Jayatīrtha Mahārāja, in the garden, do you know?

Gopeśvara: Yes, Tīrthapāda dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And South African gentleman?

Gopeśvara: That's Dāsa Avatāra, he's South African, isn't he?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Dāsa Avatāra, he's not. He married a lady here. Dāsa Avatāra.

Gopeśvara: No. Different Dāsa Avatāra.

Badrinārāyaṇa: But he was here also at the same time.

Gopeśvara: Did he marry some lady here?

Badrinārāyaṇa: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dāsa Avatāra, perhaps he's a disciple of Swāmī Mahārāja, who married a lady?

Badrinārāyaṇa: No. He's Tīrtha Mahārāja's disciple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dāsa Avatāra?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes. There's another Dāsa Avatāra that's Swāmī Mahārāja's disciple. But this Dāsa Avatāra he had some connection...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who married the lady, who came to live in the Maṭha and I refused entrance, that Dāsa Avatāra. You don't know?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes Mahārāja, I know, but he didn't marry, he just had some connection with the lady, but he did not marry.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no, he married. He took the lady to Akṣayānanda Mahārāja in the garden house, wanted to stay here in the blue house. I refused to accommodate him. Both of them came to live here for some time, I refused. No. Come so far for search of Kṛṣṇa and now he was in the temperament of searching a lady's company. I don't like to accommodate such persons here. Far off you have come in search of Kṛṣṇa and that vanishes and you gain again.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Now I'm tired. Again we may meet tomorrow morning.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow I found in paper hundred per cent fit

[?] “When I drink, I’m two

For the fitness of the body, to keep the body fit we can take help of the matter. Otherwise physical, not only this spiritual standard of our own soul, but higher spiritual help, only His mercy can help us. He can come to us. We can’t go to Him. Now what to do, to draw His attention to come down, to grace us? What path should we choose?

He’s independent. I’m here to invite His sweet will. Not even our knowledge, the high knowledge also cannot touch His existence. Whether He is or He’s not, knowledge cannot say that. No knowledge of human beings can reach to that standard where it can find that God is living. That He is, that can be known only by His attempt, to make Himself be known to us. That is śrauta. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyaḥ.

This principle must be understood. This is the main principle to be understood by the devotees. A student of this school must have some idea of this fact, that He can come, we can't go. He can come and He can take us there, but we cannot go there independently. Such play, we're gross consciousness, and that is the highest and finest conscious area. Even where He lives, that area is finer consciousness than the stuff we're made of.

vaikuṇṭhēra pṛthivy ādi sakala cinmaya [māyika bhūtera tathi janma nāhi haya]

Where the God lives that soil is more, higher consciousness than we. We are taṭasthā consciousness, unit of marginal consciousness, consciousness of a lower degree, we are made of. We are created from a plane of consciousness that is of lower degree. And in the higher degree of consciousness He lives with His paraphernalia. They can come to us but we cannot go there. So how it is possible to go there? Only by their grace, no other alternative. Nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena. Extensive study of different scriptures, or sharp memory, all falls to take us there, they're useless. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute. Whomever He will select to take, to make Himself known, he may know. There are so many. He may make Himself known to one, the others may not know.

When Kṛṣṇa was in Kuru sabhā, Duryodhana, Karna, Duḥśāsana, came to capture Him. But He showed Himself in such a posing that Devaṛṣi Nārada, Bhīṣma, and others that were there began to praise about His nobility, so much.

Dhṛtarāṣṭra he was blind. He heard those hymns and songs praising about Kṛṣṇa. And his appeal to Kṛṣṇa, “What I hear, I have no eyes, what I hear from the praise sung, praising songs, that You are showing a very noble figure. Please grant me sight for a few seconds and allow me to see Your great and beautiful figure. Then again You may make me blind. Only for the time being please remove my blindness that I can get the chance to have a view of Your magnanimous presence.”

Kṛṣṇa told, “No necessity of curing your blindness. I say you see.”

And he saw. In spite of his blindness Dhṛtarāṣṭra saw Kṛṣṇa. So eye was not necessary to have a sight of Kṛṣṇa’s figure. It is such. His will, the only cause, He wants to make Himself known. Then one can know. For whose favour He opens the door of his sight, he can know. It is coming from that side, consent is coming.

“Know Me Arjuna, Divyarūpa.”

“I want to see that Divyarūpa, the Viśvarūpa.” “Yes Arjuna, you see.”

Arjuna began to see. Only His will. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas. Whomever He accepts, admits, gives pass.

“Yes, you may see. Visa, I give you visa to enter My domain. You can enter, none else.”

So nothing material can help. Only His agents that is also empowered by Him. They come to say something about Him, to help in some way. To get the eye,

*om ajñāna-timirāndhasya jñānāñjana-śalākayā / cakṣur unmilitaṁ yena,
tasmai śrī-gurave namaḥ*

[“I was blind in the darkness of ignorance but my Spiritual Master applied the ointment of proper spiritual knowledge and thus opened my eyes. Unto him I offer my respectful obeisances.”]

The Gurudeva is sufficient to give the eye, the eye of this nature, that He can never be seen by dint of any power raised from this material plane, gross or subtle. The eye that He can only make Himself known by His own grace. That sort of eye, that sort of knowledge, that sort of idea.

Wholly at His disposal. Everything is for Him. And, not a particle to satisfy our individual purpose. Reality is for Itself. Everything in His hand. All right reserved there. And with His consent His devotees they can enjoy some sort of that life, by His sweet will, by His order, they know something like. It is of such independent nature.

Especially Kṛṣṇa consciousness, that is more subtle, more rare, and more non-understandable. We are to connect, anyhow, we cannot connect with Him. Some sukṛti has accumulated in us, and that is trying to make us search for that highest thing. It has also come from Him. This ajñāta sukṛti, jñāta sukṛti, then when accumulated to a certain extent it produces some śraddhā. The quality, a tendency of enquiry of that impossible existence, we want to have, running after phantasmagoria.

It is not easy thing. The highest idea. It is our fortune that we have not allowed ourselves to be satisfied with so many stale things, stale products of this nature. We want something else, something higher, charm, all charm. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas. We must try to understand the real purport of this life, from the śruti, avaroha-panthā. If He cares to make Himself known, He can do that. He may dash your head against the head of any adventurous thing you may do. You may do or not, but it's no qualification for understanding Him. All right reserved. He's for Himself. He's by Himself and for Himself. He does not care for anything else. Such is the Absolute. It's almost hopeless to get any trace about Him.

sanātana kṛṣṇa prema niracana haya [?]

Mahāprabhu says, Mahāprabhu is showing Himself as conscious of such a plane.

“That Sanātana it is impossible that they may come down in this human section. Niracana haya [?] Humanity, human section, cannot have any fortune to trace that substance here, in their society. Human society cannot expect to have any conception of that thing. Niracana haya [?] If accidentally, any contact, any connection with any man here, anyone of the society, [?] once connected, never separated. And if he's separated he cannot stand, cannot keep his existence here, maintain himself. His life is drawn by that charm. He cannot exist in this body, in this world. That is so charming, so powerful, so attractive. Once any connection, and if separation he can't exist, maintain his existence barely, he's gone, life is drawn. [?] Cannot live, cannot stand if once connected and then disconnected, he cannot live any longer here in this plane. It is of such nature.”

Mahāprabhu says, “I have not got a speck of that, one very minute single drop of that. I'm searching. Only I'm raised to such a position that I can face that such a thing is there, in the upper stage. But till now I have not touched it. So far, so unapproachable. But still it is, and it is the highest thing. And everyone should live only for that, whether he gets or does not get, such a charming thing, such a sweet thing. Existence is possible only for Him. Otherwise existence is a dead thing. Consciousness, if there is any point of consciousness it should exist only in the hope of that conception. Otherwise it is useless to me. No meaning of any life is such a great thing, that far away we can get the scent of such a great thing. It is worth living. In any day I may come to such a thing. If not now I shall go on dragging my life, that one day I may come, such prospect.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

To keep up the body fit.

["For a person who eats, relaxes, and exerts himself in all duties in a regulated way, and who keeps regular hours in proper measure, the practice of yoga gradually becomes the source of dispelling all worldly suffering."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.17]

Only to keep up the standard, we can manage material things. [?] So wait for that, try hard to get the connection of that higher soul. And if anyhow, anywhere it has descended in the heart of a devotee, through there we are to connect.

sādhū-śāstra-kṛpāya [yadi kṛṣṇonmukha haya / sei jīva nistare, māyā tāhāre chāḍaya]

[“If the conditioned soul becomes Kṛṣṇa conscious by the mercy of saintly persons who voluntarily preach scriptural injunctions and help him to become Kṛṣṇa conscious, the conditioned soul is liberated from the clutches of māyā, who gives him up.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.120]

To give Himself, distribute himself, He has managed to give about His description in the scripture, as well as in the heart of a saint, śuddha bhakti devotees.

...devotion proper. But I can utilise my money at my command, energy, and men and money I can utilise in favour of acquiring devotion. But Jīva Goswāmī says that is not the proper side, śuddha bhakti route, that is not pure devotion. You cannot utilise yourself in the service, but you manage to serve through money and through men. But that is not considered as pure service. To help something, to bring some sukṛti to you. So money and men may be utilised to get some sukṛti, and not devotion proper, as far as yourself is concerned. Your position is where, and you try to utilise to get it through some other medium, sitting tight as you are in your position. Negligence.

Ambarīṣa Mahārāja, he left his royal duties, entrusted them to the brāhmaṇa ministers, and he himself used to brush the temple and do other things by his own hand.

And Mahārāja Pratāparudra he was the Emperor of Orissa at that time, time of Mahāprabhu. When he came to brush the ways of the chariot of Jagannātha, then Mahāprabhu Himself came to embrace him.

So no dignity or position of this worldly qualification. But dainyam, humility, helplessness. The real consideration of our own helpless position. That is the qualification. I'm nowhere. I have no support. Why do I stand? I'm in the infinite sky. No support. Where I am I do not know in this infinite sky, no shelter, no support, no prospect, no home. An earnest search for some shelter. Dainyam, ātma- nivedana. Where should I get bhāgyam and make myself safe? All empty. No charm. All things have no charm, dismissed, ending nowhere, no shelter. And earnest seeking for some support, real support, āśraya. And then only a soul can find the subtle support, subtle shelter. [?] One who has got none, [?]

_____ [?] but when he proves some condition real, he's come [?]

Spontaneous, sweet will. But when we demand anything, put any demand, not artificial thing that can be produced. It is not of that matter, but may come out of himself.

Once, one gentleman named Hari Kiśora, our Godbrother, went to our Guru Mahārāja, "Prabhupāda, please say some Hari kathā to me. I put this question that I want to hear some kathā from you."

Prabhupāda told, "You can clear your ears, then you come." That was the answer.

_____ [?]

Devotee: Did he come back?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It cannot be forced to come. It is such, automatic.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, “Sudden flash I find, Gaura-Gadādhara, but when I go to see it with a particular attempt, attention, vanishes, at once.”

It is of such nature. No exposure to any other, so sweet will, degree of sweet will. Do not care for any other influence from outside, can't tolerate. Very subtle, very susceptible, sentimental, cannot tolerate any external influence or demand. Does not care for anything. Absolute sweet will. The Absolute means such. Without depending, without caring for anything. Self sufficient. purna [?] He's full, He's fulfilled by His own existence. He does not care. That is His nature. And we're out for wild goose chasing. Whether I shall get it or not, no guarantee. Still we should not, we can't, we should not attempt for any other thing. But we get Him or not, but I shall continue with my quest only after Him. That should be the attitude.

viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ dīnabandho dayāṁ vā [gatir iha na bhavattaḥ kācid anyā mamāsti nipatatu śata-koṭir nirbharaṁ vā navāmbhas, tad api kila payodaḥ stūyate cātakeṇa]

[“O friend of the needy, whether You chastise me or reward me, in the whole wide world I have no other shelter but You. Whether the thunderbolt strikes or torrents of fresh waters shower down, the Cātaka bird (who drinks only the falling rainwater) perpetually goes on singing the glories of the rain cloud.”]

“You may show Your grace or You may be as cruel as to finish with my existence. Viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ. You may give me any kind of punishment, or dayā, You may give Your grace to me. But I have no other alternative but to search Your grace. Nipatatu śata-koṭir nirbharaṁ vā navāmbhas.

There is a kind of bird whose name is cātaka. Its nature is such that won't drink a drop of water from anywhere connected with the earth. Only when rain falling it drinks that rainwater, and never any stagnant water, deposited water, anywhere. That is its intrinsic nature. Cātaka is always with his beak, mouth high, upward. Always, “A drop of water, a drop of water.” Rain also can come profusely to quench his thirst or thunder may come and finish him. But still he has no other alternative but showing his mouth upward - “Water, water.”

So Rūpa Goswāmī says our position is like that. Not any water, not any rasam, any ecstasy which is already thrown about in this material world we find, either gross or subtle. That won't suite us, we won't want that, even a single drop, but only rain water. A drop of grace coming from up, from heaven, awaiting for that. So many water profusely thrown around, but only a drop of water coming from the heaven. The water also may come, or instead a thunder may come and finish. Still that bird won't [?”

So our ananya bhakti and the higher type of search after Kṛṣṇa should be of such nature. Just as Mahāprabhu in His last śloka of eight,

vā yathā tathā vā vidadhātu lampāṭo, mat-prāna-nāthas tu sa eva nāparaḥ]*

["Kṛṣṇa may embrace me in love or trample me under His feet. He may break my heart by hiding Himself from me. Let that debauchee do whatever He likes, but He will always be the only Lord of my life."]
[Śikṣāṣṭakam, 8]

"Whatever You like You may do with Me. At Your pleasure You may kill Me, You may throw Me elsewhere, You may deal with Me in any way You like. It is Your right, You can do. But I have got no other alternative but to cast Myself, to throw Myself at the feet dust of You, My Lord. No other alternative. Whatever corresponding treatment I get from You, it does not matter. Still a burst from heaven. But still My search will be only for You, nothing else."

This is ananya bhakti. We are concerned with that. We are to preach that. We are to try to accept that, to get that for ourselves, only that type of devotion, serving attitude. Gaura Hari bol. That is our concern. Whatever we do, for the [?] that [?] The compass shows the north direction. It may waver in this way but it is fixed towards the north pole. Is it not, the compass? So our hankering, the compass of our hankering must be always to that direct. All eliminating, and similarly accepting attitude. Don't want anything, not this, not that. All elimination. And that one of such quality. Whether I get it or not, that sort of [?] an infinite type. Still I won't like to fill up my heart with rubbish.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja, you asked me to write, or to go deep within my heart, to find what things brought me to Swāmī Mahārāja. So when I did that introspect kind of thing, one thing I came to understand was actually I'm including one drug experience. That is one experience with the same type of drug that Tīrtha Mahārāja is experimenting with. That definitely was part of the experience that brought me to the lotus feet of Swāmī Mahārāja. I have to include that in my analysis of how I came. And I think other devotees also can say the same thing, that they actually had some experience with this type of drug, that actually woke up something inside of them to go to pursue spiritual life, rather than material life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Badrinārāyaṇa: He says, Mahārāja, that previously you had asked him to look within himself and find out why he came to Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. You must be true to your inner voice.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Inner guide.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he says, he wants to say that, “My habit of intoxication...

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes, has shed some light on that area.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...anyhow, that took me there.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Yes.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Not habit, one experience I had with the same type of substance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Suppose Nityānanda Prabhu has gone to visit a wine merchant, to take him up. And you are a drunkard, you have gone to drink some wine there, and met Nityānanda Prabhu. And what will be the cause, the wine will be the cause of your coming to Nityānanda Prabhu?

Badrinārāyaṇa: So there’s some sukṛti in taking this drug?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ajñāta sukṛti has connected you only.

Just as the case of Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura. He came to the prostitute, and through prostitute a voice came to him, “You are so much energetic and attentive for flesh and blood, for the prostitute. If a part of that you could use for the service of Kṛṣṇa then you’ll be lifted so high.” Then, should we think that the visit of the prostitute’s house of Bilvamaṅgala is the cause of his future bright life? Eh? What do you think?

Badrinārāyaṇa: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Your sukṛti was such that even coming in connection with that you were lifted. Previous sukṛti, that helped you to catch, and not the intoxicating mood.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We're to dive deep. And the śāstra, the ṛṣis, they have traced our coming in connection with such higher divinity in that way. Ajñāta sukṛti, jñāta sukṛti, then comes to sādhū. Not a chance coincidence visit. I have gone to visit to join a public meeting. 'Oh, there is some meeting, or a religious meeting, I went there attracted by the charm of the meeting. And there I found, fortunately, a particular sādhū who attracted me. So many, I have some hobby to attend meetings, especially religious meetings, but I go and dismiss. But suddenly, one religious man caught my heart. And if he's the supreme-most then my inner heart could respond only because that sort of arrangement was there in my heart.'

[?] Birds of the same feather flock together. The deep portion of my heart could recognise I want this thing, and not the external, accidental, connecting links. That cannot be.

So visiting that particular prostitute, that was not the cause of Bilvamaṅgala's arrangement. That time came, waiting, and a little, or not little, a voice came from the opposite section. Excited him, the fire, that was living, the time has come. So it should be traced in that way.

Once, I accused some of my Godbrothers, he was of little sahajiyā type, then I told, Mādhava Mahārāja was with me, “That you are of the sahajiyā type.”

Then he answered, my Godbrother, and junior, he answered, “That with this sahajiyāism I have come to your Mission.” The sahajiyā type.

I told, not your sahajiyāism but some deeper thing that is against sahajiyāism, that has taken you here and not your sahajiyā feeling. So bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā.

[smarantaḥ smārayantaś ca, mitho 'ghaughā-haraṁ harim bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, bibhraty utpulakāṁ tanum]

Bhakti is its own cause. None can produce bhakti. Ahaitukī, bhakti is ahaitukī, causeless, because bhakti only causes bhakti, and no other non bhakti can produce bhakti. Bhakti is independent, it is the most fundamental thing. Nothing can produce bhakti. Service, serving attitude, it is the most fundamental nature. Only phenomenal, external things can never produce that most fundamental, fine thing. Bhakti is ahaitukī.

Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā. Just as one candle is lit by another candle. So the candle in the heart of a sādhū, and you can light from that candle. That light from light, fire from fire, and not any mundane thing can produce fire. Something like that. Ahaitukī, it is the most original plane going, and the external, the gross layers cannot produce that fundamental. That is the mother plane, bhakti, nirguṇa. And these are all saguṇa, means diseased condition. And that is the only healthy condition, of the underground, below, of the whole apparent world. That wave, that is bhakti, that is independent in itself, or herself, bhakti. And never created by the product of any other thing. It is self existent, and also [?] free, not to change its opinion by any pressure. It is always independent. Of its own accord it can go and come, to move, everything. It is the nature of the Supreme Lord, devotion, bhakti, prema, love. Love divine, the highest principle ever discovered, love divine. Even mercy becomes pale when it comes to love. The justice, mercy, justice becomes pale when approaching devotion. No room for justice even. It is so full. No complaint...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The question of justice cannot appear there. It is so full, and so sweet, and so all comprehensive. Jñāna. Knowledge is unnecessary. What do you say? Knowledge, the justice, the basis of justice, knowledge, that is unnecessary there. Spontaneous movement for the flow of love, it is for love. Such life is desirable. A spontaneous, unconscious way of life, best form of life in Vṛndāvana, no harm. What harm is shown there, all like show, it is all show. The Pūtānā, the Agha asura, all these things, only to support the līlā that's going on.

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet [ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati]

Just as serpent goes by crooked way, serpent does not go straight but in a curved way. So the spontaneous flow of devotion should be considered like that. So māna, māna, abhimāna. Kṛṣṇa is doing wrong to Rādhārāṇī. Rādhārāṇī’s doing. Kṛṣṇa is doing wrong by thieving to Yaśodā. Yaśodā is going with the whip to punish Him. All these, no defect, not anything wrong. In fact by that natural flow like the crooked movement of the serpent it is such, and enhancing. It will enhance the flow of the love, it is necessary, so it is such. Just as in a drama playing. None is killed in a drama, hero, heroine, the sweeper, the killed, the killer, all may enjoy, but without killing and without being killed.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja. One last time. I want to express the peculiar nature of the substance that we’re dealing with. This LSD produces a very um? Actually the experience that some have received from taking this substance is, they think, they experience the sat feature, eternality, the Brahman feature of the Absolute. A very vivid experience. It appears that that experience is brought on by this chemical.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Badrinārāyaṇa: He says that, “When one takes this chemical he may experience Brahman, brahmajyoti. He may have some experience of the brahmajyoti.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There are so many, a class of sādhu, they show brahmajyoti by pressing the eyes.

Devotees: (Group laughter)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Giving pressure on the eye, “Are you seeing something light?” “Yes.” “I say you’ll be able to see that.” In this way [?] Ha, ha, a very cheap brahmajyoti, ha, ha. [?]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Perhaps I did not explain it very properly. Listen. Guru Mahārāja, not the light of the brahmajyoti but the eternality of not only of the material energy also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only God can give God, and none else. You can’t have comprehension of this?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: No, I, as far as...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He can give Him.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He can give Him. No other agent in the whole world can give Him. Sādhū, because they're empowered, delegated by Him. If He delegates that intoxication all ego will be bhakti. Then what you can do?

Badrinārāyaṇa: See, Mahārāja, many...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as prasādam, that is inner, rather than material in our sight. But anyhow you may take prasādam, real prasādam, Vaiṣṇava ucchiṣṭha, something I take, that can give devotion to me. That has some connection, and ostentatiously it is a material thing, but it has the power [?]

Mahāprabhu taking the prasādam of Jagannātha to Sārvabhauma. Sārvabhauma anyhow in the morning he woke with some mantram. And then watching his faith Mahāprabhu had taken it to Sārvabhauma, Mahāprabhu began to dance. "Sārvabhauma has got faith in mahā-prasādam."

So it can do, but that prasāda, Jagannātha's prasāda, not a material thing. So no material thing. Which has connection with the Supreme, that can be delegated to distribute devotion. And that's not disputable.

Suppose Balarāma He drinks wine. Some wine has been offered to Balarāma, and I may take a drop, that wine as prasāda of Balarāma. It will enhance the devotion. That is not wine, but that is prasāda of Balarāma. I may not be mad, so only a drop I have taken to my utmost capacity to digest so much wine. But I take one drop of wine and to touch it to my tongue because it is offered to Balarāma. With this idea, then it may be bhakti. But it is not the wine, but prasāda, in this way.

What is within? There is the sandal of a devotee. I took it and touched my head, the paduka, the paduka of a devotee I took it. The feet dust of a devotee is a material thing, I put on my head. That is devotee. That is material energy. But what connection? Connection with the divinity, not otherwise.

Seemingly material, but really they're conscious. It does not mean that matter, that the feet dust, it does not matter, that is giving bhakti to me, but the feet dust of my Gurudeva, everything to me. Devotion can come everywhere, but none can capture devotion, the main tenor, the main measure. What is devotion, what is God, what is non-God? Non-God cannot give God. But God can come in by every instrument to me. He's transcendental. He can come through anything and everything. That does not mean anything and everything is He. We're to differentiate there. God and non-God.

Gopeśvara: Tīrtha Mahārāja says that this LSD, he calls it sacrament.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Something sacred.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He offers to the Lord?

Gopeśvara: He calls it sacrament. When he gives it to his disciple he says, “I’m giving you the Lord’s sacrament.” And this is what they call it, sacrament.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, if one has got a whim to give a person meat, ‘Oh, this is sacrament.’ The meat, anything one may offer. ‘This is sacrament.’ Generally which is not allowed in the scripture, or in the ways of the sādhū, if anyone comes and offers something, apparently wrong things, apparently objectionable things in the scripture, ‘this is sacrament.’ But who should go to take such risk, because if a man says, giving wine, ‘this is sacrament, and I shall take that.’ There are previous scriptures, and previous mahā-janas, ṛṣi, devotees, there.

There are so many, the bābāṇī class, they also, this sexual connection. Connecting with Kṛṣṇa, Vṛndāvana līlā, they go on using sexual connection, men and women. In this way, everyone is offering pleasing things in the name of God. Then everyone will indulge, what is [?] we’re fallen in the world of such bad habitual charm. We want to get out of that.

The tantric is also of such opinion in a more scientific way. ‘That we shall use the sexual things, the wine, what are generally thought to be harmful to us, we shall use that in such a way that they will give us liberation.’ That is the principle of the so-called tantric. The women, the wine, the well- prepared meat, they use all these things of our temptation they use with the colour of Godliness, apparent Godliness. In a scientific way that is a group of people.

But Mahāprabhu did not take, Vaiṣṇavas did not take. The safe course they take, this ahimsā, the vegetable, the sattvic way, not that tamasic. This sattvic things they accept apparently purer things that is told by the scriptures, that Viṣṇu.

And they go to Kālī, Śiva, and they can use in that way, there are so many. Their śāstra is also there, practices. And sometimes they kill boys also, human also they kill for the satisfaction of Kālī [?] All these things are done. 'We're utilising, done in the colour of Godliness, so-called Godliness. Then, we're to embrace them? Not only this ganga, this Śivaite, they, ganga, siddhi, all this they use, the Śivaite. The Śakta, they use all these things of temptation, giving some colour of Godliness. But should we go to that place, we can become a Śakta, a Śivaite? That section, they use it profusely, this ganga, the siddhi, the intoxication of different types, and women, and many other things, nude, everything connected with God.

Ramakrishna Mission says there is no connection with food and God. It is independent of food and habit, we can go on God cultivation. Should we go to that path, is it that, broad and wide?

But we can't tolerate all these things, to be religious. Even sacrificing human bodies, Narahai. Narahari's also accepted in the tantric scripture. So according to our tendency we may go that side, so many are there.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. In the name of God with that colour indulge in debauchery. An organised party, and they have got their scriptures well arranged, the tantric, Śiva tantra and this, so many things. But the Bhāgavata shows a broad way. This karma, the jñāna, and then the prema. Nirmat-sarāṇām satām [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 1.1.2] And there will be liberation. Liberation. They do not like Kṛṣṇa. They like Śiva. Their object is somewhere in the midway, they will go there. Yo yac chraddhaḥ sa eva saḥ [Bhagavad-gītā, 17.3] According to ones śraddhā he will be led to the particular position of his goal, his goal is _____ [?]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Also, Guru Mahārāja, you mentioned one time that this intoxication destroys śraddhā. You mentioned before, previous darśana, that this intoxication it destroys the faith.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe. The intoxication destroys śraddhā, always. What is intoxication, śraddhā has got nothing to do with intoxication. Intoxication is never chosen by any devotee to be conducive to his path of realisation. All the divine devotees, Prahāda, Hanumān, all these, did they take, resort to any intoxication? They rather discarded, discouraged all these things. This Kali, Bhāgavata has discarded this Kali. Dyūtaṁ pānaṁ striyaḥ sūnā.

tato 'nṛtaṁ madam kāmam, rajo vairaṁ ca pañcamam amūni pañca sthānāni, hy adharma-prabhavaḥ kaliḥ auttareyeṇa dattāni, nyavasat tan-nideśa-kṛt athaitāni na seveta, bubhūsuḥ puruṣaḥ kvacit viśeṣato dharma-śīlo, rājā loka-patir guruḥ]

and animal slaughter are performed. - The personality of Kali asked for something more, and because of his begging, the King gave him permission to live where there is gold, because wherever there is gold there is also falsity, intoxication, lust, envy, and enmity. - Thus the personality of Kali, by the directions of Mahārāja Parīkṣit, the son of Uttara, was allowed to live in those five places. - Therefore, whoever desires progressive well-being, especially kings, religionists, public leaders, brāhmaṇas, and sannyāsīs, should never come in contact with the four above-mentioned irreligious principles.”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 1.17.38-41]

The himṣā, then this diplomacy, then the illicit connection with the women, and then this drinking, that is intoxication. An ordinary good man, a man of the leading type, should avoid such environment. This is Kali. Kali is there, that sin. A general knowledge cannot, will come to help us, always, by artificial means I shall control Kṛṣṇa? This artificial policy, I shall use one drug and drug will give me Kṛṣṇa? It's a foolish idea. Hearing so much, so high description about Kṛṣṇa then I shall come to this conclusion, if I take this intoxication Kṛṣṇa will come?

Service, nothing else. Bhakti means service. Service means dedication, and dedication opposite to enjoyment. No enjoyment, no exploitation, no renunciation. The third plane, of service, die, die to live. Dedication, dissolution of ones ego, whatever he wants, the ego, he's hankering after so many things. Wholesale that ego will be put into fire. Then the internal, golden ego will come to work in the plane of Kṛṣṇa.

Gopeśvara: One disciple of Tīrtha told me that, he said, “That actually, we're on the platform of renunciation, but that he and Tīrtha Mahārāja were on the platform of dedication. Because they were so dedicated that they could use these things, for Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dedication is welcome always, but dedication created by a medicine, we're not ready to call that mentality as dedication. That may be worldly emotion, but not dedication.

Generally, the hard drunkard, they seem to be very simple, and open hearted, drunkard. They're not crooked at the time when they're highly drunk. He generally speaks truth, cannot conceal, he cannot have any diplomatic mentality. He may be so, open hearted, but that does not mean he has become really simple and pure. He has lost his control over his diplomatic mentality. When hard drunk, one may utilise him, getting the clues, the secrets. It is easy to get out the secret things from a drunkard. But that does not mean that he's purified, simplified, he's liberated from all these crooked policies.

Badrinārāyaṇa: He loses his power of discrimination.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Discrimination, yes, what is right what is wrong. He forgets about the environment and do anything and everything. In a drunken state one can kill his son, kill his father, without being intimately connected forgets everything. A drunkard may do anything and everything, most heinous thing. If it's necessary to perform a heinous thing, one will drink hard and then go to do that cruel thing, what ordinary man cannot do. So that is devotion of Satan which can be produced by intoxication. Satan is next to God. The next power is next to God, is admitted in Christianity as well as Islam. The next qualified to God is Satan.

“So māyā is powerful, infinitely, than a speck of consciousness that is jīva. So mama māyā duratyayā [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.14] You cannot cross easily this māyā, this illusion. But if you get, if you can secure My help, then only māyā will leave you. Not by your own attempt.”

In drunken state one cannot do anything and everything [?] Then, should we think that he’s out of māyā? He’s killing his own son, he’s out of māyā? Should we think? When the father hard drunk he can kill the son easily. Then, does it mean that he’s out of māyā? The son affection, should we consider like that? Can you consider like that, out of māyā? Temporarily that is like mad.

God can give Himself, nothing else can give Him. That prasādam, as I told, but it is connected with God. That is the helping unit, and not that independent particle of rice, or a drop of wine, Baladeva’s prasāda, not the wine, but the prasāda of Baladeva. Only He can give Himself, and none can give Himself. It is a general thing, a common sense. No finite thing can give infinite. Infinite can give Himself. And no finite thing, however greater in magnitude, or length, breadth, if any, he can never give us God. Finite cannot produce infinite. It is infinite that can come to us through finite, not visa versa. With that main principle we must be awake, always. Must be wakeful to that fact, that He can give Himself, and nothing else can give Him. This will save us from all these anomalies.

Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura
Hari bol.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Such a powerful illusion, to take a substance and think you can approach God. That is a very powerful illusion, to take some substance and that substance makes you think you can approach

God in that way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh?

Badrinārāyaṇa: He says, what a powerful illusion it is that you can take some intoxication or some substance and approach God.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Appears, that you can approach God.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When the enemies of God is killed by Him.

yad arīṇāṁ priyāṇāṁ ca, prāpyam ekam ivoditam [tad brahma-kṛṣṇayor aiikyāt, kiraṇārkopamā-juṣoḥ]

[“Where it has been stated that the Lord’s enemies and devotees attain the same destination, this refers to the ultimate oneness of Brahman and Lord Kṛṣṇa. This may be understood by the example of the sun and the sunshine, in which Brahman is like the sunshine and Kṛṣṇa Himself is like the sun.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.36]

One who’s, the demons that are killed by God, they get God. And those that serve Him, they also get Him. But there is a difference between them, like hell and heaven. He says, you know this from beforehand. Yad arīṇāṁ priyāṇāṁ ca, prāpyam ekam ivoditam. In the scriptures it is mentioned, just as both the parties, a demon killed by Him, and His devotees, they reach the same goal. But really it is not so. How? Just as the sun ray and the sun is not one and the same. So demons killed by Him go to Brahmaloaka, that is the ray of the sun. And devotees they enter into the globe of the sun.

Have you not come across this śloka, in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu [1.2.278]? Hmm?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: No Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is written in the scriptures that,

Desad karmad desad bhayad chedyat dayo nipad [?]

In Bhāgavatam, the Kaṁsa by his continued fearfulness about God, then Śīsupāla for his jealousy towards Kṛṣṇa, they also were killed by Kṛṣṇa and got Him. But this getting of a devotee, of a demon and a devotee, is not one and same. It is far away, just as the ray of the sun and the sun himself. So they go to Brahmaloaka, gets out of this flow of māyā, illusion, and on the verge of illusion crosses the māyā. But it is a very great distance to go in the Vaikuṇṭha, and then enter the globe, then enter a particular group of the servitors. That is another thing. The Brahman means the halo of the Vaikuṇṭha Dhāma, the sphere of Vaikuṇṭha, and halo of that Dhāma is Brahman, so they just go to the verge, the abscissa, not entrance into the positive world. They get the advantage of crossing the whole of the negative side and goes to abscissa, the taṭasthā, the marginal position. And no entrance, no visa, but passport, they get the passport. The demons killed by God get the passport. They can go to the extremity of the land living, but they cannot get visa to enter into the Vaikuṇṭha and Goloka. There is the difference between them. To cross māyā that does not mean to have entrance into Vaikuṇṭha.

Just as the Virajā the Buddhists, they go to prakṛti-nirvana, Virajā, the watery conception of the whole universe. And the Śāṅkaraites, a little further, a step further, the illusory, this halo, the lustre substance around the Vaikuṇṭha, around the spiritual cosmos. But both parties cannot enter into the domain of service.

Just as the position of Śiva. Śiva has got enough of intoxication, but he's a middle man there, master of this world. Māyinaṁ tu maheśvaram.

[māyāṁ tu prakṛtiṁ vidyān māyinaṁ tu maheśvaram]

[“Understand that māyā is the material energy whereas the Supreme Lord is the Supreme Lord of māyā.”] [Within Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.37, purport / from Śvetāśvatara Upaniṣad, 4.10]

Māyā and her master, Śiva. He's a jñānī, he's a tapasvī, he's a seeker after truth, but he's in the marginal position, Śiva. He's got some slight conception of the higher loka.

Gopeśvara: Mahārāja, another one of Tīrtha Mahārāja's disciples told me that Tīrthapāda took him to the gates of Vaikuṇṭha. And together they were able to see the gates of Vaikuṇṭha, under the influence of this drug, this medicine. So was he actually seeing Vaikuṇṭha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may be their Vaikuṇṭha, the Vaikuṇṭha of their conception. It is not Vaikuṇṭha of our conception. Vaikuṇṭha means infinite, no kuṇṭha, no narrowness, no measurement. Vaikuṇṭha means where there is no measurement, which cannot be measured. That is Vaikuṇṭha. When anything we can make the object of our senses, both physical and internal, that is māyā. We are subject, and whatever we're experiencing, the world of our experience is māyā, māyāic look. Vaikuṇṭha means transcendental, supramental. We cannot see that. He can show Himself in us. So all is foolishness. In dream one can see Vaikuṇṭha. “That I went in Vaikuṇṭha. I saw this thing, that thing, in dream.” In dream we can see a picture, that Nārāyaṇa, all these things. That may be some sattva guṇa, that is real.

What was the conception of Swāmī Mahārāja, advice of Swāmī Mahārāja, to give up intoxication, or to take the help of intoxication for realisation? What was his advice, to the disciples?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: He said it is not necessary.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is not necessary?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But, to avoid it is also not necessary?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Er. No. He has told to avoid all intoxication.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is objectionable, he does not say like that?

Devotee: It’s strictly prohibited.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The intoxication is objectionable to devotion?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not necessary, but if we get it, it may not harm, is it of that type?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: He did not say like that.

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, it is opposite, intoxication. We shall bow down our head only to one, and everything in His connection. Bhāgavata dharma. Smuggler, smuggling, that without the sanction of the government so many other agents can, closing the eye of the government, they can pass this thing, that thing. Without Kṛṣṇa, there's another thing who can give Kṛṣṇa, take me to Kṛṣṇa. The smugglers. The intoxication can take me to the path of Kṛṣṇa, without the consciousness of Kṛṣṇa. Is it? Those are all smugglers. Only Kṛṣṇa can give Himself and His devotees, they're included with Kṛṣṇa.

Sometimes we see that devotees are smoking, that Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi, or someone. That is ostentatious, something. That is not necessary thing to contribute to advance in the way of devotion. That side, the dress, sometimes one may think that it will help preaching, as the ISKCON and Gauḍīya Maṭha they're using some sort of things to create position, to create a platform from where they're to speak, and speaking will have some importance. For that purpose.

Rūpa, Sanātana, they did not take any advantage of these gorgeous temples and the garb of a sannyāsī or anything else. Plain life they went on by giving directions how [?]

But our Guru Mahārāja he used something. He gave the sacred thread to the devotees. He constructed temples. He took some advantage from the money, and showed to utilise everything for the service of Kṛṣṇa.

We may say that intoxication may also, some service in its own way to Kṛṣṇa. Then we may say other tempting things they may have some contribution for the service of Kṛṣṇa.

*ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, prātikūlya-vivarjjanam [rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāso, gopṭṛtve varaṇaṁ tathā. ātma-nikṣepa kārpaṇye, ṣaḍ-vidhā śaraṇāgatih
evaṁ paryyāyataś cāsminn, ekaikādhyāya-saṅgrahaḥ]*

[“The six limbs of surrender are as follows: 1 - To accept everything favourable for devotion to Kṛṣṇa. 2 - To reject everything unfavourable for devotion to Kṛṣṇa. 3 - To be confident that Kṛṣṇa will grant His protection. 4 - To embrace Kṛṣṇa’s guardianship. 5 - To offer oneself unto Him. 6 - To consider oneself lowly and bereft.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.100]

We must be arranged in two departments. Some helping towards Kṛṣṇa bhakti and some taking away from Kṛṣṇa bhakti.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...But he did not get there, only yesterday he heard from Bhāvānanda Mahārāja that you were at Vṛndāvana. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Varāha Prakāśa Mahārāja, he wanted to go and see Niskīncana dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, he wanted to go and see him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, he went to see him, visit him? Then how is he doing, a little better?

Devotee: Yes, his health is much better now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's writing letters now and then to me. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

I forgot about Varāha Swāmī Mahārāja, Varāha Prakāśa.

Devotee: He came here once Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His zone is?

Devotee: He's in South America, along with Pramāna Swāmī, very near to him. Both of them together, they started initiating disciples and now they're a little separate from ISKCON, but very much maintaining Prabhupāda's mission.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It seems to be inevitable, independent enterprise seems to be inevitable, gradually. So though they have taken exception to my remark, "that is the verdict of the GBC, injudicious and unfortunate," only with a view of such future inevitability, I remarked in such a way. It would have been judicious and fortunate only if by expansion, by proper and economic, not very liberal but considerate expansion, this situation could be saved at least for years to come. That was my inner idea, so I thought it injudicious, and so division is not desirable so unfortunate. That was the basis and foundation of my stern remark.

Devotee: Mahārāja, it is unfortunate that some people cannot understand that mahā-bhāgavat is tri-kāl dashi...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahā-bhāgavat is not very cheap, in this plane it is not very cheap. One should not have the audacity thinking in such a way, mahā- bhāgavat. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja it is not cheap, that is why there's only one in the entire universe.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Let us aspire after the best, first truth then organisation.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

The Vṛndāvana mahotsava has been performed with great success? You did not go to Bombay? No? What about Caitanya Bada, that Italian gentleman who was...

Devotee: Oh yes, he wanted dīkṣā from Mahārāja, he's in Vṛndāvana now, he was going to Europe, he is on his way to Europe, he's leaving India.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He wanted to go to France I was told. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. No news about Jaya Tīrtha Mahārāja, not yet?

Devotee: We're going to call Europe, Bhakti Charu Swāmī is calling Europe to find out something.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What about Svarūpa Dāmodara Mahārāja, Manipur?

Devotee: He's most probably still in Manipur Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mostly he's staying at Manipur?

Devotee: When he comes to India, mostly he's spending time in Manipur because he's started some construction work there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, but he's meant for other sort of construction, not this brick construction, there are so many for that work. Swāmī Mahārāja wanted him to construct a building over the tomb of Darwin. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Who is he? Akśayānanda Mahārāja.

Devotee: Mahārāja you were just saying that truth first then organisation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, organisation is necessary only to spread the truth to the people for their benefit, because mere organisation has no value. When organisation is distributing something healthy to the atmosphere, that organisation is to be welcomed. Otherwise if any organisation fails to distribute truth then it fails, it commits suicide, it fails to do its proper duty. There may be so many things, a political organisation, social organisation, there are many, but...party of those understanding, they may appreciate by way, we rather want that, that mission, as soon as they vanish it is good for the country, for the people at least.

Once when Prabhupāda was living, something like 1934 or so, in Kalna? I told one gentleman follower of Ramakrishna Mission. "Big, big signboards there. Save us from this mission, all these things. The signboards are so many, big sides, but if the orator goes there then they will prove themselves to be bankrupt. No capital, false capital, big signboard but capital is a false thing, a hoax, not real welfare."

They have no reality to distribute to the people, but bogus, māyāvādā. They help the evil diet to the patients, bad diet to the patient. That is their business. Where is the patient? The patient is within, the soul is the patient and they're helping the body. Independent of the interest of the soul, without caring for the interest of the soul, they're serving the body, body, and with that indiscriminate help, the body is going more and more against the interest of the soul.

We generally do not organise help for the guṇḍās, but for the students, for the social workers we organise help, but never for the guṇḍās who are misguided. Generally all souls are misguided, they're living the life of a misguided one, and to indiscriminately help them without changing their direction, that will be to push them towards the hell. The misguided, which is not the proper goal, to push that side towards the dangers, dangerous path, so indiscriminate help in this plane is not help at all. First he must have the sambandha-jñāna, the good direction, the proper conception of the destination proper, and then help will be of any use to him otherwise no destination. Only a whimsical group, or whimsical push, may not help anyone in the way of progress, that whimsical push no progress.

In Madras one bhakhi asked me, "That first you help the patients, first you help and keep the life and body together. Then you will talk with him about the truth about Hari, about Kṛṣṇa consciousness. But if he dies to whom you will speak?"

I told, "Suppose there is a famine and I have got some food. I am distributing them and so many surrounding me, innumerable, and I am distributing food. Someone runs away from that place so should we stop the distribution and run after him to catch him, or I shall continue because there are so many, and stopping that should we run after him? So, so many living souls and some dying, dying, so I must not run after the dying man to bring him back into the body stopping my distributing of the nectar."

It is like that there, first thing there, what they conceive to be truth that is untruth, not truth, and second, the process what they have accepted as a means to help the people, that is also wrong, so wholesale is wrong.

No diagnosis but very busy for treatment and diet giving. Diagnosis is the most important thing. What is amiss with us? What should be our best interest, summon bonum of life? That should be first settled and then the question of help will come next. Whether help or not help, where is the guarantee? He's to settle, this is help and this is non help. Progress must be towards the right direction and what is the right direction? Exploitation, maximum exploitation, a skilful exploitation, regular exploitation, and regular exploitation that is karmi, and then renunciation the opposite thing, renunciation. Exploitation and renunciation, two opposites, but a third thing must be found to conciliate the appearance of both, but really the thing is something else.

Charu Swāmī Mahārāja asked me, "That in Bombay, to attract the ordinary public we gave the name of our movement, that to harmonise karma, jñāna and bhakti, can you, only to canvass the general public this has been outwardly given, announced, that we want to harmonise karma, jñāna and bhakti, how it is possible?"

I told, of course the appearance may be kept but in spirit that must be a quite different thing. Karma means energising but not for us, but for the Supreme Lord. Jñāna means searching, searching which? Not for Paramātmā or Brahma even, nor for collecting exploitation of nature as by science of present days, nor for Paramātmā nor for Brahma, but even not for Nārāyaṇa conception of the truth, but not for power absolute but for beauty absolute, love absolute." Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam has... tatra jñāna-virāga-bhakti-sahitaṁ naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ. Jñāna, vairāgya and bhakti. Ultimately by our sacrifice, our surrender, our devoted-ness, we attain, vimucheta vimukti mukti? The highest type of salvation or emancipation in the positive attainment. Not with only the end of the negative conception, only to get out of the negative side, that is not real emancipation or liberation. To enter into the positive safest position, that is your real salvation. Self determination in terms of Hegel. And svarūpena vyavasthitiḥ, in Bhāgavatam [2.10.6], mukti, the conception of mukti, hitvānyathā rūpaṁ. What is otherwise, what is not in the inner existence, but what is not within our elemental existence but foreign thing thrust on us. That which is otherwise which is just like a disease, undesirable foreign thing has come to cover me. That is upadhi (material designation), that is anyathā rūpaṁ. Successfully eliminating that we must come to our proper positive position in the world of love and beauty. It is a very important thing that power is not the ultimate controller but beauty, but beauty. The control of beauty is very sweet, and that is normal, and that is natural, and power, awe, reverence, grandeur, these are all, they become stale. When Bhāgavatam comes with Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead the Nārāyaṇa conception has become stale, so to say. That beauty, love and harmony, that is the highest thing ever discovered, ever discovered. Śrī Caitanyadeva gave us that, Vṛndāvana has given us that and Śrī Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Our Guru Mahārāja, Swāmī Mahārāja, widely has given, announced to the world, the wide world, that Kṛṣṇa conception. That is the conception of beauty, harmony, love. That is at the bottom, that is the universal cause, the conception of the Absolute, not anything else, not anything else. So with that fundamental conception we may find a relief, we may feel that we are out of danger, we are no longer going to be a victim of power, a power in Vaikuṇṭha. The grandeur, the awe, the reverence, that may not be inner hankering of any substance. The beauty that is a hopeful assurance of our highest position, charming.

So Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura foretold that, "When the world scholarship will be able to understand the worth which has been given by Śrī Caitanyadeva, all religions must vanish, cannot stand. When the conception of the Absolute is identified with beauty and love, all sorts of different conceptions cannot stand in competition. All will embrace, I want beauty, ultimate beauty, ultimate harmony, ultimate love, loving each other. If that is possible then I don't want any other proposal. We must run towards that, it is general insinuation will take up. All other religious conceptions are compelled to vanish. The scholars, it cannot but appeal to the highest thinkers, highest class of thinkers." He viewed with his divine eye, the eye of his divine knowledge.

This is not a vain declaration, there is basis, intellectual as well as intuitive foundation it has got.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Rarely, one direct disciple of Gadādhara Paṇḍita was Barninatha, he established that math. Barninatha, established as Gaur Gadādhara, and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura he was fond of Gaur Gadādhara worship. In his samādhi this here Godrum and also in Nṛsiṃha mandira in Yoga-Piṭh Māyāpur, Gaur Gadādhara in two places, Gaur Gadādhara, and Prabhupāda also installed Gaur Gadādhara, Gauri Gaurāṅga Maṭh, and (Baliatchi Thaka?), Prabhupāda established there, Gaur Gadādhara.

Devotee: Mahārāja, that is a complete madhura conception, Gaur Gadādhara?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, and more than that, that is rather separation, union in separation. Gadādhara Paṇḍita. Rādhārāṇī bhāva. But though he was the possessor of that wealth that was taken up by Mahāprabhu, and he stood empty, stood empty as a fallen. And following Mahāprabhu as if his heart has been stolen by Him and he cannot shun Him, cannot leave Him. Wherever Mahāprabhu is going he's running like a poor man who has all his wealth stolen. With the vacant bag, not vanity bag but vacant bag, he's running in pursuance of Mahāprabhu wherever He goes. That is his position.

We are told that service in separation of the both, that has got greater importance than when the party is in union. They're full in them but when they're separated they're feeling a great pain and their service is necessary at that time to its utmost character.

So where we find that the greatest wealth, Gadādhara, Rādhārāṇī, Her bhāva, very purport, as it is told by Mahāprabhu, snatched by Mahāprabhu, it is Kṛṣṇa, and She's bereft of all Her property like a poorest of the poor She's standing. So such a pitiable and pathetic, that demands service and service will be of the greatest value, and that stage the service will draw the greatest remuneration. Little small service will earn much of the divine dollar.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaur Gadādhara.

Devotee: Mahārāja, in Antya-līlā, Caitanya-caritāmṛta, there's a section where Gadādhara Paṇḍita is compared to Rukmiṇī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, that is the outer aspect, outer aspect, his bhāva has been taken, emptied means, Rukmiṇī means dakṣiṇā not bhāma. Bhāma type, they are a little aggressive in nature and fights with the lover, and dakṣiṇā type that he tolerates everything, whatever comes. Only with a defensive attitude he stands, that is dakṣiṇā. That is what's meant in Rukmiṇī. So when the spirit of Rādhārāṇī of that opposing nature was drawn out by Mahāprabhu, then the remaining comparison was like that of Rukmiṇī, a passive seer without any power to assert, only onlooker and bearing everything, a very pitiable condition to awaken kindness and sympathy from everyone.

What is He? What is She? And what is Her position that now and how His lover has taken up everything from Her, looted everything from Her and is a pauper, as a beggar wandering in the street? So, so much looted, Rādhārāṇī when looted to such a degree by Kṛṣṇa then that becomes Gadādhara, the pitiable figure. So the wealth of course cannot go for ever. He is the owner, or She is the owner, proprietor. Cannot be far off for long time, that must come to Her again one day and those that are helping him in his day of distress, they will get how much remuneration at that time, when She will get back all His property.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, in that case Mahāprabhu's relationship with Viṣṇu Prīya Devī and Lakṣmī Prīya Devī as His wedded consort.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They are Gaura Nārāyaṇa, that is in Vaikuṇṭha, that is in concerning Yuga-Avatāra, not with Rādhā Kṛṣṇa, not of that layer, of that plane, it is connected with Yuga-Avatāra. And externally and that Gadādhara represented in the higher layer, higher plane. And they represent potency of Vaikuṇṭha of Yuga-Avatāra, but with a connection with that higher thing but mostly Vaikuṇṭha conception, Yuga-Avatāra, Lakṣmī Prīya, Viṣṇu Prīya.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

So Gaurāṅga-Nagarī is not accepted as a bona fide school of Śrī Caitanyadeva's followers. There is a class, Gaurāṅga-Nagarī, they think Gaurāṅga as Kṛṣṇa is given in Bhāgavatam but Vṛndāvana Dās Ṭhākura and others, Kavirāj Goswāmī and the Goswāmīs, they're rejecting that, that sort of idea to be thrust on Gaurāṅga that I am a brāhmaṇa. Ācārya, He has come to the work of a preceptor so not a Nagara, not an exploiter of the girls as we find in Vṛndāvana. It cannot tally, cannot be proper, there's a hitch. The Ācārya, position of an Ācārya, and at the same time to play the part of a debauch, that cannot come together, the law of rasa won't allow that.

When one has entered the temple to worship the Deity his wife may go there to help in serving and other things to help the worship, and not to cut any joke with her husband in the temple. That will be rasābhāsa, do you follow? The particular mood, though husband and wife, but when husband is engaged in worshipping of the Deity in the temple, wife may go there but she will help him with the materials and other necessary things, but she won't cut any jokes with her husband, or any merry making cannot be possible there.

So like that, Mahāprabhu has come in a serious mood to distribute the Divine Love to the world and with the Divine Name of the Lord, Kṛṣṇa consciousness to spread. So He will have to take the position of a preacher, a reverent position, so these two things cannot go together. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: But that is, you told us though of Narahari Sarakar Ṭhākura and his conception.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, there are three sections amongst the devotees, one looking at, charmed more by Kṛṣṇa-līlā, another more by Gaura-līlā, another keeping the balance. The Narahari Sarakar, they are more fond of Kṛṣṇa-līlā, their vision say, "We don't recognize You to be a sannyāsī. You are that Kṛṣṇa of Vṛndāvana, we know You better. Here You have only, You have got the garment, You have wrapped the garment of a sannyāsī. It is Your external acquaintance but really who are You we know well. So we don't like this forged identity, we are not going to admit to that." That is their temperament, rather they feels much pain. "What necessity that You are practicing penances as a sannyāsī doing so much hardships not taking food and rest, bedding properly. Our heart is aching, You don't care for that, how can we tolerate all these things." That will be their nature and complain to Mahāprabhu, "This is all sham."

Devotee: Jagadānanda Paṇḍit had a similar mood.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jagadānanda Paṇḍit also Satyabhāma, though Dvārakā conception but he could not give up that tendency of reactionary mood against Mahāprabhu. He in those days, three hundred miles from here to Purī, one big water pot filled up with chandan tela, what is applied on the head and keeps the brain cool, he took it, sandal wood oil, from Bengal to Purī and offered very modestly. "That I have taken it and if Mahāprabhu graciously accepts this." And he's appealing to His servant Govinda, "You Govinda keep it there and at times you will help by impressing this oil on the head. And Mahāprabhu He cannot sleep, and He talks like a delirious man, so this sort of oil will help Him a great deal. I have taken it from Śivānanda, it is a genuine thing and you take." And Mahāprabhu overheard that, "What is this?"

"Jagadānanda Paṇḍit has got a full pot of chandan oil and his request is that You should take it now and then, a smear on the head. Then You will have a sound sleep and may help Your health."

"No, no, no, this sandal oil will emit a good scent, and how the people they will remark on Me that this sannyāsī He has kept a woman, He has got luxury, as a good scented oil He's put on His head. I can't do that, rather it is My advice take it to the temple of Jagannātha and there it will burn, the light will burn with this scented oil and you will get a good benefit thereby. Govinda remove it from My room."

Then Jagadānanda Paṇḍit when it was given up by Govinda he took it and just coming in the front of Mahāprabhu, he pushed it to the floor and the whole oil spilled there on the ground. And then went straight to his room and closed from inside and took to bed for three days. After three days when Mahāprabhu heard that Jagadānanda is fasting continuously these three days, from the time when he has broken the pot here. Then what to do, after the fourth day Mahāprabhu Himself went to him.

"Jagadānanda, Jagadānanda, rise open the door, open door, today I shall take prasādam cooked by your own hands. I will not take anywhere any prasādam. I am going and I shall come at proper time and I shall take My food here today cooked by your own hand."

Then what to do, Jagadānanda had to rise up his body, he cooked and Mahāprabhu came with Govinda in time, and took prasādam and remarked, "Oh very sweet, dishes today are very, very sweet, the cooking in a hot temper perhaps becomes more sweet." Ha, ha, ha. Remarking this then, "You take your food now and I shall go, before I leave the place I want to see that you have taken food."

"No, no, no, Prabhu may go, I shall take food, of course I must take food." Then Mahāprabhu says, "Govinda you take your seat there and when he has finished his eating you will inform Me, you sit there I am going."

That is bhāma-bhāva of Satyabhāma, like Satyabhāma it was there, and Gadādhara just the opposite, when Svarūpa Dāmodara excited him, trying to excite, "Mahāprabhu is so much enraged and He's remarking on you so harshly, why do you not also repeat the same thing to Him?"

"No, no, no. How can I do that?"

End of side A, start of side B, 27-8-82

Devotee: So if he agreed to listen to līlā Vallabhvacārya aśrāya so Mahārāja, Gadādhara Paṇḍita although Rādhārāṇī Herself, but still had a different mood, but that inlying mood which is not expressed in any līlā, gave Rādhārāṇī...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, that is two corresponding, Rādhā Kṛṣṇa, and when in Gaura-līlā, ācārya-līlā, that's the līlā of distribution of the prema. Then Gaur Gadādhara, converted into Gaur Gadādhara, both converted. Kṛṣṇa to Gaurāṅga with the bhāva-kanti of Rādhārāṇī, and Gadādhara the man standing by His side like a niṣkiñcana, who has lost everything. Just like a facsimile, only a cut case, only the pot without the spirit. But Mahāprabhu had so much inner attraction for him that exceeds that of all His paraphernalia, Gadadhara.

As a love of Gaurāṅga personified we find in Gadādhara, not such a degree of love to Gaurāṅga is found anywhere. And then Svarūpa Dāmodara, then Rūpa and Sanūtana and then that madhurya-rasa direction, and in other side Nityānanda Prabhu, His vātsalya there, Śacī, Jagannātha and Advaita Prabhu, Śrīvāsa Paṇḍit, They also have much respect for Mahāprabhu, devotion, but another type. Not so deep from the standpoint of love but respectful attachment, with some colour of love. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So our guru-paramparā in that line.

I'm told by Dāmodara Mahārāja that this Hiranya Garbha, Nadiya Ānanda and also one man who married, Pāṇḍu, they have gone so far that he has left Lalitā Prasād also and they're very near to that, Tinkuri Gosai. Whose highest qualification is that she had a dress, she dressed in this canvas, not cloth but canvas dress, and canvas dressing has made him so famous to the foolish that they have found everything in the canvas, the canvas dress that surpasses everything in a Vaiṣṇava sannyāsī.

The foolish people, they have not got the inner eye of appreciation, what is what, they will have to take shelter under external calculation. What is the criterion, standard of vairāgyam, the positive, no idea of positive attainment, what sort of thing it is. Only by external abnegation or wilful self assertion, wilful self assertion by physical privation. These are the charm for the foolish people of those that are born to be deceived.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Physical calculation. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

The Nāga sannyāsīns they do not care even for a cloth, they are all naked. Should that be the standard? They should be Guru to this Tinkuri Gosai, he and his truth want of canvas but they do not care even for that so they should be Guru to this gentleman Tinkuri Gosai. Tinkuri, the name is also very appropriate, no name, name has got no sign of a Vaiṣṇava dāsa, Vaiṣṇava dāsa.

Tinkuri, three, what is three, the wealth is that three shells, satya, rāja, tama. Fourth part, he he he he, will vanish, will fly away.

Nitāi Caitanya. Barbella.

Devotee: Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura would, because he being an expert astrologer would calculate certain plans and then go to Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, and then Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura would say something which might be against, or not corroborating with his calculations, but that Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura would follow the instructions of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes he had got respect, śraddhā is more important than calculative truth. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura followed the calculation of (Tiembachī?) he followed. And as an astrologer Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura he held that the (vidigda?) siddhānta type of calculation. That may be true in the material sense but still he did not observe that, because Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has accepted that Tiembachi he followed the calculation of Tiembachi, in Ekādaśī, Janmāṣṭamī and all other things.

The śraddhā is more true, the mahājana, mahājanas acaram, the practice of mahājanas is more valuable than our human calculation. The physical truth of the material truth has not got so much value, after all it is based on the false attitude of mind. So this truth should not be given a greater respect than the arcaram, the intuitive practices of the pure devotee. That intuition of a pure devotee should be given preference than this truthful calculation of the ordinary persons here. Faith has got no connection with the actual so called reality of this world, it is completely indifferent, śraddhā mayoyam loka. There is a world which is guided only by faith, faith is everything there and that is of infinite nature, all accommodating, all accommodating, the world of faith. Everything may be true there by the sweet will of the Lord, and here the advaita calculation, that has got no value, it is inconclusive, can be destructive in it's ultimate goal so it should be rejected, rejected. Which, the knowledge the materialist that can come under the fallible calculation of the exploiting souls, that has got no value what-so-ever, what-so-ever. But in the world of Infinite there faith is the standard only, only standard to move hither and thither. Just as the compass is the only director in the infinite ocean when they cannot see, the shippers cannot see anything else the compass is the only guide, like that.

adabhra-sauhrdāḥ bhavat-padāmbhōruha-nāvaṁ atra te nidhāya yātāḥ sad anugraho bhavān

[O Self-revealed One, You are bhakta-vāñchākalpataru, the wish-fulfilling tree of the devotee. The great devotees surrendered unto Your Lotus Feet, who have crossed over this ghastly insurmountable ocean of mundanity, have left the boat of Your Lotus Feet in this world (in the guru-paramparā or in the line of Revealed Truth, śrauta-panthā) - because, they are greatly affectionate to all beings.] (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.31)

In Bhāgavatam, only our guide like compass, the footsteps of those great personages that have travelled on the way, that should be our only guide. That this way is marked by the holy footsteps of those that have gone to the highest quarter, that is our, mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ.

[The real secret, the solid truth of religious principles is hidden and concealed in the hearts of unadulterated self-realised persons, saints, just as treasure is hidden in a mysterious cave. Consequently, as the śāstras confirm, one should accept whatever progressive path the mahā-janas advocate.] (Mahābharata)

So Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja also says, dharmasya tattvaṁ nihitaṁ guhāyāṁ, the real secret is concealed in the mysterious cave, mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ, the broad line chalked out by the tread mark, by the foot mark of those that are going to the divine world. That is our surest guide. Only that should be our surest guide. All else may be eliminated because calculation is fallible, and after all justifi- cation adherence from the Absolute Infinite, so any form of justification can come anywhere, any time. With that broadest view, that is, Vaikuṇṭha means limitation. We are in the boat, floating in the boat in the infinite ocean so anything may come to help and to non help. With this, with good faith, only faith, good faith, only our optimistic good faith, that may be our leader, Gurudeva.

nṛ-deham ādyaṁ sulabhaṁ sudurllabhaṁ, plavaṁ sukalpaṁ gurukarṇadhāraṁ mayānukūlena nabhasvateritaṁ, pumān bhavābdhiṁ na taret sa ātmahā (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.17)

mayānukūlena nabhasvateritaṁ, guru-karṇadhāraṁ, guru-karṇadhāraṁ.
The Guru is the guide. In the infinite ocean I have floated my small boat and the destination is uncertain to me, inconceivable to me but it is conceivable to my Gurudeva, a guru, guru-karṇadhāraṁ. And I am going with that sincere faith in me, I'm going so, mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ. A horrible ocean with so many waves and so many sharks and other, timingila, what is that? Whales and other things full of danger. That their footsteps are our only hope, we are to depend on that only for our relief, that so many light houses, their footprints, so many light houses in the infinite ocean but to guide us to that place.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

Faith, śraddhā mayo loka. Hope in the Infinite, Infinite, Vaikuṇṭha, Vaikuṇṭha means Infinite but śraddhā contains within it good faith. Cape of Good Hope, there is in the bottom of Africa the Cape of Good Hope, took turn, Vasco da Gama or someone. So śraddhā means surcharged with some good hope in the Infinite. Vaikuṇṭha is Infinite and śraddhā is only, it is to draw the attention of the Infinite to me. The only way is śraddhā, by śraddhā we can attract the Infinite and nothing else, śraddhā, and when it gets a definite form through bhāva it comes to be prema, love divine, śraddhā. Columbus he floated his ship in the ocean and gradually anyhow went to America, got the land, good hope. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The cosmos there after crossing we may find the cosmos. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Spiritual cosmos and śraddhā the light in the darkness, only śraddhā can guide when we are, patik means traveller, we are traveller in the infinite. The hope that I have heard that this is the way to that place, that will keep our heart enlivened, śraddhā, hope. No risk no gain, greatest risk greatest gain.

will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair.] (Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66)

"I am everywhere, not a room to be afraid of, but only come to that plane, that I am your friend, I am everywhere, I am all in all and you are My own."

These are the, this is our only fare for the journey.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: We were just discussing in the car when Rāya Rāmānanda displayed at times the mood of Arjuna, and also at times he was Viśākhā sakhī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was more known to us as Viśākhā sakhī, but superficially he had some representation of Arjuna amongst the...Mahāprabhu could detect that. Bhāvānanda had five sons and Bhāvānanda Pattanayaka and that Bānīnātha and Gopīnātha, Rāya Rāmānanda and other two. So Mahāprabhu told him that, "You are My eternal friend, Bhāvānanda is a Pāṇḍu and his five sons they're pañca-pāṇḍu, of similarity and Rāmānanda is very close and intimate friend to Mine, like that of Arjuna." That is an external impression of Mahāprabhu was given but really Rāmānanda's internal acquaintance is that of Viśākhā sakhī. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That is temporary and external preaching sentiment of Mahāprabhu to see him in that manner, Arjuna, closest amongst those five, Arjuna, sākhyā-rasa. Mahāprabhu dealt with Rāmānanda a little respectfully outwardly, outwardly He used to see him with some respect, some difference, so sākhyā but internally with sakhī, as sakhī.

And Svarūpa Dāmodara and Rāmānanda Rāya, both of them were, used to console Him when the great indomitable flow of love in separation arose in the heart of Mahāprabhu and ostentatiously disturbing Him. These two friends they tried their best to console Him, Mahāprabhu, by diverting His name towards different directions and sometimes giving impetus to His own line of thought and sometimes taking Him towards other direction according to the circumstance they could read. They tried their best to give Him relief of the outwardly painful gesture and movement of Mahāprabhu, Svarūpa Dāmodara, for twelve years continuous.

When Advaita Prabhu almost dismissed Him, "That no longer have You got necessity to stay in this world." Advaita Prabhu declared to Mahāprabhu, bāulake kahiha - loka ha - ila bāula, bāulake kahiha - hāṭe nā vikāya cāula bāulake kahiha - kāye nāhika āula, bāulake kahiha - ihā kahiyaṅche bāula

[Tell our Prabhu, who acts as madmen do, that everyone has lost their sanity, And rice once high in price has no value. In love of God, half-crazed humanity neglects this world and all they once held dear; tell Him a madman brings this to His ear."] (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 19. 20-1)

In a mystic poem he sent it to Mahāprabhu through Jagadānanda Paṇḍit. Mahāprabhu read it and became unmindful. Svarūpa Dāmodara marked it and he took it, "Please hand it over to me." He read through it, Svarūpa Dāmodara, and Svarūpa Dāmodara told, who are the knower of everything, here Svarūpa Dāmodara is asking, "What is the real meaning of this poem?"

Mahāprabhu saying in a vague way, answering the meaning, "I don't know what is the real purport of this poem but I guess that Advaita Ācārya is very conversant with the ways of the śāstra, śāstric conduct of the Deities and in the śāstra generally we find first inviting, invocation area, and then for some time to keep Him, to serve the purpose and when that is fulfilled then departure. No longer can we keep with our general adoration spirit. That is bid adieu. The purpose for which You came here, You descended here, that is finished, now it is better for us to retire."

sarsad urgam sastra tepavor, avaham, stithi and visajya?

"I don't know what is the real meaning but I may guess something like that."

Then Svarūpa Dāmodara was unmindful, "Oh Advaita Ācārya he's bidding adieu to us all."

But after that also Mahāprabhu stayed for twelve years more and that mood was not approachable by the ordinary public. That was the high separation mood, with Kṛṣṇa to the greatest degree and different types is displayed, both physically, showing physically or mentally. Twelve years continuous like fire, a life of fire, that was exhibited, like fire of separation. That was shown and what is not to be found else where. So much intense feeling of separation with God, the God separation spirit can be so intense to such a degree to produce so many symptoms in the body and the mind and in the movement, that is unknown to the world.

Somewhat we get it's acquaintance from the life of Rādhārāṇī, Rādhārāṇī we get, but there also we do not find so many, concrete evolution, that is to say in the pangs of divine separation, so much degree of evolution we do not find anywhere, for all times, continuous and high intensity. Love, divine love, so much sacrifice, so intense sacrifice at the altar of the All Beautiful, so much appreciation for the Absolute Beautiful. So deep attraction never seen anywhere in the history of the world, not even in any scripture it is mentioned like that, any of the oldest scripture. No witness is found and that was found the other day, only four, five hundred years back and that is written in the books and that is verified by so many onlookers of genuine persons, men of standard thinking, eye witness, Rūpa, Sanātana, Raghunātha, Svarūpa Dāmodara, Rāmānanda and so many others, or so many eye witnesses.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, when our Guru Mahārāja would translate the verse, yugāyitaṁ nimeṣena, cakṣuṣā prāvṛṣāyitaṁ śūnyāyitaṁ jagat sarvaṁ, govinda-viraheṇa me

[O Govinda! Without You, the world is empty. Tears are flooding my eyes like rain, and a moment seems like forever.] (Śikṣāṣṭakam, 7)

He would always say that, "Oh Govinda, feeling Your separation I'm feeling a moment to be twelve years or more." So this word yuga he would always translate it as twelve years. So that's not detectable in the Sanskrit as far as I know, so I always took it that it had something to do with these twelve years of Mahāprabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is also current in... It is told one yuga, twelve years, some sort of conception, yuga has been taken as twelve years.

Then this Kali-yuga, Dvāparā-yuga, Satya-yuga, they have got their separate standard but generally twelve years consists a yuga. That is also current in the society, twelve years.

Yugāyitaṁ nimeṣena. Any yuga, any amount of time, nimeṣena, unlimited. Cakṣuṣā prāvṛṣāyitaṁ. "Eye shedding tears of rainy season, the rainy season produces so many flood, inundate, My eyes are doing the same thing it appears to Me." Śūnyāyitaṁ jagat sarvaṁ. "The visible are being invisible to Me, absent, so much absent minded to the present paraphernalia I can't see anything. Wherever I cast My glance I see nothing. So much internal attraction towards the centre, the mind is attracted to some other direction in such a degree of intensity. Seeing I can't see anything, looks are vacant." Govinda-virahaṇa me. "Because I feel as if Govinda has withdrawn from Me, withdrawn from Myself, so I experience such a peculiar type of existence in Me. The whole thing is withdrawn, no interest, all interest is drawn towards Govinda to such degree that I am a stranger to My present environment. Have nothing, no consciousness, gone somewhere else towards Infinite."

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

When there is a drought, the rivers, the tanks, lakes, all dried up, such a drawn of water towards the gas world, nowhere a drop of water, something like that. The charm is drawn so extensively that all vanity, every department seems to be closed and empty, the general attraction drawn from here, attention wholesale taken off, the wholesale attraction of all the senses, mind, etc, everything.

govinda-virahaṇa me

And at times when a little slackened then full of water, flood, yugāyitaṁ nimeṣena, when come in the relativity of His meeting it seems the gap is like so many yugas. "I have lost the meeting consciousness long, long ago I faint remembrance, recollection. Left so far in the back, I had some union but I have left it so far in the background direction, come so far off, so far off." Yugāyitaṁ nimeṣena, "A gap of time unlimited, a faint recollection I had once but is then gone forever perhaps, so much degree of disappointment and despair." This is the standard of Infinite world, standard of Infinite. He, this is rather taking towards, to have some experience of the standard of the Infinite world. Yugāyitaṁ nimeṣena, cakṣuṣā prāvṛṣāyitaṁ. Just as light years, we measure the distance of the planets by light years, so also here the Vaikuṇṭha temperament is being measured by such standard. The audacity to deal with things so great and beyond our jurisdiction.

Devotee: You're being very merciful Mahārāj, you are actually drawing us to that platform although we have no entry into that platform, but by your mercy...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So maybe for the time being for you people, it may be for your benefit I may be handled in such a way. Ultimately I don't know, maybe. You have come from so far and with so much eagerness Ganges water will ooze from the wood.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

A cooling atmosphere has come.

Devotee: I was just thinking Mahārāja that this must be Vaikuṇṭha. You have brought us to such a platform Mahārāja that the material world has completely receded.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Forgotten, ha ha.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, would you like to take some rest now? Of course we are willing to continue for long time but I was just concerned about you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When I come outside on the surface I feel of course want of rest.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Rāma. Hare Rāma.

But you are also going tomorrow, you will go, and you are also going, but this friend will remain for some time, to engage us in their service.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... to certain extent, Advaita-siddhi. He has embraced devotional school and almost accepting both as parallel. nirvikalpa-samādhi and Viṣṇu-bhakta, one and same, in his introduction in Bhagavad-gītā he says:

nirodita tasi punar, sarvikalpa samadhi na, nirvikalpa samadhi stu, bhavi ratra tri bhumika (?)

The samādhi of the yogis is of three classes. In the beginning, sometimes in samādhi and sometimes he awakes not so much. In the second stage when he's in samādhi, if any interruption, disruption, disturbance comes from outside, then he comes out, awake to this world, otherwise not. And in the third stage, he never rises from his samādhi, always continuing. No external pressure can bring him back to the world consciousness, that's all. And he comes here to say visnu bhaktas ca katyate (?)

At that time we can say also that Viṣṇu-bhakta. Puzzling all, ha, ha. So Viṣṇu- bhakta is not conscious of any ... he's conscious of the līlā, Person, all these, but he anyhow draws this to Viṣṇu-bhakti in Vaikuṇṭha. This nirvikalpa- samādhi, the highest stage of samādhi and it becomes Viṣṇu-bhakti, it's similar, that is his argument.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has warned against him. And many things, he has also compiled a commentary of the first three ślokaś of Bhāgavatam, accepted Bhāgavatam, but in his own way he has taken it, he has taken bhakti. Tadiya, in the first ray of devotion 'we belong to Him,' that is the conception. In the second stage 'He belongs to me.' A puzzle here. In the case of Candravālī she thinks that 'I belong to Kṛṣṇa.' And in the stage of Rādhārāṇī She thinks 'Hari belongs to Me,' 'Kṛṣṇa belongs to Me.' Tadiya-madiya. And this gentleman comes and says: "Then, after that, tad-aham, I am His."

And they have created a śloka from the mouth of Hanumān-ji, in the name of Hanumān-ji he has created one śloka:

deha buddha ... daso ham (?)

The śloka does not come to me. Deha buddha ham daso smi, "When I come to the plane of this body then I am His servant."

mano buddha tadam sakha (?)

"When I identify with my mind then I feel that I am His part and parcel."

atma buddha tadeva ham (?)

"And when I go to look to my soul, then I see that I am, He and me, one and the same."

iti menisti tamati (?)

"This is desiring of union."

I composed a śloka just in the opposite way, I forgot that. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has warned that there are many expressions in his writings. Apparently ordinary man will think that he's a great propounder of bhakti school. But at the end he has given about pure Māyāvādā so one must be warned against him, tactics.

Some physical strength he had, inconceivable. It is written in some place, 'One stone by a single hand he removed from one place to another, which about thirty people could not do.' Such physical strength he possessed. And he was very fond of eating plantain, about one hundred plantain he could eat and digest. Something like that, one big cluster of plantains. Hanumān is also fond of plantains. About Bhīma we do not find so much. But Madhvācārya's very favourite food was plantain.

[Madhvācārya is said to be the incarnation of Hanumān and Bhīma]

Devotee: So what was the origin of this Tattva-vādī (?) philosophy then?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tattva-vādī sampradāya (?) from the Madhva sampradāya, originates from Brahmā. Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Brahmā, Deva, Devarṣi Nārada, then Vyāsa, and from Vyāsa, Madhva, in this way.

Devotee: But the present Tattva-vādī is the same thing?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, more or less the same thing. Their seat is Uḍipī, (Mayisore, Kanatak?), Tattva-vādī, eight Maṭhs are there. Acyutānanda told he visited them. And one of the Tattva-vādī was a little liberal, he came to visit Gauḍīya Maṭh, a little liberal. And when Acyutānanda visited them they were so orthodox that they did not even talk with Acyutānanda. "A beef eater so we should not talk with him."

Then, that gentleman who came to visit Gauḍīya Maṭh, he was a little liberal, through him, Acyutānanda told me. "I asked that gentleman who did not want to speak to me direct, ask him whether beef has got more capacity to make one sinful, or Kṛṣṇa-Nāma has got more strength to remove that sin? Which is the stronger? The beef is stronger or the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa is stronger? One gives us sin and another purifies us. Who is the stronger?"

Then of course he was compelled to say the Kṛṣṇa-Nāma is infinitely more stronger than beef can pollute. "Then if we take the Name, if we have faith in the Name of the Lord then that sin may not be removed?" In this way put the argument, Acyutānanda told. At that time he was a little bewildered and did not say much. Whatever he said he did not mention but he was weakened in his argument. Some question of aparādha etc., might have been taken into that position.

Then the Name can purify, comes to purify us. When we commit offence it is not possible to be purified in this? The principle he had to accept that Name can purify from any sort of sin committed. Tattva-vādī, very strict.

Mahāprabhu also visited them and discarded them, as mentioned in Caitanya- caritāmṛta [Madhya-līlā, 1.114 & Madhya-līlā, 4.197 purport.]

we find that "You give more importance to mukti, emancipation and to varṇāśrama-karma. But Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam has discarded both of them. Neither mukti is our end nor this karma, varṇāśrama-karma is our desirable thing, can give us the desired end. Both karma and mukti has been discarded in Bhāgavatam. And you try to establish those two."

Devotee: Those present Tattva-vādīs they say there's three types of jīva, sattvic, rajasic and tamasic jīvas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That may be. That does not matter. It is accepted by all. Sattvic, rajasic, tamasic everywhere, not only in human species, but in animals, in trees, amongst the devatas, everywhere this sattvic, rajasic, tamasic classification, sub-classification.

Devotee: But they say it is a quality of the jīva directly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But the soul is nirguṇa, above sattyā-guṇa.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And they all accept: nichotya bhavam gatha (?)

Even amongst the liberated souls there is also gradation, accepted by nichotya bhavam gatha. Nicaivam gutya, gradation amongst, they all do not merge in the same position but there is hierarchy, gradation, nichotya.

sarotam manca te tam taro tama (?)

Bhāgavat tat puja (?)

Written by Madhvācārya perhaps.

gītā tat puja, bhāgavat tat puja (?)

From quotation of Madhva in his tikā (commentary) of Bhāgavatam it was found that tri-śakti, antaraṅga, bahiraṅga and taṭasthā, tri-śakti. He quoted somewhere from some Purāṇa. [antaraṅga-śakti is the spiritual, internal potency of the Supreme Lord; bahiraṅga-śakti is the external potency; taṭasthā-śakti is the marginal potency] phalam gitam sri tri varnena (?)

In this way, in Ekadas-kanda (?) perhaps, to explain some śloka it was found.

alangitam tri ragenā (?)

That means three potencies, taṭasthā. Bahiraṅga, antaraṅga and taṭasthā. In Viṣṇu-Purāṇa also.

diti asakti visyate(?)

In Viṣṇu-Purāṇa. And Madhvācārya's quoting from somewhere.

He went to see Vyāsadeva and it is told that he met Vyāsadeva and got some direct instruction. Then he came home and he converted his sannyāsa-guru first, his first conversion was his sannyāsa-guru, Acyutāprekṣa, a Māyāvādī. And he was given the name [Pūrṇaprajña Tīrtha] Padmanābha. Śrī Madhva, Śrī Padmanābha, Śrī Nṛhari. Mādhava, Akṣobhya, four direct disciples, Śrī Madhva, Śrī Padmanābha, Śrī Nṛhari, Mādhava and Akṣobhya. Four direct disciples are successively ācārya. Then gradually their eight Maṭhs grow, eight Deities, Temples with Deities, and eight ācāryas. And in each Maṭh there was one preacher. The ācārya was there who was busy with the pañcājña (?) of the Deity and another representative of him used to preach, to collect disciples for the ācārya. But gradually it came that the preachers began to collect disciples of their own. And at first the eight and then became many. Yutavadhi (?) Maṭh, or something like that, they could collect more men in their favour for their Maṭh, we are told.

And I met the ācārya of that Maṭh, ācārya or preacher, the guru, and had a stop-fight (?) Myself, Bon Mahārāja, Hayagrīva Prabhu, that is Mādhav Mahārāja, etc., we were there. Vīgraha of Kṛṣṇa.

deha dehira vibhargo yan yasyari vidyati kachit (?)

Our point, and he told that not, "Within the Arcā-Mūrti there is God and the body is not God, in Arcā."

We told, "No, a wholesale. Wholesale is transcendental. We cannot find it or feel it. But according to Śāstra it is so."

He put objection. Then ultimately he had to submit in the case of Kṛṣṇa līlā.

I told: "When Kṛṣṇa showed that He's being killed by Jarāvyad. Do you admit that there was blood oozing?"

"Yes, it is mentioned, the blood oozing from the body." "Then what is that blood? Is it really blood or a show? "No, it is a show."

"And then? The Kṛṣṇa showed that He's dying, blood oozing, and the blood is not material blood, but to our senses it is material blood."

He told that: "The Śālāgrāma if it is crushed by a hammer then it is reduced to pieces."

I told that: "It is our offensive conception, offensive conception, we find is like that. But we must not believe it, it is not the truth. Our offensive experience of our senses but it is not the truth, it's not the fact. It is a show." But He did not admit. But as when I gave the example of Kṛṣṇa līlā then he had to admit that. What we experience with our eyes, that blood oozing, that is not real blood, that is deceiving our senses, for a similar case here in the case of Śālāgrāma as reduced to dust by the hammer. This is like that. And I gave quotation from Bhāgavatam. That was of course very finer one there.

Sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, I heard from Prabhupāda to explain in that way as much I could remember. Līlā-kaivalyam. Sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, in the end of Bhāgavatam:

sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, brahmātmakatva-lakṣaṇam vastu advitīyaṁ tan-niṣṭhaṁ, kaivalyaika-prayojanam

[This Bhāgavatam is the essence of all Vedānta philosophy because its subject matter is the Absolute Truth, which, while non-different from the spirit soul, is the ultimate reality, one without a second. The goal of this literature is exclusive devotional service unto that Supreme Truth."]

What is the highest necessity in us? To try to remain always in the faith of the Revealed Truth and not to allow ourselves to come down from that level and to think that what we experience through our senses that is true. We won't allow ourselves. We must try to keep our faith always. "That what I see it is false, it is māyā, illusion. My mind, my senses, they cannot find truth. An ordinary magician can deceive them, my mind and my senses may be deceived by a skilful magician, so we must not rely on them. We must rely on the cent- per-cent on the Revealed Truth. They're deceiving my mind, my eyes, my ears, deceiving me. And kaivalyam, cent-per-cent we must take our position and develop that Revealed Truth and never allow ourselves to come down to the world of experience.

Sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, this is the very gist of all the old Vedānta, they say this is all māyā. Brahmātmakatva-lakṣaṇam, Brahma, Paramātmā and Bhagavān, these three of same level, similar, not same but similar level, advaya-jñāna [knowledge of that which has no second], vastu advitīyaṁ, advaya-jñāna. Somewhere it comes as Paramātmā to some sections, to some sections it comes as Brahma, to another section it is Bhagavān, bhajanīya, to be worshipping. The highest section, She's the ultimate cause, the object of their service for dedication, and not all comprehensive consciousness, neither all permeating and regulating principal of the Ultimate Reality. But He's for Himself. We are for Him, we are to serve Him, we are to satisfy Him. For His enjoyment our existence is possible in this way. This is the highest.

Brahmātmakatva-lakṣaṇam, vastu advitīyaṁ tan-niṣṭhaṁ, kaivalyaika-prayojanam: and continued consciousness on this plane, tan-niṣṭhaṁ, tan-niṣṭhaṁ, that vastu advitīyaṁ, advaya-jñāna niṣṭhaṁ, advaya-jñāna Svayaṁ-Bhagavān. Tan-niṣṭhaṁ, kaivalyaika-prayojanam: to maintain uninterrupted continuity our existence in the plane of service, that we are to worship Him, we are to serve Him, we are to love Him. He's so beautiful, He's so loving. Our end of life is in His satisfaction, kaivalyaika-prayojanam. With this kaivalyaika-prayojanam we must not allow ourselves to deviate from the faith which is revealed to us by the scripture, and must not allow ourselves to be drawn down by the charm of the world of this mundane sense experience.

He was a big paṇḍit, big scholar. We have not scholarship, not so much well-read. That gentleman when he used to come to Benares, he, by beat of drum, he announced to the Māyāvādīs: "Come and discuss with me if you have any right, you want to prove that devotion, jīva and Bhagavān is both real and both different. Not one and the same as you say, you fools."

In this way that man, but he was silenced by the Grace of Gurudeva. I heard it once when our Guru Mahārāja [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura] explained this śloka. Kaivalyaika-prayojanam, in this word kaivalya, this misguides everyone, mostly that kaivalya, Śaṅkara, kaivalya-advaita, kaivalyaika-prayojanam. One gentleman came and began his argument with the help of this śloka of Bhāgavatam to Prabhupāda [Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī]. I saw Prabhupāda went up to his own room and came back with the edition where Jīva Goswāmī's comment on this śloka in Bhāgavatam and began to read. And Jīva Goswāmī says: "Brahmātmakatva-lakṣaṇam, brahma ātmā, ātmā means jīvātmā, eka lakṣaṇam, brahmātmā."

That man wanted to prove "Brahmātmakatva-lakṣaṇam, that is jīvātmā and brahma are one and the same. It is mentioned in Bhāgavatam in the conclusion śloka."

But Prabhupāda refuted and with the argument of Jīva Goswāmī. In the beginning, tattvaṁ yaj jñānam advayam brahmeti paramātmēti, bhagavān iti śabdyate,

vadanti tat tattva-vidas, tattvaṁ yaj jñānam advayam brahmeti
paramātmēti, bhagavān iti śabdyate

["Learned transcendentalists who know the Absolute Truth call this nondual substance Brahman, Paramātmā or Bhagavān."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.11]

Here in the conclusion that the beginning that real vision is being satisfied. Sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, brahmātmaikatva, ātmā means Paramātmā, the meaning of ātmā is Paramātmā also. So here Paramātmā, in the sense of Paramātmā it is used because there also the advaya-jñāna, vadanti tat tattva-vidas, tattvaṁ yaj jñānam advayam, brahmeti paramātmēti, bhagavān. Here that very beginning has been drawn here in conclusion. Brahmātmaikatva-lakṣaṇam vastu advitīyaṁ, Brahma Paramātmā, lakṣaṇam advitī astu, tan-niṣṭhaṁ, kaivalyam. That advaya-jñāna niṣṭha, (tat sam vandiya ?) not (tat ekata kaivalyam ?) tat sam vandiya kaivalyam tasmin nistha yukta, kaivalyaika-prayojanam Continuous, no interruption, no falling down from that plane. Continued presence there, that is līlā yam pravesha, tato līlāyam pravesha (?) In that plane the līlā is going on, to have entrance, admission in that plane and not to come up vastu-siddhi, vastu-siddhi, not to come back from there. For eternity to have entrance there.

What's the time?

Devotee: Ten to ten Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rāmacandra Vijayotsav is also today, Rāmacandra.

Rāvaṇa was killed when Rāmacandra came back. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

In U.P [Uttar Pradesh] amongst the kṣatriyas, this Rāmacandra Vijayotsav is celebrated with much grandeur.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Rāma. Hare Rāma. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi.

Dhīrodāṭṭa, the hero, of different types, dhīra-santa, dhīrodāṭṭa, dhīro-udāṭṭa, dhīra-lalita. Kṛṣṇa is reckoned among the class of dhīra-lalita, continuous pleasure pastimes. Rāmacandra dhīrodāṭṭa. Līlā means playful, lalita, playful. And dhīrodāṭṭa is a firm generosity is found in Rāmacandra more liberal, generosity is made in Rāmacandra dhīrodāṭṭa, udāṭṭa, udāṭṭa means liberal, dedicated form, life dedicated for others, dhīrodāṭṭa.

A small person in His kingdom amongst His subjects made some remark about Sītā: "She lived a full year in the, under the control of Rāvaṇa and Rāma has taken Her, accepted. But I am not going to do so." One washer-man told to his wife. "Rāma may do but I won't do. 'You lived in another's house, I won't accept.'"

Through the spy this news reached Rāmacandra and Rāmacandra asked: "Lakṣmaṇa, take Sītā to the forest to the āśrama of Vālmīki, put Her. I can't accept Her. The subjects, the people, they've got the audacity to remark on My character in such a way. And if I am to sit on the throne then I can't accept this sort of bad name. I shall have to cope successfully in their opinion."

So Sītā was banished, odāṭṭa, odāṭṭa.

His father had promised to His stepmother "That I shall give you three boons." But the father he could not utter it, could not command to Rāmacandra that: "She wants to banish You and make her son enthroned here, he could not.

But Rāmacandra when He heard He took it. "It is My duty to carry out the commitment of My father. He may say or may not say, he may order or may not order. But I am his successor not only of the throne but his commitment, debt. I must accept not just the hard cash, this property, but also debt, My father's commitment to My stepmother. I must, it is My duty to do that so My father may not pronounce such harsh words on Me." So He went to banishment, self-banishment, odāṭṭa, dhīrodāṭṭa.

And dhīro-udāṭṭa, Bhīmasena, a little cruel and rough, and that is his continued characteristic with Bhīma. Dhīra-lalita is Kṛṣṇa, dhīrodāṭṭa Rāmacandra, dhīro-udāṭṭa, Bhīmasena, and dhīra-santa is Yudhiṣṭhira, his character is always submissive, not excited, always cool-brained whatever the circumstances unfavourable comes on him he's not excited, very patiently and that patience not for the time being but continuous. Yudhi, Yudhiṣṭhira, 'who is firm in internal feud.' Yudhi means in fight, ṣṭhira means firm, undisturbed, he's undisturbed in any sort of, to meet any circumstances, never excited. That was his nature, dhīra-santa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: beauty, autocrat. Everything is wanting to serve the beautiful. Beauty has so much command over everything that everyone, every (narth ?) is moved only for the satisfaction of beauty. Beauty can control external and internal (narth ?), everything, everywhere. Everyone's internal demand is to go towards beauty, towards ānandam, towards harmony, towards love. At the bottom of everything there is the tendency to go towards beauty, love, harmony. That is Kṛṣṇa. The deepest plane, anywhere and everywhere can be traced, can be found that the current is going towards that, that plane, to meet, connected with that beauty, realisation of beauty. And beauty, ānandam, love, harmony, are the same, same section, sweetness. Everyone wants, that is controlling the whole market. Aspiration, aspiring for the ānandam, sukham, real ecstasy. Every atom everywhere aspires after that sort of realisation and that is ānandam, sukham. That is beauty, that is love, that is harmony, ecstasy. The internal, innermost current everywhere to be traced, that must be found of that nature. Not power, the next hit will be power, everyone wants power to control. But beauty, to aspire after beauty just the opposite, to give out power, to throw away power and to be humble. Humility is indispensable for the company of beauty, for the company of ecstasy, humility, so opposite to power.

Indispensable qualification for the search of beauty, as much as one can so much selfless, self abnegated, he can appreciate so much love and beauty. Sacrifice, sevā, can take us to it. And power seeking takes us here to capture everything under our control to this brahmānda. And power for rendering service to the beauty, that is in Vaikuṇṭha. vaisadhya (?) serving the Mādhav. Sweetness is the end in itself, and sweetness is God, the highest Entity, the deepest foundation, the final goal. That is sweetness. That Bhāgavatam says, Mahāprabhu says.

Devotee: If someone appears to be proud, or even arrogant, then his position is not, he cannot enter līlā in that position if he's displaying that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Arrogant may be of two types, arrogance to the higher and arrogance to the lower. With a good will if a mother seems to be arrogant to deal with the child, that arrogance for the good of the child, that apparent arrogance should not be considered with the real arrogance of a passer-by to punish the child. The arrogance will be of two types. In some stages arrogance ...

A devotee may be seen to be little, for little cause he becomes angry, but that anger, that should not be classified with the ordinary anger. His anger will do good to the person to whom he's angry. For the well-being of the man with whom he's angry, that anger, krodam bhakta-dvesi jane, that is a qualification, it may be. So they cannot be judged independently.

Mahāprabhu was angry sometimes. When Mahāprabhu was going on His kīrtana and the door closed, a brahmacārī who was only drinking milk and nothing else, he wanted to enter. "I must be considered to be purest. I drink only milk, nothing else. So why they have closed the door against me?" Then at last when a door was open and he told: "Why door closed against me?" Mahāprabhu showed two fingers. "That to drink milk that is no qualification for Kṛṣṇa consciousness." Ha, ha.

And this is so many times. When there was some misbehaviour against Śrīvāsa Paṇḍit, some tantric ridiculed Śrīvāsa, put some, this wine and other things in the door of Śrīvāsa at night to show that he, to ridicule him. And Śrīvāsa Paṇḍit opened his door, gate, and found all these nasty things, this wine, this meat and other nasty things. Then he went to the good neighbours: "You please see that how tantric I am in that every night I with the help of this meat and wine I worship Devī Kali."

Then the gentlemen they were very much felt disturbed. "Who is the rogue who has done all these things?"

And when it was informed to Mahāprabhu, Mahāprabhu was very much enraged. "That man must have to suffer." And he was Cāpāla Gopāla, he had got this leprosy within a few days.

In this way, sometimes in this world some anger is shown by the incarnation Himself, of the God, and some devotees also sometimes. But that is not harmful, for the good of the persons. So the excitement which is found in a devotee in a proper way, that should not be taken as ordinary anger.

[Lust I will engage in offering the fruits of my work to Lord Kṛṣṇa. Anger I will direct towards the enemies of the devotees. Greed I will engage by being greedy to hear the topics of Lord Hari in the association of the saintly devotees.

Bewilderment will be manifested because I cannot immediately attain my worshipping Lord. Madness will be there when I madly glorify the transcendental attributes of Lord Kṛṣṇa. In this way I will engage each of these in the service of Lord Kṛṣṇa.]

dr̥ṣṭaiḥ svabhāva-janitair vapuṣaś ca doṣair na prākṛtatvam iha bhakta-janasya paśyet gaṅgāmbhasāṁ na khalu budbuda-phena-paṅkair

["Being situated in his original Kṛṣṇa conscious position, a pure devotee does not identify with the body. Such a devotee should not be seen from a materialistic point of view. Indeed, one should overlook a devotee's having a body born in a low family, a body with a bad complexion, a deformed body, or a diseased or infirm body. According to ordinary vision, such imperfections may seem prominent in the body of a pure devotee, but despite such seeming defects, the body of a pure devotee cannot be polluted. It is exactly like the waters of the Ganges, which sometimes during the rainy season are full of bubbles, foam and mud. The Ganges waters do not become polluted. Those who are advanced in spiritual understanding will bathe in the Ganges without considering the condition of the water."] [Upadeśāmṛta, 6]

Upadeśāmṛta, Rūpa Goswāmī says, according to the teaching of Mahāprabhu, that if we find any defect in a pure devotee we should not be very eager to find fault in him. Because in the water of Ganges it can purify, but if any ...

Devotee: Bubbles.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bubbles or ...

Devotee: Mud.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any mud is found with that water, that also can purify. The bubble and mud, that cannot stand in the way of purification. So in a devotee who are only meant for the good of the universe, if we find some mud or bubbles like things like anger and some other things. In the body also some is blind, some is lame, if we attribute that to their inner self then we are losers, we commit offence.

Devotee: But it is understandable sometimes when anger is used in love, it can be understood in that way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course. When a mother or father is abusing their child for their good, one can, it is understandable. And another man he's beating a boy. Both is distinguishable different things. So a man of that intelligence, that standard of intelligence that can know. The well-wisher is chastising the boy, and the passer-by is chastising the boy, the difference can be understood by an intelligent man. Ordinary people may not make it out.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Some say that Akshayananda Mahārāja is worthless ...

Devotees: [laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and a symptom of a worthy man to control men and to earn money.

Devotee: Kṛṣṇa. But he can't get any money, he's useless. ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Money, money and men together, that is the qualification of a substantial, a good man, a sādhu, luck, that is the symptom of a worthy man. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

What's the time?

Devotee: Ten to ten.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ten to ten. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari.

Devotee: We might have some worth as an atom of dust at your feet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh?

Devotee: If we can be an atom of dust on your feet...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol! Gaura Hari.

Devotee: ...maybe some worth then.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol! Mahāprabhu at least says to Kṛṣṇa that "It is worth to become a dust in the feet of Kṛṣṇa." What is that śloka ? kiṅkaraṁ, patitaṁ māṁ viṣame bhavāmbudhau ...

Devotee: ayi nanda-tanuja kṛpayā tava pāda-paṅkaja-sthita-dhūlī-saḍṛśaṁ ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: sthita-dhūlī-sadrśaṁ vicintaya.

["O son of Nanda Mahārāja, I am Your eternal servant, yet because of my own karma, I have fallen into this terrible ocean of birth and death. Accept this fallen soul and consider me a particle of dust at Your holy lotus feet."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Not a part and parcel of Your body, but vibhinnāṁśa, a different type of substance. I want connection with Your foot, holy foot."

Vibhinnāṁśa jīva - tāñra śaktite gaṇana, taṭastha-śakti:

["Kṛṣṇa expands Himself in many forms. Some of them are personal expansions, and some are separate expansions. Thus He performs pastimes in both the spiritual and material worlds. The spiritual worlds are the Vaikunṭha planets, and the material universes are brahmāṇḍas, gigantic globes governed by Lord Brahmā. Expansions of His personal self - like the quadruple manifestations of Saṅkarṣaṇa, Pradyumna, Aniruddha and Vāsudeva - descend as incarnations from Vaikunṭha to this material world. The separated expansions (vibhinnāś) are living entities. Although they are expansions of Kṛṣṇa, they are counted among His different potencies." [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.8-9]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: mamaivāśo jīva-loke, jīva-bhūtaḥ sanātanaḥ

[manaḥ ṣaṣṭhānīndriyāṇi, prakṛti-sthāni karṣati]

["The soul is a part of Me, as My separate fragmental particle or potency. Although he is eternal, he acquires the mind and five perceptual senses, which are parts of material nature as creations of māyā, My deluding potency."][Bhagavad-gītā, 15.7]

It is a general word but in particular really it is the part of His potency and not the higher potency but in the marginal potency, that is jīva. That is also a part in a general, in a broad sense, everything is a part of Him. He's advaya-jñāna, He's everywhere, He's including everything so everything is a part. But among, there is differentiation in calculation about the reckoning of the parts. Svarūpa- śakti, He and His śakti, potency, and potency higher, lower, and marginal, jīva is a part of the marginal potency.

And Guru also, apparently Kṛṣṇa, but Kṛṣṇa can give only Himself, so it by His will that anyone can achieve Kṛṣṇa consciousness. A general it is Kṛṣṇa, but when we are particular we find, 'no, it is His potency.' And potency there of different kinds, different kinds.

And His representation different in Vaikuṇṭha, Nārāyaṇa, Nārāyaṇa's paraphernalia, Kṛṣṇa's paraphernalia. The Rāmānuja's, their ultimate goal is in Vaikuṇṭha, Nārāyaṇa. The Nārāyaṇa is coming to recruit them through His potency of different type. Kṛṣṇa comes to require him through His potency of different types, sākhyā, vātsalya, mādhyura, etc., śanta, dāsyā. That differentiation gradually awakens in ones, in the mind of the disciple and can say: "Oh, who went to recruit me in the name of the agent of Kṛṣṇa, now I find he has got such and such function in the līlā of Kṛṣṇa. He went to me with the certificate of an agent of Kṛṣṇa in general to recruit me and he has taken me here and given engagement in this particular service.

In the first sight everything is seen as He, but by nearer approach we find specification, differentiation there. And the potency, and differentiation again in the potency. And in the higher potency also so many departments. In this way Guru is at last located in a particular service there, mukunda preṣṭhatve, it is he who went to recruit me on behalf of Kṛṣṇa. Rūpānuga. But they're not to be differentiated so tightly, their oneness, one tune they have got. Of one heart, one aim, one object, one interest. In that case not to differentiate. There is specific service, in that sense it may be differentiated.

So bhedābheda and that is acintya, everywhere to be applied, common and different. Everything, everything has got this common and difference and that is inconceivable to your consciousness. This will apply, this should be applied everywhere.

So I may finish here today. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol!

- (2) - Śrī Kṛṣṇa is the Supreme Absolute Truth.
- (3) - He is the source of all energies.

- (5) - The living entities are His separated parts and parcels.

Madhvācārya, he was the strongest oppositionist of the Śaṅkara school. Śaṅkarācārya laid stress on advaita, and he laid stress on dvaita, not advaita, dvaita. Īśvara and jīva. The Veda, the difference that is more prominent. So he opposed them very strongly. And not only he stopped there, he tried to prove Śaṅkarācārya as a demon, quoting a narration from Mahābhārata. Maniman dvaita, he was ordered by Nārāyaṇa to preach in Kali-yuga this Māyāvādā. And our Guru Mahārāja [Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura] also published a booklet, small, Mani-mañjarī, from the Madhva school, Mani-mañjarī. There it is proved from reference from Mahābhārata that Śaṅkarācārya was a demon and his name was Maniman. And he was ordered to do so and he came and did that. That is their contention.

But Mahāprabhu accepted him as incarnation of Śiva and Śiva was ordered, a reference also given from the śāstra:

lokan madvi mokan kuru ?

With the spirit of harmony, keeping the harmony, that from segregation, from the underlying good meaning who was that, who was hopeless diseased persons, to take them out of the, of the patients that are, that have got slight disease. The serious diseased persons, serious patients, to remove them, to save for the of the less serious patients. So with that idea Śaṅkara, Śaṅkarācārya, Śiva, was ordered:

lokan madvi mokan kuru ?

Who are very much atheist, take them out in another group, showing that they are himself God, that ultimate object, so ham. So ham means not daso ham, "I am Him." "I am Him." Generally we see the demons they have got many qualifications, moral qualifications, but only that main difference they're anti Viṣṇu, generally. They even worship Brahmā and Śiva and get boon from them, also do penances and thereby they acquire power. But they are generally anti Viṣṇu, not all, mostly. Only those that are forced to come here by curse, just as Vitrāsura (?), he also apparently worshipper of Śiva. This Bodi (?), he was a devotee though come in the lineage of asura. Prahlāda, exceptional cases. But generally asura, they are devotees of Śiva and Brahmā but anti Viṣṇu. Dvau bhūta-sargau loke 'smin, daiva āsura eva ca, viṣṇu-bhaktāḥ smṛto daiva, āsuras- tad-viparyayaḥ:

[daivo vistaraśaḥ prokta, āsuram pāṛtha me śṛṇu]

["O Pārtha, the living beings in this world are seen to be of two natures — godly and demoniac. I have already elaborately described the godly nature to you, so now hear from Me about the demoniac nature."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 16.6]

dvau bhūta-sargau loke 'smin, daiva āsura eva ca viṣṇu-bhaktāḥ smṛto daiva, āsuras-tad-viparyayaḥ

["There are two classes of men in this created world. One consists of the demonic and the other of the godly. The devotees of Lord Viṣṇu are the godly, whereas those who are just the opposite are called demons."

[Padma-Purāṇa]

And generally the demigods they are submissive to Viṣṇu. The general nature of things is such, āsuras-tad-viparyayaḥ ...

... is thought to be the incarnation of Śiva, Bhīma and Hanumān. During Kṛṣṇa he was Bhīma and during Rāmacandra he was Hanumān, and in connection of Vedavyāsa Nārāyaṇa he became Madhva. That is their contention.

Devotee: In connection of Vedavyāsa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Madhvācārya, the avatāra of Vāyu, mukha-Vāyu, incarnation of mukha-Vāyu. That is the general guru-tattva. When Kṛṣṇa came he came as Bhīma. When Rāmacandra came he came as Hanumān. And Madhva is also called the avatāra of Vāyu but connected with Vedavyāsa. He's considered Nārāyaṇa Himself, vyāso nārāyaṇa svayaṁ, but He has been taken as śaktyāveśa generally, nārāyaṇa-śaktyāveśa.

Devotee: What is the relationship of Vāyu and Vyāsa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [mukhyapra?] Vyāsa, Vyāsa is supposed as Nārāyaṇa. Mukhya Vāyu's position is that of Guru. Madhva philosophy is like this, that Kṛṣṇa, then another half of Kṛṣṇa to render service of Kṛṣṇa Balarāma.

cid lilamrthuna ?

Five stages. A figure and within Him the devatara, or the sukhya-tattva (?) That is mano-mayacor (?) person. And within His heart there is mukhya Vāyu, prana pradhana guru. And then superior to that, Baladeva, and within the heart of Baladeva, cid lilamrthuna (?) Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa. In this way he has explained.

A material figure of a jīva, within that, that the person. In their words, devatar, devatar is the real person and within the heart of the person there is mukhya Vāyu, or Guru, that is Madhva, or Bhīma, or Hanumān, something of such conception, Guru in general. And in the heart of that Gurudeva there is Baladeva, Nityanānada, some similar. And there in that heart of Baladeva cid lilamrthuna (?), Kṛṣṇa with His śakti.

In Gauḍīya also it was written. And one gentleman, one professor, by birth he was a Vaiṣṇava, Professor of English in Barampur College, good scholar, he put a question to the Editor of Gauḍīya: "Please try to explain this thing more elaborately. Here we may find, sarva-dharma-samana (?), the harmony of all the religious conceptions. Try to elaborate." But that was, elaborated means repeated. I did not find that anything more was given there. This was only couched in a new ... new words and expressions. But I do not find that he is the harmony of all the religions in the field.

Līlāmaya bhagavān (?) As Sanātana Goswāmī has mentioned in Bhāgavatam in rasa-līlā. Baladeva also showing His rasa with the gopīs. There, the Sanātana Goswāmī has given, "He's not." Externally Baladeva is seen to perform rasa-līlā but internally in His heart He's showing the rasa-līlā of, He's connecting with Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa is in His heart, in His heart He is connecting Kṛṣṇa in the rasa-līlā and externally He's found to participate in rasa-līlā, in Bhāgavatam. But Baladeva's nature is such, intrinsic nature, that He's not the ultimate enjoyer. He's composed of such materials which is all service, all service. It's said every atom of His body only meant to satisfy Kṛṣṇa. So His own enjoyment is not possible. That is, the note is given by Sanātana Goswāmī.

līlaya kṛṣṇa kedar līla koram (?)

Baladeva is such, the highest platform on which the Kṛṣṇa has His līlā, and lower to Baladeva there is Guru-tattva, in general, the fifth stage. And then that Guru-tattva again within the person and person has got his body. So five stages.

This way divided. And the Upaniṣad also:

annamaya koṣa, prāṇamaya koṣa, manomaya koṣa, vijñānamaya koṣa, ānandamaya koṣa (?)

Division is this way. Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa says that in vijñānamaya koṣa there is jīva, annamaya this physical body, manomaya the mental, the subtle body. Then prāṇamaya the life, and after that vijñānamaya above prakṛti, the jīva, taṭasthā-śakti. And then ānandamaya koṣa, whole Vaikuṇṭha and Goloka covered. Svarūpa-śakti, the domain Yoga-Māyā.

Ke ? [Who?]

Devotee: ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Following Madhvācārya, there was one Jayatīrtha, whose Suddhar (?) mādhava haite, akṣobhya paramahaṁse, akṣobhyera śiṣya jaya-tīrtha nāme paricaya.

[nṛhari mādhava-baṁśe, akṣobhya paramahaṁse, śiṣya boli' aṅgīkāra kore akṣobhyera śiṣya jaya-tīrtha nāme paricaya, taṅra dāsyē jñānasindhu tare]

[The two other principle disciples of Madhvācārya are Nṛhari Tīrtha and Mādhava Tīrtha. Mādhava's disciple was the great paramahaṁsa (a devotee of the highest order) Akṣobhya Tīrtha. The principle disciple of Akṣobhya Tīrtha was Jayatīrtha, whose foremost disciple was Jñānasindhu.]

[The Brahma-Mādhva-Gauḍīya sampradāya, verse 2, compiled by Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura]

He was a very good scholar and in His Suddhar (?) he refuted this Māyāvādā śāstrictly, wonderfully, so that the Śāṅkara school was bewildered. From Nimbarka section also, that Parapakya Girivajara (?) and other books refuting Śāṅkara school. Many big scholars came. But the Suddhar (?) Daya Suddhar (?), that very successfully refuted, has smashed the argument of the Śāṅkara school. Then after that, the Śāṅkara school, came another Paṇḍit, a Bengali gentleman from Paripur (?) District, Madhusudhan Sarasvatī. He again, many of them tried to refute him but this gentleman, he, Advaita-siddhi, he wrote one book Advaita-siddhi, and he, we are told was successful to re-establish the clamour of Māyāvādā.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By crooked lines, it is natural. It is nirguṇa, a flow coming from the origin of Kṛṣṇa's will. That is another thing.

yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, yaj juhoṣi dadāsi yat yat tapasyasi kaunteya, tat kuruṣva mad arpaṇam

"O son of Kuntī, whatever you do, whatever you eat, whatever you offer in sacrifice, whatever you offer in charity, and whatever austere vows you may keep - do everything as an offering unto Me." (Bhagavad-gītā, 9.27)

Kṛṣṇa tells Arjuna: "Whatever My devotee offers Me with sincere devotion, with sincere affection, I accept that. It does not matter whether it is a leaf, a flower, fruit, water, or anything else. Rich food or rich presentations are not necessary for Me, but what I want is the heart. I want sincerity and good faith. That is the highest requirement within Me."

That is also lower stage, and Mahāprabhu recommends the taking of Hari- Nāma, that is higher than yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, but the direct, do under direct order of a real Vaiṣṇava and that is another higher thing, nirguṇa. Different stages we are to understand and do accordingly. If a real Vaiṣṇava orders me to do anything and everything, that is quite, I am not there, thereby I thrive most perfectly. And then the,

sadā hariḥ

"One should chant the Holy Name of the Lord in a humble state of mind, thinking oneself lower than the straw in the street; one should be more tolerant than a tree, devoid of all sense of false prestige, and should be ready to offer all respects to others. In such a state of mind one can chant the Holy Name of the Lord constantly." (Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3)

And then the lower, yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, as you are, try to throw it in the approximate service of God conception. Yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi. Try to connect it with the Supreme Lord.

Devotee: Mahārāja, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu prays: mama janmani janmanīśvare, bhavatād bhaktir ahaitukī tvayi:

[na dhanam na janam na sundarim, kavitaṁ vā jagad-īśa kāmaya] mama
janmani janmanīśvare, bhavatād bhaktir ahaitukī tvayi

"O Lord, I have no desires to accumulate wealth, followers, beautiful women, or salvation. My only prayer is for Your causeless devotional service, birth after birth." (Śikṣāṣṭakam, 4)

Devotee: Then in another place the Lord says, mukti dadati na pa bhakti yogam [?] "I don't give it very easily." We are told...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As three posing, one generally.

ye yathā mām prapadyante, tāṁs tathaiva bhajāmy aham mama vartmānuvartante, manuṣyāḥ pārtha sarvaśaḥ

[Śrī Kṛṣṇa says: "As a person takes refuge in Me and surrenders unto Me, I respond and reward accordingly. Being the ultimate goal of all philosophies and doctrines, I am the objective to be attained by all. Certainly, O Pārtha, everyone follows My various paths in all respects."]
(Bhagavad-gītā, 4.11)

"Whoever approaches Me with any sort of purpose I generally fulfil that, give him that. He begs something from Me, it is My general nature I offer him correspondingly."

This is general, as you sow so you reap.

"I am some passive attitude generally and you beg it I give it, it is My general."

Ye yathā mām prapadyante, tāms tathaiva bhajāmy aham.

Then on both sides there are, another, kṛṣṇa baday? another, mukti yadati nata bhakti yogam?

"If one begs Me bhakti, generally I give them mukti. You find in India, muktin dadachi? bhakti yoga is so higher that if anyone's, anyone and everyone wants it, I can't give it, because to give bhakti means to give Myself. Bhakti, who comes to serve Me and instead he gets Me so much. So it is not so easy for Me to give Myself to anyone and everyone. So externally he's educated by some, influenced by some, and go and want bhakti, not mukti. In that case I give mukti, go it is better, go with it and not bhakti. Bhakti means to give Myself."

This is also, and on the other opposite side, kṛṣṇa balay amay bhajay magay bishay shu?

"Another sincere person he does not want, he does not know what to beg from Me. He comes and at the bottom he's very honest, but externally he's misguided to beg from Me ordinary things, then I come forward, don't beg these things, but try to get Me, bhakti."

These three phases we find in His dealings towards the beggars. That means a kind of sukṛti of the internal purity, not external posing, that is, balogra higra nachana?

He deals according to the inner purity. As deserved, so have. So sādhu-saṅga, the type of the seed of devotion which we have acquired from sādhu, Guru, everything depends on that. The type of sukṛti in the beginning, the bhakti-latā- bīja, that is very valuable thing.

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya

["Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service."] (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151)

From Nārāyaṇa bhakti, Rāma bhakti, then madhura Dvārakā bhakti, braja bhakti, then again the different camp, in the braja gopīs, the differentiation is all through.

jarjay rossay hiya sambhota?

The salvationists, they're also happy, "Here we are, this is, this I like, I don't like that service life, I'm free here, this is all better."

jarjay ras sri haysapata?

"I'm satisfied with my position." They're also, the servitors of Nārāyaṇa, they're happy with Nārāyaṇa bhakti. Rāmacandra, Hanumān, Hanumān does not like Kṛṣṇa, he wants Rāma. Even Kṛṣṇa has to take the figure of Rāmacandra in Dvārakā when Hanumān went to visit Him, he answered, "All in all, no part, He'll be better, I don't want that, I'm satisfied with this, this much is enough for me." That is the ... tastast huy?

But if it possible to withdraw from the relativity, relative position, and to judge, then we can find that there is inferior in superior question. And Gauḍīya Maṭh is for that, to discuss, taṭasthā-vicāra, how the elimination and acceptance. Good in general, so many things good to so many persons, but Gauḍīya Maṭh is not satisfied. Classification, judgement, good, bad, what type what quality? Analysis to the extreme.

I wrote a poem in the name of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, only one poem in Sanskrit I wrote during Prabhupāda's presence and that was highly appreciated by him because that judgement of that in gradation was represented in bhakti there.

lokanam hita-kamyaya bhagavato bhakti-pracaras tvaya granthanam racanaih satam abhimatair nana-vidhair darsitah acaryyaih kṛta-purvam eva kila tad ramanujadyair budhaih premambho-nidhi-vigrahasya bhavato mahatmya-sima na tat.

["By writing many books and by multifarious methods recognized by the pure devotees, you have demonstrated the preaching of pure devotional service unto the Supreme Lord, for the benefit of the whole world. We have heard of similar achievements in previous times by stalwart scholars such as Śrī Rāmānuja and many other Ācāryas; but the glory of you - the very embodiment of the nectar of divine love - does not end (cannot be confined) here."]

From here, from the sixth śloka of Śrīmad Bhaktivinoda-virah Dasakam from "Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, Prabhupāda when he came to read the sixth śloka he expressed his appreciation. In Darjeeling I presented my poetry to him, for collection depending, but he did not collect anything, but from here he began, I saw he was conquered. Lokanam hita-kamyaya bhagavato bhakti- pracaras tvaya. The common devotion you have. Hita-kamyaya. For the benefit of the people. Lokanam hita-kamyaya bhagavato bhakti-pracaras tvaya. You have preached about devotion of Godhead. Granthanam racanaih. By writing many books. Satam abhimatair nana-vidhair darsitah. And who's appreciated by the sādhus, by many variegated ways you have tried to distribute devotion to the public, but: Acaryaih kṛta-purvam eva kila tad ramanujadyair budhaih. But the Ācāryas like Rāmānuja, they also did this successfully in this world. Premambho-nidhi-vigrahasya bhavato mahatmya-sima na tat. Rāmānuja was a great scholar and Ācārya and he also did all these things, but, Premambho- nidhi-vigrahasya bhavato mahatmya-sima na tat. But here is not the limit of your noble actions because you are full of divine love. The boundary is not to be located there with the Rāmānuja. So the differentiation began from here.

Then next:

yad dhāmnah khalu dhāma caiva nigame brahmeti sanjñāyāte yasyāṁśāsya kalaiva duḥkha nikarair yogeśvarair mṛgyate vaikunṭhe paramukta-bhr̥ṅga-caraṇo nārāyaṇo yaḥ svayam tasyāṁśī bhagavān svayaṁ rasa-vapuḥ kṛṣṇo bhavān tat-pradāḥ

penances. Nārāyaṇa Himself, the predominating Lord of the Vaikuṇṭha planets, whose lotus feet are worshipped and served by His unexcelled beelike devotees, is only a partial representation of the original Personality of Godhead. The original or full-fledged aspect of divinity is Kṛṣṇa. O Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, you have not come to distribute Brahman or Paramātmā or even Nārāyaṇa-bhakti, but svayam-bhagavān Kṛṣṇa, the original conception of the Absolute, who is all-ecstasy. It is you, O Gurudeva, who can gently place me in His hands, and you have come to give Him to the public.] [Śrīmad Bhaktivinoda-virah Dasakam, 7]

The foundation, the ontological foundation of the development of theistic conception is here. Who are you? Generally, yad dhāmnah khalu dhāma caiva nigame brahmeti sanjñāyāte. In the Vedas the general finding is Brahman. What is that? A vague conception of pure spiritual existence - independent of this mundane world. This is the gift of the Vedas in general, brahmeti sanjñāyāte. The general pure spiritual conception without gradation, differentiation, is given by the Vedas as Brahman. Yasyāṁśāsya kalaiva duḥkha nikarair yogeśvarair mṛgyate. This is for the jñānīs, brahmeti paramatmeti. And the great yogīs they find the dictator, the controller from within, Paramātmā, and the Paramātmā is the representation of the part of the part of the part of the whole. Yasyāṁśāsya kalaiva duḥkha nikarair yogeśvarair mṛgyate. With much penance and difficulties the yogīs they try to find a particular function only, small function of that whole of the whole of the whole. Vaikuṇṭhe paramukta-bhrṅga-caraṇo nārāyaṇo yaḥ svayam. And those that are really highly liberated souls, that are generally talking together in Vaikuṇṭha for the service of Nārāyaṇa, as so many bhrṅga, bees, they're roaming about the lotus for honey, so, so many souls are being attracted by the honey of the lotus of the feet of Nārāyaṇa. The highly liberated souls are very busy there. Tasyāṁśī bhagavān svayaṁ. Who is even the source of all these, even of Nārāyaṇa, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa. Akhila-rasāmṛta, rasa- vapuḥ kṛṣṇo bhavān tat-pradāḥ. You can give Kṛṣṇa Himself, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, who is all rasa-kunḍa-rasāmṛta-sindhu, who is Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, the source of it all.

Here Prabhupāda finds such attraction, then, verse 8.

sarvvacintyamaye paratpara-pure goloka-vr̥ndavane cil-lila-rasa-rangini

You are giver of the service of that particular higher domain of Vṛndāvana where Rādhārāṇī with all His paraphernalia, of His able paraphernalia is rendering sweet service to Kṛṣṇa who is served by vātsalya and sākhyā, other rasa's. That Vṛndāvana, that mādhyura rasa, you can give us our engagement in that plane, you have got power, tad dhama-seva-pradah.

Again: (V9).

śrī-gaurānumataṁ svarūpa-viditaṁ rūpāgrajenādr̥taṁ rūpādyaiḥ

[What was sanctioned by Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu by His descent was intimately known only to Śrī Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī. It was adored by Sanātana Goswāmī and served by Rūpa Goswāmī and his followers. Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī tasted that wonderful thing fully and enhanced it with his own realisation. And Jīva Goswāmī supported and protected it by quoting the scriptures from different places. The taste of that divine truth is aspired for by Brahmā, Śiva, and Uddhava, who respect it as the supreme goal of life. What is this wonderful truth? śrī-rādhā-pada-sevanā: that the highest nectar of our life is the service of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. This is most wonderful. O Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, you are our master. It is within your power to allow them to bestow their grace upon us. You are in a position to bestow the highest gift ever known to the world upon us all. It is at your disposal. O Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, please be kind to us and grant us your mercy.]

What has got sanction from Śrī Gaurāṅga, Rādhā-Govinda combined. Who has got? Svarūpa Dāmodara has got the true appreciation of that, which has been revered so much by Sanātana Goswāmī. Which Śrī Rūpa himself has distributed with his followers. And Raghunātha with his followers has got a good taste of that amṛtam and has also developed, given some development there. And Jīva with his followers has given protection to that from the quotations of the śāstras and reasons. And Śukadeva, Śiva, Brahmā, Uddhava, they have shown their highest respect for that śrī-rādhā-pada-sevanam. The confidential service of Śrī Rādhikā which is so valuable, it is wonderful that you can give that nectar to the devotees, to the people, so much high position you hold.

kvaham manda-matis tv ativa-patitah kva tvam jagat-pavanah bho svamin krpayaparadha-nicayo nunam tvaya ksamyatam yace ham karuna-nidhe varam imam padabja-mule bhavat- sarvasvavadhiradhika-dayita-dasanam gane ganyatam.

Where I am, a fallen soul, and where you are, so high? You can deliver the whole world, purify, patita-pāvana. Here in this grammar I'm going in praise of you but really I'm committing offence to you. How much I can know you or give expression to that? So in this lowly attempt I'm committing some offence, please forgive that. O my Lord I beg something as boon from You. Please grant that to me. What is that? Who is everything in You that Rādhārāṇī and His favourite servant, Dayita dasa, Gurudeva. You please recommend me for the service of Your, our Gurudeva, Dayita dasa. (V 10)

So there is this differentiative characteristic in the poem, that satisfied Prabhupāda very much. This elimination and acceptance, that is Gauḍīya Maṭh. To show the position what they're after and what they want to give, this gradation, that is the peculiarity of Gauḍīya Maṭh's teaching.

Not in general as God. What is God, what is God, where He lives, how He lives, what He wants from us, who are we, how much prospect we can get? All these things in details to show and to prove, to establish, to preach, and how we can attain, to manage for that, to satisfy our high aspiration, all this, no engagement besides this, fully engaged in these matters. Not any rough dealings, any dealings roughly about the theism. How audacious they are. What is unknown and unknowable, and they, where angels fear to tread, they want to enter there and use their discrimination, "This is better, this is far better, this is the best." In this way the audacious section who are recommended to be more humble than a blade of grass, and their audacity is such they want to analyze what is Godhead. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And that is their engagement, and engagement means twenty four hour engagement if they're there. What is unknown and unknowable they themselves admit that and still they're engaged in that analogy. pralavita vacra pralarv?

To deal with all these things that are transcendental if they themselves say, again they talk about that, but only the charge is there. The Guru on one side, the teacher, and the chart, consulting the map and the guide of the map. With the help of the proper guide of the map they look at the map and they say, "This is this place, this is that place." The map is there, with the help of the scripture and with the help of the living agent of the Lord, two helps, sādhu, śāstra. That is their property.

sādhu-śāstra-kṛpāya yadi kṛṣṇonmukha haya sei jīva nistare, māyā
tāhāre chāḍaya

Sādhu, śāstra like map, and sādhu like dictator who makes us acquainted with the map. With the help of these two, sādhu, guru, we venture to deal with that transcendental area, and in the serving spirit as much as possible, individual case. The sound must have divine characteristics. Kṛṣṇa, Hari, are nirguṇa, divine, śabda brahman. Nāma, Kṛṣṇa, vaikunṭha nāma grahaṇam aśeṣāgham haraṁ vidun.

[sādhu saṅga kṛṣṇa nāma ei matta jai vaikunṭha nāma grahaṇam
aśeṣāgham haraṁ vidun]

["The Holy Name must be taken with the attitude of service to the saints. Serving means die to live; to throw oneself wholesale for the higher existence."]

[sāṅketyaṁ pārihāsyam vā, stobhaṁ helanam eva vā vaikunṭha-nāma-grahaṇam aśeṣāgha-haraṁ viduḥ]

[One who chants the Holy Name of the Lord is immediately freed from the reactions of unlimited sins, even if he chants indirectly - s̄anketyaṁ (to indicating something else as in the case of Ajāmila who called for his son by the Name of Nārāyaṇa), jokingly - parihāsyā, for musical entertainment - stobha (to use the Name with some other intention; Jīva Goswāmī has taken advantage of this in his book of Sanskrit grammar, the Harināmāmṛta-vyākaraṇa; when one is playing the mṛdanga drum, using the Names Gaura Nitāi, Gaura Nitāi to represent different drumbeats), or even neglectfully - hela (when we are rising from bed in the morning sometimes, we may neglectfully say Hare Kṛṣṇa; in this way we may cast off our indolence). This is accepted by all the learned scholars of the scriptures.] (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.2.14)

The name of Infinite characteristic, that can do away with all the undesirable within us. That name must be, must have a spiritual conception, not mere physical imitation that can be produced only by the help of the lip and tongue, not that sound. Kṛṣṇa-nāma, Hari-nāma, Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa, all these, Vaikuṇṭha- nāma, it is necessary that they should have spiritual existence, backing, that is all in all, all in all. Spiritual depth not imitation, physical imitation is not the name proper, not śabda brahma. namaka vairavatay? Only the imitation sound may come out but no depth. So name means nāma brahma, nāma Kṛṣṇa, name means it must have some spiritual background or spiritual thing to be distributed through this physical sound.

Suppose the homeopathic globule medicine, that feel is not the medicine, that external feel is the same but there may be narcs, there may be arsoning, there may be anything, the globule is not the medicine.

So sound is not the, not Kṛṣṇa, but Kṛṣṇa within, within, it must be surcharged with the spirit and that spirit is not of mundane character. That is not even of Śaṅkara school, Māyāvādīs school, because their faith is that the name may not confine within the jurisdiction of the physical but mental, satya guṇa, that is also product of this māyā, misconception, that is also misconception, misunderstanding.

So those that think that Hari-nāma , Kṛṣṇa, Kali-nāma , Śiva-nāma , all one and the same, like Ramakrishna Mission, or Śaṅkara school, they preach like that, but that also has it's origin in the misunderstood plane.

So śuddha-nāma a must have it's origin from, nirguṇa, guṇika. That is from beyond the area of misconception of māyā. The extent of māyā is up to Satya-loka, Virajā, then Brahma-loka, then Paravyoma, must have it's origin from Paravyoma, and Kṛṣṇa-nāma really from Vraja Goloka, the most original plane of the whole existence. So name must be, to be Kṛṣṇa name it must have it's origin in the highest plane of Vṛndāvana according to that.

So namaka, the mere physical sound is not the name proper which is necessary for us, not only to get out of this māyā or misunderstood world but for the attainment of the service of Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana. That can lift us. The name which has got it's origin in Vṛndāvana plane, that can only take us there, otherwise the spirit within the name, the sound if it is of any other type it may take us to that layer only. It is quite scientific, not unreasonable. So the mere word is not the name. The meaning and the depth of the meaning, the deep conception of the meaning, that is everything, all in all, all important to serve our purpose. Do you follow? Any other side questions?

Devotee: Mahārāja, tyāga, renunciation is not recommended for the neophyte?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, renunciation, always yukta vairāgyam, what will help me in my present condition, to invest my highest energy for the cause, that sort of requirement we should take from this world and not to get excitement from intoxication. As much as physical material things are necessary to keep up my health normal so much we shall accept from this material world, and with the help of exploitation, or any other medicine, we shall create some more energy, that we may think that will be useless, not only useless but harmful. No material thing can help us to reach, to make progress in the spiritual world. It can help only to keep our body fit. Material things cannot have any contribution for improvement of the spiritual. Only to make the best of a bad bargain, we are already committed in the material, under material forces and only the negative aspect we may expect, without which we cannot live, that much we shall have to accept and not that this will help me. Keep our health normal and from that plane I shall begin my search for Kṛṣṇa, take the name, and do the service, all from that normal, India normal, yukta vairāgya. Not more, not little, neither less, nor more we shall take, both will be detrimental to our cause, and all sorts of excitement, temporary excitement and discord, that should be avoided. From a normal plane as it is possible we have earned our previous karma, from there we should begin.

Especially Bhāgavat has warned us against, that don't be afraid of all these five things, they're detrimental to your normal life, though presently they may seem to be healthy, but they have no real contribution. This intoxication, not only intoxication but also this money.

dhana-śiṣyādibhir-dvārair yā bhaktir upapādyate vidūratvād uttamatāhānya tasyāś ca nāṅgatā

["If one relies on one's disciples or wealth to attain bhakti, his devotional practice will certainly become slackened. One cannot claim that one is engaged in devotional service simply on the basis of engaging one's money or disciples in bhakti. To rely on money and disciples to perform devotional service in one's place is not considered to be a branch of pure devotion."](B-r-s, Pūrva-vibhāga, 12.128)

The devotion we may think may be earned by money, by spending money, by using one's son or wife for the cause of devotion, "That I am helping my wife to go on with devotional activities so I shall get something. I am utilizing my son for devotional purpose then by which I must have, I shall acquire. Dhana, śiṣya, my disciple he's becoming a good devotee so as Guru I must get something through him." These things are not śuddha bhakti. Dhana-śiṣyādibhir-dvārair. So by money, by giving money to the devotees, helping the devotees then I shall get some bhakti, it is not śuddha bhakti, it may be sukṛti or miśra bhakti, because money does not belong to you, that is misappropriation, you falsely think that you are master of this energy, so your own self should be devoted.

Ambarīṣa Mahārāja, what did he do? He was a king, he did not try to earn devotion by money. Bhārata Maharaja he was also so, young age he left everything and went to earn devotion, not that they tried to earn devotion through money. It is difficult but it helps those of lower class, "That we can get some money, some energy of this plane and utilize it for the service of the devotees and the Lord." Then they can get some sukṛti not śuddha bhakti, śuddha bhakti demands that you are His slave, and as He will want of you to do His service, you must do that then you can rise up to the standard of śuddha bhakti. Do you understand?

You are His slave and your nature should be to wait for His order and to carry out that. So when under the guidance of a Guru who is in connection with Him, we just throw ourselves in His service, in order, through him the order coming, from Guru, from sādhu, and if I throw at his disposal of that śuddha Guru, and sādhu, who is already in direct connection with Him, His agent, we put at His disposal, whatever he'll ask I'll do, that will be a real service. So it is said in the Śāstra the service of a Vaiṣṇava is better than the direct service of the Lord.

The cause is there. When I approach Him direct, then I have to imagine that this may be supposed that this may be His direction. It may not be proper, it may be contaminated, adulterated, my conception, thinking that this must be His order. But when it's coming through a real sādhu, His agent, then if I can do that it has got direct connection with Him, real connection, so it fetches more improvement in me than my direct approach to Him.

So the name must be Vaikuṇṭha, vaikuṇṭha-nāma-grahaṇam. Must be of Infinite characteristic, that is Vaikuṇṭha and not this thing, a member of this mundane or measured plane which can be measured as in the māyā. Measured by local interest or provincial interest, not Absolute interest, not rooted there, but it must have its connection with the Absolute plane. Then it will come and transform me, and prepare me, to make me fit for the service of that Absolute plane.

Kṛṣṇa is there, it is not a thing of concoction, or imagination, supposition, or anything, but it is reality, it is the reality, and what we think to be real at present that is all unreal. At present we are all in the midst of a particular experience of the world, that is unreal, that will change, evaporate, but what we are searching through the śāstra and sādhū the plane where Kṛṣṇa lives, and our personality there in connection of that plane within us, that is all true.

sā niśā paśyato muneḥ*

["While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self-realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his un-interrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy."] (Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69)

What is night to one that is day to another, and what is day to one that is night to another. We are only now wakeful in the calculation of the local interest and provincial interest of the world. The human conception thrown...

End of side A, start of side B.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...Absolute has His own conception, come out of His own perception, and we are to be converted into that and our soul only can have experience and get membership there. And not this body, mind, they will pay, at present the eye and the mind, they cannot grasp that thing. Only through ear it must come to our souls, soul will be awakened. All these rulings of the mind and the senses, they will evaporate and we'll get a free body of our soul emerged from this our present conscious body and mind. So everything must be of spiritual order. So imitation, the sahajiyā school, they try to find in this mundane plane what they heard about Kṛṣṇa, in this plane they want to find it but it is not possible. We are to go there through sādhana under the direction of a real sādhu, how to go. Virajā, Param, Virajā. First brahmanda vedijay?

Different stages of this mundane conception from gross to subtle, seven stages where we live including this seven other stages of mundane. Bhūr, Bhuvar, Svar, Maha, Jana, Tapa, Satya-loka, then Virajā, then Brahmaloaka, then Paravyoma. The creeper of our devotion, that gradually grows and pierces through all the stages and then touches the land of the Vaikuṇṭha of the first real Infinite conception, and passing through that again it will go to the Vṛndāvana. From the calculative devotion to the spontaneous devotion, devotion based on love, causeless and irresistible, and there we can find Kṛṣṇa with His paraphernalia engaged in His līlā, and gradually we may be accepted there. It is the reality there. No question of any imagination or any concoction. So the instruction that comes to us, that must have its real origin, not a bogus party, we must not be prey to any bogus party. There are many wandering through the world to canvass their own adulterated thing in the market, in the name of Kṛṣṇa.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has sung from his Śaraṇāgati, [Bhakti-pratikūla-bhāva Varjanāṅgīkāra, Renunciation of conduct averse to pure devotion,]

And in the end we see that we have attained nothing, we have got nothing, but we are under, we have to face a great reactionary force, ultimately we shall get it." ghaṭāowe biṣama paramād, "The result of the greatest fool or ignorant person, at last we shall have to find that, that we are deceived, they're all deceivers, even in Your name, they came to exploit us and in the last moment we shall find that we are faced with a great reaction." biṣama paramād, "We are to judge them from the Absolute standpoint then they are reckoned in this way."

baimukha-bañcane, bhaṭa so-sabu, niramilo vividha pasār daṇḍabat dūrato, bhaktivinoda bhelo, bhakata-caraṇa kori' sār. "They're also agents of the Supreme Authority and they have come, they're engaged to deceive those that are not fit for the devotional school." "Just as Śaṅkarācārya was ordered, locarn madmukam koru?

On the principle of civilization in the hospital, the seriously diseased are taken away from the less diseased persons, to save the less diseased. So those who are sincere but have soft reason, to save them the strong and atheistic section is removed by some temptation. So from the ultimate standpoint if we are to judge them, then we shall have to find this, that they have come to test, used by the authority to test our chastity, our sincerity of purpose, whether I can be tempted. That there is one authority and He's loving, He's so and so. Taking away I shall give you this sort of reward, these things, whether our mind can be taken astray, for this they are used."

baimukha-bañcane, bhaṭa so-sabu, "Your messenger, and why?"

baimukha-bañcane, bhaṭa so-sabu, "Those that deserve to be deceived they come to receive that, but those who are really sincere at heart, to get the bhogam to pay for that, they are saved, and they are safe, and they get the facility for their further service."

baimukha-bañcane, bhaṭa so-sabu, "Bhaktivinoda has understood that and he does not care for anything but he blindly sticks to the holy feet of the devotees. He has known that Your servants they're all in all, and these offering agents of big things, they will shoot the ambitious section, those that do not want real service. To select what is his own, that to be the minutest, to be a slave to You."

The Absolute, the highest ideal is so high, and considering my position if I am offered to be a slave to Him, there is reality, and when they offer so many big proposals that they will make us a king, or an emperor, if I'm tempted with that then I am a self deceiver and they have to be real agents to canvass for me, because I do not, "I want this." The great truth to be known is that I am small, smallest of the small, what is my work here? I ignore that then I want to be a big king or emperor and that cannot but be concoction, or imagination. But really if we think our position minutely, that when I may be thrust to such a worst position, then my independent value cannot be very high. So I get slavery of the Absolute truth, that will be my highest blessing, the heart will select in that way. So to go to that direction only, our solace is in the real devotee, those that accept Your slavery. That line we must blindly attach and go to Your lap, and the big thing seekers, they are deprived.

While young, Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī, and Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura as grown up, both of them went to visit holy place located in Hoogly District, Koolingram, where Haridās Ṭhākura sometimes came, and other Vaiṣṇavas. Four generations of continuous devotees. Koolingram. He went to visit that ancient holy place, then when they're entering into the village, on the outskirts there is a temple, and they found suddenly a man came out of the temple and asked them, "Please stay here for the night and in the morning you will enter the village and you will have darśana of all the villagers there."

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and our Guru Mahārāja as young boy, both of them lived in that temple house. Then after nightfall Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura experienced that so many brickbats are coming from different directions there. Then, what for? How? Why? And who will throw these brickbats to here?

Then Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura had some apprehension that there may be ghosts living here and they're trying to create disturbance. So he began chanting the Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra loudly and after some time the thing disappeared. Then they passed the night there peacefully, and then in the morning entered the village, and managed to have all the darśana and the visit of all the places necessary. Then some gentleman from there, "Early morning you entered the village, where do you come from and at night where did you live?"

Then he told that, "I lived in that temple just outside the village there."

"O how could you live there? There are so many ghosts living there and they throw stones at anyone who passes at night by that place, how could you stay there?"

Then Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura told, "Yes, when I found such things I began to chant very loudly the nāma, Kṛṣṇa-nāma, mahā-mantra, Hare Kṛṣṇa mahā- mantra, and subsequently everything disappeared."

"O is it, then who are you, where from you are coming?"

Then he came to know that he was Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. They have already read his books and heard his name, then they welcomed them, welcomed Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and our Guru Mahārāja, a boy, and showed all the places.

I told, "That what is this, the gentleman who was the priest of that temple he had been transformed into ghost, after his departure such trouble we find there, what is the cause? He used to take Hari-nāma, Kṛṣṇa-nāma, we are witness to that fact that he took the name, we have heard from him. Why is he turned into ghost? We can't understand this."

Then Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura had to tell them, "That he might have repeated, namaksa as the question from the Gītā."

A friend asked me, that the physical sound, this mayic sound, only physical sound, lip deep sound, not the spirit of the life of the name was present. Nāmāparādha, he was committing nāmāparādha.

"How was his character you must know that, in his character he was not a good man, he committed many things wrong, that we know, but this is the fact that we can't deny, that he used to take the name of the Lord, often, always, often." And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura told, "Namaka, only the physical sound of the name is not the name proper, so the nāmāparādha and the result of that. Then how can he be released from that wretched condition, of course if they come in connection with a real sādhu and hears the real name from his lips, or the explanation of Bhāgavatam, or Gītā. Anyhow hears something from a real bona fide sādhu who has got connection with Kṛṣṇa proper, then he may be released, because in the scriptures we find that this is the way to get out of that entanglement."

Anyhow Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura came out, then from that day all the troubles there ceased and the villagers were astonished.

"That gentleman has got his release and hearing the name off Ṭhākura Bhaktivinoda. When that trouble began Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura loudly took the name and gradually that suppressed, so by hearing from the lips of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura the name of Kṛṣṇa he has been liberated, has got release."

So persons came to see Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and gave the news.

"From that day no other trouble is seen in that area, so we are confident that you are a great Vaiṣṇava, and after hearing the names from your lips he has been released."

It was written in papers also, published, Mahārāja says, I also heard vague but I could not collect so much what Mahārāja has said, he has heard direct from Prabhupāda. When Prabhupāda went to Vṛndāvana in this month of Karttika, he used to deliver lectures regularly in Madhumangal Kuṇja, which belongs in the service of one of our Godbrothers, Saranindha Nārāyaṇa Rāya. His predecessors established that sevā in Vṛndāvana, Madhumangal Kuṇja. There Prabhupāda narrated this story of his own experience with Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

So namaka, they simply, the outer cover of the sound, cover of the name is not the name proper, but within there are many things, most important things within. But in the spiritual realization the spiritual realization backing the name, that is name proper. Otherwise this tape recorder also can pronounce, a parrot also can pronounce the name. Not the physical sound but in the background there must be spiritual truth, and that is conscious, that is spiritual, that is soul. That is super knowledge crossing the knowledge of this mundane plane of different stages, after Satyaloka, Brahmaloka.

Mahārāja reminds me to explain to you that which I have already explained many a time, that Rūpa Goswāmī Prabhu, that śloka particular. Kṛṣṇa, not only the name, His name is rūpa, rūpa, guṇa, parikar. All these things are purely spiritual, spiritual not mundane. So it is not cognisable by our senses. Our tongue cannot pronounce Kṛṣṇa, our nose cannot get the scent of His body, our eyes cannot have sight of His beautiful figure, indriyatitha, transcendental, supramental. Not only our physical senses but our mind also cannot think of Him, supramental, transcendental.

The knowledge at present which we have in our possession, His existence is transcending them all. In other words as a subject we cannot have in His connection, it is subject of the subject. Ātma, Paramātmā, and beyond that, His realm. We should not forget that which side He's existing. Taṭasthā jīva, a subjective, marginal plane, he can think, he can know, but he can know only that which is more gross than himself, but that which is subtle, here he's helpless, but connection is only possible when the higher area wants this lower area to be taken up in it's own plane.

So, sevonmukhe hi jihvadau, if we can accept that incurring current, die to live, if we can die as it were and surrender our inner most self at the disposal of that will, incurring to the centre, then that wave can carry us up, and our soul may be a blade of grass, or a particle of dust in that current. It may be carried in that way, and not that we can enter there and work as we do in this gross material world. Rather we are to walk there on our head, here we are walking on our feet but there we walk on our head, only by the grace on our head that can attract there and take us here and there.

They're all higher, the substance, the atmosphere, the air, ether, everything is higher than my valuation. There everything, the valuation, the atmosphere is highly valuable, higher than any value I have of myself. Only for the service, only with the sincere spirit of service may we be allowed to enter there, and may be taken to the highest position because they're all benevolent, all generous, all affection, all love, all good wish there. So we have got the prospect, we have got the chance to go there, but always under grace and never on our right.

This creed we must accept from the beginning, but the atmosphere is such that none feels any distinction between the slave and the master. It is such a happy place there and so benevolent, so loving, the slave cannot know that I am the slave in the family and they're family man. Such meanness is not found there, but really considering we are slave, and this is our wealth that we should consider. But by the power of Yoga-Māyā they forget that I am a slave and that is the greatness, magnanimity of the atmosphere and the love of them and not by our, our fortune also to certain extent that we are being able anyhow to have got entrance into that high land, noble land, anyhow I have the fortune and that is our, we are to be proud of that, that my fortune has taken me to such a place where the owners, and the man, and the masters, have got no distinction. Love is so intensely flowing there and most generously.

Mahārāja is saying that Rāvaṇa wanted to capture Sītā and he thought he had done that, but the fact is that what to hold of the holy body of Sītā Devī, he could not see, can't see. Sītā Devī is another thing. What he's taking is a mundane representation of Sītā Devī, a straw imitation of Sītā Devī, or a statue of Sītā Devī, Rāvaṇa took. It may not be this present body and also may be seen in that plane, but really it was a material double of Sītā Devī, an imitation of Sītā Devī, Rāvaṇa took away. For a person here Sītā Devī and His plane is not at all approachable. We cannot see, cannot feel, cannot enter, so what's the possibility of catching Sītā Devī and taking Her away. This is the real finding, it is all show. Rāvaṇa was cheated and to serve some purpose to give some teachings, advice to the people here in the mundane world, but in the real sense no

Rāvaṇa can come in connection with any person who's living in Vaikuṇṭha.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja, have you seen this Mahārāja? Yājāvara Mahārāja, he's the last sannyāsī disciple of our Guru Mahārāja and he's senior to me. Only direct sannyāsī disciple, only four are living, we two and one Śrautī Mahārāja and another (Yathārtha?) Mahārāja in Vṛndāvana, four only. He was in Vṛndāvana for a long time. (Yathārtha?) Mahārāja was in Goya.

Prabhupāda in his last days he wanted to hear kīrtana in the morning, in his bungalow, you must have visited Prabhupāda's bungalow in (Chatagri?) In that bungalow he lived, and he wanted to hear kīrtana songs but the gentleman, the devotee who used to chant the kīrtana, he was not considered fit, so before that when Prabhupāda went to Mathurā, he heard kīrtana from Yājāvara Mahārāja. His voice was very sweet, now also, at his young age a very, very sweet voice, and most sincerely with all hearts he could sing. So Prabhupāda, he was in Goya, Maṭh command, Prabhupāda sent a telegram to him saying come at once to Purī and he had to come to Purī, and he was engaged in the morning to sing songs to Prabhupāda and especially that song, śrī-rūpa-mañjarī-pada sei mora sampada. This song he was ordered to sing every morning and he sang with most sincerity and in a very sweet voice. We all were present there, a very charming view, we enjoyed a long time there, and from there Prabhupāda came to Calcutta and within a month he disappeared, and of course twenty four hours before that he wanted me and asked me to sing that very song, and after twenty four hours in the morning he left the world.

When Prabhupāda was leaving the place, at that time he was present, Śrautī Mahārāja took him along with him in a preaching party.

I attended all the last functions.

Another one because I am not a good singer, so Kuñja Bābu [the name previously used by Śrīpād Bhakti Vilās] Tīrtha Mahārāja, asked another gentleman to sing that but Prabhupāda stopped him saying, "I don't like to hear the tune." So they had to stop and I began singing that song. So some internal purpose he had and the experts there told that, "Prabhupāda gave you admission in that plane by asking you to sing this particular song, you are given admission to that plane, rūpānuga."

The highest position of aspiration is to become rūpānuga, to be a servitor just under the guidance of Śrī Rūpa, rāga-mārga, the director of rāga-mārga. All the books of rāga-mārga mostly come through him and Mahāprabhu taught him in Prayag Allahabad, at the place of the confluence of the Ganges and the Yamunā. And He talked to him all about rāga-mārga and also blessed him. "I bless you that whenever it will be necessary, the flow will come out of itself to help you when you will try to relate the science of this Kṛṣṇa love, rāga-mārga."

The divine love, love in the characteristic we find in Vṛndāvana, that kind of love, śakti sancar, inspired, in way of its inspiration, the best words applied to him, Śrī Rūpa, and what he wrote, Mahāprabhu when He was here with Svarūpa Dāmodara and Rāya Rāmānanda, they were the audience, heard them and praised very highly the composition of Rūpa Gosvāmī, his writings.

So Akśayānanda Mahārāja, you went to meet him but he had already left Delhi...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: inner realisation is there and progress means by sacrifice, not by aggrandising. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Mahārāja, somewhere in that Prema-Vivarta, Jagadānanda Paṇḍit has described that hearing through the, karna mūla? So does karna mūla? mean the heart perhaps?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is this?

Devotee: I don't have it here but not simply, karma, ear, but karna mūla, hearing through karna mūla, does it mean the heart perhaps?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, karna mūla, the root of the ear, to be traced in the inner world. There is a song of Chandi Dāsa:

karna upa ditara diya mora ei pasida akula korida amula prana ?
Rādhārāṇī says:

sakhi tu dasi nai rasanu nama karnai rapida ratida moram ei prasida ei gokula kori amora prana ?

Rādhārāṇī addressing to one friend, Her friend, "What peculiar novel stage I am under experience. I cannot ascertain My friend. Who, I don't know who has chanted the name of Śyāma and that has entered through My ear and touched My most, deeper, special centre in the nervous system, selected centre of the nervous system."

Centred, where it is manipulated the whole is affected, that is, marma? Mainly it is in the heart.

"Entered through my ear and it has captured my heart." Just as duga? in the military, the important centres.....

"It has entered My heart and the whole vitality is shaken, the whole vitality has been shaken, has been captured, has been shaken."

akul koril amora prana (?)

"My very existence has been attacked, affected, captured, the whole internal existence. The sound has captured, it entered into My heart and it captured My whole existence," akul korilamor prana (?)

najami katami dehu syami nami achehu ?

"I can't estimate how much and what sort of honey is there in that sound, the sound seems to be of infinite sweetness to Me. I can't ascertain. My lips can't give it up, that name."

In this way She is giving Her stages when She has come in touch with the tidings of Kṛṣṇa and the first connection came to Her. The revolutionary evolution began, revolutionary evolution, in Her feeling, in the whole of Her heart, whole structure, inner, outer, that is shivering.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Here we are suffering for a drop and there they're inundated. "Water, water, everywhere but not a drop to drink." Ha, ha, ha. Which is everywhere, which is the only reality, and we are suffering for its want.

yo mām paśyati sarvatra, sarvaṁ ca mayi paśyati tasyāhaṁ na
praṇaśyāmi, sa ca me na praṇaśyati

["For one who sees Me in everything and everything in Me, I do not remain unseen and he also is not unnoticed by Me: he never sways in his thought of Me."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.30]

"If one can come up to such a stage that everything reminds him about Me," paśyati sarvatra, sarvaṁ ca, "Everything in Me and I am everywhere. Visa-versa. Vāsudeva, everything lives in Him, He's the most comprehensive and I am everywhere."

The most subtle, permeating substance, everywhere the most subtle, entering everywhere and also embracing everything within, containing everything in Him. In the material perhaps ether exists everywhere and everything covered with it, it goes to connect the Candraloka, the maṅgala, the sun, everywhere, by that electric wave. Air cannot reach but occur, bhaum, ether is all permeating everywhere, the most subtle thing it covers everything and it is in the middle of everything.

yathā mahānti bhūtāni, bhūteṣūccāvaceṣv anu praviṣṭāny apraviṣṭāni,
tathā teṣu na teṣv aham

["O Brahmā, please know that the universal elements enter into the cosmos and at the same time do not enter into the cosmos; similarly, I also exist within everything and at the same time I am outside everything."][Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.9.35]

Catuḥ śloki, Bhāgavata.

aham evāsam evāgre, nānyad yat sad-asat param paścād ahaṁ yad etac ca, yo 'vaśiṣyeta so 'smy aham

["Brahmā, it is I, the Personality of Godhead, who was existing before the creation, when there was nothing but Myself. Nor was there the material nature, the cause of this creation. That which you see now is also I, the Personality of Godhead, and after annihilation what remains will also be I, the Personality of Godhead."][Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.9.33]

"Try to think what am I. Aham evāsam evāgre, in the beginning you can think of progression, I was present. Nānyad yat sad-asat param, both subtle and gross as you experience, nothing was existent, when the created world, before this I am eternally existing in My plane. Nānyad yat sad-asat param, paścād ahaṁ, when the wholesale dissolution, I am there, I shall be there unaffected." Paścād ahaṁ yad etac ca, and what you find in the middle from creation to dissolution, that also I am. You can't eliminate Me, I can't be eliminated. Before creation I was, after dissolution I shall be and in the middle also I am present. Try to conceive what is My existence. Paścād ahaṁ yad etac ca, yo 'vaśiṣyeta so 'smy aham, whatever you can conceive and whatever is in the background, that's all My presence. Yad etac ca, yo 'vaśiṣyeta so 'smy aham.

["O Brahmā, whatever appears to be of any value, if it is without relation to Me, has no reality. Know it as My illusory energy, that reflection which appears to be in darkness."] [Srimad Bhagavatam, 2.9.34]

Very intricate question, what is māyā? Rte 'rthaṁ yat pratiyeta, "What is My purpose, My design?" Not to follow that but to have conception of any other thing, that is māyā. Artha means purpose, what is My purpose, that cannot be thought, or detected, or caught, but other interest is thrown on it, and that is māyā." That is provincial conception, separate interest, selfish interest, eliminating the universal, that can't stand, the universal going on, that cannot be stopped. Irresistible, ahaituki, this nirguṇa flow, the flow of nirguṇa and above which is transcendental and most fundamental movement, that is wave, that is causeless and that is ahaituki apratihata, irresistible. But whatever, without that, whatever plan is thrown on it from a particular centre that is māyā, misconception, misunderstanding.

The universal wave, movement, is going in it's own way, it can never be affected but we think that it can be, it's course can be changed, that it can be utilised in some other purpose, that is māyā. Not to be able to see the universal wave of the prime cause, His līlā, it is His līlā, but we are thinking, "no it is for mine, it has been made for me." Everyone, the king, "This is my empire." Then another chief will say, "No, this is my state."

Then another owner of a particular province will be saying, "This is mine." And one who is working in the field he will think, "this is in my possession at present." So many worms and all these things according to their existence and necessity, they will imagine that it is meant for his, or her, purpose, relative temporary interest and purpose, and that does not show to be true. Frustration, "Oh I wanted it to take in my interest in this way but it did not come." The disappointment, frustration, and birth, death, all these anomalies out of this misconception of māyā." Not only one time he's defeated, he's frustrated, again he's going to make attempt in such line, in that self interested line.

And there is: janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhī, (Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9). Troubles based on these four principles - undesirable birth, not eternal continuity in his life, the birth, death, infirmity and also disease, this is the reaction of the misconception of the truth outside. So try to get harmony with the universal transaction, or flow of events, then you will be happy, it is a happy flow, happy transaction going on and your selfish interest is disturbing you and your society.

Rte 'rthaṁ yat pratīyeta, What is true and what is misconceived on the basis of truth. Rte 'rthaṁ yat pratīyeta, our prakṛti, our faith, what is not true, our faith on that basis, there is māyā. Rte 'rthaṁ yat pratīyeta, na pratīyeta cātmani, And if we identify ourselves with the ātmā, with the Paramātmā, the main flow, then it disappears. "This is my country, this is not my house." Imperial demand, if any war breaks out then the king may take possession of this immediately, it is his, it is for the imperial, imperial demand is met, is near, and not my claim that I won't give this house to you, it won't go on. So this is relative... For possession and mastership, that is māyā. I shall always be conscious that if king's necessity then this house may be taken in a second, "this is not mine, my possession won't go," something like this.

Rte 'rthaṁ yat pratīyeta, na pratīyeta cātmani, tad vidyād ātmano māyām, If it is possible for us to look out the interest of the whole, it is not present there. But when we are very selfish and very compartmental interest, we thrust on it, then we suffer from that plan, that plan, that design, that sort of understanding gives us trouble. "It is mine but I don't see that it is mine. I was thinking this body is mine but it is the victim of the environment I see, I am frustrated." As much as I concentrate that this is mine I shall have to be so much frustrated, and as much as I invite within me that everything belongs to the ultimate power, no frustration present in me. So māyā is here, the misconception, misunderstanding. The proper meaning is there, we're unable to read that and we thrust our futile design on it and read. That is māyā.

ṛte 'rthaṁ yat pratīyeta, na pratīyeta cātmani tad vidyād ātmano māyām, yathābhāso yathā tamaḥ

As light and darkness, yathābhāso yathā tamaḥ. And the conception of individual interest and this material world. "There is no man's land, anyone can capture it." It is not so, it is already belonging to the fullest extent to a party. No man's land, there is no "no man's land," all land belonging to one, yathābhāso yathā tamaḥ.

yathā mahānti bhūtāni, bhūteṣūccāvaceṣv anu praviṣṭāny apraviṣṭāni,
tathā teṣu na teṣv aham

["O Brahmā, please know that the universal elements enter into the cosmos and at the same time do not enter into the cosmos; similarly, I also exist within everything and at the same time I am outside everything."][Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.9.35]

Mahānti bhūtāni, that earth, water, air, fire, heat, heat then air, water then heat, and then air, then ether. What is their relation? In earth, water, heat, air, and ether all mixed, in earth. But in water conception there may not be earth, still different stages. Of course if we trace the evolution question then it will be otherwise, it is an example. So within earth there is water, ether, fire, air, everything. And in water no earth but heat is there, air is there, and ether is there. And in fire the air is there, the gas is there, the heat of course is there, and the ether is there. And in air not all these material things to be traced, but ether must be within air. And ether, that is the original thing.

Yathā mahānti bhūtāni, bhūteṣūccāvaceṣv anu, there, within and without, everything is existing within ether. Most graphic position. They're there and they're not there. In this way, their division and their relationship, they're there and they're not there. Praviṣṭāny apraviṣṭāni, they're there and they're not there. Praviṣṭāny apraviṣṭāni, tathā teṣu na teṣv aham, "My position is also similar, I am there and I am not there. In this way, if it can be analysed then I may be found there, ordinarily I'm not there."

yathā mahānti bhūtāni, bhūteṣūccāvaceṣv anu praviṣṭāny apraviṣṭāni, tathā teṣu na teṣv aham

["O Brahmā, please know that the universal elements enter into the cosmos and at the same time do not enter into the cosmos; similarly, I also exist within everything and at the same time I am outside everything."][Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.9.35]

Both within and without. In Bhāgavatam it is mentioned: jīvasya tattva-jijñāsā nārtho yaś ceha karmabhiḥ:

[kāmasya nendriya-prītir, lābho jīveta yāvatā

jīvasya tattva-jijñāsā nārtho yaś ceha karmabhiḥ]

("Life's desires should never be directed toward sense gratification. One should desire only a healthy life, or self-preservation, since a human being is meant for enquiry about the Absolute Truth. Nothing else should be the goal of one's works.") [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.10]

What for we are born? What will be our ideal duty? We are all engaged to collect things for sense gratification, karma, artha, we are busy to collect money, whenever we shall require we can interchange that into sense perception, sense pleasure, karma, artha. Then dharma, duty, our duty, generally we're fixing in such a way that we can collect maximum money and by money we shall earn sense pleasure, and we can take ourselves and distribute itself. This is the general.

But Bhāgavatam says the relationship between them should be changed totally. Our relation with this mundane world should not be sense pleasure but as much as required to keep up this body fit. And the body, good health will earn money, and money should be utilised not for sense pleasure but to help our duty, to satisfy our duty. And duties aim should not be again downward but it will be for the, apavarga (ultimate liberation), crossing these three necessities of life to seek for higher purpose of life, tattva-jijñāsā. Mokṣa means tattva- jijñāsā. The whole thing must be used, the matter should be used to keep up the health, health will earn money, money will help to discharge our duty, and duty should be arranged in such a way that we shall inquire about our self and the environment. "Who am I? Where am I? What is my end of life? What is real satisfaction?"

In this way, tattva-jijñāsā, jīvasya tattva-jijñāsā nārtho yaś ceha karmabhiḥ. That is the only requirement for us, that should be our only aim, to enquire, tattva- jijñāsā, what am I? Where am I? Who is my Lord? All these things are to be discussed and enquired. That should be the object of our life. Now what will be, tattva-jijñāsā should be the object of our life and of what type that is? Yathā mahānti bhūtāni, these things are there, in this way, along this way you are to work. "What is the environment? Where am I? Who am I? And what is my good?" All these things, tattva-jijñāsā, enquiry after self and enquiry after environment and within that the search for Kṛṣṇa, Vedānta, brahma-jijñāsā. Upaniṣad says: "What is the object of your life?"

["By knowing Him, everything is known - by getting Him, everything is gained."]

The object of the life of us all in such position will be only one. What is that? The enquiry after the central truth, yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam, that must be of universal character. Enquire after that. When you know that everything is known. Enquire for the central truth, by knowing which everything can be known, by getting Him everything is got. Yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam bhavati, it is possible, we think generally it is impossible, when a particle in the infinite, how is it possible for.....

The Infinite can come to you, you cannot go to the Infinite, but Infinite can come, that noble and that healthy way you are to find out. That is śrauta-panthā, the descending method in the line of revealed truth. Infinite expresses Himself to you, "I am so and so, if you do this then I shall come to you, you will know Me, you will have Me, you'll get Me."

idam prāptam bhavati

Enquire for that, athāto brahma-jijñāsā (Vedavyāsa Uttara-mīmāṃsā from the Vedānta-sūtra), so that the gist of the Vedas and Upaniṣads taken, collected, systematically safe in Vedānta sūtra. In the beginning, "What is the purpose of this book? Brahma-jijñāsā, "What is Brahma? If we know Him we know everything. If we get Him we get everything." Such a great prospect is before you, brahma-jijñāsā.

And when it came to Mahāprabhu, the brahma took the shape of Parabrahma. The personal conception came to the front rank, kṛṣṇānusandhāna (the search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa). In the expression of Mahāprabhu, Śrī Caitanyadeva, "That Brahma, don't think that it is a material substance, you are always habituated to think matter. Being subject you can't easily think object things in this material, lower, it is not of that type. So Brahma is not a substance that I as a subject you will make Him your object of thinking, thoughts, but kṛṣṇānusandhāna in His real conception which will be in your highest utility. He's Kṛṣṇa, the most loving personal existence. Enquire after Him. Where is He Who can satisfy all my demands, who can satisfy all my nervous enquiry? The whole system, whole system, every atom can be satisfied by Him, His touch. Where is He? Where is He? Just as a man in fire wants to embrace ice, where is He? I want to be, I am burning, my every atom is burning, I want to pacify my whole existence by His embrace." Kṛṣṇānusandhāna.

Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi.

Who is the real giver, the benevolent? I am puzzled. Who gives this news to us? And not only news but the process he also gives how we can get this whole, this Kṛṣṇa, so he is the real patron or the real donator is he, donator, donation, gift. The highest gift is to give Kṛṣṇa to one and all, so we chant about Kṛṣṇa and through him wants to penetrate Him within us, he's the real giver.

Or otherwise so many things are being in the transaction giving this and that, taking this and that, this transaction in the market, this is all mischievous and temporary, false. All imaginary transaction connecting with the world of imagination, that has got no value. Only those that deal with reality, with Kṛṣṇa, with Bhagavān, they are the real givers to deliver us, deliverers of the souls, and to take them to the ocean of nectar. They're the real giver and these are false agents, "I am giving this, I am giving that, I am giving food, I am giving clothing, I am giving medicine." But this is all for the fictitious life, undesirable life, to maintain the undesirable existence. A proper existence to give relief and the real substance where our soul can relish forever to the extreme. They're the real givers in the world, not false transaction workers.

maṅgalaṁ śrīmad-ātataṁ, bhuvi grṇanti ye bhūridā janāḥ

This gives life to the burned souls, with misery, tapta-jīvanam. Kavibhir īḍitam kalmaṣāpaham, and say that it will do away with all your reactionary principles existing within you. Kalmaṣāpaham śravaṇa-maṅgalam, and the smallest attendance of it, even through the ear, that will give immense goodness in you. Kalmaṣāpaham śravaṇa-maṅgalam śrīmad-ātataṁ, it is full of all substantial resources that can satisfy you to the utmost. Śrīmad-ātataṁ, bhuvī grṇanti ye bhūridā janāḥ, and those who distribute this thing to the world they are the proper givers, their gift is real, substantial.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

The best of the donors or givers is he who gives Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa se tomāra, kṛṣṇa dite pāro, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's song, Ohe! Vaiṣṇava Ṭhākura. "Kṛṣṇa belongs to you my master. You can give Him to me. I am the fallen of the fallen, needy of the needy. Be propitiated on me and give your Kṛṣṇa, which you worship in your heart. Please allow me to get Him for worshipping."

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any other questions?

Devotee: No Maharaja, not now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

yā niśā sarva-bhūtānām, tasyām jāgarti saṁyamī yasyām jāgrati bhūtāni,
sā niśā paśyato muneḥ

["While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self-realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his un-interrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

One who is awake in the transcendental world, this mundane interest is like night to him. And the so-called materialistic thinkers, scientists, research scholars, who are so proud, but their night, they do not know about the day, nocturnal creatures, nocturnal hunters, who roams hunting in the night. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

They have forgotten Newton's third law, "for every action there is equal and opposite reaction." Extorting their temporary help from the whole nature and making their boast of that, proud of that, but they have forgotten that that loan should be cleared in a very deplorable way, to be cleared, we can't avoid it, it is a loan. We're not masters. We are exploiting only with the risk that we shall be again exploited by them. With this risk we are enjoying and we think we are master, we are masters of the natural resources, but no, they're not helpless, we will be exploited by them again, the reaction.

The virus is not helpless, that I shall kill and cure a patient, it has got its position equal to me in universal calculation. It's the result of his previous deed that he has become a virus and injurious to your existence, so you are killing them mercilessly to keep this body of mud which is injurious to your soul, this body. Action, reaction, but real good, we'll have a headache with all these thoughts. But nature does not allow vacuum, what is that expression? Vacuum? There is king, there is rule of law, law of nature is there and you can't escape. To every action there is equal and opposite reaction. This is the world's nature, the law of karma is that.

tamasya bahu rupena vestitar karma hetunar anta sanga bhavan teti sukha dukha samanitar ?

About the trees, the Manu is pronouncing these words. There the trees, they're of the same status with us but they're covered with thick and variegated ignorance now they've come to the birth of a tree, tamasya bahu rupena vestitar. None to be blamed, karma hetunar, his own karma is to be blamed, now he's as a tree. But his original position is equal to me. By his own bad karma he has been degraded to get a birth of a tree.

End of side A, 5.11.82, start of side B, 5/6.11.82.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: he will awake and he will arise. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

So be aware of your environment and your activity, your energy, how it should be utilised to take you to what direction. Be very careful and listen. Especially in this human life, there is possibility of choice here and in other births no choice. Only to go on with the duty that is imposed by nature to them. But here you can have the possibility of a free choice of your future life. But it is not found in other species, not even in the position of a (demi) god, it is not there, because they're only enjoying the fruit of their good karma. But free choice is only left to this human species. Jīva Goswāmī says:

labdhvā su-durlabham idaṁ bahu-sambhavānte mānuṣyam artha-dam anityam apīha dhīraḥ tūrṇaṁ yateta na pated anu-mṛtyu yāvan niḥśreyasāya viṣayaḥ khalu sarvataḥ syāt

["The human form of life is very rarely attained, and although temporary, gives us a chance to achieve the supreme goal of life. Therefore, those who are grave and intelligent should immediately strive for perfection before another death occurs. There are so many forms of life: the aquatics, the vegetable kingdom, the animals, the birds, ghosts and other living beings, but only in this human position do we hold the key to the complete solution of the problems of life."]

This serves the real purpose, this human birth, artha-dam anityam apīha dhīraḥ, but it is subtle and it is temporary, any moment I may lose this position. So we must not waste any moment, we shall begin. What is that, what is the special qualification that has been given to us now? Viṣayaḥ khalu sarvataḥ syāt, without this enquiry, in other things that you may be engaged in that will continue always. What are they?

Āhāra, nidrā, bhaya, maithuna, etc. (to eat, to sleep, to be under apprehension at every minute, and to have sense pleasure; the practices of animal life). If you go into the species of a dog you can sleep better than a human being. In a hog's body you will devour the stools as your food and you'll relish. So wherever you go, these things where you are engaging yourself at present, that won't be snatched from you, everywhere you'll find all those things, more efficiently. This āhāra, the food; nidrā, the sleep; bhaya, the apprehension; everywhere you'll get and it will be with you, in any sex, in any species.

But the enquiry for a new path is only here in the human species. So give up those stale things and engage yourself in this rare facility that is granted in this human birth. Enquire about yourself. Start immediately the enquiry about yourself and your prospect of life, what is real. Don't pass time idly. The warning is coming in this way.

Jīva Goswāmī says: "That below the human species they're unqualified because of their ...

vilokara hitrat ?

No faculty of judgement is sufficiently grown there, found there. And not found in the higher species, gods etc.

bhoga dinde satat tat ?

They're also unqualified for their special possibility of being engrossed in deep pleasure. They have already acquired facility to enjoy pleasure, pūrṇam, and they're deeply engaged to enjoy in that, deeply engaged. That won't allow them to come out of that present enjoyment and be engaged again in the search of their own self, and mentally that won't allow them. They're already intoxicated with the feeling of enjoyment, that sentiment, captured, and that won't allow them free choice. Deeply absorbed in enjoyment in higher species, devata and others etc. But only in the human position, in the via media, you're left in balance and you have possibility of using free will to begin a free search. This qualification is only with the human species and not in any other position in the creation.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! So we may stop here today.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: so Acyutānanda fasted there, he used to fast one day and a half then and again when he came here. (Dāmodara Mahārāja's son was given to me?)

that was finished. I fasted the whole of yesterday and today also so long I have not taken anything

Then, of course he stayed here for few days again and Govinda Mahārāja asked: "How have you taken this incident?"

He replied in a very good fashion. He told: "I do not mind it. Kṛṣṇa's dancing. Kṛṣṇa is mad, engaged in His own mad dancing and the waves of His dance going on all sides. And He has no time to look after anyone, especially insignificant persons like we are. Whether we are getting food or not is of no concern with Him. He's dancing in His own way. So Kṛṣṇa dancing and we are caught by the flow, we are cast hither, thither, inside and how we fair, He has no time to care for that." That was his answer. "He's dancing. And we must be satisfied from any position to see His dancing. He's dancing, this idea will feed us, should feed us, He's dancing."

Die to live, learn to die for Kṛṣṇa's satisfaction.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura writes, "dujani means Rādhā-Govinda. We are Their servants, slaves. They have every right over us, over me, so They can keep us or They can kill us, make or mar. That right is with Them. Anyhow, whether by killing me or saving me They may go on with Their own cheerfulness."

That should be our object of life. If it is necessary for me to sacrifice life for Their pleasure I am ready. If it is necessary to kill me for Their service I am ready equally. To live or to die, that should be equal to us. Only at every stage our prayer will be, "Let Them remain cheerful in Their pastimes. And for myself, whatever is necessary to maintain Their cheerful pastimes, we should accept that on our head, to die or to live."

That should be our attitude, moray rakhi, may keep us, or mabhi, may kill us, it does not matter, it matters nothing, our staying or going. But what is our inner necessity, that They may remain cheerful. That should be the object of our search. The suicidal squad, the kāma rūpa group, their temperament will be such. "For the cause of the country our lives dedicated." Whether to die or to live it is only for the country, it is understood by the Westerners but the object is such at present, to die for the country or to live for the country, they may understand.

But what is this? This is a negligent part of the whole infinite. And who is Kṛṣṇa? So many infinite are under His feet. Ananta-svayam, He's lying on the infinite. So many infinite, we may say, because infinite minus infinite is infinite. One and many, zero, one and many, no difference, many zero and one zero, no difference. Zero from zero, minus zero, minus zero is zero. Zero plus zero zero, zero into zero, zero, zero divided by zero. So infinite is also of that characteristic, equal characteristic with zero.

pūrṇam ādāya, pūrṇam evāvaśiṣyate

["The Personality of Godhead is perfect and complete, and because He is completely perfect, all emanations from Him, such as this phenomenal world, are perfectly equipped as complete wholes. Whatever is produced of the complete whole is also complete in itself. Because He is the complete whole, even though so many complete units emanate from Him, He remains the complete balance."] [Śrī Īśopaniṣad, Invocation]

Inconceivable, minus infinite from infinite, infinite remains, so the conception of our infinite is at the disposal of His grace. "Arjuna, whatever you can conceive, that forms My negligent one part."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

One day, Acyutānanda had an interview with me and asked some questions about the Holy Name, Divine Name and I replied and he took notes and Back To Godhead sent an article.....

Devotee: I remember that article Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: and there was mention of Charvak Ṛṣi, the ancient doctor, medicine, or Charak. His example I quoted there. Mahā Ṛṣi (Charvak?), his opinion about epidemic. He has written in his book that when in the name of justice, the court, pleader's, advocates, they're supposed to help the justice. But when they themselves do injustice, conceal the truth for their own selfish purpose, then there is an anomaly in the air vibration. That lying in the name of justice is a very subtle thing, most treacherous, and that creates a vibration in the atmosphere and by that atmosphere the water, the earth, and the plants and crops also, they're polluted, coming in contact with that atmosphere. And when that crop is taken, water taken, by the animals, then that breaks out as an epidemic. The beginning, the cause of the epidemic of the wholesale disease in a particular province, the cause is traced there. The atmosphere is polluted by the lies of those that stand as advocates of justice. So much degree of treachery in the name of justice when committed that pollutes the atmosphere in their contact the whole thing is polluted and when that food is taken a general epidemic breaks out. That he mentioned there in that article, the vibration, the Name, the Holy vibration, how that can effect this gross world. Perhaps to give example to that I cited that instance of Charvak Ṛṣi. And many other things about the Holy Name, the sound divine. That article was given in that Back To Godhead. He gave me the information that that was very popular, that article was very ...

Devotee: It was very nice. Much of Acyutānanda Swāmī's preaching in those "Indian days" was not from (Śrīla AC Bhaktivedānta) Swāmī Mahārāja's books but no-one complained, "this is not from Swāmī Mahārāja's books," because it was very high kaṭha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He lived here for nine months continuously. And then I saw that he's sitting there idle, of course hearing me and also reading books, I wanted to engage him in some service. With a few other brahmacārīs I sent him to Calcutta to collect some funding. But the brahmacārīs after a week came back and Acyutānanda also came with them. But they told that: "After reaching the Howrah Station, Acyutānanda vanished, and again, after finishing our collection, we came back to Howrah Station he joined."

Very wonderful. I asked Acyutānanda: "What's the matter? Where did you remain for a few days, five, six days?"

"In Kasimitra dharmaśālā," (an inexpensive residence set up especially for pilgrims) he told. He was there.

"Do you think that you should not do service for anyone but your Guru Mahārāja?"

"Yes. I want to serve my Guru Mahārāja."

Alright. Then I recommend Mādhava Mahārāja, to keep you there, and your proper field will be at Calcutta. There you will find English knowing people, these people, and try to canvass them to secure land in that place.

And he did, Mādhava Mahārāja accommodated him there and he met many a life there and managed to secure a person to pay for the land. Then the problem came, in whose name that land will be purchased? I told: They have no Indian nationality, I recommended Mādhava's mother's name, Pishima, Swāmī Mahārāja's youngest sister. She is our Godsister in harināma and in dīkṣa she came to take from me but I did not give any dīkṣa at that time, nor harināma, nothing, I sent her to Goswāmī Mahārāja and there she took initiation. And she paid me the money for the first publication of Prapanna- jīvanāmṛtam, Mādhava's mother, Swāmī Mahārāja's youngest sister, she paid for that. I told that in her name you can purchase the land here. But anyhow they managed but Swāmī Mahārāja has got American nationality so in her name it can be purchased, and that was done there. And Jayapataka Mahārāja said that: "Just at that time when that land transaction was going on, I joined here." I don't remember so much. Anyhow, then they began their work.

Have you got those letters?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What are they? I forgot. One Badrinārāyaṇa?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In your name?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Disappearance of Ṭhākura Narottama. This Kṛṣṇa Pañcamī, month of Kārtika.

[Kārtika is the lunar month of the autumn season, Oct-Nov, in which the Dāmodara form of the Lord is worshipped; represents Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī].

Kārtika, the name of the month, Kārtika, from Kīrttikā comes Kārtika. The origin is Kīrttikā. Kīrttikā is the name of a particular nakṣatra who was supposed to be the daughters of Dakṣa Prajāpati [a son of Brahmā].

[Nakṣatra means a star, constellation or lunar mansion, the moon's location within one of the twenty-seven sections of the zodiac, personified as daughters of Dakṣa married to the Moon].

All the nakṣatras, Aśvinī, Varunī, and wife of Candra, Moon, these twenty- seven nakṣatras, their wives have been introduced as wives of Candra, the Moon, and daughter of Dakṣa Prajāpati. And Dakṣa Prajāpati was also the father of Satī and she was married to Śiva, and that Dakṣa yajñā, all these things. So, there was a fashion (in Vraja-maṇḍal) to keep the name of the daughters according to that nakṣatra, we find. Rohinī was the name of Baladeva's mother, Revatī, another name, the last nakṣatra name, given to Baladeva's wife. Then Kīrttikā, this was the name of Vṛṣabhānu Mahārāja's wife, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī's mother.

Rādhārāṇī was found to float on a lotus and Vṛṣabhānu collected Her from there. They had no children, so they took Her, he was a chief of a particular portion, took Her from there. So one of the Names of Rādhārāṇī is Kārtikī, the daughter of Kīrttikā, so Kārtikī, "She who comes from Kīrttikā." Whose origin through motherly affection is Kīrttikā. So Kārtikī is one of the Names of Rādhārāṇī.

Sanātana Goswāmī has explained all these things. And because in Bhagavad-gītā we find: māsānām mārḡa-śīrṣo 'ham: "I am here. I am there."

[br̥hat-sāma tathā sām̐nām, gāyatrī chandrasām aham māsānām mārḡa-śīrṣo 'ham, ṛtūnām kusumākaraḥ]

["Of all the mantras in the Sāma-Veda I am the Br̥hat-sāma mantra which is uttered in prayer to Lord Indra, and of mantras in perfect prosody I am the holy Gāyatrī mantra. Of the months I am the foremost, Agrahāyaṇa, and of the seasons I am spring."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 10.35]

[vṛṣṇīnām vāsudevo 'smi, pāṇḍavānām dhanañjayaḥ munīnām apy aham vyāsaḥ, kavīnām uśanāḥ kaviḥ]

["Of the Yādavas I am Vāsudeva, of the Pāṇḍavas I am Arjuna, of the sages I am Vyāsadeva, and of the scholarly knowers of the scriptures I am Śukrācārya." [Bhagavad-gītā, 10.37]

"Pāṇḍavānāṁ dhanañjayaḥ, Amongst the Pāṇḍavas I am Dhananjaya. Amongst the months I am mārḡa-śīrṣo, Agrahāyaṇa [Nov-Dec]."

Kārtika [Oct-Nov] and then next Agrahāyaṇa. So Kārtika has some connection with Rādhārāṇī, with Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa is Agrahāyaṇa and just before that is Rādhikā, Kārtikī. So this Kārtika-vrata has got some special reference within cāturmāsya-vrata. Four months durable cāturmāsya-vrata generally observed by the sannyāsīns.

Mahāprabhu He took māvādī sannyāsa for pracāraka [preaching] purpose, He's also seen to observe this cāturmāsya. But a special stress is given to this last month of cāturmāsya that is this Kārtika, because it is connected with Kīrttikā and Kārtikī, Rādhārāṇī. So Vaiṣṇavas are very fond of observing this month. And also we find in Vṛndāvana the gopīs, they observe this vrata, taking vow the whole month of Kārtika. And they are seen to go on with worshipping Kātyānanī [the demigoddess to whom sixty-thousand ṛṣis prayed for birth from the womb of gopīs]. Praying before her:

nandagopa-sutaṁ devī patim me kurute namaḥ

Their general prayer was that, "Oh, You, Devī Yogamāyā, Kātyānanī, make arrangement for our marriage with the Son of Nanda." That was their main prayer. "That connects us with the Son of Nanda." With that prayer they observe the whole month with austerities, penances, so many rules and regulations they observed for that.

So Kārtika, Kīrttikā, Kārtika month is representation of Rādhārāṇī. And just after that: "māsānām mārḡa-śīrṣo 'ham, I am especially to be traced in the month of mārḡa-śīrṣo, Agrahāyaṇa [Nov-Dec]." We find in this Kārtika month.

And in this new moon, new moon and full moon, the new moon section, the pañcamī, the fifth day, that is the day of disappearance of Ṭhākura Narottama. And who is this Narottama Ṭhākura? There is a book named Narottama-Vilāsa. There it is elaborately mentioned about Narottama Ṭhākura. Narottama Ṭhākura he came in a rich family, ordinarily a rich family. His elder brother was Kṛṣṇa by name, Kṛṣṇacandra. Narottama Ṭhākura he did not marry, he remained all along the life of a brahmacārī.

Of course, before his birth perhaps, when Mahāprabhu went to Rāmakeli, after five years of His sannyāsa He came again to Navadvīpa. And from here He started for Vṛndāvana through the banks of the Ganges, along the banks of the Ganges and went to Rāmakeli where Rūpa and Sanātana were in service life at that time. And at that time He had to pass by the sight where Narottama was born. When this Ganges is divided into two, the padma (?) on that side balidaki (?) this side. Almost near the confluence just on the other side of padma (?), there was a land Kheturi. We visited the place. Narottama Ṭhākura installed there in his after life so many Vighras. But when Mahāprabhu was passing by on the other side of the Ganges and on the right side, opposite the Ganges was the birthplace of Narottama, Kheturi, Mahāprabhu, He shouted by taking the name of, "Narottama! Narottama!" At the top of His voice He shouted this name. But His followers could not understand. "Why does He say so, "Narottama! Narottama!" We are told in that way.

Anyhow, Mahāprabhu went and saw Rūpa and Sanātana and did not go to Vṛndāvana, came back and straight went to Śāntipura and from there to Purī again and then after a year He went to, from Purī via Benares He went straight to Vṛndāvana. So, we are told that Mahāprabhu knew, He of course knows everything, but still showed that any of His favourites, thereby Narottama expected to come soon.

There Narottama Ṭhākura he was born in a Kāyastha family, but well to do family. So the not well to do, the local people, used to refer to them as 'king.' Rāja Kṛṣṇa, some such, well to do family. And from the beginning his attitude was towards this kṛṣṇa-bhakti, automatically inspired by kṛṣṇa-bhakti, chanting, dancing, etc, in the boy time. When he was a little grown up, about fifteen or so, he anyhow came in connection with Śrīnivāsa Ācārya. And they came to Navadvīpa and circumambulation of all the different islands in Navadvīpa was first performed by them. Mahāprabhu's garden servant, Ísana, he showed them all the places of the pastimes of Mahāprabhu first.

So we are told, previous to that, first Nityānanda Prabhu along with Jīva Goswāmī, His circumambulation is the first, and next, this Narottama's and Śrīnivāsa Ācārya and Ísana. And the third parikramā was performed by one descendant of Advaita Prabhu later on. After that our Guru Mahārāja began this Navadvīpa parikramā and that is still continuing without gap, Navadvīpa parikramā. Now in different parties, but continuously it began about 1920 or so and that is continuously being performed without any stop every year.

Then, Narottama Ṭhākura, we are told, with Śrīnivāsa Ācārya and Śyāmānanda, they planned to go to Vṛndāvana. These three combined and went there. At that time, the Rūpa and Sanātana had already passed away while they were on the path, on the way. Jīva Goswāmī and Gopāla Bhaṭṭa Goswāmī, Raghunātha dāsa also, Lokanātha Goswāmī. And these three they lived there for some time. And Śrīnivāsa Ācārya took initiation from Gopāla Bhaṭṭa Goswāmī. And Narottama Ṭhākura took initiation from Lokanātha Goswāmī. And the third, Śyāmānanda, took initiation from (Śrī Hṛdaya Caitanya).

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And all sections of Rāmānuja, we differ from them, that Kṛṣṇa does not come, Kṛṣṇa is the most original and all others come, emanate from Him.

Devotee: The Āḷvārs were bhaktas, not so much philosophers?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, mostly they're devotees. Rāmānuja also devotees but he's also got recognition as the avatāra of Lakṣmaṇa, Rāmānuja's brother Lakṣmaṇa, Balarāma, representation of that, it is also said, one devotee. Anyhow they're worshipper of Nārāyaṇa, two and a half rasa.

Devotee: They are nitya-siddha, the Āḷvārs, eternally?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe they're nitya-siddha, we may accept that, nitya-siddha, but their connection with Vaikuṇṭha, two and a half rasa, hemisphere, the lower hemisphere.

Devotee: The stories are so beautiful of the bhakti, the stories of the Āḷvārs are very beautiful, I enjoy hearing them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What touched you there most, what?

Devotee: Vipra Nārāyaṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is their peculiarity, what peculiarity is there that touched you so much?

Devotee: Even the bhakta has gone away from Kṛṣṇa to chase māyā, Kṛṣṇa has come and taken and paid for his prostitute, out of love, to show His love for His bhakta, but even His bhakta has turned his back on Him, still He is coming to serve him, Kṛṣṇa is serving the bhakta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow him.

Devotee: Just as you have told the story about Viṣṇu Chitha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: O, Viṣṇu Chitha, his name Vipra Nārāyaṇa, another name, maybe.

Devotee: So that story where Viṣṇu is giving a gold plate from the temple for the prostitute, so he's saying that since the devotee he turned his back on the Lord, but still the Lord is helping him even when he's chasing after māyā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viṣṇu Chitha took it and presented to the prostitute, the prostitute could not keep it, there was a drum beat that this has been stolen and the prostitute had to give that. Viṣṇu Chitha when he came to know this, then a great reaction came in his mind, and he left everything again and went to his former temple service, joined there, but though he's a pāṣada, he displayed like this to preach the great nobility of the Lord. Grace. Viṣṇu Chitha was a pāṣada, eternal servant. He came to show a particular kind of grace of the Lord to the world.

The Lord is so generous, so magnanimous and He does, He stooped so low to satisfy the devotees lower propensities, comes and takes him up. To set such an example of the great and generous dealings of the Lord with His servants, to show, he came, but really these faults do not touch him, only a play. That we know because Āḷvār means they're pāṣada, they do not have such contamination, they come to play the role of an ordinary devotee so that to encourage them to accept Rangunathan as their Lord. In their lowest, meanest condition also He extends His hand to take up. All these examples shown there, the benevolence of the Lord, but he's really not contaminated.

Devotee: You're saying Āḷvārs are the paraphernalia of Viṣṇu?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, when they're pāṣada of Viṣṇu, yes, and they come to play the part here to encourage the people at large. "My Lord is so generous and graceful, gracious, that He comes to show, to take the devotees even from the midst of such things. Mean misbehaviour, so much so that he wants to go to the prostitute He supplies the money." Ha ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. This may not misguide us, we are to understand, we are to take it properly. "You do anything and everything for the sake of Your devotee."

Nimāi say's, there is another incident. A brāhmaṇa placed some, went with a prince for hunting, and though brāhmaṇa he threw an arrow in such a way, to such a place to kill a deer, in such condition that he was punished to become a hunter in his next life. A hunter class, has hunting as his livelihood, brāhmaṇa degraded into that position but he was a devotee at heart.

Then one Nārāyaṇa-śilā was found where he's killing the animal and shedding it and some weight, a piece of stone that is Śālagrāma, he put as the weighing scale, or something, this side is one kg, or one pound, and the pound, and when dealing with the solid things, one pound of flesh, though that weighing, weight of one pound, something like, that was a Śālagrāma-śilā was used as the weighing piece stone.

One brāhmaṇa came and suddenly found, "What are you doing, you hunter? This is Śālagrāma-śilā, you are using it as a weighing stone, piece of stone, what is this? Then what he'll do, my condition, you'll be doomed, what to do now? Give it to me and I shall cleanse, abhiṣeka, and then I shall begin pūja."

"Yes my lord you do that."

"Let me take all the Śālagrāma for Him." And worshipping got dream, dreams after dreams repeatedly.

"You fool. You have taken Me here to worship. I was very much happy there, I was swinging on the weighing machine of My devotee. I was very much happy there. I was enjoying swinging there and you have taken Me to show your pride that you are a brāhmaṇa and you can worship Me. Just put Me there or you will be finished."

Then again with folded palms the brāhmaṇa came, "Oh, I could not understand who are you, you are in such a form. I am presenting your Śālagrāma, you do as you like. He wants to make līlā with you in such condition. I am not fit. I am so much low in this."

It is also possible for Him for the sake of the devotee, He can stoop so low, come so low to the devotees because He's not to be contaminated, māyā cannot touch Him. In any place He can enjoy thoroughly, wherever He comes as I told before, the māyā withdraws and the Yoga-Māyā is surrounding Him everywhere. Not contaminated, as Sītā was not contaminated.

In Bhagavad-gītā ... "My own māyā, Yoga-Māyā, svarūpa-śakti, surrounding Me wherever I go it pushes back this Mahā-Maya, pushes it back, it's always surrounding Me wherever I go. It can't touch Me."

Wherever the sun goes the darkness vanishes, something like that, whenever the light goes the darkness vanishes, misconception vanishes. He can do anything and everything. He's not under any condition, though sometimes to help us He shows that He's practicing and respecting some rules of śāstric law, but still He's above everything, everything under Him. His presence is the highest purity and He does not want to invite purity from His activity, or anything as such, purity emanates from Him.

Devotee: A book I'm trying to make, I'm trying to get the loving feelings of Kṛṣṇa across to the devotees, to Americans, who're mostly not able to follow four rules and regulations, but if they can just get a feeling of Kṛṣṇa's kindness. I want to show the loving dealings of the Lord and His devotees but the people who will read the book they do not follow the principles of devotion, so will they ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So they will wait for such exceptional provision. I shall try to take that position of that hunter, so low I shall go that He will have to come to draw His attention. I go forward in the lowest plane, it will encourage them.

Devotee: He's saying that if he can show these loving exchanges of the Lord and His devotees, will not these people who're in such a low position, who do not follow the regulative principles of devotion, be attracted.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So this is not for the general, but it is the show of His intensity of His grace towards the low, but it is not meant to encourage the rogues. The mercy, the special dealing, that is not for all, not for all. Before they have received such fortune of this great particular attention of the authority, they had to do much, then they have acquired such. The special dealings, special mercy, and it is not for ordinary people, it is for the devotee of higher type. It has been shown, it is exception, mercy is not for the general, justice is for the general public, but mercy is a special thing, but it is there.

If anyone imitates this he will be under. The imitationists will be ruined, will go to imitate and they will be doomed. If due to misunderstanding, foolishness, anyone comes to imitate he will surely have to die. Proper approach to everything, that will help us, improper approach will ruin us, proper approach. Vraja līlā is there... These three qualifications are necessary to approach higher things, śraddhā, out of regard. Then another, (anusrinyard?), from a proper source, through proper source you must come in contact with the higher substance. And the third, you must have self control, dhīra, who is not a slave of the senses. Then such careful approach will give you nectar. Otherwise as Śiva drank poison, but that was ornamental to His throat, but without Śiva anyone goes and drinks the poison he's sure to die.

So Kṛṣṇa-līlā, all these things are similar, nectar to some, to the honest approacher, and the imitator, the rogue class, they're doomed by the same thing. The same law protects the honest and suppresses the dishonest, one thing. The proper approach of everything will be like nectar and improper will draw offences, improper approach, that will create fresh offences and to keep us down, na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati.

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."] (Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40)

The honest approacher, they're always saved, and these dishonest designers they're doomed. No diplomacy will have any effect there rather the simple will conquer. Who is a brāhmaṇa, who is simple, or non artificial. Artificialism, that hypocrisy is suicidal. Straight, simple and heartfelt, all these and they will...

Birds of the same feather flock together. The good can approach the good, and the bad if they come to touch the good they will be deceived.

Devotee: I'm curious, what was the destination of Mīrābāī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If her attention comes to appreciate the real servitors of the Lord, sādhu-saṅga, she may be purified. When her ambition, that may be a little pure, but it is ambitious only to give recognition to Kṛṣṇa and underline His followers, His eternal servitors, but it is unreal, it may be imaginary, crossing so many eternal servitors of different functions. She will connect direct with Kṛṣṇa, that is Kṛṣṇa who is present beyond His devotees, all the sections of devotees, she's only touching that and not real Kṛṣṇa with all His paraphernalia, Kṛṣṇa in His real conception. A vague Kṛṣṇa, the lustre of Kṛṣṇa, no particular discrimination about real Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa proper. He's surrounded with different types of eternal servitors, of different intensity, and not to see them, to overlook them, is not to have a proper sight of Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa means His family, eternal family, they're also within Kṛṣṇa. Crossing them one insolent person cannot jump to Kṛṣṇa Himself, only through them.

Devotee: What of Kubja, did not Kubja jump?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kubja, that is chance coincidence, not eternal position, an eternal position is also like that. His gain is not to be compared with that of the gopīs or others, he's rather holding some indirect position.

Devotee: So in the Vasudeva conception, Vasudeva means Kṛṣṇa alone?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mere Vasudeva, (ekola vasudeva?) Not the son of Vasudeva, Vasudeva in the sense that everything in Him and He is everywhere. That Vasudeva. But her taste, Mīrābāī's taste is not for that Vasudeva. Her taste is for that Vasudeva that is that Nandanandan Kṛṣṇa, but she's not very scrutinizingly conscious of Nandana. She wants Vṛndāvana-candra but Vṛndāvana-candra is not approachable by really, vaguely, vague worshipper, but not settled, from a long distance, her connection, not entered into the paraphernalia, in līlā. Name, then colour of figure, rūpa, then parikar, and then līlā. The gradual approach towards Him, first through sound, the sound God, and then the beautiful God, and then the so many served God, so many serving God, and then the pastimes of the God. Deeper and deeper. What is from far away from the outskirts, is in touch with Kṛṣṇa, but not that who're in touch with the sun, partly from far off, but with the sun not with the moon or stars, we're connected with the sun far off, but how much do we know about the sun proper from far connection. So that is also something.

Devotee: What was the position of Sūradāsa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sūradāsa, I don't study much. I was attracted by the instruction of Mahāprabhu mainly and other four ācāryas. Madhvācārya, Viṣṇusvāmī, Nimbarka, and the recognised sections of the Vaiṣṇava devotees, and though are outsiders they have got some law of devotion. Not very systematic, we have not studied details, but anything which is in praise of Kṛṣṇa, Nārāyaṇa, that is more or less official, but how far, we are to examine it, scrutinizingly, then we can give some opinion. I have not gone through the writings, the advices, instructions of (Kararas?) or (Kavi?) but roughly they're raw devotionalists, not very particularised, not details.

Jīva Gosvāmī has written that there are many classes of devotees, even devotees of Kṛṣṇa, but as Rūpa and Sanātana has given to us such a devotee we have never found in the history of devotion. What Rūpa and Sanātana has given, it is unprecedented. Was not given to the world before, such a degree of devotion unknown to the world ever. If you quote something from Sūradāsa, or some instruction from (Gabhīr?) I can analyse that, in the light of the gift of Rūpa and Sanātana. What will be the valuation of that I can try to make out. I have not gone through that.

Devotee: I just want to make comparison...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When you will incite something, then I may give some opinion that this position is here and not there, that I can say somewhat. I know my own boundary, the acquaintance of my own property, to certain extent, but I do not know what is possessed by so many others. Land, property, something, my own father's property, I keep some information about my father's property, something like that. I have not surveyed all the properties of the world, but at the same time I'm proud about the dignity and value of my father's property. I can compare with that this is the most efficient and productive, most productive. I can make statement about that to certain extent.

Devotee: One thing has always disturbed me about Islam and Hinduism, or Islam and the Vaiṣṇava's, they're so bent on destroying the Vaiṣṇavism, Moslems.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, they're intolerant, though some sort of theistic conception behind them, but this attacking, that is a brutal thing, attacking others cannot be accepted as a part of religious conception.

Devotee: Are they not taking justification from their Koran?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't know whether Koran has provided for such heinous action, because this human life is very valuable. The defect of the Christianity and the Moslem theory is here, there's no transmigration of the soul. Different births of the soul have no recognition there, that is one defect, another, that without human beings, the animals and the trees, they have got no soul, no personality, no individual position. But the Hinduism and the Vedic religion has got greatest accommodative nature, trees, creatures, stones, there is also life, there is personality covered with thick ignorance. Birth and rebirth, and by the bad karma one will have to go to be a tree, to be a creature, to be a stone, but life is there within and within the life there is individual consciousness, that is buried under the stony materials. So human life has been considered to be the most valuable period of the eternal soul that are suffering from māyā, misunderstanding, because from here we can have a free choice. In other positions whether higher or lower, more or less they're enjoying or suffering the fruit of their past karma.

And so Jīva Gosvāmī say's, "The lower creation, they're thickly coated with ignorance, not able to take any initiative for their own, they're forced to suffer from their previous bad karma. No possibility of taking any new choice. And in the higher creation, the gods, they're also so much absorbed in their enjoyment. These are covered by thick layer, buried under suffering, and they are also buried under enjoyment. Only the balance is in the human section, they can have free choice for their future life. So this is the most valuable life, human life, and if it is killed, finished, then of course his chance gone." In the name of religion, there is dharma (yudya?)

Also in the Gītā according to the stages, "Those that won't take the council, the good instruction, and they're opposing, they're coming to kill us, and they may be killed. Those that are approaching Me with some most mischievous dreadful attack, he may be killed, effaced, removed totally, done away with." But it depends on the stage of the progressing soul, in different stages one will...Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has said that after hearing Bhagavad-gītā instructions Arjuna went to fight, but if Uddhava was there he would not have gone to fight, though a kṣatriya he would have gone to Badarikāśrama.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

He would have gone, the Uddhava. Arjuna went to fight again after hearing the whole Bhagavad-gītā, but if Uddhava had been there the Gītā gave him impetus to go away to jungle and serve Kṛṣṇa. According to the different cases the application is different.

Devotee: We accept Madhvācārya, but they do not hold.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not all whole, as it is, partial. Madhvācārya say's that the gopī's were all apsarās, heavenly prostitutes. We're not one with him in that, we rather hate it. If we adore the opinion of Mahāprabhu, we can realize it, we can revere love, the representation of Vṛndāvana as given by Mahāprabhu, then we can't tolerate to hear. Though it is mentioned in the scriptures that has been explained that such section of āveśa, they were absorbed there. Just as Drona was absorbed in Nanda, and similarly, but really they are not so. Those that were prostitutes they became most favourite of Kṛṣṇa. The Kṛṣṇa's favour is so much easy to get? Ha. Then what is the position of Kṛṣṇa if, and what Uddhava say's,

"If I get the touch of the dust of the gopīs on my head, then I want to be a creeper." How, the valuation goes where, the valuation of the position of the gopīs, with the saying of Uddhava, and Uddhava's position come direct from Kṛṣṇa, "That you are the highest of all My devotees." And that Uddhava say's, "That I shall consider myself fortunate if I get the feet dust of the gopīs." Are they prostitutes of the heaven?

Devotee: Why is there such reference?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Reference in so-called scriptures and that has been harmonised in this way by the higher thinkers. Anyhow they come, just as a ghost comes to a human being, samabeśa, something like tendency, particular. Māyā Sītā, something like, you see māyā Sītā was accepted, and the service of real Sītā, and the service of māyā Sītā. How far, what is the difference between Sītā real and the Sītā māyā, what is the difference? Māyā is also doing some service in the whole. So in that sense one who giving the punishment, and when I awake from the stage of punishment, then I may show my gratitude to the punisher. "You punished me so much....."

End of side A, start of side B, 13,14-11-82

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Doing some service, I was connected with Him, don't do, aggrieved, consolation came from the highest authority. "You are also connected, a little far off, I am everywhere, I am with you also, don't be aggrieved." Consolation, but still the gradation is there.

Devotee: Questions arising in this connection, should I raise those questions?

Devotee: When anything is connected with the Supreme Reality, with the Godhead, it's super mundane, it's transcendental, so when God is coming to rescue something, ultimately that is considered to be līlā...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Everywhere there is gradation, there is degree, intensity.

Devotee: That is on the plane of perfect reality Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What do you mean by perfect? Perfect if we are to say, who is in this side of Rādhārāṇī, and when come in the side of gopī, little less, in this way the gradation comes to the extreme.

Devotee: Yes but nirguṇa plane is not the plane of perfect realization.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nirguṇa plane is not one and the same everywhere. Though nirguṇa, there is also intensity, intensity, otherwise who are we to explain the gradation in Vaikuṇṭha? Vaikuntha is generally nirguṇa, but in nirguṇa according to intensity, there is degree of nirguṇa.

Devotee: Anyway I mean that the perfect plane of reality means on the whole, not scrutinisingly, so when ultimately everything is considered to be the pastimes...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nirguṇa begins from Brahmaloḥa, nirguṇa begins from Virajā also you can say. Nirguṇa, the verge, then Brahmaloḥa, stages, stage by stage, nirguṇa is developing, up to Vaikuṇṭha, then up to Goloka, then Vṛndāvana, Vṛndāvana amongst different sections, nirguṇa, the developing is also all through.

Devotee: Mahārāja, whatever is considered to be the positive pastimes of Godhead, what is to satisfy...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In positive also there is degree.

Devotee: So that is līlā Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes in līlā that is also to be measured by intensity.

Devotee: And that is on the transcendental plane, on the nirguṇa plane, is it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nirguṇa maybe. The area of sun, the intensity of light is not always equal.

Devotee: So when God is coming down to this mundane level, that is no more a mundane level?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The density of darkness can be measured and light also can be measured, both light and darkness. Everything submits to measurement. There is degree, and the coldness and the heat, heat general and cold, but there is also degree, everywhere there is degree. Acintya bhedābheda, pure acintya bhedābheda. The degree, the measurement, measurement is generally the characteristic of this māyic world, but even measurement is possible in the Infinite. Though Infinite there is also measurement there, we are told, because the gradation in the conception of the Lord.

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja, my question is when God is coming down to this mundane level it is no more mundane, it is transcendental then?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Which is transcendental?

Devotee: Whatever is connected with the Lord.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no. The Śiśupāla position, very near to God but still very far from God, physically may be near to God, we conceive a physical body, we see, and then physical other things very near, but they're far off in the measurement of quality.

Devotee: But where there is positive connection with God?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Positive connection there is also intense and less intense connection. Why do you eliminate that? Intensity, degree of intensity, why do you eliminate?

Devotee: No, just to make difference between this mundane...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the meaning that He does not sit at all in the heart of the yogī? The question of intensity. "I am everywhere, I am nowhere, and I am partly here, and there in more degree, and in the highest degree there." Why do you ignore this?

Devotee: Is there any difference Mahārāja between mundane and super mundane, is there any clear difference?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In mundane also there is degree of mundanity, intensity of māyā and then less māyā, māyābhāsa, everywhere there is question of degree.

Devotee: My point is this Mahārāja, when God is coming with the connection with the mundane world, it is no more mundane, it is then transcendental, is it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What do you say mundane? Sunrise but sun's near heat in the nearness of sun and far off, that is equal? God is coming, what do you mean coming to whom? The flesh is coming to the flesh, figure is coming to the figure, that is the conception of God? He's coming very near to you, He won't be recognized even as God. What is this? God's coming means what? He has come to you. Caitanya Deva came, Kṛṣṇa came, but how many could recognize Him as Kṛṣṇa? And if they do not recognize then their bodily conception of nearness that will be the criterion? This is all m̄yā, in the real calculation, there is far off calculation, far off, and the apparent calculation they're very near. This m̄yic calculation very near and real calculation far off.

Devotee: When a devotee apparently seems to be fallen down, but Kṛṣṇa is coming to rescue that devotee, actually really he's not fallen soul...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa also seeing they come down. Rāmacandra looking for His wife, what is this? This is m̄yā? What about devotee? It is show to encourage people to some sort of duty.

Devotee: Is it m̄yā above Adhokṣaja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is Adhokṣaja, we cannot detect the whole thing. It is all play to us, show, but we can, according to our position, we can get some instruction from those examples.

Devotee: I wanted to mean that Mahārāja literally, that these līlā's always nirguṇa, also there's some touch of mahā-m̄yā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nirguṇa and there gradation, all cannot get same and similar instruction, different sections receive different instructions from one līlā. Kṛṣṇa entering into the retina of Kaṁsa, different sections are seeing Him in different colour, different way, but one and the same thing, it is He controls.

Devotee: Yes, originally it is nirguṇa, līlā of Rāmacandra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nirguṇa, and what guṇa is being apparently emanating from Him, that depends on the appreciation, appreciating party of different sections, some appreciating Him as this, some in another way, according to their own spectacle. And He controls how He will reveal Himself to one and another section, individual or a group, how He will reveal Himself, He's controlling. The key is in His hand, how He will express Himself to whom, the key is within His hand. Whom even how, both, tena lobha, he gets conception of Him, and he and how He is, both types, and many other types. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: There is one point about reincarnation that I have trouble understanding. How does a soul benefit by being in the ignorance of an animal body, how can it learn anything?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When they're handled by the agents of the Lord in any way, the agents, the carriers of truth, come to utilize them in any way, that ajñāta- sukṛti begins there, that accumulated, then gets some initiation in higher stage. When a man due to accident, a man unconscious falling in the street, he cannot help the doctor, the outsider comes and takes care, then gets consciousness back, then he can co-operate with the doctor and nurse, "I am feeling such pain, such pain, will you give me help in this way."

Something like that, in unconscious state only outside help may help me to get my consciousness to co-operate. Outside, and that help comes from the benevolent section, that is from the God side, the good persons they come to help the unconscious man.

So stonified soul cannot assert himself in any way, just as a great offender is kept in a cell and under chain, so they are chained, so culprit, but help can come to them from outside benevolent persons. They use them, the stone may be used for the purpose of service in any way, the fuel may be used as to serve the mahā-prasādam to, to boil mahā-prasādam, the stone is used, the soul of the tree is benefited thereby. In this way passively used for the service of the Lord, in this way the sukṛti gradually develops in him and take up. They cannot take initiative, but other's help comes to rescue at that stage.

Devotee: But if one in mundane society commits a crime he's put in jail, he must suffer in jail, but he can think about what he has done and then he can see his mistake.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not always, not in all cases, some revolt for greater revenge, comes out of the jail, comes out with greater revenge. There are such sections also, but some sober good section, they get some awakening that I have done wrong, a particular section, but some section again repeats it, and then another section, that punishment is final, not again to go to commit. Different stages will give different results.

Devotee: So they call this rehabilitation, that the punishment should bring about some good. So he's saying how does the soul going into a body of an animal, how will that bring about good for that soul if he cannot think.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because by suffering the previous karma, that diminishes by suffering and gradually he comes to be purified.

Devotee: It makes him more humble.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But the connection with Kṛṣṇa, with the super area, that can come only by the handling of the devotees, the agents of that world, but ordinary purification from tama guṇa, raja guṇa, satya guṇa, that in course of time comes as usual. In the misunderstood world there is satya guṇa, raja guṇa, tama guṇa, but in cyclic order, cyclic order.

When up they're robbing the lower, and incurring debt, loan, and to clear off the loan they have to go down, and then the loan giver, money lender exacts the money, and then I am out of loan and go high, and again go up, but as much as I go up I enjoy, I exploit others. Without exploitation no existence is possible in this māyic world. I have to exploit and to exploit means to get loan, to make loan to whom we exploit. Then we have to go down and they get chance of exploiting me in this exploitation, and to clear the debt we are rolling, going up and down in this.

But to go out of this vicious circle of exploitation that requires that some help will come from the world of dedication to me and take my soul up there, from this mental colour, prejudice. That is sukṛti.

Any other short questions from you? No, then we are to close the class now, already two and a half hours I have given.

That is also not desirable for the higher section. Do you understand my point?

Devotee: No I'm sorry I did not understand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Like Darwin theory, suppose if to compare, of the history in general we begin from monkey, gorilla, how do you think it? Alexander, Hanibal, Napoleon, Julius Caesar, you are writing history about them, and you are placing some gorilla, some monkey in the list, and begin comparison from there, then how will it show to the normal thinking man, that he's mixing with whom, connection with whom. The Darwin theory it will be alright, from fossil everything is coming evolution, ha, in that Darwin theory.

In darkness the white will depend on the criticism in the realistic vision basis, and it is desirable that comparison among the nearer purity, the standard of purity, the standard of theistic conception must be there.

Even you do not find theism in Buddha, atheist Buddha, Epicurus, Milne, Hulme, they're atheists. So if you draw, if you come to Christ and begin from Hulme and Milne, a peculiar, it will be something like that.

Some say that we have recognition only for holy men, but what is the standard of holiness, without thinking of God can anyone be holy? No recognition of God but only of liberation, and only of worshipping so many saints based on morality, no existence of God accepted, what is there? All rubbish, where there is no conception, no acceptance that God is there, all rubbish, and to take them in the same, in the near comparison with the theistic that will be offensive.

Devotee: No, I did not plan that. It was just the Vaiṣṇava's, only Vaiṣṇava's.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vaiṣṇava's also, saṁguṇa and nirguṇa, two sections. The Śāṅkara, others, they also worship Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa, there are so many, that one of Kali, one of Śiva, like that, they're not proper Vaiṣṇava's. All coming and going and Viṣṇu is nirguṇa. Nirguṇa means as Hegel says everything, "He is by Itself and for Itself." These two criterion must be there, He's by Itself, none has produced Him and He's for Himself, He does not exist to fulfil, to satisfy another entity. That is Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa. And who are born, who are created and he has got death, finish, they should not come in this jurisdiction that concocted Viṣṇu, Vaiṣṇava, so many concocted Vaiṣṇava there. Everything imagination, means misconception finishes, nothing remains. What is the value of that Vaiṣṇavism?

Devotee: Yes, there is one man in America, he's worshipping Rāma, but he says...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rāma is also like that, Rāma (paṇḍita?), Rāma is created, Rāma is finished. Eternal, non-created, ever existing, and the most important figure is, He's for Himself, He is not to satisfy any other entity, everything for Him, He's the only enjoyer.

That is līlā, ahaitukī, apratihātā, bhakti, bhakta, Bhagavān, ahaitukī, causeless, and apratihātā, irresistible, causeless existence and irresistible vibration, movement. That is nirguṇa and temporary production that cannot be nirguṇa, that is concoction, that is misconception, partial conception, shallow conception, superficial conception of the truth, rather misconception, misunderstanding.

So you are to understand first the difference between what is theism and what is atheism, and the development different form of atheism and theism, different instalments of theism, otherwise you will handle, the people will say, "Oh, it is a very good book." But the ultimate result in you, the reaction in you, all the applause of all the ordinary foolish people, they'll have recur reaction in you, your soul. For every action there is equal and opposite reaction. With a false philosophy you will help them for their misguidance, you'll be responsible for that. With this risk go on with your campaign.

Devotee: I am afraid, that's why I come here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So you are to know it yourself, what is what, to know what is what is not a very cheap thing.

Devotee: I want them to feel affection for Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (sanātana kṛṣṇa prema nilokena hoy?)
Mahāprabhu says, "In this human race it never comes generally, (nilokena hoy?)

And one drop can inundate the whole universe it is such, eka bindhu jagat dubai. The conception of such thing, one drop is sufficient to inundate, overflow the whole creation, kṛṣṇa-prema, the love divine of Kṛṣṇa is such and never to be found in this human section in the universe, it is so valuable and so precious and not to be found anywhere and everywhere. How to get that and then when He has given the inspiration "go and speak about Me", then we can do it. He will give supply from that ground when such inspiration we shall get, that "speak about Me, give Me to the world", then He'll be at the background, caitya guru, and He will push things to me.

Kavirāj Gosvāmī has written, "I am not writing, but someone is making me an instrument to write."

Sanātana Gosvāmī says, "Who am I? I am describing about the harem of Kṛṣṇa, dvārukā maiheshi? this maiheshi is such, that maiheshi is such, this queen is of this temperament, that queen that temperament, these comparisons. Who am I, a trespasser into the harem of Kṛṣṇa. I want to describe about the different mentality of the queens of Kṛṣṇa, but someone is forcibly holding the pen, and forcibly made to write, I am a mere instrument."

The writing, such writing, they're healthy, they will help the people, and they will deliver the sinners, otherwise.....

When Devaṛṣi Nārada came to Badrikāśrama to give the impression for the writing of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, there ten ślokaś given by Nārada, there he mentions...

"However ornamental the writings may be, but the Kṛṣṇa is not there all rubbish, and Kṛṣṇa is there and the ornamental language may not be there, still it can give us vitality for the higher improvement of life."

Eliminate what is, what is God, what is non God, what is theism proper, what is atheism. Even in the garb of theism, atheism has been supplied by many of the so called stalwart ācāryas, leaders of the religious world. You are to know, to discriminate, what is what, and then when you get some inspiration you go on.

A particle of that Infinite nectar, a particle, that will suffice as I told from Mahāprabhu, only one drop can inundate the whole how [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāj did, no backing, no money, nothing of the kind. He went only with God overhead, heart within, God overhead. He landed on American soil and everything came to help him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. With pure heart which is exclusively devoted for Kṛṣṇa, for Kṛṣṇa's mercy to spread to the world. How? Only ten years. Wonder of wonder what has been done through him, not a human beings work.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Exclusive devotion, eliminative, here the world is full of rubbish knowledge, to eliminate that thing.

bahūnāṁ janmanām ante, jñānavān mām prapadyate vāsudevaḥ sarvaṁ iti, sa mahātmā sudurlabhaḥ

"After many, many births and deaths, one who is actually in knowledge surrenders unto Me, knowing Me to be the cause of all causes and all that is. Such a great soul is very rare."] (Bhagavad-gītā, 7.19)

"Genius, so many genius. After many, many, birth and death, those religious genius, they come to realize My position who am I really." Kṛṣṇa says, "And when they can find Me."

Before we are a part of that ultimate reality, we are not a small thing.
"That was their pride."

We are also a part, a spark of the sun, we are not to be neglected.

"This sort of egotistic pride captured them, but when, bahūnām janmanām, but when they can have a touch of reality, then their head is bowed down."

"O Infinite, Infinite, an infinitesimal small drop, how that great Infinite, surrender." No other alternative but surrendering the whole to Him, by His grace when He reveals Himself, that Puruṣottama Vasudeva, then all the proud calculationists, philosophers, or so many scholars, they bow down their head. Unknown and unknowable, only to be known by His grace, His mercy, His goodwill. No other capital, no capital left this side to know Him, by which we can describe Him and give it to the world. Not a thing of that type. I shall take and distribute, only be instrumental to Him, you can be used by Him, you can't go to use Him to suit your purpose, not a commodity of the market. Surrender and then you will have according to the degree of your surrendering, and done no independent work, then He will appoint you, give, attach you duty, "Do this."

That sort of work will begin, that is service. The inspiration will come from that centre, you are His, you are not an independent entity, His slave, and detached from that dignified slavery, there is the rub. He's for Himself and everything is instrumental for His action, His līlā. That is normal position otherwise all diseased position, that is healthy position, to become instrument cent per cent at His hand. This is what Bhāgavatam says.....A little jealousy, if we do not accept such creed you have certainly some sort of jealousy in you. You cannot tolerate the autocracy of the Absolute Good, so something wrong in you, something wrong in me, so long as I cannot tolerate the autocracy of the Absolute Good. Absolute Good, He will, according to sweet will, He will spread Himself and then goodness will be distributed to every corner of the world, and whenever one goes to limit it, he's of demonic spirit. Cent per cent submission, surrender, then He will come, yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas. Neither by scholarship, or extraordinary memory, we can capture Him and give it to others.

Not by oratory, or by poetry, a big poet, epic maker, all these no qualifications to give it to the world, nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo. Extensive study, all not up to mark, all combined not up to mark, to know Him, only all right reserved. Only to whom He wants to know to make Himself known, and to particular extent, and he will know Him to that extent. He's free in all respects, full liberty with Him. All others misconception, plodding in the misconceived world in different stages. This is nirguṇa. After proper liberation we can come in touch with that world, can catch the waves, can read the waves of that fundamental substance, otherwise unknown and unknowable. Finite cannot know Infinite. Infinite can make Himself known to finite. That is our solace, so we are to follow a particular path to make us qualified according to His agents, then to come in touch, and then patiently under the direction of those agents we are to advance, go on, go forward, praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā. Intellectual approach is not real approach in that transcendental area. Intellect has nothing to do. His sweet will, it comes down I can, "Oh, this is such, wonderfully I shall have to have a conception, Oh it is such, when He comes to reveal to me."

["Some see the soul as amazing, some describe him as amazing, and some hear of him as amazing, while others, even after hearing about him, cannot understand him at all."] (Bhagavad-gītā, 2.29)

It is told about the jīva soul, the ātma, jīvātma is so wonderful, what about Paramātmā, and the Nārāyaṇa, and Kṛṣṇa? All mystic of the mystic of the mystic of the mystic, most mystic. Gaura Hari bol. Kleśa-ghnī, Rūpa Gosvāmī says as inspired by Śrī Caitanyadeva, kleśa-ghnī, the first result, one who gives himself rightly towards Kṛṣṇa, kleśa-ghnī. The bhakti, the devotion proper, the first thing, kleśa-ghnī, all sorts of affliction will go away, śubhadā, then the auspicious, the goodness will come in vision, mokṣa, laghutā-kṛt, the third stage, leaving the salvation, the emancipation will seem to be of very small value, mere emancipation...

the presence of such devotion, which is very rarely attained, the embodiment of the deepest ecstasy, and the attractor of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Himself.")(Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrvva, 1.17)

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So the conception of God and man, when they may be dissolved and only Brahma, that has got existence, no special character of existence is possible. Something like chaotic, no cosmos, chaos has also got some movement but this is not that. A static conscious substance, that is at the root of everything, but anyhow, a misconception over it began and this world we have out of that, Māyāvādī. This misconception has no beginning but śanta, it may be ended, anādi śanta not anādi ananta, Brahma is anādi ananta, māyā is anādi śanta. It may be stopped but it has got no beginning. This is māyā, anyhow, but we can get out of māyā, that may be fully squeezed, the śanta.

So the Vaiṣṇava's say that Śaṅkara is Buddhist in disguise because Buddhists do not have any recognition of the eternity of jīva soul, and Śaṅkara is also like that. No eternal conception of jīva soul, individual.

Only difference is that Buddha has no recognition of the revealed scriptures but Śaṅkara has accepted the revealed scriptures, but gave his concocted interpretation while explaining the revealed scriptures. The Buddhist opinion has been thrust on the...

The Śaṅkara is more dangerous than the Buddhists, they are clear. "I don't have any recognition for the revealed scriptures, our attempt is based on reason." But Śaṅkara accepts revealed scriptures but gives his own interpretation into it, because both of them do not recognise the eternity of the jīva soul.

na jāyate mriyate vā kadācin, nāyaṁ bhūtvā bhavitā vā na bhūyaḥ ajo nityaḥ śāśvato 'yaṁ purāṇo, na hanyate hanyamāne śarīre

[The soul is never born and never dies, nor does he repeatedly come into being and undergo expansion, because he is unborn and eternal. He is inexhaustible, ever-youthful yet ancient. Although the body is subject to birth and death, the soul is never destroyed.] (Bhagavad-gītā, 2.20)

In Bhagavad-gītā and in Upaniṣad.

nityo nityānāṁ cetanaś-cetanānāṁ, eko bahūnāṁ yo vidadhāti kāmān tam ātmasthaṁ ye 'nupaśyanti dhīrās teṣāṁ śāntiḥ śāśvatī netareṣāṁ

[“Of the innumerable, eternal, conscious beings, there is one eternal Supreme Being. That Supreme Lord is the maintainer of the innumerable living beings in terms of their different situations, according to individual work and reaction of work. That Supreme Lord is also, by His expansion as Paramātmā, present within the heart of every living being. Only those saintly persons who can see, within and without, that same Supreme Lord, can actually attain to perfect and eternal peace.”] (Kāṭha Upaniṣad 2.2.13)

With the eternal amongst many eternal substances, there are bahū, there are many eternal things and He is the principal of that. In Upaniṣads, in Bhagavad- gītā, everywhere, jīva is nitya, soul is immortal, but according to Śaṅkara, "Soul is ultimately mortal though this transmigration, different bodies according to karma he will have to accept, but ultimately after liberation jīva does not, individual soul does not exist, neither God exists. Only that non differentiated mass of spiritual substance is there, that is Brahma." Buddha has no recognition of that mass of light as Brahma, but they say prakṛti. The force is there and this different type of forces acting together and that will be finished, and there may be a force like darkness, may or may not be, Virajā.

Devotee: Why does this Śaṅkara philosophy have such appeal to people in general?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because it gives harmony to all the sections of worshippers of all different types of gods, a compromise. There are so many worshippers of so many gods and he harmonizes them. "What you are doing it is alright. You are worshipping Kālī, you are worshipping Gaṇeśa, you are worshipping Surya, you are worshipping Agni, you are worshipping Viṣṇu. I accept all, but for the time being, to certain extent, and then it will end in the attainment of Brahma. You accept this on the end and I will accept you all." And there was colour of accepting the Veda and Upaniṣad, and he gave such sort of meaning and embraced them all. And another thing for his popularity he was a very intellectual giant. He fought against the Buddhists who are out and out atheists, and he with the colour of theism, he fought with the atheist of number one, the Buddhists, and his success in that gave him popularity.

Devotee: When the Vaiṣṇava is asked why there are so many religions, theistic religions, one is worshipping Allah, one is worshipping Christ, so many differences. They ask a Vaiṣṇava why are there so many different religions under the banner of theism, why so many different theistic conceptions?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: According to the different stages of theistic receiving capacity, different groups, suiting to the mass of different sections, by instalments in different ways they have been disputed. Varsana mostly, mostly they're worshipping so many demigods who are in possession of some power in the nature, to get, by their grace, their desired thing, they're worshipping that. Though there, seeking for good health goes for some general satisfaction of any last desire goes to Kali. Then for property and resources, goes to fire, Agni. And who wants knowledge goes to Śiva, his Śiva has got versatile knowledge of this medicine. Then this yoga, then this music, then His indifference, all these many qualifications are concentrated in Śiva, and also the penance all combined, so many go to worship Śiva for knowledge. And those that want mukti, they go to Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa, and this Nārāyaṇa of Śaṅkara, that is a part of māyā. Śiva is also so but He's trying to get out of māyā, master of māyā. In this way He has been represented.

So according to one's choice, inner necessity, while wandering in these different stages of misunderstanding, they select their leader, "That he will be able, my aim is this side." A good player will go to the famous leader in the play field. One who wants to be a good merchant must go to such an expert. One who wants to be a research scholar must go that side. So according to the inner desire they go.

asthaya, prakṛtya niyatah svaya

And those that want real theistic life, there is also instalments. In Mohammedanism, in Christianity, there is theism, they accept eternity, eternal God, eternal master, but according to their nature. Just as kṣatriya, brāhmaṇa nature, kṣatriya nature, vaiśya nature, so different natures in the different nations, they have been given such instalments. In Bhāgavatam we find the instalment according to their capacity as a group the conception of theism has been distributed to them. The whole thing, if we want to give to them will be a very complex one, for them, so only approximate something has been given, not details. Then after birth and rebirth they will come to higher position, then higher education will be imparted to them about theism. With this policy it has been arranged, everywhere this policy has been accepted that according to the capacity the degree of education should be imparted, extended to them, otherwise they won't be able to understand anything. Gradual process in the training everywhere, the progress does not come abruptly, continuous development is to be admitted.

Devotee: Chidānanda Prabhu has a question. From beginning from the lowest stage of theism to the highest, what are the different conceptions? He wants to know in the conception of different stages of theism, theistic conception and development, what is the gradation, where does it begin...?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally you may take it, the whole creation has been divided into this way. Āvṛta-cetana, fully covered consciousness, then, mukulita-cetana, just opening consciousness, awakening. Then saṅkucita-cetana like narrowed down consciousness. In instance, āvṛta-cetana, the stones, trees, etc, āvṛta, covered. Then, saṅkucita-cetana, we find in the animal kingdom, very narrowed consciousness. Then comes mukulita-cetana, which is amongst the aborigines class, mukulita-cetana, not developed to a standard, half animal, half man, under such sort of civilization, this is mukulita, only awakening stage. Saṅkucita. Then, vikacita-cetana, where we have got some conception of God that is this varṇāśrama dharma, etc, who worship God any way.

Devotee: So Christianity and Islam are there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vikacita-cetana is Vaiṣṇavism. Now again sub division in human section, saṅkucita-cetana. In human section, first morality and theism, first in the last stage there is morality but no theism, no theism but morality. That is... they utilise, utilitarian class, altruistic class, they have got recognition of morality but they don't find necessity of the existence of any God. Then, morality plus theism, morality plus imaginary theism, imaginary theism with morality.

Just like Comte in France, he says, "That a conception of God, it is useful to us, it can help us to do the work of the police, God fearing may help us like police. General man if you spread God fearingness, then this moral benefit we shall get automatically very easily."

And up to Śaṅkara also we say this is imaginary theism with morality. Real varṇāśrama as given by Rāmāṇuja and other conceptions, that is both morality and theism, real theism, viśiṣṭādvaita-vāda, morality and theism, and there may be theism without much moral conception also, there may be. The so-called theism is there but no moral conception that this hiṁsā, that is butchering, murdering indiscriminately so many jīva, and others, and also go on with theism.

Then real varṇāśrama is theistic and with moralises and then.....Vaiṣṇavism comes which is full of theism and morality according to the theistic conception, it has got less importance.

Whatever, even they may steal, suppose flower to offer to the Lord, so that the man who has created that flowering tree, he may be elevated. But theism in the fullest way, that everything if you utilize it for the satisfaction of the Lord, then that will be helpful to anybody and everybody. In this way it is going, developing.

It is for Itself, it is everything for Him, not individual ownership, owner is one, and they are not conscious that they are, they belong to Him, but I know, I know. The boy may not know that his guardian, his father is there, but I know the boy's father. Boy may be reluctant that I may carry him in spite of reluctance to his guardian. This way, everything for Himself, and they utilize in that way, they do good to all.

Their campaign, any and every campaign, whether it may not be tasteful to the so-called religious or moral persons, but they're right, independent of their, of the consideration whom they behave in this way, everything.

abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te

["Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death."] (Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24)

So these are ordinary souls. Moral scientific knowledge, all these things, all considered minor. Baddha-jīva is considered, the man in bondage, any jīva in bondage is considered minor, and the major are those Vaiṣṇavas who know that everything is for Himself. Die to live. They're the guardians of the whole creation and they go to utilize everything for Him for their benefit, for the benefit of the whole world.

Do you conceive, understand? Can't understand, can't follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then you will find some harmonious existence in this world, what is what in this world. The ignorance, the lowest ignorant section, the thickness of ignorance, according to the thickness of ignorance, sub division, then in the middle, then satvic, then nirguṇa, satya, raja, tama, and then again sub division, mahā-tama. In this way sub division may be many, but there is nirguṇa above all. Where, that oneness, that one guardian, one master, is guiding every limb, every idea of a person, he's in touch with the full fledged theism, full fledged theism.

Devotee: The Christians say the one master is Christ.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They say three, God the ghost, God the Guru, the Christ, the deliverer, and God the father, God the father, God the ghost, and God the Guru or Christ. Three phases of conception in theism according to Christianity.

And in Islam also there may be many messengers. Mohammed was also messenger. They accept the messengers of the Christianity. There are many common, the Moses, Abraham, all common, but the last messenger of God was Mohammed and he's considered to be the foremost amongst them, and God is there, but God is not so much differentiated or developed as we find in Hindu mythology, or ontology, or Veda, Upaniṣad, revealed truth, revealed scriptures. That Max Muller told, "That what is in the store of the Upaniṣad in India, if the whole world gets it they will be fully fed, and not anything will be lost, not a point, not a drop will be lost and the whole world will be whole fed what is in the store of the Upaniṣad in India." Max Muller. So the full fed knowledge is to be found in Upaniṣad.

Anything has got its central position, so has gold, or diamond, or industry, or religion. Everything may not be found in every place. So about theism, India was selected to be the highest position in the world by God. It is not unreasonable, because schools and colleges cannot be established in every village, some place must be selected for particular hospital, or education institution, or police station. So in this whole world some place was selected to be the highest seat of religion, theism, and that came in the Lord of India. We are to look like that. If we have eye we won't be envious, "That why in our village there is primary school and in that city there is the biggest college, why is my school not the highest?" It is ridiculous, so the highest school for theistic education should be located somewhere in this globe, and the place was selected India. You are to come and compare the theistic education like that, and Max Muller he saw like that. "The Upaniṣad, what it contains there, that can full fed all the religious persons, and still it won't be finished a little. It is eternal, the fountain of water is coming eternally, the fountain won't go to be dry, to be dried, such, something like that."

Then why the Americans, the others will say, "O Christ was born in Arabia, why should we take his instructions, it is not spun within our country, why should we take?"

This geographical difference is all māyā. Wherever the real thing is to be found we must be open to accept that, in its own intrinsic value and not by physical, this mundane affinity, where I have got this body, or my country. We must rise above all these material consciousness and be a clear student with complete openness we shall inquire after the truth from wherever it comes.

The atom bomb came somewhere, sprang up, and others are not trying to get that atom bomb? "Because it was created somewhere we won't take it. The tank first created by us in the first great-war in France," the tank, and now it is everywhere. So rocket first created something like a V2 of Hitler, but that is in developed form now everywhere.

In this way, what is good, that is universal character, they have got in this mundane and about spiritual it will be all narrow national conception about religion, about the highest truth, which can give relief to all the troubles that will be in, not only located, position will be more universal, very unique.

Devotee: The problem I find with Christians is that many times I will speak to a Christian and he will appreciate the high conception of bhakti, of surrender, even above mukti.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But surrender for what? Mere surrender for the country, love of the country we see so many surrendering, but the valuation will be surrender for which?

Devotee: Surrender to God.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: God means...what is the conception of God? So hazy conception and clear conception, we are to come to that. When we come to the laboratory, the very minute study of the differences to be calculated there, the germs, the virus, all these things will come in closer inspection. So closer inspection will give us God, God means what? Hazy thing, unknown and unknowable God, God means unknown and unknowable? Not any concrete?

Devotee: But they say Christ said...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, Christ said a hazy conception, of a sun, of a moon, but they have got their specific position, and from closer inspection they will be found much more astonishing things will come out.

Devotee: But they're afraid to go beyond what Christ says.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that is everywhere, at every step that tendency to be found, at every step, wherever one is he's attached to that, not only about religion, everywhere, this is a common thing.

Devotee: But they take excuse from Bible, where in the Bible Christ says that none can come to the father except through him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is a general thing, some accept Bible, some accept Koran, some accepts, the Hebrew class they accept something African, they have got some sort of, the.....also have got, but when a comparison is to be drawn, they must have to come out of their local bigotry, they have to come out, and in the broad light under the sky they will have to come and consult and compare and reject and accept. This we may see everywhere.

When the militia boasts that “we are the first class power”, but when there is heat, war, then it is decided who is who. Russia says “I have got the power to control the whole world”. In the beginning of the second great war the (tojo?) Japan said, “We are prepared for a hundred years of war, the Europeans will fight together and will be finished and I shall be the king or emperor of the whole world.”

But to think something is one and reality is another. So with open mind we are to...your God-brother, one, this Arabic gentleman, what was his name? He told that, “From the beginning I had a tendency to go through all the religious books of all the nations, then in course of that I found that the Indian religious writers, as regards space and time, they have covered a great thing, most ancient. Perhaps in Bible it was told that the world has been created four thousand years ago, but Indian theology says that so many dissolutions and evolutions history. This solar system dissolved, and again it came, again dissolved, and what is the history it is to be found there. The time so spacious according to the time what has been dealt by other theologists of the world, their time, and space also.

These tales of Druva, tell tales of sun, planets, all these things. Brahmāṇḍa, how the brahmāṇḍa came, was begun, how it is ended? Brahmāṇḍa, it is limitless. Both geographically, historically, what has been given in the Indian theological books, these other things cannot come in comparison with that, but this struck me, that beyond this body they can also gather knowledge. So graphic, so spacious, tidings have been delivered and distributed by the propounders of the Indian scriptures. So that attracted me, there must be, that will be the most spacious amongst all religious conceptions.”

Put some questions, Mahārāja will answer.

Devotee: What is the difference between the followers of Radhavallabha and the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Harivamsa, by one disciple of Gopāl Bhaṭṭa Gosvāmī, named Harivamsa, he thought that he had got access into the inner service of Śrī Rādhikā, higher service, Rādhikā, anurāga-mārga. So in Ekādaśī day he did not care to observe the rulings what has been given for the devotees to observe, so he took this betel after eating, took betel nut and with his face red went to see his guru Gopāl Bhaṭṭa. Gopāl Bhaṭṭa Gosvāmī he showed too much negligence to him, "What is this you have got? You have climbed so high, we observe the rulings of the Vaiṣṇava section, that in Ekādaśī we should not eat this or that, as that anukalpa which has been given to us we shall be satisfied with that, but you are observing all scriptural rules and you are feeding yourself in Ekādaśī day, you won't honour the Ekādaśī, which has been given in the śāstra so much importance?"

He neglected and amongst the disciples different types of persons, some could not tolerate, and there was another thing we are told. Gopāl Bhaṭṭa's previous Guru Prabhodānanda, he was in Śrī Kuṇḍa, that Rādhā-rasa-sudhānidhi, this Caitanya-candrāmṛta, many fervent writings we have got from him, that Prabhodānanda.

End of side A, start of side B, 14/15-11-82

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...say "no we don't want liberation, we feel well where we are." And just the opposite thing, the slavery, they don't want to get out of the slavery. So human slavery, it may be bad, but slavery to that Beauty, Reality the Beautiful, mokṣa-, laghutā-kṛt sudurllabhā:

[kleśa-ghnī śubhadā mokṣa-, laghutā-kṛt sudurllabhā sāndrānanda-viśeṣātmā, śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā]

After mukti also it is not easily attainable, after liberation from the misconception, then also it is hard to have Him, or Her, or anything. Bhakti sudurllabhā sāndrānanda-viśeṣātmā, furthest touch will make you fulfilled with high pleasure, ecstatic ecstasy, śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā. The devotion proper is this, last effect you will draw Kṛṣṇa to your heart, that bhakti, bhakti is of such quality, bhakti, kṛṣṇa śakti, sevā, sevā, (mudar?)

Earnest hankering, exclusive hankering for Him, exclusive hankering, infinite hankering for Him, that can draw Him, Śrī Kṛṣṇa, this is bhakti, devotion proper.

Devotee: So Guru Mahārāja, how does one become exclusively desiring Kṛṣṇa when other desires are bombarding the living entity, material desires are coming, what to do? One knows the highest...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is to go in the positive then the negative will be far away, the positive, as much as we can make progress towards the positive, automatically the negative will have to withdraw, to go away. Sādhū-saṅga, sādhu śāstra, no other thing, only the simple thing, our association with the sādhu, association means with the sādhu that is with sevonmukhe, surrendering to the positive then the negative automatically withdraws. As much as degree of surrender, confidence, confidence, what the sādhu and śāstra says. The comparison, the Vaikuṇṭha, bhakti, Nārāyaṇa, Rāmacandra, Dvārakesh, Vṛndāvana.

Earnest prayer, "Oh the Lord of the poor, poorest of the poor, dina bandhu, You are friend of the fallen, O friend of the fallen, You may do anything or everything, make or mar. I have got no other alternative but to want Your grace. Everything is tasteless my Lord, please accept me, give me some sort of menial service to Your holy feet," the earnest deep prayer towards Him.

No other alternative like cātaka bird, they never take any water, however pure, which has fallen on the earth, but only the drop from the sky..... "a drop of water, a drop of water", but the water may also come profusely from the sky, and thunder also may come to finish him, but no other alternative, either thunder or profuse water. “No other alternative but to pray for a drop of Your grace.”

He's infinite, a drop nothing and it may save the whole world, and no other. That śaraṇāgati, that hankering, surrendering and hankering, and in that we can get grace, help from the associates of Him. They're our friends. In their association the hankering may be increased. Always of the same line, sādhu in the same line, and superior to myself, in sādhu-saṅga it has been recommended that in the same line, of the same type, of hankering, aspiration.... at least holding some superior position, there I shall try to throw myself at his disposal, that will help me to the greatest extent.

The life is rare and it is transient, any moment I may go, any moment I may be finished, and this chance may not recur again, this human, this atmosphere may not, so try to perceive, conceive the position, that valuable position of the present time, this may not come again.

So this point, and Śukadeva Goswāmī says to Parīkṣit, "One week, that is enough, wonderful thing." I have only one weeks life, then I will be finished, in this short time please give me some instruction that I may be saved. One week's time is enough, ha ha. Wonderful thing, we have passed so many, so much time from time immemorial we are having our life but not utilized, but if properly utilized one second is sufficient Mahārāja, such is the thing, so try to utilize the point at your disposal in the moment. There are so many mountains, so many trees, long life, long, long life, what of that? Unmindful, inattentive to ones own interest, long, long life no value, but only properly understood one moment properly utilized it will produce immense crops, good result.

jnatvaitya, sva-puram sandadhe manah

[King Khatvanga was unconquerable in any fight. Requested by the demigods to join them in fighting the demons, he won victory, and the demigods, being very pleased, wanted to give him a benediction. The King inquired from them about the duration of his life and was informed that he had only one moment more. Thus he immediately left his palace and went to his own residence, where he engaged his mind fully on the lotus feet of the Lord.][Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.9.42]

The example of Khatvanga Mahārāja, only one that had asked the gods, "Will you tell me how long I am to live?"

"Only one moment."

"Then you all go. You cannot give me my desired result. Who can do? Nārāyaṇa can do only, fulfil, then you all go."

He engaged himself wholly in Nārāyaṇa and surrendered to His holy feet and he achieved his desired result. Śukadeva is giving this example. "We must be particular of our valuable present moment." Act, act in the living but trust no future, other pleasure, let the dead past bury its dead, act, act in the living present with heart within and God overhead.

[Trust no future howe'er pleasant! Let the dead past bury its dead! Act, - act, in the living present! Heart within, and God o'erhead!] (Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 1807-82, U.S. poet)

Gaura Hari bol, Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: I am very much afraid to write, because I see...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Afraid, pray to the higher entity.

Devotee: I'm having so many material desires, but at the same time I see when I go out and I speak to people about Kṛṣṇa, and sweetness of Kṛṣṇa, how much they're enjoying, so I'm thinking even though I have no qualification...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes it is laudable that you want to do good to others, but before that you properly try to understand what is good, then you distribute. It is very good to treat a patient but you must know at least what is treatment, then go, it is beneficial. Hare Kṛṣṇa. One who is not properly adjusted, how will he venture to adjust others? You know what is adjustment proper, where is my place in the adjustment, in the absolute adjustment, and then it will say what is your duty.

In the time of the second great-war, the (riders?) building, a soldiers dress was posted, engraved, and just below it is written "Just put on this dress and dress will say to you what to do, what will be your duty."

So first adjustment, we must have our proper position and then the insinuation will come what is my duty. What is known as sambandha-jñāna. To know who are you and then, and what is my end, and how to attain that end. This will be proper energising otherwise anyone can do anything and he'll be reaping the results of his deeds. So first sambandha-jñāna, who am I? Where am I? And what I should be? What I am? What I should be? What should be my position? And from there, then that environment will say, "This is your duty", and I shall have to do that. Not that I shall be an Alexander, I shall be a Hanumān, like that.

If you want cowboy..... with the company of Kṛṣṇa, it will think that it is so happy to become a cowboy, duty of a cowboy. Rabindranath Tagore has got one song, I heard from someone, "That I don't want to be a famous leader of the country, but rather I want to be a cowboy in Vṛndāvana in the jungle. That is very happy to me than to be a famous leader of the world. I don't want the glory of being a great leader of the world, but a simple thing, a cowboy under the guidance of Kṛṣṇa, very friendly."

Something, the ambition will leave, the ghost of ambition may leave you. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

But as long, in, it is also possible one where his real place, he will dedicate his activities and approach, according to his stage, it is also, maybe, but as a lower stage. By my past, as the result of my past karma, I am floating somewhere, and something I am finding around me and to try to give that towards the Infinite I may make progress to Him, from my lower position. So:

yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, yaj juhoṣi dadāsi yat yat tapasyasi kaunteya, tat kuruṣva mad arpaṇam

["O son of Kuntī, whatever you do, whatever you eat, whatever you offer in sacrifice, whatever you offer in charity, and whatever austere vows you may keep- do everything as an offering unto Me." - Bhagavad-gītā, 9.27]

"Whatever you do, whatever you eat, everything connect with Me and go on." That is also a position according to ones position, present position, he may begin who cannot understand the high things, but:

sarva-dharmān parityajya, [mām ekaṁ śaraṇam vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

And one Bāl Gaṅgādhara Tilak he has written in his note [in his commentary of Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66] that in the last śloka, Bhagavān Kṛṣṇacandra, in a golden pot He has served nectar.

"Where ever you are, leave your duty, your position, place of duty, immediately come to Me, everything will be fulfilled, the whole fulfilment will come to you. If you come to Me the whole fulfilment of your life will come to you, but it does not matter at present where you are posted, it matters little. You may be a soldier, you may be a priest, you may be a dacoit, anyone, but if you leave your position and come to My feet, your aspiration will be perfectly fulfilled." The clarion call in the last of Bhagavad-gītā.

The call of Gaurāṅga, call of Gaurāṅga. With flood of tears appealing to the people, Mahāprabhu dancing appealing to the people. When He will take sannyaśa, the previous evening, devotees do not know He's going, He's leaving Navadvīpa for all, but naturally He attracted many of the devotees to come for the last time, and unconsciously they flocked, many devotees crowded there, and everyone taking a garland, and the garland He's putting to His devotees, what is offered to Him, taking off and putting on the devotees.....

"You My friends, this garland friends, take the name of Kṛṣṇa in eating, in sleeping, in doing, where ever you are take the name of Kṛṣṇa. This is My last, My earnest entreat to you all. Take the name of Kṛṣṇa. Whatever you are engaged in it does not matter. Take the name of Kṛṣṇa, My last appeal to you all. Eating, sleeping, or waking, every time try to utilize taking the name of Kṛṣṇa, anyhow try, utmost, to come to Kṛṣṇa, this is My heartfelt appeal to you My friends, no other."

Our Guru Mahārāja also told, "Don't delay, a little delay I am making, why? There's a fire, I extinguish the fire and come. No, no, no, no necessity of extinguishing the fire, the fire may burn the whole world, it does not make any harm to you, the smallest harm to you. Rather you will be saved if the burned world gets out of your mind. All your inner necessities in the holy feet of Kṛṣṇa, none can satisfy your inner hankering but Kṛṣṇa.....all the rasa you may aspire, whole it is His holy feet and all this world let them be dissolved to zero, can't, you are not affected at all. You will be saved from this misconceived world. If it is gold, vanishes, burn to ashes you will be saved, but it is not so easy to burn the world of your present enjoying concept to ashes. It is very hard to burn this world to the finish, it is catching you like witch."

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

As much as we can give ourselves to the holy feet of Śrī Gaurāṅga, automatically we shall find we are in the service of Rādhārāṇī. The highest negative potency that can draw the maximum rasa from the positive Kṛṣṇa. Beautiful, Reality the Beautiful. Mahābhāva, rasa-rāja mahābhāva. Full of ecstasy, ecstasy infinite and to draw that ecstasy for Herself for the world.

sukadu kṛṣṇa koresh ukas taran bhakta gane sukaday te hladhini karan?

The main exacting machine of that rasa from Kṛṣṇa and to distribute to the world outside. Rādhārāṇī. The highest quality of rasa, drawn by Her, from that dynamo of all rasa, ecstasy, and it is for Her that rasa is drawn, and it is thrown outside..... hlādinī is Rādhārāṇī, particular potency, hlādinī, and it is due to Her that others may hope to have the taste of that very transcendental juice.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

And as much as we surrender to Śrī Gaurāṅga, automatically we shall find that we are placed there in that highest position, percolated by His energy, His instruction, otherwise it is very difficult by direct approach, very, very, difficult. Many sort of misgivings will come and pollute us, but if we go under the guidance, go through, we can pass through, the instructions of Śrī Gaurāṅga then it will be very purest gain, and easiest, and maximum.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

And this is the place (Koladvīpa, Navadvīpa) where Gaurāṅga gave general absolve, to all the sinners, aparādha-bhañjan-pāṭ. Anyone who came for His mercy, granted. When He first came after five years from a sannyāsa, He came once again to visit this place, at that time and then He left and never came. That moment He came to His birth place once more, and at that time He was the most liberal, to give, to distribute this highest thing to all.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitai.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: You have given such a high standard.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha ha, If you feel it then I think you are fortunate if I can, I am sincere you know that to get these from our Guru Mahārāja I consider myself fortunate, fortunate, I feel that I am fortunate when I get such standard from my Guru Mahārāja. Hṛdaye nābhya nujñāto, hearts approval, this is also evidence. What is dharma, in Manu-saṁhita it is written, what is dharma.

[vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ sadbhir, nityam adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ
hṛdayenābhyanujñāto, yo dharmas taṁ nibhodhata]

["We can feel within our heart whether we are gainers or losers. That tasting machine is within us. As we progress in Kṛṣṇa consciousness, our karma, our connection with this material world, will evaporate in no time, and spacious knowledge will come to satisfy us. At that time, we shall feel the object of our life everywhere (mayi drṣṭe 'khilātmani." S-B 11.20.30) (Manu-saṁhitā, 2.1)

Vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ, those that are well versed in revealed scripture, they admit and they serve, the first symptom of religion. Nityam adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ, and what should be the symptoms of those sādhus? Vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ, who are established in revealed truth, sadbhir. And approved by the sādhus, who is sādhu? Who has got no sympathy and apathy for the achievement we are in the midst of, that must be a sign of the sādhu. Your heart will approve inner most quarter. "Yes it is, yes I am getting satisfaction." That is also evidence, proof, response. "Yes I am searching, such things I am searching." The heart will say from within, so that when we get these things from our Gurudeva, Mahāprabhu, who else will think? "O yes heart's satisfactory thing, it is all eliminating, eliminating, elimination and acceptance, elimination and acceptance, progress means that, progressive, dynamic, yes, yes."

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu.

Devotee: So Guru Mahārāja, Jagāi and Mādhāi were delivered in this area?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, that is on the other side. Some say that Jagāi and Mādhāi was absolved in this [Harichala?] but we're to understand from Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura that was on the other side in Māyāpura.

Devotee: So how is this part of Navadvīpa the very special place?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Aparādha-bhañjan-pāṭ, there is speciality here.

Devotee: There was some pastime, Mahāprabhu had one pastime here?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, when He came back from Purī after five years of sannyāsa, then He first came here, and He put up there in Vidyānagara with the brother of Sārvabhauma Paṇḍit. Vidyāvācaspati was the elder brother of Sārvabhauma Paṇḍit, and formal Guru of Sanātana Gosvāmī. He lived there in Vidyānagara, and Mahāprabhu came here, and He put up first there with Vidyāvācaspati. And so much rush of people to see Him that the whole place was full of human heads, even those that are coming from other side of the Ganges, the whole Ganges filled up with human heads.

It is described in, I thought it is a little hyperbole, but when I found Gandhi then it came to my mind, if Gandhi can draw so many men to see him then what of Mahāprabhu? They hold so much intense of love, the people fell madly, madly to see that great Nimāi Paṇḍit who was, extraordinary scholarship, extraordinary beautiful figure, but still so many tantric paṇḍits were against Him, and He left this place to preach. Now we lost that Nimāi Paṇḍit, the whole Navadvīpa was dark without His presence. That Nimāi Paṇḍit has come again to us in our midst, so people were mad to see Him. The whole area is drawn towards Him and all human heads... and He came here and approached all the previous sinners who criticised Him, who did any mischief, they all came to be absolved. Nimāi Pandit is not a man, human being, so they came for confession and to get absolved from their sins here.

And then afterwards He went to His mothers house and for a second just stood at the gate of His own house, and Viṣṇu Prīya fell on His feet, at once He withdrew giving the wooden sandals to her, to worship, and He left.

And then He went to Rūpa and Sanātana and then again returned to Purī via Śāntipura, and then gone to Vṛndāvana, and then again came back to Purī, and eighteen years continuously He lived in, first six years, there is so many coming and going.

Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

So we like to stop here today. Any questions? Where is Bhāgava Prabhu?

Devotee: He's here, he always has many questions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Many questions ready. Vidagdha Mādhava repeats the same question.

Devotee: I wanted to know the differences between the four sampradāyas, the Nimbarka teachings, Viṣṇusvāmī...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Details you want to know, then you are to consult Gauḍīya, previous Gauḍīya, there you'll find in details. Its previous Gauḍīya-patrikā in our Guru Mahārāja's time, there these have been out in details, that point there. In what part you can't remember, but it was out in the Gauḍīya-patrikā, weekly paper during our Guru Mahārāja's time.

Very summary gist I can give to you. Nimbarka dvaitādvaita. Madhvācārya śuddha-dvaita. Viṣṇusvāmī śuddhādvaita. Viśiṣṭādvaita Rāmānujācārya. The original ācārya of these four sampradāyas, Śrī, Śrī, Rāmānuja sampradāya coming from Śrī Lakṣmī Devī. Śrī Brahmā Madhvācārya sampradāya coming from Brahmā. Rudra from Rudra (Lord Śiva), the Viṣṇusvāmī sampradāya. Nimbarka coming from Catuḥsana sampradāya. The four sampradāyas spreading in this way and their philosophy is known, Rāmānuja viśiṣṭādvaita - Śrī sampradāya. Śuddhādvaita sampradāya, Viṣṇusvāmī and Śrīdhar Svāmī the renowned commentator of Gītā and Bhāgavatam, he belongs to śuddha-dvaita, and this Valabhi sampradāya also springs up from that, a branch from that sampradāya. And the Nimbarka sampradāya Catuḥsana dvaitādvaita, dwait and advaita, both, but not acintya.

Mahāprabhu bheda abhed, and the necessary qualification is acintya. That demarcation is not in the hand of anybody, it is reserved with Him, the line of demarcation, acintya. What happens one time, we may not think that will happen every time, it depends on the sweet will of the ultimate reality. So whatever we find in general both common and different, and it is not a rigid thing, it depends on Him, He can change the line of demarcation, any time, anywhere, acintya-bhedābheda.

Dvaitādvaita, both dwaita's, very akin to Mahāprabhu, and their object of worship is also Rādhā Kṛṣṇa but that is sākhyā-vāda not parakīya. Nimbarka and Gauḍīya sampradāya different here, parakīya. So they have got that nocturnal līlā and not this madhya, no (ley?) līlā, known pastimes. Difference between Nimbarka they're more fond of arcana, arcana means pūja, worshipping according to the scriptures, the vidhi, the law, rules, regulations is the principal thing, but in Gauḍīya sampradāya that is with little slackness, with affection, love having the better part. The Vallabha sampradāya also śuddha-dvaita, they also do not like even to use the word arcana, they say sevā, just as we do amongst us, sevā raga mārṅ, with affection we shall serve and not according to the strict scriptural rules, in Vallabha sampradāya. Viṣṇusvāmī also and Rāmānandi sampradāya though spreading from Rāmānuja sampradāya while still deviation, we find in Tulasī dāsa, in Rāmānanda, more rigid in asceticism and tending towards salvation, liberation.

In Parijar bhāṣya of Vedānta we find from the Nimbarka, Madhvācārya has got bhāṣya, Rāmānuja has got his own bhāṣya, Śrī bhāṣya by name. Then Viṣṇusvāmī also has got his bhāṣya. Śrīdhara Swāmī also there, Gauḍīya sampradāya also Govinda bhāṣya. These are different types of interpretations from Vedānta, Brahmā-sūtra but all are theistic, these four and their branches are all theistic.

Śaṅkara bhāṣya, we call it atheistic, because jīva soul in it's highest position has not been accepted. Like Buddha, Buddha says with the dissolution of the mental body everything ends. Śaṅkara also says like that ultimately. The individual's conception of soul is imaginary, only it is remaining so long as he is in misunderstanding. Misunderstanding clears, gets liberation, no soul, individual, but there is one mass of light as Brahma, non differentiated, non specified substance, but it is, it is consciousness.....

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And you'll be doing in this way, killing maybe saving, there is such a plane, to see things. So from that Absolute plane if any connection is anywhere, that is beyond our conception, we cannot conceive that killing is saving, but there is an angle of vision, a plane from where it may be clearly understood that killing is saving.

Devotee: What of the Christians who read in the Bible that it is alright.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I have given in general, now you compare these relative things. The Bible they have provided for killing the animals, and the creepers, they have ignored that it is impossible for the human beings with whom they're connecting the theistic relationship. This is taking it approximately, that would be impossible for them to keep up from killing the animals etc. But here in India, they're conscious, even the creeper, the mollusc, worm, and also a tree, that is sinful, a creeper to kill, it is also unnecessary, it is sinful, the reaction must come from there. But still they have found the key, by which we can tackle all these behaviours, and still we can be sinless. Not only sinless but we can help those that we kill, it is also possible, such a plane is there. This is all local interest and there is universal interest, the most universal interest, absolute interest, for which everything may be utilized in any way, and that will be for the benefit of that thing. This plenary truth we are to understand, and according to that we are to explain anything and everything. According to that possibility you may judge and go to details, examine details and give your judgement. I supply you with a plenary principle of what is himsā, what is disservice to others, what is harming to others, the standard of that.

Devotee: In the Bhāgavat there's one section where a human sacrifice is made for Varuṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So human sacrifice is more important in the evolution. To get a life in the vegetable, in the animal, it is easy, but human sacrifice, human life is more valuable, because there is chance to go to the truth, possibility. So higher chance, or prospect in human life, to do away with that is more harmful. Just as when playing football, the ball has gone to the goal and if that is lost it is much deplorable. So jīva when coming to human species he has come in connection with his highest prospect, he can get out of the gate of this māyā, and if that chance is finished, then again after this he may have again the birth of a beast, or a tree. He came just to the goal and again he will have to return far away from the goal. So to kill a human is a greater loss than to kill the animals and the creepers. Do you follow? The importance of human kind, the greater prospect is being done away with, so it is more sinful because his higher important chance by utilizing this human birth, he may have gone through the goal, but the important position has been set back, that is more heinous.

Devotee: In Bhāgavat they're actually performing human sacrifice to Varuṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe, in different sections that devotee Bhārata, he was taken to Badra Kali to be sacrificed by the dacoits. There were sections that were doing, but all not justifiable, but what was justifiable, that was connected with the central good, their activities justifiable, the Garuḍa and other devotees that were eating meats, and killing so many. Kṛṣṇa killed, Pāṇḍavas killed so many men in the battle for material achievement, apparently, apparently for kingdom, Kṛṣṇa was called, and Bhīma, Yudhiṣṭhira, and all of them engaged in the fighting, human killing.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Is it offensive for me to think that my Guru Mahārāja has made some miscalculation by putting such unqualified people in such positions of authority, is it offensive thinking?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course.

Devotee: Then how should I see it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally at first you will try to cooperate, and when you find clearly their treatment clash directly with the teachings of [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāja, then to save yourself you will disconnect with him, and abide by your own conscience, sincere spiritual conscience. That is my conception and my experience in my long life after the departure of our Guru Mahārāja. So I am told that I am breaker of the form. I follow, I cannot deceive myself.

"What conscience brought me to Swāmī Mahārāja?", if that is sincere, I cannot neglect that. If I find that the advice given in the writing, in the books of Swāmī Mahārāja, and those that have been given, though they're not sure, that representative, they're differing, and I shall side his direct teachings than what is coming through the persons appointed by him. Otherwise I must be sincere, not a hypocrite, and if I find that I did any wrong, my interpretations of Swāmī Mahārāja's writings are wrong, and their interpretation is right, the same moment I shall leave this and join them.

No question of prestige. I am a slave to Kṛṣṇa, slave to Kṛṣṇa. Wherever there is truth, sincerely I must go there. I cannot deceive my own conscience, or any aspiration. Kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā [wealth, women, prestige], the sensual enjoyment, and the power, and the fame, the prestige. These three things, they always try to take us far away from the truth, from Kṛṣṇa. We should not allow ourselves to play to these things, general sense pleasure, and the love of power, and the love of prestige, pratiṣṭhā, glory, these are the main enemies.

Try to keep them aloof, and keep me aloof from these, and try to follow the path what I understand sincerely, what attracted me to them, leaving so much formality amongst which I was born and maintained, either Christian, Mohammedan, or Jew. Some formality was there and I crossed them, neglecting them and come for truth to Swāmī Mahārāja. Truth as explained by him, I had attraction for that, and I came to connect myself with that conception of truth, and I must keep it intact, my campaign sincere, sincere attraction for the truth, as expressed by him. That will be my beacon light of my life. Wherever it shall take I shall go. I am a truth seeker, kṛṣṇānusandhāna [the search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa]. And in consonance, the Gaurāṅga, the Nityānanda, who has exactly in the same line, whose position is unquestionable, in that line I shall try my best to keep me within.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

My heart, progress must be sincere, and not any condition or prejudice. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

So śikṣā guru. Generally the bābājī's, they got their guru from the goswāmī section, that gṛhastha, when they go to Vṛndāvana they take again that sannyāsa dīkṣā from the tyāgi guru and they're at their disposal, mainly.

Our Guru Mahārāja has given us the guru paramparā, śikṣā guru, wherever we can trace the degree of truth, according to the degree of the conception of the truth, the lineage has been given to us. Your beacon light posted in this way, this way, this way, to your goal, destination.

Swāmī Mahārāja means not this external figure but his advice, his instruction, he means his instruction, there he is, he is in his instruction, in his knowledge, what he wanted to give to us. That will be his special attention to him, devotion to him. Only not to have this stony figure, and to dress it like Kīrtānanda, or Brahmānanda, with golden crown, and putting him in a golden house, that is something, but the real thing is that all these are to be subservient to the truth he came to preach. It is all secondary. Primary thing is vāṇī, and the vāṇī also not the style of writing, not the English language, or the Sanskrit, but the purport of his vāṇī, otherwise the vāṇī, the words, that is also vapu. Not the physical thing but the substance within. He is there, not the body, not the body, not the mind, but the principle he came to preach and represent. That is the highest conception of him, and we are following, we are also living this body, we want to go near him only as the principal holder of him the body of that substance which is superseding the area of mere knowledge.

But that ruci, the drop of love divine, crossing the world of power, exploitation and knowledge conception, knowing everything. To control everything is not necessary, to know everything is also not necessary. Only our respective duty in the domain of love divine, that will be our mark of the highest attainment.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Swāmī Mahārāja is there. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Our Guru Mahārāja was, externally we found him, not so much knowledge in English, but still he tried sometimes to give his speech in English, and when written in Harmonist our Professor [Nisikanta] Sanyal [M.A. Bhaktishastri], he did not want to correct his language, whether grammatically, or any other way, if there is any defect in his language. He was of the opinion that the dictionary, the grammar, they may correct, dictionary may be corrected, and the grammar union must correct there, but what Prabhupāda is saying, coming, that is alright, he was of that temperament.

But there was another who used to write the letters of Prabhupāda, and who was in more intimate confidence, he told him "That what you say, that is kaniṣṭha adhikārī, this is lower form of service. You should think what Prabhupāda wants you to do for service. Does he want that if there is any defect in his language to retain it, or to correct it in the present form, so that ordinary people may not come to detect any defect in the present language? What does he want from you? You must try to find out that, and then that will be your service. Otherwise the dictionary may correct, the grammar may be corrected. What he says it is alright, this is not higher service."

So then what should we think that there is defect in Prabhupāda, in Gurudeva? Should we think like that, that there is limit? So, so many formal defects may be seen, that does not affect the main conception of the truth. Sometimes that adds to the beauty.

When Jarāsandha attacked Kṛṣṇa, Mathurā, eighteen times, Kṛṣṇa anyhow avoided and fled, and there is a word, expression in Bombay side, that Ranchor Ji, the one who flies from the battle. An affectionate name for Kṛṣṇa, He fled from the battle, ranchor. "Who leaves the battle", Ranchor, ran means battle, and chor means who leaves it, so Ranchor, one who leaves the battle. That is cowardice but this is a word of very affectionate name of Kṛṣṇa. Ranchor love, "O like a coward You have fled from the battle." This is a beauty, He can crush in a second everything, but playfully He's avoiding the war with some higher purpose. So they're adoring the object of their master, "O You flyer from the battle, like a coward."

Just as Navanita Chora, "You are a thief, O You thief." Ichor means thief, "O You thief." Everything belongs to Him and He plays the part of a thief, adorable expression.

So where the main thing is truth, any trifle defect in it has no consideration. That has not much importance. Perhaps for some purpose it is there, may be neglected, and sometimes beautiful, that that was the way of approaching this mundane world. Otherwise perfectly transcendental cannot correct him with this mundane. To connect with mundane some mundane mask is necessary for the liberated souls to come down here, to contact with us. Just as a professor of higher knowledge come to teach a student as if taking the dress of a child, of that mental dress of a child he approaches the child. Coming so low, comes to his level, and then begins to teach him, not with the professorial position he can approach the child and teach him. Something like that we are to see, look at.

So I am engaged with him long before eight, from seven, you came here for three hours continually.

Devotee: You've given me so much mercy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Mercy is at whose disposal? It is not a thing to come to my disposal. It is connected with Him, the source of mercy. Everything connected with Him, we are to see that. Gaura Hari bol. Mercy above justice, above justice.

(akchuridi akchurimay?)

Varṇṣī Dāsa Bābājī used to say, "That one thief is giving, the donor is also a thief, and the stealer the thief, that thing stolen by one, he is also a thief."

So if I say the mercy belongs to me I am a thief. It has got its source. All relative, this is relative estimation, where things belong to this or that. He may locate to his Gurudeva, it is not mine, it is extended from there, not my wealth. In a moment it may be withdrawn and I may be reduced to a madman, it is such.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Vyāso vetti na vetti vā. The giver of the whole scripture, Vyāsadeva, he knows or may not know, he may or may not know things of such nature. Transcendental means such, it descends and goes up. Many things descended through Swāmī Mahārāja to you, so many, and when withdrawn, flying away so many. Withdrawn because they think this is a nasty environment so I can't remain here, withdrawn and they say, "Oh I don't feel anything, see anything, no taste here." Flies away, and who with high regard and affection nurtures them, it grows and grows in extent there. By devotion it grows and by indifference and negligence vanishes.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: From Vṛndāvana last night with a devotee named Nanichaura, he's a white cloth, and he's heavy in figure, and Swāmī Mahārāja seated in āsana Kṛṣṇa Charan gave him and Kṛṣṇa Charan said, "Mahārāja, where now will you go, do you want to go to Mayapur tomorrow?" And Swāmī Mahārāja said, "No I shall not go to Mayapur, I'll stay here." And then Kṛṣṇa Charan arranged everything and dream was gone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In England my second year. Swāmī Mahārāja, Guru Mahārāja omitted.

Devotee: So there is one verse in the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, in the eleventh canto, it says something like...

na hy ekasmād guror jñānaṁ, su-sthiraṁ syāt su-puṣkalam brahmaitad advitīyaṁ vai, gīyate bahudharṣibhiḥ

["Although the Absolute Truth is one without a second, the sages have described Him in many different ways. Therefore one may not be able to acquire very firm or complete knowledge from one spiritual master."]

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.9.31)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only once, but the highest stage, everywhere there is Guru, all Guru. The transformation will be towards that, the whole atmosphere, environment, is Guru, and I am the servant roaming. To enter into Vaikuṇṭha, Goloka means this, on all sides Guru, all respectable, there is gradation of course, but Guru. Denotation and connotation, denotation increases, connotation decreases. Connotation increases, denotation must decrease. Quality or quantity, quality improving, quantity decreasing. This is a general calculation. What is your practical knowledge? What is the question underlying this? Guru of different section, different type, this vartma- pradarśaka-guru, then dīkṣā-guru, sannyāsa-guru, śikṣā-guru, so many different classes of Guru, any Vaiṣṇava whomever you meet.

If only one letter Guru gives to the disciple that is infinite, but to know it fully, different sources are necessary to understand. Knowledge is infinite and the highest position required is this, that I shall try to read the devotion towards Kṛṣṇa from everywhere, everything will supply me some sort of inspiration towards the performance of my duty.

bom dekhi bomai e vrndavana, hoilu dekhi manihaye govardhana, jaha nodidar bek mano e kalindi?

Wherever I shall cast my glance, it will remind me about my Lord. They will teach me, they will press me to engage myself in my duty, in my service. That is the duty of Guru. Wherever I shall cast my glance, wherever I am come in contact with, that will only give me excitement,

"do your duty", that is Guru. Guru who gives us impetus for the service of Kṛṣṇa, who helps me to look toward the centre, that is Guru, the work of Guru is this. Every atom in Goloka and Vaikuṇṭha, they will all help encourage me towards my duty, they're all Guru. Guru will be very amply available when we can raise ourselves to a particular level.

As if when we are in the lower stage everything is taking me out from the centre, out-carrying current, whatever I see it will say, "Oh come and enjoy me", invitation of enjoyment here in the lower level. And inspiration of renunciation in a particular stage, the salvationists, everything they find, "Oh this is nasty, this is not to keep company with so rejection, rejection, rejection." And devotion, the positive side, everything will push me towards the centre, towards Kṛṣṇa, and those that will help me in that way are my Guru. Guru, gu ru means which dispenses the darkness of enjoyment, as well as renunciation. The darkness, this is all dark, this is all cover, and who will help me from that, from various...

buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ

Not to particularize in one point, so many śikṣā-guru, guru paramparā, in the line of that descent of Guru, so they're all our Guru. This Charu Swāmī, he told me one day he was challenged one day by someone in ISKCON, "That you are ignoring our Gurudeva, you are mixing with Śrīdhara Mahārāja and others." And he told me he replied, "Devaṛṣi Nārada, do you think that he is out of our guru paramparā?" "No, no." Someone questioned him, "Do you think that Devaṛṣi Nārada is out of paramparā, he's not mentioned here?" "No, no, no, he must be in our guru-paramparā." Then many coming in the guru paramparā. Wherever we get something to help our spiritual life, he may be Guru.

So this is a deplorable article.....

End of side A, start of side B, 17,18-11-82

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Omitted, from Narottama he came to Viśvanātha Cakravartī, the middle Guru's are also there, but wherever it is very vacant, clear, he has shown us that line. We are indebted especially in these points. Wherever we get some benefit we must have our recognition and gratitude for them at least. We can't tolerate this where the name of our Gurudeva is omitted, this may not, can't please me, so it won't please Swāmī Mahārāja also. This is wilful suppression, this is not accidental, this is wilful suppression. Deplorable, he is depriving himself, they will not be affected, but he himself is deceiving him, the cataract growing.

Just as the Lord is not one, when we say about the king, that does not mean that the king is the only one, but with his paraphernalia. So God means with His paraphernalia, so Guru means also with his paraphernalia, group, so many. Guru and Guru's Guru, and Guru's brothers, Guru's sons, so many, I am indebted to so many, more or less, more or less, name and, main and... auxiliary, principal and auxiliary, that maybe our fortune to get, to see more Guru, everywhere there is Guru. Everywhere we shall try to understand something, we shall try to draw the hints of the auspicious presence of Godhead, we shall...

praṇaśyāmi, sa ca me na praṇaśyati

"Who can see Me everywhere and everything in Me." In the medium of everything we shall try to see Him, and who will show me the Lord, my Lord, he's my Guru. His position is safe. To not to see Guru is a dangerous position, and to see everywhere Guru, all advising me, to concentrate my energy towards the service of God, then we'll be safe. Guru, then of course the specific, vision, Guru, gradation is there, gradation. From where I can get the maximum help, maximum help, and from which medium? Ācāryam mām vijānīyān, "I am ācārya. You see Me in him, from whatever point I shall draw you towards Me." That is Guru, more or less, attracts Him.

.....Mahārāja at his time, he has omitted even the predecessors. From whose book Swāmī Mahārāja learned, and gave his interpretation, that is based on Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, mainly, mainly from Bhaktivinoda's translation, he got the understanding about Bhagavad-gītā, and that is ignored, that is very deplorable. For his eagerness to omit the contemporaries, he had to omit the previous ācāryas also, to whom Swāmī Mahārāja is indebted in direct connection. That is too much for us to tolerate.

"My first year in England, my second year in England." When Bon Mahārāja went to preach in the west, and he wrote two books, "My first year in England. My second year in England." No trace of any name of his Guru, or guru paramparā, Mahāprabhu, nothing of the kind. So our Guru Mahārāja told us, "This is untouchable, because where there is no mention of our Guru, I won't touch it." That was his point.

So Swāmī Mahārāja doesn't feel any encouragement to touch that. Who is ācārya? Who knows to give due respect to his own ācārya, he's ācārya. acarya guru ke najinitang?

Not the person to be blamed, but his ignorance to be blamed. This is quoted from Yāmunācārya, Guru of Rāmānuja, when he's going to refute the Śaṅkara school, there commentary, then he says in a figurative way, "That what shall I say, they can't understand the true purpose of the Vedic line, but what shall I show these pitiable children. Let them have long life, where they may live long. They're not to be blamed but their ignorance to be blamed." In this way his remark, in an airway, a joke style, he's putting in this way.

"Let them live long, they're all children. What shall I say to them, to abuse them? But they do not know, their stupidity is only to be blamed and not them. Let them live long."

In a figurative way.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Na hy ekasmād guror jñānam, not sufficient and neither firm, not strong.

He told about Rūpa and Sanātana, how they were. He told Bāladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa about Rūpa and Sanātana, described that both Rūpa and Sanātana, they have shown to the world. "If one has got a jewel in his hand, he can show by this way, and that way, in various ways he can show the jewel." Rūpa and Sanātana has dealt Govinda-Nāma, the jewel by the name Govinda. Indira Lakṣmī Devī who is always serving Him, that high, high, substance principle, Rūpa and Sanātana they have given, shown to the world just as a jewel in their palm, in this way. That high, high, highest, principle has been dealt by those Gurus, śikṣā, Rūpa and Sanātana, in such a way. So our knowledge everywhere, not only in Paramātmā, everything if we are to learn mainly we may learn from one place, but this is corroborated and verified from many sources, then it comes to be proper knowledge of ones soul.

Viṣaya, saṁśaya, purva-pakṣa, mīmāṃsā, siddhānta and saṁgatiḥ. [the thesis, the antithesis, cross-examination, synthesis, conclusion and verification from different sources]. By these six processes anything can be inquired and known. First viṣaya, what is the object of understanding? Then saṁśaya, if anything anti, any doubt about that, that must come forward and that must be cleared. To know anything these processes are necessary. First the proposition, what is the thing to be known, then what is its anti group, any doubt, any suspicion about that, that must be taken in. Then purva-pakṣa, then it must be arranged in such a position, this I want, and this is opposition, how to have a clear conception of the thing, in such stage. Then mīmāṃsā, they come real understanding how it can be approached, in what subject, in all these details, is necessary stage. Then siddhānta, mīmāṃsā, siddhānta, the fifth stage will be a conclusion. Then considering all these pros and cons we see that this is this, and not that. Then saṁgatiḥ, then verification, to verify from various sources, what conclusion I have come to, whether it is real, or not real. That is to be verified by precedence. Then it may come as the name of truth, in this world.

So many sources are necessary to verify to, for reference, all these things. Any knowledge presupposes consultation with different sources, though mainly we can get from one source, at the beginning not one, beginning many, then we concentrate to inquire it from a particular higher source.

First it comes from hither thither, small quantity, sukṛti, ajñāta-sukṛti, then śraddhā, then sādhu-saṅga. We keep company, we seek for Kṛṣṇa, inquiry many places, here and there, in many places and they also help to certain extent. Then ultimately we go and there we find more possibility of learning we surrender there, and he has got his disciples also so many from previous time. Get some sort of help, he will recommend some books. "If you go through Bhagavad-gītā, go through Bhāgavatam, go through, by consultation according to his advice, then I am to read this book." That is to get so many Gurus through the books, then again also in the books we may find reference, if I go to, recommended by my Guru, to read one book then in book also I shall find many references, many quotations from many places.

So all of them have some contribution for me, and ultimately we are to understand that we are to enter into the land of Gurus. Everyone should be respected as Guru, that giving impetus to me to search Kṛṣṇa, to serve Kṛṣṇa. They're all help to centre me, centre carry, they're Guru, and this is most fortunate position that we may see everyone as Guru. No one servant and no one indifferent, that is our highest fortune to attain such environment. All Guru, here all servant, even father, mother, all servant. We want to draw from everyone in the world of exploitation, and renunciation everything eliminated, a deserted position, and then we enter into the land of eternal prospect. That is to learn to see that all Guru, all Guru. I am the servant, I am the servant. All Guru means all well wisher, all guardian. I shall invite help from everywhere. Their benediction, their grace will come from everywhere. All well wisher, all guardian, all guide me towards the highest attainment. So it is fortune and there cannot be any objection to that.

But still there is gradation, as if in the very existence of God, gradation, Vasudeva, Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa, Dvārakesh, Mathuresh, Svayaṁ Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa, the gradation is always there according to our position, in our position.

So we must not be afraid, of course there is a time, when in the stage, when we are surrounded by the unfavourable environment and to get sādhu very rare. In that case to warn us not to mix with anyone and everyone, and also there are so many groups of sādhu, these Māyāvādīs, these Buddha, these Śaṅkara, the nāga, all these things. So we may not run hither and thither only to find Guru, to get advice, so to warn us from such unfavourable circumstances, to protect us, "don't try to see everywhere Guru in a stage, particular stage."

Then we have attained the, what is taste, what is real good, then of course we are taken to such a plane and everyone will be Guru and helping me to my destination, and this caution has got some value when there is possibility that I have come to a Vaiṣṇava Guru.

But so many want to devour me, and I do not know how to examine who is who, should be Guru. This Buddha, Māyāvādī, nastika, so many red rags means sādhu, Guru. At that stage, to help us to concentrate, we must give our respect to Guru, and at every sampradāya that strict, has been used in every sampradāya, "Only hear the word of your Guru, the advice of your Guru. Don't try to mix hither and thither, and to run and to have advice, then so many enemy of your Guru." Who are not preaching the real truth, then warning is necessary in some stage, some stage.

"Don't go to see Guru everywhere, because in that plane so many men in the dress of sādhu are going on with their lower campaign." This warning should come in that stage, and in that stage also, to keep up and to develop our attention and devotion towards our Guru, so many helps should come from my senior Godbrothers. They will make me understand the greatness of my Guru in different ways, so they're also giving some help of Guru. In this way, many, one, many. In different departments this system is going on, and here also, but when we enter into the kingdom of service then of course everyone will help.

Those that have got inner attraction towards Vṛndāvana, "If we mix with so many sādhus in Vaikuṇṭha, and if my inner awakenment in the service of Goloka dwindles, then I shall be hurled down to Vaikuṇṭha." It is also there, the possibility, and of course some soft-hearted stage, there is protection, protection is necessary, na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."] (Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40)

If at heart we are sincere then the environment cannot deceive us, because God's inner help is there, cooperating with my sincerity. What I want from my inner most heart that cannot but come, because He knows everything. There may come some obstacles but by His help they should be eliminated in any way or other, and my inner most aspiration will be crowned with success, na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati. "Rest assured that if you want real truth you will have that, I am there." This assurance, one need not be afraid, but still in some position we shall be afraid of bad association, so in Bhakti- rasāmṛta-sindu (1.2.91) it is mentioned, sajātī-yāśye snigdhe sādhaḥ saṅgaḥ svato vare.

["One should taste the meaning of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam in the association of pure devotees, and one should associate with the devotees who are more advanced than oneself and endowed with a similar type of affection for the Lord, those that are in our line, who have the same high spiritual aspirations as we do, and who hold a superior position. To associate with such saintly persons will help us the most to progress towards the ultimate goal."]+ (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.131)

Association of the sādhus in general is recommended, but especially what sort of sādhu we shall try to mix with earnestly. Who is in the same line of aspiration with me, and who is holding superior position to me. To associate with such sādhu, the common end and superior to me, holding superior position to me, but in the common line of our camp, the association with that sort of sādhu will help us most in general. Who is superior to me but must be in the same line with me.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: Mahārāja, since Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu is the Svayaṁ Bhagavān, Kṛṣṇa, He has 64 qualities mentioned in the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, so does Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu also hold these 64 qualities?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is covered with a little colour otherwise, magnanimity. Even Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu may be said to possess more, because Rādhārāṇī is combined there. If we see Kṛṣṇa in Śrī Caitanya then those 64 with some other complexion, colour, but if we consider Both one, then something added, 25.

sri rādhikā ananta bhum potish padan?

Everywhere many qualities, and 25 principal qualifications with Rādhārāṇī, and that is combined with Mahāprabhu, with Kṛṣṇa. Then it will go more, a peculiar combination of Positive and Negative.

They are separate in Vṛndāvana līlā, the Positive, Negative, rasa-rāja mahābhāva. The greatest hunger to suck the rasa, the greatest entity to squeeze the rasa, to attract the rasa from the fountain of all high rasa, and when Kṛṣṇa influenced by that, He Himself drawing rasa from His own and distributing to others, if we can conceive that. Kṛṣṇa has taken the position of Rādhārāṇī, mood of Rādhārāṇī, and extracting rasa from Himself and it is showing outside. Madly, He's mad to give His own jewels inside to the people at large, and what sort of jewels inside? Which has got appreciation of Rādhārāṇī, that sort of high things, high juice is Himself emanating from Him and distributing here.

"What I am, what is My inside, which highest, tasteful thing in Me you all see, what am I?" Unknown and unknowable which cannot be known, He's making Himself known with all His attempts. "You know who am I, what is in Me for you, what is in Me for you." This highest truth, we cannot know Him without His sanction, without His consent, but now He Himself is taking the initiative. "Know Me, take Me, what I am, for which so many yogīs, ṛṣis, devotees, they're trying their utmost with so much self imposed misery and privation. I am such and such, of My own accord I want to make Myself known, to partake in the feast in Me. I am such. This is the most appreciable characteristic in Me, you take it."

It is almost impossible, almost impossible that the Infinite is vacating His house, vacating everything and throwing it out side making empty. Infinite, by some mad attempt He wants to distribute everything and to become...

just as we are told some kings (Hasavadan Ragu?) one day in a year, they used to give everything, distributed everything to the subjects and began his life in poverty. (Hasavadan?) Every five years he used to come to Allahabad, Prayāga, confluence of Gaṅgā, Yamunā, and all the wealth, whatever, everything given to the poor and needy, and with only a cloth around him he entered again his throne, and then daily coming, coming, coming, and every five years he used to take.

And Ragu, the grandfather of Rāmacandra, he also used to do so, once in a year, everything, nothing should remain in the royal treasury, all this, again he will begin. In such a day, one brāhmaṇa boy came to him for guru dakṣiṇa. In previous days brahmacārīs used to study in the house of his Guru, and after finishing, generally he was supposed to give some dakṣiṇa, and for dakṣiṇa where will they go? They will approach the king generally. "I have finished my study with my Gurudeva, my teachers name is such and such, and I asked him for guru-dakṣiṇa and he wanted this from me."

First, generally the Guru's say, "Whatever you can manage you can give, know whatever you like to have from me I shall give."

In this way that gentleman, "Some hundreds of golden flowers, this campaka flower I want from you, you are disturbing me. What do you want? What do you want? I want this, can you give?"

"Yes I may try." He went to Ragu, then, "I have to give guru-dakṣiṇa, I have come to beg from you, brāhmaṇa is a beggar, I have come to you to beg this. I am pledged to my Guru to give so many things, so many golden campaka flowers he demanded from me, and I may be committed so I have come to you."

"Man, a brahmacārī, you have come today, tomorrow I shall have to give it to him, so you have come today then I have nothing, I have given everything from my treasury, alright let me try."

Though this kṣatriya, they can if they're entitled to get money, or anything, any wealth from anyone by force, then Ragu ordered is charioteer, "I have nothing but tomorrow morning I shall have to go loot the treasury of Kuvera and to satisfy the brāhmaṇa dakṣiṇa." So Ragu ordered, "Keep my chariot ready with all the weapons, keep it ready, early morning I shall start to Kuvera, and to take by force so many things from his treasury and to pay off the brāhmaṇa boy." Then Kuvera could...

Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāj

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... your full attention, pay your full attention here, then you will be able to know to the finish, and your march from this point will be sincere and satisfactory. Otherwise the sahajiyā-ism will enter your heart. Within one leap you will go to get the summit of the hill? That is impossible. So you have to march, but march must be sincere, real, satisfactory, real progress not imitative progress. So that warning is given at every stage of life. "This is the highest for you, give your whole attention to that. Don't be absent-minded and haphazard in your acquisition. Engage yourself fully with this class and the next will come out of its own accord. The next higher will come to you. You attend here, all your energy you invest here and the next will come automatically to you, the higher stage." For that policy it has been told like that.

Just as when a professor comes to teach a child he will have to take the mentality of a child to teach the child. "Go so far and not much more." But still he will say: "No, know this. This is the final. Give your whole attention to know this, get by heart this. And when that is finished then come forward." In this way by gradual [progress].

Devotee: I'm very much attracted to those people who are Christians in America, to help them make some progress ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has given his decision that Bhagavad-gītā was told to Arjuna and Arjuna engaged himself in fighting again. But had it been Uddhava in the position, in the place of Arjuna after hearing the whole of Bhagavad-gītā, sarva-dharmān parityajya,

[mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja, ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

...he accepted and went away from the war field. Ha, ha. The same Gītā Upadeśa, the same advice for Arjuna acted in one way, and for Uddhava it would have acted in another way. After hearing the whole of Bhagavad-gītā, sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ, Arjuna also told: tat kiṁ karmaṇi ghore mām, niyojayasi keśava. vyāmiśreṇeva vākyena, buddhiṁ mohayasīva me...

me tad ekaṁ vada niścītya, yena śreyo 'ham āpnuyām]

["O Janārdana, O Keśava, if You consider that resolute and determined spiritual intelligence (vyavasāy-ātmikā-buddhi) is better than action in goodness and passion, then why do You engage me in the violent activity of warfare?"

"My intelligence is confused by Your words. They appear to be ambiguous, sometimes supporting action and sometimes supporting knowledge. So please instruct me which of these two paths is most beneficial for me."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 3.1-2]

"You say that jñāna is better than karma. Then why do you want to engage me in this dreadful karma in fighting?"

Then Kṛṣṇa told:

na karmaṇām anārambhān, naiṣkarmaṁ puruṣo 'śnute

[na ca sannyasanād eva, siddhiṁ samadhigacchati]

["Without performing scripturally enjoined duties, one cannot attain knowledge leading to freedom from action and reaction. How can a person of impure heart obtain perfection by abandoning his prescribed duties?"] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.4]

..."Here you have got your capacity in the karma. You finish this career and then you can aspire to come in the level of jñāna, enquiry into the knowledge. Na karmaṇām anārambhān, naiṣkarmaṁ, that naiṣkarmaṁ to do above all activity is not a very cheap thing. You finish your course of karma, then you'll be lifted to the place of naiṣkarma, jñāna, and then bhakti, in this way. So I say you engage yourself in this present fight. The fight is not recommended for everyone but for you and men of your section."

Devotee: There's one book in the Christian tradition about an unknown Christian bhakta who is chanting ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke?

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, when one is preaching to the society at large, how does he know how far to recommend the stage of God realisation that a person should follow?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who are you?

Devotee: Parthamitra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Parthamitra. What does he say?

Devotee: He's saying: "So, you're saying that something is meant for one person, something is meant for another person, so when we preach to people in general how shall we know how to preach?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That should be preached in a general way and they will come according to their inner response. Some will come to attack, to close the meeting. The communist minded, they will say: "No religious preaching is allowed here. It is all theoretical. You will neglect the concrete world and you make an abstract thing to be everything and the people will suffer. We won't allow it." There is that such also. Beginning from there, there are so many stages. And in a mob you will preach and one who will find response in his inner heart, he will come to you to see. That is, according to the degree of realisation one will come. Birds of the same feather flock together. Inner demand, inner necessity will bring them.

[Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāj went there and so many came. How? They are not this Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava. But from inner tendency was wandering in this world everyone is gathering some new experience, new taste. Rather, the taste for this outside world is vanishing and inner taste is being awakened, and awakened to the degree of, according to the degree of awakening one will come to respond to a preacher. In his own layer he will find, 'Oh, after so long, what little urge I found in my heart, I see there is possibility of outlet. There is a plane of that sort to satisfy that ambition and aspiration of mine. There is a chance in the outside so I must connect with him and I shall enquire of that land of my dreams.' In this way they will come. Birds of the same feather flock together. According to the inner taste they will come together and they will go on with their duty in that plain, that stage, 'how from there they can go further, higher position?' In this way, sometimes after rebirth it takes place, and sometimes in the same life one may change his creed and go higher somewhere else.

Devotee: So when one preaches, if the quality that he's preaching is too high he may discourage ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: May be too high for one and may be too near for another but not too high for all. Then why this conversion is possible? How? So many going to be Mohammedan, Islam. So many going to be Christian. So many going to be Hindu. You, at present not born, all not born Christian. When Christianity first came no one was a Christian before. How the people were attracted to become Christian? There was in their heart the hankering for Christianity.

So, it is there: brahmāṇḍa brhamite. When Acyutānanda went to my birth place, one headmaster asked him: "From so near we cannot appreciate the teachings of Śrī Caitanya. How from so far have you come to realise it? You have come from a country so far off to sacrifice your life for the service of Śrī Caitanyadeva, but we are so near but we can't appreciate that."

[brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya bhakti-latā-bīja]

We are to acquire this capacity during the course of our wanderings through different positions in the whole of this creation. We are wandering from this land, that land, this species, that species, and in course of that we gather some sukr̥ti.

Unknown sukṛti - ajñāta-sukṛti, then jñāta-sukṛti. Unknowingly, unconsciously also our energy is spent, utilised for a particular cause and the reaction comes in me. In this way that sukṛti. And sukṛti developed - jñāta-sukṛti, and then śraddhā. On the surface the attraction comes to me for a particular truth, of the universal truth. In this way it comes, anywhere. A beast may feel the tendency to serve Kṛṣṇa. In Vṛndāvana it is so. So many trees, beasts, water, everything in the material posing but they have while they're there, they are, they have consciously acquired that position. Or they are eternally holding that position in different poses for the service of Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: There's one book about a Christian bhakta. He chants mālā, he chants the name of Jesus.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Catholics also use the beads, we know.

Devotee: Yes, rosary.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They may take the name of Christ. They may do.

Devotee: Yes, in Russian Orthodox Church this man was chanting the name of Jesus.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He will attain the position of Jesus, at most.

Devotee: But his heart was growing very soft and he was feeling some ecstasy and he was feeling great love for Jesus.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jesus. That may be. It also may be so that in his perfect growth he may be finished there. Eternal paraphernalia of Jesus, he may remain there, with fullest satisfaction. He's fated to be there.

Devotee: So not every Christian we can come to and attract...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Again by his, when from Brahmāloka it is also possible. It will be difficult because his highest attention, purest attention, he thinks he has attained it. So to remove him a forceful sādhu is necessary. It is also possible, not impossible, even from Brahmāloka where everything is nondifferentiated. By the will of God and the powerful will of the devotee, high devotee, they may be raised from the slumber and taken into action. It is possible. Nothing is impossible. But generally he may pass long, long ages there, satisfied. So far, no further. In the space of infinite time, nothing is so much great, so much spacious. Long, long, he may remain holding that position. So many dissolutions and creations will come and go. Any time his slumber may be broken, the possibility is there. From time immemorial this created world is and so many going up, down, up, down. It is infinite. And even in the midst of that some are coming out. A question of infinite.

Suppose the question of Jesus. His position may be considered as eternal. And some time may come when Jesus himself may be converted into Vaiṣṇavaism. It is not impossible.

Devotee: Do you not think that Jesus had awareness of Kṛṣṇa, as a person, as the Personality of Godhead?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. If most closely detected then we're bound to say that there is some possibility of getting Kṛṣṇa in the life of his infinite way. Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: I didn't understand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jesus is stagnant or progressive? Is he stagnant?

Devotees: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where he has reached, is that finished forever, or he's dynamic?

Devotees: The Christians say he has full knowledge.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So he's stagnant there, finally fixed? Jesus' position. The Bishops, who says his position is final, or progressive life? Dynamic or static? Final? That position he holds or he can make further progress. And Jesus only barred from making any progress? What do you say? Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. Is he a member in the dynamic world or stagnant? So infinite is such. The infinite we are going to deal with, that is ludicrous for us that we want to deal with the infinite. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotees: What form of Kṛṣṇa was Christ ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why Kṛṣṇa is considered to be absolute? You are to enquire about that in a scientific way. Step by step, step by step. You go on reading, what I told, Śrī Kṛṣṇa-saṁhita and Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, it is already translated. Very minutely you try to follow the advice that is given, instructions, given in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta. The development in theism, the theism as in dynamic character.

Devotees: One question he's asking: "Is there a method to preach the presence of the soul in the lower species?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't follow.

Devotees: The Christians, they do not accept, generally, they do not accept that there is soul in animals and lower species, so how to preach about that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [God?] did not care to bring them within that program to embarrass those persons. They cannot do but eating on vegetables and the animal species. So, at this point, they're not to be embarrassed by all these questions. Let them begin the theistic life eliminating those possibilities of reaction. Then again when they will feel about them they will be given that sort of instalment. That there is also life and not less qualified than the human position, but in course of this revolutionary movement they're thrown into such condition as a result of their own karma.

Wherever there is life, the soul is there within. It is a common thing. But Jesus thought it would be, the ideal of Jesus thought it would be impossible for them to adjust to such a degree with the environment. "Let them begin the culture of theism." Then gradually it will be, if such instruction will be given that, "You must adjust with your neighbour with generosity, liberally."

There is also not only ātmā, soul, but God is also there, everywhere. They are feeling pain and pleasure, happiness. In an animal it is of course quite clear that when they're killed they feel pain. So there is life, that vibration of pain there. Consciousness is there and soul is a unit of consciousness, pure.

To whom they preached, they're not so much qualified as to extend their knowledge so far. They're not prepared for so much sacrifice in their practices. So those who are not prepared to such extent, Christianity given by him. Everything ordained from the same common centre. So Christianity has got also its necessity. Islam has got also its necessity, because it has got some room in this universe. Not unnecessary but relative position, not absolute. And what is the question, the position of the Absolute Truth when we are to enquire? Then we come to India where they have dealt very extensively with all possible conceptions of religion and then ultimately come to the conclusion by which Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam has been given. So many variegated natures of theological conceptions found in India. A part of that is not present anywhere in the world, as much as theological culture was in India of different shades of life. But ultimately Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam has been given to be the highest. How? That we are to understand, to follow. Very minutely you are to follow that Br̥hat- Bhāgavatāmṛta, and more in a present modern form in Śrī Kṛṣṇa-saṁhita by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and Caitanya Śikṣāmṛtam. Bhāgavatāmṛta is already translated into English I know, from Māyāpur perhaps, Br̥hat-Bhāgavatāmṛta.

Devotee: I read that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You read that, but you read more closely, more scrutinisingly you read that until and unless you find satisfaction to the answer to all your enquiries. So repeat, repeat, repeat. Read, read and read it. The gradation is there of sambhanda-jñāna, how one is from a particular position, how he's forced to make his progress in a particular direction. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: I asked one question the other day but I did not fully understand the answer. It was about the soul going into animal species. And if there is no recollection of why he is suffering then how can he benefit? Say he has robbed someone, hurt someone, then he is punished but he does not remember why he is being punished, all he knows is he is suffering.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In what stage to make him unconscious necessary for the doctors? When a doctor deals with the patient, when does he feel that the patient should be made unconscious?

Devotee: When it is too painful for the patient.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So there is a necessity of unconsciousness in one's benefit of life, a necessity of being unconsciousness. So a man, a dacoit is imprisoned and put under chain when his movements will be detrimental to him. Then his position is confined in the cell and chained. So to take out the independence of voluntary action, sometimes it is necessary. The voluntary action should be taken away from him and by suffering his previous reactions may be relieved and then again given voluntary action. Voluntary will has occurred so much misdeed and reaction for him that for the time being it is necessary that voluntary will, will be stopped. And he will be allowed to suffer his previous actions of his previous sins. Then again some freedom will be given to him so that he may take the real course, the course which is peaceful for him. As long as a drunkard when he's expected to do some mischief to the environment he should be confined, and when that madness of drinking gone then he will be left again for free action. Do you follow?

Devotee: I think the expression is 'sleeping it off.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That 'Why confined?' The possibility of free action is taken away forcibly. Ignorance given, ignorance given, and he's to suffer the consequence of his previous action, and when that's finished, then again work. A man is making business in a black way, then he's put under lock and key, and some punishment. And then after he suffers the punishment he's again allowed to begin his business. For his previous disservice in the society he's punished and his business stopped. Then again after some suffering then he may be expected to learn that he was doing wrong, then he's allowed again to start his business. He's punished and business stopped for his previous malbusiness. I'm not clear? Do you understand what I want to say? Why the knowledge taken away and ignorance given to the party? The offending party, his last punishment is to take away his freedom because thereby his freedom he will go in the wrong way, wrong way, to take out the freedom from him because he's moving towards the wrong direction.

Devotee: But he cannot remember.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is one side. Another side is that he will have to suffer the consequence of his past action so his progress should be stopped and he must suffer the consequence of his past action and then he will be again let free. A man, a dacoit is doing wrong so he must be kept in custody and all his movement stopped. Then by punishment he's supposed to have some knowledge, then he will again be let free. This is quite reasonable. His zone of action is snatched away.

Devotee: Also, the point is that Kṛṣṇa doesn't forget.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Freedom is being misused so that is taken away.

Devotee: Sometimes in the Bhāgavatam of Kapila, and I think you quoted Jīva Goswāmī, he says sometimes, rarely, in the womb of the mother the soul may have the recollection of his past one hundred births.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jīva Goswāmī has cleared that, that not all the time in the womb, but the particular child who is conscious of God in the womb, when he comes out, with this link he may go on further.

Devotee: But there is some recollection there of his one hundred births.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is not universal, but particular case. That is particular case.

Devotee: I'm just giving the example where in a case one may remember his past births.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. One hundred births, and he prays to the Lord: "I have done many things wrong. If I come in connection with the world this time I shall try my best to make progress towards You." These things. In a diseased man, a man living, sometimes he finds God consciousness very pure in him, and sometimes filthy conceptions comes in him. Not continuous pure mentality we can find in ourselves that is found in the higher level. In the general human being, average human being, sometimes they think themselves pure in the mind, and sometimes think of the filthy things in the mind, coming, satya, raja, tama. In Bhagavad-gītā also when satya-guṇa is increasing he finds himself in some way. Then tamo-guṇa feels this to be lazy, and nidra, a sleep. And raja-guṇa, he feels that much energy in him. Then raja-guṇa is predominating in him. And satya-guṇa, a peaceful nature for enquiry of the truth. In our present life there are so many moments which may connect with satya-guṇa, sometimes raja-guṇa, and sometimes tamo-guṇa. Nidra-vasya, this is tamo-guṇa. And to find too much energy for a particular programme, that is raja-guṇa. And sometimes a peaceful mind wants to enquire about the creation. And sober things, that is satya-guṇa.

End of side A, side B, 21.11.82

Devotee: Do you know the story of the yogī Visvaksena? And they say that that yogī took his birth as Śrīla Bhaktisiddhanta Saraswatī. Do you know the story of the yogī Visvaksena?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I know. This statement, from where have they got? Where they have got this news, from where? What is the evidence?

Devotee: Sometimes they say that in Bhaktivinoda's diary. This is a quote from Lalitā Prasād, in the diary of Bhaktivinoda he says that, this.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Never. Their diary and the book is published by Lalitā Prasād, it is with Dāmodara Mahārāj. I have gone through that. No trace of that, that he will take birth in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's house. Not like that, nothing of the kind.

Devotee: No proof?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nothing mentioned about that.

Devotee: In letters?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. We don't find any letters that he will take birth in the house of, in the family of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, never mentioned there. Nowhere any mention of such. This is the first time I'm hearing. It was not discussed any time anywhere, only first time I hear from you.

Devotee: This story, you've never heard it before?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: My connection is fifty-five years with this Gauḍīya Maṭh, and I've never heard such a story, I'm certain.

Devotee: They say that he took his birth as Bhaktisiddhanta to destroy the teachings of ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is impossible. That yogī's temperament and our Guru Mahārāj's temperament are quite opposite. Completely different. Lalitā Prasād was working under our Guru Mahārāj in the beginning, in Yoga-Pith and in Godruma. But when Kuñja Bābu [the name previously used by Śrīpād Bhakti Vilās Tīrtha Mahārāj] came, the Tīrtha Mahārāj, Bhakti Vilās, his management was more acceptable to our Guru Mahārāj than Lalitā Prasād's assistance. Lalitā Prasād could not tolerate the presence of Kuñja Bihārī in the management, so he left gradually. And also of Vinod Bābu, Keśava Mahārāj. Keśava Mahārāj and Kuñja Bābu, when they began to manage in the beginning of the mission, Lalitā Prasād could not tolerate, he left the Yoga-Pith, and Svānanda-sukhada-kuñja, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's samādhi, and he went away.

And Prabhupāda [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhanta Saraswatī Ṭhākura], our Guru Mahārāj's preaching campaign, that was gradually gaining ground, and forcibly it is going on and he could not tolerate, he retired, he left. In the beginning he was under Prabhupāda...

Devotee: He's saying he had a position in the management in the beginning. He was working under Śrīla Bhaktisiddhanta. Then Kuñja Bihārī came, Tīrtha Mahārāj, and he was an expert manager. So Śrīla Bhaktisiddhanta favoured his management, so then he [Lalitā Prasād] kind of lost position and gradually withdrew.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He could not tolerate the management of Kuñja Bābu and Vinod Bihārī [Bhakti Prajñāna Keśava Mahārāj] and had to retire.

Devotee: But such a great amount of envy to make up such stories. I don't understand such envy.

Devotee: He's saying: "Why would he say such stories about Śrīla Bhaktisiddhanta?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, when he went away he did not like Bhaktisiddhanta Saraswatī Ṭhākura because he preached in a different way, not in the garb of these bābājīs. His way of preaching was of a different type which other disciples of Śrī Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and the section we call sahajiyā, and they were the masters of the Vaiṣṇava society at that time, they could not give any recognition to Bhaktisiddhanta Saraswatī because his fashion was of another nature.

Just as I heard from Bhakti Vijaya Prabhu. He was first in the opposite camp, then came to Guru Mahārāja and took initiation there. I heard from him that Prabhupāda [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhanta Saraswatī Ṭhākura], after taking sannyāsa, he went to Vṛndāvana, to visit. And Paramānanda and Kuñja Bābu, they were clad in European dress, and Prabhupāda took red cloth of a sannyāsī, went to visit Vṛndāvana. The sahajiyā section, they say: rakta-vastra 'vaiṣṇavera' parite nā yuyāya...

["This saffron cloth is unfit for a Vaisnava to wear; therefore I have no use for it. I shall give it to a stranger." Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 13.61]

Sanātana Goswāmī's statement in Caitanya-caritāmṛta. The Vaiṣṇava should not take this, rakta vastra, means red cloth, there is a saying. And Prabhupāda took sannyāsa, and not red but saffron cloth, sannyāsa as Mahāprabhu told. And two of his disciples they were clad with European dress. When he went to Vṛndāvana they began to criticise: "What is this? One should enter Vṛndāvana in a very poor dress and mostly humble style they go to Vṛndāvana. And that gentleman puffed up with the pride that he's a scholar, he's a preacher, he's taking the role of Mahāprabhu and not of Rūpa and Sanātana. He's going to Vṛndāvana. And what is this that the brahmacārīs along with him, those two disciples, they must have some red cloth or white cloth, but they took European dress and visited."

One Paṇḍita, Govinda Paṇḍita, Śaṅkar Tīrtha, who gave as a chairman, the first reception to Swāmī Mahārāj here in Navadvīpa I arranged that. He flatly admitted one day in a meeting: "That we first criticised Bhaktisiddhanta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, that he's ignoring the past, and ignoring the present Vaiṣṇava section. He's taking a new course of his preaching. But it was our fault now I realise."

Weekly he had a paper, Adivasi [?] And in many places, they have all criticised our Guru Mahārāj. "He's a man of modern type. He's leaves the old things, fashion, leaving respect for that." In this way, and that gentleman, that Paṇḍita, Govinda Śaṅkar Tīrtha, in a meeting he clearly told that: "We could not understand him. That he's meant, he has come for world propaganda and to take such policy as he's to conquer the whole world, and not only confined to our own cell and going on with the japam etc. The other type, he's sent from the higher order, higher sphere, to propagate this Vaiṣṇava dharma of Mahāprabhu in a novel way so that it may be acceptable by the public at large. Especially his aim was to convert the Westerners. So he took such and he presented European dress."

In the beginning I had some little doubts that why Guru Mahārāj he's in some European style? The old sādhus of India did not have so much arrangement for the bathroom, for the lavatory, all these things, anyhow they managed. But He is accustomed to go to bathroom and sanitary latrine. Guru Mahārāj himself one day told when he was a guardian tutor in Tripura, Tripura Mahārāja boy, he was the guardian to him. Guru Mahārāj's second elder brother was the Dewain of Tripura State. And Guru Mahārāj was a guardian tutor of the prince, he passed some days, and to teach the boy some English one lady tutor was engaged. That lady tutor wrote a letter to England to some of her friends, "That here I have found a Bengali gentleman who, though he has not visited Europe, but he has got peculiar taste for, very common, very appeal to the European, I find." I heard it with my own ear from Guru Mahārāj: "That lady wrote to her friend, who was the guardian tutor to teach English to the prince of Tripura, she wrote a letter there. That here I have found a Bengali gentleman who has got European taste." Ha, ha, ha, ha.

So, that sort of taste created a slight disturbance in me, in the beginning, because I am accustomed with the orthodox fashion of the brāhmaṇas and the paṇḍitas and the sannyāsīns. I come from such family. So only ontology of him attracted me and not any grandeur. In spite of his European fashion I had to submit to him for the great ontology what he could represent, and of an original way, not anything like taken in memory, only swallowing and reproducing, vomiting. His philosophy was not of a vomiting character, he read somewhere and vomiting it, not like that, but in an original, natural type. The philosophy came from his mouth of the highest type and in the line of Mahāprabhu and dealing very extraordinary reverence to the creed. The Gītā, Bhāgavatam, with very particular attention and reverence and respect he used to do.

And he did not care for anyone, however stalwart he may be of the present type. All the scholars, all the sādhus, he did not care for anyone. Only one, Vamsi dāsa Bābājī, he was an aloof man who did not enter society. He had recognition only for Vamsi dāsa Bābājī.

And he went to Vṛndāvana and he told: "Going to Vṛndāvana, visiting so many sādhus," with his hand he stroked his forehead, "I came to Vṛndāvana, such the holiest place, but my luck is so bad that I could not find a single Vaiṣṇava here." That was his standard. "Not a single Vaiṣṇava I found in the whole of Vṛndāvana area. My loss is very high." That was his standard of what Vaiṣṇavaism is.

And also, analysing and met so many śuddha Vaiṣṇavas and so many things. That attracted us, that cancelled this present Vaiṣṇava because the society, especially the brāhmaṇas, they had abhorrence for the so-called Vaiṣṇava society, and the Goswāmīs also, for their practice. Both, Goswāmīs and they abhorred them. But I had some special regard for Mahāprabhu, going through His advice and character, practices, teachings and practices. I had to make much struggle to come from the position which we hold in the society, to Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura. Only the highest ontological aspect, and give his thought, not an artificial but natural. That attracted me and so on.

He did not care for the śuddha Vaiṣṇavas or so-called Goswāmīs. He hated them. That was our experience. And we are attracted by the exclusive devotion towards Bhāgavatam, Gītā, what is Vaiṣṇavaism preached by Mahāprabhu. Wholesale, wholesale, people could not estimate how, length and breadth. So extraordinary and such earnestness to preach that, that is incalculable. The earnestness to preach the doctrine of Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu in the purest form. Too much earnestness, most intense earnestness. He was up to anything for this. So much intense earnestness to preach the doctrine and doctrine also of the purest type eliminating everything.

prithi vite yata katha dharma nam chole

What of this Lalitā Prasād and others? Single-handed he challenged the whole world, all the doctrines in the religious path, defeating them successfully. And with reason, he was practical with his faith. And at least fifty-five years I am holding that and not only that I am, it is daily corroborated by the śāstra and by the thoughts, relative thoughts, is daily being corroborated, extended, what he did is alright. ...did not care a fig for other's opinions.

Devotee: I guess there are two schools of how to spread Mahāprabhu's movement and Guru Mahārāj's ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This was his special nature. What Mahāprabhu came to give us that is very, very, very high. And we shall pose ourselves to serve it from a little lower level, and never to try to come in the same plane, then it will vanish.

Devotee: I can appreciate the quality of compassion to want to go out and preach.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh.

Devotee: And I saw that in my Guru Mahārāj and I had respect for that. But in my own feelings, I was with ISKCON for so many years and then I left, partially because I wanted to understand if there was any truth in the stories, partially because I had lost faith. I was thinking, why has my Guru Mahārāj appointed such materialistic men, like demons, stone-hearted demons, to such prominent positions? So I had a crisis within my own heart and I had to go away. And then I questioned so much that I asked myself whether I even believe there is a God. Such depth of questioning I went within my own heart. And gradually I came to accept there is God and that bhakti is the most powerful force in this world and in the spiritual world. So I can appreciate. But to perfectly honest after so many years, I can understand that love, or bhakti, is such a powerful force, but I have not had any great realisation that Kṛṣṇa is God. I've not had any mystical revelation and I think I need that very much in order to be a good teacher of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And one thing I want to ask of you is I wanted to know of your own spiritual revelation, your own vision of Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: He says that ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He wants to know my realisations about Kṛṣṇa?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is another side. I learned it from Guru Mahārāj.

Once, a zamindar [landlord] came to see Prabhupāda. Our Goswāmī Mahārāj took him, and he told, we are in a meeting in Calcutta utsava time. The zamindar told: "I have got some private talk with you." He pressed, and it was arranged. He was a respectable man. "Come." It was arranged and at night when it was dark and the candle was on the street. It was arranged, two chairs were given far away and Guru Mahārāj and that zamindar took their seat side by side.

In the darkness I hid myself there at their back. "What the talk will be?" Then that zamindar, taking his head nearer to Guru Mahārāj said: "Have you seen Kṛṣṇa?" He's putting this question. "Have you seen Kṛṣṇa?" The answer I very eagerly, anxiously waiting the answer. I was also a newcomer at that time.

Then Guru Mahārāj said: "That will be of what good to you if I say I have seen Kṛṣṇa and if you can't feel that, then what will be, what good will you derive from that? And if I say I did not see, I can't see, then what will be the effect on you for that? You rather try to know what is Kṛṣṇa and how to see Him. That is necessary for you. Otherwise a bogus man he will cheat you 'that I have seen Kṛṣṇa.' You do not know what is Kṛṣṇa, so anyone will cheat you saying 'that I have seen Kṛṣṇa.' It is such and such and you will be deceived. So try to know how we can know Kṛṣṇa and what is His conception as given in the authentic scriptures. That is necessary for you. And not by giving some answer I or anyone may cheat you 'that I have seen Kṛṣṇa.'

Devotee: But in your stage of life...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and that is being done in many places.

When I came here in a cottage first, then I found one brāhmaṇa boy who took the dress of a sakhī and lived in that locality. And as a sakhī he's dealing with the others and ordinary people they revered him much, 'Sakhī, he's seeing Kṛṣṇa, he's talking with Him.' So I saw much reverence for that gentleman in sakhī dress. Then one day, I'm a sādhu, they do not come here leaving the cottage, anyhow, one day he came to me. So many people they're talking of him but I don't give any importance to that. One day he himself came with the dress of a sakhī, and came to talk 'that I have seen Kṛṣṇa' in this way, that way.

I replied, We are not persons to believe you. We are persons of Gauḍīya Maṭh, members of Gauḍīya Maṭh, we know what is Kṛṣṇa and who can see Him and how to do it. We have got some idea. So you are a bogus man, you are preaching and you are cheating the public saying that you have seen Kṛṣṇa.

"No, no. I have seen Kṛṣṇa. Not only myself, I have shown Kṛṣṇa on the tamarind tree on the other side of the Ganges and there are so many evidences there, so many men saw Kṛṣṇa. I showed Him."

Why are you cheating yourself. I am told that you are a brāhmaṇa boy and coming in contact with these śuddha sahajiyā Vaiṣṇavas you have again come to such a stage. 'You see Kṛṣṇa.' Kṛṣṇa cannot be seen by these eyes. Adhokṣaja. We have learned something, consulted, and we have read some śāstra, Veda, Upaniṣad, Bhāgavatam, Gītā, all these things we have gone through. So don't deceive your own self. You know your self how you are. You are still a slave of your senses. You have got your lust, the anger, the this and that, so many things you feel, and I also know that. And you are simply not only deceiving the foolish persons, but what is more dangerous, you are deceiving your own self. Very strongly I put it.

And he got some impression and some day within that female dress and kept hair also like the female, was shaved, clear shaved, came to me. "Now, please enlist me amongst your disciples." At that time I began a little reluctantly, one or two actions, one or two disciples. Then there was another Godbrother with me, "No, no. You have accepted him as disciple. He will not be able to stand here, he'll go back again and he will be a blaspheme to our mission." So I flatly refused him, that I'm not going to accept you as disciple.

So, so many things. Adhokṣaja, He cannot be seen and if it is seen coming down it is very, very rare. Coming down from the spiritual sphere to the mental sphere and becomes so much strong that when eyes open overflowed can see Him. And when He withdraws nothing remains. So it is not so easy. There are so many stages - ādau śraddhā, sādhu-saṅga, bhajana-kriyā, anartha-nivṛttiḥ, bhakti, bhāva-bhakti, prema-bhakti - the stages are there, mathematical calculation we can trace in one man by measuring by computer, this philosophical computer, that how much progress is there. Has he got śraddhā proper? He will say: "Oh, Śiva is also, Śiva, Kṛṣṇa, Kali, Śakti - all God, all equal." And that man will say 'I have seen Kṛṣṇa.' So there is the standard, measurement, criterion is there in what stage one will see Kṛṣṇa. And when one has seen Kṛṣṇa what will be the after effect? One who has seen Kṛṣṇa, the after behaviour, conduct, after that what will be there? All these things to be considered.

But the sahajiyā, we hate them, they're born offenders who take Kṛṣṇa to the lower level. Svayam Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa, Sanātana Goswāmī has given the gradation. Jīva Goswāmī by what stage eliminating, eliminating, elimination, elimination of so many things within our area of knowledge. We are to go to that side. It is not very easy, easy affair.

Devotee: That's why I'm asking you, because I would not ask anyone if they saw Kṛṣṇa. But I'm seeing your quality of heart and so many years of sincere service to Kṛṣṇa. That is why I'm asking you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. I will also say that I have not yet seen Kṛṣṇa but I am in the way in search of Kṛṣṇa. I have not got Him, not seen Him, but I am in the search of Kṛṣṇa and I feel that I am on the path of real search. And whatever told, or whatever seen or said, that in the path these things will be, I have some sort of experience of that, that in the real path of Kṛṣṇa I am, so far I can guess.

But I have not the audacity to say that I have seen Kṛṣṇa, I am in līlā with Him, all these things. I revere, and I don't want also to have it so cheaply. Cheap Kṛṣṇa I don't want, this market Kṛṣṇa I do not want. I want as guided by my Guru Mahārāj to have that Kṛṣṇa. In this birth or in hundreds of births after, does not matter. This is my ideal. I'm not going to deceive anyone by any statement but I think I am in the path. By the grace of guru-varga I am in the path. That I can say.

Devotee: Mahārāj, sometimes in the songs of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, or Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura, like sometimes Bhaktivinoda says: "I am a resident of Svānanda-sukhada-kuñja." And he's speaking as if he is in līlā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That may be, we may think that is the ideal he has described after. His highest idea is that. He's doing it in his ideal life.

Devotee: Imagination?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not imagination. It is reality, not imagination, reality.

Devotee: But at that point he had already...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Seeing from afar, a little distant, something like that.

Devotee: So at that point he had access.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But feeling within his inner heart he's describing. And sometimes he says: "Suddenly I had a flash, I saw, and then when I went to mark it particularly, it vanished." Something like that.

Devotee: I have not had any flashes.

Devotee: He wants to have a flash. Bhargava, he wants such a flash.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If He is gracious you may get it, His mercy.

Devotee: I need so desperately. I had one flash before I became devotee...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Don't try easy marketing or you will be cheated. Pray, make yourself ready to pay more and more price, more and more price. Don't finish the market, or then you'll be losers. Why? The Absolute, we're after the Absolute, and the Absolute can never be finished. Then we say that we are seeking the Absolute but practically we think that we want to be masters of the Absolute. It is impossible...

Devotee: Yes, there are strong material desires.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That sort of activation should be crushed, that is to be nipped in the bud. In His search, die. Die to live, not treat miserly. Try to give yourself, and how. Then as much as you will be ready to sacrifice yourself and can successfully do it, then automatically you will find yourself in some other plane.

Devotee: I was sacrificing for many years...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As a subject and making Him object, you will be able to make Him prisoner, don't think like that. Try to become His prisoner.

Devotee: I was serving with that mood for some years...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Within your subjectivity you can have any contact with Him. Wholesale to be dissolved and your new self will come out and you will find all around Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And then sometimes Kṛṣṇa may be pleased to give you the proper picture...

Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāj

Devotee: Guru Mahārāj, what are the characteristics of the individual soul? You have spoken of devotional ego. What do you mean by that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does she say?

Devotee: She's asking: "What are the characteristics of the individual soul?" And she said: "You have made a, called a term 'devotional ego'. What is devotional ego?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She may come nearer. You may go this side. Is she Parama?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Inner ego is a serving unit. We are living in the plane of exploitation. Here we are awake. Then, withdrawing completely from this plane, of different sub-planes also, Bhūr, Bhuvah, Svah, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, all exploitation more or less, satya, raja, tama, three divisions. Then the plane of renunciation, just crossing that plane of renunciation, that marginal plane, we are to enter into the plane of devotion. And our soul awakens there. Soul is now covered by the mental and physical body. Physical body we can understand and the mental body we can find in our dream. That no activity of this physical world, but mental, in dream what we feel, see, do, all in the mental. And also sometimes in our imagination we can find that there is a mental world. But mental world is also produced by our exploiting energy, tendency.

When all these exploitation endeavours are dissolved, this is cover, both subtle and gross cover of ātmā, soul, and soul is a unit rendering all service to the environment. And there is a plane where every soul is rendering service. Just as here the opposite, everyone wants to exploit another. There, just the opposite, everyone dedicates himself for the environment as directed from the centre. We want to be centralised. Now we are decentralised. Everyone wants the satisfaction of his own senses, running towards outside, sense satisfaction, sense pleasure. And there, everyone tries to satisfy the senses of Kṛṣṇa, the all- attractive, by His beauty and love, all running towards that, to satisfy the centre.

["The constitutional nature of the jīva soul is that of an eternal servant of Kṛṣṇa."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108]

The real existence of acquaintance of jīva is the eternal slave to Kṛṣṇa. Slavery to the Supreme Good, that is not bad. Slavery in itself is not bad. We are slave to our senses, material senses, sense pleasure. But we must withdraw from there and we shall try to reinstate ourselves in a position from where we can sit and we can satisfy the sense pleasure of Kṛṣṇa, who is our Lord. We are slave to Him. And He is Absolute Good and Beauty, all good, all good, no reaction. Here we are under reaction, whatever we do we are punished by that because of exploiting others. At the cost of others we try to enjoy ourselves, but that is bad, that is reactionary. And there, we are giving everything for the centre of Absolute Lord, and everyone is thriving. That is in the general. Any other question on this lecture? You may ask. Is it clear? Am I clear? Or further questions here?

Devotee: It's not clear to her. She has another question.

Devotee: What are the characteristics in the pure state? What makes one individual soul different from another?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is that five kinds of posing in the service of Kṛṣṇa. First, the lower, is śanta-rasa, our niṣṭhā, we can keep our individuality to a certain extent, but subservient of Him - śanta-rasa - passive service, not active.

Then the next stage, higher, is active service as a servant always waiting for His dictation and whatever He wants me to do I shall do that - that is dāsyā-rasa. Śanta, dāsyā.

Next, sākhyā, service, but confidential service as a friend to friend, You and myself as if in the same plane, and You want service from me, by playing with me, and by cutting jokes with me, in many ways that is also a service. Friendly service, confidential service, that is sākhyā-rasa.

And then, the fourth stage is vātsalya-rasa. The parents are also servants, though ostentatiously they seem to be guardian. The father, mother, as a guardian looks after the welfare of the child, but that is also a form of service, through affection. The centre is the son, and father, mother, they're looking after the satisfaction of the son, always. So that is, that filial affection, that is also service, which is the fourth highest stage.

And the fifth stage is called this mādihura-rasa, the sweetest of all, and that is consort-hood. There is the Lord that is of two kinds, svākiya, parakiya, married or unmarried. 'Anyhow, He's my Lord and I am at His disposal. I want to serve Him. Any sort of service He may exact from me, I am ready for that.' This is mādihurya-rasa service, the whole thing found in Vṛndāvana in its full-fledged form.

The Yamunā, the jungle, the tree, the hill, they're of śanta-rasa. Dāsyā-rasa, so many servants working in the family of Nanda, they are drawing water, collecting wood, they are also, many other things what is necessary for the family matters they are doing, they are servant. And the friends also, the cowboys, went into the pasture ground, and they're also playing with Kṛṣṇa. Sometimes they're carrying Kṛṣṇa on their shoulders, and sometimes He Himself is sitting on his shoulder. In this way the basis of equality, but they're trying to satisfy Kṛṣṇa wholesale. They do not want their own satisfaction.

Then vātsalya-rasa, Nanda, Yaśodā, they're so very anxious and earnest for His feeding, for His up-keep, and many other things as their son, their every natha they're moving only to satisfy Him. And the gopīs also there in their way they're also trying to satisfy His desire. In this way, full five rasa is found in Vṛndāvana in its highest form. We are told and we have got our inclination and natural inner tendency to go to that place.

Reality the Beautiful, the Absolute Good. Anyhow to be utilised by Him, that centre, as our guardian. However He wants to accept me in His service we must try to be at His disposal, as He likes, for anything. But in the inner existence we have got our specific characteristic and when we enter that domain of service in general, gradually doing the service our inner awakening comes up and takes me to that section of servitors. Attraction for a particular group of servitors and then gradually I try to mix with them. And we get also some sort of external training and inner heart approves it, and gradually I have, I am engaged in the service of My Lord direct. Back to God, back to home.

We are now wandering in the foreign land. With the help of the mental and physical body we are floating in an undesirable plane, and thinking there is also there is many desirability, and running after phantasmagoria. But ultimately it cannot give us satisfaction. There is great reaction here. So, wandering through all these undesirable elements, and if by chance our energies are utilised by the agents of the Lord, that accumulated gradually takes us nearer and we feel some form of inquisitiveness comes within our mind - "That this is all mortal" - janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhī...

...Birth, death, and infirmity and disease, everywhere here we find. So I want to get out of this uncertain position. And my inner hankering, due to sukṛti, for that unknown and unknowable, the reality of my highest imagination attracts me. And I am out of my house to search for Him. Wherever I can get the clue I try to enter there. But according to the inner intensity of our awakening we are mad to find out Him, the Lord of my heart, in this way. We have got something within that is covered, and the covers are by our devotional activities becoming thinner and thinner and ultimately it disappears and our inner awakening takes us to a particular.

Suppose when the body of clay keeps me on the material plane, but if this body drops down, my mind does not find any necessity of the hard plane to stand. It can roam in the mental world. So, when mind also drops down, the mental system, the soul, the most fine thing within us, that automatically goes to that plane of soul which is made of soul, of that stuff, the Supersoul, Paramātmā. In this way, the higher and finer position we may attain, and here: yā niśā sarva-bhūtānām...

bhūtāni, sā niśā paśyato muneḥ]

...that is night to us, darkness to us now, and we are wakeful in this gross world. This is day and that is night to us. And when we shall be able to reach that plane, this will be night and that will be day. There we shall live, and move, and do everything to our heart's satisfaction. Our life will be fulfilled. We shall be, the gradation is, the comparison is possible whether this? Just as a man earns money by thieving and committing dacoiting, he feels satisfaction there. And there is also another man who gives everything to the people to the poor and others, he also feels some satisfaction in the heart. But there is difference between these two such actions. Two kinds of satisfaction, the satisfaction of a robber and the satisfaction of a patriot, satisfaction of a man who gives everything to others. The qualitative difference there of satisfaction, good or bad. So also, this is all erroneous, all suicidal, all drawing mischievous reaction. And that is just the opposite. We can feel it by comparative study. That is so high and this is so low.

Anything more, am I clear?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Our inner awakening, the awakening of our soul, transcending this body consciousness and both the mind consciousness. Mind is also a member, a subtle member, higher member, of this material engagement. Both body and mind must be dissolved and also the outer cover of the soul that is connected with renunciation. The inner awakening of the soul takes us to the higher stage. We are to enter into the higher plane as a servant and not as a master. The very plane is made of superior stuff than my own self is. There, only as a servitor we can enter for the interest of that land. Visa is issued to those that are not detrimental to the country. No visa is granted for any enemy of the country. So we shall get visa of that land when we will be considered that we are going there, entering there to contribute something to the country. And the master of that land is Kṛṣṇa. As much as I can find out within me attraction for Him, pure and intense, I will be adored there, I will be adored there. They will come and adore me. "Oh, s/he has got so much affection for our Lord. So she or he must be taken nearby and to render her heartfelt service to our Lord." In this way.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu have given this news to us, this loving and most highest prospect of our life. The highest prospect of our life is there. And who helps us to attain that life of prospect, they're our friends, otherwise others are our enemies.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!
Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Gauḍīya Maṭh, our Guru Mahārāj did not come to give supply to the clothing and food, but the standard of living, the prospect.

śṛṇvantu viśve amṛtasya putrāḥ

The Upaniṣad in clarion call announces: "You are sons of immortality, amṛtasya putrāḥ, immortal and sweet, sweetness and immortality is within you. You are of that stuff. Where you were wandering in this land of filthy clay, rotten clay? You are wandering here but you are not made so low. Your place is high, and pure, and sweet. Come, come home, your home is there. Your inner claim is within you to live there. You are created with right to live there. Why do you misuse your energy and suffer so much?"

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

śṛṇvantu viśve amṛtasya putrāḥ

"Oh, all you sons of nectar, why are you plodding in this clay, in the mud? Come up." That's the clarion call of Upaniṣad to all of us.

Max Muller told: "What wealth the Indian Upaniṣads contain, if the whole world is fed, they will be all rich. But not a speck, not a drop, will be finished.

It will be as it is." It is also said about this vidya, learning...

jnatavid vanta nenava chodi napi na nehati

no daniha coyni jnati vidya ratna maha ranam [?]

A praise of learning, jnatavid vanta nenava, when the relatives, different parties, they come to divide the common properties, but this learning, this scholarship cannot come in the division amongst the parties, can't be divided. A thief can steal anything and everything but can't steal our learning, our education, knowledge, no thief can steal. And so much so that other things if you give it then it diminishes, but this vidya, learning, if you distribute to others it won't diminish, it rather increases. By transferring to others your learning will be enhanced, not diminished.

So, devotion is higher than that, then how the qualification should be there. Devotion, the love of the Lord, as much as you can throw out you will get more His grace. "Oh, he's My agent." [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāj engaged you to sell the books, distribute the books and collect, book distribution. "Give it to all. They will be benefited."

Mahāprabhu told:

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, [āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

["Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

Whomever you find, you advise him, remind him, try to remind him about his loving Lord Kṛṣṇa. Why do you suffer? You have got such a benevolent and great Lord of infinite resources, and why do you suffer here? It's most wonderful that you all suffer and your master is so rich. So something is wrong within you. You don't want Him. You don't want Him, you want this clay. Give up this clay. Try to collect your attention towards Him. He's very, very benevolent. He will surely take you up and all your troubles will disappear.

Just as a madman when his attention is drawn towards his home, recollection comes, he's relieved. "Oh." Otherwise no friend, wandering on the street, a madman. But when madness is cleared he says: "Oh, I am so and so, I have got my home, I have got my children, my parents, a well maintained bank balance." But as long as he's mad, nothing. Moving, running, laughing, all these things, but meaningless. But the moment he gets back his previous consciousness he says: "Oh, I have got everything. Why am I wandering in the street?"

Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

So the process they have recommended what is necessary to go back to our home, take His Name, try to mix with the sādhus, and your confidence may be more and more intensified. Try to engage yourself as much as you command your energy for the service of the Vaiṣṇava, those that are represented here through whom things can reach there. To come in his connection and to feel some energy through him to the Lord, to my Lord. To increase more his attention towards Me, increase. In this way we are to try. Then a day will come when we shall find that the Lord's mercy has come down in me. "I feel with the tears of my eyes, Oh Lord, how could I stay so long without You? What misfortune to be away from You, my master, my beloved Lord." And so many friends will come: "Where were you for so long? Come, come, engage yourself in the service. Do this and I shall help you to take it to Them. Come. Where were you?"

Absconded, the madman absconded, and when he will come home with previous memory, the home members will come: "Oh, my son has come back. How he could come here? Where were you? We were worried so much for you, we searched for you in so many ways, through the newspapers, all these things, but we all failed. Now you have come our home is full with enjoyment."

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

It is mentioned when a person of servant class comes, Kṛṣṇa first touches, gives him the touch of His feet. And the friendly class, He gives His hand to him, touched by hand to hand. And the vātsalya section, the filial, then they kiss, Kṛṣṇa gives a kiss to the parent, mother or father, a kiss. And in mādhyama-rasa, a devotee comes back, He embraces her first. This is the sign of first acceptance.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Bhaktisiddhānta called this book distribution, book publishing, the Bṛhat-mṛdaṅga.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The press, Bṛhat-mṛdaṅga. Its result goes far and far away. The sound coming from the mouth can go to a few ears, kīrtana, or the sound of the mṛdaṅga, that also a few ears. But the book can go far and far away. The sound in the press produces the books and the books can go to any distance. Bṛhat-mṛdaṅga. Sound visualised, visualised sound. And that can be transformed into sound, through the eye and brain, the book is read and it can produce the sound again, anywhere and everywhere.

Devotee: The telephone from Goloka.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Kṛṣṇa Kinkara Prabhu is asking how he is to preach to others who are not aware of the presence of the soul in the lower species of life? How to prove to them the existence of the soul in the lower species of life? How to present it to them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lower species means? The creepers?

Devotee: Animals, the trees, the cows...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. Preaching is not possible for us direct to them. The higher type of Vaiṣṇava can do that, as we find in the case of Mahāprabhu. When He, from Purī, He went to Vṛndāvana, in the jungle He jumped, He danced with taking Kṛṣṇa-Nāma, and the tigers, the deer, and elephants, they also began "Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa" in their own sound. Because Mahāprabhu's vibration was so deep and intense that can reach, piercing the animal coating also into the soul. Soul's function is to chant "Kṛṣṇa" and dance, but that is thickly covered. So very deep and fine vibration, that can reach there, like x-ray piercing the cover the ray can enter. So the finest vibration can enter through the wall of the thick mind and body. So that kīrtana is possible from that position. Otherwise we can deal with them as much as possible using them in the service. What is acceptable by Kṛṣṇa, the vegetable we can collect and offer to Kṛṣṇa. The cow's milk we can devote. The bull we can utilise in the cultivation, the dog in the watch affairs. In this way as much as possible to connect them with Kṛṣṇa we can do. But there are so many human beings of different language, whatever being is near me I shall try to...

Once when I was in Madras in charge of that Maṭh, Ramakrishna Mission centre was already there, one man came to me: "You say that you want to distribute only Kṛṣṇa-Nāma, Kṛṣṇa-kathā, but people are dying, they're suffering from disease. You don't go to help them from that, like Ramakrishna Mission. If they die, then to whom you will speak about Kṛṣṇa?" That was his question.

I told: "Suppose there is a famine and the government has sent some food for all, and I am engaged in distributing the food. And the mob is all around, and some runs away for something. Then, what should I do? Those that are present I shall distribute the food to them, or stopping that food distribution I shall run to catch them? I shall waste my time and energy by running to take him here? Or as much this talk is here I shall continue distributing the food? What should I do?"

Then he told: "At present you must distribute to them."

"And then, so many are here around me, thick crowd. I am speaking Hari- kathā to them. One man is dying. That means he's leaving the present position. Should I run after him, wasting my time. I am distributing always, whoever is in my front he will catch it, he will receive it. So by leaving the distribution I must not run after a doctor to cure one or two with medicine, because the amṛta is here and I am always distributing and so many men around me. Why should I leave the duty of distribution and run after some other duty? It is immense, my stock is also enough, and then to receive this ration is also not in want. Then why should I lose my time for another, wild-goose chasing?" He was stopped.

Whomever I am finding I shall not have to run hither and thither. There are so many men and so many I won't go to learn English and airports to the English people. So many Bengalis knowing, I shall try. Then if any Englishmen come and if I've already acquired English language then of course I may use that.

There was an instance in [Gauriya?] that the tiger is there, and instead of running away, if you go to collect a stick, you go to cut a bamboo stick to deal with the tiger, in the meantime the tiger will finish you.

So, in whatever, stanisthita, in whatever position I find myself, from there, I shall try my best to utilise me for His service. I don't waste my energy that I shall learn this language, I shall collect some money, then I shall utilise it, that is waste of time. There's no end of any position. In acquiring language, or acquiring wealth, or acquiring physical strength, no end. So don't waste your energy. Wherever you are, from there, as much as you can you engage yourself fully.

The Hanumān, they went to build up the bridge with big pebbles, stone chips, and the squirrel only wet his tail and coming and whatever sand is in the wet tail he's carrying that. That has got its value. The quality is necessary, the earnestness is necessary. No amount, no quantity is big in the calculation of infinite. Quality, quality, quality takes us higher, not quantity. Whatever I am I shall do in my own way but I must not be a miser, miserly in that. That is what is wanted.

Devotee: So how to convince the human beings of the presence of the soul in the animals? That is what he wants to know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why should I, I am so eager for the animals?

Devotee: No, no. Because in the West they are killing so much the animals, specially the cow, so much of our...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So cow killing, I am not a member of the association to save cows committee. I am a member of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. I am to deal with that. Not only be a member, there are so many association, the Jains, and the so-called Hindus, they may be very much eager for cow killing association, 'don't kill cow.' But we belong to the other plane, other plane. What's the question of cow killing, Kṛṣṇa says in Gītā:

"If one can efface the whole brahmāṇḍa, can destroy the whole brahmāṇḍa, including cow, including brāhmaṇa, including sādhu, still he does not do anything, and no reaction comes, can come in him." There is such a position.

Try to attain that position, and that is also not the highest, but you are to pass through that. Self-abnegation. Don't allow yourself to be a member of this physical world, physical good and bad. But try to make yourself aloof from the physical relativity and be a member of that nirguṇa. Good or bad in calculation here, both is false, both false. So only engage yourself in distributing Kṛṣṇa. You try, and don't lose your energy, invest your energy, in any business of lower profit. Always try to distribute Kṛṣṇa-kathā, that you are connected with Kṛṣṇa, your connection is with Kṛṣṇa. If thousand times of death and birth we are to undergo to reconnect us with ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Sanātana, if by giving up this body one can get Kṛṣṇa, then in a second I am ready to die crores of times in a second. But not through that foolish sacrifice. It has got its own way, śravaṇa, kīrtana, sādhu- saṅga, Vaiṣṇava seva. Not by sacrificing, that is a kṣatriya or a bhuta tendency that "I give, I kill my own body. I am a very big man, a big person." No. It is all foolish attempt. It may puzzle the worldly man, but in Kṛṣṇa consciousness they have not got such a hero, a world hero has got no value.

So to stop cow killing, that may be the duty of a particular, life of a particular plane. But if anyone comes, I come in connection with some, "Oh don't kill" so much I may say, but I shall not go to fight and die to kill my person whose time is so valuable as to attain Kṛṣṇa consciousness. I can't waste my time in this material struggle.

His interest is so great that some, Abraham or who? He was going to kill his son Ishmael...

Devotee: Sacrifice his son.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His son Ishmael. And he heard that Allah wanted that "You must sacrifice your son for Me." And he was ready for that. To satisfy the sweet will of Kṛṣṇa, not Kṛṣṇa but some conception of theistic Lord, he was required to give his son and he was up to that test. "Yes, I am ready."

So Kṛṣṇa-kathā is so high, in its competition to save the body of a cow or this thing, that cannot come in our concern. It is a very lower propensity. It is of so high. Everything can be sacrificed for it is so valuable. Nothing can be compared to it. It is so valuable, so urgent, so necessary, so pure. So this should not be cheating, we should not cheat ourselves. If we have, we feel, that we are engaged in Kṛṣṇa-kathā, we can do service to Kṛṣṇa, then it is so high, so valuable.

A man of ordinary level in the mayic good or bad, satya, raja, tama, he will try for cow keeping and all these things, brāhmaṇas, cows, they should be, because their life is more valuable here to promote the Kṛṣṇa-kathā. The brāhmaṇas, they are generally performing also yajña, sacrifice to the Lord from far away. Some sort of lower Kṛṣṇa consciousness, very lower consciousness. And the cow is considered to supply the materials, this ghee, this dhad, this cow dung is also considered pure for the sacrifice. We are told that the birth of cow is the last birth of all the beasts and animals, the last birth is the cow. And after the cow birth is finished then the soul gets another chance what to do. He may come to human birth. The vegetable birth, then the animal birth, and there are subconscious births, that is finished in the cow birth. They give to the society more and they take very much less. And even in connection with the holy sacrifice they can contribute many things connected with yajña. So the highest birth amongst the beasts is the cow, cow species, and they're helpful for the material sacrifice. So some more attention should be given to them.

Just as human birth, human birth also valuable animal birth. Humans are also something like animals when engaged in animal transactions. From human birth he can get the free choice not to do this thing, not to do that thing, come in contact with sādhu and then work for your eternal emancipation, a very valuable position.

Just as in the playground if the football goes near the goal and that chance is missed then many come to repent, "Oh, we got the chance mature and that is finished." So, that is valuable chance. Ordinary football is going here and there with no repentance, but going near the goal and if it is missed then they is.

So this human birth and this cow birth, they have got some such value. They're revolving, suffering or enjoying their previous karma and comes to human birth, if they get, utilising which, that human birth he can effect his salvation from this vicious circle. And the cow, that is the last birth of the animal. All the debts of reaction finished and he's getting a chance of another position in balance wherefrom he can get a free choice. In this way they're considered important. And their killing, that is to do away with that higher chance possibility, that will be more criminal. The valuable chance has been set aside and been crushed, destroyed, so greater sin.

Devotee: When [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāj was in the West he preached very vigorously, especially in regards to the, because it is Christian country, the law "Thou shalt not kill" in order to protect the cows.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And also, cow has some reverence, that Kṛṣṇa loved the cows there, and some perverted reflection here. So cow killing, that is hateful to us, to the sādhu it will cause some bad sentiment, undesirable sentiment. Cow is favourite of Kṛṣṇa. Though that cow is not this cow, still some perverted reflection, cow killing. That is something minimum.

Just as one told one beggar went to beg something from a householder and the housewife was told: "Give some alms," "I shall give you ass." "Yes give me that." Then, "Are you ridiculing, casting jokes with me? Will you accept this ass." "Yes. I shall accept ass." "Why?" "The first thing is that you begin this habit that a beggar should be given something. Practice it. By giving, extending your hand to the beggar with the ass, you may think you may have the chance of practising to give something. That effect. Another is that the ass can also be utilised in the service of Kṛṣṇa by cleansing His utensils, I shall utilise that and you will get some benefit out of that. So give me ass. I'm standing for that, not to cut a joke with you."

So, come with your cautious and benevolent spirit, and not to kill the cow. Then, don't kill the elephant, the dog, all these things. Killing means that 'he will kill you.' If you kill the cow, the most valuable chance in the animal world, then sure you will meet with the same disaster. To every action there is the equal and opposite reaction. He has come just to the verge of the animal kingdom, and next birth he will attain that of a human being.

And by killing that, he could clear off his debt if he could live more time. But you have given opposition to that, for his clearance of his past debt, you are being responsible for disturbing her to clear off her debt and coming away. So as valuable a life you are destroying, you will have to suffer the reaction of that type. So don't do that.

There is gradation in our disturbance in the animal and vegetable kingdom. Always there is gradation in our activity. In the service of Vaiṣṇava also. If we get the chance of serving a Vaiṣṇava of higher type then we get some higher benefit. Everywhere, the gradation is there.

Devotee: It's said in the Bhāgavatam that by killing the cows the quality of mercy is destroyed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mercy. Amongst the cow also there are also different types. There may be one cow who has acquired that sukṛti of devotion.

Devotee: Like the ones here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. In the cow, in the vegetable kingdom, everywhere, ajñāta-sukṛti, and disturbance to him, that will affect some disturbance in my plane of that line.

Devotee: We understand that the cows here, they are the topmost of the cows, because they are serving the topmost of the Vaiṣṇavas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There may be a devotee cow. Suppose a cow who has got chance in this life to supply her milk to the Deity, to kill that cow is to cause more disturbance and he will have to reap the result accordingly. The interest of the devotee and the Lord is also disturbed thereby. So that cow killing and ordinary cow killing will be different, and so also everywhere. The dog who is watching the temple compound, to kill that, that goes to the higher plane and the damage will be accordingly charged. This subtle calculation will always be there. The flowers that are in the compound, they're destined to be offered to the Deity, some thief came and stole them, so he will be more punished, heinously. And even the man who is here who does not care for that, they will curse them: "We are meant, we are living here, we have got the chance of coming here, my production will go to the Lord of my heart and you are neglecting me. And the others have taken me and took me to the prostitute, and you can't oppose that." So many subtle things to be calculated.

When we had a lecture hall in Madras, constructed by their money, a Madras gentleman, then, some people came, it was a good, big hall, built in a new style, then some marriage party came: "Please allow us to use this hall for our marriage ceremony. It will be very suitable to us." "No, no. It is not meant for that." "You have constructed this hall from the money of this country and it is our necessity, a social activity. We also have devotion towards God and this marriage function will have some God consciousness. Why do you not allow?" Then one: "No. It is not meant, it is only for Kṛṣṇa's pleasure, not anyone else."

Another party came who had much recognition for Subrahmanya, Kārttikeya. They believed that Kārttikeya is also very high order of God. "We want to have a function here for the Subrahmanya." "No. We can't allow that." "Why not? Our country, our contribution, everything ours. You all want to worship God with Kṛṣṇa, we are also worship Subrahmanya. That is also God. We have high respect for him. Why his function can never be allowed here?" Then I had to give another example. Suppose you have your wife. The whole of her service is meant for you, and will you allow her to serve confidentially another gentleman?" "No, no. That is not possible. And it is so." "This hall is given for the service of Kṛṣṇa, Mahāprabhu. And we find that is not a material thing, it is all conscious, cinmaya, and it won't like to serve any other god, whoever he may be. He's meant for this, for Kṛṣṇa. So for her chastity we can't allow you, then she will curse us. She is meant only for Kṛṣṇa consciousness and not any other thing. There may be so many different consciousness of God." Then, what he will say? He went away.

In what connection this example came?

Devotee: The connection of the cows and everything belonging to ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, the flowers born here meant for Kṛṣṇa and if anyone takes that is most deplorable for her, for the plant. In plant life also so much consideration that the connection of Kṛṣṇa consciousness has universal measurement, standard.

Gaura Hari bol!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...That means Kṛṣṇa got promotion, ha, ha, ha. He was a calf keeper, from today He became a cow keeper, got promotion. And we find near Nandagram the local pandas collect there many cows nearby Kadumkandi [?] in a meadow, and there they feed them well, the cows, in commemoration of that service of Kṛṣṇa towards the cows. Cows are represented as innocent of all the animals, satya-guṇa pradhāna, peaceful nature, of all the animals they're considered to be peaceful nature. They're all devotees of śanta- rasa. Many souls aspire after the cow birth in Vṛndāvana, that is, śanta-rasa bhakta. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says:

carāobi mādharma jāmuna-tīre vaṁśī bājāto ḍākobi dhīre

["O Mādhava, I see You leading Your herds to pasture on the banks of the Yamunā. You call to them by gently playing on Your flute."]

[Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Avaśya Rakṣibe Kṛṣṇa — Viśvāsa, Pālana. Faith in Kṛṣṇa as Protector]

"We will engage ourselves in grazing on the banks of the Yamunā and sometimes by playing on Your flute You will guide me, call me, guide us, call us."

So, go-dhana, śanta-rasa devotees of Vṛndāvana, go-dhana, the cow. Cow-natured devotees like to be handled by Kṛṣṇa. Everything is conscious there. We should not forget that as the fundamental. Consciousness, plus the important serving attitude, that is all important, without that, no entrance into that plane.

Exploitation and renunciation left outside. And the calculative service is also in the lower position. Spontaneous serving attitude in any form or other, that can reach the plane of Vṛndāvana, Vraja-dhāma.

Then, our Guru Mahārāj Śrīla Bhaktisiddhanta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura, to save the people from committing offences against...

[some Bengali conversations are briefly held here]

Generally we commit offence by imitation. Our nature is to show progress to the people at large. That means...

[some Bengali conversations are briefly held here also]

Imitation, to imitate Rūpa and Sanātana, to imitate the other pure devotees of higher level...that means pratiṣṭhā, imitation means, presupposes, our name and fame. So we must learn, we must be sincere to our own self, we must not indulge in imitation, only to get the name and fame of a devotee, overnight. That will be self-deception.

To save us from that, our Guru Mahārāj, he came with a plan of service of the Vaiṣṇavas. Generally, Vaiṣṇavas that live single life, they do not allow anybody to serve them. So Vaiṣṇava sevā is very rarely found. But Guru Mahārāj has arranged in such a way that one is serving another and engaged in and helping in that. In this way, everyone gets the advantage of serving a Vaiṣṇava, as well as Viṣṇu, Guru, so the missionary life, organised life of an exclusive service holder in the Maṭh, one gets that advantage of serving under the direction of the higher Vaiṣṇava, the Vaiṣṇava service, everything they have. And they ask us: "Don't try to go hurriedly to the higher level. Try to remain in the lower. The circumstance, the environment, will help you to go up. Don't be eager to hold the upper position, the environment will do that, and that will be natural progress. Always try rather to keep downwards. That is his instruction.

Purify your inner heart. Don't be eager to purify the outer aspect. Innermost aspect, that is all-important. Try to convert that into Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Do not make yourself busy to keep up a show as a devotee of Kṛṣṇa. But with the heart within, there, give all attention, all attention. External show, that is not very injurious, but if the disease is within, when that will come up, come over, that can create havoc. Try to purify the inner most part of your heart of your existence. So, do some service under the guidance of the Vaiṣṇava. You may not understand what is service, what is not service, where is that pratiṣṭhā, that fate of renunciation, or crude, subtle exploitation. Cast yourself wholly at the disposal of the Vaiṣṇava proper, and try to be utilised by him. Make your own ego aloof, take it off, and allow a Vaiṣṇava to work in the workshop of your own heart, allow him to handle. So, come to understand what is service proper, sacrifice, sacrifice.

Nirmat-sarāṇām satām [see Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.2], a matsara, who cannot tolerate the high position of another. "Why should I not get the better position?" That is the most dangerous enemy in this campaign. So don't believe your own self, don't trust your own self. Rather, trust the Vaiṣṇava, the Guru, and allow them to handle your own self. You will be benefited thereby, more and more. So, Guru is your proprietor.

Jīva Goswāmī says, giving reference, quotation: vikrtesu yatha pasu

Just as a purchased animal is used by the proprietor, you take that model, that humble standard. "We're a purchased animals to my Lord, my Gurudeva. In anyway he likes he may utilise me, anyway. Die to live. We can live thereby in the finest plane, unassailable plane wherefrom we can never be disturbed, or never be removed.

Guru Mahārāj laid stress very much on this point. You know what is service proper. What is that plane? Enquire after that highest plane. The spontaneous flow of service towards the Absolute, there is that current, the most underground, most fundamental current of the whole existence is that. Irresistible and causeless. And you are wanted to connect with that plane. Your innermost part of soul only can be a member in that plane. Back to home, back to God. Back to home, back to God, back to home, the conception, Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead is there in the most fundamental, most subtle, the flow of love, beauty, harmony. There, if you can find yourself, all this gross dress, this coat and cloth may be eliminated. There you are to wake. Back to God, back to home. And that is all-important. Other forms, they take the Name, worshipping the Deity, to hear the class, regular śravaṇa, to chant and dance. Everything may be service, every form, but to be service, the connection with that plane is indispensable. Otherwise all these will be like - no bullet but just the sound - a blank form, a blank shot. Otherwise all will be blank shot. Form, but not the life, not the spirit. The spirit is the serving element, the sacrifice, that die to live. As much as you can die, apparently, you'll be able to live so much.

So, today is also the day when in this day in the year Śrīnivāsa Ācārya Prabhu and Dhananjaya Paṇḍita and Gadādhara Dāsa Prabhu, these three pārṣada Vaiṣṇavas of Mahāprabhu disappeared, the day of disappearance. First, Gadādhara Dāsa, rather, Gadādhara Paṇḍita is considered to be the bhāva, the internal mood, of Rādhārāṇī, internal attitude, serving attitude, serving mood. And the kānti, the lustre, the outer part, is said to be represented by Gadādhara Dāsa. He was born in 24 Padmana near Ayiyadaha [?]. But in his last days he passed in Katwa, where Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa. And he accepted disciple there, and the descent of that disciple, they are now in the management of that Maṭh. Their origin is from Dāsa Gadādhara. Dāsa Gadādhara's tomb is also found there in that compound.

And there is also the tomb of the hairs of Mahāprabhu there. Mahāprabhu had very good curling hair, beautiful, and during the time of sannyāsa the barber, times, considered number, closed to shame, and come back. "I won't be able to take off such fine, beautiful figure, beautiful fine, curling hair, I can't shave." He goes to shave by His order but comes back. "No. I can't." Anyhow he had to obey the order. Those hairs are put there in the samādhi.

And there, took Gadādhara Dāsa amongst the contemporary devotees of Mahāprabhu, took the charge of that tīrtha place and installed Mahāprabhu Mūrti temple, and continued the service of the temple there, Gadādhara Dāsa. Today is the day of his disappearance. We shall pray for his grace that his grace will help us in our attainment of highest love.

Then another, Dhananjaya Paṇḍita, he was one of the twelve assistance of Nityānanda Prabhu, Dadasa Gopāla. Balarāma had His twelve subordinate gopa boys in Vṛndāvana. And here also, Nityānanda Prabhu, He represents Balarāma, and He has got His twelve followers. And Dhananjaya Paṇḍita was one of them. And his birthplace was also very nearby, Sitala-Grama. The Katwa – Burdwan railway line, there is Kaicara station nearby Sitala-Grama. There the memory of Dhananjaya Paṇḍita is also preserved. When Nityānanda Prabhu, at the request and order of Mahāprabhu, who was in Purī, in Bengal, Nityānanda Prabhu came and began to preach about Kṛṣṇa-līlā and Gaura-līlā, the Dhananjaya Paṇḍita and others helped Him for that purpose.

Then comes Śrīnivāsa Ācārya. Śrīnivāsa Ācārya's father, Padmana Bhaṭṭācārya [a.k.a Gangadhara - and later as Chaitanya Dāsa], he was class friend of Mahāprabhu, of Nimāi Paṇḍita. When his home was on the Nadiya district, just on the other side of Agrodi [?] station there. The name of the village is Chakundhi. A brāhmaṇa family, paṇḍita, and he married in Yajigrama, near Katwa. Mahāprabhu took His sannyāsa, and this Padmana Bhaṭṭācārya, from his father-in-laws house, he was just going to his own house, and heard that Nimāi Paṇḍita has come to take sannyāsa. He knew Him, a great scholar and charming figure in all respects. He went to see, and the people were mad in that āśrama of Keśava Bharati, a good Śaṅkara school sannyāsī.

And Padmana Bhaṭṭācārya went to see that "Nimāi Paṇḍita is taking sannyāsa? What is this? An unthinkable scholar, and exclusively beautiful figure, all capturing, commanding persons, and He has come to take sannyāsa? How? We cannot conceive life without Him. And how His mother and newly married young wife will even be able to live?" With this feeling he went to, and he was struck dumb to find what was flowing there.

Two parties, one party under the direction of Mahāprabhu is going to request Bharati: "Do the function as early as possible." Another party there stood, "No. This young boy can never be given such a sannyāsa life, you Bharati. We won't allow you to give sannyāsa to this boy. You have come to spoil our society. It can never occur." In this way. And Padmana, he is watching what is going on there.

Then after all, Mahāprabhu's will, that got the predominance, and generally, everything subsided and near the afternoon time the sannyāsa began and it was done. Mahāprabhu told Bharati "That I have got this mantram of sannyāsa in a dream. Please see whether it is the real mantram or not." He gave it to the ear of Bharati. Bharati said: "Yes. It is alright. This is it. Take it." In this way. And the name, what name should be given. He was thinking and there was some sound from above — the Kṛṣṇa Caitanya — Bharati took that and put. The name was given. Padmana waited ...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Mahārāja

Devotee: I want to ask, concerning the neutral, the first position, or rasa, of neutral devotee. I understand it that the neutral devotee is one who has some affection for Kṛṣṇa but does not necessarily want to have a relationship of serving Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What do you mean by neutral devotee?

Devotee: Śanta-rasa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is not neutral. Neutral means both sides he has got, but śanta-rasa, that mere submission to the truth not active tendency to satisfy Him, that is śanta-rasa. That is mere submission and slight attraction, but not so much inspiration as to serve Him, to satisfy Him. That is lowest rasa, the submissive closeness, nearness of the truth, not any active transaction. That is śanta-rasa. That is not to be called neutral. Neutral both the parties not connected with any party but many parties of different types and he's neutral, he's numb, he's for none. But śānta-rasa means submission, submissive to the truth but not actively engaged to follow His dictations, to satisfy Him. That is śānta-rasa. the lowest order. Niṣṭhā, the poor truth, not active, the service, serving, not practically in service, practical connection, but admits and submits to the truth, that is the lowest conception of a devotee.

Devotee: My question is if someone is having that position simply submissive but still not so much actively wanting to serve...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is also, there are also so many inter stages, analytical stages, the śānta-rasa to Vaikuṇṭha, śānta-rasa in Vṛndāvana. They're different, and in that posing also, the flute also śānta-rasa. The Yamunā, the river, the hill Govardhana, the forest, the earth, the sand, all śānta. So many birds also śānta-rasa, beasts also śānta-rasa, there gradation in śānta-rasa also and different type in śānta-rasa. The seat śānta-rasa, cows are śānta-rasa, so many śānta-rasa. Passive attitude, more or less passive attitude, they're serving in a passive way, śānta-rasa.

Devotee: So how is it that they have changed their position in the spiritual world without having such a deep desire to want to serve Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is personality inside. You see the Ganges is there in the watery body, but the person Ganges is there, the Yamunā person is there, though water flow of a river, his body. So the person within and the body is in a passive way rendering service. We are to consider that, they're person, they're not property, not things only, but they're suitable to render that sort of passive service. The śimhāsana, the cakra, the dress, the bed, all śanta-rasa, the food, śanta-rasa but passive mood, rendering service, but there is personality within. Posing is such, just as in a drama a man he's playing the part of a dead body.

Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, today is the disappearance day of Śrīla Gaura Kīśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, so could you please say something about him?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Kīśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, he was born in Pharidapura district near Padmā River. He came in a merchant family, but, and he took initiation from Advaita Goswāmī, but afterwards when mature in life he left the world and went to Vṛndāvana. His previous name was Vaṁśī dāsa and then when he approached his Gurudeva, who was the disciple of Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī, one Bhāgavat dāsa took his, this bābājī-veśa from him and began his bhajana, mainly taking the name, mahā-mantra, and he used, his habit was very strict vairāgya habit, his vairāgyam, his renunciation was very, very, firm and strong.

Then about thirty two years he passed in Vṛndāvana, after that he got some inspiration within and came to live in Navadvīpa, and there is a place where he used to live, sometimes in a cottage and sometimes in a public dharmaśālā to avoid the crowd, the mob.

By the direction of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura he has no disciples. He did not initiate anybody we are told. He might have given one or two, but not to be traced. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura knew him because he also had connection with Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, and he recommended our Guru Mahārāja to take Hari-Nāma from him, and my Gurudeva Bhaktisiddhānta Ṭhākura at that time he was Bimalānanda Sarasvatī and his sannyāsa name is Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī. Bimalānanda Sarasvatī previously was his title given by astronomer section, Sarasvatī.

He was a brahmacārī from his birth and only reading śāstra and observing the pathana, etc, and having a press and publishing books and journals in spiritual matters. Purely recommended by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura to take Hari-Nāma from Gaura Kīśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, he approached.

Then Gaura Kīśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja told, "Yes. I am not independent. I shall ask my master. If he agrees to accept you through me then I shall fulfil your desire."

Our Guru Mahārāja told, "I was famous at that time as a good Vaiṣṇava theologians, well read in the Vaiṣṇava scriptures, and of pure character, conduct, and education, and knowledge of Vaiṣṇava philosophy, all these things. I was already famous in the society, still he ignored me."

"Yes I shall ask."

"Then next time I approached him, have you asked Mahāprabhu?" "No, no, I forgot, I forgot to ask permission."

Guru Mahārāja told to us, out of his humility we take it, "That I had some pride in me that I am a good scholar, extraordinary scholar, and a man of pure character, but when I heard that he had forgot, so many so called stalwarts in the Vaiṣṇava school, they're all aspiring to get me as their disciple but I don't approach them, they're approaching me in some way or other, but I don't approach anybody. Under the direction of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura I am going to Gaura Kīśora Dāsa Bābājī, and he says that "he has forgot". There so many stalwarts in the sampradāya, they're so eager to get me as their disciple and he says that so neglectfully. Oh I have got that pride in me, so I am unfit for his discipleship. Then next time I approached..."

"Yes, Mahāprabhu has accepted your prayer, you come." and he gave Hari- Nāma. And perhaps we are told he was his only disciple.

Like Lokanātha, Narottama. Lokanātha Goswāmī did not make many disciples, not in a mood to make disciples, but his disciple Narottama, he inundated the whole of North Bengal, collected numberless number of disciples.

So our Guru Mahārāja, Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī did not extend his grace to many, but our Guru Mahārāja taking the misers property and distribute like anything, and aspire to conquer the whole world with the name of Mahāprabhu under his banner.

So Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī was of such temperament, nirapeska, without caring for anything, but only for the Lord and His grace.

Once we are told that Pran Gopāl Goswāmī who was a very renowned scholar of Bhāgavatam, and could explain Bhāgavatam very beautifully, popular explainer of Bhāgavatam, but he approached Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Goswāmī once, "Babaji Mahārāja, they say that I can explain Bhāgavatam very nicely. I like that if you hear one day my explanation of Bhāgavatam, then I'll think myself very fortunate."

But he does not say anything, twice, thrice, he came with proposal, but he did not speak any word. But one day he himself made some arrangement, just before him and with his own men and own materials he came and made a (sava?) and gave invitations to many devotees, and began Bhāgavatam reading just in his front.

Babaji Mahārāja is sitting without saying, uttering anything, always sitting, he is there taking Name. Then the Goswāmī went on, all the audience went away, then he was asking his personal attendant to, "cleanse this place and smear with cow dung to purify."

"What's the matter Bābājī Mahārāja? It is already clear and pure. Goswāmī came and discussed about Bhāgavatam, explained Bhāgavatam here. It is already pure so why am I to again brush, you say, and to smear cow dung to purify?"

"Oh you heard the explanation of Bhāgavatam, but I heard only money, money, money. If he can spread amongst people that Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja heard his explanation of Bhāgavatam, it will fetch more money for him. That trade. He made Bhāgavatam subservient to his ordinary sensual life. We should serve Bhāgavatam. Bhāgavat is Kṛṣṇa Himself and we must serve Bhāgavatam leaving every comfort aside. We shall try to take the instruction of Bhāgavatam from door to door, to get relief to so many suffering souls, but he's utilizing that Bhāgavata-kathā, that purest, that world saving, that nectar, he's trying to utilize for his own sensual life. To serve his sensual life he's committing offences against Bhāgavatam, it is not service of Bhāgavatam."

In this way another new, young man taking initiation from somewhere, he built a cottage just on the Ganges bank, and he began to imitate Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī. Very, in abnegation, in renunciation, only once he takes some food and that also in earthen pot, he takes this skull of a, the human skull, used that as a pot, the water and everything in the skull. In this way he used to show just something like this (tinkari grubhasan?) The external renunciation, very stern renunciation, and he lived there and to chant the name, then some approached, "That this boy has come to imitate you and has erected a cottage, competition in your side. What is this?"

Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja remarked in a very serious way, "That if a lady enters into the labour room and imitates some sound as she is feeling the pain of giving birth to a child, then child will come? That imitation of the sound and the imitation of the practice, the child won't come." So the mere imitation, the (sudāsata?), we must come and perform many things before giving birth to a child, many things happen before.

So omitting all those things, to approach real Guru, and then serve him, then to take the Name, and then dedicating, and then coming in contact with śuddha- sattva, pure conscious area, and then by serving, attending to a particular place, and then one may then show all these natural vairāgyam, and taking the Name. But if he enters only like a lady and imitates that he has got the highest level, it's a mere imitation, cannot do anything. This to hear he told, in this way he has got many remarks about śuddha-bhakti.

And lastly when he disappeared there was a quarrel. The sahajiyā section wanted that they will have under their control the samādhi, and our Guru Mahārāja was informed. He was in Māyāpur, he came, "No, though he lived amongst you but he was far from you, you are all sahajiyā section, but he was a pure devotee, mahā-bhāgavat, and I am his disciple, I want to manage, take care of his samādhi." Then he had to approach the police station, and the sub inspector he ordered that our Guru Mahārāja, as he was disciple of him, according to his wish his samādhi will be finished.

It was done so and at that time Prabhupāda first met Kuñja Bābu, Kuñjabihari Vidyābhūṣaṇa, who was afterwards his general secretary, and then afterwards he was a sannyāsī, Bhakti Vilās Tīrtha Mahārāja. He met him at that time and gradually he approached him, and became disciple, and began to organize the preaching campaign.

Again, Guru Mahārāja, when by the current of the Ganges, that samādhi place was broken, he removed the bones of Bābājī Mahārāja to Māyāpur, and there he, in a box, we were present at that time, the remains were taken in a box, and with mantram that was put under the ground there in samādhi Māyāpur, and the temple is built just in the eastern side of Rādhā-kuṇḍa there in Caitanya Maṭh.

I have composed also a śloka in praise of Gaura Kīśora Dāsa Bābājī. Published in Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, Life-nectar of the surrendered souls.

Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, I have heard vaguely of a pastime of Kṛṣṇa called paying the toll. Kṛṣṇa, He would hide in the bushes of Vṛndāvana and Rādhārāṇī would, with the other gopīs, come to pick flowers and Kṛṣṇa would come out of the bushes and say that She had to pay a tax, because He owned all the flowers in that forest.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We should not venture to try to conceive about those līlā, because the misrepresentation will be heard and in future we shall have to meet the great difficulty, when really we shall face that soil, position. So it is not to be tackled. Only if we come in connection, we should show our reverence and keep it for our future. Do you see? The higher mathematical astronomicals, here the brain will be puzzled and we will misconceive, and afterwards we will have to face a great difficulty. So many misunderstanding, or malunderstanding will come to take place. It is not so, as conception we can have in our best, consciousness here, it is far, far, beyond, so we shall not. Fools rush in where angels fear to tread.

Only this much we shall try to think, that Kṛṣṇa is all in all, and all His whims, His desires are purest and purifying the atmosphere. The standard of purity must be realised, what is the real standard of purity, purity, to be acceptable to Kṛṣṇa. Only pleasures are condemned for our selfish end, selfish end, because we are deviated from the Absolute Good of Reality. So what is normal, or absolute good in the highest realm, if that sort of right is exercised here in this mundane plane it is a great hindrance to that, to reach there.

The prejudice, mollified prejudice, that won't be, it will be very hard to remove them. That is aparādha, aparādha, misconception, but misconception not innocent but in the form of offence, offence, because that plane is not material. Not objective but subjective. Whatever misbehaviour towards the higher subject, that is all offence and that is detrimental to us. We should remember, fools rush in where angels fear to tread. So we may hope the time may come once, when we shall be able to deal with those things properly, properly.

anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyaṁ, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-
śīlanam bhaktir uttamā

Fleeting desires in our stage, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam. Systematic activities with religious colours. Having some relation with the spiritual truth, elevation, but with connection with spiritual truth, that is karma. Jñāna, to understand that the environment where we are present, everything is undesirable and harmful. And eagerness to renounce the whole present circumstance and environment, tyāga, liberation, emancipation, negligence and also inquiry after things subtle, higher, where we can have some subjective position, in the subtle world where we can have our subjective position, we can control our subtle forces. Anāvṛtam ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu.

And also to reject the proposal of going against the pleasing play of the Lord, that is śuddha-bhakti, bhakti proper. Then there is the Paravyoma, and then Kṛṣṇaloka. Then there is also śanta, dāsya, sākhyā, vātsalya, though not the same with this world, but similar. We can try to enter into, but this mādhyama-rasa is very mystic and of the highest type, especially parakīya, parakīya, which is not sanctioned by the society, nor by the scripture, such independent contact with the Lord. He's above all, above everything, not only above my life, my highest prospect, the society, the relatives, even my religion, conception of religion. Everything is one side, and all rejected for our quest for our union with the truth, with the highest substance.

So the step by step, we must have to go forward, otherwise if from the lowest step we try to understand the highest, that will be misconception and those errors will be very difficult to be removed. So we are told don't try to approach from this mundane plane. The Bhāgavatam has given the greatest warning.

naitat samācarej jātu manasāpi hy anīśvaraḥ vinaśyaty ācaran mauḍhyād yathā 'rudro 'dvijaṁ viṣam īśvarāṇām vachaḥ satyaṁ, tathaivacharitaṁ kvachit teṣāṁ yat svavacho yuktaṁ buddhimāns tat

[One should never imitate the behaviour of great personalities. One who foolishly does so, even mentally, is doomed, just as one who imitates Lord Śiva drinking poison. - The instructions of the great personages are always true, but their conduct and their practices may not always be useful to the beginners. So the sober person will accept those practices that are backed by his words, understanding that in his higher stage he may do something which may not be useful to those of a lower stage. He has such spiritual power that what may be seen as a defect in the beginner, cannot harm him in any way. Therefore the fair minded beginners will accept those practices which are in consonance with his instructions, as being useful to their progress.] (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.30-1)

Yes, that is the highest achievement, no doubt, but never venture to approach that in a non scientific way. In a proper way. If you do you will be finished. Jātu means never, no, jātu, never try to approach this higher truth. Even by mind, even mentally. The sahajiyās are practically trying to imitate that but Bhāgavatam has said clearly that not even mentally should you try to approach those līlā, that heavenly, the divine līlā of the Lord, so secret, private, purest thing, even mentally. What to speak of physical imitation, but mentally also you don't indulge yourself to bring

Who is not master of his own self, who has not controlled all his selfish propensities, tendencies, if he does so what will be the effect? If due to foolishness, stupidity, he ventures to approach even by mind, he will be destroyed, ruin is sure. Even due to his ignorance or stupidity or foolishness, he ventures to mix, to associate with that higher truth, he will be finished.

How? Who is not Mahādeva, Śiva, if he goes to drink the poison he's sure to die, but it was ornamental to a man of position like Mahādeva. Mahādeva, He took the poison, but He was nirakantha, some ornamental spot came in His throat, He did not die. But if in an inferior position than Śiva he goes to drink the poison he is sure to die.

This is also like that, so don't venture. It is not so, it is not so lower achievement, the highest achievement, and you are to follow step by step, step by step, and according to your purification you will be able to perceive, to conceive, otherwise it will have no meaning to you. So really if we want that high thing, then we must be very much careful, otherwise our future, our prospect, will be spoiled forever. If you love you, if you love your own self, then for the sake of the prospect of your own self you should avoid it, otherwise that will be suicidal, suicidal.

It is there, the smallest portion can satisfy, even the conception of ones own soul can suffice to create a sensation of wonderfulness in his mental plane. Practical, it is practical. If eliminating your mind which is mixed with this mundane ideas and thoughts, with the help of your pure intelligence, reason, conscience, you can catch up, you can rise up to the level where your soul is, your own soul, ātmā, and you will be charmed to have the conception of that. That can stupify you, sufficient, the conception of your own soul is sufficient to stupify, that what am I doing here?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The ātmā, the spirit, proper, spirit proper, the soul is a thing of such wonderful type that when anyone comes to have a touch of that soul, his own soul, he will be stupified. Finding what strange substance is there and I am that strange thing, I am, and what are these material achievements for which we are running, life after life, this is all nasty thing. And how higher substance is my soul, it does not require any help from all these material world. He can stand by himself and how peaceful, pacifying. A new world, he's giving a glimpse of a new world, whose comparison can never be drawn here in this world however astonishing they may be. The scientific research on this, that, all trash, all will be, it has come and it is surely to be dissolved. Janma-mṛtyu- jarā-vyādhi-duḥkha-doṣānudarśanam (the perception of the evil of birth, death, old age and disease - Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9)

And that is eternal, and that is self conscious, and no mortality or no harm of any can touch it, touch it, that is. Then that jīva soul, then that Paramātmā, then the land where they live, and then the highest from whom everything as this wonderful world emanating, and the highest conception of the līlā, both positive and negative, grouped highest type, however it should be. One's own soul is sufficient to supply the charm for his future, real spiritual life, neglecting, spiting whatever aspiration we may conceive here in this world. Our going to the moon, and some news from the sun and this or that, all mortal nasty things, undesirable, not only but all trespasser to dispossess us of our own wealth, all these enemy clan.

[Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāja told in New York, "Oh you ingenious, you have built such big palaces, so high, but have you thought about your transient mortal characteristic of your own body? They will live for hundred thousand years but what about you, the builder of this big palace, you ingenious, where should you go? Have you thought of that?"

Only what is required that we shall try our best anyhow to meet face to face with that soil, soil of soul, what is soul and what is matter. Then the development gradually there to the highest, otherwise everything will be, (kāma pledge?), everything will be hoax, hoax. For some days we shall associate with all these things and a reaction will come and we shall go and preach to the public, "Oh I have tried my best to get that but that's nothing, all hoax." All come from designed persons as the communists say's, "They're enemies of the society, only giving hoax to the ordinary public, and causing hindrance to their peaceful life here in the material world."

Without our proper attention to learn to take the labour of learning a, b, c, d, we cannot hope to have the pleasure of reading a novel, a good book, a novel. Before that we must be, we must have sufficient knowledge about the letters and the meaning of the word. Then we can hope that we shall read and we shall get some pleasure by reading the thoughts deeper.

[Those sages who, being merged in the bliss of the spirit soul, are totally free from the binding knot of mental images - they too engage in the unmotivated service of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the performer of marvellous deeds. This is but one of the qualities of the Supreme Lord Hari, who charms the entire world.](Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.7.10)

So many experts that have at least laboured hard to understand his own position, who is he, he is the soul. Even from there it is difficult to go up. They are captured by the charm of their own soul, as we are charmed by the material things, this body and the food of this body. So the liberated souls they are also charmed by their souls, own souls strange position, and does not want anything else, ātmārāma. But there are few ātmārāma that comes to say, "No there is higher world made of stuff superior to that by which we have been composed."

Generally the spiritualists they do not have any recognition of the superior world, they say, "We are in the highest position, highest position. What we have found in our soul, there cannot be any higher thing." All imaginary and speculation, but very few of them can have such favourable conception to the higher world.

But those that are living in that world, when they come as messenger, as agent of that world here, with the help of them we can pass to that world, and we can know things of that world. When the Lord Himself comes in different forms or sends His own agents, then it is possible for us to know about that land, that plane, and the gradation how there is, and then it is also difficult to have faith in that.

Only by the help of sukṛti that we can understand that there is Nārāyaṇa, Vasudeva, Nārāyaṇa, Rāmacandra, Dwārakesh, Mathurā, Vṛndāvana, and Kṛṣṇa holds the supreme position, most supreme position. Apparently He's a thief, He's a debauch, He's whimsical, but still He's admitted by the highest spiritualists of a particular section, that that is the highest conception. His whimsical, His autocracy, that is the best boon for us. The highest thing is of such nature that His aggression towards us will be the highest benediction for us, blessing for us.

To our true reason guided by spiritual faith we can understand to certain extent as it may be, it may be possible. The highest good is above law, above morality. That if with proper distribution of the wealth amongst us all, we are separate personalities with separate interests, this is lower position, we must transcend. We are all included in Him. He is our common guardian, well wisher, and everything. All our fulfilment in His holy feet, all with the highest fulfilment of every existing atom is in the attainment of the holy feet of the highest Lord. He's so pure, so affectionate, and so intimate to us, truth is so intimate, so much well wisher, and so much desirable for us.

We heard from Guru Mahārāja, "Don't delay for a minute, if you say that 'there is a fire, I must extinguish that and I am coming' no, no, what will burn to ashes, that is your enemy. All your inner hankering can be satisfied only in the holy feet of your Lord. You cannot conceive how much demand, and how much variegated nature of demand is within you, and for what, and there they will all have their fullest satisfaction in His holy feet. He is such, He is such so search for Him. Your life will be fulfilled. These are all trashes, ashes, rubbishes. Go forward, onward, according to the direction of the guide He's sent to you. Elimination and acceptance, no other, no attraction for anything in the environment, go, go, go onward, onward, onward until you reach such, the Vṛndāvana."

Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura says when he's having some approach towards Vṛndāvana,

[māraḥ svayaṁ nu madhura-dyuti-maṇḍalaṁ nu mādhyam eva nu mano-nayanāmṛtaṁ nu venī-mṛjo nu mama jīvita-vallabho nu kṛṣṇo 'yam abhyudayate mama locanāya]

[My dear friends, where is Kṛṣṇa, who is Cupid personified, brilliant as a kadamba flower? Where is Kṛṣṇa, sweetness Himself, the sweetest nectar for my eyes and mind? Where is Kṛṣṇa, who loosens the hair of the gopīs? He is the supreme source of divine bliss. He is my life and soul. Has He come before my eyes again?] (Kṛṣṇa Karṇāmṛta, 68)

Māraḥ svayaṁ nu. "What do I feel in my mind, and some strange conception coming down in my mind? The most charming feeling we find here in our cupid conception, the union between man and woman, that represents a wonderful pleasing sensation in our mind, is it of that type?

The supplier of all such pleasures, has He come Himself to me? Who is supplying such pleasing sensation to the world, has He come Himself? No, no, it is not so. Madhura- dyuti-maṇḍalaṁ. It is a light, it is knowledge, it is consciousness and so beautiful, charming and sweet, so sweet consciousness, halo, I find it. Madhura- dyuti-maṇḍalaṁ nu mādhyam eva nu. Again I find the very gist of that very wonderful substance, that consciousness, the representative of all possible sweetness most intensified. Mādhyam eva nu mano-nayanāmṛtaṁ. What is this? My eyes are being bathed in nectar. Such a colour for such a figure has come to touch my eyes fulfilling, enchanting, capturing all the nāths of my eyes most satisfactorily, never experienced such thing in my eyes. The nectar is entering into my eye and capturing the whole of my eyesight."

Then higher conception came more. Nāma-rūpa, venī-mṛjo nu. "I am transformed into His maidservant and He adoring His dealing with me most affectionately, this mean maidservant, so much kindness, so benevolent, so generous. Is it possible for a fellow of my position may be embraced by such higher sweetness personified, so much adoration? Jīvita-vallabho nu. And what do I feel? I have got my shelter, permanent shelter of my life, full and complete assurance from the permanent shelter. In such a sweet domain I am taken in, my charge is taken in by such a magnanimous sweet personality. What more I can think? Wonderful, wonderful, wonderful."

In this way Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura has described his progress towards Vṛndāvana, what is Vṛndāvana.

Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari.

Mama jīvita-vallabho nu kṛṣṇo 'yam abhyudayate mama locanāya. "By such stages of wonderful stride that Kṛṣṇa is approaching towards me."

If we are deceived in such a high and sweet errand, that will be most deplorable. We must not do anything which may cause any hindrance to our progress towards that land. Very carefully we must try to go to that plane. We must not dig our own grave.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

We shall try to keep always in our front the model of Mahāprabhu and others. How highly they're praising and approaching towards that. All those big stalwarts highly qualified and they're approaching towards, and with what, how much reverence and respect and heart felt attainment. That must be brought as model on our front always, and don't go to have a very cheap bargain, never allow ourselves to the cheap bargain, purchase things of very small value, never. Those highly qualified stalwarts standing on our front they say, "How wonderful, we can't, we can't touch, how wonderful."

This ordinary infinite can, this material infinite, how he is small in the position of this material infinite. The sound infinite, the eye infinite, colour, and the touch infinite, so many forms of infinite, we are in the midst of that and how, what negligent position we hold there. This is all finite and finite is so big infinite to us. On the other side infinite also within atom, atom then molecule, then again the electrons. In this way you go to analyse infinite, and the big thing also infinite, whatever, that is infinite, this material conception infinite.

Then to trace, to get the spiritual thing, and who represents with the source of the infinite, not only that He says that, "My every part is Infinite." How should we approach Him, with how much heart? Still He says, "It is possible, there is a way to come to Me though I am Infinite. That is My grace, My free grace, My mercy, not justice. If you come by the way of justice, no hope, if you can catch the thread of My mercy and come by that road you may have Me."

Kṛpā, His grace, free grace, ahaitukī, bhakti, ahaitukī. "My department I want to extend, I want to make Me known to you, that there is a department I want to take you in on My lap. Within My heart I want to catch you, I have heart and heart is also very magnanimous and very spacious, I can accommodate you all in My heart, in the innermost part of My heart. It is possible and only by My grace and not by your right. Take the path of śaraṇāgati, and with the help of the sādhus sent by Me, you can come to Me and have your desired result, and you do not know what to desire. Everything we'll have to learn, and that is My responsibility, and I extend that sort of responsibility to the world."

This is inconceivable but sometimes His representative comes here and tries to give some sort of conception of the inconceivable.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi.

acintyāḥ khalu ye bhāvā na tāṁs tarkeṇa yojayet prakṛtibhyaḥ param
yacca tad-acintyasya lakṣam

[That which is inconceivable can never be understood through the logic and reason of the mind. The very symptom that something is inconceivable is that it is beyond logical comprehension."] (Mahābharata, Bhiṣma Parva, 5.22)

Who is above the jurisdiction of knowledge, don't try to force it to come down within the box of your reason, don't do it, try to do that. Your reason may be applied to this line, plane, and solid something, the air, the electron, all this and that, water, fire, within that, your box of reasoning, your judgement.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Mahārāja, if we have a dream at night about Kṛṣṇa or the devotees, is it to be considered just a dream or is there some message there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is generally a dream in general cases, but it may have some value. When the mind can eliminate these worldly desires from it, it can go towards the truth. According to the realization of the higher śāstra, real things come to cast its shadow, before, but in ordinary minds many kinds of dream. That is not all true, that is true in the mundane sense. The imagination and shadow cast from the above, that is to be differentiated. Not any dream is true, that is true in its own layer.

Some sort of aspiration was in me in previous life and that is recurring. So just as when we are awake so many thoughts are coming and going, sometimes the memory of home, sometimes the memory of Swāmī Mahārāja, sometimes the memory of wine shop, or a market, the mind coming and going. So also when we sleep the mental world remains active and so many things coming and going. But in a very particular case it is possible that higher truth is coming down and casting its shadow, but rarely, rarely it is possible. And who has purged out all this material consciousness of enjoyment, exploitation, and salvation, their mind is always a reflection of the higher world is taking place.

Ye kālē vā svapane, dekhinu vaṁśi vadane, sei kālē āilā dui vairi.
Rāmānanda Rāya says quoting about the gopīs, "When in my dream I had a look of the Lord with flute in His mouth, at that time two enemies approached me." Ānanda āra madana. Some sensation to be united with Him and the ecstasy therein, these two enemies came, and did not allow me to have a clear sight of my Lord, the clear vision of my Lord, be barred. So I am thinking that if in any time in the future I get such chance, then I did not try to look at Him, but I shall try to satisfy those enemies, that they may not come, so the sight will be permanent, will stay for some time more."

[ye kālē vā svapane, dekhinu vaṁśi vadane, sei kālē āilā dui vairi

[Whenever I had the chance to see Lord Kṛṣṇa's face and His flute, even in a dream, two enemies would appear before Me. They were pleasure and Cupid, and since they took away My mind, I was not able to see the face of Kṛṣṇa's to the full satisfaction of My eyes. - If by chance such a moment comes when I can once again see Kṛṣṇa, then I shall worship those seconds, moments and hours with flower garlands and pulp of sandalwood and decorate them with all kinds of jewels and ornaments.]

(Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.37-8)

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

We are talking high things, where we are, and only by the grace of the Guru, mahājana, Vaiṣṇava. And that we can try somewhat to have a conception, slight realization of these things, why these ways, futile attempt.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

What can I do? A child when it tries to learn to walk he's slipping down, falling down, and again with the help of the ground he's standing, again falling, again standing. You can't check that attempt in him. So also with us, without trying, possible or impossible, without caring for that, what should we do? Our charm for this world has finally been finished. If we want any engagement, engagement in this type of, whether you say imagination or reality, or whatever, we are captured by the charm of such talk. We get or do not get. The leading idea in our mind, the principal guiding idea of our life is such. Search for Kṛṣṇa, Reality the Beautiful. Die to live. All risk no gain. Either gain ground or die.

Just as in ancient times we are told that the Romans, they took the soldiers in a ship, and helped them to land in a country, and then burned the ship, do or die. No way to fly away by the ship again, to go back. You have no other alternative but to fight, so fight with your utmost energy and conquer the country, or be killed to the finish. No other alternative to go back, the ship is burned to ashes, so do or die.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, how does one subdue his false pride?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The only way it is recommended, sādhu and śāstra, association with the higher thought. False ego can be destroyed with the help of the real ego. By the force of the association of the real ego that can do away with the false ego, the pride. The association is the most powerful thing to convert one to another, from one plane to another, the association, and that is of two types. One living scripture, the sādhu, and another, scripture, the words of the sādhu collected in some emblem. Sādhu-śāstra-kṛpāya. No other alternative.

["If the conditioned soul becomes Kṛṣṇa conscious by the mercy of saintly persons who voluntarily preach scriptural injunctions and help him to become Kṛṣṇa conscious, the conditioned soul is liberated from the clutches of māyā, who gives him up."] (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.120)

[smarantaḥ smārayantaś ca, mitho 'ghaughā-haraṁ harim bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, bibhraty utpulkāṁ tanum]

Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti-yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, and thus, even within this world, their spiritualised bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end."](Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31)

Bhaktyā sañjāyā bhaktyā. Nothing can produce bhakti but bhakti herself. So there is light in the heart of the sādhu and that light can be extended to light the candle in your heart. Only bhakti can produce bhakti, nothing else can. No intoxication can produce bhakti, as Jaya Tīrtha is conceiving that intoxication helps our bhakti a great deal, wonderfully. Only bhakti can, bhakti is ahaitukī, the most fundamental plenary substance, devotion, dedication. Exploitation, enjoyment, cannot produce dedication, it is the enemy party. Dedication comes from dedication. From intense to surface, from the centre to the circumference it can come. Bhakti is the most fundamental element, nothing can produce her. That is dedication and we live by dedication, and we die by exploitation and we are reduced to cipher by renunciation.

Die to live. He is Reality is for Itself. The Whole is not subservient to anything else, then He's not the Whole. Everything meant for Him and we are for Him, and it is a blessing to us that we are for Him. We have got some position in His heart. We are for Him, that is our solace, our consolation that we are for Him. With that connection we may hope to come to Him that we are for Him and He's for us at the same time, vice versa. We have no other goal but Him. That is our claim. "Our claim that we are not outside You my Lord, we have come to seek our comfort outside You, far from You. That is m $\ddot{a}$ y $\ddot{a}$. I am done, I have committed suicide but because I belong to Your staff, that You was not possible with me still living, I still have hope returning home, sweet, sweet, home." How hateful is this environment we are living in and we want to extend our empire, mercy in this nasty land, we are busy to extend our empire, kingdom, foolishly.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nit $\ddot{a}$ i Gaura Hari bol. Nit $\ddot{a}$ i Gaura Hari bol. Nit $\ddot{a}$ i Gaura Hari bol. Nit $\ddot{a}$ i Gaura Hari bol.

["While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self-realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his un-interrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy."] (Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69)

Devotees are awake in a particular plane, and that is night to the ordinary people, and where they're fully awake, ordinary intellect, devotees are sleeping there. No necessity, no consciousness, energy to be wasted there in that plane. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāj

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any questions from any quarter? Nitāi Gaura.

Devotee: Yes. Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāj, it seems that you are speaking, but all of us we have, we're still very much within this material world, and so we want to get Kṛṣṇa from you but yet we still are very fallen and we keep coming ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu Himself says: "So, so much alert we should be that devotion, that is independent consciousness higher than My position. Devotion is the nature of higher consciousness, superior consciousness, than the consciousness by which I made of." Do you follow? That is the point. Then, so, we must be very suspicious that 'I have got devotion.' That is independent. We cannot capture and keep it within my fist. Very subtle, as I am gross, very subtle, very efficient, and in all respects that is a higher thing. Only our self-abnegation and our humility can draw His grace towards us. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So we can never assert and say that I have got in my possession that higher thing. His grace extended may be withdrawn any moment, any second. We are going to cast our fate to such infinitely uncertain substance. But that is higher. I want His company for my good fate. And again to enter there, how difficult. Mahāprabhu says to warn us against our disability in this way: na prema-gandho 'sti darāpi me harau ...

[na prema-gandho 'sti darāpi me harau, krandāmi saubhāgya-bharam prakāśitum vaṁśī-vilāsy-ānana-lokanam vinā, vibharmmi yat prāṇa-pataṅgakān vṛthā]

["My dear friends, I have not the slightest tinge of love of Godhead within My heart. When you see Me crying in separation, I am just falsely exhibiting a demonstration of My great fortune. Indeed, not seeing the beautiful face of Kṛṣṇa playing His flute, I continue to live My life like an insect, without purpose."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.45]

"Not a drop of real devotion in Me."

"Why? You are shedding so much tears and dancing and chanting and shedding so much tears always day and night. And You say You have not a speck, a drop of devotion in You."

Mahāprabhu Himself says: "krandāmi saubhāgya-bharam prakāśitum, only to show to the public that I have got such a great fortune, extraordinarily fortunate am I. To advertise to the public all these tears coming down. That is for the pratiṣṭhā of a devotee, pratiṣṭhā, fame, name. My heart is not so much purified as only to hanker for My Lord. It is still in the relativity of this mundane world for their appreciation, for their applause, for their popularity 'I am a devotee' to advertise Me I am shedding tears, pratiṣṭhā."

Kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā - [wealth, women, prestige], three enemies. The pratiṣṭhā, the most subtle and the greatest enemy - my position, my prestige. Very subtle, undetectable, and most ruinous, pratiṣṭhā. So we can never say. That is a voluntary extension of His wealth to you. You cannot claim that to be your own. It is such. Individual, but at the same time you can see, "No, I see the grace has been extended to him permanently, in the devotee. In my Guru it is there, all permanent, fixed there. So in so many devotees we hear it is there, the backing of the Lord is always there." But in your case you will be very much susceptible.

Mahāprabhu is making us careful that so much crying and shedding tears and dancing, all this madness. "Oh, it is only to advertise that I am a devotee." Be so much susceptible in your own case. It is so fine and so independent nature of the Lord. Never go to assert yourself in that plane in any way. Always keep up your humility, "that I am in want, I am in want." That is the key of having a life of high elevation. Always keep up in your mind "I am the most needy, most pitiable person my Lord." At the bottom of your heart this wealth must be there, sincere, the sincere feeling. "I am the most needy." And the devotees will say in the background, as much as you will feel that 'I am the most helpless', so much attention of the high is drawn there, the others will say. But when you will feel, "No, there is no need, I have got everything," that will withdraw. "Oh. No necessity of Mine here."

So that Kuntī Devī told: "Keep me always in danger so the earnestness for Your presence will be permanent in my heart, and You cannot but be there. But when I will be in opulence, have enough, I'm satisfied with my environment, You will be away. I can't tolerate that. I can't tolerate that. Always in need and You will be nearby."

That is the key to success.

Try to increase the negative aspect, and the positive will automatically be drawn, in other words. And that must be sincere, ha, ha, not a practice, ha, ha, then that will be imitation. A sincere feeling, that is the most desirable wealth of a devotee, to think himself sincerely to feel that really "I am in want. I am in want." Increase your hunger. Health will be there. If your hunger is there, the health is there.

Devotee: So in the meantime what does one do?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. The same repetition I told, association. Whatever we want I must go to like. If I want money I shall have to approach the moneyed man. It is a plain thing. What I want really I must approach to such a place where it is there. And the transaction:

dadāti pratigṛhṇāti guhyam ākhyāti prcchati

[bhuñkte bhojayate caiva ṣaḍ-vidham prīti lakṣaṇam]

["Offering gifts in charity; accepting gifts in charity; revealing one's mind in confidence; enquiring confidentially; accepting prasāda; and offering prasāda are the six symptoms of love shared by one devotee and another." Upadeśāmṛta, 4]

In this way by service we can draw, serving attitude.

One story in Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāj's life. He was living in such a state of mind of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. He was out to beg something, to collect something. So many young girls and boys were throwing some dust.

You are all afraid here, "Oh you red-monkey, red-monkey" or what do they say? Physically he was a person of this Bengal and he's out for begging for his livelihood, and going, and the boys are throwing dust. And what was his outlook? He says: "Kṛṣṇa, I shall complain to Yaśodā Mayi, mother Yaśodā. You are after me. Ha, ha, ha. You are disturbing me in such a way I shall lodge my complaint to Yaśodā Mayi and she will give You a good beating."

Devotee: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. That was his outlook towards where he is living we can guess from this in what atmosphere he's living. The boys are troubling, in our eyes, and his vision is in another light. "I shall complain to Yaśodā and I know how to teach You the lesson proper."

Devotee: Mahārāj, there's another story about one person who came to him and wanted to invite him to a programme or something and he didn't want to go.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Devotee: There was one person who came to him and wanted him to come home. The story is very vague but I know ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't follow.

Devotee (#2): Neither do I. I don't follow either.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You also don't follow. Then who has followed him?

Devotee (#3): He says that one person had come to Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī's āśrama?

Devotee: Yes. And he wanted something off Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī and he said he'd do anything for Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī if he came home to a programme.

Devotee (#2): What the point is, some man approached Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī and he wanted some benediction from him, and he said that he would do anything that Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī asked him to do. Then Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī asked him: "You just stay here and chant Hare Kṛṣṇa with me." That is the story. So he wants to know what goes behind that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is behind that? Then, that is a simple thing. If any of you take Hari-Nāma, take the Name, stay here.

In another time there was that Vamsi Dāsa Bābājī there and two gentlemen came. "Bābājī Mahārāj, a little grace for us, a little grace." He took his kaupīna, "Take this." Ha, ha...

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... and they fled away. Ha, ha. The one thing they know as wealth is that Kṛṣṇa, the Name Mahāprabhu has given, "Take the Name of Kṛṣṇa. I am doing that and I ask you to do that only because there is no other thing which should be sought and which should be given, dadāti pratigrhṇāti, no other thing to want and to be given. Nothing should be begged other than the grace of Kṛṣṇa in His Name. And nothing should be given, the only transaction should be here, that is the transaction of the Name of Lord Kṛṣṇa."

So we are all in fire. The only normal question should be how to get out of this fire. How to get out of this fire. If any other question then it is irrelevant, irrelevant. We are in fire, the fire of pitap [?] means ādhyātmika - the misery coming from within as disease or repentance; ādhibhautika - and trouble coming from the fire that is sorrow coming from outside, from other animals; or ādhidaivika - famine, flood, this natural disaster. These three kinds of sorrow, like fire, are always burning us. So the only relevant question will be "How to get out of this fire, burning?" So, that has been given "the Name of Kṛṣṇa, the Name of the Lord. " Through the sound we should take, we should try to get shelter to another place where there is no burning of this fire. Do you follow?

So when you approach the sādhu he won't say anything else. "Yes, try to get out of this fire that is burning you." This is a general question.

When the crane, Dharma, religion personified in the form of Dharma put questions to Yudhiṣṭhira: "What is the news?" Yudhiṣṭhira answered, replied: "The news is this that all these souls are being burned in three kinds of sorrow. That is the general news." So the general problems of this world as a whole is that so many souls are being burned through ignorance. And to relieve them from there is the only question, only answer, this general dealing the sādhus have got. Their life is for that. The only one question here: "How to get out of this burning atmosphere and get out. And that is the Divine Name extended to us with the help of this sound, through the sound, the subtle-most thing that can predominate over all this atmosphere. Only with the help of that can we work out our relief from the wholesale burning atmosphere. The sound can help us."

The most subtle sound here comes from ethereal vibration and that is the most gross thing in the Vaikuṇṭha, in the transcendental world, though nearer. The subtle most substances here are the gross there, nearer.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Is it clear? No?

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: That is one of the arguments that they're posing that "We can appreciate the subtle sound vibration by using some grosser elements. That will help us bring us closer to the subtle sound vibration. By the use of some gross elements we will gain appreciation of the subtle sound vibration."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is by tape?

Devotee: No, no. By maybe the use of intoxication and drugs like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh.

Devotee: They say "That by these elements we will gain affinity or appreciation for that subtle sound vibration."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What to speak of by using that gross thing, even by using and taking help of the very subtle power, as yoga, by prāṇāyāma [yogic breath control], if we've practised it, if we go on with prāṇāyāma we find that the mind is sober and calm. But that is also temporary. All temporary things can produce temporary results. Yamādibhir yoga-pathaiḥ, Nārada says here...

[yamādibhir yoga-pathaiḥ, kāma-lobha-hato muhuḥ mukunda-sevayā yadvat, tathāddhātmā na śāmyati]

["The agitated mind, repeatedly taken captive by its enemy in the form of depravity rooted in lust and greed, is directly mastered by serving the Supreme Lord, Mukunda. It can never be likewise checked or pacified by practising the eight-fold yogic discipline, which is generally based on sensual and mental repression (yama, niyama, etc)."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.6.35]

Yamādibhir yoga-pathaiḥ, yama, niyama, āsana, prāṇāyāma, pratyāhāra, dhāraṇa, dhyāna, and samādhi [the aṣṭāṅga-yoga propounded by Patañjali performed in eight steps - namely self control, mental control, posture, breath control, sensual constraint, mental abstraction, meditation, and meditational trance centred on Viṣṇu]. The rāj-yogi who wants to attain the control over their whole mental system, they can pacify their whole mental system and can utilise in any way they like. Devarṣi Nārada says by these processes we can acquire supremacy over subtle forces and control our mind. But that does not mean that that will force the Supramental substance to come to us. Do you see?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can control my boat but the storm is not responsible to the boat. Some sort of sufficient comfort you may get by a good boat but the storm may become that no efficiency in a boat will help you, no guarantee. So, yamādibhir yoga-pathaiḥ, you can control your mind some but that does not mean that you can control God. Control over your mind does not necessarily mean that you have controlled God. God's ways and laws are something else. We are to accept that law, to indent that in our area to make us fit to go there. Yamādibhir yoga-pathaiḥ, kāma-lobha-hato muhuḥ, if your kāma – the lust; and lobha - the greed, anger, etc., may be controlled, that is but for the time being. Again it will revert.

ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ āruhya kṛcchreṇa param padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nāḍṛta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ

[Someone may say that aside from Vaiṣṇavas, who always seek shelter at the Lord's lotus feet, there are those who are not Vaiṣṇavas but who have accepted different processes for attaining salvation. What happens to them? In answer to this question, Lord Brahmā and the other demigods said:]

["O lotus-eyed Lord, although non-devotees who accept severe austerities and penance to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32]

The Brahmā's talk: ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, by taking their own resources, by the help of that they're climbing up to the highest point, according to their right. But from there if they cannot have any connection with the higher sphere they will have to revert. By getting passport you may go to the last limit of your country. But if you cannot secure a visa you'll have to revert again. So that aspect of mind, that aspect of substance within you, that guides you in this world, here and there, everywhere like the passport. But passport can never get visa of the other world. So you may have the full control over your mind and you may get even at the outside of your mind in the highest position wherefrom the whole mind may be at your disposal. At present you are servant of so many mental faculties, come from a low body you are servant, but you may be a master of your mind. That does not mean that you can force God to come within you. He's another thing, more subtle, more higher, than in very nature that is inconceivably higher position. Why will He come to you, by you controlling your mind? So no mental arrangement, disarrangement can help you. It must come to the plane of soul. So sukṛti and sādhu-saṅga, wherever there is represented the God atmosphere, that element will come and push your soul and soul will awaken and the mind will give opportunity.

Do you follow? Am I clear?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is another transaction. So, yamādibhir yoga- pathaiḥ, kāma-lobha-hato muhuḥ, only for the time being you can be master of your own house, for the time being. You are now a slave in your own house. The masters are your anger, your greed, your lust, so many things are your master and you are their slave in your own home. That is the present position. By acquiring the process of yoga you can come to such a position that you can control all your tendencies within. But that does not mean that can give you the visa to enter into the Vaikunṭha. It is another thing, a most subtle, most fine, most pure, and they can assert here but you cannot have any association there. Here it is gross, there it is subtle. Ether can pass through everything, even stone, water, fire, everything, but stone cannot pass through ether. It is a fundamental, highly powerful, fine substance. So God can approach everywhere. God's power can control everything. But everything, these material gross things, cannot have any power to do anything with that subtle power, it is so fine. It is fundamentally different. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To certain extent, dig-darśana, leading towards. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol!

Today we like to finish it here. Any other urgent question from any quarter? Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Try to think.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! No other question, urgent, all inquiry stopped?

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Inquisitiveness finished?

Devotee: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Hari bol! Then we dissolve.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mukundamālā going to join?
Mahārāj? Leaving for Bombay?

Devotee: No. Japamālā.

Devotee: Mahārāj, Parama has a question for you.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāj, how can we reach the level of understanding that Kṛṣṇa is our only security?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will be whether you have got real faith in God. Is there someone [.....inaudible section here] self analysis first that who am I? The security also for which thing? Body, no security, Kṛṣṇa is also not giving so much security to this body. This is like a diseased body. A body is a disease to the soul. So we are to have the realisation of our real self that is soul, and if we go to that plane, reach to that plane, then we will see just as here the earth is guarantee of this body, staying, standing on. So the soul is standing, is a child of that plane, soul will find around that soul's world, and there is one director under whose command everything goes on. And if He can give guarantee then that is sure and certain. All other guarantees have got no value. Whether there is a cure or a cosmos, any system of government, any good rule, all these things we are to first feel the necessity and then gradually out of, as necessity is the mother of invention, we shall search for that plane, we'll have to search.

Everything is surmised. Suppose before I read a drama and get some pleasure, before that I shall have to undergo, to understand the letters, the grammar, the dictionary, then we can hope with the basis of that knowledge to read a book and get some pleasure. Whatever we do in the beginning with some inference we shall have to approach, and then when we can see the thing we feel encouraged and go on.

So, about Kṛṣṇa also, whether there is God at all? Is it a reign of a super considered person or anarchy? Or only Satan is the master of the whole world? These things we are to consider in the beginning and when we are convinced that, "No, it is a reign of goodness," then we shall approach to find out what is that goodness, what is that good hope. How to get it? Then we shall come to understand that there is God. God means the person who has got every right of doing good or bad. Then we are relieved, we can put faith in any conception of Godhead. We are much relieved that there is one and He is all good, and no injustice can go on. We are under His rule. Then we must have a satisfactory life and there is judgement, order, and mercy. All these things we are to understand if we have real conception of Godhead.

And now, what is the characteristic of that Godhead, the ultimate distancer of the whole, the guardian of the whole universe? What is His characteristic? We told that He's such and such, He's such and such, He's such and such. Then ultimately Mahāprabhu and Bhāgavatam, the Vedic truth, says that the highest conception of Him is Kṛṣṇa and He's beauty and love. He loves everybody and He's very beautiful, very charming. So it is very easy to obey and to live in His connection. And then we shall try to go to that direction to search for Him. That Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead is where I want to live.

So in the beginning, whether there is possibility there is any power who can control the whole, who can maintain peace and justice and save us from anarchy and the undesirable attack of the environment? In this way it must move on. And when we can feel from within our own heart that there is justice here with our experience. And with the experience of others, with the experience that is related in so many books, I am to risk, to take faith, to do accordingly, and as much as we'll be able to make progress we shall feel something in the way, "That yes, I am feeling myself and which is more real than we feel with our eyes, or ears, about this material world, 'This is apparent, this is treacherous.' What the charm we find in the beginning we are to see that that is not the thing, what it promises to do cannot satisfy me, it is not guaranteed. All these we can see, we can feel, we can learn, in this plane, the treacherous plane, janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhī:

[...detachment from sensual delights, absence of egotism, an objective view of the miserable defects of material life, that is, birth, death, the infirmity of old age, disease, etc., Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9] karmanyāra amānyanam sukha dukha hatyai sukhaya ca paśyai paka vit padyasam mithum carinam minar?

When a man in the beginning of a systematic life takes resort to his labour, energy, by using our energy we shall get comfort. Comfort seeking, pleasure seeking, is our innate habit. We want happiness. We don't want sorrow or misery. It is natural, we can find in ourselves by self-analysis. All of us we want maximum happiness and we want to avoid all sorts of misery. And for this purpose, in the beginning, we take resort to our own labour and seek for happiness, pleasure.

A man in his organised attempt, he comes to this conclusion that "I shall have to marry. I want married life." So, one goes to marry [an inaudible section here.....].It is all transient. I am collecting something and the trying is always trying to remove it.

In the beginning I need not have any house, any room, but if I marry to satisfy my inner desire, then I shall have to have a house, and children will come, then some help of the animals also. Then pasu, apta, I shall have to enter a society, apta, vihapatar pasubhi, karpiti sadivesh chare [?] One by one the child is going away, then repair is necessary for the house, and the society also giving some pressure. Undesirable things are happening around, so many floods, famine, all these things. We find that we are going to collect things for our pleasure but the environment is disturbing me in a hopeless way. Then they become disappointed and try to find out some higher sort of happiness.

And Buddha, Śaṅkara, so many others come and they teach us to neglect this material pleasure and to find some internal peace. And when we are too much disturbed by adverse influence of the material environment we take to that course. "Yes, this is all mortal, all captured by the death. Ultimately my own body is going towards infirmity and to the disease in the end of my life." Then we can come to understand that this is not a place suitable for our living. We should seek after some higher shelter where one can live happily. In this way we want to eliminate this mortal environment and to go to the subtle and higher soil to find that there we shall erect some house and live happily. In this way, eliminating the mortal, gross things, we enter within us and try to find out this mind, this intelligence, and the soul, and the Supersoul that is God, and His area and how we can live there. All these inquiries, enquiry, and after satisfaction, when we are satisfied in our enquiry in our search, then we give up our living here and we try to go to that land for our living. In this way, with elimination and acceptance, we go towards Godhead. And if there is none, nothing, no guarantee of our future life, future peace, then they're rejected, they're all atheistic people ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... that domain is desirable for us. In this way, in search of God, and what characteristic of God? What do we want? We want the beautiful, we want the Absolute Good Autocrat. We want harmony. We want mercy. We want love. In this way when we select that we try to go towards the domain of Kṛṣṇa, in this way. And we can feel, guarantee, if we make progress really, real progress, then we shall feel what is already stated in the śāstra, I have experience of those things on the way. And that makes my conviction more firm and strong and I advance, go ahead, with more vigorous, double force I have. Because I find on the way that what is mentioned in the scripture I am finding that on the way, so that must lead to the highest goal.

In this way we withdraw from the so-called pleasing sensations of this world and we risk our life to get accordingly the high ideal. I shall try my best to attain that land of my dream what is extended to me, that there is such a land to live. I select that. I want with all my risk. Do or die. Rather, I shall live there, or I do not want to continue my life. With this sort of promise we make advance towards the goal desired.

Somewhat clear, no?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Alright.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Sukha, the happiness, we can't say, even not the worst atheist can't say that he does not want happiness. All common, we want happiness, but how to be happy? One takes to dacoiting, a thief stealing, becomes a thief for happiness. One kills persons, that's also happiness. And one gives everything, becomes poor himself and gives everything to satisfy the want of others, and he feels satisfaction. So happiness, or pleasure, or satisfaction, that has got a qualitative difference. One can find a pleasure in robbing and another can find pleasure in giving everything to others. But there is a qualitative difference. In this way, by appreciating the higher quality of happiness, we shall have to go towards Godhead, conception of Godhead.

The justice, not anarchy, justice, control, power, and sympathy, that. And to go to find our that sort of life, ultimately we come to see that there is one by whose will everything can be systematic and everything can be controlled, and everything may be helpful to our inner satisfaction. In that way we go to the conception of Godhead. The Mohammedan, the Islam has given some conception of Godhead. Christianity has given. So many other nations, they have also given in their own way. And the Vedic śāstra, they have also given conception of that ultimate power in such way. And Mahāprabhu has given from the śāstra: "That Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead is most desirable for all of us." And we like that. We have selected that. And we preach that. And we try to accept that for us. That is the question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke?

Devotee: Bhakta Thomas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhakta Thomas. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Gaura Hari.

The most appealing to the inner most heart. Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead appeals to the inner most place of our heart, the finest cord is touched by that. If one can realise he will find the most desirable conception of Godhead, that is that phase of Godhead, that is most charming for us. And our innermost heart does not want that power will control everything, but sweetness should control everything. And we have faith in that. And that is given by Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu. "Do such and such things and you will find yourselves in the domain, in the plane, where you will find that everything is controlled by sweetness. We want to live in that kingdom. As a soul, we come to Kṛṣṇa-Nāma, Kṛṣṇa-bhakti, Vṛndāvana, gopīs, Yamunā, all these things, gradually eliminating all others, our inner most attention as our soul will represent us there, and we shall be in the midst of such holy things.

Some days before, one lady came here, in a red robe, she's a follower of the Śakta School, Śiva, Durga, Kali, all these. I asked her, "That after your sādhana, you will attain the plane where your object of worship is living, and you may become one of His paraphernalia? You are worshipping Kali. Do you want, you have seen Kali and Kali's paraphernalia, so many, they're eating that blood and the cut off hand, do you want that position?"

"No, no."

"Then do you want to be one of the servants of Śiva, Mahādeva? He's living in the cremation ground, and the ashes smeared on his body, and sometimes this gangika, and in this way he's going. His dress is the skin of the tiger and his mates, friends, attendants, are also of such type. Do you want to be one of the attendants there? Bhūta, preta?"

"No, no, I do not want."

"Then do you want Nārāyaṇa of Vaikuṇṭha, four-handed servants are busy always hither and thither serving Nārāyaṇa? And if you want Kṛṣṇa conception then there will be so many cowboys, friends, and Yaśodā, Nanda there, and so many gopīs serving in different ways that Godhead Kṛṣṇacandra. What do you like?

"I like that. That Vṛndāvana paraphernalia I like most."

"Then why are you going in the wrong way? If, in the heart of your heart you have appreciation for this, that you want to become one of the paraphernalia there, that is the sweet prospect, or position. Then why do you wild-goose chasing, chasing wild-goose?"

"I did not understand so much. Because my family was in this way I am also going in that way."

What is the need? What we can feel to be the highest thing for our aspiration? Very sweet thing. Power hunter, or some may order that there will be curse and I shall go on looting. Someone may think that let there be anarchy in the country and we shall rob and loot. That is their temperament. There is a proper government and we shall be ruled by coercive measure, and then sweet and loving affectionate family, they're living all free, all affectionate towards one another and they're moving and working in a very pleasing way. In this way we are to select our goal. What sort of goal? This is our choice and then from the Absolute standpoint whether that is or not, that cannot be, that is another question, the guarantee, as you say. We are to enquire, we are to understand what is true, what is non-true. What is apparent truth, and what is real truth. The apparent and the real, we are to find out the distinction between the two, and who will be the judge. The judge is within us, not this body, nor these worldly things. The judge is within and we are to appeal to that, to clear the judge from all sorts of prejudice so that he may take right choice. And we shall consult also the precedence of other judges where previously given in their degree. With all these considerations we shall march on.

The śāstra, so many opinions are there of the precedence, so many precedence are there noted, and so many mahājanas also are still there roaming and we can get information from them. In this way we shall try to march on to our desirable zone of our highest choice.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Māyā distant?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Good.

Devotee: Mahārāj, may I ask? Sometimes an atheist will challenge the devotee by saying "Simply because you are chanting all the time, you are forcing yourself to think about these religious activities. It is because you are forcing yourself all the time to think about these things, and anything that you may think or feel or believe, it is only because you have forced yourself to think this way, because you are constantly conditioning your mind to think about Kṛṣṇa. And so whatever you may believe it is because you have conditioning your mind to think this way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Devotee: He says that the atheists, the non-believers in God, the carvakas, they say that the devotees believe in Kṛṣṇa only because they're constantly ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That may be that the devotee has got faith in Kṛṣṇa, that may be a mania, an imagination. What is the guarantee that is true? Is it?

Devotee: Yes. They say because we constantly chant, that is conditioning our mind to think like that. Because we are constantly chanting we are just conditioning our minds.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We are entering into hallucination. What is the guarantee that that is truth? Is it?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You ask yourself why you have left the paraphernalia of the atheist and trying to search for some theistic world, you answer.

Devotee: Because of something that I have felt.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why are you not satisfied with the atheistic proposal and you are out to search for something theistic? Why?

Devotee: Well, because I've ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: I've been very unhappy, before I was very unhappy ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So analyse that, that that proposal could not satisfy you and you are to search after something higher. Is it? More prospect, greater prospect you are out for. The proposal of the atheistic could not satisfy you. So such awakening in your knowing system, your heart, or your consciousness, some subtle, fine, things have come that are not satisfied with the proposal of the atheistic, their gross prospect.

The Carvaka class they say: "Eat, drink, and be merry. What is the guarantee that if this body is dissolved again you will live? What is the guarantee that soul is immortal? So dismiss all these hypothesis and imagination, all these things. Eat, drink, and be merry."

Are you satisfied with this proposal?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why? Why inquire within you? This is a base life, a mean form of life. No pleasure here really. No sober, judicious man can be satisfied with this proposal, this conception of life. They hate this. "Rather I shall die. I won't accept this proposal, this prospect of life. We hate it, we shall go enter infinite. About us, all around, there is infinite, and what do you say, this is only finite being, mean conception of the finite? What is this? Eat, drink, and be merry? I shall die. A man is suffering here and I shall take in wine and dancing? What is the fun there?"

So this base sort of pleasure attracts those persons who have got little awakening of life, they hate such proposal and such sections, and such world. The beasts, the trees, in the creation we see so many things. There are also engaged after material pleasure and passing. The animal life, are we satisfied with that? Rather, I lose my time in useless search, still I won't run after the achievement of this main thing.

atho ya prapsasi sagram nitya bhavo casay mayi?

In the search of the high I may finish my life without getting anything, but still I feel myself dishonoured to be satisfied with this animal hankering, satisfaction.

Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In this way by elimination, everywhere. Progress means elimination and acceptance, acceptance of the new, and fine, and durable happiness, and elimination of the temporary and lower pleasure. Here, we are nuisance to the environment. Everyone is eating another, can't avoid. To maintain this body means causing death to innumerable number of animals, insects, and others, the creepers. Where there is life there is feeling of pain and I am disturbing to keep up this body. Is it desirable for a sensible person to cause displeasure to others and try to please one's own filthy nature? So why are you out to search for some better life? Why? Why you abhor the present life, can't tolerate the present form of life? You enquire yourself and increase that propensity and you will find the whole thing will be clear to you. Go higher, higher, higher. Am I clear?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāj.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you understand what I told?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāj.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You must inquire yourself whatever progress you are making, why? What is the guarantee there? If anything there is guarantee and in the higher march also that same guarantee will come for you.

Devotee: In the Caitanya-caritāmṛtam, one verse I read explains that Kṛṣṇa- kathāmṛtam tapta jīvanam Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, [10.31.9], Gopī-gītā.

tava kathāmṛtaṁ tapta-jīvanam, kavibhir īḍitaṁ kalmaṣāpaham śravaṇa-
maṅgalaṁ śrīmad-ātataṁ, bhuvi grṇanti ye bhūridā janāḥ

["O Kṛṣṇa, the nectar of Your words and the narrations of Your pastimes give life to us, who are always suffering in this material world. This nectar is broadcast all over the world by great souls, and it removes all sinful reactions. It is all- auspicious and filled with spiritual power. Those who spread this message of Godhead are certainly doing the greatest relief work for human society and are the most magnanimous welfare workers."]

These are the symptoms of the discussion of the Lord Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead. These things gradually come to us, to the society. Tapta-jīvanam. Who are suffering much from misery of this mortal world. But when Kṛṣṇa consciousness, some guarantee and assurance comes for higher and permanent life, the soul thinks it is like medicine coming to cure my repentant mentality. Tapta-jīvanam, 'it is enlivening me, supplying life, vitality, to me. The life is worth living, though I am always burning, the association of the mortal things in the subconsciousness, that I may lose everything, I may lose my son, my wife, my body, my property. Any time, I myself may be snatched away from this happy paraphernalia.' These sort of subconscious feelings are always giving some pain in my heart. That Kṛṣṇa-kathā, that news that such a world is living, for our living such a world is waiting, if we try we can go to be a resident of that world. Then it gives life to our present condition, enliven us. Kavibhir īḍitam, the great scholars have given us, the great men, they have given this news to us. Kalmaṣāpaham, I have done many things wrong in this present life and the reaction has come to attack me, to devour me. That reaction also can be removed by that highest potency. Śravaṇa-maṅgalam, and as much as I shall attend to the prospectus story of that land it will enter into my heart, to the depth of my heart, and will make everything facilitated to take me there. Śrīmad-ātataṁ, and I shall be able to see that so many higher personages are also flocking to go to that land. I shall meet them.

tava kathāmṛtaṁ tapta-jīvanam, kavibhir īḍitam kalmaṣāpaham śravaṇa-maṅgalam śrīmad-ātataṁ, bhuvi gṛṇanti ye bhūridā janāḥ

And then I shall be able to realise at last that those that are giving, that are preaching, on behalf of the happy life of that plane, they are really the giver, they are really the utilitarian class, they are doing good to others. All others are false agents. This is the place where everyone can be happy and that tidings is given by those agents and they're the real beneficial persons of this world, who can give clue to such a helpful, happy life in the ultimate. They're real friend to the world. All others are deceivers, who are giving some half-truth, which is more dangerous than falsehood. They are giving, "Take this, take this," and that is also finished in the question of time. So they are all deceivers ultimately. And those who give the news of the happy domain of Kṛṣṇa, they're the real deliverers of the world, and they're the real friends of the world because they're not giving hoax to the people. They're taking men in such a plane that will satisfy to the heart's most nath of the whole. In this way that śloka runs.

Devotee: Sometimes in the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam the gopīs when they speak they say that this Kṛṣṇa-kathā, that better we should talk about something else. They say that, "We are talking about Kṛṣṇa but ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This saying is of the gopī? Gopī, themselves, they say this passage, they sing this passage about Kṛṣṇa?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Kṛṣṇa is such, so sweet, so enlivening. And those that give this news to the world, they're real friends of the world and all our fine earnestness can be satisfied only by this proposal, this prospect, and nothing else. On the whole the gopīs are saying, they're madly, they're tasting these things and the expression coming from their mouths. "We feel that Kṛṣṇa-kathā is such and such." They're feeling and they're vomiting what is Kṛṣṇa-kathā, giving out, preaching for our benefit. The Kṛṣṇa is such, such and such. And if it touches anyone's heart s/he will leave everything aside and run to those that are engaged in such transaction. And by their association will try her/his best to get out of the present liabilities and as soon as possible run to that domain to be a resident of that place.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja

[aham tvām sarva-pāpēbhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

"Give up all responsibilities of all conceptions of your duties here in different planes and run to My feet. I shall look after you, wholesale. The responsibility about you is Mine. You won't have to repent. You have left everything and come to Me alone, no repentance. I shall see."

More than fulfilment you aspire, you will relish more than you can imagine and aspire. It is such.

I have got some duty today to give Hari-Nāma so early retirement is necessary from this discussion.

Devotee: How does one deal with the negativity of the mental platform caused by the phases of the moon?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow. Can you repeat what he says?

Devotee: He says that "How does one deal with the negative qualities according to the phases of the moon?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: According to the?

Devotee: The lunar, the moon is affecting us, the astrological, the astronomical effects on our consciousness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: On consciousness, the moon? The moons influence causes madness. You say lunar? What is that with this Kṛṣṇa consciousness?

Devotee: It seems to cause myself to hover on the mental platform.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Moon representing the enjoyment, the lust, the crude idea of enjoyment has got some relationship with the conception of the moon. So, too much aspiration for enjoyment of this world unsatisfied, makes us lunatic. Freud, you know Freud? A Frenchman, the psychiatrist, his detection is this, "That all the cause of this madness is unsatisfaction of the carnal desire. He had some crude desire, intense, could not find its satisfaction, then this is the cause of his madness." Of all madness, the science is this. So moon has got that sort of connection with that sort of pleasing aspiration. So moon has been thought to be responsible to a certain extent for this lunatic disease. The poets who love this mādhyura-rasa, this lust, what is called lust, love and lust, the sensual pleasure, they're very fond of this moon. The moon gives excitement to all these things, this sort of pleasure, connected. So, in that connection, the moons attack sends one mad. Understand? No?

Devotee: Yes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Partially. Think it, think it.

Devotee: How much influence does our astrology or our previous ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, astrology to a certain extent is a science also, it is true to a particular boundary. And the higher astrologers have already admitted that our astrological calculation cannot control those that are having connection beyond this mental area that is towards Godhead. Those who have crossed the influence of the mental world, this astrological calculation won't be found true in their case. It is based on the mental activity. Just as one man can say if one is murdered by a man, one may say, "This murderer must be hanged." By his intelligence he may say he'll be caught and he will be hanged. A thief will be put into jail. An ordinary man can say in the physical way, "He has given a good beating to his brother and his brother will come also to beat him one day." This is ordinary calculation like prophesy in this material plane. And the mental plane, also action and reaction, and they can be found by some token of the movement of the planets and they can read that and they can make prophesy, but to a certain extent. Those that are passing the rules and regulations, the area of the mental world and towards the transcendental, about them, the astrologers cannot say anything. They admit this. Now we finish here today.

Devotee: Mahārāj, yesterday we were speaking about the cycles of the moon and it's causing one to be on the mental platform. Is there a particular method, once you experience that mental platform, is there a particular method to get away from that and bring yourself back to Kṛṣṇa consciousness?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It has got some natural relation with the experience of enjoyment. The moon, the element which excites the soft enjoying aspect, so all the poets, they're very fond of getting the connection of the moon when they're going to give any description about the influence of the Cupid and to cultivate that type of pleasing sensation in our mental system. And also, the departed souls that have charm for the pleasure of this world, they, after death, went up to the moon, and then again returned from there to here.

Who have got some affinity, some prospect, or crude enjoyment in this world, they after death may go to the moon and for some time of staying there, they're to return back to the earth, to enjoy again. And those that want to get out of the charm of the world, they go towards the sun, towards the light, not sweet light of the moon but real light. And through light they want to come to understand what is the real subjective characteristic of the soul and the spirit absolute. And through that they pass into the subjective world.

Savitur varenyam, in Gāyatrī it is mentioned. Just as the sun is expressing this world to us, so really the soul expresses the world to us. The soul, that is the conscious unit within us, that is the real thing which can show, which can give conception of this world, mainly. So, which is respectful, which can attract respect and reverence of that soul, there is such a domain and that domain is Vaikuṇṭha, or svarūpa-śakti, the higher potency of the Lord which is inseparable from Him, and which is positive and direct potency of the Lord. That is all Super subjective area and that is the land only for the servitors, not for any enjoyers, or any renunciationists.

Bhargo devasya dhīmahi, dhiyo yo naḥ pracodayāt, and there the remuneration of the service is given in terms of love. That is more tendency to serve.

'dāsa kari' vetana more deha prema-dhana

"Please engage me as Your servitor and give the remuneration which is prema, love. That means which will actuate more, excite more, help more, in the service, further service, that tendency ...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not having any connection with the Absolute interest. All imaginary interest, something like dream, we are living more or less in the world of dream. That is māyā, illusion, imagination, concoction. What is reality we do now know, but according to our own interest, we have thrust something on the environment and our transaction, we with all that thirst interest on the environment, with that we are going on with our duty, activity, life. All imagination, the environment, what is this tree, what is the tree in itself, we calculate it from our own interest, own interest, but independent of our interest what is that tree, we are not concerned with that real self of it.

So everything is like that in the interest of our present position of faulty calculation. We are living in our own world, concocted world we are living, a fool's paradise. We do not know our own self, what is real. There's so many tendencies to run after beauty, to run after softness, to run after sweetness, to run after music. That all combined has made a superficial thing within us, but if we dive deep our faculty of judgement will say, "Don't indulge in all these hobbies, try to find out what is your real interest." The higher intelligence, the reason, the conscience will say, "Don't create yourself to be a beast and run after beastly tendencies, you're a man, you will be such and such." In this way eliminating the covers we dive deep into our own self and we shall say what are we doing, our intrinsic life is so valuable thing and we are making transaction with the sham thing here, forgetting my own self, in this way, in this way.

From imagination to reality, we can dive deep within our own heart and find our soul, and from soul's interest if we again try to look around, our vision will be changed. Christ's vision and estimation about the environment, what was that? Not like ordinary man, so deep, so in this way, deeper, deeper conception of ones self, that has taken, that my deepest conception, we find take me with some beautiful plane of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, Vṛndāvana, everything is beautiful, everything is beautiful, everything is loving.

The deepest conception of our own soul we shall find, it is there, it is there. Different layers from surface to deepest position, different layers, and comparison is always allowed, different plane. From the dacoits, whatever gets, robs it, swallows, enjoys, self enjoyment and distributed enjoyment in this way. What is enjoyment proper and to dive deep, the deepest soul ever found in the world in Bhāgavatam says there is Vṛndāvana, Vṛndāvana is the place where your soul can experience the happiest environment, and your highest utility there you will find. The most valuable position of your soul in the environment you will find in the conception of Vṛndāvana, Kṛṣṇa, the God is Kṛṣṇa, and so far it has been given out that that is the deepest and highest plane of our soul to live in. Vṛndāvana, land of beauty and love and not of power and grandeur, and not live in the world of dream, what will be falsified only after death, you'll be taken by your ear forcibly from here.

Reactionary, everything, and here you cannot thrive you can see, so many came, Alexanders, Napoleons. Where are they? Whether big or small, everything will vanish. It is a jugglers play here we find so at least save yourself from this jugglery and dive deep to find out the plane of reality. And then again by comparison, try to find out what is the most fundamental reality in you and then to get friends in that plane. Dive deep in the land of beauty and love, eliminating all other proposals that will come to take you away from that highest campaign, highest realization.

All puzzling, more puzzling, more searching and more puzzling. Bewildered, we are being bewildered. What to do? Infinite, no limit, we can't catch within our fist anything, hopeless.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari.

Ultimately there is not injustice in the land, sincere people won't be troubled, won't be troubled Kṛṣṇa says, "The sincere are never troubled."

We must be faithful to our own self, we shall try to learn to be faithful, sincere, sincere, sincerity, sincerity is everything. Shamness, complexity, māyā interest, find the interest, self interest, self interest, self interest in the proper sense, and in the superficial sense, self interest of course everyone is after but in the superficial sense. Don't know what is his own interest, to learn what is his own interest, to learn what is our own interest.

With the help of sādhu and śāstra, what am I? And where am I? This is sambandha jñāna. To come to a Guru, to learn who am I, and where am I, and who is my guardian, what is my best necessity? All these fundamental questions to be discussed and solved and then we shall try to attain what is necessary, the fundamental self analysis. Who am I properly? Where am I? Who is my own? What I want? All these fundamental questions to be solved sincerely and with earnestness, earnestness, self help, self help in the proper way, then we shall have to come to God as the shelter, that ultimate real shelter, real guardian.

I am small, I am insignificant, otherwise why have I come to such a blind lane, I have reached in the blind lane, I can't find any way. All sides the death, mortality, so many undesirable things have captured me, surrounded me. Now self searching is necessary. Where am I? Who am

I? What is my prospect? Who can save me? Who is my own? Who is my own? Who can help me? What I want from my inner heart? Why I am imperfect? I am uneasy. I don't feel comfort, why? Cry for that and you'll find help is coming to you, search yourself, you will get everything in relativity of that, what are you yourself, search that, dive deep into your own heart, own self. What am I? Who am I? All these things, with all sincerity, because we should not deceive our own self, but we are deceivers of our own self. Such is our real position by māyā. So the agents come from the plane of truth to help us, to recruit us, to save us they come, we are digging our own grave, they come to interfere. "Don't dig your own grave and enter into that, you are my brother, come home." In this way they come, so many come to take us back, this arrangement is also there.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu. Gaurāṅga Sundara. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Maharaja, I've been told that by following this process of purification we can experience the spiritual world in this lifetime. Does everyone who follows the Scriptures or the Guru's instructions, will they also have that taste, does that taste come to everybody?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is gradation, variety is there, and sometimes going and coming there, going and coming back, variety in every sort of cases, going up, going down, going this side, going that side. So many variegatedness everywhere, all is not equal, all won't advance smoothly, some zigzag way, some after some stop, some in one length will go far higher. In this way there may be different cases, all not one and the same, different. So many schools are open but every student is not going to the highest position, institution, according to the variety of the nature of the different students the result will be different, not avoidable.

Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Some coming back, going ahead, some began before but progress slow. Some going few steps, sleeping, it may be so many different stages may have, may occur.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, is one's progress along the path, the speed voluntarily adjusted, or does that come from the higher plane?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mainly the traveller is responsible for his trouble, generally, and sometimes the environment is also contributing something. From higher we expect fair decision, but still partiality to the fittest, that also may be traced thereby and that is not partiality. One who can receive more, more will be given to them so that is not partiality, fair justice.

Kṛṣṇa says: "Generally I am equal to all. Whoever comes to Me in which way I give them general help but through special thing. This is general but we find that some come and want devotion, won't, no take salvation."

Looking at the bottom of the heart, avoids by giving salvation. Bhakti means He will Himself be caught, He does not like to be caught by a fellow of that type, he likes salvation and not bhakti. And another section also they're ignorant but heart pure, wants ordinary worldly things.

"No, no, don't take this but take this thing, take bhakti."

That sort of dealing from Kṛṣṇa we find. So three things in general, as one wants He gives, so He gives according to the demand.

There all sweet, so sweet, you will live on sweetness, your every movement will be sweet. In Brahma-saṁhitā it is written, "Their movement is dancing, their words like singing, the water is nectar, the trees are all kalpa-taru, whatever you like they're giving to you. That is the land, that is the land and our inner most self is entitled to live on that land. It is there, it is sleeping but it is detached. Now anyhow to awake him and to discover him from this tomb, from this body and this mind, mainly two fold, this flesh body and then inner this mind, and another very subtle, this indifference mood, then you are to enter into paravyoma. That calculative service, that also to be eliminated, then you will find you are in the midst of Vṛndāvana and their ways are like that. Sweet, sweet, sweet, everything sweet, everything loving, loving."

Here, just as all our attempts are more or less sham, we are giving something to another but whose things are you giving. You are giving, the wholesale transaction cannot but be wrong, and reaction here in this plane.

You are nursing a patient, you are using medicine which is coming out of so many lives, so many deaths, many deaths have occurred then the medicine prepared, then you are giving that to the patient. So no deed can be perfect here in this plane, just the opposite there, here good things are also bad, and there bad things are also good. Such a peculiar thing there, this is...

Just as in a drama if anyone is killing another, but the killing is not real killing only a show, so many men enjoy that killing. A man who is being killed, if he can play the part of a killed man then he's praised. One insulted, the insulted man he may be proud of his own part, may be successful in accepting the insult. Something like that. In that play no real harm to anybody, it is only a līlā so none is really harmed, so all like play. Everyone is blissful, both the parties, defeated and the defeater, victorious and the conquered, both parties they enjoy. Just as here both the parties are losers, the victor and the victim both losers, but there it is just the opposite because no loss is possible, no death is possible, but all play, show, līlā, līlā means that, the harmless movement, for pleasing, necessary for pleasing. Just as the serpents natural movement is in a crooked way so līlā is like that, just as the waves in the ocean, it is only in that fashion, but everything is sweet.

We have got attraction for that plane when we shall be able to go and live in that plane in Vṛndāvana, the land of our dreams, dream of the soul not of this mind, the mind is drawn from this mortal world, picture, and beyond that.

"Oh My children here, you are really the child of that nectar soil, don't be dejected, disappointed. Really the stuff within you, you are the child of that soil you remember, so don't be discouraged, disappointed. Seek for your home, home land, home land." So what Mahāprabhu wanted to say, "The sweet, sweet home, your home is sweet, you are all feeling disturbance to the extreme here but unnecessarily. Back to Godhead, back to home, sweet, sweet home."

This is what is our preaching to the people, let us go home and home is sweet, and everything is there, father, mother, all the rasas are in purest form we find there. Even you may not know of so many things, so many sweet things are unknown to us, but many things more we shall get there in that land of sweetness. Only what is necessary for us to know really that where we are living, this is awkward, this is bad, this is undesirable, and we must seek our permanent home somewhere else.

Generally it is told, in Bhagavad-gītā (13.9), janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhiduhkha- doṣānudarśanam,

"You are trying your best by labour here, by using your energy you are doing something but it is evaporating, taken away by someone, some force, then you are to be dragged to some unknown quarter. Again you are coming on the surface and again you are to go down somewhere to the unknown quarter, to the womb of the mother, unknown quarter, and again only floating on the surface and only to take you down in a moment. And if you live some more you will feel such circumstances, your body and other disturbance, you will desire to go down. You will aspire towards annihilation, such a plane is here. I don't like to live any longer, I can't drag my body, it is too infirm, paining me." So many diseases, we go to commit suicide. So unpleasant this atmosphere sometimes becomes to us that we want to commit suicide, so undesirable.

Now whether we should risk our energy to inquire for our home or that will be madness? To the saner section, so-called saner section of the society, they'll say, "Oh they're mad leaving the present thing here, running after phantasmagoria."

This is to be decided for us, within us, whether we shall try to utilise whatever little we get here, or risking this, discarding this. We shall try to have an ideal land to live, we are to decide that, we are to face this question in our life. Whether to relish this sort of thing, it is better, it is more profitable, or to ignore that and to try to find out some better position to live in. What sort of life should we accept, that is the question before us, and that inner response and firm response, determination that, "No I don't want to live here on the surface. This is undesirable, so and so things undesirable, I don't like to live here. If I do not get anything still I shall try to get something, better place to live in. It does not matter if I lose everything. I don't care for this, this is a thing, this will go, vanish today or tomorrow, today or tomorrow this will vanish. So at the cost of this if I go on searching for a better place it is no risk, it is rather judiciousness."

Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, there are a certain type of people whose goal of life is after a certain type of magic and mystical things and contacting the spirits and producing magical tricks. So what platform is this?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is magic and this is not magic? What is their position, the siddha, bhokta siddha? They're power mongers. Here are a little in the background, in a broader circle, in a subtle world for power mongers. They display some sort of power and attract you to that. That is also not a permanent thing and not of the purest nature. Take any concrete example what they do, you analyze it, that is also mundane, temporary, and not of so much purity as service. Service is the purest thing, sacrifice, service. Die to live.

I already told, all risk no gain in this plane, nothing to aspire for, all filthy, of gross or subtle, that is also exploitation. In another way, in a finer way, the siddhas, the magicians, the miraclists, they're also by the show of their subtle power, they want to control some and what do they give, only these things.

What you get suppose in a dream, any sort of pleasure in dream you may get, something like that there may be but all transient, of this idea, drawn from this world. That is both in quality and also in quantity. That may be a little broader from this physical plane, that may have some broader scale but in quality that is similar, that is similar. What we may not enjoy in this body we may enjoy in the mind in a dream. The latitude and longitude of the mental sphere is greater than this physical, what is not possible here in the physical body, that can be satisfied in the dream, it's scope is greater, and in that sort of subtle life the siddha is more spacious and more subtle, but that is also a sort of enjoyment.

The criterion of service you put there, no serving tendency, only in fine way to give you some sort of enjoyment of exploitation, that is also exploitation, exploiting the environment, and to offer some facility to you in a very subtle and cheap form. What is that what they deal with, this worldly thing, more subtle, what is their proposal, their gift, the object of their giving, only of mundane character, siddha.

Then mukta, that is in the relativity of mortality, what the siddha gives you, very cheaply, but in the relativity of mortality. Little durable that may be, little longer life, little precious, but related to mortality and to become immortal that means to become a cipher, that is sahajiyā-mukti. But crossing that cipher, that complete withdrawal from the negative side we come to the, ansisha? And then if we want to contact with the positive side, only through the serving tendency, we can come in contact with the higher plane, if we can utilize, if we are ready to utilize, to be utilized by them, not otherwise.

Visa is only issued to those who may enter into the country with some contribution for the country, not with any detrimental object for exploitation. So only with the serving attitude and that is within our self, inner most self. We may find that it is a unit with a serving attitude and eligible to enter into that highest, finest plane of service, Vaikuṇṭha.

To come in contact with the, if we are prejudiced for local interest we cannot have a free play in the absolute wave, the local interest will hinder me. To mix with the absolute wave, the absolute wave, absolute current is there, but if we have got local interest we cannot freely mix with that absolute wave. Do you follow, understand?

Līlā, that means absolute movement in a particular type is going on, and the conception of local interest, provincial interest, self interest, within that case, I cannot mix freely with the absolute current. And the absolute current is of that type, of service, self giving, self sacrifice. That plane, the highest plane, is love. Love means sacrifice.....

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāj

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally we are to think that at the time of separation, all the naths, affected deeply, with deepest intensity, in the indirect way. And that will affect the inevitable union. So union is a finishing touch, and the preparedness, hunger for the union, that has been considered to be the highest point. Just as youth is fully grown, but just before youth, what should be the name? Kaiśora, in Sanskrit it is kaiśora. Not the youth but just before the youth - this stage of life. That has been considered to be the highest, desirable stage, kaiśora - just before youth, though youth is considered to be full-grown.

So, vipralambha, [divine separation] that hunger - hunger for eating, it is satisfaction, but just before the eating, the stage of hunger has been given the best consideration of the health. Hunger is the cause of satisfaction of eating. So the first stage has been given the highest importance - vipralambha. And there, every nath to its most intensified stage is surcharged with things, which are on the other, desirable side. Preparing to embrace. When going to embrace, that is considered to be the highest stage, rather than when embracing - vipralambha becomes more intense. Hankinging, the full, it captures the whole, and to the deepest. It is a test to the real for both the parties of the real relationship of the deep attack of the thing, the possibility, the kaiśora. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

That vipralambha. Vipralambha has got its own special kind of enjoyment. Rādhārāṇī is so great, or, the Vṛndāvana party is so great - only for Their vipralambha. Vipralambha is the test of genuineness of the thing. Long after Kṛṣṇa had His līlā, up to aged twelve in Vṛndāvana, but we are told that in rare cases the age may be taken as one and a half. In twelve we may take Him as grown to eighteen. Anyhow, for a few hours He passed His time in Vṛndāvana, for a very small period, and more life in Mathurā and Dvārakā. One hundred and twenty-five years, twelve years in Vṛndāvana, but this born connection, limited connection of a few years, fed the Vṛndāvana party for more than a hundred years, and most intensely awaiting His union. And that has been given in the history of love divine, the unique position, of Rādhārāṇī, Yaśodā, etc. What standard of intensity of love divine They have got that They could endure so much time with the same intensity for the same. So much love and affection is never found in any history of the world, the long period of unabating intense tendency for union for Him. So what is there? I heard sometime that, "Failure makes us great."

Devotee: "Failure is the pillar of success."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pillar of success - that is another thing. And sometimes failure makes one great. There is another saying like that. So there is something there - not the result, but the action. That is the qualitative difference. 'I am doing, not for the result, but concentrated in the action, not for the consequence, action itself.' Karmaṇy evādhikāras te:

[karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana

mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi]

["I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

A different quality. Friends may be faithful when they are together, but when separated far and for long time, if still they are faithful to one another, then there must be high quality, higher quality of faithfulness there. And when together, faithfulness to each other, that is an easy thing, but when separated and for a long time, still maintaining faith to each other, then that must be of higher quality. Separation is the test to the genuine thing, especially the love. What degree of love is there that can stand so long a separation and ever fresh? Always fresh, long standing fresh, to the highest intensity. The spirit of sacrifice challenging everything, requiring nothing in response, no want. The Queen is absolute, proud of sacrifice.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

A special character of that of giving, in bestowing, the ecstasy in giving, not taking. In giving not taking. So, in the case of the union of the male and female, it is told that that of the female, they're more intense. Because, that is passive, negative, not aggression. Giving sacrifice is greater there, it is told. By giving we thrive and that is the fundamental substance in love, to give and not to take. So vipralambha - separation, is the highest chance of this test in itself. So it is considered to be greater than union. Only action, no reaction, giving, not getting - love is there, more. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Love means to give, to give. And the test is there in separation.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Audārya, mādhyura and audārya. So Mahāprabhu is considered to be - though Kṛṣṇa, but when Kṛṣṇa is as Mahāprabhu He is considered to be higher. Mādhyura and audārya, when He's giving Himself to others without any consideration present, in a self-distributing stage. That is vipralambha - mad to give Himself to others. That aspect of Kṛṣṇa is said to be higher in conception - Kṛṣṇa in the mood of Rādhārāṇī.

Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi.
Mahāprabhu. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi
Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura
Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Govinda.
Govinda. Govinda Govinda. Govinda. Govinda. Govinda. Rādhe. Rādhe.
Rādhe. Govinda. Gaura

Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!
Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

So I like to finish here today.

Devotee: Ninth of December, Nineteen eighty-two, side A.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When Mahāprabhu was in Śrī Raṅgam during cāturmāsya, as the etiquette of the sannyāsīs, at that time, He passed four months in one place, on the banks of the River Kāverī, Śrī Raṅgam - the headquarters of the Rāmānūja sampradāya. There He lived in a brāhmaṇa family. The householder was Veṅkata Bhaṭṭa, his young son was Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, and his brother was one Prabodhānanda.

At that time He regularly visited Śrī Mūrti Raṅganātha vigraha, and there He found in the compound that one gentleman, a brāhmaṇa, he used to read Bhagavad-gītā, chant, recite - in Sanskrit of course, but full of mistakes. He did not know the language well but still he went on reciting Bhagavad-gītā ślokas. And the people that were passing by used to cut jokes and ridicule him, because his pronunciation was always full of mistakes. He did not know the meaning of the passages. Like a parrot he's making the sound but not knowing the meaning and no knowledge about the Sanskrit language, can't pronounce properly. And the people, naturally, ridiculed him.

Mahāprabhu one day approached him after his recitation. "You brāhmaṇa, you chant the verses of Bhagavad-gītā and the general public ridicules you so much. But still you don't care for them and go on chanting. What's the reason? What do you find in it that you continue in spite of these unfavourable remarks against you? What's the reason?"

Then the brāhmaṇa came out: "As long as I go on chanting the ślokas of Bhagavad-gītā I find I can see that Kṛṣṇa is just as a driver in the chariot before Arjuna, as if I can see Him clearly. I read it abiding the instruction of my Gurudeva. I do it here. And as long as I engage myself in this matter I can see Kṛṣṇa. A very beautiful, blue figure, just before the chariot, as a pāṛtha-sārathi, one who engages the horses, sārathi, the driver of the chariot. I can see Him and my heart is very much appeased thereby. So, whatever the public likes they may remark, but I can't leave that."

Then Mahāprabhu told: "Yes, your reading of Bhagavad-gītā is the fulfilment of the study you have got hereby. Such a fulfilment of your chanting here I understand."

So what should we learn from this? The brāhmaṇa is researching, reading, going through the scriptures. But he does not understand the meaning, but still he goes on.

When I was a student, about fourteen years or so, I came to read a Sanskrit poem where it is mentioned:

arvrti sarva sastranam bhodha api ranjasi?

The chanting of the forms or contents of the scriptures is more than the understanding of the meaning within it. I could not conceive, I could not catch the meaning at that time, how is it possible? Mere chanting of the scriptures can be superior than the understanding of the meaning within it? How is it possible? I could not understand. Arvrti - the repetition of the chanting. Sarva sastranam - of all the scriptures. If we read loudly, tries without number, repeatedly, we attempt to read - then it is told that it is superior to understanding the meaning of the passages. I found, when I came to Gauḍīya Maṭh, I could follow the meaning to a certain extent, how the chanting is superior to understanding the meaning in it. The chanting, the cultivation, of the divine sound, sound divine, which is conscious, which is consciousness, is greater than to try to understand the meaning in the inductive process. The sound will express itself, its meaning to you.

Just as Hari-Nāma, go on chanting with respect, with regard, with serving attitude, and the sound will come with its meaning within your heart. Śabda-brahma, the sound is not this material thing that your lips can produce. It is not like that - it is śabda-brahma. The Name of the Lord is all conscious and it can express itself within you, naturally. It can come to you naturally with His figure, colour, and His acquaintance. Śabda-brahma, Vaikuṇṭha-Nāma, the Name Infinite, the sound Infinite, only with that expectation, that attitude, we are to tackle. We shall expect the Name will come with His real meaning. "I am so and so," if my attitude towards that, towards the sound, becomes so. So kīrtana, śabda-brahma, kīrtana.

And also, here, in Śrī Raṅgam, what Mahāprabhu certifies, something more. "I can see the beautiful figure of the Lord there. Not knowledge, Kṛṣṇa is all- knowledge - not that. But appealing to the heart, the fine cord of the heart, to charm, it charms the inner core of my heart, appeals there, I am caught there. I can't give up this recitation because the fine cord of my heart is touched and I get some sort of inexpressible joy in me. Some ecstatic touch I find in my heart as long as I chant Bhagavad-gītā in obedience to the instruction of my Gurudeva." So ruci, crossing the knowledge - the knowledge may also give out, but more than that is our taste for the thing - ruci. "The experience, the conception of some supernatural knowledge, supernatural ecstasy, ecstatic feeling, I experience when I repeat the reading."

Sat - cit - ānanda, not only appealing to the conscious world, but transcending that they appeal to the ānandam, to the sense of beauty, love, charm, all these things. The higher plane, the superior plane of our life is there, that ānanda, ecstasy, happiness, joy - that plane, the most fundamental plane of our life is there. So, the proper way to approach the revealed scriptures should be in such a submissive way as if that is one with the Supreme Lord.

Mahāprabhu told Sanātana Goswāmī when Sanātana came to praise Him when Mahāprabhu gave sixty-one kinds of interpretation in one śloka:

ātmārāmāś ca munayo, nirgranthā apy urukrame

[kurvanty ahaitukīm bhaktim, ittham-bhūta guṇo hariḥ]

["Those sages who, being merged in the bliss of the spirit soul, are totally free from the binding knot of mental images - they too engage in the unmotivated service of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the performer of marvellous deeds.

This is but one of the qualities of the Supreme Lord Hari, who charms the entire world."][Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.7.10]

These sixty-one forms of different explanations was given by Mahāprabhu to this śloka. Then Sanātana Goswāmī told: "You are Bhāgavata itself, You are Kṛṣṇa Yourself. You can express Yourself in any way You like, any way You like."

And Mahāprabhu, in His modest way replied: "Why do you praise Me? Don't you know Kṛṣṇa's Bhāgavata is Kṛṣṇa Himself. Every letter is Kṛṣṇa. Sanātana, every letter of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is Kṛṣṇa Himself. That is infinite. Every letter contains infinite meaning."

The approach is all-important. So scripture also if properly approached we shall find like that. It will come itself with its own real meaning, natural meaning, to us. Sevonmukhe hi jihvādau:

[ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ]

[Therefore [Because the Name of Kṛṣṇa is identical with Himself, and is beyond the realm of sense experience] the Name, form, qualities, associates, and pastimes of Kṛṣṇa are beyond the realm of sense experience. When, however, a devotee engages the senses beginning with the tongue in the service of the Lord Kṛṣṇa reveals Himself to the purified senses of that devotee."]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.234]

So, all the scriptures to be studied in Gurukula - yai bhagavata vai vaisnava syam, from a proper source.

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā upadekṣyanti te jñānam, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

The whole dealing of studying the scripture should be of such attitude. Then everything will be right, sevonmukhe. So all importance in our need, out attitude, how to approach the infinite knowledge or infinite ecstasy. The submissiveness, total unconditional submissiveness in our search - then Kṛṣṇa is there, according to the purity of submission and earnestness to search the truth, to search for Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa is there. Kṛṣṇa is everywhere. We can see only Kṛṣṇa, nothing else. Sometimes Kṛṣṇa and māyā. Sometimes Kṛṣṇa with His devotees of different pastimes, līlā. That is the Dhama also, like that, every transcendental plane is like that. It is real, it is free, it has got its liberty, he or she, whatever, liberty, superiority, pleasure. So the only method, the nature of our approach - He's everywhere.

Everywhere the figure, the colour or representation of Kṛṣṇa is shining with great lustre, but only one whose eyes are pure can see. Purified and not covered with the prejudice of different kinds in the plane of exploitation or renunciation, or calculative devotion. If we can cross these three planes then everywhere we can find Him.

But one whose eyes are covered by the dust of different plans and purpose, anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna, filthy desires, or organised exploiting desires, or to get out of the troubles around liberation desires, we can't find Him. We can't find Him because those prejudices cover our feeling. He is everywhere but still we can't see Him. We can see only the cover, because of cataract, cataracts of different layers on the eye so we can't see.

So, it is the duty of the Guru to remove the cataract, ajñāna-timirāndhasya jñānāñjan-śalākayā, with speak mixed with that ointment of the eye, it removes the cataract of the eye. Then we can see the Infinite. And the background comes out in the front and we can see, we can feel, we can hear. The sound also, like the eye, the ear also so, touch also so. Only our own prejudice has covered us. Sound is there but if I can cover my ears no sound. Sun is, but no sun if I cover my eyes. Sound is but if I can cover my ears no sound. Something like that. And deep vision with respect, with reverence, with love, with beauty, with earnest hankering for the sweet association, we become qualified to come to that plane.

andi yuta yaku jari visaya dhuli te karmana se para tattva payi dhuli te?
Our inability, our uneasiness is the cause not to see Him ...

End of side A, start of side B, 9-12-82

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... hundreds, thousands of desires are already within us, and they have covered us, like a hand against the sun, against the infinite nature of the world. Only compartmental knowledge has covered our sentient self.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Neither heroic nature, nor scholarly life can give us Him. Only simplicity, only real hankering can give Him to us. Bhakti, devotion, tendency to devote us towards Him, not to make Him subservient to our infinitesimal mean cause, but to surrender to His holiest cause. We are for Him, not He's for us. In the beginning we are for Him, then we shall be able to understand that He's also for us, visa versa. For our real life, His presence is urgent. Otherwise, how can we live if we can have a slight taste of that we wont want to live any longer without His association, can't continue our living, so sweet association.

yajlavda charparam larbham manyate nadi kanta ta yasmin stito nadu kena guru na vibhi candra ta?

If anyhow we can come in contact with Him, we can never conceive, have the possibility of conception there cannot be greater necessity, or greater gain. This is the highest need, we can feel it direct. And if we are in His connection, no trouble, however great in this world can budge me an inch from my position, can never affect in any way if I am there in that plane. No amount of affliction can disturb us.

Whether God is or not, a great problem, but God is only there. Ha, ha, ha. He's at the support of everything, support of me and the environment. He's there. What is existing, He's of what quality? What is His nature, of the environment and of me? The foundation where we stand, the environment and also myself standing, what is the nature of that foundation? Ultimately we have to go, that foundation is on the upper, not on the lower. We are not standing under the foot, no foundation, the foundation over the brain, not brain but feeling. Even brain can be crossed if in the material plane where we stand, that also can be crossed.

Only our feeling stands in some other plane, some other higher and greater more spacious plane. There we are, the feeler, the subject, we require foundation of that thing. All these experiences are standing where? On some higher plane of consciousness, consciousness is the be-all and end-all. Sat-cit, existence, sat means existence, cit means cetana - consciousness, spirit. Then ānandam, the next highest layer is all sweetness, all sweetness.

Only the crookedness of our consciousness of plurality and collision of the interest of plurality, that must vanish. We shall try to find oneness, common interest, merge our selfish individual interest in search of common interest. Common, not only of human beings, but even insects, trees, the stones, everything, this ether, everything. Go back to the origin of the idea of all different concepts. What is there? The bed, the mother of all feelings, all sorts of sentiments - what is there? The sweetness, sweetness, sweetness. Then how can this bitterness can come out of that sweetness? How is it possible? Then we are to know gradually the development there, the gradation, intensity, all these things to be known.

But if we are in the right view, nothing will disturb, everything will be pleasing. Competition is not bad but only selfishness to be eliminated from the competition, all in player's mood, just as we say 'take it in player's mood.' Then the difficulty may be minimised. So, this is līlā, then it is alright, players mood. The gainer, the winner and the defeated party if it can be taken in player's mood, a play, then no trouble within the heart, no vindictiveness, līlā. Both parties, the winner and the defeated, both parties may enjoy a play.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

From individual we are to go to universal, and again, from the general universal plane we are to go to a particular, specific competitive life, but to please the Centre. And here, to please the individual effects, and that is the central cause, competition to please the central cause which is the Absolute Good, the source of all goodness. And here to please so many branches, competing, there's the rub.

ātmendriya-prīti-vāñchā - tāre bali 'kāma' kṛṣṇendriya-prīti-icchā dhare 'prema' nāma

["The desire to gratify one's own senses is known as kāma (lust), but the desire to please the senses of Lord Kṛṣṇa is prema (love)."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 4.165]

That is love, this is lust. We are to avoid, sacrifice this individual aspiration, for the Absolute, for the Centre. To be centralist, the problem in general is to be centralised in all its respect, to be centralised. Be centralised, try to understand central interest and be centralised. And there may be competition, no wrong. Giving, competition in donation, who can give more donation, competition, who can give more not that who can absorb, take more, that is bad, who can give more. Peaceful and holy competition, holy competition, and this is mean competition we are in the midst of at present. This attitude should be analysed, everyone has got their own attitude, more or less it is esoteric, an esoteric is necessary. Devotion, the basis of devotion. This is all intellectualism but when it is endowed with life it becomes pleasant, sweet. Otherwise, mere intellectualism won't give us the reality, the result, the desired end of our life. Practice, sevā, service, not formal representation only, but substantial representation, we are to accept, we are to live the life. We are to live, not intellectual acknowledgement, intellectual professing can do, but we must have to live the life, practice, sevā. Pariprasna, honest enquiry, not intellectual enterprise in the name of religion, that won't have much value, but to live the truth. Whatever we shall understand we must utilise it in our daily life, daily movement, sincerely, then we can understand the gain, the benefit of the life.

Kṛṣṇa. Govinda. Nītāi.

I belong to Gaurāṅga's party, I belong to Gaurāṅga, Gurudeva, Prabhupāda's party. A mere repetition in the lips, lip deep repetition, that won't do. But gaura acar gaura vicar, his decision and his practice we must accept for us, then we shall hope to get some concrete result. To live the life is all-important. That is not imitation, that does not want any money or any grandeur, or any sort of external charm, but it is more dependent on the inner heart. The attitude of the inner heart - I am there, I am there living in my innermost quarter, and he must be utilised. The party is he, within, not this body, not the property, not the name and fame, but within, who is sometime gathering moss and sometimes clears the mosses.

Mahāprabhu. Gaurāṅga Sundara. Infinite.

Then, any question? Where is Vidagdha Mādhava Prabhu? If you are questioned, if we question you to come out with your inner tendencies to understand, that the adjustment what you've acquired now.

kirtan anta tato varam?

To exact, to assert, to deal with the question, inner necessity arises how to answer this question. The thing within will awake to answer within you, how to meet this question. 'Why have I accepted this path of life? What is the explanation in me? Am I sincere?' Then I must ask myself why I have accepted this path. I must have a clear answer from my heart, from within - why I accepted this. My heart must have to explain to me my inner understanding. And the answer you will get, you will strive within to the utmost extent how to reply. So kīrtana, chanting, is the powerful method of cultivation of the spiritual cause.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Any question? Put questions to your own self. From the surface it will go to appeal to the inner surface to have the answer. It is there, it is there. The inner man will answer - the caitya-guru, the caitya-guru will answer many things, automatically. Some days we are sitting here, sometimes some subtle questions come within. Then the meaning about some śloka appealing to the caitya-guru, then sometimes it becomes clear. Caitya-guru is there.

If anything is to be discussed here in this mortal world, the most wonderful substance, the knowing principle. The consciousness - that is the most charming thing, consciousness. A research scholar with his brain going to research, "What is the underlying principle here? Things are going in this way and not that way - what is the reason?" Diving deep to study the inner nature, and they're getting some sort of answer. The enquirer is a conscious unit, and that which is coming out that is also some judicious and intelligent thing within the nature. The researching intelligence is satisfied with the corresponding, wonderful conscious arrangement, design, below the surface.

They're coming with the truth, big story: "Oh yes, I have found out." But what they have found out, that wonder is already there. And that is an infinitesimal part of the wonderful design. And the source of the whole, how great he is, a very smallest part, discovering, inventing, he says: "I am great. I am Einstein. I am Newton. I am so and so. I have discovered this fresh thing."

But the very ocean of that wonder is already buried, ha, ha, under the surface. And that is to neglected, that is to looked at as stone, fossil. The wonders that are coming out of the fossil, by a tiny brain, and the ocean of wonder is there below the fossil, ha, ha. And these men are very great, other things are fossil, which is ocean, infinite wonder. Very fun, sarcastically. Hare Kṛṣṇa. They are foolish scholars, ha, ha. From the stone they're creating. It is there infinitely. And only a smallest part he has understood, 'he's so great' and this is false. 'All stone.' Foolish to the extreme.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Mahārāj, in the Bhāgavatam there's a story about Mahārāj Rantidev [?] and I believe that he is asking some prayer to, he wants to help all the conditioned souls, all the fallen souls, he has some prayer. So what type of devotion is this?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. One who gets a sweet thing, it is natural that he will like, if he's not jealous, that everyone may taste that sweet thing. Sympathetic, he will engage himself to taste that sweet thing and he will also aspire that everyone may taste the sweet fruit, it is quite natural. Nirmat-sarāṇāṁ satām [Bhāgavatam, 1.1.2], all may live happily, and thereby the reaction comes to him and makes him more advanced. What is healthy to me, if I can distribute to the environment, the environment will also improve my health, more and more. If, purity, I can throw around, that will come as a reaction and make me purify again. It is natural. Satyaṁ paraṁ dhīmahi, in the first śloka of Bhāgavatam Vyāsadev says: "Let us, not myself alone, but let us all come to taste of this sweet thing." Vyāsadev in the first śloka of Bhāgavatam he's announcing: "Let all of us come and taste this great, sweet thing." Dhīmahi, that is plural number, that all have come, all of us engage ourselves in the search of the taste of the sweetest thing.

Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Guru Mahārāj, I have one question here by Nimāi Paṇḍita. He wrote a letter some time ago and he's asking a question, coming from Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, chapter four, in the sixth canto:

annaṁ carāṇāṁ acarā, hy apadaḥ pāda-cāriṇām

[ahastā hasta-yuktānām, dvi-padām ca catuṣ-padaḥ]

[By nature's arrangement, fruits and flowers are considered the food of insects and birds; grass and other legless living entities are meant to be the food of four- legged animals like cows and buffalo; animals that cannot use their front legs as hands are meant to be the food of animals like tigers, which have claws; and four- legged animals like deer and goats, as well as food grains, are meant to be the food of human beings.]

In this verse Soma is explaining to the Pracetās how Kṛṣṇa has arranged for one living entity to be food for another. "And four-legged animals like deer and goats as well as food grains, are meant to be the food of human beings." That's a quote from Bhāgavatam. So his question is: "Why does Soma and the Bhāgavatam appear to condone meat eating?" The words 'like deer and goats' are [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swāmī] Prabhupāda's and he goes on to explain that cows should not be killed, but cows are also catuṣ-padaḥ - four-legged animals. So in the light of this verse why should they also not be killed? Where does it say in the Vedas that cows should not be killed?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow your argument.

Devotee: I see.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Devotee: He's quoting this conversation ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Somewhere it is mentioned that one animal is created as food for another?

Devotee: Yes. And then it uses the verse that describes "deer and goats can be eaten by human beings."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And not the cows.

Devotee: He's asking, "Where does it say in Bhāgavatam that cows cannot be eaten?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where is it mentioned in Bhāgavatam that cows cannot be killed?

Devotee: Yes, and eaten by humans. So he's asking that if deer and goats can be eaten, cows also have four legs, why can't they be eaten?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you think that Bhāgavatam has given advice that 'eat goat, eat fish, this animal, that animal?' What have you understood from Bhāgavatam?

Devotee: Well, this is not my question. I understand that ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Here you do not understand the very fundamental thing of the whole system. It is already there.

na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāṇi, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ

[na karma-phala-saṁyogam, svabhāvas tu pravartate]

["Due to their tendency towards ignorance since immeasurable time, the living beings act, considering themselves the doers or inaugurators of action. The Supreme Lord does not generate their misconception of considering themselves doers, nor does He generate their actions or their attachment to the fruits of those actions."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.14]

It is the outcome of the misuse of the free will of the jīva. And it is there, how to get out of that filthy nature, that has been dealt there, not giving provision that you eat this animal, that animal, don't eat that animal, don't eat that animal, even a vegetable. If you do not do anything else, still you are a nuisance by your bathing, by watering, by your walking, so many disturbances caused to the animal kingdom. How to get out of that attempt of creating nuisance in the environment? How to get out?

yajñārthāt karmaṇo 'nyatra, loko 'yaṁ karma-bandhanaḥ

[tad-artham karma kaunteya, mukta-saṅgaḥ samācara]

["Selfless duty performed as an offering to the Supreme Lord is called yajña, or sacrifice. O Arjuna, all action performed for any other purpose is the cause of bondage in this world of repeated birth and death.

Therefore, remaining unattached to the fruits of action, perform all your duties in the spirit of such sacrifice. Such action is the means of entering the path of devotion, and with the awakening of true perception of the Lord, it will enable you to attain to pure, unalloyed devotion, free from all material qualities (nirguṇa-bhakti)."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 3.9] And:

loke vyavāyāmiṣa-madya-sevānityastu jantor-nahi tatra codanā

[vyavasthitis-teṣu vivāha-yajña-surāgrahairasu nivṛttiriṣṭhā]

[Everyone is naturally inclined to have sex, eat meat and drink wine. There is no need for the scripture to encourage these things. The scriptures do, however, give concessions to people who are determined to do these things. The scriptures therefore grant a license to enjoy sex by allowing sexual intercourse with one's lawfully wedded wife at the proper time of the month. They grant a license to eat meat to those who perform a certain kind of sacrifice, and a license to drink wine to those who perform the Sautramaṇi sacrifice. The purpose of granting these licenses for sense gratification is only to restrict these activities and encourage people to give them up altogether. The real intention of the Vedic injunctions regarding sex, meat-eating, and wine-drinking is to make a person abstain from these activities.] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.11]

Bhāgavata does not say that 'do this.' You are already in the mud. How to get out of the mud? That is the necessity of the advice of Bhāgavatam. Bhāgavata has said 'you eat deer and you will be innocent'? Does it say like that? 'Eat deer, eat goat, eat this thing and that thing and you will be free from any sin,' has it told like that?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, it is already there, you are already in the mud. How to get out of that mud? That is the outlook of Bhāgavatam and it has advised in that way. And why you are in the mud? It depends on your free will. Why such free will has been given by God? It is a part of the spiritual substance.

That systematic knowledge you must have. Only abrupt questions from here and there that corner, absurd things, always repetition. Always repetition of the absurd questions, no digest. The questions must be made on a proper plane. Why some things should be repeated once, again and again, again and again. That means he does not understand anything.

We are to understand the whole system, how, what is what. Why this sin? Kṛṣṇa has directed to commit sin? These are the salient points to understand. Bhāgavata has asked to 'eat these things'? If already they are doing, that is less harmful than cow killing, and human killing. To kill an animal is less injurious than killing a human being.

When a football is just near the goal, if we lose it, then we moan, "Oh a great chance is lost." But when it is in the centre we do not moan. So, human life is a nearer approach towards our real life, a great chance, a key to the success of the whole wandering in the world of nescience. So come to human form, the valuable chance here, so if I kill a human being I've done a greater wrong to the person. And so many animals there are who are nearer the approach towards humanity, their chance should not be hampered, in that way. A creeper's life is less valuable than an animal's life, and an animal's life is less valuable than a human's life, in this way. The gradation is there. As I gave, when the football is nearer the goal and the chance is missed, the more deplorable it is. So according to that the valuation has been attached. And if a sādhu is killed then greater reaction, in this way, the valuation in the life is calculated according to its chance towards the higher. The important life has been taken away, so greater wrong to him. In this way it has been told.

The man is already in the mud, not to put him in the mud. Śāstra does not want that he'll be cast into the mud. He's already in the mud, so how to take him out from the mud, that sort of instruction. You tried where which side is very liquid, come very easily from that, and when the mud is very dried mud you will be entangled and can't move. In this way some sort of recommendation to come out of the mud, śāstra recommends, not that 'you must have to do this', not that. And why he's in the mud when there's God who is all merciful? That question is given in another place. These important, salient questions you must have to understand, these important junctions.

When God is omniscient, He's omnipotent, He knows everything, and He has got every power, and He has got the highest feeling heart, sympathetic heart, then why this world suffering? So many jīva is suffering, so many souls are suffering. God has no heart, or He's not omnipotent, or He does not know, not all conscious?

The fundamental things, these points you must have your solution, otherwise you will always be entangled into questions pushed here, you will run there, again pushed from that side you will run to that side. You will have to move with no way of getting out a solution, kicked from one side you will have to go to another side, by kicking.

Cow species holds the higher position of all the animal species, so if that chance, if he's killed, his further curing life is ruined, so greater loss to the soul within, in this way. And human killing also more sinful. Why? Important chance, it may go towards the highest aim, so to destroy that is a greater harm. The higher chance, if lost, then he's more loser, in that respect.

The plant eating is also not innocent, there is also life. So Vaiṣṇavas are not like the Jains, the plant eating, but they take prasādam. And why do they not devote all the plants and vegetables for the Lord? There is the direction in the śāstra

Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is possibility of such attitude that if one is externally seen to crush the whole solar system he does not do anything. Killing the whole solar system or many solar systems, killing, he does not do anything, that point is also to be understood carefully, how it is possible...Why, how it is possible. To kill this plant, to that animal, the whole creation can be crushed, still no sin, how it is possible, in what plane of life it is possible.

The nirguṇa, the most fundamental flow is running towards some direction, and to identify wholesale with that. Any moment, the most fundamental flow, to identify with that flow, then, not only he does harm by killing, but he does good by killing. And killing means what, what is killed? Our dress, the body means dress, the person is not killed. His dress is changing. All these things are to be understood, and industrious in another plane, inactive in one plane but active in another plane.

Devotee: I think I'm always acting in the lower plane.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then wakeful here and another party actful in another plane, ease lover.

Devotee: I have one question Mahārāja. Recently when I was in Vṛndāvana I went to Rādhā-kuṇḍa and at Rādhā-kuṇḍa I saw some devotees doing daṇḍavat parikramā of Govardhana Hill. And I understand that the object of doing daṇḍavat parikramā is so that you have darśana of Lord Kṛṣṇa within five days, and I wanted to know what type of devotion, is this bona fide?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe in particular cases but not bona fide in all cases. If there is any revealed direction, “circumambulate Govardhana for five times then you will see”, if some conditional revelation, then it may be possible, otherwise only by attempting, as a general part of devotion to circumambulate Govardhana, that does not mean that anyone and everyone will have darśana thereby. Kṛṣṇa. And what is darśana that is to be thought and understood. So many people see something and think that “I have got darśana.”

Gaura Sundara.

So only by circumambulating Govardhana five times one can have, that cannot be the general thing, general rule, but in particular case it may be, may not be impossible.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi
Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Mahārāja, in many places in the śāstras we are being encouraged to chant the Holy Name. Sometimes in different Purāṇas in different parts of the Vedas different results are given for performing ritual activities and some austerities, but all meant to encourage so still we find many devotees becoming discouraged.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śāstra has encouraged the chanting of the Name but sometimes we find the devotees they're discouraged to chant the Name?

Devotee: They become discouraged.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the reason? You want to know the reason for the difference? The present Gauḍīya Maṭh lies there? They discourage that imitation?

Devotee: No, I'm saying that many ISKCON men have become discouraged.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They have come also from Gauḍīya Maṭh, ISKCON, ultimately (Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta) Swāmī Mahārāja came from Gauḍīya Maṭh Mission. That mere lip deep sound is of no value, imitation. There must be some wrong purpose within, that is not true name, Name means Vaikuṇṭha Name, Name and whose Name, that is inseparably connected. So anyhow spiritual Name, this physical imitation sound and the spiritual Name, that we are to differentiate and understand.

The aim must be towards spiritual, Name, Kṛṣṇa's Name, rūpa, guṇa, līlā, everything is spiritual, not mundane. If we want to make Him a member of the world of exploitation then we are wrong there. He's above, He's in the transcendental. Kṛṣṇa-nāma, rūpa, guṇa, līlā, all transcendental, we are to connect with that transcendental sound. Name God, and not a perverted reflection of the Name, that can be taken by the lips.

Even parrot, even a machine, the sound can be produced by a machine also, not that sound. Only ethereal material vibration, that is not it, the underlying connection must be with what is God, what is Kṛṣṇa. The Name must have that sort of connection, otherwise it will be imitation. It will be lip deep sound in the mundane vibration. We're to differentiate that.

Name of God not any perverted reflection of the Name.

We must have that connection, that idea in the background.

And taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa, then not a man who is named Kṛṣṇa. There may be a man whose name is Kṛṣṇa. Sometimes accidentally nāmābhāsa may come but not the Name proper.

A systematic search, a systematic practice of taking the Name is necessary to relieve from this land of exploitation to take me to the land of devotion, some process. It is a concrete thing and not imagination.

We can apply to myself and see the Name Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa's Name is one and the same, then I am taking Kṛṣṇa, one Name of Kṛṣṇa can drive away all the sins, I am taking, all these sins driven from my heart. Then where's the rub, why not so?

One cannot commit so much magnitude as one Name is not sufficient to clear it up. A single Name of Kṛṣṇa can do away with all the sins, as so much sin that one man can never commit in his life. Then we are taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa, all sins cleared, gone, left me, why not? Then where is the trouble?

In a proper mood we are to take, the Name must be transcendental.

Vaikuṇṭha nāma ugrahamam ? asesha ? means infinite, endless sin can be washed off, if one Name is Vaikuṇṭha Name, Vaikuṇṭha , Name of infinite characteristic.

arga ? means pāpa, sins.

We are to understand that one single Name can do away with all the sins a man may have, but that Name is infinite character. That is transcendental Name.

Anyhow we must be, must come in connection with the real party, not imagination. Kṛṣṇa-saṅkīrtana is not imaginary thing that by indulging in some sort of imagination we shall get out of all the practical difficulties. So absolved, not things so absolved. The whole energy must be diverted, directed towards that, left for His mercy. He will come and convert me fully, absolve me fully from the, anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna.

Idea of elevation, idea of fulfilling fleeting desires and ideas of salvation, all these underlying ideas must be burned to ashes. We must have to come to the fact, to the reality. We are to deal with reality not imagination.

Kṛṣṇa-nāma, Kṛṣṇa and His Name, His rūpa, guṇa, līlā, all inseparably connected and that is all transcendental. And what is transcendental, beyond the jurisdiction of our mind, not even, but soul also, we are to understand the plane of sense perception then mental concoction. Then our, the fact that can be caught by our intelligence only, mind also cannot imagine that. Then the ātmā, then beyond that Paramātmā, then on the other side there is that Vaikuṇṭha. In that most subtle and most fundamental plane we are to reach.

We must not think air as ether, air or the smoke, we should not think a smoke, that this is ether, it has electricity, that has got it's own acquaintance, own nature, own property.

A foolish man may think, "The smoke, oh, this is ether." Won't get any response thereby and he'll come to conclude, "Oh there is no electricity." That will be his conclusion. He's applying, making experiment with smoke, or with air, and he wants to have the facility of ether, that is not possible. We are to reach the layer of ether then we can expect to get its benefit.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Mahāprabhu Gaurāṅga Sundara.

Devotee: Before one can chant the pure Name he must have the proper background conception.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is, our serving nature must be roused, awakened within us. Eye can see, ear cannot see, eye cannot have any conception of sound, ear cannot have any conception of colour, so our mind.....

Our word, our mental thought cannot reach, cannot touch that plane. Repeatedly these things are told.

He can come down to touch the mind, the body, but mind and body cannot rise up there because they're gross and that is most subtle. That can come down to this plane. We want to have connection in that line so we shall pray in such a way that He will come down and give me touch. The Name will have to come down to my plane and to dance on my tongue.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura...

From Supersoul to soul, then through the mind it will come to touch, from the heart it will come, the force will engage, will force the tongue to take the Name, take His Name, not we can take but He can come and engage us to take His Name.

The subjective freedom is on that side and our side is our negative prayer. Śaraṇāgati, surrender, so that He may come down, He may condescend to come down to accept me as His platform to dance, to handle me. The whole thing is of that type, that to attract Him to come to my gross self, myself is a very gross thing in comparison to that subtle, higher thing.

He can come down, I cannot go up, and if He takes me up then I can go. Descending method not ascending method, the connection always in the descending method, descend, He can descend, so we are to do something to invite Him to come down to our plane, lower plane, then we can have touch.

We can't force Him. His sweet will we are to tackle, anyhow. Why? How?

Śaraṇāgati, surrender, the negative side, dainyaṁ (humility). "I am the most needy my Lord, poorest of the poor."

That sincere prayer can draw His attention and He can come, only this.

It is not an area in this solar system that we shall go out of our own ability and find Him there, fixed thing, not like that. It is reality to the surrendered soul but that is also existing, that can be measured. Śaraṇāgati, surrender, that can come to law, that can be measured by that sort of law, why one is, dainya, ātma nivedanam, by all these symptoms one can measure, one expert, who is expert in this department he can measure that he has got śaraṇāgati. What he says has got connection with Kṛṣṇa proper. Otherwise only professing that: "I belong to Kṛṣṇa, I have devotion," these things have no value, this propaganda has no value. That is most impossible, still it is real.

Finite and infinite condition, unconditioned the relation just the opposite. How can I force, a point of my type can control the Infinite? This is impossible, but still it is possible by His infinite grace. He can do anything and everything. That is my solace, consolation, the basis of my hope and ambition. Only that side, hopelessness, helplessness, sincere conception of one's helplessness is some type of capital, to draw Him, to force Him to come down, the negative side, opposite side. "I have got nothing. I am the most needy."

It is not professed to profess only but that deep, sincere feeling of helplessness and dependence on Him in His favour. His sweet will. That can give some sort of connection with that higher thing of the most subtle nature which is everywhere and which can know everything. Whether it is a real call or some motive behind, He knows it fully well, the call for which, the quality of the call. "I want You my Lord." The call of what nature, it can be measured. He knows everything. So no cheating is possible there. Still it is reality, though beyond our imagination, our conception...

It is plainly described that He's not within, bak ? means word, sound, manu, mind...

Transcendental, supramental, all these terms already told a thousand times by the scriptures. This is His nature. Still He's real and He's the real, the reality, and all other things which we conceive to be real at present they all evaporate, they're all unsubstantial, the real substance is

He there.

Dive deep, dive deep, deeper to deeper, and self-abnegation, abnegation, the pride is there, "I am something," that is ego, that is the most enemy to our soul's existence. I have gathered some rubbish from this material world and some construction made of that nasty element, that is ego and we are very much proud of that ego, of knowledge, mainly of knowledge, or some sort of favour, or internal capacity, of these things. That ego is the greatest enemy to us, to our own self, that should be totally dissolved, that ego, ahaṅkāra, false vanity, false vanity to be demolished, pulverised, or burned to ashes.

Sacrifice, yajña, the word, sacrifice, give, give. What you have got? All rubbish, give it away, give it away. The part of your pride, all of different elements gathered together, give it away, give it away, and what you have within that, your real self, that is the child of the real soil, ātmā.

Try to know thyself, your inner self, your fine handsome self, then more handsome thing to be connected with that fine self within you. This is rubbish, we have gathered rubbish in the mind and different planes that has formed an ego, from one birth going to another birth and in different innumerable births we are living in different planes in this mundane world. Ego, ego, that is our enemy, what is sitting at the centre of our heart, that ego, that is our enemy, real ego is within and it is eternal.

Find yourself who you are, not this body.

When Brahmā began to explain the Veda there were so many students. Indra was there, and some Virchand? One demon's son was there. "What is ātmā, you are that." Brahmā say's: "You yourself are that ātmā." Then the demon's son he thought this body, "I am this body", another thought, "no I am the mind", another student thought, "no I am not the body or mind but I am within that something". In this way conception varies according to our capacity, instruction coming from the same source with same force but we according to our capacity catch the meaning in different ways due to our respective abnormal position of different degree.

So from Vedānta different interpretations, variegated interpretations. Śaṅkarācārya gave some interpretation and that is also accepted by a large majority of scholars. Then Rāmānuja gave another, Madhvācārya. In this way, different sorts of interpretation, and Śrī Caitanyadeva also hinted in the line of Bhāgavatam, the last production of Vyāsadeva, which was produced when he was given a good stricture by his Gurudeva Devarṣi Nārada. "What you have done? You have done nothing. You have done diabolically wrong. Give this thing otherwise all useless rubbish. You give to the public that ultimate cause is Kṛṣṇa."

All love not an imaginary cipher, God is not an imaginary cipher, but He's all love, He's concrete, He's of human nature, so dear to us, we are so near to Him but far, far off.

Vivekānanda says: "Wherever you get human figure, you take him God and worship him." This is Vivekānanda. "Leaving away the human figures so many royal persons, where are you running after to see such for God? God is all these fellows. Suffering from so many diseases, miseries, they're God, worship them, no other God. Those that say there is other God it is fictitious, they're enemy to the society. Serve these poor persons, daridra-nārāyaṇa, poor Gods, daridra- nārāyaṇa, poor Gods."

God can never be poor, they say: "Poor Gods, daridra-nārāyaṇa." The Nārāyaṇa has come in the garb of poor persons to you. I am also Nārāyaṇa, why should we also go towards another Nārāyaṇa?"

Ha ha. Nārāyaṇa. Lakṣmīpati. Who is the master of all resources. He's Nārāyaṇa, and poor fallen souls, then what is the position of a goat, a cow? Why do you kill them? He's not Nārāyaṇa? Only human figure Nārāyaṇa? They also cry in pain, suffer. There is no Nārāyaṇa? All Nārāyaṇa is concentrated in the poor human figure?

The bogus persons and the bogus people they adore these bogus leaders. They're deceivers, self-deceivers, cheaters in the name of religion. Human figure is Nārāyaṇa then everyone is worshipping a Nārāyaṇa, husband is worshipping wife, wife is worshipping husband, then there's child. In this way they're worshipping the man God, God in man figure. If it is so everyone is doing some sort of service to the human body. Gaura Sundar.

Self deception.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!
Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Mahārāja, how can we tell if someone is a pure devotee, what do we look for, what qualities do we look for?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The symptoms of a devotee already given in the śāstra. Perhaps in Bhāgavatam twenty four, infinite characteristic, but twenty four has been given in Bhāgavatam perhaps, but the general, one is devoted to the Lord, who is, By Itself and for Itself. Attraction for the truth, central truth, which is, By Itself and for Itself. He's for Him. Everything is meant for Him and He exists by Himself, not created. Attraction, affinity, the necessity of searching for such prime cause of centre.

Trying for the fulfilment of ones own heart, inner heart, leaving aside all these things. Who are, generally the external signs or symptoms will be this, that he's not hankering for any gain or loss of this mundane world, flickering world, arnita ?

What is not stable, not eternal, not hankering for that thing. Loss and gain of this mundane world is equal to him, does not care for any loss or gain here.

"I am searching for some eternal truth, what is ecstasy, anāṇdam, or happiness proper, searching for that."

Those that are lady hunters, they engage themselves in that department and they also keep such information where such ladies are available...no other things in their calculation, where a beautiful lady is to be had, only to be engaged in that sort of mood searching.

The capitalist, the money mongers, they keep the information who are moneyed men in the world. "Where is money? How to make money?" He's always awake in that plane, where is money, how to gather that, collect that...Does not see anything else but only money, money, money.

And the sādhus who are above all these things, kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā. Three opposite tendencies are attracting us, women for men, men for women. Then next, kanik, money which can...

End of side A. side B.

Give it to others also. Kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā, the credit, the credit, the fame, name, fame, that is credit, wants, everyone wants that. These three who can have conquered, he can be traced, can be taken to be the seeker of the higher truth. These things, position, this body attraction, and this mind attraction, and also the hankering for the name and fame, credit and the prestige and the popularity in this world. These three phases of life, who has rejected, they can be taken as the real searcher of the higher truth.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol!

Very difficult to take, to give up the charm for prestige, position, pratiṣṭhā. The māyāvādī, they can leave everything but not the pratiṣṭhā. "I am brahma, what is the highest existence, I am that." And the Buddhists, the atheists: "If I cannot be the supreme entity I won't live, I won't live, I won't live in the position of a slave, I won't be a slave to anything, to anybody." The atheists.

And the Vaiṣṇava, they want to live as a serving element in the whole. "I'm a serving element. I want to live with the whole as a serving unit. I like to love all. I want a life of a friend to all. Nothing to be left, nothing is bad, nothing. I want to be friendly to the environment." That is the underlying principal of the Vaiṣṇava. "Neither I want to exploit the environment, nor I want to renounce the environment, but I want environment to love."

To love means to serve, real nature of love is sacrifice for the object of loving, then it is love, otherwise it will be lust if exploiting, if connection, affinity for exploitation it is lust, but if affinity to serve Him, to seek His good, the good of the environment, then it is love, and environment, the whole represented, not a finite like me, then it is love. The opposite of exploitation, dedication, we are to understand the special characteristic and purity of the life of the principle of dedication. There we live. Die to live.

Yajña means sacrifice. Apparently we put ghee, the most precious thing for our body into the fire, what is this, ostentatiously most covetable thing and most useful thing for our body we put into fire, and praying for it, that this valuable thing in the world should be reduced to ashes to clear the atmosphere.

Just as in these days people are complaining as a loud cry, the pollution of the atmosphere by the motor gases, that of the atomic energy, all these things, the atmosphere, not only the water of the ocean is polluted but the whole atmosphere is being polluted by this scientific form of living, but sacrifice, that purifies the atmosphere.

In Bhagavad-gītā we may not understand, we may not follow the method...

This favourable cloud, to give proper rain to produce our necessary crops, that helps this yajña, this fire, putting ghee into fire, so such gas is made off, that a normal rain will come and help us in this world. So feed the society in a subtle form, to perform this yajña, yajña means give, and it will get in fine form. In gross form if you give to the atmosphere, the atmosphere in its turn will give you, by which you will be saved.

The yajña is different kind, dabha ? yajña, jñāna, yajña. Then real proper yajña cent per cent is devotion. dabha jñāna to learn to sacrifice with gross materials. Jñāna yajña in thought, in thought we shall think good for others, others, and including the primary cause who is holding all these things.

And the bhakti yajña, bhakti yoga, that is touching to the centre where from everything to be distributed is distributed. And the idea is given in this way, if you put food into the stomach the whole body is fed, if you pour water into the root the whole tree is fed. To find such a centre and put your energy there and everything will be fed, otherwise it will be impossible for you to feed every part of this universe. Concentrate your energy towards the centre. Collect food and put into the stomach and automatically the whole body will be fed. So you worship, you serve Acyuta, and automatically the whole thing will be fed.

This is the key of the devotee, their life is fine and subtle, high life.

Otherwise if you approach every individual to do something, you won't be able to. If you try to put food into the brain or into the eye, eye won't get any food, brain also won't get any food. So whole thing you send to the centre and automatically it will be distributed to every part according to its necessity, the most scientific way of helping the whole universe. At the same time to be faithful to that centre and where you have every dependence, very harmonizing principle, harmonizing thought, and most reasonable.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Not with the pride that I am giving, not, it is difficult to have connection with that centre. By giving to Him you find that you have got ample. The hand is giving food to the stomach, hand is also being benefited, everyone, the teeth are chewing food for the stomach, but they're also being sustained. Centre, fine centre, loving centre, Kṛṣṇa. Inconceivable, unthinkable, unthinkable happiness you will find within your soul, heart of your soul. Gaura Sundara.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, I have not understood completely in a practical sense then how do we preach to the public, I don't understand how you approach the centre and also approach the individual at the same time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Education. A primary teacher also gives education to the public, and little higher education, then further higher, in this way the most primitive attempt will be to make sukṛti to the people. They may or may not know, knowingly or unknowingly, some sort of energy should be taken and put into the serving wheel. The lowest type of sukṛti the man may not know, he in a general way he's going in his own way, anyhow to snatch something, to steal something of his energy, engage itself into the service of the Lord. Then when little inclination he has got for devotion, anyhow to canvass to make him understand in favour of the service of the Lord and to get some of his energy, or to utilize his prestige, his credit, in the service of the call. Then he collects some śraddhā, some regard for the central truth to help him in that way.

According to the stages to help the people. Not all sorts of preaching will be of the same nature, different nature of preaching there should be, as much as one can do.

The book distribution, they may not always consciously take it but they have got money, they spend something here, there, "Oh give me book." He may not like to study the book but some money he gave for the book and another gentleman perhaps reading from his table that book.

In this way anyhow to engage the energy of others for the service of Kṛṣṇa. Beginning from that, from different layers we can help giving him saying, "There is the God conception is beautiful, it is very happy, it helps us to the last limit." To take it to them and when they come and join to engage them in that service. So different stages there are. Sometimes to give battle with the atheists scholars and to establish the supremacy of God Consciousness. Many stages there are for preaching.

As one is qualified they will do from their own position there. In different ways preaching may go. Some by writing, some by taking the writing to the purport, some by explaining what is written there. In this way, various ways. Some by cooking and offering, and some by distributing, some cleansing the temple here and worshipping the Deity thinking that, "He has been so kind to come here, to capture my mundane senses also."

Anyhow towards Him. In this way various, infinite ways of service. And that is preaching, preaching, worshipping the temple and dressing in ornamental way, and the people are coming and they're charmed with the beauty of the Deity and purity of the pristine compound and they're attracted by that.

Various ways, sometimes by keeping watch that things of the Lord may not be stolen by someone. In various ways we can do. Even sometimes by giving a good beating to the dogs and boys that are stealing things or making filthy. Various ways we can serve the cause.

And service means preaching to certain extent, and śravaṇaṁ kīrtanaṁ, to hear what is God and to reproduce it to others, to preach. That has been given more stress in this Kali-yuga. Śravaṇaṁ kīrtanaṁ, and mostly kīrtana, chant, chanting. Not in the purpose of a trade to make money, but only with the sincere idea of preaching the greatness, of spreading the greatness of the Supreme Lord, with that idea to talk with one another. What is good, we talk about Him, my Lord is the form of highest good, I cannot talk to people without Him, my Lord is such and such, He's so great, He's so good, you also come and take Him as your friend, you will be benefited. Preaching is inevitable.

If a good son or a good friend, we try to talk about him, it is our nature, so to talk about Him, He's the nearest and best friend of us. If we feel we cannot but talk about Him, that is the wealth of mine, I want to give that wealth to others. In this way preaching is natural, preaching. In whatever position whatever level I am, if I find this is good, to extend it to others, that is preaching, maybe a different layer of preaching. Some even may preach within the heart, heart, he may be meditating in such a strong way mental waves will flow to other minds. He's thinking within but the mental waves that are created by his meditation, that is going away and touching, entering into the minds of so many others. That's also preaching. Something. Thinking is also preaching in a subtle form. That is also devotion.

Smaraṇa means to recollect, to hear, to speak, to meditate, śravaṇaṁ kīrtanaṁ viṣṇoḥ, smaraṇaṁ pāda-sevanam, then to serve, arcanam, to revere, vandanam, to praise, dāsyam, serve in very variegated way, sakhyam, to cultivate friendship, to understand we are friend, that is also, sakhyam, ātma-nivedanam, and we offer wholesale to the Lord, that He is the absolute owner of myself, all these ways of devotion. Anyhow exertion, we cannot but exert, all exertion should be converted into the serving attitude towards the Absolute Lord. Devotion, preach, preaching in different layers. All may not be the same. Whatever capacity one has got, a learned man he may go on in his own way, a strong man he will go in another way by bodily strength. So one, whatever he has got he will begin with that but heart's object will be one, valuation will be according to that.

Mahārāja Prataprudra he engaged himself in the sweeper's service and that affected the heart of Mahāprabhu. Service, service is heart, own heart. Outwardly the emperor he engaged himself in a sweeper's service and that attracted His heart most effectively. What is service then? Everything may be service, everything may be preaching, assertion, preaching means assertion, to throw the wave outside, the vibration will be produced and it will go outside to appeal in the same plane.

Mahāprabhu danced and took the Name of Kṛṣṇa. The deer, the tiger, the birds, the elephants, they also danced and take Kṛṣṇa, Name Kṛṣṇa. How? The inner vibration touched their soul, very fine. The elephant mentality, tiger mentality, all outside, but soul is inner most and soul's vibration moved that inner soul and excited them into Kṛṣṇa consciousness. So it is possible that they also were mad taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa and dancing. Some sort of inner urge made them to do so, though bodily elephant, mentally elephant, but in soul he's kṛṣṇa-dāsa. The inner most existence was moved and exerted. This is possible.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Jagāi and Mādhāi was converted immediately but our conversion, sober people we are, our conversion is so much troublesome for the Lord. Ha ha ha. Intense force applied, special care.

Mahāprabhu Gaurāṅga Sundara. Gaurāṅga Sundara. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi.

na prema-gandho 'sti [darāpi me harau krandāmi saubhāgya-bharaṁ prakāśitum vaṁśī-vilāsy-ānana-lokanaṁ vinā vibharmmi yat prāṇa-pataṅgakān vṛthā]

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: "My dear friends, I have not the slightest tinge of love of Godhead within My heart. When you see Me crying in separation, I am just falsely exhibiting a demonstration of My great fortune. Indeed, not seeing the beautiful face of Kṛṣṇa playing His flute, I continue to live My life like an insect, without purpose."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.45]

How rarely found treasure, jewel, sanātana kṛṣṇa prema. It is so precious, never to be found a drop in the whole human society. Mahāprabhu conceived of so deep and interest, though so deep and purest drop of Divine Love. He say's, "Never to be found in this human society, it never comes down to the human society here - sanātana, it is to be worshipped in the highest layer of the existence in Vṛndāvana."

If fortunately, if anyone comes in contact with that he can't live without that, he dies without that fine food, he does not take any other food and the dearth of that food, if he does not get, he will die. If anyone comes in connection generally he's never disconnected, but if disconnected by chance he will die. Can't stand the separation, can't stand the separation of that highest drop of nectar.

All high talks, ha ha, high talks here, ha ha, making, ha ha. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Necessity is the mother of invention. Create necessity, create necessity, and necessity is the mother of invention. That without kṛṣṇa-prema, without that nectar, nothing can satisfy our hearts, quench our hearts thirst. Preach in favour of kṛṣṇa-prema in the market. Ha ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Prema, love, love, the most valuable thing ever invented is love, in the world, the most valuable thing in the world is love, divine, love divine.

Just as it is told about one's learning, one's learning, learning cannot be stolen away by thieves, learning does not come to be divided amongst the partners. Learning, if you distribute it to others, it does not decrease, learning is such a wonderful wealth that your partners cannot divide it, a thief cannot steal it, and if you distribute it to others it will rather increase and not lessened, so what about kṛṣṇa-prema? How wonderful thing that will be, that love, a drop of divine love. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Gaurāṅga came with that thing of highest conception of our ambition, ever come to this world, love divine. Do or die, die to live. Everything for Himself. We belong to Him wholesale.

Here the son of his former āśrama, Tīrtha Mahārāja.

Devotee: And as bestowed upon by Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu is a unique subject.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Very few people will understand - prema dharma stotra

Devotee: That devotion, we are very fortunate that we can have the fortune to pick up some gems and if we keep those gems in our heart, implement it and practice it accordingly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His father was a senior disciple of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and he took sannyāsa from our Guru Mahārāja, first sannyāsa, B.P.Tīrtha Mahārāja, his English translation, The life of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, Gītā, translated by him.

Devotee: It was him who first wrote in English, in India, The life of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's life and precepts very short and his a little bigger, and [Professor] Nisikanta Sanyal's, Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, these were the books first published in English for the world people.

While your G.B.C, I am fifty years, more than forty five years experience in Gauḍīya Maṭh and yesterday G.B.C resolution will be binding on me? Then what am I doing all these fifty years, more than half a century? I have got experience here, and yesterday G.B.C will be binding on me, then what am I, I'm a zero?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some questions I may have answered and he wrote an article in Back to Godhead, and that article was very much adored in the whole of America.

Devotee: Yes, I remember.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Remember. Then some told that, "You are suppressing the credit of our Guru Mahārāja and you are introducing some other gentleman as a big Vaiṣṇava, in Navadvīpa you have found, and you are trying to introduce him into the arena. You are a traitor to [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāja. You don't think that he is the absolute teacher of all us, but introducing another Vaiṣṇava here in this article, with credit. We consider it that you have lost your faith in Swāmī Mahārāja, your Guru Mahārāja." Acyutānanda told that, and then Acyutānanda wanted a letter which was written by Swāmī Mahārāja to Govinda Mahārāja, "I leave Acyutānanda in the care of [Śrīdhara] Swāmī Mahārāja, I relieve him and let him have his training there, I relieve, very much satisfied if Mahārāja takes him as his student." In this way, then Acyutānanda wanted it, "I want that letter, by order of Swāmī Mahārāja I have come to you, he ordered me to learn from you." But that letter was not found at that time where it was, afterwards that letter was found, at that time we don't know.

Then Acyutānanda asked me, "I want some incident."

Then I asked him, "Your field will be Calcutta, English knowing people you want, so if you want to do some service for your Guru Mahārāja you go to Calcutta. I shall ask Madhava Mahārāja to make arrangement for you, and there you preach to the educated section and try to purchase a land on that side, where it is now."

He did so. Then he asked me that, "Swāmī Mahārāja asked me to preach amongst the masses on the banks of the Ganges, and you told me to approach the elites of Calcutta. What should I do ?"

I told him, "Our Guru Mahārāja wanted that we should approach the scholars, big persons, and the mass will come automatically, our policy was that. When your Gurudeva wants you to preach amongst the masses in the bathing ghat in the Ganges where ordinary religiously minded people will go to take bath, you obey your Guru Mahārāja's order." I told him plainly.

This is the two points in difference. So he was condemned by the G.B.C. or so many disciples of Swāmī Mahārāja that he's making much of Sridhar Mahārāja. So many things may come and go, it does not matter, we are to go on with our own, it is the ocean, the infinite ocean. Kṛṣṇa is deciding what is what, how much we can understand what is what. We're in the ocean in the infinite, only we're to take care of our own self, sincerely, according to our understanding, there responsibility ends.

"The consequence is in My hand and the part of duty attached to you, that is the burden of that on you only, the tiny part of duty, attached to you, that is on your head, your responsibility finishes there, but the result is in My own hand, it is the resultant of so many forces around. It is with Me."

We must be sincere in discharging our duty what we can understand to be, there ends our responsibility. There must be so many defects in me, there must be, and that Lord Kṛṣṇa, or Mahāprabhu, Gurudeva, clears me of those defects, that is good for me. I should not be afraid and I should not preach that I am a perfect man, that is foolish, that is the most foolish thing for a person to say that he's perfect, a bogus person. How much can I know? Whatever Kṛṣṇa wants me to know I know only that, I can know that only.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

I must be sincere to my own understanding and feeling, to my own conscience. Whatever I shall think good, best, I shall say that. To take, to accept that, or not to accept that, that is with the other party. I am clear there what I am saying, according to my own conscience and understanding I shall say what I understand.

Now they're told that if after Vṛndāvana sitting, that Kīrtanānanda is accused of preaching a cult and not the truth that was given by Swāmī Mahārāja, he's preaching cult, a cult is a thing known in America...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāj

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His will. It is His will. We shall try to do our best according to our understanding. Our responsibility finishes there. Na hi kalyāṇa- kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati:

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati]

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

If we go on sincerely, no trouble can come to us. The enemy is within, not that the enemy is without, the enemy is within. To be sincere is what is necessary.

sadarai gaurasi cavisay lailay [?]

If you are sincere then you will be able to understand the advice, the instructions, of Śrī Gaurāṅga. Mahāprabhu. Who can do, mischief to another? None, his own self is responsible for his own... tat te 'nukampāṁ ...

[tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam hṛd-vāg-vapurahir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya
bhāk]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]

Rather, we are advised to see external things in the opposite standpoint. Everything is grace of the Lord. Whatever comes to you, that is all grace, it is the necessity for you. In that sense, if they're preaching against me, making any propaganda, that is necessary for me. It is wholesome for me. I am advised to look at it with that angle of vision. It is all for the good, all for the best. Everything is passing through His hand.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāj, what is it that Kṛṣṇa wants us to learn from Him?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa wants us to learn that He's all in all, He's our friend. The dictator of the infinite world is our friend. Try to see this, everything will be alright. He's your friend. The controller absolute is friendly to you, and whatever is coming to you from outside, that is all for you best. Adjustment with the absolute harmony depends on you, you cannot correct the environment infinite, you have no power to control the environment but you have only power to control yourself. And control yourself in such a way that you are in harmony with the environment, then you will be happy, that is what Gītā says, Bhāgavatam also.

Tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ, the cause of trouble is within, not outside. Man is the architect of his own fortune. Whatever anomaly, whatever misery, discomfort, I feel, I experience, that is my creation. So, I am to connect me to adjust with the environment. If I can do so then I shall find that everything is alright, everywhere is the hand of God, Kṛṣṇa's hand everywhere. And He's my friend, He cannot do anything which can go against me, all meant to correct me, the hand is affectionate. We are asked to look around with this spirit. The affectionate hand of Kṛṣṇa is all around us, only we are to adjust with that, the anomaly is within me.

Tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam, what is wrong, that is the result of my own previous action, none is responsible for that. For this attitude will purify you in the very shortest time, mukti-pade sa dāya bhāk. Then you will be liberated from all these complaints within you if you can adjust with this advice, according to this advice. This is the highest direction of the Lord. Take all the faults on your head, and try to correct yourself. Then, automatically we will come in connection with such a plane where we will find that all is good. If you try to do in this way then all your outer coatings will be removed and you will be reduced to your intrinsic position. And from there you will come in contact with such a subtle plane around you that you will find all good, all blissful, all happy, all sweet. You will come to take your stand in the subtle-most plane of sweetness, and all the so many covers will all be eliminated, which are identifying you, your own self, your own heart. You are thinking, 'this is me, this is I, this is I, this is I,' No, they're all coatings, outer coatings. And that will go away if you take such steps that everything is good and I am in the wrong. Thereby your over-coatings should be all eliminated and you will come to your own intrinsic position and you will find that you have come in connection with a plane, the most sweet and subtle, and most fundamental. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If this one advice is followed correctly then the whole solution of life is here. Tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, bhuñjāna evātma- kṛtaṁ vipākam. And sincerely, hṛd-vāg-vapurbbhir, by word, thought, deed. hṛd- vāg-vapurbbhir vidhadhan namas te, and showing our gratitude towards the supreme authority wholeheartedly, by word, thought, and deed. Jīveta yo mukti- pade sa dāya bhāk, if one can come to think in such a position of his own self then very soon he will be cleared of all his undesirabilities.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Hṛd-rogam, ha, ha. You will come in contact with Kṛṣṇa-līlā when?
Kāmaṁ hṛd- rogam.

[vikrīḍitaṁ vraja-vadhūbhir idaṁ ca viṣṇoḥ śraddhānvito 'nuśṛṇuyād atha varṇayed yaḥ bhaktiṁ parāṁ bhagavati pratilabhya kāmaṁ hṛd-rogam āśv apahinoty acireṇa dhīraḥ]

["One who hears with firm faith the supramundane amorous affairs of Lord Kṛṣṇa and the gopīs, as described by a pure devotee of the Lord, soon becomes freed from mundane lust and achieves divine love of Kṛṣṇa."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.39]

"I want this, I want that. I don't want this, I don't want that," but this is all diseases of your heart. Diseased heart only wants this, that, thousand things. But if that disease is cured, you'll be cured when you come to understand everything is for the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, my Lord, and I am also included there. Then you are absolved from your crooked ego, that selfish prejudice. You will come at last to the ocean of sweet waves, the Kṛṣṇa dancing. Kṛṣṇa is dancing and I am to be in consonance, in harmony with His dance. He is dancing and we are to co-operate in His dance. That is the key to our satisfaction wholesale, to be qualified to enjoy wholly in His dance, we shall have to dance also in that tone, that movement. But separate interest has created all the difficulties in different ways, the separate interest, ahaṅkāra, the consciousness of separate, selfish interest, that is the disease in us all.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Nitāi Gaurāṅga came for that, to tune, to put us into the harmony, in the harmony around. So many, the detached portion is Brahmānda, and there also, so many sections, human, then beast, then trees, then insects, so many sections, all detached consciousness, a big ahaṅkāra, a big ego. And that is also part by part, and by different kinds it is located. A big ego, illusion, just opposite the truth, what is what. And we are a particle in the big revolted ego, who are self- seekers, māyā means self-seekers. Those that are in māyā, illusion, misunderstanding, the cause is self-seeking, erroneous self-seeking, misunderstood. So many solutions recommended but all superficial.

The deepest solution given by Bhāgavatam, Gītā, and Mahāprabhu, Nityānanda Prabhu. The depth of the solution is ultimate, absolute. There is Kṛṣṇa dancing, and not Nārāyaṇa commanding. The commanding Nārāyaṇa is also there but Mahāprabhu says go deeper and you will find Kṛṣṇa dancing with the gopa, gopī, and that is your home. Go there, join there, that dance, that singing, the flute, and dancing.

No response, Nārāyaṇa has also got responsibility about the mundane world and that world administration. Kṛṣṇa does not care for any His flute can adjust everything in its proper place. The flute can establish harmony if anything wrong comes. Everything moves according to the advice in the flute. The sweet sound, the sweet sound gives impetus to all movements there.

Earth, then this body and another body, and then, the difference between this body and food, three kinds of differences. Everywhere there is differentiation, differentiation is drawn, it is not bad. If mutual sympathy then it is alright. That plane of harmony we are to connect, then everything is friendly. By mutual service, from its own position, service towards the centre, harmony, and some sort of discord. Discord but difference, ha, ha, ha, everywhere. We are to adjust within that our position. Growth, development, is like this, otherwise no development, no high or low. All one. That means non-differentiated, non-specified mass. That is Brahmaloḥa, Virāja, something like deep slumber. Differentiation there will always be. And difference, defeat, gain, loss, in a player's mood, līlā, player's mood, not serious.

We have told, when first, we were startled to hear from Prabhupāda [Bhaktisiddhanta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura] in Benares when he's explaining things to some Māyāvādī Paṇḍita, he told that, "The lion is killing Prasena, the lion is also feeling enjoyment, and he's eating and whom he's eating is also feeling pleasure. Aggrieved and aggressor, both parties feel pleasure, such is the plane. The victor and the defeated, both parties are pleased. That is possible in player's mood, līlā. Līlā, it is infinite, eternal.

Devotee: This is on the transcendental plane?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, transcendental plane.

Devotee: A lion will be eating another living entity and that entity in pain is enjoying?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It is eternal, so no finish. One who is being killed, that is only a play. His existence is there because eternal. Just as in a drama, one is killing and one is being killed, but none is killed, it is only a show. So, because they're all eternal they can't be ruined, destroyed. So in that sense, the killing, we understand, is absent there. So the killed parties, aggrieved parties, the defeated party and the victorious party, both gets pleasure. We are to understand that. And the defeated party may get more pleasure, it is also possible, if their part is perfectly played. The people will appreciate, "The man who was killed, he has played his part very nicely." In this way, he's defeated, but he has shown his attitude in such a pleasing way, his defeat, the audience they will say, "Oh, he has played wonderfully." So in this way, playing, both parties may be gainers. The loser there also may become gainer, something like that. Because it is eternal an eternal wave going on, no end. Plays in the eternity is of such nature, līlā. Līlā means play. Sometimes Kṛṣṇa is climbing on the shoulder of His friend, and sometimes His friends are also climbing over the shoulder of Kṛṣṇa. We are all equal in friendly circle, that posing also there. Infinite, but something like this we can say, "It is like this, to certain extent. But what it is really we are to feel it within us, after realisation from that plane."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

That is to be ascertained, that soul, who is not found in our present area of calculation. The trouble is there. The body is the receiver, the body, mind, the external covers, they're representing us. If the tongue is satisfied with sweetness I am satisfied, in this way. If the ear is satisfied with music I am satisfied. But these are outer things. The mind is there, the intelligence, then the soul proper, his satisfaction we should search, "Where is he?" That is the question. "What is my soul? Where is he? Where is that? Then, what is his satisfaction?" We are all with some guess, guessing, imagination, the imagination has become reality and the reality has come in the position of imagination with us at present, fallen souls.

["While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self-realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his un-interrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy." [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

"The night is day and day is night."

Rāma Rāma. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Aranya Mahārāj expected back by four o'clock train this afternoon?

Devotee: Yes, Guru Mahārāj. This violent līlā, this does not exist on Goloka, in the spiritual world? This is only in the material world?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No violence, violence, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: This is, you were describing ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Violence, they say, if a man is very weak, then if we push in this way he will be finished. A strong man he will say, "Oh, I felt much pleasure." Ha, ha, ha, ha. Massaging. He will feel that is massaging, a very sweet massaging. So according to the position. A soul is invulnerable. It is eternal type. So you cannot produce any practical pain in it. All will be like massaging, pressure massaging. It is eternal. It has got its own pain of its own characteristic, and there is separation. "I can't get my service quota to Kṛṣṇa. You must give some service. How, otherwise how, I can't go on fasting, some sort of service I must have, of the Lord." Service is the food there, service is the food for the soul. Without service we are dry. And service [clears you?], but eternal. Sometimes fasting, sometimes eating.

kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa

[gope-veśa, veṇu-kara nava kiśora, nata-vara, nara līlāra haya anurūpa]

["Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101]

Mahāprabhu told, "Of all the pastimes, different pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, this human form of pastimes is the highest." Pastimes in different phases, but Mahāprabhu says that human form pastimes, that of aprākṛta, that is the highest, the deepest, most sweet. But that must be in the plane of Kṛṣṇa, not imitation in the plane of flesh and blood, then we'll become sahajiyā. There is a plane of Kṛṣṇa, and no imitation in the exterior plane, superficial plane. That will create rather prejudices against the reality.

Devotee: I was reading [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāj's purport to Parama koruṇa, and there he describes the author [Locana dāsa Ṭhākura]. He's telling it is such a nice process, this chanting of Hari-Nāma, it will give the result if one simply gives up sense-gratification. That is the only requirement.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If it is possible for us to go on taking the Holy Name in a real process, then of course these things must be affected. We'll be saved from the charm of our sense-pleasure, apparent charm of sense-pleasure. We'll be saved. But if the transaction of taking the Name is of real character, otherwise there is aparādha, nāmāparādha. If we continue offences against the Holy Name then that can't take me to my desired end. There is a process of taking the Name.

aparadha sunya he lal krsna nama [?]

So, there should be improvement in taking that. Our earnestness for Kṛṣṇa, help for the Name, through Name to go to Kṛṣṇa. The desire must be sincere and not an imitation and to gather the credit to the false party, "That I am a devotee." It's not a trade, not to show to the public and to get some name and fame from the external plane. That will be otherwise. If by accepting the life of a sādhu externally, my object is to gather name, fame, or money, or anything else of this superficial world, then it won't produce the desired result, but something else mundane. So it must be taken in a proper way, proper process, and with the association of the good devotee that is possible. He will correct me at every step, "Don't go this way."

From finite to eternity, the way, that is not so very easy. It is a great thing. So many stages of achievement, and the charm must be neglected and passed through to reach to the highest plane. So guide and association, that will help us greatly, to eliminate different stages. Different proposals will come in our front, "Remain here, remain here, this is a good plane of living." We are to cross everything, dismiss everything and go through, neglecting all planes in the middle up till we can reach the Vṛndāvana. Even Paravyoma, the plane where Nārāyaṇa is, Lakṣmī Nārāyaṇa, that is to be known. The Ayodhyā, the Dvārakā, the Mathurā, conception of Godhead. We are to go to the plane of Vṛndāvana. That's what Mahāprabhu told us. Then you will be at your home, sweet home. So association, guide, we must work in a regular, and in a proper way, not this way, that way, and not stopping our journey in the middle, so many difficulties there. So guide and good association, encouragement of the association, scriptures, all these helpful to us for this wonderful journey, from the foreign land towards home. Towards home, the wholesale solution of one's life. Not only one's own by his connection, many will have similar solution of life, sweet solution, sweet and highest solution of life, we are after to get that. How we can reach home? We are wandering in the land of mortality, discord, suicidal plane. We want to go home, sweet, sweet home. Home is such and such. Sādhu will encourage us when we'll feel very tired in our journey, the sādhu will encourage us, "No, not far off, come a little more, and we shall reach the home."

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Who

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Madhu-kanta?

End of side A, start of side B, 11/12-12-82

Devotee: Mahārāj, I have one question. I was reading the other day that Lord Caitanya was the first to give information on the mādihura-līlā. And my question is, understanding the tendency of man to misinterpret certain pastimes of Lord Kṛṣṇa, why was this information given to the world at large?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow. Repeat it. We are told that Lord Caitanyadeva, He came with this information that kṛṣṇa-līlā is the highest.

Devotee: Mādhura-līlā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mādhura-līlā.

Devotee: So, he's asking why in such a fallen age did Lord Caitanya give this highest realisation in an age when men, most likely, most men will misunderstand, take it for the lower thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. When the environment is most unfavourable, at that time He came with the highest prospect. That is your ...

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Kali-yuga is the worst portion of the time, and at that time He came with the best thing. This is your question?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why the best thing came in the worst time? That is your question?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāj.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The best thing came in the worst time. The Kali-yuga, when the environment is the worst, at that time the best thing came here, to be distributed. That is your point?

Devotee: Yes. And also that this particular līlā has a tendency to be misinterpreted by such people as ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Misinterpreted, not only in this time but all time. In Satya-yuga also, in golden age also there is the possibility of misinterpretation and that is more hard. Ha, ha. Can't you realise that? A bad thing can easily be condemned. But what is good, sattva-guṇa, that cannot be condemned so easily and convincingly.

krta vesa puja rajan kala vityanti sambavam [?]

Those that understand the very spirit of things, such persons, they do not want their birth in Satya-yuga, in the golden age, but they prefer to have a birth in this Kali-yuga, iron age. Because, in this iron age, the most helpless condition, the high things are extended by the Lord for their help. When there is a famine period the authorities make arrangement for some rations. When our need is most the authority comes down to give us the best. That is the principle underlying. The most wretched period, at that time the boon comes from above to save us. This is the nature. If we reach the lowest point, then begins our movement upward. He selects His way in this. All other things, more or less contaminated by the environment. His question not solved?

When an affectionate father finds that his beloved son is in the highest need, then, with his high standard of affection he comes to take him up. This is not unnatural. This shows the sympathy in the centre, that in the worst period the guardian comes with the best affection, in our worst condition. Can't follow?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāj. I can.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because there is no vindictiveness, the affection is there. The centre is affectionate in dealing our punishment reluctantly, but affectionate. So, when in the worst need, He comes with His. Just as when capital punishment, mercy comes, King's mercy, when the judgement is of capital punishment. At the moment of the highest need the mercy comes. Something like that. He's affectionate centre, He's affectionate, our relationship is that of affection and not any coercive nature, or vindictive nature.

And Mahāprabhu's coming, there's a principle, every time in it's way is repeated in the cyclic order of the time, Kali-yuga is coming many times. And in a particular Kali-yuga Mahāprabhu comes with that highest thing. Not in an ordinary Kali-yuga and not in every cyclic order. Twenty-eight Kali-yuga, the iron age, the number twenty-eight, one day of Brahmā, one kalpa. Then, He comes with that highest gift. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Then, what was your question?

Devotee: My question Guru Mahārāj is, how to increase one's earnestness, to increase that sincerity?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā.

[smarantaḥ smārayantaś ca, mitho 'ghaughā-haraṁ harim bhaktyā
sañjātayā bhaktyā, bibhraty utpulakāṁ tanum]

["The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti-yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, and thus, even within this world, their spiritualised bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end."][Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31]

The light can be increased by the help of light, that combustible thing, or anything. Light can increase light. The bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā. So, the light in one's heart can be intensified with the help of the light of another heart. The knowledge, the affection, everything what is necessary can be transmitted from one place to another to help. From one store to another store, it may pass, to help growth. Transformation of energy, bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, it is the most fundamental plane. Nothing can produce this. We are to take it. Nothing can produce that most fundamental substance. That can produce that. So wherever that thing is found we are to take help from that store, from one store, and the store has got eternal backing, backed by the government, different stores. A store in a particular police station is strengthened by the store in the district headquarters, and friends from the central supply, in this way, from store to store. Of the same thing, bhakti is bhaktyā sañjātayā, bhakti can increase bhakti, not any other thing. And where's that bhakti to be found? It is with the sādhu, the saint of that type. So with the help of the devotee we can immolate, get our devotion. And how can it be transferred from one store to another? By serving, or by his advice, by service the movement is possible from one to another.

Devotee: Mahārāj, this earnestness cannot be increased by prayer or personal endeavour?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. By prayer also, by prayer, by infinite ways of gaining, acquiring that. But the most effective and living thing will be that decision of the sādhu, and the sādhu also of the higher type, real type. The prayer and all other forms of devotion, services, will imbibe, will acquire strength and reality in the association of the sādhu, get their life, the strength. Not only formal prayer, empty prayer, prayer or other things may be empty, lifeless, formal. But living things, life, there is inner strength to be imbibed, to be indented from there, the strength, inner strength of prayer, of doing anything and everything, very life, vitality, will have to be drawn from there. So it is sādhu-saṅga, sādhu and śāstra, next, scripture, that also comes from the sādhu, like so, less strong, but living scripture that is sādhu - saint, devotee. His help will be the best, give, supply the vitality of every form of services. A thousand kinds of devotional practices may be there.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!
Any questions? No questions?

Devotee: Perhaps one last question. The same, but, the bhajana we have in the association of the devotees here, that is a good way of increasing devotion ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is also, association also has been recommended of this type, sajātī-yāśye snigdhe sādhaḥ saṅgaḥ svato vare:

[śrīmad-bhāgavatārthānām āsvādo rasikaiḥ saha sajātī-yāśye snigdhe sādhaḥ saṅgaḥ svato vare]

["One should taste the meaning of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam in the association of pure devotees, and one should associate with the devotees who are more advanced than oneself and endowed with a similar type of affection for the Lord. Those that are in our line, who have the same high spiritual aspirations as we do, and who hold a superior position. To associate with such saintly persons will help us the most to progress towards the ultimate goal."]

He must be superior to me, and must be in my line, and must be of favourable temperament to me, sajātī-yāśye, must be in the same line of inner aspiration, snigdhe, and must be affectionate towards me, not reserved. And also, must be superior to me. Such association will be conducive to my growth, or my awakening.

So I close here.

Devotee: ... and I said because you had criticised our Guru Mahārāj. He said no criticism, he did not criticise, he was making some comment about his statement in regard to what Bhaktisiddhānta had said and he was defending Bhaktisiddhānta's position. He was not criticising anyone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only Bhaktisiddhānta's decision but the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava decision. Sanātana Goswāmī, Jīva Goswāmī, Cakravārti Ṭhākura. That is concerned what is the real conception of nitya-līlā, eternal pastimes of Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana. That is the original līlā.

Devotee: So I asked him if he had ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is the special gift of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu. That Vṛndāvana conception is the most fundamental. And when Kṛṣṇa is, Yaśodā is also. Independent of Yaśodā, Kṛṣṇa cannot exist. Co-existence, that is the fundamental principle of the whole Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava philosophy, that is of Mahāprabhu. And inspired by Mahāprabhu that has been cleared in writing by Sanātana, Rūpa, Raghunātha, Kavirāja, Viśvanātha Cakravārti, Śrī Jīva, all Goswāmīs. That this is the most fundamental, kṛṣṇa-līlā, that is a system, and Yaśodā and the cowboys, Rādhārāṇī, all co-existent. A system, and not that Kṛṣṇa is alone there and then they will gather, it is not. So that is a fundamental thing, principle of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava school.

Devotee: He wanted to see Akṣayānanda Mahārāj also ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Akṣayānanda Mahārāj already he has protested to a certain extent, and he himself realised that other things cannot be questioned. Now I think, and I am also told, there were more anomalies there. And [Śrīla

A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāj himself enquired about them from one gentleman, one devotee, our godbrother in Vṛndāvana. And I think that Akṣayānanda Mahārāj come for the prestige of Swāmī Mahārāj, another small book is to be published in his name. "What is ordinarily conceived of the general Vaiṣṇava school I have dealt with that. But the speciality of the Mahāprabhu cult, Goswāmī cult, still to be published. For the general public I have dealt so much, in Indian, by there are some special strictures of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava school that is of Mahāprabhu." What he has told, that is common to Rāmānuja, Madhvācārya, and other Vaiṣṇava cults. But the special conception is Kṛṣṇa, svayam-bhagavān, Nandanandan, that is not yet given out. As Vyāsadeva also did, Mahābharata, Vedānta, and Purāṇa, Upaniṣad, then again Nārada Goswāmī came and gave him impression that he's to give Bhāgavatam, harmonising all his past scriptural gifts. So also, in the name of Swāmī Mahārāj, I think, as I heard something, one of our Vṛndāvana godbrothers, with him, Swāmī Mahārāj had some correspondence, "That you take what I am writing." But he showed some points of difference and he accepted and told that, "I shall show it in the next edition." So, on the basis of that, I think, there is a special decision based on Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava siddhānta that should be published in another booklet, salient points. And in the introduction there will be, "Just as Vyāsadeva did in Bhāgavatam after distributing all the śāstra. So in that way, this is not for the general, this is a speciality of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava school and Mahāprabhu, and I am publishing that now, to harmonise." I think that will be necessary.

Consult the seven Goswāmī books, fine, and Swāmī Mahārāj also told, "And in a general way I am giving the explanation, the common ground of Rāmānuja, Madhvācārya, and some other sampradāya. But what is the most secret and special teachings of Śrī Caitanyadeva, and according to that of the Goswāmīs, that I am putting here, like in Bhāgavatam." In this way we are to publish a book in his name. And you are his direct disciples, you might have heard many things from him, so from you, in this generation it must be published. Otherwise the whole of ISKCON will be effected in the future. This is my suggestion, and I think, you, Akṣayānanda Mahārāj, Dhira Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī, and others, Bharati Mahārāj, you are to take up this and find out in yourself what is written by Sanātana Goswāmī in his Bhāgavat-Tipani and others. You are to search, research the śāstra and in that attitude you are to publish a second book summary, thing. And that was given to the ordinary, and the special instruction, he had a mind to publish in a second volume. In that way, it must be done to save the day.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Goswāmī siddhānta is this, that Vasudeva took Vāsudeva Kṛṣṇa to Yaśodā's house, and that room where Yaśodā gave birth to one girl child. And it is generally stated that Vasudeva took his boy, new born babe there, and took away the girl. But in many places it is mentioned that Kṛṣṇa was Nanda's son, Nanda Yaśodā's son. He's Yaśodānandana, Nandanandana. In many places it is mentioned and there in different Purāṇas also it is mentioned:

krsna mula janisan bhuto [?]

The Kṛṣṇa who comes from Vasudeva Devakī, He's another human. Just as Gopendranandana and one who is the son of gopa, Nandana Yaśodā:

vrndavana utetsavyajya sakhi mai [?]

He does not step forward to any place leaving Vṛndāvana, He's always in Vṛndāvana, sometimes explicit over the surface, sometimes underground. Svayam-Bhagavān is He. And the Goswāmī's, Sanātana Prabhu and those who have got direct instruction from Mahāprabhu and all siddhānta, they have written that Yaśodā gave birth to two, one girl one son, and Vasudeva put his son and that was absorbed by Yaśodā's son there. That was mixed together. Svayam- Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa that came from Yaśodā, He absorbed this Vāsudeva into Him. That is the finding of the Mahāprabhu group. Otherwise there cannot be harmonised that in so many places Kṛṣṇa has been mentioned as the son of Nanda and Yaśodā. It is not only hearsay but the fact is there, Svayam-Bhagavān was there. Nanda-panja [?] He was born from the body of Nanda. In this way it is mentioned. Direct connection with Nanda and Yaśodā. And He's Svayam- Bhagavān and not Vāsudeva is Svayam-Bhagavān. Vāsudeva is vaibhava-prakāśa of that Nandanandana who came from Yaśodā. All these things have been described scrutinisingly so we can't ignore that. They are direct students of Mahāprabhu, inspired by Mahāprabhu they have given those siddhāntas. We can't ignore that. And that is not found in Swāmī Mahārāj's writings. Rather, that Vasudeva, the son of Vasudeva and He was adopted by Yaśodā, in this way he has gone. But it is not possible to keep up in Gauḍīya school that sort of decision, his conclusion, siddhānta. So I think, not only that, there are many similar things, so we are to collect them anyhow, very cleverly, and to put, to publish, in one small book. And with this introduction that Swāmī Mahārāj he first gave what was generally accepted about kṛṣṇa-līlā by so many Ācāryas. But the speciality in the thought of Mahāprabhu he gave - anarpita-carīm cirāt:

[anarpita-carīm cirāt karuṇayāvatīrṇaḥ kalau samarpayitum unnatojjvala-rasām sva-bhakti-śriyam hariḥ puraṭa-sundara-dyuti-kadamba-sandīpitaḥ sadā hṛdaya-kandare sphuratu vaḥ śacī-nandanah]

["May that Lord, who is known as the son of Śrīmatī Śacīdevī, be transcendently situated in the innermost chambers of your heart. Resplendent with the radiance of molten gold, He has appeared in this age of Kali by His causeless mercy to bestow what no incarnation ever offered before: the most sublime and radiant spiritual knowledge of the mellow taste of His service."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.4]

What was not ever given before, that Mahāprabhu came to give. On the basis of this stanza, which is found in Kali-santaru Upaniṣad and also by Rūpa Goswāmī. Given there, Mahāprabhu has given something what was not given before. Tasting, and to make the verification with all the detailed facts, this is necessary to explain the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava siddhānta.

So Swāmī Mahārāj had a mind to publish these subtle points in a separate book, and he expressed his desire to someone, of his disciples. And you who know it, we are publishing those things in a booklet now. It was his order to us. In this way, a small book should be published in his name. He already gave direction to us to do this, these points. I think it would be better, we are to consult and then from Mahāmaṇḍala you will publish that small booklet, pamphlet, where those special decisions of Mahāprabhu will be given. And with that explanation, just as Vyāsadeva gave Bhāgavatam after he had given so many things to the common mob, the special thing: nirmat-sarāṇām satām [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.2] He gave at the end of his life. So also, Swāmī Mahārāj in his last days he told that he will give the choicest things, the speciality of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava school of Mahāprabhu, in a small pamphlet. Something like that. You are to consider that. In this basis you should publish a pamphlet to save his prestige. And the details, what are the points of difference, you are to collect.

I have not read through all his books, but the Yati Mahārāj has read something and according to his request, a Purosottama, one gentleman in Vṛndāvana, our godbrother, he also published many books because he also detected some points and intimated to him. So those points should be taken up cleverly and then they should be published in this way. That is my suggestion.

Let Aksayananda Mahārāj come, he knows some, to a certain extent. He opposed that comment of Yati Mahārāj. But he himself told that, some I answered, but something he can't correctly reply, Aksayananda Mahārāj told to me. So let him come here and then. Otherwise this will be, Yati Mahārāj is taking, and the Bhag Bazaar Maṭh, just the other day that Kṛṣṇadāsa came, then Bhāgavat Mahārāj came, they will also take up this. There will be an awkward position. So as soon as one book is published in such a way it will be better I think. We must consult with Goswāmī Mahārāj, Aksayananda Mahārāj, the Bharati Mahārāj may be intimated.

Aksayananda Mahārāj came to me and he told that he heard from Swāmī Mahārāj direct, that, "I am giving this translation of Bhāgavatam, and another has got the capacity to do the same work. Who is he? He is Śrīdhara Mahārāj, he can." He heard it direct from him. So he came to see me. He told, "I heard direct from Guru Mahārāj many things about you and so I had the curiosity to see you, and I have come to see you. And I hear many things new." In this way he told.

So you did not give vent to all these things very extensively, keep it concealed. And let Aksayananda Mahārāj come, we shall discuss, and we shall make a plan and do accordingly.

Devotee: Swāmī Mahārāj Bhaktivedānta, most of his writings were translations, in the Bhāgavatam he was translating. So I don't know whose commentary he was using, but ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He has not always followed commentaries.

Devotee: No, some of his own he has put.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In a general way he has given. By instalments, ordinary teachings should be given by instalments. It is the decision of the higher scientific knowledge, not the whole thing should be delivered at once, to be installed, gradual instalment. Then it will be good for the people to understand.

Devotee: He was presenting general way of accepting.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In a general way he has given and he has attained a great success. Aksayananda Mahārāj expected today?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Many times in his books also, Swāmī Mahārāj mentioned that the serious student should study the original literature.

Mahārāj, I have a question on another subject. This material world is the perverted reflection of the spiritual world. So does that mean that all relationships that we have in this world, there is some relationship in the spiritual world?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It has got its original and wholesome representation there.

Devotee: So we have an eternal relationship with everyone we meet in this world?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In this world?

Devotee: If we meet someone in this world does that mean we have an eternal relationship in the spiritual world, with that individual?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is distributedly, if anything in an organisation, suppose this nail has got some connection with the hair, in this way, an organic whole. The connection may be in some sort of way or other, because it is one in the [feeling?] system they are, so must have some connection. But that is very near and very, very far.

Devotee: And Madhva's conception of the jīva, that there are ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is different from that of Mahāprabhu

Devotee: How is it different?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Madhva's conception, Rāmānuja's conception, there are certain differences. Madhva says, gave too much stress on the difference, because Śaṅkarācārya told that one, jīva, Brahma and Bhagavān are one, so Madhva laid much stress, "No, this is two, different." And Rāmānuja, something common something different. But Mahāprabhu has given a very short and clear expression, acintya bhedābheda. Bheda and ābheda, both common and different, but the demarcation is not in the hand of any human being, it is His sweet will, and so it is acintya, inconceivable. The inconceivable word was added by Mahāprabhu to bheda and ābheda, and that is most important point. Because how much different and how much common, that depends on His sweet will. So you can't get a demarcation line hard and fast. It is His sweet will. That was told by Mahāprabhu.

Devotee: Madhvācārya had also mentioned this acintya bhedābheda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mentioned a very different jīva and God is great difference, he laid stress on the difference.

Devotee: But there is some place, Jīva Goswāmī found in one place in Madhvācārya's writings where he mentioned acintya bhedābheda also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not so perfect and not so very clear. Ultimately he had also to take resort to that.

Devotee: But specifically Madhvācārya talked about three classes of jīvas - nitya- baddha, nitya-siddha, and jīvan-mukta - souls who will become liberated.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. nitya-siddha, nitya-baddha, jīvan-mukta, mumukṣus, who will get salvation. But nitya-baddha, he says these Māyāvādīs they will never get any liberation, they're ever doomed. This is the opinion of Madhvācārya.

But Mahāprabhu does not say that. "It is possible, though it is very hard nut to crack, but it is possible that the independent will of Kṛṣṇa and the very powerful service, they can convert even Māyāvādīs, that nitya-baddha class." This possibility Mahāprabhu has accepted, but very, very rarely, it is difficult but still there is possibility.

And Madhvācārya says, "No, the Māyāvādīs are ever doomed." Ha, ha, ha. So very much enemy to the Māyāvādī section.

Devotee: So are the jīvas who are engaged in kṛṣṇa-līlā in Goloka Vṛndāvana, they have no possibility to fall down?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no possibility.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāj

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Question? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: What is the reason we're not allowed, the Westerners are not allowed into the Jagannātha mandir?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For the physical purity, they observe strictly the physical purity. So even the mṛdaṅga they do not allow to enter. If the mṛdaṅga is broken it will be considered, according to them, as this impure skin of cow. The [Sita? the gopa Sitarama?] of the smārta sampradāya, he had some peculiar religious conception, he tied the wooden sandal of his Guru on his breast, chest. He always tied the sandal of his Guru on his chest. He wanted to enter there. The pandapur, "No. The pāduka may be of your Guru, your Guru's pāduka may be pure to you, relative position, but we consider it as a pāduka so we won't allow you to enter with that pāduka. You must leave it outside."

They strictly follow the physical purity, something, physical purity with some mental modification. That is their custom. So they do not allow anybody, considering that the mleccha, the yavana, their habits both mental and physical are impure. That is very closely connected with himsā, animal killing, etc. And other customs also, rules of life not controlled, boisterous. Their conduct is not regulated according to the Vedic scripture so they're not allowed to enter within. Even Gandhi wanted to enter into, with some followers of the outcastes, the lower castes, but they did not allow. And Gandhi also did not enter. He wanted to enter along with the outcastes of the society, the untouchables, but they did not allow him to do so. He had got great influence over the country but he was not allowed entrance. But Gandhi's wife, she, without notice of Gandhi, entered there to have a darśana of Jagannātha, and when Gandhi knew of it he chastised his wife very much. "I did not enter, then why you went to see Jagannātha?"

So Gandhi was more a patriot than devotee. He thinks that his mastership over his wife is permanent, not to be modified even by the devotion of Jagannātha. He's wholesale master of his wife. But according to us, his wife did right. The husband and wife, how long is the connection? Only this body, mostly, mostly this body connection. And connection with the Lord, the husband of husband, the master of all the world, in consideration of that, what is that nasty husband in comparison with the Lord of the world, the whole universe? He wanted to check his wife that she should not go to the temple, for national cause, for the cause of his political creed. So God is within politics, political zone?

Haridāsa Ṭhākura never entered. Rūpa and Sanātana, they never entered, the temple. Not only so but Sanātana Goswāmī avoided the main streets where the servants, the servitors of the Jagannātha temple were always passing usually. He did not walk on the general street where the servitors of Jagannātha were always wandering here and there.

Giving respect to the laws and by-laws that are current there. Not only so, Sanātana Goswāmī has written in Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa, "That what I am enlisting here, the rules and regulations for the devotees, a devotee should try to follow all these regulations. But what is not mentioned, they may look after what is going on in the temple of Jagannātha, and do accordingly." So catholic in his faith to Mahāprabhu, because under Mahāprabhu, during the presence of Mahāprabhu, whatever went there we should take it as approved by Him. So we won't go to interfere. He's above law. His will is law. Law comes from His sweet will. This principle we must not forget.

Everything is designed as well as destined by Him, not only designed but destined also. The whole universe designed and destined according to His sweet will. His position is so high and unchallengeable and it is Absolute Good. Rules and regulations are prepared only to take us to the Absolute Good. But Absolute Good is not under law, under these rules. That is above everything, independent. We are to prepare that, kṛṣṇa-līlā is the very nearest approach to the Absolute Good, or other, the Absolute Good Himself, if we can realise so much. Whimsical, and that is the best conception. To put any restriction to the Absolute Good is to commit suicide. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because He's good, not only good, but Absolute Good. We cannot know. Here, once, [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāj and myself had a talk. Acyutānanda was present. Then after going from here to that blue house where Swāmī Mahārāj lived for three weeks, Acyutānanda asked, "What sort of talk did you have with Śrīdhara Mahārāj?"

Swāmī Mahārāj told, "You will faint to hear that." Ha, ha, ha. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "You will faint. It's beyond the reach of your consciousness." That means you will faint. What does it mean? That is beyond the reach of your consciousness, unintelligible to you in your present stage of realisation.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Rāmānujācārya once wanted to modify the rules and regulations that are being practised in Jagannātha's temple. But with this contemplation he slept there in a bedstead, and when he woke he found along with the bedstead his body is cast to Śrī Kūrmam, a few hundred miles far from Jagannātha's temple. He awoke and found, "Where am I?" Ha, ha, ha. "I wanted to modify the regulations, to regulate the current, the present practices, rules and regulations of Jagannātha's temple. But I got a dream that "you are not to modify here, you go elsewhere." Rāmānuja told that, "You have given me inspiration, order, to modify the existing rules and regulations that are going on in the temples. Now why do You oppose me?"

"It is for other temples but not for here." He got the dream. "You go and push your regulations in all other temples, save and accept this temple."

Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi was one who was considered to be the Vṛṣabhānu, father of Rādhārāṇī's incarnation here in gaura-līlā. He thought that, "What are these pandas, they are awkward people, they do not know what is pure or impure, no consideration. The new cloth, which is smeared with boiled rice water, starch, that is mixed with the blood and that new cloth they have used for Jagannātha. These people they do not know what is pure or impure, this consideration."

At night, he found that both Jagannātha and Balarāma, the two brothers had come to his bed and putting slaps to both the cheeks. In the morning he found, then also he felt, found, the people saying, "Why is there so much swelling on your cheeks?"

"Because this occurred at night. He's saying, 'This is not the place to suggest any change in the regulations that are going on under My direction. Don't interfere.'" With this, some special grant. Their special rule for that place. He's Absolute, unquestionable. Only we are to ask questions to understand this sort of possibility, how everything, all laws enter into the Absolute Good, ever conceived, any law, that only enters ultimately in the Absolute Goodness that is beyond our conceptions, mostly. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

patita-pāvana jagannātha sarvveśvara vṛndāvana-candra sarvva-rasera ākara

["Lord Kṛṣṇa is the purifier of the fallen souls, the Lord of the universe, the Lord of all beings, the moon of Vṛndāvana and the origin of all rasas."]

[The Songs Of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 92]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, when enumerating one hundred and eight Names of Kṛṣṇa, then he mentions in the last, patita-pāvana, Jagannātha has come to save the fallen. And Kṛṣṇa, His peculiarity is that He's the emporium of all rasas, vṛndāvana-candra sarvva-rasera ākara, the very source of all sorts of ecstasy personified. That is Kṛṣṇa. So Mahāprabhu is also patita-pāvana. He passed most of His time there in Jagannātha, the major portion of His life spent in Jagannātha, patita-pāvana, saviour of the fallen.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. But everything has got some peculiar thing. The doctor will prescribe a medicine. "You can take that, any diet you can take, with only with the exceptions of two of three." He will comment. So in Jagannātha also we see, very liberal, but with the exception of a few, like that.

In the beginning when I came to this line, to appreciate Mahāprabhu, I thought, "If Mahāprabhu is the incarnation of God, then why did He not overthrow the Mohammedan rule? Why did He tolerate the Mohammedan rule here in India? Easily He could have overthrown." That was my question. But gradually I came to know that this is a very trifle thing. This Mohammedan rule, that is the political life, which has got nothing to do with spiritual life.

Rather, as Queen Kuntī, she welcomes adversity. "Keep me always in a dangerous position. That will be convenient for me to pray for Your grace. And ordinary, worldly, favourable circumstance, that will encourage me to engage more Your valuable grace. So always keep me in adversity." That was her prayer. So, the political environment, social, all other campaigns have got no value. According to the result of my karma I shall be put in a particular environment and I must start my spiritual life from there. Where I am according to my own past karma I must begin my work, conquering all those saṁskāras, the mental encasement within which we are living.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, [bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam
hṛd-vāg-vapurahir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya
bhāk]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]

Not only we shall have to live without complain where we are, but moreover we are to consider that this is what is really necessary for my upliftment. In this way we are to accept, 'Whatever adverse things come to us, Oh, the grace of the Lord.' This positive angle of vision of goodness we must have to deal with them. This is the necessity, this was just necessary for me. There is no error in the calculation of the Lord. It is extended to me for my benefit, the test, and I must have to stand this test, then I shall make progress. I have got the chance to have my progress in life and this opposition I must have to cross, I am to face and cross. This is given by Kṛṣṇa to facilitate my progress in life. In this way, in optimistic way, we are to face all adverse circumstance. It is advised in Bhāgavatam. Then only, very easily and shortly, we shall cross these walls of misunderstanding, this māyā, and we will be liberated. Not only liberation but with some participation into Kṛṣṇa consciousness, a life of dedication.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... went to (Padanath temple, Sri Rankor) [?]. We had our tridaṇḍa in hand, sannyāsī. They did not allow us to take the tridaṇḍa within the temple. Ha, ha. A local fashion. They may think, "What is there we don't know," in this way.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Mahārāj, I have a question. I have heard two things; one is that a Vaiṣṇava sannyāsa is the devotional line; and then I have heard that it is a formality, or like varṇāśrama-dharma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. The outer touch of the varṇāśrama-dharma, sannyāsa, but it has got its positive side. Both are negative and positive, the negative side is this - that it is a symbol that one who has accepted, the three daṇḍas represents thought, word, and deed. He won't use his thought, word, and deed for any exploiting type, nature, for any exploiting aim, object, he should not. But the positive side he will punish these three, thought, word, and deed and engage them in the service of Kṛṣṇa, Nārāyaṇa. Then it becomes Vaiṣṇava. Do you understand?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The negative side, that is sannyāsa, that he won't use his word, thought, and deed, three things, three daṇḍas representing three aspects of our life, thought, word, and deed. It won't be used for any material purpose, mundane purpose. At the same time the Vaiṣṇava sannyāsa is there and should be used for the service of Nārāyaṇa, Kṛṣṇa. Then it becomes Vaiṣṇava connection, the positive side is there. Those that do not believe in the positive side of life, they may accept it only that, "We must not use our thought, word, and deed for mundane purpose." They will prefer, "No, no, silence." But Vaiṣṇava sannyāsī, he will prefer kṛṣṇa-kīrtana, in this way, the positive side they have got. Tridaṇḍa, these things, these three aspects of life should be controlled, should be punished. Daṇḍa means punishment. Our thought, word, and deed should be punished, so they may not interfere with the incidents of this mundane world, must check them. That is one side. But the other side, check them not to be used in this object of life, but use them for spiritual object of life. This is Vaiṣṇava sannyāsa.

Devotee: Mahārāj, but a brahmacārī and gr̥hastha, he should also use his body, mind and thought ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, everything, this is a peculiar, this will remind you, it does not mean that one who has not taken sannyāsa, he won't use. A gr̥hastha will also do, a gr̥hastha paramahansa who's a parśada bhakta, he also can come without sannyāsa in a householder's form. He may not have the sacred thread also, anything. But still, the necessity of all this is to remind us of that life. That is healthy, the sacred thread, the red cloth, the daṇḍa, always gives us caution. "Think that you are meant for, you have dedicated your life for this. So beware, don't misuse, don't misuse your red cloth, don't misuse your sacred thread, don't misuse this Tulasī mālā." It will remind us always. The utility is there.

A siddha-mahātmā may not have red cloth. Sanātana Goswāmī and others, they had the white cloth, minimum necessity of cloth garment. Not red, not daṇḍa, not sacred thread, without them also pure life is possible. But for the beginners these things will be helpful, so they're introduced into the society of the Vaiṣṇava school in the lower class, plane. And sometimes the higher, they also come to accept these lower emblems, as Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa, in order to help the public that this sign, this sort of dress, is the dress of a world Ācārya, so we should give respect to them.

If he's in ordinary dress the people won't show any respect or give any attention to his words and advice. But if he's, just as a policeman, if he's in his dress, in uniform, people will show some respect, to the police, to the military. But a military man or a policeman may patrol in plain dress also, and do even higher service. Still, it is necessary for the society to regulate. So this is something like a uniform that we are meant for this.

The society should take, should learn to take them as the teachers, the holy men, we should deal with them very gently for our future benefit. The society will also get their benefit and the man will also get some instruction, "Oh, I should not mix with anyone and everyone. I must show my ways to keep up the standard, the model of the teachers," all these things for this. Otherwise independent of all these things a man can also grow in spiritual life. Without taking the role of brahmacārī or gr̥hastha or varṇaprāsthā, internally he may grow, his heart within.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Mahārāj, how does one understand, or deal with, the temporary fall down of a sannyāsī, or of a brāhmaṇa? What is the correct understanding?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There we shall take that he had some offence for which he could not keep. He could not keep the past standard of his life expected by his Guru Mahārāj. That should be the general way of thinking about them. Some previous offence is taking its course, not allowing him to go on smoothly in the way of his realisation, suddenly came and stopped it, checked, previous action of offence. Evil action or offence against a Vaiṣṇava, in particular cases we are to see. Sometimes Vaiṣṇava aparādhā, and sometimes in ordinary lower cases, that previous bad karma can come and stand in his way of progress. That should be taken.

So we will always be cautious with our free will, free choice. Our free choice, just as a minor, he requires the vigilant eye of the major guardian, so also, our free will in immature stage is surrounded by so many misdirections. So it will be safe to be under the guidance of a bona fide guardian, always, in our lower stage, until we attain the major. Major in the spiritual line, minor, we should always try to be under the vigilant eye of a spiritual guardian. That is necessary.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: So Guru Mahārāj, how is it possible if one has initiation and his karma has been removed, how is it possible for his previous karma to check him?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What do you mean by initiation, initiation means at once all karma finished? It does not say like that.

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're given the chance, entrance, admission. When the doctor has accepted a patient that does not mean that immediately he's cured. He must follow the direction of the doctor, take proper diet and medicine, then he may expect that he'll be cured shortly. To call the doctor and have his prescription does not mean that he's fully cured, the patient. Come to practical thinking, why hover, wander in the world theoretically, imaginary.

Devotee: I was told in ISKCON that at the time of initiation previous karma is taken away. It's not like that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. That is told, when one has called for a good doctor and accepted his treatment, your cure is guaranteed, in that way. Otherwise we are seeing that so many veterans are going down. Initiation, [Śrīla

A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāj who gave a shake into the world, and his accepted disciples, they gave mantram, and they're also falling back. What is this? It is recommended but not final. When you have got a good doctor, engaged a good doctor, under his treatment your cure is guaranteed, in that way. You're under his vigilant eye, but if you don't care to accept his guidance and secretly if you take evil diet, then what will the doctor do? In this way, it's almost guaranteed. When you have got a good doctor your cure is almost guaranteed. You have to follow, that is. And also it is possible that if by taking unfavourable diet you are a little ill, then if the doctor comes to know that you have taken this bad diet, or did not use my medicine, then he will again take up the case more seriously and will cure you. That sort of help we may get from the Guru and Vaiṣṇava. But our free choice is never snatched away. Unless and until we get, we find out from the innermost part of our heart real taste for the truth we are not saved. When taste has come:

ādau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅgo' tha bhajana-kriyā tato' nārtha-nivṛttiḥ
syāt [tato niṣṭhā rucis tataḥ athāsaktis tato bhāvas tataḥ premābhyudañcati sādhakānām ayaṁ premṇaḥ prādurbhāve bhavet kramaḥ

["In the beginning there must be faith. Then one becomes interested in associating with pure devotees. Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

Ādau śraddhā, first, over the surface, underground is sukṛti, then over the surface spiritual life begins with śraddhā - faith. Then sādhu-saṅga - our company with the sādhu, and within that is our surrender to Guru. Then bhajana - our serving life in many ways begins, śravaṇa, kīrtana, etc., prasāda sevā, all these modified. Then anartha-nivṛttiḥ - anartha, our attraction for things other than Kṛṣṇa, than God, gradually diminishes. Then niṣṭhā - continued attempt for the service and not for otherwise. Then taste will be created, real taste, taste proper for the truth will be created, awakened in our heart. Then we are safe, not before that. When the spontaneous taste within us is awakened for the truth we are safe. We can make fair progress from that time. Up to then we must remain under guardian. The taste will take me, 'I have got the taste, sweetness, so automatically I shall run towards that, very sweet.' Until and unless we find that truth is sweet, Kṛṣṇa is sweet, I am not safe to go towards Him. So many things may take me hither thither. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Mahārāj, is Guru also under the law of karma?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not under the law of karma, Guru, as I told, from the examples of the sādhus and scriptures, are of three kinds. One comes from Vaikuṇṭha, from the land of wholesale truth, he comes here as agent to take them up. Another Guru has one step here and another step there, he takes, he carries the persons from here to there. And the last type of Guru has two legs here but his eyes are fixed there and he takes persons along with him to that position. Three kinds of Guru generally.

End of side A, start of side B, 12/18-12-82

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... in the morning time will be the most suitable. You captured Nimāi?

Devotee: Yes. I just came for your darśana and then I'll try to find him out.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. Gaura Hari bol! Unexpected engagement, serious, has caught you? Ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: Happy engagement.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. A hard nut to break. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ha, ha.

Prema-dhama-stotra, apparently very easy thing, is it? Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But, it is a hard nut to gather. Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Keśava Mahārāj, he used to appreciate my writings very much. Very intricate and very hard things have been distributed in the form of poems. Our Guru Mahārāj also liked it much, that ontology in the form of poetry. Bhāgavatam is there, Caitanya-caritāmṛta and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is of that nature, ontology in poetry.

Devotee: It looks very difficult but if you look inside a whole world is there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: The world of the unlimited.

Devotee: Yes, unlimited.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Where do they stay? In that blue house?

Devotee: No, they're staying in some hotel in Navadvīpa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, in hotel.

Devotee: He came by himself today.

Devotee: What would be the best way for me to make advancement in spiritual life, specifically when I go back to England?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To have proper connection with that sādhu association. Association can help us most. That is repeatedly told in scriptures, association. Living association or the śāstric association, scriptural, but more preferable is living scripture, which means sādhu, devotee. And that must be genuine of course, not imitation.

A candle of small power may thrive nearby the candle flame of high power. And if in the midst of opposite element it will die, easily and shortly, quickly, can't maintain itself. When the atmosphere is surcharged with heat by so many flames, it can stand and it can develop. Favourable circumstance, we can thrive in a favourable soil, favourable circumstance. And if we are to fight with the environment then we waste our energy and we have to die.

Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!
What is your age?

Devotee: Twenty-one.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Twenty-one. Your parents living?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Are they connected with ISKCON?

Devotee: No. They're opposed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're Christians?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Protestant or Catholic?

Devotee: Catholics.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Catholics?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the meaning of Catholics and Protestant, the difference?

Devotee: Well, it's ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oppositionist, catholic means very generous in faith, and Protestant, they want to calculate, they want to measure by reason and then to accept. Reason is the predominant factor with the Protestants, started by one Martin Luther in Germany. Then again another subdivision amongst the Protestants was the Puritans. Milton was a Puritan. While studying Milton we had to know all these things. Puritan, they're very ultra moralist, therefore they're called Puritan. Then another branch came from Puritan as Independent. So many branches, Christian, Catholic, Protestant, Protestant divided is Puritan, and then against within Puritan the Independent, another section. Now I don't know whether those Independents or Puritans are finished. But Protestant and Catholic going side by side. King of England is Protestant. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Catholic, a good expression, catholic, in the proper sense, catholic, how much faith we can claim to have? Ha, ha, ha, faith infinite.

There is a story of a frog, and one of the cubs of the frog saw an elephant, and the mother frog was not present at that time. Then when the mother came and it said to the mother that, "I saw a very big, big animal."

"How big?" The frog is pumping itself, "So big, so big, so big?" In this way the pumping and getting bigger figure.

Then, "No, more, more, bigger, bigger." Then the frog burst, finished.

So how much catholic we can be? What capacity have we got? We are so like the frog. The elephant is also a meagre catholic. How much catholic, generous we can be that to contain the whole within us? Impossible. So only faith can do something, give some connection. Our reason and all other weapons, all failure, only faith can connect somewhat, some touch. How much spacious faith we can accommodate in our tiny self? Ha, ha, ha. Infinite possibility is there.

Kṛṣṇa says, "Whatever you can conceive, whatever infinite you can conceive, that is in My one part, negligent part."

athavā bahunaitena, kiṁ jñātena tavārjuna viṣṭabhyāham idaṁ kṛtsnam, ekāṁśena sthito jagat

[But Arjuna, what is the need of your understanding this elaborate knowledge of My almighty grandeur? By My fractional expansion as the Supreme Soul of material nature, Mahā-Viṣṇu (Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī Viṣṇu), I remain supporting this entire universe of moving and stationary beings.]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 10.42]

"Your conception of infinite, thousands of infinite forms only one negligent part of Mine. I am so big you can't imagine."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. To have connection with Him is only possible by His grace. The how to get His grace, that's the question. Total surrender and trying to please Him, to enter into His sympathy by fully inviting and accepting His ways, whatever small we can know. So through His bona fide devotees, they're our wealth, our ultimate resort, shelter, His devotees. His agents, we should try our best to connect with His bona fide agents. Impossible, ha, ha. To make impossible possible, to make possible what is impossible, to get the infinite. Being finite we aspire after to have connection with infinite, it is impossible apparently. But it is only possible through our most humiliated attitude. To admit straightly that we are nothing, we are so mean, we are so mean, so small, so negligent, so meagre. To come to realise our proper position, then the relativity, law, will take me to Him, the law of relativity.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

He will come out of mercy. We shall try our best to show ourselves that we are sinners. "If You take the path of justice then no hope, no hope, infinitely sinners. Only the zone of mercy, the line of mercy may be extended to us, then I may have some hope. I am so low, so mean. You are so high, so noble, that only through mercy, through Your affection only can I have a door to You, to enter into Your shelter." Śaraṇāgati, condemning ones own self to the extreme, sincerely of course, and to feel the greatness of the other party, of the master type. "Will You graciously accept me. I'm not fit to render any service to You my Lord." Only this sort of attitude may take us, appealing to the mercy side, the affection, the devotion, the grace, His kindness. That subtle aspect to be tackled by the soul, then they may have some hope, some prospect. Mercy, no justice, no justice, I have got no prospect.

vicaritay arvihe guna hahi paobe kṛpa kori choro tava ca [?]

"If you come to judge then You won't get anything in my favour. So kindly give up that sort of attitude. In the way of justice I have got no hope. You come with mercy, then I can hope to enter into Your domain." That is devotion proper, śaraṇāgati. And in Kṛṣṇa consciousness that is the plane of mercy and love and affection. In Vaikuṇṭha it is not so strong, the mercy, some sort of justice mixed there, calculation, viddhi, all these things. But in Vṛndāvana, the land of mercy, love, affection. And there is no want, it is infinite, mercy also infinite, so to accommodate infinite number of culprits does not matter. It is not polluted, no possibility of any pollution of the atmosphere if so many nasty souls like us are indented. It is infinite. Kṛṣṇa consciousness is so generous. It may be extended to the lowest but only that must be sincere negotiation. Not afraid of any meanness of the negotiator, not afraid for that, "That I won't be able to purify him," No such possibility that Kṛṣṇa cannot purify any sinner, no question of that. The greatest sinner may be purified in a second, or more quickly, so much dynamic power. But we are to enter into that door of mercy, affection, not of justice.

"Take me by the door of mercy my Lord." That is our real nature and we should live in that atmosphere there. If we are to live in Vṛndāvana, not any vanity will be there, they're all of such temperament. We are all dependent, parasite, we may be rejected, given away any moment, slave, every right of the master over us, kṛṣṇe nitya dāsa. We are to enter with the mentality of a slave. His property, He can do anything and everything with me. Cent per cent mastership, lordship is with Him over me. This is our property, our wealth, this sort of conception, always thirsty for mercy, thirsty, thirsty for water, so always thirsty for mercy there. They're fully cognisant of the fact, they're all living on the plane of mercy, mercy of the master, of the Lord.

Still we find in some way or other that one is asserting himself, one party asserting himself against another party. That is all managed by Yoga-māyā to perform the līlā of Kṛṣṇa. Just as there are many slaves and one is appointed as a leader of the slaves. In a drama a slave may have to play the part of a zamindar, a landlord, but he's a slave. The slave can also play the drama, holding different positions. By Yoga-māyā it is managed to satisfy Kṛṣṇa. They have got that position, that right, slave has also got the right. In another way, according to the degree of their sacrifice, degree of their self-abnegation, degree of their intensity of hankering for mercy, gradation may be there. Progress in the negative side.

We are told, who is the highest, he says, "I am the lowest." Whose holding the highest position, he thinks that he the lowest of all. It is measured in that way, a measure of negativity. "Most unsatisfied that I can't do any service to Kṛṣṇa." Who is rendering the greatest service, he or she thinks that, "I am the worst of all the servants, only imitating, real service I can't render." In fact that is the qualification of rendering service to the Lord, "That I can't do, I do so, I can't serve properly, I can't serve properly." That dissatisfaction is the capital of service. Always alert. I can't satisfy my Lord, I can't do satisfactory work as directed, I can't." Always living to the highest degree, alert to the highest degree. Suspicious about his own self. Ha, ha.

Ahaṅkāra, the ego, the negative ego, ego of the negative type, not assertive, not assertive at all, but always self abusing, not asserting but self abusing ego. Combined of that type of servitors. That atmosphere becomes very, very sweet, no aggressor, all contributor, all contributor. Sometimes when there is famine, this artificial famine, all the food is put underground and an artificial famine created. Then the government says, "None will be able to hold anything. Everything must come to the market. No hoarding." Then there is opulence, and where there is hoarding there is dearth, and no hoarding all fair, all taking to the open market. This is opulence, something like that. All earnestly contributing service and no hoarding for any unit. The market is full, anyone passing by they will find all full. Their hearty contribution for Kṛṣṇa and His own. There is ample.

Prema means that love - that is the nature of love. Die to live. Ha, ha, ha. Die to live, that maxim, die to live. Kill to live, and die to live. We are in the land of exploitation, kill and live, but the opposite, die and live. Give and live, and not take and live. And that is the order of that land, die to live, where everyone is living happily, and apparently they show as if they're dying. But really we thrive there, by giving we thrive, and by taking we become loser.

Devotion, exploitation and devotion, opposite, dedication. And one thing most important is that's connected with the centre and not combined nationalistic, not as a group, but must have proper connection with the centre. Otherwise that will be selfishness, partial, national unity, or country, religious unity, and there will be hitch. Real religious classification, or the sampradāyic, or provincial, local? No, that centre, absolute centre, and that is representing love, affection, beauty, harmony. Some such thing we are to connect with, to live, to give. This worldly giving is not giving. One is giving to a gunda, or giving to a prostitute, that sort is not giving at all. That is exploitation, only to get loan for exploitation, more exploitation, greater exploitation, to invest some energy for future, greater exploitation, not that.

But give in the proper sense, give to die, that is that die to live. That is dedication. And die for what? Die for the centre, central good. Merge there, merge yourself wholly in His interest, then you will be happy. Consider yourself as a slave to the Absolute Lord and you will be happy. Slave, which is most dishonourable to hear and to think, "A slave, slavery?" Most contemptible thing, hateful thing, to think, to pronounce the word slave, a most objectionable thing, but in connection with the Absolute Good that is really an honourable position, the most honourable position to be reckoned as slave to the highest good, to the highest good.

"I don't want to assert myself." To assert myself will be loss to me, my own interest. As much as I shall go to assert myself I shall be loser, I shall be devoid of His perfect decision and interference. I shall take my fate into my own limited hand. So depend on Him as much as you can. Learn to believe Him, the Absolute Good, believe Him. You are afraid of believing your neighbour, you have come, you have earned such a position by your own actions previously. But always your reason is alert to whether you are being robbed by your neighbour or not. The intelligence is keen whether I am being robbed by my nature, because I am thrown into such a position by dint of my own previous karma.

Samsay, doubt, suspicion, I am being exploited, I am being exploited by the environment, always alert. That is a suspicious and most miserable life, miserable life, always we shall have to be cautious that "I am being robbed," a most intolerable life.

So we are to become good and to have a cottage in that good soil where none deceives his neighbour, or none. Always makes himself empty to give everything to the neighbour in that kingdom of Kṛṣṇa.

We should not rely in future, "Trust no future, however pleasant." By the course of the different currents of the environment, next moment where shall I be taken off to I don't know. So, "Act, act in the living present." Believe only the present, and try to utilise the present most. The future is not in your hands, it depends in the results of so many actions, so many forces current in the world outside. Where it will take what thing is unknown. Only the present chance you try to utilise. "Trust no future, however pleasant." And don't bother yourself retaining the previous incidents of your life. "Act, act in the living present. With heart within, but with sincerity, and God overhead."

The ultimate reality must be good absolute. Accept life of this type, na hi kalyāṇa- kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati:

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati]

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

If you be sincere, well meaning, then none will be able to defeat you. Your victory is assured.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

With this spirit we are to take the Name Divine. With the help of the sound, divine sound, we can approach towards that soil. The sound is also assertive, it has got divinity in it. Gradually, but we must be sincere to go where the sound will guide us. Absolute sound will guide and we must be sincere to obey the direction, in this way. The Name, most concise form at present, but as much as we make progress we shall see the broadness of the sound, and whatever is contained in that substance of sound. The figure, the colour, the appearance, sound will produce the appearance, the food for the eye.

Then, attributes, food for the mind, parikar, then the paraphernalia for our movement, it will show a soil that we can live and move, and then līlā. What is the object of that movement, how, what is the product of that movement? Just as a machinery movement we find money is the product, ultimately so many parts of the machinery, so many coolies are moving in a compound, but what is the result? The money.

So also we shall find that līlā, līlā means movement and satisfaction, movement with intrinsic satisfaction. Not that movement will produce satisfaction, but ultimately every movement that means the wave of love, wave of joy, wave of ecstasy. The whole movement is that of joy and ecstasy, happiness. Līlā means that, līlā means movement, but what sort of movement? Automatically with it is that joyous wave, joyful movement, dancing. In Brahma-saṁitā [56], that gamanam nāṭyaṁ, movement ordinary, and movement dancing movement contains joy in it, movement. Kathā gānaṁ, speaking, that is singing, that with the sound wave there is the sweetness. Sweetness mixed everywhere, uta prata [?], within and without. Sweetness, sweet, sweet, sweet, sweet, sweetness, charm, beauty, sweetness, love, affection, all these come to give some conception of that highest soil. That Kṛṣṇa consciousness promises to take us in.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. I close the class here.

kam prati kathayitum īśe, samprati ko vā pratītim āyātu go-pati-tanayā-kuñje, gopa-vadhūṭī-vitaṁ brahma

["To whom can I tell it, and whoever will believe it, that the Supreme Absolute, Param Brahman, the Paramour of the damsels of Vraja, is enjoying in the groves on the banks of the Yamunā?"] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.98]

He began his lecture with this śloka, with the quotation of this śloka. And the very beginning, well began, half done. Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī began to laugh, "Ho, ho, ho." Simply hearing this beginning with this śloka. Raghupati Upādhyāya, he's chanting this śloka to Mahāprabhu. Kam prati kathayitum īśe, "To whom should I say, I speak out my innermost feeling? I wonder simply, simply I wonder. And who will come to hear this madman's delirium? I can't find who will come to attend this delirious statement of mine." Kam prati kathayitum, ko vā pratītim āyātu, go-pati-tanayā-kuñje, gopa-vadhūṭī. "That the Absolute has no other engagement, He has come down here to play with the damsels, the girls, of this half fed, half civilised jungle girls, vitaṁ brahma, is it to be realised, relied upon? Who will believe this? I don't find anyone. That Parabrahman has come down to play with these simple and stupid, half civilised jungle girls of Vṛndāvana. Who will come to believe?"

Kam prati kathayitum īśe, samprati ko vā pratītim āyātu, "Who will come to believe that [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāj has done such a tremendous, most astounding work in the West." He began with this introduction, this śloka. And Swāmī Mahārāj told ultimate, and you also told there, whether tape is there I do not know. He told that, "Prabhupāda [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhanta Saraswatī Ṭhākura] has many stalwart disciples, but his special favour was to Swāmī Mahārāj for this grand propagation in the West. And from my childhood I came in connection with Swāmī Mahārāj, by my fortune, and he treated me as his own child, own son, child. And also I heard, I saw, that he came to discuss about the Gītā and other śāstra with my Gurudeva [Śrīla B.R. Śrīdhara Swāmī], and I saw him to behave with my Gurudeva as śikṣā-guru." That was what he told in that lecture.

And Swāmī Mahārāj in his turn, he also clearly accepted those things, "Yes, what Govinda Mahārāj has said, I treated him as my son. Still, I like him, I have my affection towards him. And it also true that I took Śrīdhara Mahārāj as my śikṣā-guru, and he's, "Om viṣṇupāda," in this way he gave that. Whether it is taped or not I do not know.

Devotee: Yes, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You may find that, if still living. Bhāvānanda was there, and who else? Delivered lectures. And Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī, Paramahansa Mahārāj, and who else, Nimāi perhaps? Then we took prasādam there along sitting together. Madhan's mother, some others.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Prema-dhama-deva-stotra

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nimāi, that Prema-dhama-deva-stotra has that Prema- dhama-deva-stotra duty.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And also I have got some engagement. Yadava Mahārāj is going to the, another's, you, sometime for small question I shall want to answer. Any questions?

Devotee: Previously you have told, I'll just trouble you once, this guru nasyasyad travo nasyasyad, for each example, for Guru or Sukrācārya, sajan.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sukrācārya, sajan vibhisan prajano na vitano vishap hiranyakasipu [?] Vibhisan means Rāvana, when the prahlāda pita, bharata janan mata, bharata, then, deva katvanga raja, and yoga pati ram, and guru, this buddhi. [?]

Devotee: Sukrācārya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sukrācārya guru, and given up by buddhi [?]

Devotee: Guru Mahārāj, in that letter yesterday by Magendra, he had some questions about the topic of Guru. So he ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Madhyama-adhikāra Guru, Guru is always in madhyama-adhikāra because in madhyama-adhikāra both mājyā and mājyā-tīrtha, both in contact. Uttama-adhikāra is fully engaged in Yoga-mājyā and not in Mahā-mājyā. So uttama-adhikāra Guru if he comes from there, by Kṛṣṇa's will, he comes in touch with Mahā-mājyā, then the necessity of the function of Guru arises.

[Loud explosions from fireworks near the Maṭha are heard]

The police are leaving the position today, from this, they have taken their position here in our building and the bombs are beginning.

Devotee: Yes ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're leaving today, and the bombs are beginning. What is that, what I began?

Devotee: Madhyama, uttama, by Kṛṣṇa's grace, as a madhyama.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, by Kṛṣṇa's special influence he's to come here and to see māyā and then to advise, "Give up māyā," in this way. And the madhyama-adhikārī he can see, as I told, three kinds, two feet here and looking at the Vaikuṇṭha and trying to take others along with him. And one foot here and one foot there and carrying. And uttama-adhikārī, from there, one foot here and taking away, in this way. So madhyama-adhikārī is Guru and he is fallible, so Guru-tyāga is possible in that case and that is the most undesirable thing ever found in one's fate. If it happens, the most undesirable thing, then we are to face that disaster. And what should be the direction in that case, that also given in various places, how to go on in that position.

And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in Harināma-cintāmani has mentioned it, how to deal with it. At that time there was a caste position. But śikṣā-guru is there, śikṣā-guru, dīkṣā-guru and śikṣā-guru. Sometimes it may seem that dīkṣā-guru is genuine but not well-versed in scriptural advise. In that case to understand scriptural instructions śikṣā-guru is necessary, and his help. Not to differentiate much from dīkṣā-guru and śikṣā-guru, and especially ours is the list of guru- paramparā, all śikṣā-guru line, not dīkṣā-guru line, śikṣā-guru, the substantial line, not formal. Form is rather neglected and the substance has been given very much importance in our lineage of śikṣā-guru, we prefer that, we want substance, and not much form. But form is also there, and that should also be respected. If form and substance are together then that is very good, otherwise substance will have, spirit will have to be given preference, not the form.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura came in the line of that sahajiyā section almost, Vipina- viḥārī Goswāmī, but we do not take him in our guru-paramparā, because he was more of brāhmaṇa and Yati Goswāmī spirit. He told openly, that, "I can bless [Raghunātha] dāsa Goswāmī," which is impossible, like a madman's statement. So that brāhmaṇic, the pride if this flesh and blood, we don't tolerate.

nāhaṁ vipro na ca nara-patir nāpi vaiśya na śūdro nāhaṁ varṇī na ca gr̥ha-patir no vana-stho yatir vā kintu prodyan-nikhila-paramānandapūrṇāmṛtābdher gopī-bharttuḥ pada-kamalayor dāsa-dāsānudāsaḥ

This comes direct from Mahāprabhu, this śloka. "Neither I am a brāhmaṇa nor a kṣatriya nor a vaiśya or śūdra. Neither I am a brahmacārī, gr̥hastha, vānaprastha, or sannyāsī. But I am the servant of the servant of the servant of that great illustrious sweetness personified, Kṛṣṇa." So we are to follow that spirit and not making so much of the form. That is our line. Cash dealing, and not by cheque, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee(s): Ha, ha, ha, ha. So then another question that he had is in Caitanya- caritāmṛta, or Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, are any of the Gurus who are mentioned there, described, are they of madhyam-adhikārī nature.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In particular cases the, one case we find, that is of course a different type, very rare type. The Śyāmānanda Prabhu first initiated by Saranga Murari in the sakhya-rasa. Then by some miraculous interference from above, he was transformed into the mādhyama-rasa, and took initiation again from Jīva Goswāmī. That is a very, very peculiar case. And generally, so many that were followers of this physical lineage, they left everything and joined Mahāprabhu's movement and took initiation from the Vaiṣṇavas.

Yadhunandana Ācārya, he was the family Guru of Raghunātha dāsa Goswāmī, he took initiation from there. But Mahāprabhu gave him Svarūpa Dāmodara, and get advice from there, from Mahāprabhu, then to Rūpa Goswāmī, Sanātana Goswāmī, and he says, "These are all my Guru, all Guru." But his most intensified adherence we find to Rūpa, Sanātana. But his family Guru was Yadhunandana Ācārya. He says, explaining his confidence, gurau goṣṭhe goṣṭhālayiṣu sujane bhūsuragane, brāhmaṇas.

[gurau goṣṭhe goṣṭhālayiṣu sujane bhūsuragane svamantre śrī-nāmnī vraja-nava-yuva-dvandva-śaraṇe sadā dambhaṁ hitvā kuru ratim apūrvām atitarā maye svāntarbhrātaś caṭubhir abhiyāce dhr̥ta-padaḥ]

["O mind - my brother! I fall at your feet and implore you: 'Give up all pride and always taste ecstatic love while remembering the divine guide, the holy abode of Vṛndāvana, the cowherds and milkmaids of Vraja, the loving devotees of the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the gods on earth or pure brāhmaṇas, the Gāyatrī mantra, the holy Names of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and the divine youthful couple of Vraja, Śrī Śrī Rādhā-Govindasundara."] (Manaḥ-Śikṣā)

All these, he's "My śraddhā, let my regard be intact in all this." Then:

nāma-śreṣṭhaṁ manum api śacī-putram atra svarūpaṁ rūpaṁ tasyāgrajam uru-purīṁ māthurīṁ goṣṭavāṭīm rādhā-kunḍaṁ giri-varam aho rādhikā-mādhavāśāṁ prāpto yasya prathita-kṛpayā śrī gurum taṁ nato 'smi

[Śrīla Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī prays: "I only aspire after one thing. I cherish the hope that one day I may be welcomed into the plane where Rādhikā and Mādhava are in Their glory, sitting and playing." That should be our prospect. This is found in Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī's prayer to his Guru.]

[From outside Śrīla B.R. Śrīdhara Swāmī's Maṭh is heard the loud bangs of fireworks.]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is this?

Devotee: Madness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only show, or doing any damage? Those bombers we are told a party who were living has possession in these [secuny?] plots here, and they're driven by another party. Now they want to come here again to take possession of their old plots. That is the cause of the bombardment cursing.

Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa, Hare Hare. These questions are dealt with many times before.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Guru Mahārāj, then there's one other question. He said, "Is there any instance of a madhyama-adhikārī Guru falling down, in the history of the Bhāgavatam or Caitanya-caritāmṛta?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [50 seconds pause] We don't find. In the case of Sukrācārya, Baninātha Mahārāj left him, disregarded him, but Sukrācārya was in his standard as he was the Guru of the demons, but he could not satisfy Banirāja. That we find, Banirāja. So, that cannot be considered as a fall from his position, but he was there, but his guidance could not satisfy Banirāja. He had his previous acquired sukṛti and devotion, so much, but crossing his Guru he had to take steps against his Guru. That's what we find.

And also, in Prahlāda's case, of course no Guru is found. He was sent by Hiraṇyakaśipu as a student to the sons of Sukrācārya, but he did not submit there, did not submit there. Formally he was taking the Vedic education, but in his heart he was sufficiently rich. And one day he began to take the class himself, without caring for his Guru. That Guru also Veda Guru.

And also, Jīva Goswāmī has given that instance, you know, Bhiṣma he gave up Paraśurāma, something like that. Paraśurāma was the Guru of Bhiṣma in astra- śikṣā, Dhanur-Veda, but Dhanur-Veda is also included in Veda, Veda, Atharva-Veda, Dhanur-Veda, Āyurveda, Dhanur-Veda included in Atharva-Veda.

So Jīva Goswāmī said that there is his Veda Guru in the Vedic style, Bhiṣma had to learn those fighting tactics and weapon applications from Paraśurāma. And when Paraśurāma asked Bhiṣma to do something, to marry a girl, that girl to control Bhiṣma, she sought help of Paraśurāma, and Paraśurāma recommended Bhiṣma to marry the girl. But Bhiṣma told, "No, I have already promised that I won't marry."

But Paraśurāma pressed, "That where will this girl go? You have forcibly taken her up from her father's house for some person, but you now are rejecting her, so you will have to marry yourself. Otherwise her future will be spoiled." He gave some pressure but Bhiṣma did not submit. Then Paraśurāma told, "I shall teach you a lesson." The fight began in Kurukṣetra. Bhiṣma and Paraśurāma - Guru and śiṣya, and Bhiṣma at that time told:

guror apy avaliptasya, kāryākāryam ajānataḥ utpatha-prathipannasya, parityāgo vidhīyate

[Mahābhārata, Ūdyoga-parva -179.25]

The Guru who crosses his boundary and position and whimsically takes any step, then he must be given up. That has been taken as instance, as precedence in the Purāṇa by Jīva Goswāmī for Guru-tyāga. If Guru comes to such a position, crosses the general courtesy and rulings of the śāstra, then he should be abandoned. That is one instance. Another just now came in my mind and I forget. This is Paraśurāma's case, Bhiṣma.

Devotee: Avaiṣṇavopadiṣṭena ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

avaiṣṇavopadiṣṭena mantreṇa niryaṁ vrajet punaś ca vidhinā samyag grāhayed vaiṣṇavād guroḥ

["One who accepts the mantra from a Guru who is a nondevotee or is addicted to sensual pleasure with women is doomed to a life in hell. Such a person must immediately approach a genuine Vaiṣṇava Guru and again accept the mantra from him."] [Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa, 4.366]

That is another question, that he took mantram from avaiṣṇava, and when he finds a Vaiṣṇava Guru he leaves that Māyāvādā and other things and comes to the fold of the Vaiṣṇava. That is mentioned there, avaiṣṇava, formal Guru, the family Guru, that must be abandoned for the acceptance of a real Guru of the spiritual order. In Mahābharata in one place it is mentioned by the lips of Aśvatthāmā.

satrau rupi gunava ca dosa va ca guro rupi [?]

If one is enemy, if he has got any good quality, that must be spoken out, praised. And dosa va ca guro rupi, if Guru is faulty, then his fault also should be given publicity. What is right, that must be followed, no respect of any person against the truth. It is in Mahābhārata, [Vidag ?]-parva.

Madhvācārya took sannyāsa from Acyutaprakāśa, sannyāsa Guru, then he saw Vedavyāsa and came away, returned home, and his sannyāsa Guru was converted into his disciple. Acyutaprakāśa, he became Padmanava. Who was the sannyāsa Guru of Madhvācārya, he became disciple of his sannyāsa śiṣya, Madhvācārya. Acyutaprakāśa became Padmanava.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Brahmanya Tīrtha and Mādhvendra Purī were Godbrothers? In the Madhva line before Mādhvendra Purī ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmanya Tīrtha?

Devotee: Yes, perhaps.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where do we find his name, Brahmanya Tīrtha? Śrī Madhva, Śrī Padmanābha, Śrī Mañjarī Madhavan.

Devotee: No, not Brahmanya Tīrtha, a mistake, that Lakṣmī Tīrtha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, Akṣobhya Jayatīrtha Śrī, jñānasindhu tore. tāhā hoite dayānidhi, tāra dāsa vidyānidhi. vyāsatīrtha tāra dāsa, lakṣmīpati vyāsa-dāsa, tāhā ha'te mādhavendra purī. [Śrī Guru-paramparā, by Śrīla Bhaktisiddhanta Saraswatī Ṭhākura]

Devotee: Lakṣmī Tīrtha, Lakṣmīpati.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lakṣmī, vyāsatīrtha tāra dāsa, lakṣmīpati vyāsa-dāsa.

Devotee: My mistake. Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vyāsatīrtha's disciple was Lakṣmīpati.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tāhā ha'te mādhavendra purī.

Devotee: But we find somewhere that Lakṣmīpati and Mādhvendra Purī were Godbrothers. Is that correct?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Lakṣmīpati vyāsa-dāsa, tāhā ha'te mādhavendra purī. Lakṣmīpati was Guru to Mādhvendra, it is mentioned there in that way. But if another Brahmanya Tīrtha who was a disciple of Lakṣmīpati, he may be Godbrother. But Lakṣmīpati was the Guru of Mādhvendra Purī, Lakṣmīpati Tīrtha. Guru means not sannyāsa guru, because in Madhvācārya sampradaya no Purī, all Tīrtha. But like Mahāprabhu, Mādhvendra took sannyāsa from some māyāvādī sannyāsī. But his Guru was Lakṣmīpati. Mahāprabhu did some peculiar thing, Īśvara Purī sannyāsī, he was living, but He took sannyāsa from Keśava Bhāratī, though Īśvara Purī is still living there. But He was wandering and His sannyāsa was urgent, He found anywhere He took.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Then I found that Nityānanda Prabhu took initiation from ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mādhvendra Purī.

Devotee: Mādhvendra Purī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Advaita Prabhu, Nityānanda Prabhu, Īśvara Purī - They're Godbrothers as from Mādhvendra Purī They took dīkṣā.

Guna visistha - the All Attractive.

...

Devotee: ... Bhāgavata verse, he accommodated both the jñānīs and yogīs goals of Brahma and Paramātmā respectively, showing how they are included within the Supreme Personality of Godhead Bhagavān, Who, as the ultimate non-dual substance, is the supreme origin and essence of all relationships.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, Bhagavān?

Devotee: Who, as the ultimate non-dual substance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Conception of Absolute?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then? Next. Developed first plane, first in the argument in the first plane, and the next plane developing.

Must have to accommodate all these different stages from higher to higher. In this way He gave His hints to the assembly of the Māyāvādī Paṇḍitas.

Devotee: By disclosing the most confidential, blissful pastimes, the Lord hinted that it must be concluded that the Supreme Absolute Truth appears as the son of Nanda Mahārāj.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The conclusion must have to go to that direction, in this way.

Devotee: Yes. Not a final conclusion but for this argument only.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... in such conclusion, and the next conclusion we'll have to reach in this way, that the highest conclusion cannot but come to such stage if we want to say that He's the combination of all rasas. The necessity of these revealed words cannot but take to that direction, to be the highest. To establish the position of the Absolute in Bhagavān, or Nārāyaṇa, then next he took the course of going into deeper and deepest conception of the Absolute in vatsalya and mādhyura-rasa.

Devotee: By disclosing the most confidential blissful pastimes the Lord hinted that it must be herein concluded that the Supreme Absolute Truth appears as the son of Nanda Mahārāj in order to fulfil the necessity of transcendental loving service in the mood of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As son of Nanda Mahārāj.

Devotee: Yes, yes. Appears as the son of Nanda Mahārāj, Nandanandana, in order to fulfil the necessity of transcendental loving...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nanda Mahārāj, that is going to history, moving towards the historical side.

Devotee: Ah. That we have given as a translation of Nandanandana, son of Nanda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As Nanda, representing son of Nanda.

Devotee: In order to fulfil the necessity of transcendental loving service in the mood of parenthood.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Another thing also to be considered, as we heard from [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhanta Saraswatī Ṭhākura] Prabhupāda. The sonhood of Godhead. Have you mentioned it here?

Devotee: Yes. Parenthood, other way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not parent, sonhood, sonhood means in the centre. Not fatherhood, sonhood. Sonhood, Nandanandana, the sonhood coming in the centre. And consorhood, sonhood and consorhood. If you like you can explain in that way. Sonhood and consorhood in this abstract way you may advance. He took from Nārāyaṇa the masterhood, the Prabhuhood, from there to sonhood, and from there to consorhood. Within brackets you may replace sonhood with consorhood Devotee: By disclosing the most confidential, blissful pastimes, the Lord hinted... By this verse: brahmeti paramātmeti, etc.

[vadanti tat tattva-vidas, tattvaṁ yaj jñānam advayam brahmeti
paramātmeti, bhagavān iti śabdyate]

[Learned transcendentalists who know the Absolute Truth call this nondual substance Brahman, Paramātmā or Bhagavān.] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.11]

By this verse He accommodated both the jñānīs and yogīs apparent, ultimate goals of Brahma and Paramātmā, showing how they are included within the Supreme Personality of Godhead Bhagavān.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The conception of Brahma and Paramātmā, how it is included in the conception of Bhagavān. And again, the conception of Bhagavān, how it is included into Nandanandana, and how that conception real included there.

Devotee: Yes. Yes, as progress. We'll indicate that within.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: More comprehensive, accommodating, how this is accommodated there and this is accommodated there, how the development, the comprehension, comprehensiveness, in this way.

Devotee: Step by step progress.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the sonhood and consorhood. Exactly fatherhood, Bhavavān, Nārāyaṇa, but something like fatherhood, near there. You may not mention but Nandanandana, vātsalya-rasa, the centre of vātsalya-rasa affection, and that centre, mādhyura-rasa, consorhood. They're showing the path, they go this way. The Kṛṣṇa, Svayam-Bhavavān, Vṛndāvana, rasa-līlā, gopīs, all in this side, if you want that you'll have to go this side. And that only showing the path, the Veda.

Devotee: Not explanation.

Devotee: Hinting, hinting.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, these high things, not to take them there on the hand and show it like a sweetmeat. This side, vague, mysterious, but this side, the language will be such, ontological. In the assembly of the Māyāvādīs, "You will have to go this side. This is not unreasonable, after this, after this, you will have to go this side." Not Kṛṣṇa within the hand, not within the fist, that characteristic should be maintained.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāj says he made apart, must not be very clear, but it should be...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very clear, will come within sahajiyāism.

Devotee: Yes.

Devotee: It may not appear as ...

Devotee: Understood.

Devotee: Mahārāj says you very clear do, but you cannot very clear.

Devotee: Understood.

Devotee: The general direction but not specific.

Devotee: Yes.

Devotee: You try to do clear, but you cannot do clear, this is thing, the nature of this thing.

Devotee: Understood.

Devotee: You try no doubt, but you cannot do, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If you go to finish it will be māyā.

Devotee: Yes. We can't explain it. We can only indicate.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The infinite characteristic you are to maintain.

Devotee: Everything here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The ontological and mysticism, that must be based always.

Devotee: Desirable.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And this side it is going, you can't resist, it is going this side, you can't resist it, you Māyāvādīs, you can't stop it here. But it must have to go, although you won't allow, the outlet this side it is going, the development in theism cannot but go this side. He's giving hint for you all. In this way Mahāprabhu's doing.

Devotee: ... doing Vaiṣṇava aparādha, foreign people, no scope of Vaiṣṇava aparādha.

Devotee: Give them chance, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: There is no Vaiṣṇavaism.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No misconception, but they're open, open to truth, whatever it may be, unprejudiced hearing. And there, they're got some prejudice, prepossessed that, "This is Vaiṣṇavaism, Oh, this bābājī [mataji ?], Oh, go away." In general in this way.

Devotee: Was a great sinner but not Vaiṣṇava aparādha. That is Jagāi and Mādhāi.

Devotee: He hit Nityanānanda. That is not Vaiṣṇava aparādha ?

Devotee: Ha, ha, ha. No. Nityanānanda Prabhu, that is the līlā final, at that time finalised.

End of side A, start of side B, 14/15/16-12-82

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... pardoned, forgiven. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: ... by cheque or by draft, shall give in my name, G. S. Vidyananjan. But all the disciples wrote before, but that Kalpa-vṛkṣa not known.

Devotee: Yes Mahārāj

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Devotee: Parthāmṛta. So the Vedas were written by Śrīla Vyāsadeva and ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vedas were not written by Vyāsadeva, is compiled by him.

Devotee: Hmm, right, yes, but he has divided the Vedas into four.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: So does he do this in every Kali-yuga? Every Kali-yuga, is there an incarnation of Vyāsa that divides the Vedas?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Devotee: He's asking does Vyāsadeva appear in every Kali-yuga, and does he divide the Vedas into four sections?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Dvāpara-yuga, not Kali, they leaves the whole yuga. pitur dvaipāyanād, adhītavān dvāparāḍau: [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.8]

[idaṁ bhāgavatam nāma, purāṇam brahma-sammitam adhītavān dvāparāḍau, pitur dvaipāyanād aham]

["At the end of Dvāpara-yuga, I studied this Mahā-Purāṇa Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam from my father, Śrī Kṛṣṇa-Dvaipāyana Vyāsa. I conceive that to be the highest standard of education and you are the fittest man to receive it. Therefore I shall deliver it to you."]

Śukadeva says, "Oh Parīkṣit Mahārāj, you are a bona fide listener, so I shall tell to you that great Purāṇa, Bhāgavatam, which I read from my dear father, beloved father before. Before Kali, that is in Dvāpara, dvāparāda. Adhītavān dvāparāda, pitur dvaipāyanād aham, the last point of Dvāpara-yuga, I read it from my father, I got it. And that great theistic conception carrier Bhāgavatam, I shall offer to you. You are a very bona fide and good disciple, listener, receiver, recipient. You can understand and you can accept, you can utilise, you can practice those high teachings. So you are the fittest person for giving that sort of high standard of knowledge, ever considered or conceived for the human section."

Mahā-pauruṣiko bhavān:

[tad ahaṁ te 'bhīdhāsyāmi, mahā-pauruṣiko bhavān yasya śraddhadhatām āśu, syān mukunde matiḥ satī]

["That very Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam I shall recite before you because you are the most sincere devotee of Lord Kṛṣṇa. One who gives full attention and respect to hearing Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam achieves unflinching faith in the Supreme Lord, the giver of salvation."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.10]

"You are a great, qualified receiver of revealed truth of Bhāgavatam. So I shall deliver it here to you now."

Devotee: Mahārāj, the Vedas are non different from Kṛṣṇa. Why do they contain mostly ritualistic, karma-kāṇḍa writings instead of the direct ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Devotee: He says if the Vedas are the personification of Kṛṣṇa, then why do they contain so many karma-kāṇḍa, or fruitive activities in them?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as in a man there is this nail, this hair, something like. That is because there is māyā accommodated in Kṛṣṇa, He's advaya-jñāna, all unifying principle, so everything will have some place with Him, direct or indirect, and also mixed, direct indirect means taṭasthā. But because there is misconception, and to bring one from misconception to proper conception, some midway steps necessary. So, they're engaged in exploitation, then exploitation must be decreased, and gradually renunciation, and then to come to devotion. In this way, step by step. You are already in the mud, to take you out of the mud you will have to come a certain portion through the mud, then you can come to the earth solid. Do you follow? You are already there in the mud and if I am to rescue you, you are to take some paces at least through the mud, and then again this side.

[vyavasthitis-teṣu vivāha-yajñā-surā-grahair āsu nivṛttir iṣṭā]

["The conditioned souls are naturally inclined to have sex, eat meat, and drink wine. There is no need for the scripture to encourage these things. The scriptures do, however, give concessions to people who are determined to do these things.

The scriptures therefore grant a license to enjoy sex by allowing sexual intercourse with one's lawful wedded wife at the proper time of the month. They grant a license to eat meat to those who perform a certain type of sacrifice, and a license to drink wine to those who perform the Sautramaṇi sacrifice. The purpose of granting these licenses for sense gratification is only to restrict these activities and encourage people to give them up altogether. The real intention of the Vedic injunctions regarding sex, meat-eating, and wine-drinking is to make a person abstain from these activities." [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.11]

The Veda does not say that do this, but because you are in the midst, some modified method to be found and then through the gradual process you are to take in on the higher plane. Step by step. Suppose one is taking intoxication, if he's to be taken out, if you stop wholesale, then there is the great reaction. By minimising the measure, the quantity, you are gradually, smoothly taking him away, in this way.

Devotee: Also Mahārāj, what level are the Upaniṣads on in comparison to the Vedas?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Upaniṣads is nearer approach to consciousness, from gross exploitation it is taking towards renunciation of the exploitation, and it suits there. And containing in a very small way within that what is dedication, in a suppressed way. It is the higher portion of the Veda.

karmibhyaḥ parito hareḥ priyatayā vyaktiṁ yayur jñāninas [tebhyo jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ premaika-niṣṭhās tataḥ tebhyas tāḥ paśu-pāla-paṅkaja-dṛśas tābhyo 'pi sā rādhikā preṣṭhā tadvad iyaṁ tadīya-sarasī tām nāśrayet kaḥ kṛtī]

[There are those in the world who regulate their tendency for exploitation in accordance with the scriptural rules and thereby seek gradual elevation to the spiritual domain. However, superior to them are those wise men who, having given up the tendency to lord over others, attempt to dive deep into the realm of consciousness. But far superior to them are the pure devotees who are free from any mundane ambitions and are liberated from knowledge, not by knowledge, having achieved divine love. They have gained entrance into the land of dedication and are engaged there spontaneously in the Lord's loving service. Among all devotees, however, the gopīs are the highest, for they have forsaken everyone, including their families, and everything, including the strictures of the Vedas, and have taken complete shelter at the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, accepting Him as their only protection. But among all the gopīs, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī reigns supreme. For Kṛṣṇa left the company of millions of gopīs during the rasa dance to search for Her alone. She is so dear to Śrī Kṛṣṇa that the pond in which She bathes is His very favourite place. Who but a madman would not aspire to render service, under the shelter of superior devotees, in that most exalted of all holy places."]

[Upadeśāmṛta, 10]

The jñānīs, the speculationists, those that are dealing with knowledge, they hold better positions than those that are engrossed in deep karma-kāṇḍa, that is, engaged in the exploitation. Then, from the exploitation, a little better, is jñāna, knowledge, cetana. From being absorbed in matter, material acquisition, and then a little indifference to material acquisition because they're all mortal. Then, going up towards knowledge proper to enquire what is what. In this way they're leaving the intense engagement into the material transaction and seeks after something more dealing with consciousness with knowledge, jñāna. Then, they may get, generally comes to renunciation, and by the grace of the agents of the divine world, or the transcendental world of devotion, they collect something, or know something of the positive world and collects sukṛti, and then began their enquiry into the world of dedication. Passing through the line of renunciation they enter into the land of dedication, in this way.

The knowledge that consciousness is better than matter. Material engagement is lower than conscious engagement. Consciousness means some search, and not satisfied with the material exploitation, or energy, searching something, what is what. Concentrating into the world of consciousness, that is searching, learning. And then they can have a chance of coming in contact with what is dedication. There is another plane where we can live with the spirit of dedication. That is bhakti. Only by worship, only by loving sacrifice, we can have a life proper. Tat paratvena nirmalam:

["Pure devotion is service to the Supreme Lord which is free from all relative conceptions of self interest."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 1.10]

That is, working for the centre, not for my own interest, not for individual interest, but for the interest of the universal whole, represented by the Prime Cause, the Absolute, and Absolute Good. We come to understand that Absolute Good is main centre and we must work for Him. And that is the best thing. Before that, withdrawal from this nasty, selfish attempt of reactionary nature we are entangled in.

karmibhyaḥ parito hareḥ priyatayā vyaktiṁ yayur jñāninas tebhyo jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ premaika-niṣṭhās tataḥ [Upadeśāmṛta, 10]

In this way the development in our life we can understand, we can follow, we can achieve. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāj, can you explain Nārada's instructions to Vyāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He told that: "So long you have dealt with the Vedic mantram only giving your recommendation how to get out of the world of exploitation and come to a liberated stage, that mukti. But after mukti there is real life, life proper is after liberation. You have not mentioned in details, or in a very charming way about that, so you have done a great disaster to the ordinary public. Mere renunciation has got no value, mere liberation has got no value. Because that is only to be absorbed in the abscissa [the taṭastha-loka, the marginal position] and not having any positive life. But there is immense prospect in the positive life and the whole thing you have not mentioned as if at all, a very meagre mention, that one can neglect easily. A negligible mention in Bhagavad-gītā, here, there, a negligible mention. But not an elaborate life of high devotional prospect you have given to the public as yet. So you have done diabolically wrong."

"What you have done, that is condemnable," Devarṣi Nārada says to Vyāsa. Why? "You have not given any form of positive life, the conception, and hope, and prospect of positive life you have not hitherto given to the people. Only withdrawal from the negative side have you dealt with in details and no mention of the positive thing. So you have done a great mischief to the people. Because if anyone afterwards comes with this fresh news, 'there is a positive life,' the people won't believe it. 'Oh, do you know more than Vedavyāsa who has given an ocean of scriptural books? So many advises in different ways he has been distributed to the world. Do you know more than him? I won't care for you, I reject you, I won't hear you at all.'

So, you, Vedavyāsa, you will have to give that very same thing, that there is positive life, and that is by dedication to the Absolute Good. That is real life. And that is beautiful and very happy life, very pure, happy, and beautiful life. And you have omitted that almost so have done great mischief to the world. Because none will believe if anyone ventures to give it to the people, so you have done wrong. Now I have come to correct. You will have to give it now, as the very sandarm, the very clue, and to give some real description of that high, transcendental, dedicated life. You are to give it to the people. So I have come to you. And after giving so much to the people you don't find peace in your heart, and this is the cause. And I have come to remove that non-peaceful character in your mind, to give you peace. And if you engage yourself in such divine service you will be peaceful again."

That is the talk there.

Gaura Hari bol! Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!
Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Mahārāj, can you say that the original Vedas, they don't contain much information about Kṛṣṇa or His pastimes ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as a tree is not found to contain the fruit, a gradual, after development, outcome is fruit. Veda avicra, vedanta puspa, and bhagavāt phalam.

Devotee: Can you say though that that is because this knowledge of Kṛṣṇa was common knowledge in the beginning of Satya-yuga, and there was no necessity to ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What do you say?

Devotee: Can you say that the knowledge of Kṛṣṇa was common in the Satya- yuga, common knowledge, commonly known to the people in general?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Commonly known? No. So: kṛta vesa puchar rajan kala vit santi sambhavan [?]

The clever, or the wise persons, in Satya-yuga, they want, aspire after a birth in Kali. What do you think about Satya-yuga? It is already passing in a cyclic order, so no speciality of Satya-yuga. It is stale like anything, Kali. Only passing, so many summers, so many winters. Then, what is the speciality of the summer, the speciality of the winter? But rather we shall learn to value the time according to the theistic development. Then Kali is preferable than Satya-yuga.

What is Satya-yuga? It is tapasya, satya, dhyana, it is adaiyatu, the internal meditation, that was the important religious function in Satya-yuga. They're simple, truthful, and moral, all these things, and not very fond of luxury. Plain living, high thinking, but high thinking cannot give you Kṛṣṇa consciousness. It must have to come down by sukṛti from the devotees of Kṛṣṇa. In any time it may come.

The honourable guest, a saintly guest, may come to your house when the season is bad, rainy season, or very winter, or very great summer, in that time the guest may come, saintly guest may come to your house and you can gather something from him. And not in ordinary normal time they may come to you as guest.

So our standard of counting what is good and bad, that is all false, no value. tad dinam dodinam manye neha canyam naradinam [?]

There is a poem that when the rainy day is not a very bad day, but the really bad day is that day where we cannot have any discussion about Kṛṣṇa, about the Lord. The standard of good or bad should be changed. When we are engaged with the holy thing, divine thing, that is good, independent of the external environment, both physically and mentally. Plain living, high thinking, but that thinking only about Brahman or Paramātmā, not of Kṛṣṇa, then no gain there.

So Queen Kunti wants adverse circumstances, invites, that when we're in deep suffering, our heart in more intense prayerful mood, and that can reach to high standard to the depth of things. The deeper will be the quest, the search, if we are pressed by adverse circumstances. The ordinary standard of good or bad is not effective in this plane.

'dvaite bhadṛābhadrā-jñāna, saba-'manodharma' 'ei bhāla, ei manda',-ei saba 'bhrama'

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.176]

Everything is false, the conception of our good or bad is all false. So we are to understand what is good or bad in reality. Good or bad, we have to understand a primary teaching in the school of nirguṇa, Kṛṣṇa consciousness, what is good, what is bad. This ordinary world good or bad cannot go there. All false, all relative, all local valuation, provincial valuation does not stand in the case of Absolute calculation. They clash together, they fight together, another plane. Vaikuṇṭha-nāma-grahaṇam:

[sāṅketyaṁ pārihāsyam vā, stobham helanam eva vā vaikuṇṭha-nāma-grahaṇam aśeṣāgha-haram viduḥ]

["One who chants the Holy Name of the Lord is immediately freed from the reactions of unlimited sins, even if he chants indirectly. Sāṅketyaṁ (to indicating something else as in the case of Ajāmīla who called for his son by the Name of Nārāyaṇa), jokingly. Parihāsyā - for musical entertainment. Stobha (to use the Name with some other intention; Jīva Goswāmī has taken advantage of this in his book of Sanskrit grammar, the Harināmāmṛta-vyākaraṇa; when one is playing the mṛdanga drum, using the Names Gaura Nitāi, Gaura Nitāi to represent different drumbeats). Or even neglectfully - hela (when we are rising from bed in the morning sometimes, we may neglectfully say Hare Kṛṣṇa; in this way we may cast off our indolence). This is accepted by all the learned scholars of the scriptures."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.2.14]

Even the Name of the Lord must be of transcendental characteristic, not of this mundane type, mundane sound. This is aparādha, offence. To think that the physical sound is the spiritual sound, that is an offence. But the spiritual sound can come within the mundane sound, but mundane sound cannot contain spiritual part in it. He is all pervading, that is, He can enter and can influence matter, handle matter. But matter cannot handle spirit, cannot have any masterly movement in spirit. But spirit can do anything and everything with and over matter.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: There are different descriptions of the ten subject matters of Bhāgavatam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ten subject matters means daśa-mūla?

Devotee: Yes. Some places they say one thing and in another place they will say something else.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where? You say, quote it.

Devotee: I can't remember exactly but I've seen in a couple of books different explanations of what the ten subject matters are and they are not the same.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What do you say? Instance, example?

Devotee: He doesn't have example, he just remembers from his reading that he found some different explanations of those ten points, or what the ten points actually are.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What are the ten points, you say? What are those ten points?

Devotee: Like Sarga [material creation, the first creation by Lord Viṣṇu]. Visarga [the secondary creation, by Lord Brahmā, with elaborate descriptions of his place in creation, and how he manifests moving and non-moving bodies, by the will of Kṛṣṇa]. Āśraya [the Transcendence, Who is the source, ground, shelter, and support of all.]

Devotee: Sarga, Visarga, Āśraya.

Devotee: Those ten topics of the Bhāgavatam that Bhāgavatam discusses.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There may be different standpoints from the Rāmānuja school, the Śaṅkara school, different schools, different angles of vision. But from the Gauḍīya angles of vision we are to consider.

Devotee: Are those ten points found in the Bhāgavatam itself? Are they listed in the Twelfth Canto of the Bhāgavatam, those ten topics?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't know. We are to deal with separately, then we can say. We can give our opinion if any practical item is placed to us. And what are the different views, different angle of vision. If you put the particular example to me, then I can give my decision there. It may be viewed from different planes. From the plane of the karmi, plane of the jñānī, yogī, and then the devotional angle of vision. Partial representation and then wholesale accommodation, it may be different in this way, local and absolute. And local means small locality, bigger locality, bigger locality, more spacious, more spacious, in this way may differ. From the angle of vision of the man, from the kṣatriya, from the brāhmaṇas standpoint, from a Godly standpoint, from Brahmā's standpoint, from the standpoint of Śivaloka, in this way it may vary, local. And that must be accommodated into universal conception of the thing. There it will be harmonised. Local and Absolute, local may be small and big.

Devotee: Is any anthology been written by any of the Ācāryas that incorporates the ten points?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Ācārya is also very uncertain term. The Ācārya of the karma-kāṇḍi, Ācārya of the jñāna-kāṇḍi, and Ācārya of the bhakti school. Ācārya means one who practices some truth and preaches that, and takes from Veda. Veda is also full of different class duties. In Veda, so many duties of different classes are enlisted there. So from one standpoint, another comparative study amongst those findings.

Devotee: Is there one book that has been written by the Ācāryas, by any of our Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas that incorporates these ten topics, taking verses from the Bhāgavatam to explain each topic?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I do not know those topics, but this daśa-mūla, the very gist of all the different planes of teachings of Bhāgavatam has been represented in Nimbarka sampradāya daśa-mūla and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has also given daśa-mūla. Ten different kinds of principals contained in Bhāgavatam he has written in truth.

āmnāyaḥ prāha tattvaṁ harim iha paramaṁ sarva-śaktim rasābhidhiṁ tad bhinnāśāś ca jīvān prakṛti-kavalitān tad vimuktāś ca bhāvat bhedābheda-prakāśaṁ sakalam api hareḥ sādhanam śuddha-bhaktim sādhyam tat prītim evety upadiśati harir-gauracandro bhaje tam

[(1) - The Vedic scriptures received through the authorised disciplic succession of bona fide spiritual masters state that:

(2) - Śrī Kṛṣṇa is the Supreme Absolute Truth.

(3) - He is the source of all energies.

- (4) - He is the ocean of all transcendental mellows.
- (5) - The living entities are His separated parts and parcels.
- (6) - Due to forgetfulness of their constitutional position, the living entities are illusioned.
- (7) - By awakening their transcendental ecstatic affection and attraction for the Lord, all living souls can be liberated from illusion.
- (8) - All things are one with and different from Kṛṣṇa; this oneness and difference is acintya or inconceivable.
- (9) - Pure devotional service (śuddha-bhakti) is the only means to attain the supreme goal.
- (10) - The supreme goal is divine love of Kṛṣṇa.]

The ten principals in Bhāgavatam, drawn from Bhāgavatam by Mahāprabhu, and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written Daśa-mūla, explained them.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Do you believe that there is going to be a nuclear war in the world soon?

Devotee: He's asking if you believe that there's going to be a nuclear war soon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: War is immanent? We are not concerned with that, not concerned with that. But the greater war is always existent between māyā, the science and nescience. What you call science we call the nescience. Kṛṣṇa conception is science and all else nescience. The fight is always going on. So many births and deaths past, and so many births and deaths are waiting in the future. We are in the midst of that. So many dissolutions of the whole solar systems has occurred but I am still lingering with my life. Many, many solar systems dissolution passed away and I am living. How, where? That is to be solved, the wholesale solution is necessary. This is pertaining to this body only, not even to the mind, very slight. But I am above that.

There is a war, the Theosophists, they believe in the mental system beyond this body. They won't be affected much, they'll live in their mental plane. The war may demolish the whole physical existence. The mental system which we find in our dream, that will be left intact, some contamination, some change, but mainly intact. The bombshell cannot kill the mind, only the body. So with such seriousness of war we are to engage ourselves in the search of Kṛṣṇaloka. Bhūr, Bhuvah, Svaḥ, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, Satya, Virajā, Brahmāloka, with that seriousness go on. We are told 'any moment I may die.' Thinking this, engage yourself in the quest of Kṛṣṇa. What of war, whether it will come or not we don't know, but my finishing, the body, the finishing of my body, that will come surely. War may not come, but I may be finished without war. That is enough for me, and that is enough for everyone, that his physical existence may be finished at any time. With this idea, start your searching for a plane of life where you can live in a very happy mood, happy way, yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama:

[na tad bhāsayate sūryo, na śaśāṅko na pāvakaḥ yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama]

never returns to this material world. Neither sun, nor moon, nor fire - nothing can illuminate that all-illuminating supreme abode."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.6]

From there, no fall is possible into this mortal world. Try to find out that soil, and who can live on that soil? That is living within you, and your proper self is there. This is all wrong conception of your identity, you are not this, this body does not represent you properly, nor your mental system, that also changes life. This also dies, mind also dies. But within that your proper self is living, and find out a happy soil for your soul to live in there. That is reality and this is all imaginary.

So be earnest, be sincere, eager to search for Kṛṣṇa and thereby searching of your own self in the land, in the plane of Kṛṣṇa. That is not only indestructible by war but no natural force can do any harm, however slight, to it. And it is at your discretion. You try with that sort of earnestness. Be serious in your quest. It is not imagination. We are living in the world of imagination but we must try to escape from this world, to get out from this world of imagination, this māyā, illusion, misconception, that is the problem. The problem is there, from imagination, from the land of death, how to remove us, our dwellings, from this plane to a plane where war cannot do anything wrong. War means a very general death and destruction. But individual case is always occurring, always happening, that the result of war, that is death, individual. Not a collective destruction but individual destruction is always taking place. And amongst the atoms consisting this body, always dying, always dying. Some new class are coming and some old dying, all, everyone. In this mortal world some sort of thing is always dying, always dying, always dying. The nation, individuals are dying, still the nation lives, nation lives but individual persons are dying. Very useful, non-useful, all dying. The nation lives for some time, again the nation will die. Then the Earth will die. In its course, everything will vanish, and again it will come, from the subtle plane of karma, inner tendency, in this way. But we want to get out of the wholesale death, not only including human beings but even the trees, even the insects, worms, everything. The ṛṣis, the scripture, they have tried their best to arrange relief ...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāj

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...can be satisfied with those members of the mortal world. I must seek the truth, internally, happiness. Virtue is its own reward. We shall be virtuous, that does not mean for something else, virtue is its own reward. That I am in the real path of searching the truth, that is its own reward. With this capital we must go forward. Can you follow?

Devotee: Yes, goodness for goodness sake.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I am searching after truth, eliminating falsehood, dismissing sense of falsehood. That is the reward. Virtue is its own reward.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: I find myself and many of [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāj's disciples who have left ISKCON have tremendous difficulty trying to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: According to your sincere conscience you will choose your companions. What can one do other than this? A sincere seeker of the truth can only do that. According to his own choice of conscience he will associate, find out, select association.

Devotee: It's so hard to regain sādhana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No other alternative, otherwise I must be a cheater of myself. Near to my conscience I shall select my association who will be able to help me on this long journey.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

And selection only search after truth, that must have the first consideration, not any other thing, that I will get some name, fame, or money, or power. All these things must not come in consideration when we are searching a real companion, only the truth, not for anything outside, capital, temptation, or wealth. anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna.

[anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyaṁ, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-
śīlanam bhaktir uttamā]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.1.11] + [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19-167]

Neither power, nor rest, idleness, nor any fleeting desire, trifle things, neither trifle acquisition, nor an organised acquisition, or idleness or salvation that enters into zero. To be reduced to be zero.

Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Advaita. Śrīvāsa.

Devotee: When a devotee notices, how does a devotee rid himself of weeds that have crowded his creeper?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't follow.

Devotee: Once a devotee realises certain weeds that have surrounded his creeper of devotion, so how does he make progress and strength to overcome such weeds?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By self analysis, by self analysis from time to time he'll find out whether he's being misguided by any other ulterior motive, thing, self analysis, and what are they?

atyāhāraḥ prayāsaś ca, prajalpo niyamāgrahaḥ jana-saṅgaś ca laulyaṁ ca, ṣaḍbhir bhaktir vinaśyati ["One's devotional service is spoiled when he becomes too entangled in the following six activities: (1) atyāhāra - eating more than necessary or collecting more funds than required; (2) prayāsa - over-endeavouring for mundane things that are very difficult to obtain; (3) prajalpa - talking unnecessarily about mundane subject matters; (4) niyamāgraha - practising the scriptural rules and regulations only for the sake of following them and not for the sake of spiritual advancement, or rejecting the rules and regulations of the scripture and working independently or whimsically; (5) jana-saṅga - associating with worldly-minded persons who are not interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness; and (6) laulyaṁ - being greedy for mundane achievements."] [Upadeśāmṛta, 2]

These six are detrimental to devotion proper. In Upadeśāmṛta, just as before I told that this is contributing to devotion, and this will diminish the devotion.

Atyāhāraḥ means whatever we get to collect that, and to also feed one's own self for feed, fat. Not only by this food, but whatever I get I want something, I want a portion of that thing, not that temperament.

Prayāsaś ca, in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Bengali translation of this there is visaya prayāsa, for some false errand, enthusiastic attempt for some undesirable, false scent, prayāsaś ca.

Prajalpa, and the slackness in the mind and to discuss anything and to enter into the discussion of anything and everything. One may read the newspaper, the present topics, the war topics, and some other unnecessary things which happen around. To abuse the rein of our self-control and to allow to enter into the discussion of anything and everything outside what we get, prajalpa.

Niyamāgrahaḥ, and to give extra attention, abnormal attention to any particular rulings. Rulings are always meant for some stage, and after passing that stage that ruling is no longer applicable to me, another ruling I shall have to mark. So in particular, just as suppose in the Ekādaśī day we must fast, wholesale, without taking any drop of water, to be very much firm to such ruling. The general rule is I must keep my body fit for the service of the Lord, so to take something, some water, at least some sankalpa, I must not be very strict, over strict to a particular rule, ruling, so that the general law will be hampered, niyamāgrahaḥ.

Jana-saṅgaś ca, and to be very approachable to the public persons, for politics, sociality, this and that, the poor feeding, all these, so many conceptions of ideal are there all around, and to allow to be chased, or to be captivated, captured by them, jana-saṅgaś ca.

Laulyaṁ ca, and laulya means the very softness of the nature. Whatever I get I want to note that. I am going to the market and something is, 'Oh, everything is trying to capture my attention.' So many things, hundreds of things we find and if anything and everything comes to capture my attention, that is laulya, weakness of the heart, or weakness of our promise, or our object of life. Whatever I find I engage myself in that. In the market, or anywhere and everywhere, everything is attracting my attention. We must save ourselves from these natures.

By following the practices prescribed by the saints, to give up the company of those who are averse to devotion, and to tread the path which has been chalked out by the true Vaiṣṇavas; these six practices will go a long way to help us be successful in our spiritual life."] [Upadeśāmṛta, 3]

...increases, and here it decreases, decrease and increase by these practices. And also there are some others.

vāco vegam manasaḥ krodha-vegam, jihvā-vegam udaroprastha-vegam etān vegān yo viśaheta dhīraḥ, sarvām apīmāṁ pṛthivīm sa śiṣyāt

Vāco vegam, that some, not to get control over our speech, our speaking, speaking nature. Anything and everything I speak and then I repent, 'Why did I say so? I should not have told that thing, only to pain the heart of that gentleman.' Vāco vegam. When the force comes from within to say something I can't control. I may abuse a sādhu, also sometimes straight forward. 'I'm straight forward, I can say anything and everything to anyone and everyone.' And that should not be, we must try to control our, the force coming out in the form of speech, talk. We must have some control, balance. We shall try to keep up the balance of our mind. Manasaḥ, mental waves, sometimes some idea, the rush of some idea overtakes me and manipulates me to anything and everything.

Then, manasaḥ krodha-vegām, I abused someone, or by pressure I used to take something which may not be proper diet to me, out of greed I took something, or I took something more, what was not necessary for my health, so krodha-vega, these rough speeches.

Jihvā-vegām, what is very tasteful, I am a servant to that, slave to the tastefulness. Whatever is tasteful, it may be detrimental to my health, but I cannot control my tongue. I shall try not to be a prey to my tongue, the slave of my tongue, jihvā-vega.

Udara-vega, to feed more. Jihvā-vega means what is palatable to the tongue, and udara means to feed ones own full belly. Otherwise we think, 'No, I have not eaten.' What is necessary that sort of food we should take, and that amount of food we should take, what is necessary to keep up the health, udaroprasāda-vegām. Then ones earnest desire to be united with the, for the men the women, for the women the men, that is also a great tendency within us. We should try to check that sort of tendency. That is mental, that is not even in the soul, that is only in the mind, and that is the worst cause of our wandering in this world. Even from the tree to the demigods this sort of tendency is flowing, and we must be very cautious not to be prey of such flow, such flow. It is a universal and very powerful flow, and we shall try our best to keep aloof from the flow of that plane as much as possible.

Etān vegān yo viśaheta dhīraḥ, one who can control all these animal tendencies, sarvām apīmāṁ pṛthivīm sa, he can control the whole world. Pṛthivīm sa śiṣyāt, one who is master of his own self, his own mind, he can be master of the world. Otherwise, in other words, whatever he likes he can do. He can make fair progress towards his ideal. All these things are recorded for our benefit and caution, in Upadeśāmṛta, that was given by Mahāprabhu through Rūpa Goswāmī to us in details. We shall be very much cautious about all these animal tendencies within us. We are rather slave to them. These different types of mentalities, they're masters, and I am their slave. And we must be independent of all these masters.

[teṣām jātā mayi na karuṇā na trapā nopaśāntiḥ utsrjyātān atha yadupate sāmpratam labdha-buddhis tvām āyātaḥ śaraṇam abhayaṁ mām niyukṣv ātma-dāsyē]

["O Lord, for so long I have obeyed the unending, wicked dictates of lust, anger, greed, madness, delusion, and hatred, but they never took pity on me, and I have felt neither shame nor the desire to abandon them. O Lord of the Yadus, after all this, I am leaving them behind. At last I have found my genuine sanity: I am surrendered wholly unto Your lotus feet, which are the abode of fearlessness. Please now engage me as Your personal servitor."][Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.16]

These are my lords and they're using me as their slave, and such a helpless life I am leading here. In the name of a human being I have got so many shameful tendencies within me that an animal also may not come to that lower standard. So this is our, if with self-analysis, our real nature will be like this, shameful nature within. The enemies are within, not outside. And again within that the Lord is there in the heart, the conception, the rein, the kingdom of Lord again more deeper. So we have got that consolation and hope and prospect. More powerful, the agents of the Lord.

Only we must give a bond and try to keep up our promise, then the help will come from that deeper plane and will drive away all these superficial enemies that are dancing like demons on the surface of our mind. They must be driven away. And help will come from within if we seek, if we cooperate, if we invite them really, then those sādhus, the agents of the Supreme Lord will come and drive away all these things. These demonic demonstrations on the surface of the mind will be driven forever. And we'll have happy engagement in the service of the Lord. We'll be free from all these demonic masters. That is not a cheap gain, achievement.

Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: The process is to recognise the defect and then to pray to Paramātmā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, Paramātmā, to Guru, that is more, to Guru and devotees, to Mahāprabhu, Nityānanda Prabhu, Kṛṣṇa. To pray to Nityānanda Prabhu, that should be most fruitful. His incarnation is meant only for the fallen. Easily we can get His help, Nityānanda Prabhu, the Lord of the fallen, the chosen Lord of the fallen, Prabhu Nityānanda. Guru Nityānanda.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāj, there is one story in the Bible where Christ is hearing complaints from the Pharisees, from the priests. They're complaining His disciples are not following certain regulations, certain observances, some austerities. So Christ told them, "When the bridegroom is present the wife is not required to fast."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not required to?

Devotee: Fast.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That means that is for service. We must take the service is all important, and fasting is not the end of life, service is the end of life, and when service is there and we shall take food properly, anything and everything, to keep me fit for the service. So this analogy means that. That mere austerity has no value. Austerity which is necessary for the service, for the positive engagement, that sort of austerity withdrawn from the evil to make fit for our attempt towards positive. So austerity is not its own object. So austerity is withdrawal from the negative side.

Service is all important, so yukta-vairāgya, for the proper service, whatever will be necessary we should take that much from the fund of Kṛṣṇa. Everything belongs to Kṛṣṇa and we must take food, clothing, whatever is necessary as much as to satisfy Him.

The gopīs, not only in the case of food, but in the dress also. What Kṛṣṇa likes, they will dress in that way. That is not luxury. Otherwise it will be luxury to satisfy our own self or other persons. But it must be regulated to one aim, what Kṛṣṇa likes. Their dressing means according the criterion, the liking of Kṛṣṇa, they will dress and not rich and not poor. They're not servants of poverty or wealth, well to do, but servants of Kṛṣṇa's sweet will.

So here also, the meaning goes to that side. The bridegroom is there, to serve, to satisfy him, that is the general duty of the wife. So wife must not go to practice austerity. She will take sufficient food so that she may be well fit for rendering the greatest service to her lord, analogy, the value of analogy.

Devotee: But after the bridegroom has gone...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bridegroom, naturally in viraha, vipralambha, when they're in viraha, vipralambha, they won't like to feed then, not to dress then, it is natural. Always feeling the pain of separation. So not well feeding and well dressing and any other things are palatable to them, to a chaste lady, labour.

The Lord is Kṛṣṇa, engaged persons to satisfy Him we shall do anything and everything. Whatever we feel as necessity, freely we shall tackle that. But when He's absent then we cannot but be in a repenting mood. In a repenting mood nothing will be tasteful to us, all these things, a natural thing. Viraha, viraha and miran, the miran, the union is joyous and the separation is sorrowful, painful. But it is applied in the ordinary case and we apply in the case of Kṛṣṇa, the only Lord of the soul. The Lordship is not to be located anywhere and everywhere. But He's the only Lord of our heart. And for His satisfaction we shall do anything and everything, for His satisfaction. For the least satisfaction of Him I shall do anything and everything freely. But when He's not here then everything is dark to me, I can't see even, I can't hear even, I can't go, everything, the movement also being stopped, it may be according to the position.

He will be engaged deeply in abusing his own fate. "I am such a distressed, ill- fated person. Kṛṣṇa has deserted me." In this way he'll enter into abusing his own self, his own fate. What to speak of taking food, and the dressing, and going on a pleasure trip, all these nonsense in heart. It is like that.

Here also the practice in varṇāśrama. When the woman has got her husband she's allowed to take food and dress in any way she likes, but when the husband dies they generally practice austerities. Because that serving connection.

When you are supplying service to Kṛṣṇa you are thriving in your trade. You can spend money amply. But when no demand of that side the markets stand still, market not current, so you cannot spend your money like anything, you must be miser because the market's closed, no transaction. The consumer is there and you are to supply for His consumption. So you can handle anything and everything profusely, and at the same time in the intermediate position you are also, can enjoying all these things indirectly.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

At the cost of Kṛṣṇa, His servant, He's not bankrupt, but His connection, that is all in all, everything. So austerity is not a thing which is much recommended, much valued, in the sampradāya really, in the ideal. But as long as we are not in the Kṛṣṇa conception that He's the only enjoyer, as long as we are enjoyers, so we are to control. And not control from the negative sense by fasting and penances, but by Kṛṣṇa prasāda.

taro bhukta sagranda vasu lankarja [?]

By the positive engagement, by taking prasādam, in both food, clothing, everything. Everything we must try as remains of Kṛṣṇa. Anyhow to intense our connection with Kṛṣṇa, that is what is necessary, that is positive. And by negative, if we try by negative means then again with greater interest we will be prey to the reaction.

By controlling other senses we cannot really control them all, until and unless we control our tongue. The tongue is the key point and if we can control the tongue then all other senses are automatically controlled. And how to control the tongue? If we abstain from food, the tongue, that will increase, the tongue's capacity, tendency, will increase to taste more. Then how to control? You can control all your senses by abnegation, negative side, but with the exception of your tongue. If you go to control the tongue from the indirect direction, the appetite of the tongue will more and more increase. And until and unless you can control the tongue, whenever tongue will begin taking food, all other senses will be ruined. Then what is the solution? Only to take prasādam of Kṛṣṇa and thereby to control the tongue.

[O brothers! This material body is a network of ignorance, and the senses are one's deadly enemies, for they throw the soul into this ocean of material sense enjoyment. Among the senses the tongue is the most voracious and uncontrollable; it is very difficult to control the tongue in this world.

O brothers! Lord Kṛṣṇa is very merciful and has given us the remnants of His own food just to control the tongue. Now please accept that nectarean kṛṣṇa- prasāda and sing the glories of Their Lordships Śrī Śrī Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa, and in love call out, "Caitanya! Nitāi!"

Very hard to control the tongue, and that is the key point. Kṛṣṇa baṛo doyāmoy, koribāre jihvā jay, sva-prasād-anna dilo bhāi, so Kṛṣṇa has graciously sent His remnants, and you take, 'Oh, this is the remains of Kṛṣṇa.' And that will control the tongue, take towards Kṛṣṇa prasāda, and all other senses will be automatically controlled, the Bhāgavatam says.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Problem not yet solved, fully, is it not? Some talk with you. Make some engagement and some free talk, and then definite, accordingly, considering the circumstances and with some restrictions it may be applied. Then I shall have to ask some questions and then I can give my final verdict. In which way and how restricted way we can utilise our capacity for the service of the Lord.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...everything for His service, that is very laudable. But some restriction for some particular case and that may be considered and fixed, what sort of restriction and how much. That may make my position safe and not risky.

Question?

Devotee: Yes Guru Mahārāj. I have heard in my readings that Kṛṣṇa's will, the will of Kṛṣṇa, consorted with speech, or śabda-brahman, which formed the seed which became Brahmā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What do you say? Will of Kṛṣṇa combined with...

Devotee: Consorted with the śabda-brahman and then became the seed which later became Lord Brahmā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa's will, will generally represented by Baladeva, energy, will, at the back of every existence. Will, thinking, feeling, willing. Willing is a fine energy which supplies for the existence of everything. So Kṛṣṇa's will, that is the root of everything, but that will is not temporary but it is eternal. So the appearance of everything is also eternal, eternal, coexistent with Kṛṣṇa, coexistent with Kṛṣṇa. That is, at the back the existence of everything there is the will of Kṛṣṇa. And more explicitly known as Baladeva, willing, thinking mainly representing Kṛṣṇa, and feeling representing mainly Rādhikā, hlādinī, sentiment, emotion. And thinking mainly representing Kṛṣṇa. All inter-mixed, but the principal nature is like that. So the will of Kṛṣṇa, that is Baladeva's sandhīnī-śaktī, that is at the back of everything to support, maintain its existence. So not only Brahmā but everything, everything. Will, thinking, feeling, willing, sat, cit, ānanda, satyam, śivam, sundaram. Jñāna, bala, krīyācara, in Upaniṣad. Jñāna, bala, krīyācara, jñāna - Kṛṣṇa, bala - Baladeva, and krīya means vilāsa - Rādhārāṇī, these three aspects of the one advaya-jñāna, Absolute. In this way we are to understand.

Not only Brahma, Vaikuṇṭha, etc, Vṛndāvana, Goloka, everywhere, the energy, the highest principle from which energy is coming, that has generally got recognition as Baladeva, and here, Nityānanda, in Navadvīpa. And Navadvīpa has also got representation eternally in Goloka, in one part. Vṛndāvana and Navadvīpa of same value, one is pastimes within a group, and another place, in Navadvīpa, it is being distributed to the fallen. That is the difference. Rasa, the ecstasy, is of the same value, same value. One is distributing, offering to others, another which is enjoyed among a particular group, selected, that is in Vṛndāvana, mādhyama-rasa and audarya. And the gist is the same in both the places. The quality of the ecstasy, that is equal, equal rank, equal value, generally, but here with a tinge of magnanimity. Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: In Ayodhyā Dhāma...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And in māyā, this area of māyā, misconception, the Baladeva's perverted reflection is Mahādeva, Śiva, the master of māyā. What do you say?

Devotee: That you explained that Vṛndāvana Dhāma and Navadvīpa Dhāma, they're in Goloka. So I'm wondering, where is Ayodhyā Dhāma?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Goloka means full-fledged solid circle, Goloka, like a football, Goloka, solid circle, full-fledged representation of the whole. That means Goloka. And Vaikuṇṭha hemisphere is representing half of the Goloka, because the measurement by the rasa, two and a half we find in Vaikuṇṭha. A straight angle...

End of side A, start of side B, 26/27.12.82

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and the centre, all sides going to the circumstance, as in if we like to see, that is, it is infinite in character.

Devotee: Where is Ayodhyā Dhāma?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ayodhyā Dhāma, between Vaikuṇṭha and Dvārakā. The vātsalya-rasa we find there, more than Vaikuṇṭha. Then again we are to go to Dvārakā where more developed form is this, bahu-valabha. Here Rāmacandra is approachable in mādhyura-rasa only by Sītā Devī, none else. But in Dvārakā, bahu-valabha, it is distributed to many, that opportunity is given to many, that opportunity of service of that particular type, bahu-valabha. Then from there to mādhyura, then from mādhyura to Vṛndāvana, Gokula, Nandagrama, Vṛndāvana.

Devotee: Is there an eternal planet called Ayodhyā? Where is it situated?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vaikuṇṭha is situated where?

Devotee: Beyond the Virajā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a part of infinite conception. Ayodhyā is also like that. Dvārakā, in the midway from Vaikuṇṭha to Goloka, vātsalya-rasa, the janma-līlā of the Lord is there. The service in vātsalya-rasa is found there in Ayodhyā first, but not in Vaikuṇṭha. In Vaikuṇṭha, no parents of Lakṣmī, neither of Nārāyaṇa, so no possibility of service in vātsalya-rasa, filial affection. That is to be found if we go more deeper, we shall find Ayodhyā. The vātsalya-rasa, the service as a son, the sonhood is found there in Ayodhyā first. And the consortherhood is found, husbandhood is found in Dvārakā.

According to the measurement of the rasa we are to measure the ecstatic supremacy. That is the criterion to measure the development of the theistic substance. More gracious to extend us service of new characteristic. Service, that vātsalya-rasa service, that opportunity not found in Vaikuṇṭha. But if we can go deeper, then we shall find the opportunity of serving the Lord in vātsalya, or filial affection, is found, it is something more. Here, the land of enjoyment, the land of exploitation, and there, rendering service, dedication. So the scope of greater dedication of the devotee is found deeper of Vaikuṇṭha, or higher, as you like to say, and there we find Ayodhyā. The Lord is more gracious there, more kind, benevolent, to accept His filial affectionate service from us. Greater chance has been granted there in Ayodhyā. Then again if we can go further we shall find that in Ayodhyā, only wife's service is limited to Sītā Devī only. But in Dvārakā, thousands of queens, they can render service to the Lord in a more sweeter way, in Dvārakā, bahu-valabha. Here, eko patni badra ramacandra [?]

...and there, bahu-valabha, opportunity has been allowed to numerous in the service of mādhyura-rasa there, in Dvārakā, bahu-valabha, more gracious, more liberal, more generous, to allow service of Him in a different, sweeter form. In this way we are to understand the greater nature of the Absolute, greater aspect of the Absolute, more generous and higher to us. And that is enhanced in Vṛndāvana to the gopīs in the form of parakīya, crossing all the existing laws. Relationship with every atom is with the centre. He gets the supremacy over everything, society, scripture, and any other formality. It is Absolute, the connection, the connection with Him is Absolute, not depending on anything else. It is to be found there. But everything must be in a form of service, not of enjoyment here, then they will be sahaṁjyā. That is a reactionary of the worst type. South pole, north pole and south pole, such difference. One absorbed with vision in the centre and another in the last extremity of the extended position. Atom centred, atomic, and Absolute, atom centred and Absolute centred, opposite. Extreme localism and there the highest universalism. The difference is of the greatest difference.

Devotee: So Guru Mahārāj, understanding that there is a River Virajā, that there is a material world and beyond that the River Virajā, the river that separates the material world and spiritual world, Virajā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Virajā, yes, Virajā. Material world means world of exploitation, and it ends in Virajā. Exploitation vanishes there in Virajā. And the, Brahmaloḥa, the soul proper, soul proper without its innate nature, only cover of the soul. Something like that, Brahmaloḥa. And then, Śivaloḥa, there the peeping of the service, very slight beginning of serving temperament in Śivaloḥa. Then, Vaiḥuṇṭhaloḥa, there is some sort of serving, restrained, as well as half, not full, in Vaiḥuṇṭha. And then, a little more in Ayodhya, and then, from there, in Dvārakā, then in Vṛndāvana.

Devotee: So, we hear that in...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We find the highest position in Rādhā-kuṇḍa, very fine development there, gradual in Vṛndāvana also degree of development. And we are told that Kṛṣṇa is wholesale open to prey, to finish, in Rādhā-kuṇḍa. Sankucita prasāda, the fullest extension, fullest expansion, fullest expansion is found in Rādhā-kuṇḍa. The highest generosity of giving Himself to the servitor. The servitors get in Rādhā-kuṇḍa the opportunity of service to the fullest extension, highest degree.

vaikuṇṭhāj janito varā madhu-purī tatrāpi rāsotsavād vṛndāraṇyam udāra-

["The holy place known as Mathurā is spiritually superior to Vaikuṇṭha, the transcendental world, because the Lord appeared there. Superior to Mathurā- purī is the transcendental forest of Vṛndāvana because of Kṛṣṇa's rāsa-līlā pastimes. And superior to the forest of Vṛndāvana is Govardhana Hill, for it was raised by the divine hand of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and was the site of His various loving pastimes. And, above all, the super-excellent Śrī Rādhā-kuṇḍa stands supreme, for it is over-flooded with the ambrosial nectarean prema of the Lord of Gokula, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Where, then, is that intelligent person who is unwilling to serve this divine Rādhā-kuṇḍa, which is situated at the foot of Govardhana Hill?"] [Upadeśāmṛta, 8]

According to Mahāprabhu, Rūpa Goswāmī is writing this śloka. The gradation, how it develops, the opportunity of service in quality, how developing in Vṛndāvana area. Unreserved, His fullness is found in Rādhā-kuṇḍa to accept service, Kṛṣṇa. In other places also but a little narrowed. But wholesale open, He is found there only amongst the most confidential class, section, the most confidential section only found in Rādhā-kuṇḍa, Rādhārāṇī's own special group, confidential group. There, Kṛṣṇa is open wholesale. In other places more or less reserved, reserved, reserved. Service begins from Vaikuṇṭha, from Śivaloka Vaikuṇṭha, and it reaches its zenith in Rādhā-kuṇḍa. Very subtle thing, we are to attain:

mālī hañā kare sei bīja āropaṇa śravaṇa-kīrttana-jale karaye secana

["When a person receives the seed of devotional service, he should take care of it by becoming a gardener and sowing the seed in his heart. If he waters the seed gradually by the process of śravaṇa and kīrtana, the seed will begin to sprout."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.152]

The devotional creeper will reach to that stage, but here, the owner of that creeper in his heart he will pour water into the root of the creeper. What is that? Śravaṇa kīrtana.

['prema-phala' pāki' paḍe, mālī āsvādaya latā avalambī' mālī 'kalpa-vṛkṣa' pāya]

["When the fruit of devotional service becomes ripe and falls down, the gardener tastes the fruit and thus takes advantage of the creeper and reaches the desire tree of the Lotus Feet of Kṛṣṇa in Goloka Vṛndāvana."][Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.162]

These practices are in the background and overhead, and we must try to nurture the creeper from our level, by watering, by watering, etc. That is sādhana, śravaṇa, kīrtana. Culturing about Kṛṣṇa, cultivating with sādhu-saṅga, sat-saṅga, saṅkīrtana, nāma-saṅkīrtana, then the Śrī Murti, ārcana, then Vaiṣṇava sevā, Guru sevā, service of Gurudeva and Vaiṣṇava. These duties we shall try to perform, and internally our aspiration will rise up and up and up. And one day will come when by the association of that creeper we shall be taken over, taken up to that stage, but not hurriedly. Automatically, naturally, we should be taken there.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: How is it that just by bathing in Rādhā-kuṇḍa, just by taking the water of Rādhā-kuṇḍa, that we can get the benefit of developing one day that love for Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rādhā-kuṇḍa, Rādhārāṇī represented as liquid. So to bathe in that is to transform one's self wholesale and identify with the interest of Rādhārāṇī and nothing beyond. To take bath in the solution representation of Rādhārāṇī, that means to be converted wholesale Rādhā interest, not beyond that. No trace of existence beyond the interest of Rādhārāṇī, is what it means to take bath in Rādhā-kuṇḍa, the interest of Rādhārāṇī wholesale transformed.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

The highest fortune is there. No tinge of selfish interest but wholly identified with Her interest. That category, or that cata [?] of loving service, wholesale transformation is Her interest and not a tinge outside.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmā, you are talking of him?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmā, he's represented as karma-miśra-bhakti, representation of karma-miśra-bhakti, the creator and master of this world of exploitation. Through him this brahmānda, this material world is created through him and he is in charge of the whole interest of this created world, material world. That is Brahmā. And he is a mortal being, Brahmā, he is a jīva soul. The first Brahmā, first creator was represented by Nārāyaṇa Himself, Purusāvatara Himself, but other Brahmās are generally recruited from jīvas according to qualification. If one jīva can perform this varṇāśrama-dharma purely for a hundred births then he can become a candidate for Brahmā's position, svadharmma-niṣṭhaḥ śata- janmabhiḥ pumān viriñcatām eti:

[svadharmma-niṣṭhaḥ śata-janmabhiḥ pumān viriñcatām eti tataḥ param hi mām avyākṛtaṁ bhāgavato 'tha vaiṣṇavaṁ padaṁ yathāhaṁ vibudhāḥ kalātyaye]

["A person who executes his occupational duty properly for one hundred births becomes qualified to occupy the post of Brahmā, and if he becomes more qualified, he can approach Lord Śiva. A person who is directly surrendered to Lord Kṛṣṇa or Viṣṇu in unalloyed devotional service is immediately promoted to the spiritual planets. Lord Śiva and other demigods attain these planets after the destruction of this material world."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.24.29]

Hundreds of births if one jīva can perform this varṇāśrama-dharma satisfactorily, then he becomes fit for the position of a Brahmā, he's jīva.

And Brahman is another thing, Brahman, Virajā, Brahman, that is another thing. The most subtle conception of matter or material existence is Virajā, and the most distant conception of the spiritual existence is Brahman, meeting together, both marginal.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: After Brahmā performs austerities, I have heard that the jīvas enter a vasana maya deha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Devotee: The jīvas, they enter into a vasana maya deha stage.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jīvas, there are so many jīvas, so many jīvas there is Brahmāloka. Brahmā is qualifying himself to take the charge of looking after this development in the negative side with the jīva and their administration. But Brahmā is not the cause of the jīvas coming to this material world, he is not party, he is not responsible for the connection of the jīva soul with the matter. He's only an administrator with some charge.

Devotee: Does he give the jīvas [breath?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: System, to look after how from Brahma jīva is coming to this world, what gradation, mainly the administration he's looking after. But the cause of coming to this world is jīva himself. Brahmā is not the cause. Creator means he watches and helps the development in the material world, creation, raja-guṇa means creation. The civil department has attached that this culprit must get this sort of punishment and the man is brought into the jail, in the prison house. And the jailer's duty is to take the charge of the man from the outside department and to put in his function, 'go there, and this is your punishment, carry out this.' All this within the prison house. The jail superintendent, his creation means the development, to obey the order according to the civil department to engage them in this, gave them engagement, engage them in the practical activity of the punishment. Something like that. He's sent into brahmānda and he's connecting them with the particular cell, 'you remain here, get these blankets, take here food, and go and do your duty there. And if you can't do you will be punished in this way.' All these practical transactions are in his hand.

Devotee: When the jīva are born into the material world, does Brahmā give them [breath?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmā is not the cause.

Devotee: He's not the cause.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He can give the necessary shape of development, making arrangements, 'do this, do this, do this, as you deserve.' He's not master. Responsibility is with the jīva, the jīva is the culprit, and he's found by the judicious department and then he's sent to the, to Brahmā. "Give some engagement in your brahmānda. Begin with this and gradually developed in different departments. If you don't work carefully, if you do anything wrong, you'll be punished in a more severe way." All these things may come under the consideration of Brahmā, the creator of this world.

Actually, none is creator but the Lord, Nārāyaṇa. The creator of this world, that means according to the quality to give some engagement actual form in the material way, according to his deserve. As he deserves, so to give something according to his necessity, that is Brahmā. Brahmā is an ordinary jīva, in an officer class, and not responsible for the connection of the jīva with this material world. He's to carry out the order how to connect a culprit jīva in this world and to give engagement in this way, the outer show. But it is earned by jīva himself by his own intrinsic free will. Even the Lord is not interfering with the free choice of jīva. Jīva, for the suffering in this material world, jīva is responsible himself.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāj, what is meant by the unmukhini vṛti of prakṛti, our relationship with prakṛti? For the bhakta, prakṛti is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prakṛti means nature.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What do you want to say?

Devotee: So I have read in the Upaniṣads that for a devotee, who are the helping hands of unmukhini vṛti of prakṛti, I don't know what that means.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Unmukhini vṛti of prakṛti.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, unmukh towards what? Unmukhini vṛti towards?

Devotee: Towards Kṛṣṇa, that this helps one reach perfection of life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prakṛti means here nature, the internal nature of jīva souls towards Kṛṣṇa. That may come from sukṛti by the association of the kṛṣṇa-bhakta it may develop. First by ajñāta-sukṛti then by jñāta-sukṛti, and then it becomes śraddhā. Unmukhīni vṛti, vṛti means nature of the patient, tendency towards Kṛṣṇa. And that may come, that is the contribution of the svarūpa-śakti. The most internal nature of the most original plane is such, to draw everything towards Kṛṣṇa. That is the most fundamental plane, most subtle plane everywhere. Just as ether is all pervading in every atom of matter the ether is present. In this way the most fundamental and most fine element is kṛṣṇa unmukhīni prakṛti, kṛṣṇa-śakti, that everything is drawn towards Kṛṣṇa. That sort of fine flow in the deepest plane everywhere, and that is the most spacious, powerful, the innermost force, or tendency, in the whole world, the deepest plane is like that. Fundamentally it is drawing towards Kṛṣṇa, attracting, attraction of Kṛṣṇa, everything is attracted towards Kṛṣṇa. That is the deepest and finest and irresistible nature everywhere, kṛṣṇa unmukhīni prakṛti, the flow is towards Kṛṣṇa, suppressed, kṛṣṇa unmukhīni vṛti.

Centre, there to tendency to go towards the centre, to catch the centre carrying current, and that is the deepest flow everywhere. And all others are gradually external, external, external, in this way. In and out, everywhere, that is the highest substance of highest utility and value, everywhere, piercing through everything. The most powerful like x-ray, the ray can pierce through everything. So Kṛṣṇa consciousness everywhere, pervading everything. The most graphic, widest, and most efficient, most tasteful, in all respects it is of the highest type. But we are floating above with the gross estimation of the world.

sarvataḥ kṛṣṇe murti kari janmaḥ se dekati pai jaḥ arkaṇi armarḥ [?]

Everywhere this Kṛṣṇa consciousness is pervading but one can trace only if his eye is purified, can see everywhere, the dancing of Kṛṣṇa. "Oh, it is coming, the origin from Kṛṣṇa." Crossing all these covers, layers, through gross layers. His life, his very heart is connected, piercing through so many layers, carrying so many types of tidings, news. His ear is after that flute of Kṛṣṇa. Eye searching deep for Kṛṣṇa, Mahāprabhu. The heart is tuned there. As you have connected this to the machine, so the connected heart, the soul is connected there. So surpassing the circumstance, only he is seeing that, and hearing that, crossing all these covers, he has no meaning. What we see that has got no meaning to him, neglected, inattentive, attention towards that thing. Sarvatra, he will find everywhere:

yo mām paśyati sarvatra, sarvaṁ ca mayi paśyati tasyāhaṁ na
praṇaśyāmi, sa ca me na praṇaśyati

["For one who sees Me in everything and everything in Me, I do not remain unseen and he also is not unnoticed by Me: he never sways in his thought of Me."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.30]

"He's never lost in Me, and I am also never lost in him, who can learn to see Me everywhere." Whose mind does not relish anything else in the cover but connection given like this thread to Kṛṣṇa consciousness. It is possible.

andhibata yat kuyar visaya dulyi te kamana sei bara tattva vaiba deki te

Whose attention is always attracted by so many dusts of the material world, how can he feel that universal song, or that universal representation, the play. Prejudices, dust of prejudices are playing with us. We are not master of our own, but so many prejudices they are manipulating our senses and we are not connected with reality but attracted by the apparent charm of this cover. This eye is not connected with soul proper, but will come with so many prejudices. And so our attention is diverted towards various things, missing the centre.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

sarvataḥ kṛṣṇe murti kari janmaḥ se dekhetī paī jā arkiṇi armaṇi andhibata yat kuyar viśaya dūyī te kamaṇa [?]

Viśaya dūyī te, eyes, if we throw some dust into the eye, so the prejudices are like dust. They're thrown to the vision senses and they feel those dusts. So depth of our sight should be improved not to see anything and everything. The general of one party he should look to the general of the other party, in fight, not a particular soldier, or particular tank, or anything else. But the general must look to the general, his brain, his brain. Then he can continue the fight. He won't see, offer the outer, the tank, the plane, the soldier, all these things, no. The general, the brain, how he's conducting. So the vision must pierce through all these grandeur to the brain, how he wants to design to move his soldiers. That is proper vision. As it is possible and useful so also our vision should not be led astray by the apparent side, we must go to read deeper, who is conducting all this show. That is proper vision.

Nitāi. Nitāi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who are you, Bhargava?

Devotee: Parthamitra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Parthamitra. And?

Devotee: Bhargava.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhargava. Today Vidagdha is not here?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.
Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: The disappearance of Lord Kṛṣṇa, what happened to Rādhārāṇī and the gopīs?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. You want to know the history, ha, ha, historical aspect. Very puzzling, not one thing, Mahāprabhu disappeared, some say that He entered Gopīnātha in, where Gadādhāra Goswāmī he was worshipping the Deity Gopīnātha. He saw that Mahāprabhu came and entered there. We have found in some literature that some saw that Mahāprabhu walked over the ocean and disappeared. Some say He entered into Jagannātha Temple. Others say He used to have darśana of the Jagannātha from a little far away, from Garuda Stambha, but that day...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāj

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...go and see, and they came to the Yamunā and told: durvasa uvarsi [?]

Yamunā has come and they crossed that. Then, eating so much he says that, "I am fasting." And Kṛṣṇa also playing with the gopīs, they say, "I am brahmacārya." Then what is the thing underlying? How to read it? Hatvāpi sa imāḷ lokān na hanti na nibadhyate:

yasya nāhaṅkṛto bhāvo, buddhir yasya na lipyate hatvāpi sa imāḷ lokān na hanti na nibadhyate

["He who is free from egotism (arising from aversion to the Absolute), and whose intelligence is not implicated (in worldly activities) - even if he kills every living being in the whole world, he does not kill at all, and neither does he suffer a murderer's consequences."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.17]

The basis of thought is such principle. One who has got no selfish motive, he while destroying the whole universe does not do anything. Not responsible for their destruction, it is a plane, a position particular. That means that I am totally an instrument. No starting evasive action in me, I am wholesale an instrument. The central power is, the aim is coming from there, I am only instrument to that. That plane, that position is possible to be taken by any separate identity in that. One can be killed he may not live.

So Kṛṣṇa's līlā with the gopīs, it is not like the enjoyment reactionary, victim to reactionary enjoyment. It is divine, it is service, anything is service there, nothing is enjoyment in that locality, in that plane. Everything is approached in the spirit of service, dedication, both the parties. Both the parties, the men and women may mix but with the spirit of dedication. Not with the filthy spirit of exploitation, exploitation is a nasty thing. Otherwise it is as holy as anything. If anything is approached with that possibility, that divine state, it is as holy as anything. We are to understand, we are to feel, we are to follow, try to follow how it is possible. Dedication is such. It is pure and the [demarc?], the movement may be similar but not the same. Like this kāma but not this kāma, not lust. But it is love, because sacrifice, self sacrifice. Not a party to do anything wrong in the environment. That is the key to understand what is that pure land.

All play, the player's stage, venom-less, no venom, no venom, biting but no venom. Rather nectar, instead of venom there is nectar biting. It is possible. The land of that holy plane, everything is possible that only instead of venom there must be nectar. It is possible. To be and approach everything. The gradation of unity is going on in that way. Prostitution, marriage union, and that also under strict condition, the restriction to follow, in this way the spirit is going above. And sensualism, that is bad, as much as it is so much bad, as going purer in that way, and there wholesale pure and that is the plane of the highest type. We are to understand that.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Am I clear?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To certain extent, not wholesale possibly. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes Guru Mahārāj.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All holy things.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

When once from Delhi and Bengali higher officer abused Bhāgavatam with this remark that, "Bhāgavatam deals with this immoral, nasty things about the God and all these things." Then our Guru Mahārāj [Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura] was present at that time and three opposition articles are issued against that. One (Bharambart Sambhande?) he drew attention that in a particular paper that Bhāgavatam has been abused with this remark, "That God is connected with filthy things." Then three articles were issued in different papers from our point, from our Guru Mahārāj one in the name of [.....?] Dr (Sanvit?) he's barrister now, he was at that time a student in London, and another by the name of Bon Mahārāj, three articles.

There, Guru Mahārāj pointed out that these things, suppose a doctor when he's engaged to examine the private part of a lady and apply some medicine, is he lusty, so much? The method of approach makes it nasty or pure. If for treatment this approach is necessary, is it filthy, wrong, or anything? If it is not so then from this we can see that approach and handling may not always be nasty in particular cases. According to the mentality of the approach that may be laudable and useful to want to cure a disease in a particular part. We can suppose that with whole heart that approach may not be filthy.

So there is a more higher and higher approach to everything is possible. Only our enjoying spirit, aggressive spirit, is to be blamed and not the physical approach. So with this way we are to come, it is also material but still the comparative purity is to be found there and that is so high and that is the real fulfilment of everything, and here abuses of everything. So: kāmā-preme bahuta antara:

[ataeva kāmā-preme bahuta antara

kāmā - andhatamaḥ, prema - nirmmala bhāskara]

["There is a gulf of difference between lust and love; lust is dense darkness, love is the brightest sun."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 4.171]

A great distance between the two, one is dense darkness and the other is holy light.

Gaura Hari. I stop here today.

vikrīḍitaṁ vraja-vadhūbhir idaṁ ca viṣṇoḥ śraddhānvito 'nuśṛṇuyād atha varṇayed yaḥ bhaktiṁ parām bhagavati pratilabhya kāmaṁ hṛd-rogam āśv apahinoty acireṇa dhīraḥ

["One who hears with firm faith the supramundane amorous affairs of Lord Kṛṣṇa and the gopīs, as described by a pure devotee of the Lord, soon becomes freed from mundane lust and achieves divine love of Kṛṣṇa."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.39]

You can understand the approach of Kṛṣṇa to everything properly then you are cured of that disease, great disease, rather the greatest disease, like kāma, lust. It is the medicine in the beginning and in the highest form it is all blissful.

Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi.

Did you see the Tamarind tree...

Devotee: Yes Mahārāj.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...under which Mahāprabhu took rest? I don't know whether that Tamarind tree is still living there.

Devotee: Yes it is.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The first group of Śrī Mūrti, Gaura-Nityānanda there. When Mahāprabhu and Nityānanda Prabhu went to visit Gaurī dāsa Paṇḍit, Gaurī dāsa Paṇḍit is Subal Sakha in Vṛndāvana, considered. And there is a very beautiful and mysterious tale of the Śrī Mūrti there. When Gaurāṅga and Nityānanda went there, Gaurī dāsa Paṇḍit did not allow Them to come away. "I want to install You, You stay here."

"Yes, you install."

Two Śrī Mūrti's were prepared, and They're put, abhiśeka. Then Gaurī dāsa Paṇḍit again began to cry, "You are going away."

"No, no. Our Śrī Mūrti's, We are there."

"No, no. I don't believe that You are this. Then You keep up there."

So Gaura-Nityānanda was there in the room, installed, and the two Mūrti's were put outside, and They began to go away.

Then he again, "Oh, You have removed These in any way. I am a stupid man. You have managed to come out of the room and put the Murti's there."

Then again They asked, "Whatever you like you put into the room and put Others outside."

Again he [dressed Them?] and again when he had a mind, "You go." The outside Mūrti's leaving, began to walk. In this way this story has been described there.

What is what? What is what? Everything is hallucination in this world, ha, ha. Subjective control, the magician can show anything and everything, the master magician, His playing, playing with the eyeball, with the mind, with intelligence He's playing, not outside so much. "You see this." "Yes, I see." "No, no, it is not that it is a third thing." "Yes, it is a third thing." In this way, where here I am in the subjective conception.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Will power, ha, ha, ha. "Let there be water." There was water. "Let there be light." There was light. The creation in our so eye easy thing but to whom it is speaking, ha, ha. It is sweet will, to create anything, so easy thing to create. His will, simple sweet will can create, can make us see, control the seer, the onlooker, in the worldly sense. Not that the world has produced us but we are producing the objects of our world. The world is in the mind not that mind is in the world, [Bishop] Berkeley says. The world in subtle form in the mind, mental system, and then that is much developed comes on the senses, beyond the senses it comes.

When Dhruva after meditation he saw Nārāyaṇa in his mind. The Nārāyaṇa has appeared and captured his mind. Then it was so intense when he opened his eyes he saw Nārāyaṇa Mūrti on the outside, inside and outside. What is the difference? More intense it comes outside.

Sometimes in our dream we might have such experience someone that as if we hear something that someone is saying this in the ear I hear. When half awakened we sometimes hear from dream it is converted into real, we hear some sound. 'I heard some sound and woke up. Who called me?' None, only from the dream stage that subtle sound when it is very intense it comes in the outside. So vision also can be transformed in such a way. When the vision, when an idea I am seeing is very much intensified we can see as if in the eye, just in front of the eye. So everything is possible, when more intense, subtle things transformed into gross, what you say, gross. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

I am told that one French gentleman he's saying in the scientific world that the sight comes through the eye. There is something in the eye which helps us to see outside. The cause of what we see, that is in the eye, within the eye. The colour is in the eye.

In our Sankhya philosophy also, the essence of sound, ether, ear, and sound, then sun, eye, and the colour. In this way it is divided into three. One principle divided into three, sattvic, rajasic, tamasic, three branches. The tamasic-objective, rajasic- the instrumental, and sattvic-which helps to have the experience, that light. Sun is sattvic, eye is rajasic, and the colour is tamasic, the objective side. So also sound, just as the touch, everything is like three branches, one thing branched into three kinds. One showing, another seeing, another is sight, in this way all divided.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has given this idea in Śrī Kṛṣṇa Saṁhitā, if you go through Śrī Kṛṣṇa Saṁhitā Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has described all these things from the Upaniṣads and Sankhya philosophy. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That is a very scientific book. On the basis of science spiritual truth has been distributed.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Then from Kalna did you go to Śantipur?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāj, to the house of Śrī Advaita Prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Advaita Prabhu, and nearby that Kuliya, Haridās Prabhu's bhajan-kutir you didn't see?

Devotee: No Mahārāj.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A little far. Haridāsa Ṭhākura from the banks of the Ganges in a hut he used to take Hari-Nāma, and Māyā Devī went there to test him and afterwards Māyā Devī begged Hari-Nāma from Haridāsa Ṭhākura.

"I got Rāma-Nāma from Mahādeva, Śiva, my husband. Now, hearing you to chant Kṛṣṇa-Nāma so sweet, my heart aspires after getting Kṛṣṇa-Nāma from you Haridāsa."

That kuñja nearby, one or two miles off on the southern side of Śantipur town, something like that, the whole bed of Ganges.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: Mahārāj, at the temple of Gaurī dāsa Paṇḍit we were shown a piece of a Bhagavad-gītā that is said to have belonged or was hand written by Mahāprabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Handwriting of Mahāprabhu?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We did not know. Mahāprabhu's handwriting of Bhagavad-gītā, we did not hear of it. It is not mentioned anywhere in the authentic scriptures. But the paduka [shoes] of Mahāprabhu is shown in the Mahāprabhu temple here in Navadvīpa, the wooden sandals.

Devotee: That is in Janmasthan Yoga Pith?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. It is here in Mahāprabhu's temple. Viṣṇuprīya, she installed Mahāprabhu's Śrī Mūrti. And that was removed when by the flow of the Ganges that side was being broken, They came this side with the Śrī Mūrti. And there that wooden sandal what was given by Mahāprabhu to Viṣṇuprīya, that is shown here.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāj, were those shoes given before Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa or after?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After sannyāsa. After sannyāsa Mahāprabhu came here and went to see His own wife on the other side and then left in the front of His house He stood and Viṣṇuprīya covering her body wholesale she fell straight in front of Mahāprabhu's Śrī Mūrti. She came out of the house and fell straight there. And Mahāprabhu took those two wooden sandals there and asked, "Control yourself with this." And He went away. He told, "Have consolation with these two sandals." So He left those two sandals there and He went away.

Then Viṣṇuprīya arose, got up, and took those sandals and she used to worship them as long as she lived. Then she lived with her brother, Śacī Devī disappeared, and her brother was her guardian and they gradually moved this side, Mahāprabhu. Viṣṇuprīya wanted to have Mahāprabhu's Śrī Mūrti but the carpenter he prepared it and he's to show but she was not satisfied fully. Then third time we are told when she took the Mūrti Viṣṇuprīya suddenly took her head cloth withdrawing as if living Mahāprabhu is at her front. And that Mahāprabhu is, was here.

Devotee: At the same temple?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One must have been present but still that continuation is there. Just as Jagannātha Purī, every twelve years Śrī Mūrti's are changed, but it is accordance with that same, we are to take it, representation. His will, His word is law, wish is law, reality, His wish is reality. Paper is, and that may become document, how? Closer it is document, only cheap paper outside, what more, a stamp? But closer it is, crores of dollars may be present, one sheet of paper. Why, how? The will is behind.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: Also, some pastimes are spoken in Gaurī dāsa Paṇḍit's temple about the Mūrti's, about Śrī Śrī Gaura-Nitāi, these are authentic stories?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, authentic stories, and that was the first Śrī Mūrti.

Devotee: (This is not seeing?)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [There it not takes place?] does not matter, but still continued I told here. Jagannātha Purī, every twelve years Mūrti changed, but that does not matter. We are to understand how. And I gave the example behind. The will is there. "I am there. I represent that will, document guaranteed," it is going on, a treatise is signed by both the parties, the will behind. So everywhere the guarantee is with the party, with the person, with the spirit, not in the matter. Everything is such. The gold is gold because we have got recognition for that, but gold has no value amongst the jackals and tigers. The human society gives some importance to gold, 'Oh, this is gold,' and for a bird or a beast gold has got no value. So everything is like that. Material representation has got no value according to the demand of the subjective world. It is only representation as long as we are seeing everything comes from subjective world. This is, gradually this is unknown, valuable, this is unnecessary, this is necessary, all calculation from the subjective world. Otherwise what value this has got? All relative, oxygen has value to us, but to the trees carbon dioxide is valuable, the opposite, all relative.

Subject is all in all. Without matter subject can live, but matter, material conception, always dependent on subjective plane. Everything presupposes consciousness. The theistic school has got this atom bomb against the atheists. Whatever you say, this iron, the fossil, what is fossil? Fossil means hard, fossil means black or something that presupposes subject, subjective conception. The fossil is nothing but a cluster of subjective conceptions. So any material existence presupposes subjective substance, cannot be independent. So here the atheists they have to come down. All floating on the subjective consciousness. Consciousness is the reality and everything is floating on it. And consciousness can live independently. Introspection, consciousness can feel consciousness, it makes it object.

Hegel also told, "Subject and object co-relative. No object can be there without the help of the subject, and also, no subject can exist without object. The thinker must have something to think, that is the object. And object means someone is thinking of it, so co-relative." But consciousness can feel itself but the object cannot do so. Independent of our consciousness something is there, some star is there. No consciousness is conceiving. We may think there may be some star, none has visited, none has conceived. But it must be in the universal consciousness. Everywhere it is assured that it is the star in the furthest corner, independent of any consciousness we know, star has got some description and description means state of consciousness. No independent existence of matter is possible.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Consciousness is independent to us. Different gradation in consciousness. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Sat-cit-ānandam, ānandam is more graphic, more extensive, more comprehensive, ānandam. Everyone aspires after, it is so comprehensive that none can say that 'I don't want any blissfulness. I don't want any happiness.' None will say, none can say. It is all comprehensive including the most backward type of atheist. They'll say, "Yes, I want happiness." Everyone says in his argument all these matters, 'I want happiness.' Everyone will say the most comprehensive thing is ānandam, sat-cit-ānandam, next cinmaya, cetana. But we are accustomed to think just in the opposite way. We think that material existence is infinite and a part of that is conscious and even very few of consciousness are happy. So happiness is this knowledge in amount and consciousness is more spacious and material conception is infinite, so just the opposite. Sat-cit-ānandam, raso vai sah, all rasa. None requesting you, if all is rasa, ānandam, then how this [saro niskantham?] If the infinite is God then how this Māyā can come in the small portion? That is the problem will be the opposite. If the light is everywhere then how darkness can come, how ignorance can come?

So it has been explained that these are the [second seeds?] interdependent, correlative. Without darkness light cannot be conceived, so darkness is there. Taṭasthā-śakti, Māyā-śakti, is there, it is correlative, in the absolute consideration it is necessary. Negative, positive, both, one whole, condition, unconditioned, together absolute. Finite, infinite, together absolute, the conception of Absolute requires, conception of light requires dark, this way. But light is desirable than darkness, that is pure sat-ānandam, and this is ignorance, darkness, it is far from ānandam. So ānanda rasa, that is the most comprehensive and most universal and most desirable.

Śṛṇvantu viśve amṛtasya putrāḥ - Oh you child of nectar, give your ears to me. Assurance, the word of assurance of your future prospect, come back and attain, hear from me who are you, what you want, your aspiration is to be satisfied here my children. Śṛṇvantu viśve amṛtasya putrāḥ - Oh you all, you are child of nectar, child of immortality, you are all immortal. But now your problem is mortality everywhere. You find one mortality is the greatest danger of you, greatest enemy of you, but the guarantee you are not so, you can be saved. Really, you are sons of the divine soil, not mortal. Back to Godhead, back to home, the clarion call, back to home. Come to colonise but suffering from reaction. Let us go home. Neglected your duty and come to enjoy some special freedom. But you are mistaken. Come back, come back, come back to Godhead, back to home, sweet, sweet home, sweet, sweet home.

And whom, who will hear it, to him, such words, such advice is given. Those that have got the capacity to catch these words, this advice. Otherwise everyone has deaf ears to the words, discord. Who will come to give importance to such call, a particular...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...Śṛṇvantu viśve amṛtasya putrāḥ, "Oh you my sons, my children of nectar, come back. You listen to what I say." The call will create encouragement into the heart of a particular section who have got a possible, a considerable, a real status of self consciousness to certain extent. Others won't care to hear these things. How many are searching after this truth amongst the human beings?

eita brahmāṇḍa bhari' ananta jīva-gaṇa caurāśī-lakṣa yonite karaye bhramaṇa

["In this universe there are limitless living entities in 8,400,000 species, and all are wandering within this universe."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.138]

Innumerable souls are wandering in this world in different stages, brahmāṇḍa bhari' ananta jīva-gaṇa caurāśī-lakṣa, eighty-four lākhs of species, eighty-four lākhs of species. Everywhere there is that path of knowledge, atomic knowledge, the bird, the insect. So though material measurement is not with soul but still it is said:

bālāgra-śata bhāgasya [śatadhā kalpitasya ca bhāgo jīvaḥ sa vijñeyaḥ sa cānantyāya kalpate]

["If we divide the tip of a hair into one hundred parts and then take one part and divide this into another one hundred parts, that ten-thousandth part is the dimension of the living entity."] [Śvetaśvatara Upaniṣad, 5.9]

Imaginary magnitude has been given. If the hair breadth, the breadth of a hair that is divided into a hundred, and one part again divided into a hundred, such is the magnitude of the soul, a figurative statement. Bālāgra-śata bhāgasya śatadhā kalpitasya ca bhāgo jīvaḥ sa vijñeyah. Soul in every germ, in every virus, most insignificant creature, there within that there is soul - this imaginary.

The light cannot be divided in any part, division, possible, so everywhere there is all filled up with soul and peculiarity that so many individualities there. Every imaginary point is endowed with individuality, there's the rub, how it is possible. Every brick or earth or wood can be divided into atoms, then again molecules, then again protons. Everything can be divided and divided. So also consciousness also divided, divided.

But anything in its smallest part is person. Just as the cell is divided, they say that something like dream, a cell can be human body, may be nurtured and produce a human body. Today's scientists are saying like that. A cell from Napoleon's body if properly nurtured then a Napoleon will be produced. Now they say that, in due process only the cell, just as a potato part can produce a potato, [and sugar can be starch.....?] so many trees, branches may be put in a place and it may be a tree. So the human cell may be put in a particular environment and can produce that man [from] whose cell it has been taken.

So material is such, soul is also such, any infinitesimal part of a soul is person, taṭastha-śakti, tad-adai, it is all taṭastha-śakti of the Lord. But every infinitesimal part of the taṭastha-śakti, marginal potency, that has got individuality, individual person, personality is there, akṣara.

dvāv imau puruṣau loke, kṣaraś cākṣara eva ca kṣaraḥ sarvāṇi bhūtāni, kūṭa-stho 'kṣara ucyate [uttamaḥ puruṣas tv anyah, paramātmety udāhṛtaḥ yo loka-trayam āviśya, bibharti avyaya īśvaraḥ]

["In this world, there are two kinds of souls: the fallible and the infallible. All beings from Lord Brahmā down to the lowest stationary life-forms are known as fallible (as they have deviated from their intrinsic nature). But the personalities who are eternally situated in their divine nature are known as infallible (personal associates of the Lord).

But totally distinct from both these types of souls, there is a Supreme Person who is known as Paramātmā, the Supersoul. He is the Supreme Lord. Entering into the three worlds in His eternal form, He maintains all beings in the universe."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.16-17]

Undetectable, unrecognisable part of the marginal potency is akṣara, unchangeable seed of consciousness daily.

As I was saying that how many here are attracted by this sort of call, clarion call back to home. Very few, very few think it necessary to attend such call that come back home, very few. But so many ignoring. Some have got no chance, no connection. Brahmāṇḍa bhari' ananta jīva-gaṇa caurāśī-lakṣa yonite karaye bhramaṇa. Tāra madhye manuṣya-jāti ati alpatara.

[eita brahmāṇḍa bhari' ananta jīva-gaṇa caurāśī-lakṣa yonite karaye bhramaṇa]

["In this universe there are limitless living entities in 8,400,000 species, and all are wandering within this universe."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.138]

[tāra madhye manuṣya-jāti ati alpatara tāra madhye mleccha, pulinda, baudha, śabara]

["Although the living entities known as human beings are very small in quantity, that division may be still further subdivided, for there are many uncultured human beings like mlecchas, pulindas, baudddhas and śabaras."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.145]

Human species forms a negligent part of the whole, jīva, jīva as a whole, ati alpatara. Tāra madhye mleccha, pulinda, bauddha, śabara, different sections, classes of consciousness. There are many who outwardly, apparently, accept revealed truth, revealed scripture. But real truth which is extended to this plane from the perfect region, that should be accepted and not any truth which is produced by our experience, that must be faulty. Because we are imperfect our experience, knowledge of our experience, cannot but be imperfect. But there is a perfect zone and what knowledge is extended from that quarter to here, that should only be true, really be true. And such persons are very few, veda-māne. Veda means the revealed truth that is extended from the quarter of perfect thinking to this imperfect region, that is Veda, that is revealed scripture. There are very few that have faith in such scriptures, veda 'mukhi' māne veda-niṣiddha pāpa kare, dharma:

[veda-niṣṭha-madhye ardheka veda 'mukhi' māne veda-niṣiddha pāpa kare, dharma nāhi gaṇe]

["Among human beings, those who are followers of the Vedic principles are considered civilised. Among these, almost half simply give lip service while committing all kinds of sinful activities against these principles. Such people do not care for the regulative principles."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.146]

Lip deep faith in Veda, revealed truth, but they're working day and night according to the knowledge of their worldly experience. But theoretically they accept, "Yes, revealed truth suits us." That is analogous, such is, the number of such people is most, veda-niṣiddha pāpa kare, dharma nāhi gaṇe. And:

dharmācāri-madhye bahuta 'karma-niṣṭha'

[koṭi-karma-niṣṭha-madhye eka 'jñānī' śreṣṭha]

["Among the followers of Vedic knowledge, most are following the process of fruitive activity and distinguishing between good and bad work. Out of many such sincere fruitive actors, there may be one who is actually wise."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.147]

Amongst those that really have recognition of the revealed truth, most of them are engaged in elevationist school. Keeping the Vedic truth on the head, mainly they're busy in transaction of the material acquisitions. Having a little colour of the revelation, revealed truth.

veda-niṣiddha pāpa kare, dharma nāhi gaṇe dharmācāri-madhye bahuta 'karma-niṣṭha' koṭi-karma-niṣṭha-madhye eka 'jñānī' śreṣṭha

Amongst such crores of elevationists one may be found as a renunciationists, no elevation here, he may not have any temptation. 'We must jump into the sky. This material position is not safe, it is mortal, it is fire, burning it up, so I must jump from this atmosphere. Tyāga, get out of the present so-called friends in the mortal world.' Jñāna, they want to engage themselves cent-per-cent in the cultivation of knowing faculty, knowledge.

dharmācāri-madhye bahuta 'karma-niṣṭha' koṭi-jñāni-madhye haya eka-jana 'mukta'

[koti-mukta-madhye 'durlabha' eka kṛṣṇa-bhakta]

["Out of many millions of such wise men, one may actually become liberated, and out of many millions of such liberated persons, a pure devotee of Lord Kṛṣṇa is very difficult to find."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.148]

And those that try to get out of the material influence, gets proper liberation from material temptation, very few, they're liberated souls. And amongst those liberated souls, koti-mukta-madhye, haya eka-jana 'mukta,' those that are trying to get out of the material encasement, crores [a crore is ten million] of them, some are surviving, really getting out of the association of the material energy, liberation. And amongst crores of liberated souls one may find the trace of another superior subtle like plane of devotion. There is another fine plane where with our individual conception we can live, and that is the plane of dedication. Just as here, there is exploitation, so, in the finer world the liberated souls can enter and find that finer plane of dedication, and we can live there. And there is the proper soil to live happily.

Koti-mukta-madhye 'durlabha' eka kṛṣṇa-bhakta. Then also we are told that liberated, that the land of dedication is also divided into two, in the first half, lower half, calculating dedication. With the help of scripture and with the help of the friends, sādhus, and some sort of, our interest, we like to get. Then we are told the highest half their self-forgetfulness automatic dedication, self-forgetfulness. Rather touched by Yoga-Māyā, another higher, superior, affectionate power comes and captures us and utilises us in the service of the mysterious Lord Kṛṣṇa. Yoga-Māyā comes and influences us, and by the magic touch of that affectionate hand we are taken to Him, a land of our dreams. And there we self-forgetfully engage ourselves.

Jñāna-śūnya-bhakti, oxymoron, veda-alaukāra, jñāna-śūnya-bhakti, all affection. We are under the affectionate guardian's hand. We do not know anything, but we are handled by our affectionate guardian's in such a way that we live in the land of mystery free. We think that we are in lower position, hold lower position. But in the taṭasthā-vicāra, in the impartial judgement, they say that this sort of life, playing by the affectionate hand of the guardian, and if some natural spirit, faith and consciousness work, to work on, according to that direction, that is the happiest position of anandam.

Jñāna-śūnya-bhakti, no calculation, no self-interest, but so busy to the central cause that as if in a dream automatically they're like a machine working. And they're the happiest part, that suicidal squad for the centre, that is the happiest portion of the world. Jñāna-śūnya-bhakti, that is manipulated, handled by faith, by affection, by goodness, by love, by mercy. No necessity of any individual selfish calculation, the soil is such, soil is such, no individual self-interest cultivation is necessary at all. The very soil is thinking of our interest. Everyone, at the cost of their own interest they're seeking the interest of the others. So, the interest is opulent there, no dearth of any ānandam, or rasam, or what is being searched after, no dearth of that thing there. Profusely everything, the affection, the sympathy, the mercy, the love, overflowing there in the land of opulence, no dearth of anything, jñāna-śūnya-bhakti.

This has been appreciated very much in Bhāgavatam and by Mahāprabhu. "Anyhow, throw yourself there in that plane, they will take care of you. The soil will take care of you. The soil is so high, so elevated, so good."

Bhūmiś-cintāmaṇi, vṛkṣa-kalpataru, gānaṁ-nāṭyaṁ, kathā gānaṁ, sweet, sweet, sweet, sweet, everything is sweet in the land of sweetness. It is there. Kṛṣṇa consciousness, it is in Bhāgavatam, Caitanya-caritāmṛtam, and somewhere scattered in other Purāṇas. And Mahāprabhu as Rādhā-Govinda, Both combined, came to distribute Their own inner wealth to the public. And so it is possible for us to try to approach.

brahmadi deva yadi nahi pari pai?

The creator of this world, he cannot catch it by his deed, by his imagination or meditation, heart felt meditation.

siva vimuchiti vanchita jana?

Śiva, the type of the soul that does care at all for this material prosperity or its favour of any type, infinite, does not care at all for any material pleasure or comfort, the type of Śiva. They also aspire after such a form of life, let us suffer uncared for, the care is taken by the atmosphere, the whole guardian is caring for it, details, every part of the soil works with us as a guardian, good guardian. The very nature of the soil is a good guardian, everyone is adoring. That is the best we can have. And the type of sweetness is quite different from any experience of that sweetness in this area. Kṛṣṇa.

Brahmā cannot understand. Kṛṣṇa, He's taking together, a little together with His friends, and it was put in His armpits and He's going upwards to search where the cows and calves have gone, and in the same time, "Brahmā has stolen them. The cowboys and the calves have been stolen by Brahmā."

He ascertained that, "Who is this cowboy Kṛṣṇa? He seems to be rich within my jurisdiction but skilfully of very superior capacity, superior power, mystic. So I have to test what sort of mysticism is in Him. He is within my jurisdiction but still He's above, His ways are quite different, does not care for anything else, as if." So by stealing His friends and the calves he again went to see, approached Him. Then he saw that no harm, the same friends, cowboys are there, and the calves are there. Ha, ha. A big pot of water is taken from the ocean but it is filled up, no trace that something has been taken away, all as before everything is going on. Then he thought, "Anyhow, those boys again have come here without my notice." Again approached where he kept them concealed. "Yes, they're there." Again coming, "Yes, it is full. Then what is this?"

Here a very good comparison has been drawn, that at day time we cannot see the glow worms, glow worms cannot be seen in the day. And mist cannot be seen in the dark night. So here, Brahmā's māyā, Brahmā wanted to test Kṛṣṇa, that was like mist, and Kṛṣṇa's māyā like dark night, great darkness, and mist cannot be chased because it is darkness. So Brahmā wanted to test but Kṛṣṇa's capacity of testing is a very peculiar quarter, the Brahmā could not find anything of his testing practice, failed. Then Brahmā fell on the feet of that seeming cowboy, apparent cowboy.

naumīdya te 'bhravapuṣe taḍidambarāya, guñjāvataṁsa-paripicchala-sanmukhāya vanyasraje kavalavetraviṣāṇa-veṇu-, lakṣmaśriye mṛdupade

["I offer my prayers unto You, O praiseworthy Lord who are the child of the cowherd Nanda. Your complexion is the dark blue colour of a thundercloud and You are clad in silk garments that shine like lightning. Your charming face is adorned with guñja-mālā ornaments, and Your hair is decorated with a peacock feather. You look beautiful wearing a garland of forest flowers, and that beauty is enhanced by the morsel of food in Your left hand. You carry a buffalo horn and a stick for herding cows tucked beneath Your left arm. You hold a flute and other emblems, and

Your feet are as soft as a lotus."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.1]

Brahmā fell at the feet of that cowboy. "Who are You?" Naumīdya te 'bhravapuṣe, "I surrender at the feet of You, Whoever You are." Avapuṣe means the bubble like cloud that is like the element of some smoke, undistinguished shape, figure, is not to be ascertained, avapuṣe.

Taḍidambarāya, "But one trace I can find in You that Your dress is yellow, if this is the simile of my Lord Hidamba, who is fond of using this yellow dress, taḍidambarāya. But You are indistinguishable, unknown and unknowable, but taḍit, the yellow connection, Your fondness of yellow colour gives some trace to understand You. Your śakti, Rādhārāṇī, yellow colour, śakti, Your potency is of yellow, that black is invisible but yellow is visible. By the help of Your potency You can be approached, Taḍidambarāya.

Naumīdya te 'bhravapuṣe taḍidambarāya, guñjāvataṁsa-paripicchala-sanmukhāya, but the peculiarity is here that guñja, this forest seed, or fruit, small red colour, something blackish, guñjāvataṁsa paripicchala-sanmukhāya, and the tails of the peacock that falls flat on the ground, collected there something You have ornamented Yourself with those things.

Guñjāvataṁsa-paripicchala-sanmukhāya, And whatever this forest flower You can easily collect, that You are satisfied in Your garland.

Kavalavetraviṣāṇa-veṇu, kavala, and I find like this shepherd boy, who is taking some food and that is in Your mouth, still, no regulation about taking food, not social life as the food taking and other things should be taken in a regulated way, no. Taking the food within the mouth and You are going away, walking, kavalavetra. And one stick always with You. Aviṣāṇa-veṇu, at the same time one flute, that is always with You.

Kavalavetraviṣāṇa-veṇu lakṣmaśriye, this is all with which we are to try to understand You, travīṣāṇa-veṇu mṛdupade paśupāṅga-jāya, and the steps You are taking, it is very slow and firm, no hesitation, no hesitation, no expectation of any hindrance, as if, in Your march, in Your progress. It is natural, it is irresistible, but slow.

Whoever You are, the son of a cow keeper I find You ostentatiously, whoever You are I fall at Your feet, my Lord. I can't understand You, unknown and unknowable.

Continue Yourself, Your ways are misguiding that we shall think that our master will be with such high signs, grand things, it is all misguiding I find in You. Anyhow, whoever You are my attempt has decreased, my pride is down, I take shelter under Your feet."

In this way the Brahmā surrendered. The mystic of the mystic, that is the way there. And what small understanding, and what meagre quality of understanding we have got, it's such a mystic to us it's no wonder.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol!

kaḥibāra kathā nahe, kaḥile keha nā bujhaye, [aiche citra caitanyera raṅga sei se bujhite pāre, caitanyera kṛpā yāñre, haya tāñra dāsānudāsa-saṅga]

["Such topics are not to be discussed freely because if they are, no one will understand them. Such are the wonderful pastimes of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu. Unto one who is able to understand, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu has shown mercy by giving him the association of the servant of His own servant."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.83]

These things are not to be dealt with in the ordinary way. Who will come to believe all these things? So many concrete demands in the world, gives any problem, the war problem, so many problems, the anarchic problems, so many problems are here, and like an idle man to pass one's time in these idle talks. Wherever such a half-mad person should be adorable that will come to attend all these idle talks, ha, ha.

But there is a particular group, those that are you may say half-mad, they can't avoid this, they will go on talking all these things.

War continuing, battle continuing and one man is playing on the flute...

For serious thinking, they'll say, "Oh, let them go on with their mad talks. You do not go that side."

Wholesale, all, everyone, every part of it, feelings of such suffering, that is the general tidings of the world.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāj, the verse in the Īśopaniṣad [15] hiraṇmayena pātreṇa, satyasyāpihitam mukham tat tvam pūṣann apāvṛṇu, satya-dharmāya dr̥ṣṭaye

[O my Lord, sustainer of all that lives, Your real face is covered by Your dazzling effulgence. Please remove that covering and exhibit Yourself to Your pure devotee.]

Can this verse be explained in caitanya-līlā, hiraṇmayena pātreṇa, that golden effulgence? Does that mean Rādhā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hiraṇmayena pātreṇa, satyasyāpihitam mukham, the application of the meaning is not that way. Hiraṇmayena pātreṇa, satyasyāpihitam mukham - that is a charming cover has concealed the truth proper from our eyes. So Rādhā, Rādhārāṇī, She's not covering Kṛṣṇa, hlādinī.

sukha-rūpa kṛṣṇa kare sukha āsvādana bhakta-gaṇe sukha dite 'hlādinī'-kāraṇa

["Lord Kṛṣṇa tastes all kinds of transcendental happiness, although He Himself is happiness personified. The pleasure relished by His pure devotee is also manifest by His pleasure potency."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.158]

Rādhārāṇī's function is rather opposite. The highest type of ecstasy is drawing from the source of ecstasy to the world and making it possible for the others to taste. Her duty is rather the opposite. And here it will be rather concerned to daily vicāra, those charms of self interest, self collective interest, that separate interest of the jīva as a whole is covered with the charm of freedom.

When, in Bhāgavatāmṛtam Sanātana Goswāmī has written, when jīva is going to be liberated, crossing the area of vicāra, Devī Māyā, she comes very mildly to beg him, "Why do you go beyond, crossing my jurisdiction? You please stay here and I shall serve you to your satisfaction, I shall give you service." When going away one is becoming Śiva, at that time she is offering herself at the service of that Śiva. "You stay here with me, I shall serve you. Why you are leaving me and going away beyond my jurisdiction?"

That Devī, that charm, who keeps the ordinary individual souls here, she, with some charm, covered the real nature of the truth as a whole, hiraṇmayena pātreṇa, which has sweet dealings and offering independent exploitation and elevation as she has charmed all within her clutches, hiraṇmayena pātreṇa. She's not allowed to see beyond her jurisdiction. And beyond her jurisdiction is the domain, the land, the plane of truth is there. She's not allowing, Umā.

But Rādhārāṇī is just the opposite, the hlādinī śakti, only by Her tendency, the tendency of Her personality that real ānandam, rasam, sweetness, is coming from the centre and being distributed to the whole area. That is Śvarūpa-śakti, attracting everyone towards the centre and feeding them with honey, that is Her duty, that is Śvarūpa-śakti. The land nearer Kṛṣṇa is of that nature. Everything is fed with sweetness and drawn towards the centre. And this is out- carrying current and the master of this out-carrying current area is Durgā Devī, Kālakātrī, the keeper of the prison house, here, by fascination of self-enjoyment, self-freedom. That is slavery and this is freedom. But really here is slavery of the lower senses and there is freedom to attain, to serve the highest good.

Devotee: In the Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛtam it says that sometimes Umā Devī gives bhakti to some rare jñānī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, also there is a method. When she's satisfied she opens the doors, "Go." That is also to be found in her, Umā Devī. So these Chandi and other śāstras of the rājasic, second class śāstra, they say, "Try to serve Umā Devī, the śakti, the potency, and if she's satisfied to her content then she will allow you, 'You must leave here, go to that superior land." It is also found sometimes. Just as in Kṛṣṇa's dealings also we find three types:

ye yathā mām prapadyante, tāṁs tathaiva bhajāmy aham

[mama vartmānuvartante, manuṣyāḥ pārtha sarvaśaḥ]

["As a person takes refuge in Me and surrenders unto Me, I respond and reward accordingly. Being the ultimate goal of all philosophies and doctrines, I am the objective to be attained by all. Certainly, O Pārtha, everyone follows My various paths in all respects."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.11]

"Whoever will approach Me with what temperament, accordingly I deal with him." At the same time He says, "There is a particular section who want devotion, but we rather give them mukti, matta bhakti yogam. I generally do not give them devotion, but rather, I try to avoid them by giving liberation." And at the same time another opposite side He says, "But if any sincere, ignorant soul, he comes to Me and wants some material lower things, I say no, no, don't take this."

marge visaisay amṛta tare rsis mage sei bara murka ani vighraḥ sei murti visay chanya deva sa chaya nama tavi havi sei vilaya [?]

"No, don't take this transient thing. You come to Me, take Me." So also we find different types of transactions in almost every...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva-Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I tried to keep up the vitality there. Surrender, your spiritual life sold, and then when free choice came instead of, in place of surrendered stage, then labour and live, entered that world, labour and live. And the Satan was at the back: "Why you are a slave? Why you are a slave? The tree of knowledge." We are very much, so Bhāgavata has discarded knowledge: "Don't rely on your knowledge." The tree of knowledge, the fruit was tasted by Adam, knowledge, first Eve then Adam. The tree of knowledge is dangerous, a fall down to the world of calculation here.

Surrender, good man society, higher society, no deception, no hypocrisy, no conspiracy there. So knowledge, calculation, good, bad, all these are meaningless there. Automatic flow of the goodness in the atmosphere whole, no doubt, no suspicion, no meanness, to cheat one another. So no question of calculation, everything automatic, a flow of goodness is in that atmosphere. That is the lower part of Vaikuṇṭha, and again, higher in Goloka it is more beautiful, more loving, more sustaining, more sweet, ecstatic, Goloka. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So practical faith in that sort of live, charm of that sort of life.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-

pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

"Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair." (Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66)

In Bible, the history of fall and not going up so very expressively, that is vague. The Son of God has come to take them again up there. The fall of Adam and Eve that is very clear. But that one man is taken from this plane to that plane, not such a very explicit clear description. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And here there are so many like Christ that have full faith in God's land, God's action, God's goodness. They will treat the wealth, the prosperity, the charm of this world of enjoyment to trample under foot, die. I resign all palatable posts in this world, however a kingship, a leadership, a lover like Romeo, a beloved like Juliet, all dismissed, I'm ready to dismiss all these things for some higher mystic and unknown sweet, sweet life, sweet, sweet home. I have finished.

There was one Bacat? Singh, one of the leading anarchists in Punjab, he got capital punishment. Then one gentleman asked him: "The day of your death is drawing near." He told: "I am very eager to see the after life, this life is all finished, no charm in this life it is finished, eager to see the after life." But that man does not know that after life is also similar, the anarchist's after life what can it be good or very good? Attraction for this mundane, can't tolerate another's ownership, kingship, he want to snatch the kingship, the leadership of this material world from another gentleman, has charm for this material world. What after life he can have to see very glorious?

arvincada mangalam ?

One is to look after with very neglected dignity, even the post of the creator of this world, who can create this world, but he's in relativity of this world, mortal, nasty. The Brahmā who has created and who's master of this world, but he's in the relativity of this nasty world, his position is also condemnable, what to speak of the ordinary person.

karmanam parinamrtad avidocad amangalam ?

You and I, what is our position? Meagre. But even the creator of this whole mundane world, he is also surrounded with the inauspicious reactionary consequence of life. Then: Śiva ham, śivo ham, śivo ham, next, after Brahmā there is Śiva, śivo ham: "Do not care for material comfort, independent of material comfort as a soul also I can live." That temperament śivo ham: "I don't care for any material achievement, I am sufficient in myself, sufficient, ātmārāma, I am self sufficient, I don't require any exploitation of this world, of any world." That is marginal position but is so high and so charming domain over the head of that Śiva when he comes in connection with that: "Oh, I want to enter as a slave to that holy and magnanimous land. I want to be a member and a lowest member as the ant, even an ant's position in that noble domain is something to be envied, in Vaikuṇṭha."

And then Vaikuṇṭha, over that, Goloka, or Goloka, over that, or deeper, or the most comprehensive or most subtle all pervading Goloka, solid circle. Highest plane ever found, subtle most plane ever found. That is the foundation of all different variety of planes we can ever experience, Goloka. That is beautiful, that is love, beauty and love. Similar things, sweet, similar things, beyond power, power seeking.

This has been definitely brought, done for us by Mahāprabhu and Nityānanda, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the last treatise of Vedavyāsa, the giver of the greatest magnitude of revealed truth in this world. Revealed truth in different forms in its greatest magnitude and details given by Vyāsadeva from Badarikāśrama.

And the key to that, to the highest carrying was given first to his son Śukadeva, and Śukadeva he tried to impress the present scholarship of India, the then scholarship, the then scholars of India, with that high ideal in the whole theological world. Śukadeva did successfully.

And next there was another sitting in Naimiṣāraṇya where 60.000 brāhmaṇa scholars met there just before this Kali yuga, the iron age. And there also one who heard, who was present in the assembly of Śukadeva and he was śrutida ? that once heard remembering eternally, that is śrutida ? Only once hearing it is recorded final. There was one such peculiar scholar who was Sūta, ugrasrava, ugra - srava, whose aural reception was extraordinary, revolutionarily extraordinary, once one impression that was got finally, that ugrasrava through śruti who can, whose hearing is of a very, very higher degree, highest degree. He was present in that assembly and he caught it and distributed it to 60.000 of the brāhmaṇa scholars gathered in Naimiṣāraṇya just before the advent of this, the beginning of this Kali yuga iron age. And that is Bhāgavata.

And Vyāsadeva when these four sittings completed: one Nārada to Vyāsadeva, second Vyāsa to Śuka, and third Śuka to Parīkṣit in the scholar's assembly, and the fourth was ugrasrava Sūta to Śaunaka Rṣi. Then with this introduction, three ślokaś

"O my Lord, Śrī Kṛṣṇa, son of Vasudeva, O all pervading Personality of Godhead, I offer my respectful obeisances unto You. I meditate upon Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa because He is the Absolute Truth and the primeval cause of all causes of the creation, sustenance and destruction of the manifested universes. He is directly and indirectly conscious of all manifestations, and He is independent because there is no other cause beyond Him. It is He only who first imparted the Vedic knowledge unto the heart of Brahmājī, the original living being. By Him even the great sages and demigods are placed into illusion, as one is bewildered by the illusory representations of water seen in fire, or land seen on water. Only because of Him do the material universes, temporarily manifested by the reactions of the three modes of nature, appear factual, although they are unreal. I therefore meditate upon Him, Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Who is eternally existent in the transcendental abode, which is forever free from the illusory representations of the material world. I meditate upon Him, for He is the Absolute Truth." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1)

"Completely rejecting all religious activities which are materially motivated, this Bhāgavata-Purāṇa propounds the highest truth, which is understandable by those devotees who are fully pure in heart. The highest truth is reality distinguished from illusion for the welfare of all. Such truth uproots the threefold miseries. This beautiful Bhāgavatam, compiled by the great sage Vyāsadeva (in his maturity), is sufficient in itself for God realisation. What is the need of any other scripture? As soon as one attentively and submissively hears the message of Bhāgavatam, by this culture of knowledge the Supreme Lord is established within his heart." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.2)

"O expert and thoughtful men, relish Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the mature fruit of the desire tree of Vedic literatures. It emanated from the lips of Śrī Śukadeva Gosvāmī.

Therefore this fruit has become even more tasteful, although its nectarean juice was already relishable for all, including liberated souls."
(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.3)

One about dharmāḥ projjhita sambandha jñāna, what is what. The second, what is the means to the end. And the third, what is the proper conception of the end of destination. Three: where we are, who am I, or where am I, what am I? In this way, sambandha jñāna. And the second, abhidheya, what is the means to my end. And the third, what is the conception of the proper end of life, different from all the other recommendations from different theological scriptures. This is the speciality of this book.

Mainly, after liberation how one can live a dignified life, it is meant for them. They're to nirmat-sarāṇāṁ satāṁ, they must be free from all jealousy, Vyāsadeva says. It is meant for those particular saints who are completely free from any trace of jealousy, nirmatsara, jealousy means who cannot tolerate higher position of any other than he, that is jealousy. That is the test, at every step you are to feel without prejudice that everything in your paraphernalia is holding higher position than you. If you are jealous then you can't advance a single step there. If jealousy is fully eliminated, if you are ready to tolerate that everyone you come across is holding higher position than you, and you should not mind anything from that, that no reaction if you can tolerate. That everything, every article, every dust, every dust of that plane is holding superior position to you, all Prabhu and you are the slave. If you can accommodate you in such a way then you have a very higher place where you can enter and live. But nirmat-sarāṇāṁ satāṁ, not only ordinary saint, that jealousy must be exhausted in you, eliminated. Then you can hope to come to study and you will be able to understand what I say, that everything is superior and you are the lowest, then you can have everything there, progress. Free, you can freely live there, moving. But that temperament, minimum demand from you with that, and that is practically everything, this demand finish everything.

I told that Hiranyagarbha sahajiyā, from Lalitā Babu went to the bābājī class:

vaikuṇṭhara pr̥thivy ādi sakala cinmaya māyika bhūtera tathi janma nāhi haya

"The earth, water, fire, air and ether of Vaikuṇṭha are all spiritual. Material elements are not found there." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.53)

What the Goloka, below, Vaikuṇṭha, and there also everything made of spiritual dust, water, all atoms are spiritual, and that is of higher quality than you soul, who wants to enter there. So you are to enter into that domain and then you can hope to get company of the Nārāyaṇa bhakta and then higher up the Goloka Vṛndāvana. It is not a matter of joke or a matter of luxury, so easy. First deserve then have, no deserve no having, only imitation here plodding in the mud and thinking I am in the Divine Lake of Rādhā Kuṇḍa, ha, ha, ha.

Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

That means die to live, that means not only the physical, but mental death and death of all our ambitious aspirations, death means death's jurisdiction is so much. Die to live. Living is also wonderful living, living is also wonderful strange thing in comparison with the present living. There is living, living along with all good, all high, all divine, all superior, how happy living, wherever I am living everything is of higher quality than my own self, how happy, how elevating.

But have we such courage, boldness, to live there, to die a wholesale death of all our experienced life, to be severed from all the valuable things we ever gathered experience of, is it possible for us? Not so easy. All the high ideals we have ever accumulated or come in association with, all given up. Not only our physical acquisitions but our mental acquisitions, mental prospects ever acquired, all give up. Dissolution of the whole mind, body. And only soul, naked soul is to be taken to that land with the help of so many saints of that calibre.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Stranger than dream, reality is stranger than dream, fiction. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Prospect, our standard of prospect should be raised so high.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Self abnegation, if we can have some conception of the truth then we'll see it is sinful, what we aspired for that is all sinful, nasty. "Why should I be a master of so many?"

Gaurasundara. Gaurāṅgasundara. Gaurāṅgasundara.

How, we hate slavery, but we'll be able to understand how dignified position to be a slave to the soul, wonderful goodness, to the wonderful master. It is possible, not impossible, to peep into that higher position of truth.

Gaurasundara. Gaurasundara. Gaurasundara. Gaurasundara. Gaurasundara.

We'll be eager to cast ourselves at the feet of that holy personality.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Mahāprabhu told once in Purī to Sanātana Goswāmī's case:

sanātana, deha-tyāge kṛṣṇa yadi pāiye koṭi-deha kṣaṇeke tabe chāḍite pāiye, deha-tyāge kṛṣṇa nā paī, pāiye bhajane kṛṣṇa-prāptyera upāya kona nāhi 'bhakti' vine

"My dear Sanātana," He said: "If I could attain Kṛṣṇa by committing suicide, I would certainly give up millions of bodies without a moments hesitation."

"You should know that one cannot attain Kṛṣṇa simply by giving up the body. Kṛṣṇa is attainable by devotional service. There is no other means to attain Him."

(Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.55-56)

"Sanātana, if it would have been possible that by giving up this body I can get Kṛṣṇa, then in a moment I am ready to sacrifice this body crores of times (one crore is ten million), this body sacrifice. Die, that is in a moment I want to invite crores of times death, die to live, crores of deaths I like to invite, welcome, if by doing so I can get my Lord Kṛṣṇa." How standard, what standard? Where is Kṛṣṇa of Mahāprabhu's conception? Die to live, we think: "Oh, die to live, to die means to leave the whole thing, but not loosing. "In a moment, this moment I am ready to die crores of times if by the result of that I can get Kṛṣṇa."

But no, Kṛṣṇa is not so cheap. The physical death, what benefit is there by physical death? This is to give up a dress, a flesh and bone dress, what charm is there? Or something more? I will say some positive life is there, not by negative side if I but with all progress we can, not by naked, if we can have a naked body we can go, no. Some positive attraction for that, that is the real thing.

Śraddhā, sādhu-saṅga, serving tendency, that is the visa, not passport, not passport, any number of passports I can collect, no, visa is necessary. The sanction of that place, but they're very broad hearted, very generous, very loving, and infinitely resourceful, infinite resourcefulness is there.

Now England is trying best to oust the foreigners, so long they're liberal, now a party has raised that so many foreigners have come to live in England and making the original British people's life intolerable. So there must be some check over the immigrants.

But there that is infinite, no such limitation there, all may come but come with good will, with standard good will we should come. You are all welcome, infinite, infinite. But you are to give up all your anti tendencies for this land, to keep outside. You come, you come for the interest of us, for the whole country you come, for the Lord you come. You are all welcome, very earnestly, affectionately welcome. He's Lord of all of us not only of a particular section but He's the Lord of all, and loving Lord and infinite Lord, His love is infinite, His ways are infinite, everything is infinite.

So no possibility that our portioned will be lessened if you come and take, partake into the service, no. Come, we rather want more, more, may be engaged in His service you will be happy, more happy. But service means like that, mind that service for His satisfaction, the criterion, we are all searching for His satisfaction, not anyone of us. If we find that lacking there, then you will turn into your enemy. With this idea all can come.

Rādhārāṇī showed? "His anti group though it is all necessary part, she does not know how to satisfy Kṛṣṇa to His heart's content, then why she venture to come very close connection of Him?" That is in Her company, the harmony, harmony means many and one, and a gradation, the gradation is of that type, it is mentioned in Caitanya-caritāmṛta. "If she can serve more I shall be aloof, I shall give her nearer to My Lord. But she fails to do service to the highest satisfaction. So what to do, I shall have to go nearer because for His satisfaction, not for Myself."

That is the criterion there. It is very inconceivably understood, to understand, inconceivable to understand but still it is like that we find it is recorded in Caitanya- caritāmṛta. And this way the gradation is there, all centre conscious, all centre conscious. And another demarcated.

sakhi vadhi kaila vesa ?

"To satisfy Him, My Lord of heart I am to serve a lower idea like a prostitute I am ready for that if it is for His satisfaction." Whatever is for His satisfaction apparently it may be the lowest but that is the highest. Only one criterion, His satisfaction, and our calculation of good or bad, has no value. Only one criterion, His satisfaction, that is the only one criterion.

kr̥ṣṇa indriya priti vanca tari vali prema ?

And it is drawn up to the highest position among the servitors. All these are very high things to be good to talk but to get it is very, very, very difficult. So it is safe that one day you may hope to reach that domain, but now we are in the midst of disappointment but I do not like this, I don't feel normal position here, dissatisfaction, virakti. I do not know whether my aspiration will be realised any day or other, but still I cannot commit my faith with any other thing, any other conception but Kṛṣṇa conception. Because I shall be able to get anything easily in a day or two then I must contact with that, I am not a person to do such contact, no. I may get or I may not get in my eternal quest, eternal search, still I won't budge an inch from the ideal that my Lord is Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana. Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana as the Son of Yaśodā, as the friend of Subala, others, and as the consort of the gopīs and Rādhārāṇī. I want to have His service and the service of the servant of Him, that I adore, welcome, but no kingship, leadership of any sort of engagement.

na nāka-prṣṭhaṁ na ca pārameṣṭhyaṁ na sārva-bhaumaṁ na

Vṛtāsura says: "O my Lord, source of all opportunities, I do not desire to enjoy in Druvaloka, the heavenly planets or the planet where Lord Brahmā resides, nor do I want to be the supreme ruler of all the earthly planets or the lower planetary systems. I do not desire to be master of the powers of mystic yoga, nor do I want liberation if I have to give up Your lotus feet." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.11.25)

Vṛtāsura says in Bhāgavatam: "My inner aspiration is after you my Lord, but not here Lord Kṛṣṇa, Vṛtāsura, Nārāyaṇa, but Nārāyaṇa is also so charming that I eliminate all these prospects of my future life. I want You my Lord, my heart, the Lord of my heart."

So sweet, Godhead is so sweet, back to Godhead, back to Godhead, back to Godhead and God is such of Kṛṣṇa conception God, very sweet, sweetest of all good.

Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Any questions?

Devotee: Yes Guru Mahārāja, How to recognise and eliminate jealousy in devotional life?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hrdaye nābhya nujñāto (Manaḥ-śikṣā, 2.1) - according to realisation as other realisation, how other realisations in the absolute sense we can understand in other plane of life. How we understand that this is the goal without any alloy, how can you do? Not only Kṛṣṇa realisation it is of peculiar type, but in other fields of life also we are to know by elimination and acceptance how, how? With the help of some experts or with the help of some books, śāstra and sādhu. Then it comes to us, that knowledge, from the experts that knowledge comes to me. Or by scripture, book, the knowledge comes to me, gives some eye, with that eye I can find: "Oh, this is real gold, this is alloyed gold." Every case how we do, help from outside, and the guarantee from one's own inner conception. And if he's dull he can't gather conception from the expert or from a book, then he's to suffer himself.

Here also you may apply the same thing. The experts know this expert, religious experts of different type and also books from different type. Only we are to take and who is to accept them his chastity, his sincerity, these three things comes to meet us. Whether we are gaining or we are loosing, these three things, the scripture, the experts and the expert's opinion, and then my sincere ability, judgement. These three together come to realise the truth in every case. As here, so there, here some intellect and there the heart, the sincerity, the soul, ruci, sincerity, the same tangle it is everywhere the one question. Hrdaye - one's own heart, approval of one's own heart, for the acceptance of the external decision, the responsibility is his own. And also we can't deny that external association

End of side A, 31-12-82 + 2-1-83

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nature of the person who comes with the application, it depends on that. So there are a section to whom (Māya Devī ?) will say: "No, no, you go to Vaikuṇṭha," and open the door, "don't stay here a class may be there. And from the absolute standpoint Her position is such. The jailer, the superintendent of the jail should not try that everyone will leave there for infinite time. He should help the persons in such a way that after their terms they may get out of the jail, and they will not do such activity that they will have to come there again within his place. But when they find a sensible jailer that this man finished his term now he will get out but going out of this prison area he'll again disturb so many peace loving persons. So as soon as he can be taken again into this prison house it will be better for the public. With this sense also you may be guided sometimes, it depends upon the particular case.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, we have free will, yet in the Caitanya-caritāmṛta it is said Caitanya Mahāprabhu arbitrarily delivered the whole universe. How could He do that if there is no affecting in the heart of those people?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes supplying His special power, special power He has got that capacity also. As an absolute His capacity knows no bounds. But that is not general, as we are told that when Rāmacandra left this world the whole of Ayodhyā He took with Him. It is mentioned there in the talk you will find the answer also was given there. That Haridāsa Ṭhākura and Mahāprabhu They were talking, Haridāsa Ṭhākura says: "You are chanting the Name of Kṛṣṇa and whoever is in connection with that chanting they will all be taken, their sinfulness and offences will all be cleared and they'll be taken to Kṛṣṇa-loka."

Then Mahāprabhu says: "Then Haridāsa, how this brahmāṇḍa will stay if the wholesale will be abolished?"

"No, no."

punar sukavivay karmay udbuddhi kaivay ?

All the members in a prison may be liberated but again there are so many who will fill up the jail, the prison house, like that. One set wholesale liberated but from the infinite lower of Brahmā-loka, so many are waiting to come here and fill up the whole thing. That explanation is given there, it is infinite, the law is even infinite and that cannot be applied in this finite world. Just as in the question of zero, zero plus zero, zero minus zero, zero into zero, everything is zero. So infinite added by infinite, infinite into infinite, infinite divided by infinite, all infinite, infinite taken from infinite is again infinite.

So we should not think that the whole infinite will come within my fist. So it has been discouraged, don't use your energy for enquiring into the ways of the infinite, it is impossible for you. Leave that mania and try to engage you in the service where you will thrive. Jñāne prayāsam udapāśya, in many places it will be impossible that the whole infinite will be able to enter into your one smallest subjective plane, gain. The infinite is included within the finite, it is impossible so don't attempt that way.

Mind your own lesson, that is, engage yourself in the duty what is given you in this infinite, there you will thrive. Jñāna sunya bhakti, faith. Knowing means it comes from the doubt, suspicion, and the stage of suspicion is not a very laudable thing. Suspicion, doubt, all these things only indicates that you are living in a lower way. In a higher plane, no position of any suspicion, doubt, there, men does not cheat anybody. So suspicion and checking, all these faculties are all of the lower creation, not in the higher. There's no possibility of cheating any other, all helping, helping, helping. But this is the quality of the lower class. So suspicion is bad, faith is good. If we want to live there try to acquire faith, try to learn belief in the atmosphere we acquire this good habit if you want to live in this civilised world, and give up that you will know everything. This won't help you for your progress but deteriorate your progress. Take this path of bhakti, devotion, faith, help. There is the Lord, His eye there over you, none can cheat you. na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati:

pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati

"O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated." (Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40)

His vigilant eye is always over our head. If I do not cheat me none can cheat me in the world, none has any power to cheat me. What it seems to be because we cheated previously and we are feeling the consequence now. Cheating is coming from the environment to you, why? I cheated in the past, the reaction is coming. Otherwise no cheating can come to an innocent person. His vigilant eye is there everywhere. So Jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva, as much small as necessary we may incur a little, but we must engage ourselves in the service. Service is nectar, dedication is nectar. And not apprehension that I am going to be cheated so I must try everywhere, every corner search anyway I shall see whether I am going to be cheated or not.

This is something like suicide, it is to ruin one's own cause. So Bhāgavatam (10.14.3) says: jñāne prayāsam udapāśya, knowledge cannot take you there. If you want to go to that land of simplicity and cooperation and dedication and goodness, mutual help, you acquire such sort of nature. Try to give yourself, don't apprehend out of the lower nature of your current civilisation, that I must guard myself against any sort of cheating, cheating, cheating, cheating. That is peculiarity in the relativity of this cheating. Therefore throw it out. And still, because we are living in that plane we can't avoid it but as much as possible we shall try to neglect them and to encourage our inner faith towards, to live in this higher circle. If you like at all to live in the higher circle, no misgivings we should encourage within us.

Generous, generous, because I am in the relativity of Him, I am approaching the Absolute Good, and not only so many agents of this misunderstanding world. If I am in search of the Lord then I am in His relativity, He'll look after me. Anyway I have accepted devotion not that everything what I shall see I shall command respect from them. "No he's going to be a devotee, you all come and help him." Not with that temperament, but I am approaching towards Him. Rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāsaḥ, "He'll protect him, if He likes to protect He'll do otherwise He'll do anything and everything with me I am a slave." With this sort of courage and this sort of simplicity and this sort of certainty we shall try to approach towards Him. "I'm approach towards Him." That consciousness must be always in me. He's omniscient, omnipotent, and all love, and I'm approaching Him. Because others are engaged within diplomacy and doubts and in order to meet with them very particular details I must have to culture that, cultivate that thing in me. This will be a firm where all will be given to the created, not that.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, how can we have faith in Kṛṣṇa's protection without thinking we're deserving of it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The devotees, as much as they make progress, they can't realise that they're really fit to attract Kṛṣṇa. Rather they see that: "I am the most unqualified, no devotion. Why Kṛṣṇa will care to protect me?" All these things will come but still hoping against hope.

Then: "Rather I shall die rather than put my faith on anyone else. My Lord if He likes to protect me easy to live, if He does not care let me die, whatever. Still I can't give my reliance to any other." With this attitude one may approach to Him.

"I am unfit, but still He cares for the fallen, I am fallen, He may care or may not care. But under any condition I'm not going to upset others for my protection. If He likes He may protect me, if He does not like He can make and mar. With this right He has got over me." With this sort of temperament desperately one should approach towards and search after Him, exclusive search, exclusive search. That sort of faith we should try to encourage to have within us.

"I am fallen, I have no such capacity of such attributes that He will come to protect me, I'm very much negligent factor. But still, His grace is there and I aspire after His care and not the care of anybody." That should be the inner temperament, at the same time as outwardly we should try to clutch at a straw, whatever we shall find to save me. Ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, whatever is favourable to me, to nurture after search for Kṛṣṇa within me at the same time I shall at what level I am I shall try to catch at a straw, in this way.

Not that I shall be a party to cast you into the fire. Ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, and rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāsaḥ, and goptrīve varaṇaṁ tathā: "You are my protector, none else. Only You'll protect me, You are so great." But still ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, whatever little things comes as obstacles I should try my best accordingly to understand to remove that obstacle. In this way we should do that. Change of temperament sometimes come according to the progress of the devotee. "If You don't take care of me I won't live any longer." And sometimes He comes that time and saves him, such things we can also see. Many types of devotion, but on the whole ānukūlyasya, according to one's faith he will try to take help from the environment. But the main thing will be him, or her: "That I want His protection and from none else."

(The six divisions of śaraṇāgati, [surrender], are as follows):

ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, prātikūlya-vivarjjanam rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāso, gopṭṛtve varaṇam tathā. ātma-nikṣepa kārpaṇye, ṣaḍ-vidhā śaraṇāgatiḥ
evaṁ paryyāyataś cāsminn, ekaikādhyāya-saṅgrahaḥ

(1) - ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ - to accept everything favourable for devotion to Lord Kṛṣṇa. (2) - prātikūlya-vivarjjanam - to reject everything unfavourable for devotion to Lord Kṛṣṇa. (3) - rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāsaḥ - to be confident that Lord Kṛṣṇa will grant His protection. (4) - gopṭṛtve varaṇam - to embrace Lord Kṛṣṇa's guardianship. (5) - ātma- nikṣepaḥ - to offer oneself unto Him in full self-surrender. (6) - kārpaṇyam - to consider oneself lowly and surrender in humility.

(Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.100) - (Quoted from Vaiṣṇava Tantra)

And at the same time Him and His guru, guru is His agent, His representative, and so many Vaiṣṇavas, caretakers, they're our friend, their advice I shall also take sometimes they will help us, my friends what they will say I shall accept that and in this way we shall go on. Anyhow He will be in the centre, and His agents, and His books, all these I shall consult and go on and if I am sincere then of course I must have progress in my life of devotion.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, how do we develop sincere humility?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With the progress of devotion it will come and we shall try to guide according to the rulings of the scriptures and the sādhu, their conduct, their advises, we shall take to apply within us and go on progressing. Humility if apparently that is hypocrisy, in the name of humility hypocrisy should not be given indulgence.

And humility also has another meaning of what is humility. Suppose a Vaiṣṇava is being blamed and if at that time I have got power to protect but I do not do, then that is not humility. Humility from the standpoint of the Vaiṣṇava standard.

Ordinary people rather they're to be treated like madman. If a dog tries to enter into the Temple and if I pose humility, whether it is going to the Temple, how, why? Something eatable there and why I can stop the dog. That is not humility.

So also guru, Vaiṣṇava is being molested and I am there and I don't give any opposition, that is also not humility. I must come between that the filthy things may not go to him, as much as possible I shall oppose. That is humility proper, humility inconceivable thing with the Vaiṣṇava world, they're standard thinkers and I am trying to enter into that sort of world, so that law should be binding on me and I shall try to appreciate and apply that within me. So if someone is coming to attack a Vaiṣṇava I am there, if I am humble I must go and participate, I should be considered to be humble, humble than the Vaiṣṇava and to serve them to approach his opponents. That is humility, to go and stop the attack, I take it within me saving the higher guru Vaiṣṇava worshippingable. That is humility. So humility must be in the eye of the superior, the normal thinking persons humility. And not keeping the standard that's according to the worldly abnormal thinking persons, the standard is not according to their judgement, humility. "I am humble, I am servant, I am to serve my guru, superior, and whatever is the necessity I must go to do that." If I consider I am servant my master is being molested I must go between them, that is humility.

In the worldly sense that may be, "Oh why do you come and interfere, you are not concerned. I am talking with him, he did this thing wrong, I am chastising him, that madman. I don't consider, you say he's a Vaiṣṇava, I consider he's a pest of the society, a deserter, he has deserted his family and they're starving. And you call him sādhu, we don't call him. I want to chastise him, why do you come to interfere?"

Such questions may arise. But you have got capacity you come and say: "No, he's engaged in higher matters and you are a worldly man. I know what is his humility, you do not know." In this way, the chastity in the ordinary sense but that is humility subject of the Vaiṣṇava, so this has been according to different circumstances.

On the whole there is a story I say to you, our Guru Mahārāja (Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura) he once caused in Rādhā-Kuṇḍa along with us. Kartikka mass the whole month he stayed in Rādhā-Kuṇḍa. One panda, a brāhmaṇa of course, he told that: "We can give blessings to (Raghunātha) Dāsa Goswāmī. Dāsa Goswāmī he came from Kāyastha, śūdra family, we are brāhmaṇas, we are in a position to bless him."

Dāsa Goswāmī is in a great positioned guru in Gauḍīya sampradāyā, prayojana tattva ācārya, and this came to our Guru Mahārāja here. Then Guru Mahārāja he gave up taking Prasādam. "Until and unless I can make any justice to this, that ordinary panda has insulted my great Gurudeva, and until and unless I can do something in return I can't take Prasādam."

He is not taking Prasādam and we also feeling we also can't take Prasādam. He stands still and he is moaning, sighing. Then one who was general secretary he came: "That man, ignorant man, what he is talking, why you are giving so much importance to his expression? You need not care for that. Please, you take Prasādam."

Guru Mahārāja told: "No, I am here driving motorcar in Vṛndāvana. I'm not an ordinary beggar with kaupīna, if I was so then had that man remarked in such a bad way I would have put my hands and my cloth into the ear and I would have left the place. Without caring to hear all these bad remarks I would leave this place. But I am in the position of ācārya, I am driving in a motorcar, and so many danger, this bathing and all these things I am giving, what for?

pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge mattala sādhu-jana viṣaya range

"The path of divine love is worshipping to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration."

"My life is dedicated to show to the public what is the dignified position of our Gurudeva's Rūpa, Sanātana, Raghunātha, who showed their life like a street beggar, and more, rather less than that. But their internal wealth was so high and great. To show that I am showing a life of grandeur, I am ācārya. To show that our Gurudeva whose words you are trying to distribute to the people, to remove wholesale all their difficulties, that guru, and he is being insulted and I am living in such a gorgeous way, grand way, and I shall tolerate all this? I can't do that."

So he does not take any Prasādam until and unless he can do something in return. Then it spread, then one gentleman he approached Guru Mahārāja, he was an inhabitant of that place, Rādhā-Kuṇḍa. He appreciated our Guru Mahārāja and he called that gentleman, that brāhmaṇa: "What have you done? You don't know. You beg apology. He's a great mahātmā, what he is doing you don't know. You have insulted his Gurudeva in his face, you fool. You don't know your position, what are you? You are a brāhmaṇa, more than that you are a servant of the anger and this lust and greed, all these things. What is your position? The great mahātmā and his guru you do not know about him, you apologise." Then he apologised and then our Guru Mahārāja took Prasādam and then we also took.

For humility, what is humility? In his case that is humility, and what ignores that says that I am not humble. I am a seeker of my own position. "I am avoiding this mortal path, dangerous, gorgeously moving here and there, what for? Only to show, to save the public from any offence by insulting those great self abnegated persons, our Gurudeva."

This is:

trṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ
sadā hariḥ

"One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa." (Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3)

This is the application of humility in such way also. So it is relative not absolute, according to our position. If we are sincere help will come from outside to guide us always we may consider. We shall pray that we may have that sincerity, simplicity, and purity of our purpose. And we shall fall at the feet of the mahātmā to extend their internal light and affection towards me, towards us, so that we can be elevated more and more. Our inner nature, that is our hope that our inner nature is good, is such. Whatever is undesirable that is only a cover, a foreign thing, so the foreign thing will go and the inner nature will come out. In one sense it is very easy, and now I have, I am living in wholesale foreign thing, behaving, so it is difficult. But with the help of those that have got natural life I shall try to remove the dust that has come on the layers of my heart.

As the evening lotus blooms in the moon's cooling rays, the heart begins to blossom in the nectar of the Name. And at last the soul awakens to its real inner treasure - a life of love with Kṛṣṇa. Again and again tasting nectar, the soul dives and surfaces in the ever-increasing ocean of ecstatic joy. All phases of the self of which we may conceive are fully satisfied and purified, and at last conquered by the all-auspicious influence of the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."

This kīrtana, śravaṇa, smaraṇam, Vaiṣṇava sevā, with all these things gradually it will be cleared and we shall be able to see what is what, gradually. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: So Guru Mahārāja, could you tell us, is Advaita Prabhu the incarnation of Mahā-Viṣṇu or Śiva Śaṅkara?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahā-Viṣṇu, Mahā-Viṣṇu is Sada Śiva, the outer descent is Śiva. So Advaita Prabhu is considered Mahā-Viṣṇu or Sada Śiva, the devotee Śiva. Not the master of this world of giving punishment to the culprits of this world, by dissolution, by imparting dissolution, not that. But the Vaiṣṇava, vaiṣṇava nangata sambu ?

Sada Śiva has got His kingdom just below Vaikuṇṭha. Śiva is the conception impersonal and personal, both combined. Personal differentiated and non- differentiated, but the differentiated covering the non-differentiated area, Virāja Brahmaloḥa, non-differentiated. But covering that something extended towards Vaikuṇṭha in the plane of dedication and something towards the land of exploitation. That is the conception of Śiva. That the impression of the function that is found entering into Vaikuṇṭha, that differentiated conscious area, that is Mahā-Viṣṇu. And this side, that is Rudra and the whole non-differentiated area within Him.

sada manistha sada janma vit praman virinci tameti tarat param imam avyacritam ?

Not very expressive, very mystic conception of Śiva. Differentiation in this side and also that side, and the middle, margin, the covering of that margin is something extended this side and something that side. This side the lord of exploitation, and that side the servant of Nārāyaṇa. That is the peculiar position of Mahā-Viṣṇu. There is tyāga, tyāga and bhoga, bhoga and sevā, three things list there, three represents, bhoga is the enjoyer of māyā, leader of the opposition party, the leader, husband of māyā. And on the other side he's a servant of Viṣṇu. And also the middle, the marginal position also he's covering, tyāga, renunciation. Enjoyment, renunciation and service, three things together, Mahā-Viṣṇu. Sometimes he's seen to enjoy here, but His tendency is always to get out of this enjoyment. He's a beggar but still he's married and he has got his children, sometimes he lives with them, and sometimes wandering as beggar, renunciation. And sometimes he is seen to fight against Nārāyaṇa, Viṣṇu, giving opposition, giving indulgence to the demonic class. And sometimes he's seen to be very submissive to Nārāyaṇa and praying: "Why You have engaged me in this awful duty, it is my bad luck. You my Lord You have given attachment to this function, this is very undesirable for me." Submitting to Him, then again fighting against Him, going to fight in favour of his demon disciples, in this way. The next thing, both, the beginning of Vaikuṇṭha and the highest position of this māyā, and including the renunciationists.

Bhakta Thomas, but now he's disappointed, so he's beside himself, can't contain him within himself. What to do? Half mad, cut his sacred thread, getting is one and same, jumbled together.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But what she told?

Devotee: Yes, I could not answer her, she kept on saying Ramakrishna is the same as Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "I am quite satisfied with Ramakrishna, you do not know him properly, so you are boldly giving assertion like that. What do you know about Ramakrishna?" She will tell against you. "Who is Ramakrishna, do you know? He's both Rāma and both Kṛṣṇa." Ha, ha. "Rāma and Kṛṣṇa both combined, he is Ramakrishna. What do you know?" They will say to you.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva-Goswāmī
Mahārāja

83 or 82 - May

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: the conception about whom is given in Bhāgavatam, Caitanya-caritāmṛtam. He's an autocrat but He has got the heart which is full of infinite love. We are out in search of such a master. We should not think that the path is covered by the flowers, but it may be spread with thorns also. It is necessary to test our sincerity that how much is our hankering for that Lord.

brahmadi deva yadi dhana nahi pai ?

There is a Bengali verse. Even the god like Brahmā the creator cannot bring Him in his meditation.

brahmadi deva yadi dhana nahi pai ? In another:

hari virinci vancita deham ?

The Brahmā and the Śiva, they have got aspiration after Him but no guarantee that they have got it. We have come out for such an ideal. So you must be prepared for anything, any demand what may be necessary as the price for that. Only if we may take, we may not get Him, but still we must, we want to remain on the path of searching Him. There is an English proverb, "Virtue is its own reward." Virtue is its own reward, "that I am virtuous, yes, that is my reward. I don't want anything else by living a virtuous life." So, that we are in the path of search of the highest truth of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, that is our reward. We don't want any other reward or success. What can be attained that can be stale, so it can never be attained in such a way that the future will be something stale.

āśliṣya vā pāda-ratām pinaṣṭu mām, adarśanān marma-hatām karotu vā yathā tathā vā vidadhātu lampāto, mat-prāna-nāthas tu sa eva nāparaḥ

("Kṛṣṇa may embrace me in love or trample me under His feet. He may break my heart by hiding Himself from me. Let that debauchee do whatever He likes, but He will always be the only Lord of my life.")
(Śikṣāṣṭakam, v 8)

viracaya mayi daṇḍam dīnabandho dayām vā gatiḥ iha na bhavattaḥ kācid anyā mamāsti nipatatu śata-koṭiḥ nirbharam vā navāmbhas tad api

("O friend of the needy, whether You chastise me or reward me, in the whole wide world I have no other shelter but You. Whether the thunderbolt strikes or torrents of fresh waters shower down, the Cātaka bird (who drinks only the falling rainwater) perpetually goes on singing the glories of the rain cloud.") (Śrīla Rūpa Goswāmī)

We are given advice and understanding in such a way that for the highest destination we have got a conception of given by the Kṛṣṇa consciousness, we must be prepared for anything else, any opposition, any opposition. We shall rather invite, like Queen Kuntī Devī, "Please put me in danger, constant danger, that is my friend to remind me about You. I have thought it best, so give me danger." So that should be our attitude in the quest of Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa. And not that already acquired things at our disposal, the committees, the houses, the money, the power, 'and there is Kṛṣṇa, the monopoly of Kṛṣṇa is there in the power-mongering and showing of so much grandeur in the material world.' It is not there. It is in faith, deep, deep faith, deep faith, the ideal. We are to consult the scriptures, we are to consult the great honest men, the mahājanas, śāstra. And hṛdaye nābhya nujñāto, and our sincere heart, we can't ignore that, we must have its deep, deeper approval, the deeper approval of our heart that what we are doing we are doing well, we are doing rightly. This sort of underground consciousness we must have when we go to search about Kṛṣṇa.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

na dhanam na janam na sundarīm, kavitām vā jagad-īśa kāmaya mama
janmani janmanīśvare, bhavatād bhaktir ahaitukī tvayi

("O Lord, I have no desires to accumulate wealth, followers, beautiful women, or salvation. My only prayer is for Your causeless devotional service, birth after birth.")

(Śikṣāṣṭakam, v 4)

The causeless attraction of Kṛṣṇa, not dependant of any other things or relations. The causeless, independent of all acquisitions of this mundane world. It is independent, it is independent, it does not depend on anything else. It is absolute, absolute, everything has got stand on it, but it is absolute. Exclusive attraction for Him otherwise He won't care to have any connection with us. He cannot tolerate any partner, Kṛṣṇa can't tolerate any partner, because He's the Absolute. We heard from our Guru Mahārāja (Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura) that there are so many qualifications, the characteristic in Him, in Nārāyaṇa:

vaisadya rasa madyasya vijasa yasa sasyiya jnana vairagya ascaiva vairagya ? Nārāyaṇa or Kṛṣṇa, He has got vairagya, His indifference to the world. Our Guru Mahārāja remarked in this way, that His vairagya, His indifference to this world is so much that we can't find Him though searching. Everything belongs to Him but His abnegation, His indifference to this world is so much that He could not be found out in any part of this world which is in His possession. He has got such a type of vairagya, indifference. So indifferent to everything but only He cannot be indifferent to His beloved. In consideration with the other parts of the world He's everywhere, He's nowhere. Everything is in Him, nothing is in Him. But in the case of His devotees: mayi te teṣu cāpy aham:

(samo 'haṁ sarva-bhūteṣu, na me dveṣyo 'sti na priyaḥ ye bhajanti tu mām bhaktyā, mayi te teṣu cāpy aham)

("I am equally disposed to all souls, therefore no one is My enemy or My friend. Yet, for those who render devotional service unto Me with love, as they are bound by affection for Me, I am similarly bound by the tie of affection for them.")

(Bhagavad-gītā, 9.29)

"I am always there, they're always in Me." In Bhagavad-gītā we find that. In Svarūpa-śākti we cannot withdraw from His Svarūpa-śākti. Of course, to show His pastimes in different ways, that is another thing. But we cannot be completely indifferent towards it, to the Svarūpa-śākti, mayi te teṣu cāpy aham.

So, one who has got a slight drop of kṛṣṇa-bhakti, naturally he will be apathetic to anything else, anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna. Ādi means yoga and śaithilya. Anyābhilāṣa, fleeting desires, baseless, temporary, fleeting desires, that is anyābhilāṣa. Karma, organised way, organised active life in which morality and also utilitarianism can be seen, and some sort of conception, mostly imaginary, of Godhead, karma. Jñāna, to eliminate from the present environment of attraction and complete withdrawal from this world of exploitation and to take shelter only under deep and infinite slumber, something like that, samādhi, brahmā-samādhi or prkṛti-samādhi. Either in Virāja, the highest, the crudest conception of this worldly energy, and Brahmāloka, the outermost conception of the real world of Vaikuṇṭha.

Karma, jñāna, yoga, yoga means, jñāna and yoga slight difference between them. The yogīs engaged in search of the innermost substance, what is within, anuraniyam, the smallest of the small. All-pervading, which is living in the innermost position of an atom or electron. And Brahmā who is all-accommodating, all-comprehensive. Two sides, two aspects of the existence, all-comprehensive and all-permeating, jñānī and yogī. Jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam:

(anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyam, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-śīlanam bhaktir uttamā)

("One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa favourably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service.")

(Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.1.11) + (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.21.11, purport)

+ (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19-167)

Not any contamination of all these filthy ideas of life, ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu. Ādi means śaithilya, slothfulness, indifference to the attempt which is necessary for the service of Kṛṣṇa, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam. Then also another thing to be considered, ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-śīlanam, not prātikūlyena. In Bhāgavatam there is a śloka: karma desa vaiyat caita dayo nibaya ?

In this way. It does not mean to touch the very inner meaning but externally it is giving some description. That anyone if comes in His connection direct or indirect, he's relieved of this worldly life. So, the Kaṁsa is always afraid of Kṛṣṇa, anyhow it brought him in the relativity of Kṛṣṇa, not in a loving attitude but in an animistic feeling, he's always afraid. The Śiśupāla, always has jealousy about Kṛṣṇa, but he cannot give out the thought of Kṛṣṇa, always thinking of Kṛṣṇa but jealous. So desa vai, this indirect connection with Kṛṣṇa also takes one to Kṛṣṇa. But the real adjustment is here in this way. Rūpa Goswāmī Prabhu has given in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu:

yad ari nama nija nama tu prapam ekam eva utitam tat brahma krsno ekyat kedanarkha krpamor yusohar ?

What is mentioned in the scriptures in different places, that anyone coming in connection with Kṛṣṇa, direct or indirect, they can attain Him. Then what is the analytical meaning here? That when the sun and the sun ray, the sun ray is included within the sun. So also when Brahmā, the mere consciousness is connected with Kṛṣṇa then it may be applicable that those who are in the cultivation of indirect way, they will come to Brahmāloka, sāyujya-mukti, up to Brahmāloka. Brahmāloka is in the broadest sense included in Kṛṣṇa. So desa and vai, all these indirect cultivation, they come to up to this Brahmāloka.

Yad ari nama means what talked about the enemies of Kṛṣṇa, ari nama, and nija nama, those who are His own loving, affectionate servitors. Prapam ekam eva utitam, generally it apparently seems that their attainment is one and the same, but Rūpa Goswāmī is giving a caution to us. Ekam eva utitam, approximately speaking it seems like that but really it is not so, because in the case of the indirect cultivation the Brahmāloka has been identified with Him. And those that are having a favourable cultivation about Kṛṣṇa, for them the Svarūpa-śākti, and according to their capacity and nature there is a great differentiation from Vaikuṇṭha to Goloka and in different rasa.

So approximately it has been described in the śāstra that it is one and the same. In any way one may make connection with Kṛṣṇa and he will get Him, but Him means a great difference between the two aspects of Him. One is Brahmāloka, just in the beginning of His land, and another is His own home where He plays with His friends. A great gulf, the distance we are to understand when we are to adjust the things in this way.

Yad ari nama, means about the enemies. Nija nama, and about His own. Prapam, their prospect. Ekam eva, only one and the same. Utitam, catitam, is described in the scripture. Tat, that statement. Brahma krsno ekyat, it has been taken that Kṛṣṇa and Brahmā is one and the same. The Kṛṣṇa and the lustre of His country, of His domain, is one and the same. With this basis of consideration this has been stated in the śāstra.

We are to be wakeful to this fact. Kṛṣṇa brahmayo ekyat, how? Kedanarkha kṛpamor yusohar, just we may think that the sun and his ray, we may sometimes include the whole extensive ray section also within sun. But a pencil of ray is where and the real sun is where? A great difference. It is also like that. Kedana, kedana means ray and arkha means sun, sun and its ray. We can include the ray within the sun sometimes and we can eliminate the ray and we can consider only about the sun. So this we should understand the statements of the śāstra in different places when they say like this the underlying assimilation in such a way. We must be wakeful to that.

So ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-śīlanam, it is our necessity, the favourable cultivation about Him, which pleases Him. This has got also this enemy like dealings also necessary in His līlā but we won't like it, we should not like it, we should not select it for our own. We shall try to go within more and more, nearer, nearer approach there. And it is the ānukūlya and prātikūlya, it can be traced to the highest point, last point.

And so our aspiration is for a rūpānuga. The Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, as Mahāprabhu has recommended for us, they're rūpānuga, rāgānuga, rūpānuga. First thing they're rāgānuga, not ayīyanuga (?), not the path of law and rules, regulations, but they select more the path of heart, connection of heart to heart, that is rāgānuga. And in rāgānuga also there are different types, within that rāgānuga is rūpānuga. Rāgānuga, the way of loving service and free from all rules, regulations that is formality, not much formality but so much sincerity, that is rāgānuga. And rūpānuga, that is a particular group in the mādhyama-rasa. Mādhyama-rasa, the central line of the mādhyama-rasa side. The highest service, the wholesale twenty-four hour service and the central thread comes to begin for us rūpānuga. So Mahāprabhu's sampradāya is generally known as rūpānuga-sampradāya. Both love and mādhyama-rasa combined in the central line, the line of Rādhārāṇī, rūpānuga. The beginning is there.

So Narottama Ṭhākura, a great Guru in our line of divinity, his aspiration he's describing himself. "When the day will come when my Guru Śrī Lokanātha Goswāmī, he will take me by my hand and put me in the charge of Śrī Rūpa? His Guru will carry him to Śrī Rūpa Goswāmī for rūpānuga line, he will hand over me. When will that day dawn to show my fortune that I am replaced by my present Guru, Lokanātha Goswāmī, to the hand of Rūpa Goswāmī?" That is the aspiration we are told expressed there.

But we don't think this is anomaly, we don't think that is crossing the law of service to Guru. Here, should we think that Narottama Ṭhākura has committed any spiritual wrong when he says like that? It is out of nature it is necessary, it is necessary according to the detection of inner acquaintancy, inner nature, the complete analysis of the inner nature demands this sort of ostentatious transfer, we find it. And there should not be any anomaly.

The form and substance going together always, the form to help the substance, ideal. Ideal is all in all and the form conceived to help the ideal and not to oppose it. This sort of aspect of the truth we must realise, it will help us a great deal in the whole of our life. What is the relation between the ideal and the form? Form is created to help the ideal, ideal realisation, the form is coming to here. Sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyah, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ: none have pleaded so strongly on behalf of form, the Lord Himself is pleading with strongest term.

śreyān sva-dharmo viguṇaḥ, para-dharmāt svanuṣṭhitāt sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyah, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ

("It is better to carry out one's own duties a little imperfectly rather than faultlessly perform another's duties. Know that even death is auspicious in the discharge of one's duties appropriate to his natural position in the ordained socio-religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous.") (Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35)

"Don't go to accept other's duty, rather die standing on the sphere of your duty." The strongest term He has asked us to take our position firmly in form, and at the same time.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

Why so much recommendation to stand on the form? Because I may not go down, to keep up in my present position, to maintain my own position. The general will consolidate his own position, but what for? Only he will take chance that he will go forward but not backward, he may not be pushed backward so he must strengthen his position, the general. But that is not the end of his object, his object is to go forward, he must not forget that, he's to go forward to attack his enemy and finish him. That should be his object. But he's asked by the medical science, "That you must consider that your position first that the enemies may not push you back." So, so much importance should be given to the form that it may not, my carelessness to eat may not push me back. But that does not mean that I won't go forward, "I have finished everything, my life is finished." No finish in our life, it is a dynamic, the truth is a dynamic one not a static finished in Brahmāloka or Virāja. That is another thing, complete withdrawal. But when we accept the life of service divine it is eternal, we can't deny. Always to go forward, go forward.

So we must be alert for progress, always for progress in our life. Though we come to a standard, every day's program there also must be novelty, not a stereotyped thing but novelty always in every days program. So form should be there but not at the sacrifice of the ideal which we can see by the grace of the infinite Lord.

Now the whole thing is concerning this, the trouble we find. Let God save us from this difficulty, this is a general difficulty which may come at every moment of every time in everyone's life. So a broad thing we are to understand clearly.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol!

Sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja, progress means to give up the present and to advance for the future prospect, that is progress.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

At the same time we may not degrade us and take it as progress. In the name of progress we may not degrade us. We shall be careful about that also. So the śāstra and the sādhu, the consideration and careful and selfless sincere consideration, that will come to our relief, na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid:

(pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati)

to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.") (Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40)

We are our own enemy and enemy is not outside that can damage us so much if we do not take part in that. So Kṛṣṇa is there and if we are sincere He will surely come to our help, we'll be saved, it is His test. What we select? We select Him or we select some other things given by Him. Ha, ha. So many charming things sent by Him to test us whether we are eager for Him or we're eager for things that may be given by Him. So we should always try to help us in the selection of His service and not by things given by Him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Any questions? I don't hear the voice of Kalangana any more, where is she? She is giving ārcanam perhaps? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura, sometimes in his writing refers to the analytic process and the synthetic process. Could you explain the difference between these two process'?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Give you some instance? Generally his lecture is synthetical. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura more analytical, but our Guru Mahārāja was more synthetical. Synthetical means always tending towards the centre. Whatever part he begins but tries to connect with the centre and then to deal with it in any way. And analytical, to begin from there and to go to the parts, and parts of the parts, in this way. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura analysed mostly, though of course the synthesis is there, connection with Kṛṣṇa. But our Guru Mahārāja Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, giving always a general characteristic, ontological aspect, ontological meaning, very busy always to take anything with the intellectual, the ontological satisfaction basis of everything. As is required by the present scientific civilisation.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: I think your speaking is more towards the synthetic also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mine?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, it was told like that, that mine is also synthetical. Rāmānuja is synthetical, Madhvācārya is analytical.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: If someone in the path of devotion becomes too much concerned with the external consideration and loses sight of the question of internal earnestness or hankering for the real thing, then in what way can he be delivered from that kind of misconception?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It will take time and also it depends on the stage of devotion. His awakening in the inner world will help him to dissolve the earnestness with the external side. As much as his awakening will be in internal world his objects of worship will also be of the same level and it will be subtler and subtler. Bhāva-bhakti, generally it is said that brahmacārī's and gr̥hasthas in that stage, they're in ārcana-adhikara, with things yajña-māyā yajña. They will, whatever they will do they will do with the help of these material articles. Sannyāsīns are supposed to do mental worship, not that, independent of material things, because they are sannyāsīs external physical things may not be available to them and they're promoted to such a stage that only with the help of mental ideas they will go on in their worship. This is the middle class of devotee.

And the highest class of devotee they're above ārcanam. They're seeing that everyone is worshipping Him and only he's the exception, he can't. That is their vision. Everyone is in connection with God, but he's trying but he can't get the real connection. That is his temperament, of the uttama-adhikārī, "That I am deceived, I fail, I am unfortunate." But at the same time he finds the connection of Kṛṣṇa with the whole of his environment. That is a peculiar type of devotion of Kṛṣṇa consciousness in the uttama-adhikārī.

We can guess, conjecture, because the object of our attainment is infinite, as much as we can approach to have a conception of infinite, so much so, we cannot but find ourselves very, very meagre in the comparison of that.

Just as Newton told: "You say I have finished the world of knowledge, but I say that I am more learned than you, because, I know that it cannot be finished. But I am only collecting some pebbles on the shore of the infinite ocean of knowledge. So I am more learned than you."

So, as much as one has some connection, some conception of the infinite, so much so, he feels himself that he's smallest of the small. And when we do not care about the very nature of infinite we may say: "Oh, I can finish it in no time."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!
Gaura Hari bol!

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Difference there may be, and also clash may be, but that should be of a proper type. The fighting of the dogs should not be the ideal of the fighting of the man, or even the lion.

End of side A, May 1983, start of side B.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: more political fight. That shows the standard of our faith in the Supreme. The justice is there, the Almighty justice is everywhere. With this consciousness we are to handle with anything and everything. Just as suppose in the presence of the father or guardian, if the children they want to quarrel but their quarrel will be of a particular type when they're thinking that they're in the front of their guardian. The father is there, the mother is there, and the children are quarrelling for some, "He has snatched my thing, I am given less," and this may be quarrel. But under guardian's eye. So our fight should be that we are under guardian's eye, Kṛṣṇa is there, Guru is there. We have seen almost of same order of affection we get from them when we have got proportionate affection from the same source. And just before them how should we behave? Ruthless, merciless, and heinous, that such mood and such sort of freedom is rudeness. This shows that how much God consciousness, Guru consciousness, Kṛṣṇa consciousness is within us. Or we think we are masters, we are masters, we are seeing the matter, the object, we are more related with the objective world than the subjective. That by capturing the physical aspect of things we have done everything, what is this?

Rather, the ideal side, that is more important than the physical acquisition which was necessary to help propagate the ideal. The ideal is all valuable, not those materials that were gathered to help preach the ideal. Am I clear?

Devotee: Yes. Cent-per-cent. Hari bol!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Who are more interested with materials than with spiritual, so the spiritual dissatisfaction will come there as a reaction in general. To make too much with the material aspect, it can't satisfy the seekers after truth, quench their thirst. Ultimately none of you have come for material grandeur, you have come to surrender to the beauty of the ideal. The higher type of ideal, that has drawn you all surely, not the external grandeur. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And there that is normal. And we may be blessed with that sort of tendency in our heart.

Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Mahāprabhu showed that He's afraid of with Pratāparudra, the material grandeur, power. But when Pratāparudra was found to serve Jagannātha in the form of a meanest servant. "Oh, though he sits on the throne, but to Jagannātha he considers himself to be a sweeper." Pratāparudra, though a king externally, but internally he thinks that he's a sweeper of Jagannātha. Then Mahāprabhu's heart melted. He also showed that we should try to look at things in this way, through his laghima, ego, how it is modest, how it is humble. That should be the standard of judging our friend.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Let us be blessed with that standard, that eye. We may not be conquered by others' ideal. Let God save them also from that sort of endeavour and adventure. They're thinking they're progressing with much adventure.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Adventure, adventure, to explore the spiritual world, the world of humility and humbleness. There is much jewel, and what jewel we can find in the external surface? We want to be saved from that sort of charm of the external grandeur.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

There is a story in Sanātana's life, which is found in Bhakta-mala, and also Rabindranatha Ṭhākura has written a poem in that connection. In the (verge of Badavan ?) District, there was a village, Mankore, and there was a rich brāhmaṇa family, and who had many lineage of worship and festival of many religious types. But suddenly they became poor, and the brāhmaṇa he says that: "I am the best of this lineage, I'm so poor that I cannot perform so many festivals that used to be performed here every year." So, he was a devotee of Mahādeva, Śiva, he began to pray very fervently to his lord of heart, Śiva, "That please help me that I can keep out the glory, the name and fame of my ancestors."

Then in dream he got some suggestion, "Go to Vṛndāvana, there is Sanātana Goswāmī, meet him and your aim will be satisfied." Then in those days, no train, no bus, only by walking the thousand miles the brāhmaṇa went to meet Sanātana in Vṛndāvana. Then anyhow, on the banks of Yamunā, he found Sanātana in a hut and taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa. He met him and told his own things.

Then after giving hearing to him, Sanātana told: "Brāhmaṇa, it was true that previously when I was Prime Minister to Bengal, I gave many things to many brāhmaṇas, satisfied them. But now you find me I am a beggar."

"Yes, I see your condition. But how can I think that my lord, Śiva, he has frustrated me, cheated me, I can't think like that."

"But what can I do? You see me."

"Yes, I see your position." Then, disappointed, the brāhmaṇa is coming away.

Then Sanātana Goswāmī suddenly, something came in his mind. "O brāhmaṇa, come, come. Śiva has not disappointed you. You see there is some rubbish gathered together. I think that one very bright stone was found one day and I put it there. That may be the touchstone and if it is so then Śiva has given you dream rightly." The brāhmaṇa removing the rubbishes found a bright stone. "It may be the touchstone. You take it and all your difficulty will be removed."

The brāhmaṇa took it. "How fortunate I am. Śiva, my lord has guided me to a proper place and I have got it." And now going he was always thinking that, "It maybe ordinary glass also, but I must find some iron." And when searching he found a small iron nail and took it and touched and it converted into gold. "Oh, how fortunate I am, I have got a touchstone, I'm so fortunate in the world, I've got the touchstone." He's going, but fortunately the reaction came in his mind. "This is really touchstone but why that man Sanātana Goswāmī, he so neglectfully put them in the rubbish? How is it possible? It can't be thought out that this thing should be so much neglectfully dealt, why?" Then the next, second thought came to him, in the heart of that fortunate brāhmaṇa, "That he must have something more greater, higher, then he could neglect this thing." The second thought came in his mind, "He's in possession of something higher, substance." And then the third stage he came to think that, "I have found such a saint and if I go back only with this then I am deceiving myself. It is a proof that he's a saint of the highest order that he could neglect this touchstone in such a way, hatefully. I have found such a sādhu, such a saint, and if I leave him then I commit a great mistake in my life. It will be difficult to find such a saint in the world." So he came back, retraced, and when came in the front of the cottage of Sanātana, then it came to its zenith. He threw away that touchstone into the river and fell on the feet of Sanātana. And it is mentioned:

yada hani hari hadhani mani yena mano mani ?

"You have got, you are in possession of such a wealth that you did not care a touchstone to be a valuable thing. I want that valuable thing from you. I don't like to be deceived by this touchstone, valuable thing." He threw it to the water and fell at his feet.

So external things, the charm of the external precious things can be conquered in this way. Gaura Hari bol! The grandeur can attract the self-deceivers.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Kṛṣṇa is such, He does not tolerate any second of him competition, so no alternative. Kṛṣṇa is the only wealth, all others in our paraphernalia should be very, very insignificant. We should be satisfied with that, satisfied with that. Only the whole adoration He should command from our heart. And there should not be anything around us which may attract us, disturb our concentration towards Him. Only with the exception of His devotees doing those that will help me towards right direction, towards the direction of Kṛṣṇa.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi
Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

What was the capital of (Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta) Swāmī Mahārāja
.....

Devotee: Forty rupees.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What was the capital of Nityānanda Prabhu?

ata bhuli nityananda bhumi gauri yai sanat padva jana dulai lotai ?

His property was that of a negative character. He appealed and began to cry and request, and then began to roll on the door. "Please accept Gaurahari My Lord, accept My Lord Gaurahari, you will be saved, you'll be saved beyond your conception, you'll be saved. Take Me." In this way His appeal and He is crying and He's rolling on the door.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

That their main nature should be of that propaganda, "It is my business, my earnestness, my necessity to satisfy my inner tendency, inner hankering I should do it." Not by suppressing and oppressing others.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Deserve and have, deserve, try to promote the line of deservation. Deserve, and then He's eager to embrace you, deserve and have. Having is only a consequent result. Deserve, try to deserve.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Mahārāja, Mahāprabhu tells:

sarvatra prasar hoibe mora nama ? Mora nama is Caitanya Mahāprabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Both. Ha, ha. We can take both sides, ha, ha. Who will preach and whom He will preach, ha, ha, ha. His name means the Name which He's out to preach, and also consequently His name who'll be preaching, whose preaching the Name. We shall accept both of them, won't allow anyone to go away, ha, ha, ha.

Mahāprabhu's meaning is of course clear, He wants that the Name I am preaching.

But we shall catch Him also there.

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. And He will be reluctantly refused.
Ha, ha, ha.

Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura
Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura saw with his divine eye that things are advancing in such a way that it cannot be but that this plain thing should be understood by the general mentality. And there is the threatening of the atom war, ha, ha, that is a contribution positive to this, ha, ha, ha, threatening, do or die, ha, ha, ha. The physical civilisation and this is spiritual civilisation. Come hither or be the victim of the atom bomb. Don't identify you with this physical body that is in danger in wholesale, ha, ha, ha. But try to get out of this physical existence some noble and higher divine existence of you. There is time yet, in the meantime you free yourself from the malidentification that you die by the atom bomb. You won't die if you enter into Kṛṣṇa consciousness, no death.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi
Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Not only no death but also a life of nectar eternally. So, it is nearby, very close to you. Rather you have come, run a long way to this material world to die. But your Kṛṣṇa consciousness nectaral ocean is very near to you, as near as you are, ha, ha, ha. Your real self is there. Why do you care for all these things.

tvam tu rājan mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim imām jahi na jātaḥ prāg abhūto
'dya, deha-vat tvam na naikṣyasi

("O King, give up the animalistic mentality of thinking: "I am going to die."
Unlike the body, you have not taken birth. There was not a time in the past when you did not exist, and you are not about to be destroyed.")
(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.5.2)

At the conclusion of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the warning is given to Parīkṣit Mahārāja, and to all of us. That this animal consciousness you butcher, murder, kill, this animal consciousness of yourself that you die. Why do you allow yourself to come down and identify yourself with this material world which dies? You are above death, you yourself is already above death, what you are really, that is above death. That does not die when the matter is being transformed into this and that. Tvam tu rājan mariṣyeti, this idea you kill. Paśu-buddhi, this is animal consciousness, your false identification of your self with this body. That is the cause, you disconnect yourself with the material body.

Just as in your dream you may see that your beheaded body is lying there, but a beheaded man may not have any existence. But in dream you can see that your dead body is there. So also, what you are seeing, that is like that. You are independent as a seer of this world. The world is being destroyed but we may be an on-looker. "Oh, the world is being destroyed." From aloof you are looking, you are not included there, you can make you separate from this malidentification. It is time, you do it, immediately begin. That you are an on-looker, you are subject and not object. The objective world may vanish, even the world, the solar system may vanish, but you are not a member of that mortal world. You are a seer, always a subject, and your prospect is on the other side, on the higher side, super-subjective side. Don't mingle and tangle yourself in this material world. You have come to mix with this material, you are taṭastha, but on the other side there is a land of prospect for you. It is infinitely spread there, begin your activity there, your prospect there, cultivation in that land. That will produce gems, gold, for you. So that is the scientific basis. And this cannot be ignored in a rational mind.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

And Gaurāṅga and Nityānanda came with what sort of high prospect for us? The loving lap of our Lord and His friends and His loving servitors. So much love we cannot conceive even in this mundane world in such quantity and quality it is waiting for us to embrace. Go back to God, back to home, back to Godhead. The conception of Godhead is such and such.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: Mother Kulangana ke bole ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where is mother Kulangana?

Devotee: I would like to say that since I came to this movement I was praying to Lord Kṛṣṇa to sleep on a tree

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: I was very much attracted by the six Goswāmīs. But now since I am here in Navadvīpa I am praying to Kṛṣṇa to allow me to stay in this blue house

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: and take all this wonderful Prasādam that Kṛṣṇa provides every day, is my answer to your question.

Devotee: When I came I was praying to Kṛṣṇa, like Goswāmīs, I want to sleep under the tree. But now I came to Navadvīpa I want to stay in this blue house

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: And take your Prasādam.

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: I think if I can do that I will be great devotee.

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She comes almost every day in the evening with some Prasādam ...

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: and I take it.

Devotees: Hari bol! Hare Kṛṣṇa. Jai!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol!
Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: She comes from a highly placed family in Poland.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: In Poland her family is very highly placed. But she's taken refuge rather in the real land of freedom, your holy feet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Navadvīpa. Nadia.

Devotee: navadwīpa hanagrama dwipa hana nayi jahiya yahirana

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The saviour, not only saviour, but giver of the highest nectarine life. Ambition, the gate, the door to enter. Specially the aparādha-bhañjan-pāṭ, the special portion of Navadwīpa where all the offences were forgiven by the Lord without any reservation, unreserved.

("When He returned to His birthplace, Nadia, after five long years of sannyāsa, millions of people rushed to see Him, feeling a most wonderful and irresistible love attraction. Deeply moved with eyes full of eagerness, they beheld their Lord who attracted their innermost heart of hearts. Excited by His ecstatic presence there arose a continuous tumultuous uproar that spread in all directions and pierced the sky. To please their beloved Gaurāṅga, the people's voices repeatedly resounded the Holy Names of Kṛṣṇa. I sing with joy the unending glories of my golden Lord Gaurasundara, the beautiful divine abode of pure love.") (Prema-Dhāma-Deva-Stotram, 34)

When I was composing this poem on this chair, there, I tried to think of that picture when Mahāprabhu came here. And suddenly I felt that He's here

Devotees: Hari bol! Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. Hari bol!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I could not check my tears. Somewhat presence of Him I felt in my heart at that time. But I saw, nyāsa-pañca-varṣa-pūrṇa-janma-bhūmi-darśanaṁ, as the usage amongst the sannyāsīns, that sometimes after sannyāsa they're to give a visit to his home. Something following like that, He came to Navadvīpa after five years, nyāsa- pañca-varṣa-pūrṇa-janma-bhūmi-darśanaṁ. And, koṭi-koṭi-loka-lubdha-mugdha-dṛṣṭi- karṣanam, and millions of eyes, attention, millions of eyes were attracted by Him. All lubdha, very greedy, and mugdha, means not very, mugdha means something enchanting. Lubdha, earnestness and charmed heart. They came to see Him by millions, koṭi-koṭi- loka-lubdha-mugdha-dṛṣṭi-karṣanam, attracted such attention that with their earnest and charmed, enchanted look, they came to have His darśana. And koṭi-kaṇṭha-kṛṣṇa-nāma- ghoṣa-bheditāmvaraṁ, and whoever came towards Him began to chant: "Hari, Hari bol!"

Devotee: Gaura Prema anandi, Hari, Hari bol!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That loud that chorus, congregational Name. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Mahārāja, Kulangana

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does she say?

Devotee: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: She offers her obeisances to you.

Devotee: (Mother Kulangana continues speaking, but not near enough to the microphone to record clearly)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She has a call for the worship of Rasarāja ?
She's taking leave?

Devotee: so you no very well in which kind of family I was born
.....

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: my family was most poor, and you know this very well.

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: She's making some protestation of humility.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is that she's going on?

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does she say? She complains?

Devotee: She is protesting that actually she comes from a very low family. She does not understand why I say that she comes from a high family. She comes from the lowest family.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Opposing you?

Devotee: Yes. But still she offers her obeisances first before she makes her protest.

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We find from the lips of Sanātana Goswāmī, that, "I have come from a very low family Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally people say that, "I am low, I am humble, I am bad, I am evil, everything. But my family is also low, that none can say very easily." We found in Sanātana Goswāmī that he's saying that, "I am low-born, not any other. I am low, I am humble, I am mean. But my family, I am low-born, family is mean," so much humility it is very difficult to find, it is found in you.

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotees: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hari bol! Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From your connection with whatever family, your connection has made that great.

Devotees: Hari bol! Jai.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whatever it maybe I do not know, but I can see clearly that your, pulam pavitram janani kitatya yesam kule vaisnava nama deha ?

It is written in the scripture that when one Vaiṣṇava is born in a particular connection he can purify your past connection also. Because the connection has contributed something to help her or him. So as a reaction they get that benefit from the Lord so they are purified thereby.

pulam pavitram janani kitatya yesam kule vaisnava nama deha ? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

83.1.5-6

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, In every activity there is a science, so I'm trying to understand the science of faith.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The science of faith, what is the science of faith? The underlying principle of faith is this:

'śraddhā'-sabde - viśvāsa kahe sudṛḍha niścaya kṛṣṇe bhakti kaile sarva-karma kṛta haya

["By rendering transcendental loving service to Kṛṣṇa, one automatically performs all subsidiary activities. This confident, firm faith, favourable to the discharge of devotional service, is called 'śraddhā'. Śraddhā means viśvāsa, faith, sudṛḍha, very strong, unflinching faith; faith in sādhu-śāstra-guru, faith in Kṛṣṇa. This is faith. If someone develops Kṛṣṇa bhakti, all their activities are finished, kṛṣṇe bhakti kaile sarva-karma kṛta haya. Nothing is left out if you have faith. We should have faith that if we do our duty towards the Absolute, then all our duties to the environment are automatically done."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.62]

If I do my duty towards the centre, everything is done, that is faith.

yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati yasmin prāpte sarvam
idam prāptam bhavati

["Enquire into that upon knowing which, nothing further remains to be known. Try to achieve that upon gaining which, nothing further remains to be gained."]

[Upaniṣads]

Faith covers the whole by accepting one. Apparently by accepting a part, He can cover the whole; that is peculiar there. If I can capture one the whole can be captured, if I love one the whole is loved. If I know one the whole is known. If anyone has got such sort of conception then that is the seed of faith and he approaches on that path of faith. By approaching the centre, all the branches all that sprung from His approached. Pouring water into the root the whole tree is fed. Putting food into the stomach the whole body can be fed, something like that. If one gets the key he gets the almirah, the iron chest, something like that. Such sort of faith, confidence, start, that is śraddhā, faith, that is faith. And he approaches in that way, otherwise how being a part I can claim the whole, our inner necessity to have the whole, but how it is possible? But it is possible only through the heart.

Once in Bombay our Guru Mahārāja [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura] gave an example to this. That a poor girl she has got nothing but if she's married to a prince who has got enough, then through that tie of affection she may think that all the properties of the prince belong to her. Something like that. Kṛṣṇa has everything under His control, we have nothing. But if we can establish a connection with Kṛṣṇa through affection, affectionate connection we can establish with Him, then we can have everything thereby through Him.

This is the idea, to get whole. By getting one is to get whole. By capturing the fort we capture the country. So capturing the controller we capture the whole that He controls. So how can one control and bhakti is such an astounding thing that śraddhā, bhakti, that the small can control the big, an atom can control the centre. It is the speciality of devotion, śaraṇāgati, surrender. Surrender is the most wonderful thing in the world which makes possible for the small to control the great, the smallest to control the greatest, only this means, through love, through surrender. The smallest part, the particle can control the whole only through faith, through surrender. He's so kind, kindness in His heart. By humility, by our incapacity: "I am the most wretched, most fallen so attraction should come to me. I'm the most negative, I represent the most negative aspect so the positive has got His, should have His greatest attention for this negative."

So, so much praise is shown about bhakti in scripture. Bhakti can do what is impossible; can control the high to the lower. This is affection, this is devotion proper; devotion proper is such in characteristic, that the high is controlled. Suppose a General after conquering a country has come home and his young child is taking him by his finger and drawing and he is going. Exceedingly powerful General controlled by a child, a child is drawing and he is following him, why? Through affection; to affection, or love, or faith, it is wonderful thing which can control the big for the low. So no such wonderful thing can ever be not only discovered but not even thought out, none can think also such things. But this is the real nature of faith, or devotion, or affection, what we call it. Where it is present, the big is controlled by the small, there bhakti is present there, bhakti is there, to be traced there. Where it is not seen no bhakti. Bhakti means this that the big is controlled by the small, and the inner thread is that of devotion, affection, surrender, and love. That is the real characteristic of bhakti. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. How wonderful thing it is, and how powerful thing it is, strange, strange, strange.

hṛdayo, bhaktair bhakta-jana-priyaḥ

[The Lord tells Durvāsā: "I am the slave of My devotees; I have no freedom apart from their will. Because they are completely pure and devoted to Me, My heart is controlled by them, and I reside always in their hearts. I am dependent not only on My devotees, but even on the servants of My devotees. Even the servants of My devotees are dear to Me."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.63]

The Lord Himself says: "What I say Durvāsā," Durvāsā was a big yogī, "What I say Durvāsā, I am already surrendered and committed to My devotee. I have no independence of My own. I am already committed to My devotees and I can't back out from that claim. So you'll have to go to that Ambarīṣa, as your appeal to Me is futile, useless, won't work anything, won't fetch anything for you. I am already committed there to My devotee, you will have to go back to My devotee and beg forgiveness there."

He says, Nārāyaṇa. And this is not hyperbole it is wholesale truth, not merely a show or poetry, it is truth cent per cent. aham bhakta-parārdhīno, hy asvatantra iva dvija sādhubhir grasta-hṛdayo, bhaktair bhakta-jana-priyaḥ: "This is My nature, My very nature is such Durvāsā, I am committed to My devotees. I have no independence. Iva, and this is My voluntary contribution, or acceptance, or commitment, this commitment is voluntary so though I am the Absolute still My voluntary commitment is such by nature. What to do?"

That is bhakti; that is bhakti. Gaura Hari. So we are out to find out the most secret wealth the world has ever conceived, secret power, or whatever you see which can control, the smallest can control the highest, greatest. That sort of learning, or tact, or whatever you may say, it is possible. Mahāprabhu came with that most valuable thing. "What do you do? You make yourself busy for nothing, or busy for rubbish's? Try to acquire this most valuable thread. The stand of the witch, magic stand, magic wand - try to find out, get this magical wand. Nothing so valuable ever discovered in the world. Take to this subtle most power by which the smallest can control the highest, the greatest. This is love, this is love, this is faith, this is affection. So cultivate, give up everything and cultivate about this, search for this, search for Kṛṣṇa, search for love, search for devotion. Die to live. This is self determination to the highest degree, self determination, self realisation to the highest degree is to acquire such position. By humility we may be master.

sadā hariḥ

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

And we'll be able to conquer the whole by that sort of qualification, and not by jumping and capturing and carrying and looting and fighting, not that.

Gaura Hari, Gaura Hari, Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, in the life of Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura, he had devotion to Kṛṣṇa yet attachment. At what point in his life did he leave that attachment, and the grace of Kṛṣṇa come down, what was that single point?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was, he lived when he was in the process of acquiring, when acquired then he challenged Kṛṣṇa: "You are going, You are slipping Your hand from my hand, but I challenge You to go from my heart if You can do it." That was a final state, but was the fall, that is in the stage of sādhana, in the way of realisation, not realised it, the slip came.

Devotee: Was it that he poked out his eyes, is that what brought the grace of Kṛṣṇa down to him?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At that time he had not attained siddhi, before attaining the stage of siddhi, the way of sādhana and in the course of realisation some fall here, there. But after he has attained the position of a siddha, svarūpa-siddha, even from svarūpa-siddhi the chance of fall is there. But after vastu-siddhi no fall is possible, very little but very rarely. From svarūpa-siddhi stage also one may fall. But even when he has placed in vastu-siddhi, acquired such place, no fall is possible any longer.

Devotee: So it is by the power of his sādhana or the sacrifice of his vision that the grace came down?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That sacrifice of the vision in that character it is shown that he has not finished, he has not attained finally, he's on the path of attainment, and as long as one is on the path of attainment he may fall, but very rarely maybe one may fall. Slip is possible when climbing, but when already climbed in a particular level then no possibility of any fall. From the beginning Bilvamaṅgala is not accepted as siddha. He was going to the prostitute regularly and so intensely he was habituated to that, all these things. Then gradually he got intimation leaving everything to go to Kṛṣṇa. First he went to the Māyāvādī sannyāsī, leaving this life of a debauch went to a Māyāvādī sannyāsī. But anyhow he was not satisfied, he got his dream about Kṛṣṇa, His grace, Kṛṣṇa's special grace he received, and then he left Māyāvādī and went towards Vṛndāvana. And when going to Vṛndāvana then also some break in his journey. That is he was captured by the beauty of a lady, perhaps near Maharastra or so. Then when the gentleman sent the lady for his service at night, in the meantime his conscience came back. And he begged for two pins and took them pierced his eyes with those pins and paid his daṇḍavats and went towards Vṛndāvana, finished.

That does not mean that when one has begun his journey the journey will be safe and finished in one stride. He may have some check according to his previous karma, some sort of obstacles may come in the way naturally. And after passing through the sādhana stage when he climbs up to the bhāva-bhakti then he'll be safe more. To begin is not to finish, there is a process between the two, to begin and to finish there is an interval. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, what is the significance of Mahāprabhu saving Gopīnātha Panayaka. Rāmānanda Rāya's brother, the son of Bhavānanda Rāya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow the pronunciation of the words, what is this?

Gopīnātha Paṭṭanāyaka, Bhavānanda, Rāmānanda, they are all Paṭṭanāyaka, their caste family. Vāṇīnātha was the youngest brother who used to serve Mahāprabhu. And the Gopīnātha he was a money collector under Pratāparudra, and he collected more money but did not give it to the royal treasury. So he had a loan and the king's eldest son wanted to get back all those monies by making some arrangement of his punishment. Showing him the fear of capital punishment, he took him on some platform and from there so many swords were arranged in the lower position and he will be pushed to fall on the so many swords and he will be cut into pieces. And that sort of capital punishment was arranged by the crown prince of Pratāparudra.

And so many persons ran to Mahāprabhu: "The Rāmānanda's brother, Rāmānanda is a great devotee and his brother is in such danger. The crown prince is imparting capital punishment to him, he will be thrown over the swords and he will be cut to pieces. If You intervene kindly then that man may be saved."

Mahāprabhu told: "What is this? It is all worldly affairs. What connection I have got to do in this matter? He has made, he has looted the cash of the king and the king is imparting punishment. And it is not My jurisdiction to go and ask the king give Me so many lākhs [one lākh is 100,000] of rupees to a beggar. And I am worth one paisa [a monetary unit of India and Pakistan worth one hundredth of a rupee]. I am a brāhmaṇa, a poor sannyāsī. Society has allowed Me to beg for My belly and not for lākhs of rupees I shall beg from him and he will give, why he will give Me? I won't stay with you I shall go to Allanatha, I can't tolerate all these troubles."

Then anyhow that went to Pratāparudra, to the king, that Mahāprabhu is leaving. "He is going to Allanatha, why He is doing so?"

"This is the matter."

"No, no. Why? I want the money and not the man to be killed. I want the money, why should you do this? So send some intimation to the crown prince that his capital punishment should be stopped. I want money."

Then the whole thing was otherwise. This is the story of Gopīnātha Paṭṭanāyaka. Then when the king Pratāparudra excused him, and also the money, the loan was also excused. And he was also given some reward: "That your previous service satisfied me very much. I do not care for only these few lākhs of rupees, you go and I am giving you a more higher, important engagement in my kingdom."

Then that Gopīnātha and Bhavānanda, the whole family came to Mahāprabhu to show their thankfulness to Mahāprabhu. "It is whether You told or not but because You went to leave Purī and went to go to Allanatha, this king Pratāparudra could not tolerate and he intervened into the matter and now we have been very much glorified. Instead of being killed we are glorified and You are the only cause."

They all came and fell flat under the feet of Mahāprabhu. That is the story.

And what do you say? The Gopīnātha Paṭṭanāyaka what did he do? I don't understand the word, what you say, Gopīnātha Paṭṭanāyaka, his name?

Devotee: Yes, it's just his name.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's a brother of Rāmānanda Rāya. Now what do you want to ask about him? I fail to understand.

Devotee: I just wanted to know the spiritual significance of that story.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Spiritual significance it may be that if anyone is connected in the service of the Lord then in his connection many may get that holy connection, many things may be got. Rāmānanda was favourite to Mahāprabhu. Though apparently Mahāprabhu did not participate into this matter, worldly matter, but still it was done, slight connection of Mahāprabhu. But this achievement is not very laudable. What Gopīnātha got, that is not very laudable. Not only Gopīnātha but his family was also treated that way.

Mahāprabhu asked: "What is Vāṇīnātha doing?" Who was an attendant to Mahāprabhu: "What he is doing?"

Vāṇīnātha is taking the Name of the Lord and when some number is finished and he is cutting one line in his body and taking the Name, waiting the death next moment. Vāṇīnātha, who was a devotee, who was a constant attendant of Mahāprabhu, this youngest brother, he, on the apprehension of his immediate death, he's taking Kṛṣṇa Nāma without caring for the future or any result whatever may come. He as not come to Mahāprabhu: "Please save me, I am Your whole time servant. I am only in connection with my brother for his fault I am taken prisoner and I am also being dealt with capital punishment, save me."

No, but whatever the will of Kṛṣṇa it may take place. He's taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa before the immediate possible death, he's doing. Mahāprabhu felt extra satisfaction for his satisfaction: "Yes, Vāṇīnātha is a real devotee. Without caring for any future adversities he's taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa." That should be the attitude of a pure devotee, whatever circumstance he faces, he does not care for that, he will take more intensely in the service of Kṛṣṇa, the Name of Kṛṣṇa, engage himself more intensely in the face of any danger, he won't shirk, he will face bravely any circumstances and will take the Name of the Lord. That should be our idea.

And there was one instance in this Pakistan affair. When after a few years, 1971 or so, the Pakistan two sides, East Pakistan and West Pakistan, there was a war and this East Pakistan became independent in that war. There was one devotee of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura living in East Pakistan and the West Pakistanis they thought that the Hindus are at the bottom of this revolt so they were killing Hindus right and left. So one devotee of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura named Kumud Babu, he was there. And one soldier came: "Here is a Bengali sādhu, I want to kill him" and asked him to come out.

He came: "What do you say?" "I shall shoot you."

"Oh, wait a little, wait a little my friend, I am coming." So he went to the room and took this Hari-Nāma malica and with his Hari-Nāma malica in hand counting he sat on the chair and asked: "Now you shoot me."

Anyhow, that soldier he could not do so. "No, no, no, you are, you cannot have any political impetus, so I don't like to kill you." He went back.

He came with malika in hand and sitting on the chair: "Now you shoot me" and began counting.

And that soldier, that murderer, he went back. "No, we have no apprehension or any fear from you, you are a real spiritual man, no apprehension of any political conspiracy from a man like you. I won't like to kill you." He went back.

His name was Kumud Babu, he was a devotee, a disciple of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. 1971 or so perhaps. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: So Guru Mahārāja, in the story of Gajendra, he prayed for protection from the Lord, so is that not as high?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not always, it is sometimes as he's inspired by the Lord he does so. In the case of pure devotees as subtle inspiration he receives from higher, he does that way. He may think that if by appealing a little I can live long, I shall be able to serve my Lord, so what is bad there. "I am an innocent, why have you come to kill me?" He may say, and his life may be saved, he may do that, he may do that, no harm. This human life is valuable and I'm really not partaking in the politics and if he appeals: "Oh, why do you kill me my friend, I am not a party to any political campaign. I am going on with my religious life. Please give me up." That sort of appeal or expression of any desire, that is not to be blamed because the human life is valuable, if I live I can serve.

So much disease has come and we take the medicine, we call for the doctor, why? Because this chance I have got in human body to do some service to my Lord. Why I should go to give up this life if possibility of continuing is there? So we take the medicine, we call for the doctor to continue this life because this valuable life may fetch some valuable property for me. And the next life uncertain, I don't know where I shall be born. So that is not bad. What will underlie the prayer; that will determine good or bad. For the service one can do anything and everything, for the service. For Kṛṣṇa and kārṣṇa, for the service of Kṛṣṇa and His devotees, to pray for that is no prayer for selfish purpose.

Rather, Sanātana Goswāmī was very eager to give his body up under the wheel of Jagannātha's chariot. Mahāprabhu depreciated that: "What do you do? Your body given to Me already, surrendered to Me, and I want to utilise your body in a very important way. And you want to give up your body by committing almost suicide under the wheel of the chariot of Jagannātha? What does it? This sort of body giving is not a very highly valuable devotion. If it were to be so I can die in a moment crores of times [one crore is ten million]. What is the value of this body? This is only a cage of flesh and blood. Only by giving this body we can capture Kṛṣṇa? It is foolish, what value this body has got? Only as long as we think that this is very important we have got this body consciousness. Only service of Kṛṣṇa that is being the object of our eternal aspiration, service of Kṛṣṇa, whatever's necessary, if to die for of Kṛṣṇa is necessary through service I shall die, if to live for His satisfaction is necessary I shall live. It will be determined by the serving attitude and that must be sincere not a diplomatic thought."

To accept death, that is physical courage, that is not a very laudable thing, to face death there are so many animals they fight together until one dies they continue fight. Physical courage is there, do not fly away, until one is dead they both fight, these cocks, the bulls, there are so many. If any fighting will begin then as long as one is not dead the fight won't be over. Physical courage that is not a very laudable thing, but only to utilise everything for the service of Kṛṣṇa, that tendency is the most valuable. To die for Him, to live for Him, whatever is necessary we shall be prepared for that; that is valuable.

Devotee: Mahārāja, I wanted to ask a question about gṛhastha life. If one partner...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gr̥hastha life of two sections, one because one cannot live a life of celibacy, he cannot but have to get a householders life. Another, the paramahansa, they are master of their senses, but still by the will of God they come here and live as a gr̥hastha. In Mahāprabhu's time, in Kṛṣṇa's time we find so many gr̥hastha, and child are also coming from them. But still they are supposed to be situated in the highest position above this lust, anger; all these things. Paramahansa, above any calculation of devotion, they're established there. Their gr̥hastha life should not be neglected as if they're unable to control their senses, not that. There is a possibility of a life when husband wife living and child is also coming, still they're cent per cent above sensual pleasure, sensual play, it is possible. And at the same time one when in the path of realisation cannot control his senses he will have to take some help in a very gentle way to go ahead on the path of devotion, then he's also. So two classes of household life we see.

End of side A, start of side B, 5th, 6th.1.83

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...tongue or the belly, another is honouring the Prasādam: "Oh, Jagannātha or Kṛṣṇa has taken this. How fortunate I am; I am tasting this Prasādam." To take, to honour Prasādam is not to eat to devour, to swallow, but the main thing there: "Oh, how fortunate I am getting this Prasādam which is already taken by Kṛṣṇa, Jagannātha, this taste that. And automatically the physical side is going on. When a devotee honours the Prasādam, his main aspect is he is honouring what is already taken by the Lord, his mind is concentrated there, not in the physical appeared thing. For ordinary people he is taking physical taste. The difference between, everywhere such difference, one looking at the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, another searching for the satisfaction of his own sense. The physical activity is one and the same in both the cases.

One has come to look at the Deities, how very beautiful the Kṛṣṇa, the Rādhārāṇī, Mahāprabhu, He came to grace the people in this way. Another man has come with the malpurpose: "Oh, so many ornaments there, I shall come in night and I shall take this golden crown and these ornaments, he's also looking at the Deity. So everything, the internal estimation is the most valuable thing, the angle of vision. Only physical activity has not got much value, approach, whatever we do, the plane of our approach; that is to be considered for the valuation of the activity.

rāga-dveṣa-vimuktais tu, viṣayān indriyaiś caran ātma-vaśyair vidheyātmā, prasādam adhigacchati

["However, a true devotee on the path of renunciation in devotion (yukta-vairāgya) acts exclusively for My transcendental satisfaction. Abandoning attachment and envy, although accepting sense objects with his controlled senses, he attains full contentment of heart."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.64]

Not under the control of the guidance of the senses, one is accepting, connecting, making connection with the external things. But he's no a prey for any affection or this dissaffection, not a prey to that, this is the negative side. And the positive side is that everything meant for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, he is doing, that is the positive side. And if I get out of the negative side we do not care for any pleasure or pain when we approach anything outside that cannot tie me down with this material world. In Gītā it has been dealt in details. The physical activity is not to be blamed, but how do you approach, that is the valuable thing. Do anything and everything but don't be a slave to that purpose of what you are doing. Only attend everything as your duty come to you and you are to deal with that. But don't be a slave to the result, the consequence, the pleasure and pain that duty will produce, don't be a slave to that karma-phala. If you can do with that spirit one can demolish the whole universe but he does not do anything, he's not responsible for doing anything.

yasya nāhaṅkrto bhāvo, buddhir yasya na lipyate hatvāpi sa imāḥ lokān, na hanti na nibadhyate

["He who is free from egotism (arising from aversion to the Absolute), and whose intelligence is not implicated (in worldly activities) - even if he kills every living being in the whole world, he does not kill at all, and neither does he suffer a murderer's consequences."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.17]

He does not kill neither he will have any reaction for that. Who? Who has got no charm for any loss or gain of his activities; in other words, he's working and standing on the plane of the universal wave. He's only mere instrumental; he has not got his own selfish end, purpose. Then he's working, he has got no selfish tendency so he's working on the universal wave is dancing, making him dance and he's an instrument to that. So he's not responsible for the consequence of his activity, it is so. Withdrawal from the negative side and then participation in the positive side to do anything for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa consciously, that will be more laudable.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: In the śāstras chastity for a woman is very important to be very loyal to her husband. And in devotee life if the husband is not as strong in some ways as the wife, is the wife ever justified to leave the husband, or should she try to stay Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, if husband is seen not in the way of the devotion towards Kṛṣṇa realisation, then she may leave husband.

gurur na sa syāt sva jano na sa syāt, pitā na sa syāj jananī na sā syāt daivaṁ na tat syān na patiś ca sa syān, na mocayed yaḥ samupeta mr̥tyum

[R̥ṣabhadeva says: "Even a spiritual master, relative, parent, husband, or demigod who cannot save us from repeated birth and death should be abandoned at once."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.5.18]

So he's not in the way of my highest welfare, friendship with him, that will damage me, I must avoid such company. My main interest is to march towards Kṛṣṇa. Who will help me I shall mix with him, I shall take his help and give help to him, by mutual cooperation we shall go towards Kṛṣṇa. But if one drags me down towards another direction than Kṛṣṇa then I must have to give up that company and to go alone towards Kṛṣṇa. He may be son, he may be a father, he may be a husband, he may be a wife, he may be anyone; he may even be a guru. Anyhow accepted a guru but it is shown that he is utpatha-prathipannasya, parityāgo vidhīyate:

[guror apy avaliptasya, kāryākāryam ajānataḥ utpatha-prathipannasya, parityāgo vidhīyate]

["A guru who is addicted to sensual pleasure and polluted by vice, who is ignorant and who has no power to discriminate between right and wrong, or who is not on the path of śuddha-bhakti must be abandoned."]
[Mahābhārata, Ūdyoga-parva, 179.25]

I shall have to go to the absolute goal, and anyone helping he's my friend, and anyone trying to deviate me to draw me from that path, I shall have to leave his company respectfully. My main absolute way, absolute end, absolute call, I shall attend and to do that whatever is favourable I shall accept, and unfavourable I shall have to reject. Otherwise I can't give up the main gain of my life.

Gurur na sa syāt sva jano na sa syāt (S-B, 5.5.18), Balirāja, Vibhiṣana, Prahlada, Bharata, Khatvangerāja, and yajña patnis, they disregarded their object of affection and went straight towards the Absolute Truth. My universal interest is there, the whole interest is there, so my ways will be fixed in such a way whoever will come to help me in that absolute way, he's my friend, and who will try to deviate me, he's my foe. The general instruction is such.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

Dharma means religious duty. We are bound when we come in this world we are bound by our birth to certain duties, action reaction, give and take, in the family, in the society, with the king, all these. But all sorts of duties should be cast off in consideration of the call of the duty of the Absolute. Sarva-dharmān parityajya: "I represent absolute truth, absolute good, so giving up everything; all phases of duty ignore and come straight to Me." That is the last conclusive advice of Bhagavad-gītā, the call, the absolute call.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi.

Devotee: Mahārāja, in Mahābhārata where Kṛṣṇa gives His own army to Duryodhana, and Arjuna chooses Him, even though he will not fight, to drive his chariot. Why did Kṛṣṇa choose not to fight in the battle, only to drive the chariot?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. Generally He tried His best to be neutral in the fight because Baladeva was in favour of Duryodhana's party, His elder brother. And when the fight began Baladeva went away for tīrtha-yatra so that He may not have to support Duryodhana, His own disciple. Duryodhana was disciple in this (gadad yujya?) from Baladeva, and favourite. And because Kṛṣṇa saw that: "My brother He left His favourite party and went on in pilgrimage, and I should also not participate wholly." But He cannot leave the really truthful party, He had sympathy. And to keep the balance He gave the soldiers towards Duryodhana's party, and Himself most empty handed went to help the Pāṇḍava Arjuna.

But you know that the physical force is not all, the guidance is everything, so His guidance as a charioteer, His advice in all affairs, that was all important and not fighting. In this way He tried to show that: "The least I tried to avoid this wholesale murder of the kṣatriyas in this battle of the whole of India but it was unavoidable. I shall have to do but most reluctantly, tried My best for peace." Only five, Yudhiṣṭhira was the real owner, his father was king but because his father died they're all minors the other party manipulated in such a way that they're usurped, usurper. But still He tried His best: "Only five villages give to these brothers." They didn't.

Then the war was inevitable and He took this attitude, and there almost the whole kṣatriya power was smashed in that, crushed in that war, finished. So such a dreadful war He was not ready to be party, as much as possible He avoided, but still it was inevitable. And He only advised them, guidance that is all important thing and all these physical forces this is nothing. The policy, the guidance that is all important. And specially Baladeva Who was in favour of Duryodhana was His favour, He also withdrew and He also should withdraw from the other party so the fighting They gave up and only as a charioteer going. But His high intelligence, guidance, that was everything, that facility the Pāṇḍavas got.

One day he went to fight against Kṛṣṇa with some weapon; that was other thing. Bhīṣma stopped the fighting and with folded palms began to pray to Him in praise. "Oh You Lord, You are Kṛṣṇa, You are Nārāyaṇa, You can destroy everything at Your glance, casting a glance You can destroy the whole creation. And to keep my promise You have broken Your promise that You won't take any weapon. You have taken weapon and You are running to kill me. You have broken Your promise to keep my promise that I made. Yesterday I promised that I shall force You to take weapon. You have kept my promise and You have broken Your promise, You are so generous, You are so big, so high." In this way Bhīṣma began to speak.

droṇaṁ ca bhīṣmaṁ ca jayadrathaṁ ca, karṇaṁ tathānyān api yodhavīrān mayā hatāns tvaṁ jahi mā vyathiṣṭhā, yuddhasva jetāsi raṇe sapatnān

[Kṛṣṇa tells Arjuna: "Slay (again) Droṇācārya, Bhīṣma, Jayadratha, Karṇa, and the many great warriors, all of whom have already been killed by Me. Do not hesitate - fight! Without any doubt, you will be able to conquer the enemies."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 11.34]

"It is I Who am doing this, this great war, this sacrifice of man killing, it is

I. So Arjuna you become merely instrumental to that. It is inevitable, the world forces, the fate of the world is coming to its doom, in this way." Apparently it is as if He's showing that He has got no, He does not want to help such a great man killing yajñā, but it is inevitable. "As much as possible I am withdrawing as you see as a man in Me, but still it can't be avoided." Only five villages were to be given to the other party but Duryodhana was not willing.

sukagra sudhi ne na vidyate yata me dini?

"The earth in the point of a pin, I won't give it to the Pāṇḍavas without war, without fighting." Duryodhana told. "What to speak of five villages to five brothers, only not a point of earth which can be contained in the point of a needle, I won't give it up." The other party was so much obstinate, and that's why war was inevitable.

And yato dharma satoja ?

Pāṇḍavas are religious and Kṛṣṇa is bound to side with the religious, and they're demonic, they must be on the opposite side. But Baladeva, He had some engagement of the other party. He was guru of Śiva, the opposition party leader. All these fights, sometimes it is necessary that one is following and asking his own person: "Go and help with sympathy the other party." It is diplomacy, to take part in one side, and to use another of his intimate men to participate on the other side, opposite party. It is diplomacy we find in the political world. And wholesale, the whole universe is like that, direct indirect, with the help of the both the world is going on.

So any important question? I shall close.

Devotee: One last question in this connection. How could Duryodhana who was demoniac be the favourite disciple of Baladeva? He was the favourite disciple of Balarāma. How could that be as he was wicked minded and would not allow the Pāṇḍavas their rightful Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That I answered here, that it is a policy in the creation the positive and negative together going, marching on. So Mahādeva is the leader of the opposition party, still he's a devotee, His own, Mahādeva, Śiva, he's indulging, seen to indulge the demonic power. So I told Baladeva is the guru of Śiva, Baladeva is the bifurcation from Kṛṣṇa. That is to; līlā means both and many parties are necessary by gradation. So He Himself extends Himself in such a way that to support so many parties as if against Him, really not, He's all inclusive. But still, some power must emanate from Him and supply the basis as if something is different from Him. Baladeva is the basis of so many which is not Kṛṣṇa at present, He's the basis of that, of different rasa.

Only for the līlā purpose it is necessary. Kṛṣṇa and non Kṛṣṇa and with them and there is another side, hlādinī, jñāna, bala, kṛīya [knowledge, strength, feeling], hlādinī, saṁvīt, and sandhīnī, [existence, realisation, ecstasy]. Baladeva sandhīnī, He extends the basis of the extension of the so many and so as if they're non Kṛṣṇa but really they're meant to work for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, those non Kṛṣṇa. So that deviation is necessary and that is supported by Baladeva and Baladeva's facsimile is Mahādeva, He's also encouraging so many demons and so the creation is going on in different ways. This is by thesis, antithesis, synthesis in Hegelian philosophy. Thesis then antithesis and harmonising both is synthesis. In this way we find the pastimes is going on of the Absolute, thesis, antithesis, synthesis.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, can I ask one more question about Duryodhana? When he was king for a while, when Duryodhana had power while the Pāṇḍavas were in exile.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow the name, Duryodhana, yes.

Devotee: When he had some power they say he was a very good king. The people were happy under him and he ruled well.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is by the help of morality he wanted to fight the real owner, that good management of others property cannot be a plea of his ownership. The property belongs to Yudhiṣṭhira and Duryodhana usurped it and he gave good management for the subjects. That does not mean that the property belongs to him. That was against the existing law of the country. Yudhiṣṭhira's father was the king and Yudhiṣṭhira and his brothers were minors. In that plea, taking advantage of that circumstance with the help of Dhṛtarāṣṭra, their elder uncle, Duryodhana dispossessed the Pāṇḍavas of their own property, because they're fatherless and they're minor, usurped his property.

The good management of others property, A's property, B is managing very smoothly, then B will be the owner of the property? That is one thing, another thing, the demons they depend on good law, but the deva, the gods, their characteristic is allegiance to the Absolute, to the Supreme Power. Generally this distinction we find, the demons may be more moral, and the gods they're more allegiant, faithful, towards the highest authority, the Absolute. Do you follow, no? The absolute allegiance to the Absolute Authority - that is more theistic life. And to depend on the moral more that is democracy, opinions of the so many, they're anti God. Can you understand, no?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, why do you say yes? Do you understand it?

Devotee: Yes, I understand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The opinion of the many to satisfy so many subjects that is one thing. That is to satisfy the plurality or to satisfy one, the division in two ways. To try to satisfy the one Absolute Autocrat, the owner, and another, morality, that is to satisfy so many, plurality. That is theistic and this is anti theistic. Vox populi is not vox dei, vox dei should be vox populi. [vox populi is public opinion, vox dei is the opinion of God].

The Abraham in your country, he told: "The government of the people, government by the people, government for the people." That is democracy, the basis of democracy, that is anti God. We say: "The government of the people it is all right, government for the people also all right, but government by the Absolute Law." Not by the people, mass is ignorant, mass is ignorant, so that cannot be the highest standard. The mass conception of justice cannot be the highest, the highest justice is above with the Absolute. And the mass should be guided to the standard of that Absolute Justice. They should be considered as student and not they're masters, the mass. So vox populi is not vox God, vox dei. But if the people they can be subservient to God they will be happy, that will be their benefit.

I'm not clear? What do you say? We must show our allegiance to the highest authority and to satisfy so many plurality that is not theism. They're all under māyā, they do not know what is good to them, the guardian knows what is the good of so many minor children, so to satisfy the child's mind that is not the high standard. To satisfy the mind of the guardian, that is high standard. We must search for the guidance of the Absolute Truth, Absolute, and not to satisfy by so many masses. To satisfy the masses that is demonic, and to be allegiant to the highest power, that is godly, deva-śakti, devi-sampada and aśura-sampada, in Gītā, property of two classes. Devi-sampada is allegiance to the highest power, and aśura-sampada which is based on the popular opinion of the so many ignorant persons.

In Germany some gentleman told: "Mass is ignorance, monarchy is mad, and dictatorship is something," in this way differentiated between different type of ruling, government. The mass is ignorant, connotation decreases, denotation increases, so to satisfy the mass that is not a credit. Rather they should be advised to satisfy the one Absolute, and those that do not care for this, plurality, so many:

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

The Absolute Truth they want to satisfy, their position is higher than those who are seeking satisfaction of the plurality who are ignorant.

Here I stop.

vāñchā-kalpatarubhyaś ca kṛpā-sindhubhya eva ca patitānām
pāvanebhyo vaiṣṇavebhyo namo namaḥ

.....

Devotee: ...temple I had visited.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You visited?

Devotee: Yes, and that Deity has some special magic. Of many tīrthas I have been to, something about that Deity, is a very enchanting Deity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now, what of that?

Devotee: They say that Deity came from Mahā-Viṣṇu Himself, was given.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahā-Viṣṇu, what is this? Where is Mahā-Viṣṇu? Where is Mahāprabhu? Very, very high.

Devotee: They say it was given to Ikṣvāku and it came down through the solar dynasty and was the Deity of Rāmacandra and then was given to

Vibhīṣaṇa

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: London, Jaya Tīrtha Mahārāja centre?

Devotee: No, no, no, I was saying the Raṅganātha Deity, Mūrti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, Śrī Raṅganātha, in the South, on the Kāverī?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They say that Deity Raṅganātha has come from Mahā-Viṣṇu?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Raṅganātha is above Mahā-Viṣṇu. Mahā-Viṣṇu, that is at the root of the whole created world. Puruṣa-Avatāra, three Puruṣa-Avatāra, Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī [a.k.a Kāraṇodakaśāyī] is Mahā-Viṣṇu, then Garbhodakaśāyī and Kṣīrodakaśāyī. Three aspects and all related to this created world. Mahā-Viṣṇu is in Brahma-saṁhitā you will find māyāvata who is at the support of the whole māyā, misconception. He's in charge of the whole misconceived area where the misguided jīva souls by misuse of their free will are wandering. He's in charge of the whole creation, Mahā-Viṣṇu; and Garbhodakaśāyī in charge of particular brahmāṇḍa, particular solar system or something; and Kṣīrodakaśāyī who is present in every heart of every soul, individual. These three stages of Puruṣa-Avatāra They are in relativity of this created world.

And above that, that Catur-vyūha, this Vaikuṇṭha Mūrti, there is in Vaikuṇṭha, Nārāyaṇa and with the twenty-four extended self that is in Vaikuṇṭha; and above, Rāmacandra, Ayodhyā. Superior to that is Dwārakā, then Mathurā, then Vṛndāvana Gokula. This is the way to understand development in the theistic world through rasa, criterion is the rasa, ecstasy; the standard of measurement is ecstasy, sweetness, beauty, charm, love. By that standard we are to measure inferiority and superiority of the transcendental substance.

Devotee: So Mathurā rasa is higher than Dwārakā rasa, how is it higher? It seems very similar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mathurā rasa higher than?

Devotee: Dwārakā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dwārakā, Dwārakā is also Mathurā rasa but in a narrow sense, or sakhya rasa, vātsalya rasa, all in full in Vṛndāvana. Mathurā rasa that is under law and scripture and society, Mathurā rasa, everything in their Dwārakā but in Vṛndāvana above consideration of scripture and society, everything, the relation with Kṛṣṇa unbridled, not restricted by anything else, any scripture or any social rules or any other consideration, it is free to the fullest extent. Service does not care for any law or any social consideration. Service in the fullest extent where a servitor can engage herself in the fullest degree unbridled.

Highest intensity of attraction is found there. Kṛṣṇa is attractor but the intensity of attraction is in its zenith in Vṛndāvana in madhurya rasa. And there is also gradation there, different camp in madhurya rasa and the highest camp is the camp of Rādhārāṇī.

Devotee: Do the other sampradāyas that are existing today, do they have some potency for giving entrance into Ayodhyā, or entrance into Vaikuṇṭha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, the Madhva sampradāya, the Rāmānuja sampradāya, they conceive, especially the Rāmānuja sampradāya conceive that Nārāyaṇa is the highest conception of the Absolute. But Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and other Purāṇas we find supports the view of Mahāprabhu what He has given that Svayaṁ Bhagavān, kṛṣṇas tu bhagavān svayam, the highest conception of the Absolute is found only in the Lord of Vṛndāvana, because in consideration with the rasa, ecstasy, the degree of ecstasy. Akhila rasāmṛta mūrtiḥ.

vaikuṇṭhāḥ janito varā madhu-purī tatrāpi rāsotsavād vṛndāraṇyam udārapāṇi-ramaṇāt tatrāpi govardhanaḥ rādhā-kuṇḍam ihāpi gokula-pateḥ
premāmṛtāplāvanāt kuryād asya virājato giri-taṭe sevāṁ vivekī na kaḥ

["The holy place known as Mathurā is spiritually superior to Vaikuṇṭha, the transcendental world, because the Lord appeared there. Superior to Mathurā-purī is the transcendental forest of Vṛndāvana because of Kṛṣṇa's rāsa-līlā pastimes. And superior to the forest of Vṛndāvana is Govardhana Hill, for it was raised by the divine hand of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and was the site of His various loving pastimes. And, above all, the super-excellent Śrī Rādhā-kuṇḍa stands supreme, for it is over-flooded with the ambrosial nectarean prema of the Lord of Gokula, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Where, then, is that intelligent person who is unwilling to serve this divine Rādhā-kuṇḍa, which is situated at the foot of Govardhana Hill?"] [Upadeśāmṛta, 9]

Rūpa Goswāmī, according to the direction of Mahāprabhu, Rūpa Goswāmī has given such conception in the development of the theistic absolute.

Devotee: I was reading that Śrī Caitanya-Śikṣāmṛta, he was talking about siddha- praṇālī and once I asked you about it. Is it necessary to take up that bhajana?

[siddha-praṇālī is revelation of one's internal identity, as a gopī or gopā, etc]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When you say, you pronounce siddha-praṇālī, then you should not find much encouragement to enquire into that because you are not siddha, so only cursory view, a distant view you may have there, but don't try to enter into. Fools rush in where angels fear to tread. It is siddha-praṇālī, not for the sādhaka [the aspirant neophyte who is striving to cultivate perfection in devotional service in Kṛṣṇa consciousness].

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva-Goswāmī
Mahārāja

83.1.8-10-11

Devotee: He has big Jagannāthas, Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa, Gaura-Nitāi, his living room is like temple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't know. I don't remember such incident.

Dāsanudāsa. The German wife of that gentleman Gopīśvāra, his wife was a German lady. He's in Dublin, a scholar, he wants to establish a temple there, along with Nityānanda or some devotee. Under the Mahamaṇḍal, he has written a letter we wanted to the name of Akśayānanda Mahārāja, yesterday a letter came: "We want to establish a centre here under Mahamaṇḍal. You please sanction, connect it." A letter I got yesterday.

Jagannātha Temple in America, I heard of one big Jagannātha Temple but I don't think I have any connection there.

Devotee: This was in Germany during the last war. I didn't understand if you understood my question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There was one Sujay, Raya Sujay ? His father was monarchist in first war, and he came, he was a master of eight languages, a good scholar. He had much affection for me, my Godbrother and much appreciation for me also. He recommended me: "In the whole Gauḍīya Mission you are the preacher in the West," he told our Guru Mahārāja (Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura). But after the departure of Guru Mahārāja left for Europe. And when he was, during the first great war he was in concentration camp, one gentleman he converted, and he took initiation from Bon Mahārāja, that second gentleman. And I was told that when he went back to Europe he preached vigorously there. His name I forgot, then his nationality at the last was Swedish. And he was preaching Mahāprabhu's doctrine very extensively there in Europe, that I heard. Whether Dāsanudāsa I don't know, but not in America but Europe I heard, another Dāsanudāsa it may be Devotee: Dāsanudāsa is your disciple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: My disciple?

Devotee: Yes, second initiation.

Devotee: (One devotee speaks briefly, in Bengali perhaps)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There in that blue house, but he has left for his home. His son came and took him for some urgent business. Now the police camp is there, I think the Naika alone is living on the roof room, so she should not live there alone. Anyone may go and bring her and she will remain in the Maṭh compound. Not in one house only one lady and so many polish?

Devotee: Mahārāja, that book you read as a young man, was that Lord Gaurāṅga ?

You said as a young man you read one book on Mahāprabhu and that very much touched your heart. What was the name of that book?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Omnimnai carita (?) Ordinary book that was written by the founder of Amṛta Bāzār Patrikā (a newspaper about Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu), Śīśir Kumār Ghosh. He also wrote Lord Gaurāṅga in English. And that style was very flowery and by reading that book in America many were converted I was told. And this style of this Bengali book Omnimnai carita (?) which I read, that style also very simple and novel like. I was also much fascinated by reading that book. But later on when I joined Gauḍīya Maṭh I found that not strict siddhānta, that ontological representation is lacking there, but emotionally that is a very good book, to the emotionalists. But as regards to the ontological questions not very reliable. Omnimnai carita in Bengali and the same gentleman wrote in English Lord Gaurāṅga. That is a very good book in the sense that capturing, the style and writing is good English, is Lord Gaurāṅga. You can enquire about that from the Amṛta Bāzār Patrikā office in Bagh Bazaar (the Gauḍīya Maṭh's Calcutta temple) they have got their office, Amṛta Bāzār, a renowned newspaper Amṛta Bāzār Patrikā in English and Amṛta Bāzār was that Bengali, now rather Juranta (?) Bengali Juranta (?), and English Amṛta Bāzār. Those two papers edited by them. Now Pushakanti or someone is the proprietor, they have all left, old men.

Devotee: The first man to become a life member of (Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta) Swāmī Mahārājas ISKCON in India, he read that book as young man also, Lord Gaurāṅga.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, who is he?

Devotee: He was an Indian gentleman.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Indian means Bombay or where? Allahabad?

Devotee: He was originally Sindhi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sindhi, maybe?

Devotee: He was police officer in Karachi, and as young man he read that book. And when Swāmī Mahārāja came he was very old and immediately he became life member, five years later he took dīkṣa from Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What was his name?

Devotee: I cannot remember. He took dīkṣa

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Either previous name or afterwards? No name?

Devotee: Mulchan, Mr Mulchan de Omal.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There are many named Mulchan.

Devotee: He came after five years, he was ninety-two years old and he came and moved in, became sannyāsa, and moved into Hare Kṛṣṇa Land in Bombay. Ninety- three years old.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's living now?

Devotee: No, he passed on a few years later, two or three years later.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After Swāmī Mahārāja or before?

Devotee: Before. But that book he said very much affected him

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, affected many. Style is very capturing, you may go through that, but about the ontological conception that is lacking, there is defect.

(Guru Mahārāja speaks at length with Vṛndāvana who has just arrived)

.....

Devotee: So Guru Mahārāja, returning to Bhagavad-gītā, you were saying something about your particular translation of Bhagavad-gītā could be printed in a form.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Govinda Mahārāja is trying, he has given that Gauḍīya Prakāśa to translate the Gītā of my edition, and perhaps he's already engaged there.

Devotee: Yes, he says it will take some time, it is exacting work.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, it will take some time, to do it in a, then also one should take some trouble to find out the salient points and especially were I have given new light. Those portions should be taken out from the whole and collected and then systematically arranged and then it may be published.

Devotee: I see, after the translation?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Or before, that does not matter, it may be published before. But one genuine person he must collect them from the whole Gītā. The collector must be a bona fide man.

Devotee: Is Nimāi a possibility in that respect?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nimāi or Govinda Mahārāja. Teacher in Prapasani (?) Manasaranyam.

Devotee: Manasaranyam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, the teacher of Prapasuri (?) school, he's also a man of knowledge.

Devotee: Saraswatī school?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Here, next station, Kuvatsana (?)

.....

Devotee: I was thinking my mind was very disturbed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hair

Devotee: My hair? Ha, ha. My vanity show.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. No attention towards them, (they're realised they're revolting?)

Devotee: You spoke the other day about attracting people through opulence.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Through opulence?

Devotee: That people will first be attracted through opulence. It started my mind thinking of those photographs. I would like to make a book with you and Swāmī Mahārāja, both of you speaking on the Vaiṣṇava culture. But now my mind is disturbed because those photographs they are in the hands of ISKCON and I feel it is like Sītā in the hands of Rāvaṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Opulence cannot attract everyone, there are also so many who hate opulence, a reactionary class. One class, general class, they're fond of aiśvarya, grandeur, power. Another class, they hate that thing, opulence. Their general tenor is to prefer a place where, rather they love poverty. Andrews(?) wrote: "The Gandhiji was fond of poverty."

Devotee: Poverty?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, poverty. And also there are many, generally the brāhmaṇas who are here, they are fond of poverty. They think it beneath their dignity to amass money and grandeur, there is a section. That is exploitation and renunciation. Some inclined towards renunciation, some towards exploitation: "I am monarch of all I survey," where opulence or power may be accumulated. And another party wants seclusion. Bhoga-tyāga (exploitation and renunciation), but these two they're opposite to Kṛṣṇa-bhakta, and the real Kṛṣṇa-bhakta he does not want this object of enjoyment or renunciation, they want Kṛṣṇa independent, Bhagavān. That is, they want to offer themselves to a reliable source. Neither want to enjoy nor want to dissociate everything, associate dissociate, only association with the guardian with the higher entity. Three classes there are and amongst them also who a little splendour, grand service, that is Vaikuṇṭha, Nārāyaṇa. And they who are fond of very plainness, sincerity, plainness, attracted towards Vṛndāvana. There also two classes, one towards enjoyment, another towards renunciation, and the third section they want their shelter, guardian, not object of enjoyment or renunciation, want to dispose of them in a third plane. And there also two sections, one "That my Master will be grand, revered, awe inspiring, all these. Another very simple, very simple, sincere, and homely, and without any grandeur, that is Vṛndāvana. The two classes in the devotees, in Vaikuṇṭha and Goloka.

Devotee: I'm wondering how to make the heart simple? It's so complicated and that life is so simple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, simple life, simple unashaming life is very favourite to the Vṛndāvana party. And the show of grandeur to the Vaikuṇṭha party, awe, reverence, grand, all these of the Vaikuṇṭha party of Nārāyaṇa, power there in that plane. Two divisions, and here also two, one loves the grand enjoy, another hates enjoyment wants to be empty, as one is empty he thinks that he is great. Bhoga-tyāga, exploitation renunciation, two sides here, and the third side they're attracted by a personality that can give shelter and service. Not independent life but a life of a servant, dependent life, a guardian, always wants a guardian. And here, persons he himself guardian, wants to be guardian of everyone, exploiter, and renunciation no guardian, wants to finish himself, enter into the tomb, no existence is tasteful to them. The Buddhists and the renunciationist they don't want anything else because they know that enjoyment is reactionary so they do not want enjoyment. But at the same time they do not know, do not want to offer services to another entity. So they're renunciationist, the mukti, sāyujya mukti. Two parties here, exploitationists, the elevationists, or renunciationists. The third party wants to connect with some higher substance for serving purpose, take some shelter, guardian. Not a thing to be enjoyed and neither to renounce everything and to become alone, but he wants a second thing and not to enjoy but to be enjoyed, that relationship, and they're devotees. There again two classes, one loves this grandeur in rendering his services and another plain and simple life renders services, these two divisions there.

Follow?

Devotee: It is interesting many of the people who came in America they were hippies, they were wanting simple life, the hippies, and they were very much attracted Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But not a scientific shelter they are not searching for. Only they want a disorganised life, non systematic life, non regulated life, whimsical. Not committed to any creed or any system of life. They're the worst people, of the worst type, not organised aim of any life. Rather they're prey to the whimsical tendencies that are found within them, easy prey to all sorts of prejudices that are within acquired in previous lives, they are prey to that. kāma, krodha, lobha, moha, mada, mātsarya - (the six material qualities of lust, anger, greed, madness, illusion and envy).

They are not masters of their own, they're prey, they're slave to so many whimsical thoughts that are within them acquired by previous lives. That is worst thing.

anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyaṁ, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-
śīlanaṁ bhaktir uttamā

"One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa favourably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service."

(Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.1.11) + (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19-167)

Anyābhilāṣitā, in the definition of devotion, anyābhilāṣ, karma, jñāna, three outer covers to be eliminated. First cover is anyābhilāṣ, fleeting desires, no systematic aim of life, whatever is coming only enjoying that, any proposal, no aim of life, no system in life, whatever comes falling prey to that, anyābhilāṣ. Then karma, an organised attempt to elevate ones material position, that is karma. Then jñāna, that jñāna means that I am not owner of this world so I cannot exploit, if I do a reaction will come and I shall have to suffer so I must not participate in any function, it will fetch reaction. For fear of the reaction they don't go to associate with anything else, that is jñāna. Yoga also similar. But these three are the obstacles to a life of devotion, these three to be given up.

And the third thing that to offer yourself to serve a higher entity as your guardian. Neither enjoyment nor renunciation but offer oneself for service for higher principle, that is devotion. No enjoyment no renunciation but dedication means to dedicate to some higher entity, to take shelter in the service of some higher personality, that is devotion. I can't ignore the environment, "I see the whole environment is of lower status, I can be king, I can overrule them, I can predominate over everything," a foolish thinking. Then, a wise man thinks: "No, I can't exploit, it is temporary, the reaction will come and they will enjoy me again, so no hope of any permanent happiness." Then, another section they find a third plane of life, "Neither to enjoy anyone, no to renounce anyone, but to serve everything thinking that it belongs to the highest entity. I'm a part of that entity so I shall remain as a serving unit in the universe."

In the beginning some glamour for grandeur but in the higher stage no grandeur, simple, sincere sacrifice. And to accommodate with everything with the view of love and sympathy, never to renounce anything. The renunciationists, they think that, "Only we can connect ourselves with the environment with the object of exploitation, not otherwise. And because exploitation is reactionary so it must be stopped, renunciation is our only hope, and our goal." But these persons, the devotionists, devotees, they find a third plane. "No, I must not enjoy anything and at the same time I must not renounce anything. But I must face everything with the spirit of service, just the opposite of enjoyment." And that is not connected with only plurality, that is detached parts, but connected with the whole. And behind the centre if it, the environment is connected as Nārāyaṇa, they're fond of little grandeur. And when plain and sincere then they're fond of Kṛṣṇa as the centre of love.

But service, enjoyment, renunciation and service, dedication, three planes of life. Enjoyment may be two kinds, one systematic regulated, and another hippy like enjoyment. Renunciation two types, Buddhists, Śaṅkara. Buddhists say to finish where no trace of myself will remain. But Śaṅkara says that to completely withdraw from this enjoying world and to enter into some luminous body where there is no differentiation or specification, something like negation but it is given as Brahma, renunciation two kinds. And service two kinds, one fond of splendour and another fond of simplicity.

Devotee: Mahārāja, Swāmī Mahārāja told about two types of siddhi, sādhana siddhi and kṛpā siddhi

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, that is another, sādhana siddhi, kṛpā siddhi, that is sādhana siddhi there is also sub-division there, alokadan (?) all these things there are. Anyhow, kṛpā siddhi means where the favour of the higher Vaiṣṇava comes to the lower type of person, that is kṛpā siddhi. But sādhana siddhi who strives much with the help of the service and the scriptures, all these things, with much trouble they try to go step by step above towards the prema-bhakti, sādhana siddhi, by hard realisation step by step. And kṛpā, suddenly by some grace of some great devotee he may find himself in such wealth within him, much progress in him, that is kṛpā siddhi. But we should not, kṛpā, that is uncertain, whether any Vaiṣṇava or guru will suddenly send something to me I don't know, I am not sure of that. So we shall try to earn it with our sweat, with our conscience, with the help of all the resources at our command, we shall try to earn it. That is the general way. But kṛpā siddhi means suddenly in the way some great man gives us some money, to earn money to elevate ones position, and kṛpā siddhi means suddenly to get some capital from some favourable position, that is kṛpā siddhi. But one should not wait for kṛpā siddhi, that is uncertain, we shall try in our own way to earn devotion slowly but surely by our own sweat of brow, that should be the proper way.

Devotee: Swāmī Mahārāja gave one adage here, he said: "Sometimes someone is not able to follow sādhana siddhi but he has great desire to do some great service for Kṛṣṇa and by the grace of Kṛṣṇa he may also attain perfection."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But to have earnest desire to serve Kṛṣṇa that is not small thing, that is a great thing, that is a great thing. That earnestness for Kṛṣṇa, tatra laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ, that anurāga-bhajana (the highest, automatic type of devotion to Godhead).

kṛṣṇa-bhakti-rasa-bhāvitā matiḥ, kriyatām yadi kuto 'pi labhyate tatra laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ, janma-koṭi-sukṛtair na labhyate

"Pure devotional service to Kṛṣṇa cannot be obtained by performing pious activities even for millions of births. It can be purchased only by paying one price: intense eagerness. Wherever it is available, one must purchase it immediately."

(Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.70)

In Rāmānanda Rāya, there he says that: "Only one price for love of devotion for divine love, what is that? Our laulyam, our greed, our earnest tendency to get it, that is the highest qualification required." We want it sincerely, really, that sort of feeling, and that means that is the capital. Hunger, hunger is the capital of a healthy man, as much as one's hungry, he feels hunger, his health is so much better.

Devotee: It is possible for one to be earnest for the service but undisciplined?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is not so easily, it is first by sukṛti (auspicious activity where special devotional piety and merit is accumulated), ajñāta-sukṛti (acquired unknowingly), jñāta-sukṛti (acquired knowingly), then śraddhā (faith), then sādhu- saṅga (the devotional association of genuine devotees), then realisation proper begins. But previously we are dependent on sukṛti, and sukṛti also comes from kṛpā. Through His agents He's trying to help these independent souls. Souls are all independent, they have got their free choice. But under such circumstances also His agents work in such a way that they try to utilise his energy sometimes with his consent, sometimes without consent, the energy in the service of Kṛṣṇa. In that way sukṛti comes. So to begin it is kṛpā sukṛti. And kṛpā siddhi in his previous life he has acquired something, and this life suddenly that capital comes to me. Other people think: "Oh, suddenly he got such a great thing. The kṛpā, it is divine wish, sanction, suddenly he got." But we should not wait for kṛpā, it is uncertain, if it may come to me well and good but it may not come. Then if it does not come I shall sit idle, I shall go on in my own way. That should be the judicious line.

Devotee: I personally have difficulty at this point keeping any sort of steady sādhana but I would like some service, I do not want to pass this life with no service, it is a waste of a life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One to whom service is tasteful, that means he has got previous sukṛti, otherwise how service can be tasteful? And service means complete surrender, and not that service means service in this world to make money and with the money to enjoy, not that sort of service. Complete service, final surrender to the higher entity, dedication, final not temporary service for being master for some time and getting some remuneration and then to enjoy, not that service. That by service I shall thrive, I shall amass some money, some energy, and I shall enjoy that, that is not service, that is enjoyment, to gather fodder for enjoyment, that is not service.

Devotee: What if one's heart has mixed desires?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Service means to 'die to live' to dissolve, to dissolve the ego, finally, and then to try to live by dissolution of the life wholesale. More than liberation, more than emancipation, that is service on the other side of liberation. And it's not temporary service and thereby collect some reaction and then use for enjoyment. This is not service, this is karma, within the jurisdiction of karma, will do some duty and to acquire some energy and then to enjoy that. Without stealing to earn and to live to enjoy, that is systematic life, that is karma, not vikarma. Earn and live, earn and eat, that is karma. And steal and eat, that is vikarma. But both are in the jurisdiction of enjoyment. And renunciation means no faith in enjoyment because there is reaction in enjoyment. So totally with very root to give up that and to take myself almost to nothing, to zero, result to zero, eternal slumber. "I don't like to awake, if I awake I must be in the world of reaction, so I don't like to awake." Eternal slumber, that is the object of renunciation.

And this service, apparently it is loosing, I want to serve to please another party, I want to do, I loose. I have no selfish desire to be satisfied there. But that is the real capital of the soul, that can take me to the plane of soul. There, everyone is a servitor, serving element, as here everyone is an exploiting element, in that plane everyone is a serving element. And my soul is a child of that soil, and my mind is a part and parcel of this elevation soil, enjoying soil, this outer cover.

Devotee: The mind is so very powerful.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, mind is powerful to those that are doll at his hand, play doll at his hand, not for all. An intelligent man also can control mind. Mind may propose anything to be enjoyed but a wise man does not care to obey the dictation of the mind, they'll have to control the mind many, many a time.

Devotee: I'm wondering, I'll be leaving in two days, on Wednesday I'll be leaving to go back to America. I was wondering if there was some Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Today's Monday, tomorrow Tuesday, and the day after tomorrow you will leave for America?

Devotee: Yes, I will leave for Calcutta, a few days in Calcutta, and then Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From there you return to America tape broken.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Līlā, pastimes of Śrī Kṛṣṇa with His own group collected a few that was performed there to its highest degree. Rādhā-Kuṇḍa. The Name Rādhā means aradhana, that is sacrificing, worshipping, worshipping also aradhana. Sacrifice is great, sacrifice is noble. Only sacrificed souls can live in that area of divine love. Not a tinge of this black enjoying, exploiting tendency, exploitation is black. The characteristic is not to be blamed but the motive of enjoyment that is bad, we are to take it, we are to understand that. The motive, motive may be black, motive may be white, but the movement similar. Unbridled exploitation, that is the most heinous thing for us, that is the root of all disease. At the same time, sacrifice of infinite character, that holds the highest position, it knows no bounds of sacrifice. Surrender, the plane of surrender, the structure is there but the plain foundation is surrender, wholesale surrender, and the structure is going above, there is spiritual world, divine.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: there in America?

Visitor: Hm, I'm a student.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A student? Studying in general line or any technical line?

Visitor: Philosophy and religion.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Philosophy, that is your subject? In what university you are a student of, the university, by name?

Visitor: San Francisco State University.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And where was this Dayādhara Gaurāṅga a professor? Do you know Dayādhara Gaurāṅga?

Devotee: No Mahārāja, I'm not familiar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's a doctor there in some college and also research scholar he was, his previous name I forget. Physiology perhaps was his department, researching. Religion and philosophy, then you have not studied Hegel? Perfectionism, Hegel's philosophy is known as perfectionism, or panuntheism, not pantheism but panuntheism. The doctrine of Hegel's philosophy, German philosopher. Perfectionism, he says absolute, absolute both conditioned, unconditioned combined. Thesis, antithesis, synthesis, that is his line. The progressive, every progressing, thesis, antithesis, and synthesis, in this method the whole thing is progressing. Panuntheism is the name of his doctrine, and perfectionism. The Absolute is by Itself and for Itself. Then die to live. These are his very chosen expressions. Die to live, if you want to live a proper life you will have to die as you are. Your ego must be dissolved and then the inner, finer self will come out. A good philosopher amongst the Westerners which helps Vaiṣṇavism, comes in the line of Vaiṣṇavism. Die to live.

And He is the enjoyer:

ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānām, bhoktā ca prabhur eva ca na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te

"-Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death."

(Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24)

This is the most vital point to establish God as person, He is the enjoyer. If anything is enjoyed the enjoyer will hold the supreme position, it cannot but be. Everything meant for His enjoyment then He is the supreme, the Absolute is supreme and everything meant for His satisfaction. A necessary truth and not questionable. And also one of He's one of this term, that no object can exist without subject, there must be a thinker. I may say fossil, what is fossil? Black, hard, stony, but that is a state of subject, thinking stage. Black, where is that black? A stage of consciousness. So any existence supposes subject, or consciousness. That is a strong point of argument. No object can exist without subject, and no subject can exist without object. Thinker and thought, if there is thinker he must be thinking something, the object is there. And if there is any object then what attribute it has got that must be reflected in the subject, otherwise no existence is possible as fact. Do you follow?

Visitor: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: These are all Hegel's original conceptions, contributions. Very important philosopher, and very near to Eastern thinkers. Hegel's philosophy is very close to Rāmānuja's philosophy. And Kant's philosophy, Kant you know? Hegel, Kant, all these names you do not know? Whose name do you know?

Visitor: I studied most of the Eastern philosophers and avoid the Western.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you know Descartes who is told as the father of modern philosophy, Descartes. Locke, Hume, then Berkeley, the extreme subjective thinkers, Locke, Hume, Mill, Berkeley, Johnson, Kant, Hegel, all these Western philosophers.

Visitor: I prefer Eastern, I studied Zen, and Taoism, I study Eastern philosophy the most, but I have to study the Western.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What? Śāṅkara? Yoga? What philosophies you study? Eastern philosophy is Sāṅkhya, Yoga, Nyāya, Vaiśeṣika
.....

Visitor: I studied Zen, Buddhism, and Taoism, from China.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From China Christism (?), one previous prophet was in China before Buddhism, Christism (?) was present there in China. Taoism. Plato, have you studied Plato, Socrates, Plato?

Visitor: O yes, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Aristotle?

Visitor: I studied them a little.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Parallelism, parallelism by whom? Aristotle or Plato? This is also accepted to certain extent. Tam eva bhāntam anubhāti sarvaṁ, tasya bhāsā sarvaṁ idaṁ vibhāti:

na tatra sūryo bhāti candra-tāraṁ, nema vidyuto bhānti kūto 'yam agniḥ tam eva bhāntam anubhāti sarvaṁ, tasya bhāsā sarvaṁ idaṁ vibhāti

"In the transcendental abode of the Lord there is no need of sun, moon, or stars for illumination, nor is there any need of electricity, what to speak of ignited lamps. On the other hand, it is because those planets are self-illuminating that all effulgence has become possible. Whatever there is that is dazzling is due to the reflection of the divine abode of the Lord. The Supreme Godhead is so brilliantly self-luminous that neither the sun, nor the moon, nor stars, nor lightning have any power of illumination in His transcendental abode, and what to speak of fire. It is a fact that all of them get their power of illumination from His effulgence alone. In fact, it is only because of His existence that the whole universe exists."

(Muṇḍaka Upaniṣad, 2.2.10-2) + (Katha Upaniṣad, 2.2.25 - part 5, mantra 15)

This world's the perverted reflection of the original spiritual world. That is parallelism of Plato, parallelism. She is a student of philosophy and religion?

Devotee: And she was wondering have you any message for Hamsadūta Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But this Dayādhara was given to me by Hamsadūta Mahārāja?

Devotee: No, no, this is a letter from her. But she is returning to the area where Hamsadūta Mahārāja is and was wondering if you have any message for Hamsadūta Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nothing I can give to him but only I can see him and meet me once I will be happy. If he comes here he may meet me. I want to see him that is the meaning. That Dayādhara Gaurāṅga what was his previous name? (Dr Daniel Murphy). He was sent to me by Hamsadūta Mahārāja. Hamsadūta Mahārāja told that "I am initiating them there but not all whom I think more in Malaysia." There is a centre of Hamsadūta Mahārāja, he was working there but there was some difference and he started a centre independently I am told in Malaysia. You have not seen him? Dayādhara Gaurāṅga.

Devotee: Yes, I've met him Mahārāja when he was here, I spoke with him one afternoon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But you don't know his previous name, and previous address also?

Devotee: No I don't Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But there must be office records.

Devotee: I think he mentioned he had gone to school in Texas, which is another state in America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now he's in Malaysia, he has established a separate centre there in Malaysia. The other day we received a letter from him.

The ISKCON wanted to oust this Tamal Kṛṣṇa, Hamsadūta, and this Jaya Tīrtha Mahārāja. ISKCON wanted to oust these three ācāryas. And Hamsadūta Mahārāja came to me, Tamal Kṛṣṇa, I called for the committee and some of the secretaries and Presidents came here. Bhavānanda, Jayapataka, and many others. And I told them that they're appointed from (Śrīla A.C Bhaktivedānta) Swāmī Mahārāja direct, as ācārya. So suddenly and eagerly you should not oust them and give any punishment then its whole structure will loose its prestige in the West. If anything wrong settle it within yourself, make compromise, compromise, otherwise the very root is śraddhā, faith, and the very foundation of faith will be shaken if three ācāryas direct appointed by Swāmī Mahārāja you go against them and punish them. Then your own position will also be shaken towards the disciples. What do you think? All the ācāryas are vulnerable, any day they may also do some wrong and maybe outcast. We hear also the took my advice and anyhow that compromise was made.

.....sent to me, special attraction for me.

Devotee: When I was in Vṛndāvana, the Goswāmīs from Rādhā-Ramaṇa Temple, he said that when your Guru Mahārāja (Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura) came to Vṛndāvana he made much controversy because he was preaching Caitanya Mahāprabhu was Bhagavān. And he said that eventually a great debate was held in Bengal between the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavas and those who were opposed to this idea of Mahāprabhu being God. Can you tell something about this?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The other day I told, perhaps you were not present, the smārta section, that is generally follower of Śaṅkara, they filed a petition to Mahārāja Krishna Candra of Krishna Nagar. "There was a famine or something at that time, the cause of this famine is that a man is being worshipped as God, that is the root." The smārta paṇḍits they gave signature to such petition.

So that Viṣṇu Prīya installed Mahāprabhu so when they heard this news that this may be stopped or disturbed, then underground they built a provisional room and there put the Śrī Mūrti and with some sweetmeats there they closed.

Then a dream was given to one Tota Rāma dāsa Bābājī in Vṛndāvana, he was a Sanskrit scholar. And another dream was given to Rājā, the king of Manipur, he was a chief, giving some rent to the British, he was also Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, the disciple line of Narottama Ṭhākura. And both of them came here, Tota Rāma dāsa came and he went straight to the king, that: "Paṇḍits of this locality they say that Śrī Caitanyadeva is a man not God. So man worshipping must be abolished, stopped, otherwise the people in general are suffering from famine and other natural catastrophe. So invite your scholars, I have come from Vṛndāvana to show that in many scriptures there is reference to the fact that Śrī Caitanyadeva is not a man but He is the Lord Himself, God Himself. I want to prove by quotations from the ancient scripture. You call for your paṇḍits that are opposing to this fact."

So there was an assembly of the paṇḍits in Mahārāja's Krishna Nagar court and Tota Rāma Bābājī he proved from the different quotations that Nāma-Saṅkīrtana is the Yuga-dharma, and to preach Yuga-dharma, Nāma-Saṅkīrtana, Bhagavān the incarnation of God comes down to establish. It is mentioned in many places, he showed those references. And the paṇḍits could not stand on his face.

And another, the Manipur Rāja, Mahārāja of Manipur, he also came and saw Krishna Candra who was inferior in position to him: "I want some land here as lease from you."

By his approach, Krishna Nagar Mahārāja he was very much satisfied that a man of higher position has come to see him. He offered: "Yes, not lease, I shall make a free gift to you as much land as you want were you please locate."

But: "No, no, I want lease from you."

"Only eight dinas (?), half a rupee, lease." This Manipur soil was given by Krishna Nagar Mahārāja to that Manipur king. And there he constructed a temple and installed Mahāprabhu's sevā.

In the meantime when Tota Rāma dāsa defeated those śāstra paṇḍits, then Mahāprabhu's sevāite at that time, they took up again from the underground room on the floor and began His regular pūjā, worshipping.

So after that the construction finished here and Manipur Rāja he ordered that installation of Mahāprabhu must be done according to my dream. But they reported that original Mahāprabhu has already come up and regular worshipping is going on there. Then he put the name Anu-Mahāprabhu, Anu-pasya (?) after, that was main Mahāprabhu installed by Viṣṇu Prīya Devī, and next, after that, Mahāprabhu is installed here. So Anu-Mahāprabhu in Manipur side, there are two temples of the Manipur people here just on the front of that Devānanda Gauḍīya Maṭh, Manipur, two Deities. That Anu-Mahāprabhu is on the North side, that is ancient. And which is on the Southern side, that was installed afterwards by a king of Mahārāja.

But this is the story, that sometimes some objection came from the local scholars that Mahāprabhu is a man and not a devotee and not the Lord Himself. But it was proved by some paṇḍita Tota Rāma dāsa Bābājī, he was a scholarly bābājī and he from the scripture's quotations he proved that He was not a man, He was the Lord Himself. This is the story. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Gone already, Robin, she has gone? Gone to Calcutta. With one of you, this gentlemen who came from ISKCON?

Devotee: I have seen her before, I have seen her in Vṛndāvana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vṛndāvana, six months ago she was in Vṛndāvana, she told.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: You once met with some big Muslim leaders in Pakistan, and you had very strong effect on them by your preaching. I was wondering how you approach preaching to Muslims?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I met perhaps twice, face to face, one in Allahabad, another in Dacca. The Dacca, he was a post graduate student, and in Allahabad he was a leader of the Muslim community but little liberal, he went by Bhagavad-gīta, or went through Bhagavad-gīta, had some knowledge. And this man was a student, his question was after I delivered a lecture in the university hall. Generally when before lecture we say that if any questions arises regarding some points delivered in the lecture, then don't disturb when the lecture is continuing, after the lecture is finished we shall answer any questions relating to religion. The lecture finished then one gentleman rose up and told: "Rāmacandra was the ideal king of your community."

"Yes."

"What is the justification of His murder, His killing a man who was born in a śūdra section, because he was engaged in penance. One, some book, a śūdra man, he began penances. A śūdra family man, by birth śūdra, he began penances, tapasya. And for that he was punished, he was dealt with by capital punishment by Rāmacandra. He Himself cut off his head. What religious conception may be there?" That was his question.

I answered, that who is śūdra? One who has to mourn, he's śūdra, sutaḥ dhari, sutaḥ means to mourn (?), one who moans (?) he's a śūdra. Whose property is mortal things, who is after search of mortal resources, he will have reaction when the things will go away. So śūdra means that. So penance means to collect more power, then collecting more power he will come to conquer the world. Like Hiranyakaśipu, Rāvaṇa. And that sort of struggle means a great disaster into the country, to give great trouble to a large portion of the country, troublesome. And as a reaction he will have to suffer the same effect. So, one who is making penance for acquisition of material property, that is not good for him and also for the people at large.

So that was nipped in the bud, by being beheaded he was saved from that. You try to understand this, and they're all satisfied in the principle of the Dacca college and came along with me: "Yes, I'm satisfied."

And another gentleman in Allahabad he came, my point I do not remember, to understand some portion of Bhagavad-gītā. He says: "I can't assimilate these things."

I helped him according to my might: "That this is the solution here." And he was also satisfied. Twice I meet Muslims I think and not a great affair.

Devotee: One ISKCON devotee he's very interested in diorama exhibition work, clay dolls, a sculpture of clay, straw dolls, painted. Sometimes scenes from Bhagavad- gītā, maybe Kṛṣṇa līlā, Rāma līlā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Construct so many Mūrtis.

Devotee: Yes, it is, Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Prabhupāda, he arranged for a very large exhibit. And Bon Mahārāja said that this exhibit was documented. This one devotee is asking if you might know where this exhibit is documented, where one might find out more information about this particular exhibit? It was very successful, crores of rupees came with, many, many crores of people saw the exhibits.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He came to see the exhibition?

Devotee: No, this devotee he wants to research information on this exhibit of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura. He wants to research more information, for more dioramas. And he's asking if you know possibly, is it Dacca where this exhibit was mostly or where it might be documented, there might be more information somewhere?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With relation to place, in Calcutta, in Navadvīpa, and Dacca, Allahabad, Benares, Patna, all these places. And in Kurukṣetra also, near Delhi. By exhibition, the līlā was shown to the public. Here such incidents took place, in Delhi, Kṛṣṇa came with His party from Dwārakā, and the gopīs also went from Vṛndāvana, met together. And what the conversation, and all these things in Bhāgavatam and other places, and that was shown by figures there, in Kurukṣetra. Then the Calcutta exhibition, first year in a small scale, and next time it was in a higher scale, and it attracted a large number of people from different parts. And then in Māyāpura also an exhibition was shown, there also attracted the local people. And then again it was taken to Benares, Allahabad, and perhaps Patna.

Devotee: Were there any pictures taken of this exhibit, any photographs?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Might have been, old Gauḍīya-Patrikā (a daily spiritual newspaper of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura) might have published such, the portrait of these exhibitions.

Devotee: That's in Calcutta, Gauḍīya-Patrikā ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They may have anywhere, even those Gauḍīya-Patrikā may be with this Manovirama (?) Prabhu or here, with the old members, old subscribers of Gauḍīya, with them it may be found.

Devotee: Mahārāja, some of the scholars, many of the scholars believe that the Aryans came from out of India into India. Maybe two thousand twenty-five hundred years ago, and they were not here five thousand years ago.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The name India, that is given, not a very ancient word. Sind, the Hind, Hind means from Sindhu the River in Punjab, now in Pakistan, Sind. The Muslims they called it Hind. And which is on the other side of the Sindhu River, that is Hindhustan India, in this way the name has come. But Bhārata-varṣa, Hari-varṣa, Inkusa (?) - varṣa, in this way divided we find in Bhāgavatam and other places. And the jurisdiction, how much it is difficult to say now because the Himalayan Mountain was lower, now it has gone up, and so the places of the Aryans they have come on this side, from the pits of the mountains are forced to come this side. Badarikāśrama where Vyāsadeva lived, that is also now so high. On that side, the Saraswatī River, Ambarīṣa Mahārāja, that ancient emperor, he used to perform yajñā on the banks of the Saraswatī that goes towards Dibyart (?) and other higher places. That was lower at that time, now Himalaya going up. And they're also going up, too much cold, migrating this side.

Devotee: Did the mountains go up suddenly or gradually?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then it is not, gradually it is this way spreading. This is all from the empirical representation, but the spiritual representation is quite different. It is in the line of Berkeley: "Not that we are in the world, but world is within us." Mind is not in the world, world is in the mind, to everyone. The world means the conception of the world, nothing else. So the subjective reality, that is the most basic and fundamental, and this, what we say this gross material world, that is only idea. Ha, ha, ha. What one man sees another man may not see the same thing. As A sees B may not see the same sight as A sees, maybe different.

Devotee: Mahārāja, I remember once I read an interview with Swāmī Prabhupāda and one gentleman and the gentleman said: "Well, chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa is very nice, but still we want the material things." So Swāmī Mahārāja said: "Well, chant Hare Kṛṣṇa and you will get that too, you will be satisfied."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow what he says.

Devotee: He said one man was speaking to Swāmī Mahārāja, and Swāmī Mahārāja he said: "Chant Hare Kṛṣṇa." But the man he said: "Swāmījī, I want material things." So our Swāmī Mahārāja said: "Then chant Hare Kṛṣṇa and you will get those things also, you'll become satisfied materially and spiritually."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then?

Devotee: So he's asking is that.....

Devotee: I was asking, you mentioned just before about performing austerities and penances for material things.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What's his point?

Devotee: He's saying previously you spoke about austerities and penances to attain material ends, material gain.

Devotee: That cannot be the same as chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa in the material sense?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: No, he's saying it is not the same as chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa. That's his question, austerities and penances for material things is not the same as chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa.

End of side A, 12-1-83b + side B, 12-1-83c

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One gentleman, he had insomnia, no sleep. Then someone asked him: "Go to Swāmī Mahārāja, join kīrtana party." He came and the Hare Kṛṣṇa movement, the chanting was going on, then anyhow some sleeping tendency came in him and he was very much satisfied and also gave good contribution, he was a rich man.

Because he fainted, ha, ha, as Swāmī Mahārāja told to Acyutananda Prabhu: "What talk I had with Śrīdhara Mahārāja if I give it to you you'll faint." So Hare Kṛṣṇa is such that he can't tolerate the least of it, the enemy force takes him away unconsciously. Ha, ha, ha. And your answer:

na caidui nai guna sesa phala phaday ?

Sometimes the real aim of Hare Kṛṣṇa movement is towards the land of Kṛṣṇa, but there may be a little slip, it may not be properly done. Whatever little defect here and there, that gives some benefit of this material world. It's proper aim towards Kṛṣṇa, but due to defect in us when we engage ourselves in that sort of realisation some internal defects appear, and in connection with that Hare Kṛṣṇa these worldly achievements come very easily, though we do not want it sometimes. In it's retinue from the negative side it appears, we are told. But that is not the object of pure devotion, still, because there is some defect in that sort of realisation due to defective tendency, some unwanted auxiliary things are produced, sometimes. Nāma-aparādha, nāma-aparādha, the offences to the Name, that sometimes contributes these worldly achievements, and not pure Name.

Devotee: These are like weeds, these are what are called the weeds of chanting offensively, it's a watering process, and these weeds grow.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, that is something like that.

Devotee: But sometimes a person may always be interested in getting material things, a person may chant

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They also do, that sakāma-upāsanā, that is not pure devotion.

There are so many who are worshipping and getting:

kāmais tais hr̥ta-jñānāḥ, prapadyante 'nya-devatāḥ taṁ taṁ niyamam āsthāya, prakṛtyā niyatāḥ svayā

"Persons whose good intelligence has been spoiled by illicit desires for exploitation and renunciation or other duplicitous pursuits, worship other godly personalities such as the Sun-god and the many demigods. Being enslaved by their instinct, they adopt the corresponding rules and regulations of fasting and other tenets accordingly."

(Bhagavad-gītā, 7.20)

And commits offence also. So many process of worship where they file a petition: "I want this, this, these things also, I am saṅkalpa, I worship You, please give me these things." And by that prayerful mood sometimes the gift comes.

kṛṣṇa bala ramai mudhur bhajay majay visay se su amṛta dari vismagi se bara mukha ?

Sometimes He protects His devotee from such side issues, and sometimes He avoids. More bhakti, śuddha-bhakti, that means Kṛṣṇa to give Himself up to that person, the worshipper. Śuddha-bhakti means he wants to attract Kṛṣṇa Himself, and when Kṛṣṇa likes to avoid him He gives some other thing, and comes away. There is some intrinsic disability or impurity in the worshipper when Kṛṣṇa He gives in such a way, deceives him. The worshipper is formal but not very sincere, in that case it comes to happen like that.

Gaura Hari.

Devotee: In the Bhāgavatam, the appearance of Lord Buddha is given and His mission is given. But why did the Lord throw out the whole Vedic system?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not one Buddha, there are different Buddha's. Budhā means wise, from buddhi (intelligence), Buddha, wise man. So Buddha is not one, there are different Buddha's. Different Kapila's, Kapila's are not one, one Kapila, Godless, one Buddha Godless, another Buddha incarnation of God.

Devotee: Godless Buddha, why did he come and throw out whole Vedas? Instead of coming as reformer, using the Vedas Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So many came reformer, not only Buddha, Buddha, there are so many persons, stalwarts, they come to preach their own doctrine, mostly atheistic.

Devotee: But if the Buddha was incarnation, avatāra

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That, he's another, what recognition in Bhāgavatam dasa avatāra Buddha, that is another Buddha, and this Buddha is another, nasthika Buddha, atheistic Buddha. Buddha does not believe in the existence of soul even, not only God but jīva soul does not exist. But only he believes in transmigration of soul, he believes in the mental system and transmigration.

The Carvaka, like a peculiar things, with the dissolution of this body nothing remains. But Buddha says with the dissolution of this body the mental system remains, and when the mental system is dissolved nothing remains. That is the atheist Buddha. And the avatāra Buddha, incarnation Buddha, He also came to preach against the yajñā, the karma-kanda's "Who will take, to kill the animals, leave them it is reactionary, you rather take the holy path towards the realisation. You are making too much of the sacrifices of the beasts in the name of the Lord." He came with that object. When the sacrifice of the beasts was increased to its highest degree, then as a reaction to that Buddha came to preach. "Don't in the name of the Lord, don't kill so many beasts in the world. Take some sattvika course."

There was a case in Buddha Gayā between the Buddhist and the Śāṅkara school. Śāṅkara school accepts Buddha as incarnation of God, and the atheist Buddhists they demanded that Buddha Gayā, that that must come to our administration. But the Śāṅkara school they put a suit into the court, brought a suit: "That this is not their Buddha it is our Buddha, He's avatāra, He's not atheist." And I was told that the Śāṅkara school they gained the case.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, are they dealing with the same personality or two different persons entirely?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Two different persons.

Devotee: They appeared at the same time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No.

Devotee: Then when did the atheist Buddha appear?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not very particularly known. In Bhāgavatam it is mentioned:

buddho nāmnāñjana-sutaḥ, añjanā-sutaḥ buddha, kīkaṭeṣu bhaviṣyati tataḥ kalau sampravṛtte, sammohāya sura-dviṣām buddho nāmnāñjana-sutaḥ, kīkaṭeṣu bhaviṣyati

"Then, in the beginning of Kali-yuga, the Lord will appear as Lord Buddha, the son of Añjanā, in the province of Gayā, just for the purpose of deluding those who are envious of the faithful theist." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.3.24)

And this Buddha's mother was Mahā-Māyā, not Añjanā. In Bhāgavatam it is mentioned that Añjanā was the mother of Buddha, buddho nāmnāñjana-sutaḥ, mother's name was Mahā-Māyā.

Devotee: Yes, He appeared in Nepal.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Nepal. And that Buddha appeared in Gayā, Bihar.

Devotee: In the incarnation Buddha He also preached non-violence.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, sauddhi niscat ? He also preached non-violence against the comprehensive sacrifice of so many beasts ruthlessly. He stood against that.

Devotee: Sometime ago you quoted one verse where Mahāprabhu was telling that people are so fallen in this Kali-yuga that some will imitate this chanting and dancing and simply go to hell. Could you explain how can someone chant the Holy Name and go to hell?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That only imitation. Though the taking the Name is so generous and so much effective to give out the highest thing, but it is deplorable that in spite of such a great gracious provision, there are some people who will imitate it and take advantage of this and do so much mischievous activity. That outwardly doing, imitating all these things, they will have ultimately to vanish. There is a saying:

kali kale loksa sankir sankir korive nasiya gaya sesh nara kiti yaidesh ?

Where it is I don't remember, maybe in Caitanya-Mangala or somewhere. Mahāprabhu is addressing Nityānanda Prabhu: "We are trying Our hardest to give so maximum thing to the lowest section, unqualified. We are giving things very liberally, with least energy they will achieve the greatest gain. But still a reactionary school will come and they will spoil this movement by imitation, filthy imitation.

Devotee: Meaning they won't follow principles?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Won't mark the very substance, but they will try to take advantage of the outer cover. They will try to utilise this good thing for very mean purpose. Just as the sahajiyā section they're connecting sense pleasure mixing with so much high things. In spite of the strong statements of the ācārya, that:

kama umbhattama prema nebmala bhascar ?

One is the dense darkness and another is the glowing sun, but still they mix together. Āula, Bāula, Karttābhajā, Neḍā, Daraveśa, all these things, sahajiyā, sakhībhekī, they will imitate these things, the spirit is eliminated and mere imitation, physical imitation. As Jaya Tīrtha Mahārāja is supposed to be doing, mixing with intoxication. Through intoxication making experiments that with addition of intoxication he will quickly go to Goloka, to Kṛṣṇa, very quickly. The material thing will help him to go to the spiritual world very, very quickly. Mania, a mean mania has caught him, captured him.

The fundamental difference, no material thing can give spiritual thing. Kṛṣṇa can give Himself, He alone He Himself can give Himself. And His own agents also can direct us to take Him, towards Him, that is also His. He can only give Him, none else.

He's Absolute, what is Absolute? The Absolute if He kindly condescends to accept us then we may be accepted, otherwise other foreign things will deal Kṛṣṇa like market commodity, it is an absurd foolishness. Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, bhakti is its own origin, nothing can produce bhakti, no other thing can produce bhakti, bhakti is the most elemental, the highest elemental security is there.

smarantaḥ smārayantaś ca, mitho 'ghaughā-haraṁ harim bhaktyā
sañjātayā bhaktyā, bibhraty utpulakāṁ tanum

" The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti-yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, which can only be obtained from those who have it for bhakti alone can cause bhakti. Thus, even within this world, their spiritual bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end."(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31)

Most original substance is devotion, the service. Kṛṣṇa, the devotion, all these things. The most plenary, the deepest, beyond that, no existence of anything. So He can give Himself, none can give Himself. Bhakti means His grace, bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, bhakti is the cause of bhakti. If bhakti comes through another's heart, it may come from the bhakti of the heart of a devotee it is transformed, it transfers there. Just as from one light another light is lit, one candle, another candle is lit. Something from the heart of a devotee devotion is coming, it is suppressed and comes to rise, helps to rise. The fundamental principle of devotion has been ignored when we think that any other ulterior things they can give me God. Ha, very, very foolish curse, cursed mentality.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

If anything can give God then who can give he will be a thousand times more valuable than God..... That is greater than God that can give God. No other alternative but to surrender to that unparalleled substance, and He can give Him to us, nothing else. Then

His quality of Absolute is disturbed, He's not Absolute. By a drug, a drug can give God. That is adhokṣaja, the drug cannot help to go that way, the way towards Him. It is His divine will, will descend, grace, and may take us there.

Devotee: If the Lord chooses, if someone is taking such intoxication out of desperation, sometimes the Lord can give realisation out of mercy. If the attempt is sincere and someone takes intoxication, if it is sincere from the heart, a desperate search Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is sincere?

Devotee: Sometimes a soul becomes confused. I had one experience when I left ISKCON my faith was almost completely destroyed. But without Kṛṣṇa it is like living hell, without conception of God it is like hell, it is the worst hell. So in desperation I took some LSD and then I realised that there's no escape from this world except by the mercy of Kṛṣṇa and that there is nothing I can do except serve Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The knowledge which is drawn from that stage, that is vulnerable, that is no Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Kṛṣṇa consciousness is absolute, does not depend on anything else but He.

Devotee: I swore not to take it again, ever again. I saw that coming from Kṛṣṇa, that realisation, not from the drug, that His mercy descended.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then how can you attribute that claim to the drug?

Devotee: No, not any more.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So in spite of that drug application, if some consciousness might have come, then come from other source, in spite of the opposition of the drug. Drug is tama-guṇa, tama-guṇa, raja-guṇa, tama-guṇa. Tama means which creates idleness, inactivity, sleep, that is tama-guṇa, idleness, tama-guṇa. Moha, illusion, all tama-guṇa. The worst condition of the soul.

Devotee: There is one theory that our karma and our spiritual realisations, they are programmed into our genes within the body and that at a certain point automatically they release and such drugs sometimes speeds up. That is a theory.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Devotee: There is one theory that in the genetic code in the genes, past karma is stored up, also some spiritual karma, spiritual realisation unfolds from these genes. This is some theory, I don't know. And Bhargava Prabhu says the drugs some say speed up the process of the release of this realisation. It is pretty far out.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, you defeat yourself in the argument.

Devotee: But actually I'm asking is karma in the genes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You try to understand. You think that everything within the gene, then what's the Absolute? Every gene is an Absolute?

Devotee: Not Absolute, but basically, actually what I was asking is the karma Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You try to think what is the position of the Absolute. By Absolute what does He mean?

Devotee: He has complete power.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Wholesale, against Him nothing can be done, nothing can be done without His pleasure. The Absolute accommodates the whole within Him, the whole. Positive and negative way, conditioned unconditioned, and they're both controlled by the Absolute. The negative side and the positive side, the negative, this māyā negative, what is other than absolute. So what gene, gene are innumerable, and you say the Absolute is innumerable? Gene contains everything within it? And the gene can evolve Absolute within him? What do you think?

Devotee: Maybe not completely, they're saying some realisation can come, some, partial.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, that is avidyā, that is misconception, some sort of misconception bewildered. Absolute has reserved all the rights of being known to any other place, it is reserved in His own hand, then He's Absolute. If against His will anyone can capture Him or any part of Him, He's not Absolute. Not a second thing can control the Absolute, if it can then He's not Absolute. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas: Whom He will favour to attract, he will know, not others.

nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūṁ svām

"One cannot understand the substance of the Paramātmā, the Supersoul residing within everyone's heart, by means of expertise in logic, intelligence or learning. When the living entity begs the Lord for His mercy, being desirous of His transcendental loving service, then the Supreme Lord reveals His self-manifest form directly before him."

(Kaṭha-Upaniṣad, 1.2.23) + (Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 2.3.2)

The yogīs, jñānis, so many, Vedāntists, none - yam evaiṣa vṛnute - Absolute accepts whom? He will know Him as much as He will unfold to him, that is Absolute.

Devotee: So it is coming from without, not from within Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is His, it must have to come down from Him, to be accepted. If He wants him to know to anyone he will know, if He does not want none can know Him. That is the characteristic of Absolute. We cannot make Him subject of our consciousness, never, our consciousness is gross, filthy, of lower material, it cannot reach there. He can come down to us and show us such and such, if He withdraws we are helpless, we are nowhere.

Devotee: As you said the other day, spirit cannot come from matter, but spirit can go everywhere.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The ether can go everywhere, within every atom. But every atom, this sand dust cannot enter into ether. That is most fine thing that is all pervasive, but the sand dust. Xray can pass through the wall but that does not mean that wall can pass through xray.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Force Him to do anything, none without Him can interfere anything about which is His, He's Absolute. Intoxication can give us God. To think this is to invite sin. Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, only God consciousness can produce God consciousness, nothing else. Only Kṛṣṇa consciousness can give us Kṛṣṇa consciousness and no other thing, no other substance. What do you say?

Devotee: Some say this intoxication brings one close to death, and because a person is close to death, dying

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Close to? Death, dying and poison death also the faith must be there, that is controlling, poison, intoxication, many things can give end to this body of clay. Overfeeding may also give, the gas, heart failing, all these things, so many, why intoxication? Intoxication, poison, many things can destroy this body of flesh and blood.

Devotee: Mahārāja, I've met many people who smoke ganja in order to try to imitate activities of Lord Śiva. Is there any place in the scriptures where Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as in war time some seal (?) was invented for food, so the persons who were fond of renunciation they lived in the jungle, in the forest, with no sufficient dress, clothing available, they take some dried (?) so that if it helps them from too much cold as well as too much heat. Just like clothing, clothing also the cotton clothing, and also the wool clothing saves us more from the cold, effective, more effective. In that way some sort of food may keep up the warm in the body, preserve the heat in the body, but all meant for this body. A little comfort, we take some help of some wool and they with this medicine they are in this cool atmosphere and sometimes in the sun also helps this body to remain comfortable. But that has got no connection that they will help them to take God near them, not that. Only bodily comfort and they may render in heat and cold, and sometimes also from hunger. If we use this bilavatra (?) some leaf, the hunger is lessened. Like medicine so many things may be used like medicine purpose to protect this body. Then to have connection with the Absolute these things cannot help any way, they can give the body just as food and medicine, something like that.

Devotee: Is there some scripture mentioning Lord Śiva smoking ganja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, maybe, there must be, is it?

Devotee: These intoxicating mushrooms are very popular in the West. One man wrote a book and he was using his reference in the Vedas, he was saying what they call soma rasa was actually coming from the mushroom.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Soma rasa, that is a kind of wine that was generally taken by the gods here. That does not mean that soma rasa can give, force the Absolute, the God, to come, to appear. Any second thing cannot force the Absolute to come here. This very simple thing you can't follow. Then He's not Absolute, Absolute is He against whose will nothing can be done, then He's Absolute. That is the meaning of Absolute, Absolute if He's dependant on some other thing then He may not be Absolute.

Devotee: Even soma rasa that is simply meant for some mundane effect?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, social mundane, intoxication means social mundane. What is there, soma rasa ? This must have that as prasādam, can help us to approach towards Kṛṣṇa, it has connection with Kṛṣṇa, so, otherwise not connection with Kṛṣṇa some material thing, how that pure it may be considered. It cannot do anything, no contribution for there. Only Kṛṣṇa, His relationship, His connection can contribute Kṛṣṇa, our energy can be taken to Kṛṣṇa. His connection, nothing which has not got His connection can help us approach towards Him, then He's not Absolute.

Nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena, in Upaniṣads, this ātmā, this great spiritual substance, can never be attained, pravacanena, by hard discussion, na medhayā, by sharp memory, na bahunā śrutena, vast learnedness. Nothing can produce Him, force Him to come. But yam evaiṣa vṛnute, na bahunā śrutena, vast learning of the revealed scripture also cannot give Him. Vastly learned in all the revealed scripture but that also won't help him to give God. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute, the very spirit of the thing is this that He will come to accept whom he will get. The only way, that He must come for acceptance, that is sweet will, nothing can force Him, His sweet will will come to welcome Him he will get Him, no other course. Not a second or third thing can help even very little, crores, or millions parts of a hair can never help, impossible. He can give Himself, nothing else.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

By nature He is such, it is so high, so strong, so subtle, so powerful, so autocrat, so independent, that nothing can tackle Him, He can only tackle Him, He's self-sufficient. Against His will nothing can be done. Even the intoxication is giving some sort of effects to a man, if He likes He can withdraw. You may take intoxication a thousand times more but if His will comes in touch, no effects can be produced. He has got such power over everything, He can take away the power, the attributes, from everything. What to speak of this drug, and change it in another way. He can design and He can destine, everything is designed and destined by Him. He can take away their own nature and give another nature to that. The ice may loose its coolness if He wills. Prahlāda was thrown into fire but fire could not burn him. When Prahlāda was applied poison, poison had no effect on him for His interference, His touch. The Master, His power is unbridled everywhere, such must be His conception. Not exclusive from us and other society with some paramount power, may be big power, is it not, everywhere? He can stop everything, He can dissolve the whole thing into ashes in less than a second. His will is law, His will is unchangeable and unopposable, no opposition may be effected there, He's such Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He is not a party and so many other parties are standing and deciding. Everywhere He is and He is, everything is in full control.

Now I close.

According to the solar calculation this is the day when Mahāprabhu went to Katwa (Katavā) to take sannyāsa. (Katwa is the place where Keśava Bhāratī lived and gave sannyāsa initiation to the twenty four year old Nimāi Paṇḍit on the day of Makara- sāṅkrantī in January of 1510). He swam, crossed by swimming the Ganges and with wet cloth ran towards Katwa. He rarely expressed to a very few of His friends, Nityānanda, Mukunda, etc., that: "My renunciation, the role of renunciation is coming very near, and that will take place in Katwa from Keśava Bhāratī Mahārāja."

He left Viṣṇu Prīya Devī sleeping perhaps on the bed. Śacī Devī, mother, she got some friends, she stayed on the gate, Mahāprabhu showing some respect to her went away. She could not speak anything, was dumb. The day before, the afternoon up till evening, there was a spontaneous attraction of the devotees and they gathered there out of their own accord with some flower garlands or anything else to be presented to the Lord. Mahāprabhu accepted those garlands and again He put them on the necks of the devotees and appealed to them: "Don't do anything but always take the Name of Kṛṣṇa. Always, working, eating, sleeping, whatever you do take the Name of Kṛṣṇa continuous. Remember your home, your Lord. This is foreign land, nothing to aspire after here. Try always to go home, home recollection. In a nutshell I say to you come back to home."

Then suddenly in the morning the devotees heard that Nimāi Paṇḍit, Śrī Gaurāṅga has left Navadvīpa. And then they could know He has gone to Katwa, Keśava Bhāratī's āśrama to take sannyāsa and to bid goodbye to the people of Navadvīpa for all, for ever. A dark shadow came down, many began to cry for Him, many of them ran towards Katwa.

Then Mahāprabhu, Śrī Nimāi Paṇḍit, the unprecedented scholar, and beautiful figure, and tall, hair, benevolent, who has already made the people mad with saṅkīrtana, already relieved Jagāi Mādhāi from their evil, nasty life, checked the Mohammedan ruler Kāzī (Chānd Kāzī - the magistrate named Cāndrakāji), gave a good check because in some place he broke the mṛdaṅga.

After all these things that famous paṇḍit He has also defeated many scholars who came to conquer Navadvīpa which was very much renowned for its high culture, especially Indian logic, nyāya śāstra. Nyāya, tantra, smṛti, all these departments of Vedic scripture were in high culture at that time in Navadvīpa. Big renowned place of scholarship. And paṇḍits, or scholars, if they could not defeat the scholars of Navadvīpa he may not have any fame at that time.

So from Kashmir also Keśava Kāśmīrī, he had to come also to Navadvīpa to get certificate that he's a paṇḍit. And Keśava Kāśmīrī was defeated by Nimāi Paṇḍit. He was so big a paṇḍit, he was already rumoured that he was the favourite child of the goddess of learning, Saraswatī, so none can face him, but he was defeated by Nimāi Paṇḍit. So such Nimāi Paṇḍit left Navadvīpa forever. Taking sannyāsa He left, because the people of Nadia could not appreciate Him, came in opposition party it is said, the tantrics, the śāstra, the worshipper of this low things, that the goddess that prakṛtim, prakṛti is the highest entity. Śākti, power, and not consciousness, power is the ultimate reality and everything comes out of that. So consciousness is a product of power. That means fossilism to the extreme. Potency creates consciousness, that is fossilism. Without consciousness potency is matter, fossil. Einstein also said matter transformed into power, power into matter, atom to force the atom. So they, in the colour of some consciousness, they formed the śākti party, śākti is all in all, potency is all in all, and consciousness is produced, the child of potency. They began to abuse Nimāi Paṇḍit.

Nimāi Paṇḍit thought that, "I came to deliver the lowest, meanest, but if they commit offence against Me then there will be no hope for them to rise again." So:

korila pippalikhanda kapha nibārite ulatiyā āro kapha baḍila dehete

"Oh, I came to make a drastic treatment of the cold, but I see that what I came to give, that has an opposite reaction. The highest type of medicine I administered, but I find that the patient is such, that this is increasing his disease. Then what to do? I came to work out relief for the people, and the people they are standing against Me, the well-wisher, the relief giver. Then, what may be the remedy for them?"

Suddenly He chanted this śloka, pippalikhanda is the greatest medicine, for cough means, caught by cold, cough means this mucus which is generated by cold, cough. Pneumonia is a form of disease, different, pleurisy, pneumonia, then so many other symptoms also may come, but the coolness, cold is the cause. In Āyurveda the pippalikhanda, what is the English of pippali ?

The ginger, then black pepper, and pippali also, thin, long something is very Devotee: Cayene pepper? Red pepper?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not red, black, that is a good medicine for cough. So pippalikhanda is the preparation of that pippali, that will be the greatest medicine for cough.

So Mahāprabhu suddenly spoke aloud: "I came with the greatest relief, medicine, for the people, the highest order. But I find that the disease is increasing with very high speed. And they're committing offence against Me, abusing even the doctor, making arrangements to insult Me. So they take Me that I am as one of them, I am a gr̥hastha, I am their sister's son, father's sister's son, as one of them they're taking Me. At least I have to show that I am not one of you."

Then He contemplated for this sannyāsa āśrama: "I shall leave the gr̥hastha āśrama and take sannyāsa and wander from village to village, town to town, preaching Kṛṣṇa-Nāma." That was His desire, and then He went to do that. Today He reached Katwa, just on the banks there was one sannyāsī, Keśava Bhāratī, He went to him and asked for sannyāsa. Keśava Bhāratī suddenly found that his āśrama is full of lustre, a bright person is approaching towards him. He rose from his seat and with keen eye approached: "What?" Then he came to know that Nimāi Paṇḍit has come, that great devotee scholar. And Mahāprabhu also appealed to him: "I want sannyāsa from you." In the meantime that is an auspicious day, so many people are going to take bath in the holy water of Ganges, they gathered there and the rumour spread like fire: "Nimāi Paṇḍit of Navadvīpa has come to take sannyāsa." That red-clothed man, there was a big crowd and part of the population they raised their voice against the sannyāsa. "You Keśava Bharatī, we won't allow you to give sannyāsa to this young man. He has got His family, His mother, father, wife, children, we do not know. But such a beautiful and (served.....?) person you want to give sannyāsa to them? We won't allow you." They opposed him.

So the whole day passed on, no decision. Mahāprabhu pressing, then at last that Keśava Bharatī told that: "You must take the permission of Your mother - otherwise I won't do it, I can't do it."

Mahāprabhu began running towards Navadvīpa back again. Then Keśava Bharatī thought, "He can do anything and everything, He has such a commanding personality." Again He was taken back. Then also a few of His previous friends were present gradually, Candraśekhara His maternal uncle, Mahāprabhu's maternal uncle Candraśekhara, then Nityānanda Prabhu, Mukunda Datta and Jagadānanda Paṇḍit, these four gradually reached the place. So this day passed Mahāprabhu began kīrtana there, a crowd going and coming, the whole day passed. Some tried perhaps to make Him drink a little milk or so, anyhow the mob was sometimes creating disturbance. And the next day, that is tomorrow also, some uttered opposition ultimately the appeal of Mahāprabhu that pacified the mob and a little before afternoon the sannyāsa was finished. Before sannyāsa He gave name: "The mantram, is this the mantram you are to give Me?" He put to the ear of His guru. And guru accepted, "Yes, this mantra I shall give." In this way, tomorrow the sannyāsa took place.

What is a sannyāsa ? Is it redundant, auxiliary, or it is a necessary part, of bhajana ? It is desirable though apparently undesirable, still it has got its necessity deep rooted. Co-relation, union and separation, without separation union cannot be deep rooted. Plane of separation can enter into the depth more than the (clear union?)

And because of such apprehension, or the want, the more we learn to want the more we shall gain in satisfaction, especially in love affairs. Everywhere if there is no want then there is no necessity of that thing. Suppose a glass of water, it is valuable according to the degree of necessity. Ordinarily a glass of water, but according to the degree of necessity its value will increase. So degree of necessity, necessity is rather separation, necessity independent of gain, fulfilment, is separation, hunger, necessity.

So we find both in Navadvīpa and Vṛndāvana līlā, in both the places the separation is playing a great part, or rather the greatest part. How many years union of Kṛṣṇa with the gopīs ? Very few years, from seven to twelve, five years. satyahayana ?

From seven years, age of Kṛṣṇa, up to twelve years He was in Vṛndāvana, after twelve He went to Mathurā. But it is mentioned in Padma-Purāṇa that in peculiar cases, extraordinary cases, the growth should be considered as one and a half degree. When He was eight years He should be considered as twelve years, when He was twelve years He should be considered as eighteen years, in special cases. So say from twelve to eighteen years Kṛṣṇa was there, He goes according to growth, but according to nyāya, seven to twelve. For long time He stayed in Dwāarakā. Altogether He showed His longevity here one hundred and twenty-five years. Long, long separation, and the pangs of separation, the pains of separation that was almost the whole life of the gopīs. And that has made them so dignified, so dignified. Test is there, whether it is love real the test is in the separation. So long standing separation, so much test is never found and the depth did not diminish, ha, ha, ever increasing depth which is impossible almost, to the last day.

And both the cases, the background almost similar, here also in Navadvīpa to meet the opposite party with victory, to be victorious, to gain victory over the opposite party, Mahāprabhu left His household life to control them here in Nadia. And in Vṛndāvana līlā it is also similar but a little different that the oppositions in Vṛndāvana līlā was coming from Mathurā side, Aghā, Bakā, Pūtana, Tr̥nāvarta, they're all being sent by Kāṁsa from Mathurā. So to uproot the opposition group Kṛṣṇa had to go to Mathurā, and when He went there He found that it is widespread. The Kāṁsa had his father-in-law Jarāsandha, then this Kālayavana, all these things, Śīśupāla, Dantavakra, and so many enemies. And after finishing them He'll have to come to Vṛndāvana to play peacefully with these damsels. But that is also to uproot the opposition party Kṛṣṇa had to go to away, and He told in Kurukṣetra: "There are several other oppositionist, finishing them I am coming to be united with you very soon. " That sort of hope was given in Kurukṣetra to the gopīs. "I am coming soon, only a few more obstacles are there, let Me finish and then I am coming to be united with you."

And here also to conquer the opposition party Mahāprabhu had to go away from the place. And then conquering, after His conquest of the whole Āryan scholars, the religionists of different positions and creed, after five years when He came only after conquering the religious scholars of the south that was very famous at that time after five years when He came back to Navadvīpa, then Nadia, was another position, another different nature. The mass approached Him madly which is difficult to conceive, the mass with how much madness approached Śrī

Caitanyadeva, the child of their own village, soil. They crossed the Ganges and the whole of the Ganges as far as could be seen was filled with human heads, as they're crossing. This has been, the way they are passing, no jungle is left, all being cleared by human feet, the jungles are all cleared, they are going, running in such a way. And only for two days Mahāprabhu stayed with Vacaspati Mīśra in Vidyānagar then went towards Vṛndāvana. And sing:

jaha jaha paray prabhu carana caritay sri murti kalay lobgatra haya gati ?

Wherever He was putting His steps, the people behind taking earth from there, all going and taking earth and pits are being created. In this way. About eighteen years He lived a scholarly life, after that, about six years the home preaching saṅkīrtana, and at twenty-four years He took sannyāsa. And after twenty-four years, six years He wandered through the length and breadth of India, including Vṛndāvana. And the last eighteen years He was posted in Purī, then He stayed continuously in Purī. First six years He mixed with the general public, and the last twelve years He almost retired from the whole human society and engaged Himself deeply in the tasting separation, union in separation of Rādhā-Govinda. And so many extraordinary signs were present, were expressed in His apparent body which can never be experienced anywhere, not even heard of. The separation can produce so much, such a wonderful effect in the body, mind, all these things.

Śrī Gaurāṅga Avatāra, He's of two-fold characteristic. The apparent side to deliver the people from the sin, take them towards Vṛndāvana, from Braja-līlā, give them their highest attainment of living by giving Name, Yuga-Avatāra. Distributing the transcendental sound, through the sound divine how one can reach the highest position, to show that.

But another, and higher example was set there. Not in all Kali-yuga, but in special yuga, Kali-yuga, once in Brahmā's one day, that Kṛṣṇa Himself comes with the mood of Rādhārāṇī to search Himself. Thereby He wants to taste the mood of Rādhārāṇī, what She is? How is Her inner earnestness or hankering for Kṛṣṇa? And how She can taste about Kṛṣṇa by Her mood, by Her same mood? And what is the joy She derives from there? All these phases Kṛṣṇa He Himself wanted to have some experience of. "Rādhārāṇī is so mad for Me, what is the cause? What is there in Me what She gets from Me that I can't receive? Immeasurably mad for Me, what sweetness She can draw from Me? I can't ascertain."

And to taste that He wanted to mould Himself in the mood of Śrī Rādhikā and tried to taste His own self from that temperament and came as Caitanya. When He proposed like that, conceived of such an incarnation, we are told that Rādhārāṇī, She on Her part told: "You will madly roll on the earth, taking My Name sometimes. I can't tolerate, I shall cover Your body with Mine, skin, or My colour. I won't, I can't allow You to roll on this body You will roll on the earth. I can't tolerate, I shall embrace You from outward." So: rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalitaṁ naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam:

rādhā kṛṣṇa-praṇaya-vikṛtiṁ hlādinī śaktir asmād ekātmānāv api bhuvi purā deha-bhedaṁ gatau tau caitanyākhyam prakāṣam adhunā tad-dvayam caikyam āptaṁ rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalitaṁ naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam

"I worship Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who is Kṛṣṇa Himself, enriched with the emotions and radiance of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. As the Predominating and Predominated Moieties, Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa are eternally one, with separate individual identities. Now They have again united as Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya. This inconceivable transformation of the Lord's internal pleasure-giving potency has arisen from the loving affairs of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.5)

So, those that know the ontological aspect they offer their respects for Śrī Caitanyadeva, the mood and colour of Rādhārāṇī, above, and the inner part is Kṛṣṇa Who is searching for Himself, tasting Himself. How sweetness is there, why Rādhārāṇī is mad to taste Him, and what sort of sweetness is there. This we are told.

And twelve years, the last portion of Mahāprabhu, for twelve years He was here, and last twelve years He engaged Himself in such deep attention to taste Himself as He thought. The greatest taster has tasted Him in the greatest way.

Everyone is mad to taste sweetness. Sweetness Himself is also mad to taste Himself, that is His nature, the constituent, sweetness, the ānandam, the love, its nature is to taste His Own Self. To know Himself that is introspection. The consciousness can know consciousness, that one can feel his own body, consciousness can conceive his own. So that ānandam also can taste ānandam of Himself, what is there within. There is something there.

So Svarūpa Dāmodara Prabhu (Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu's personal secretary) who is considered to be the Lalitā-sakhī, the nearest friend of this līlā, he has said what Śrī Caitanyadeva is: rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalitaṁ naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam.

rādhā kṛṣṇa-praṇaya-vikṛtī hlādinī śaktir asmād ekātmānāv api bhuvi purā deha-bhedaṁ gatau tau caitanyākhyam prakāṣam adhunā taddvayam caikyam āptaṁ rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalitaṁ naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam

"I worship Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who is Kṛṣṇa Himself, enriched with the emotions and radiance of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. As the Predominating and Predominated Moieties, Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa are eternally one, with separate individual identities. Now They have again united as Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya. This inconceivable transformation of the Lord's internal pleasure-giving potency has arisen from the loving affairs of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.5)

.....

"Desiring to understand the glory of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī's love, the wonderful qualities in Him that She alone relishes through Her love, and the happiness She feels when She realises the sweetness of His love, the Supreme Lord Hari, richly endowed with Her emotions, appears from the womb of Śrīmatī Śacīdevī, as the moon appears from the ocean."
(Caitanya-caritamṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.6)

.....

The two pastimes are parallel and eternal, Svarūpa Dāmodara so says. Whether winter is first and summer is next, or summer is first and winter is next, it is rolling in a circle, it is difficult to say, it is eternal pastimes, eternal movement. So Svarūpa Dāmodara says whether Caitanya Avatāra is first and Kṛṣṇa Avatāra is next, or Kṛṣṇa Avatāra first and Caitanya Avatāra next, it is difficult to say, Both is eternal.

Rādhā kṛṣṇa-praṇaya-vikṛtir hlādinī śaktir, who is Rādhā? She is kṛṣṇa-praṇaya-vikṛtir, She is the development of the sweetness that springs from Kṛṣṇa Himself.

End of side A, 12/14-1-83 + side B, 14/15-1-83.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Developed form as Rādhā, comes springing up from within. Potency, a particular potency coming out of Himself, hlādinī śaktir asmād ekātmānāv. So They cannot be conceived as quite separate thing, one and the same, asmād ekātmānāv api bhuvi purā deha-bhedaṁ gatau tau, but we are told that in ancient times They divided into two, They are divided into two, deha-bhedaṁ gatau tau, caitanyākhyam prakāṣam adhunā. Again both of Them, They are the same, both parties, They are combined as Caitanya. tad-dvayam caikyam āptaṁ, rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalitaṁ naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam, Whose lustre and mood is of that Rādhārāṇī nature, and the reality within is Kṛṣṇa. Just as fire and its root cannot be separated, it comes from the fire, something, sun and light. So separately They cannot exist, They're one and the same, advaya-jñāna, Absolute One. But sometimes They show as divided sometimes again united, in different moods. And sometimes when different They're enjoying They're separated self, and again little far, They're under painful separation, not with the possibility of union. That is Their nature. Śrī Rūpa Goswāmī says:

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet ato hetor ahetoś ca,
yūnor māna udañcati

"Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa." (Ujjvala-Nīlamanī)

Just as the serpent goes naturally by crooked way, by zigzag way, natural, so the nature of love is naturally such. It is not straight. So the parties concerned, sometimes with cause sometimes without cause, they struggle and separation comes. It is necessary for the līlā. There is separation of four different kinds, one is prema-vaicittya, They're both very near, still some separation arises, that is known as prema-vaicittya separation.

It is said, Kṛṣṇa is there, Rādhārāṇī is just nearby, She is seeing Her shadow just reflected on the body of Kṛṣṇa and She thinks that there is another lady. So a great pang of separation comes within. "What is this? Another lady is here?" Again, but Her mate, friend, Lalitā, she is giving warning to Her. "What do you say? It is only Your reflection reflected there, can't see?" Then she's coming to consciousness. This is such, they're high things, not to be discussed in details, but this is the nature of love divine.

Separation and union, both interdependent, one cannot stay without the other. And separation is created willingly to enhance union, and Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa to give that the people may take it easily, easily. Old mother Śacī Devī is crying so hopelessly, helplessly. The young wife Viṣṇu Prīya, she's helplessly passing her days, this will create an excitement into the hearts of the people and pierce their love divine, Mahāprabhu who was Nimāi Paṇḍit. What great benefit He took for us, He came for us. He made them sympathetic towards Nimāi Paṇḍit and for all these things it was necessary, the Lord took sannyāsa, went to take sannyāsa.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. For today is the day five hundred years, five hundred years, about four hundred eighty-three years ago four hundred seventy-nine years ago this day Mahāprabhu went for sannyāsa to Katwa, in our calculation. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So we shall try to understand that for our benefit and to take us to the highest, to the zenith of our aspiration and our prospect of this nation He came here and tried His best to capture our hearts and take to His domain in that plane.

A very small portion of this:

trayati mahato vaya salpama pasya dharma ?

The taste of the highest quality of such things, a small portion is enough, will fulfil our highest purpose of life. With this hope, let us go here.

vāñchā-kalpatarubhyaś ca kṛpā-sindhubhya eva ca patitānām

"I offer my respectful obeisances unto all the Vaiṣṇava devotees of the Lord. They are just like desire trees who can fulfil the desires of everyone, and they are full of compassion for the fallen conditioned souls."

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

"Amidst the showering of tears of sorrow from the eyes of millions, He gladly cut off His beautiful long hair. As He accepted His daṇḍa, millions of voices were singing the glories of Kṛṣṇa. Thereafter the people of all lands cried out desperately in grief when they saw Him in the dress of a sannyāsī. I sing with joy the unending glories of my golden Lord Gaurasundara the beautiful, the divine abode of pure love."

(Premadhāma-deva-stotram, 16)

The scene was at Katwa some four hundred years back when Mahāprabhu took His sannyāsa. Beautiful tall figure, young, twenty-four, and curling beautiful hair. And the barber approaching to shave but coming back. "How I can remove such beautiful hair from such a beautiful head." Began to cry, and so many crying aloud. "What a horrible thing is being done here." Some says: "Who is the greater who created this sannyāsa, who is he? Who is so hard that he created the sannyāsa-āśrama ? Give up all his nears and dears and go taking up begging occupation from door to door, leaving his own there crying helplessly. What is this creation of the Supreme? Is it logical, or hearty? Very cruel creation."

Mahāprabhu is smiling, He Himself is smiling. Anyhow, the barber was forced to shave the head in the midst of weeping, wailing, crying of the mob, a portion threatening, in the midst of it, it was done. And the inevitable gradually came out, the sannyāsa function began. Candraśekhara Ācārya, the maternal uncle (of Nīmāi Paṇḍit), he was deputed to take function in the rituals in the ceremony of sannyāsa, and he did so. Mahāprabhu, He Himself He had no senses always in normal position, in ecstasy, joy, dancing. The shaving, half shaving, He came out and began to dance and kīrtana, chant. In this way. Then anyhow it was finished, sannyāsa was finished.

Mahāprabhu asked when the mantra will be conferred, Mahāprabhu asked His sannyāsa guru: "Is this the mantra I got in dream? You please check it."

"Yes, this is the mantram."

Then that mantra was given to Him..... and the name of the sannyāsī not in ordinary way but came through Keśava Bharatī in a peculiar name, "Kṛṣṇa Caitanya." Neither Bhāratī, nor Purī, nor Giri, all these things. "Kṛṣṇa Caitanya" that Name came, and as soon as that Name came out the mob began to cry with the Name jaya Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya Mahāprabhu ki jaya, in this way.

Then Śrī Caitanyadeva in a new dress, red rag, robe, He embraced His guru Bharatī and both of them began to dance, chanting the Name of Kṛṣṇa. After some time the meaning of the Name was given out: "That You aroused Kṛṣṇa consciousness in the whole world, You have come down to make the whole people Kṛṣṇa conscious. So Your suitable Name cannot but be Kṛṣṇa Caitanya.

Then after the function is done, Mahāprabhu in trance began to chant one śloka, poem of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam of tridaṇḍī-bhikṣu.

etāṁ sa āsthāya parātma-niṣṭhām, adhyāsitāṁ pūrvatamair maharṣibhiḥ ahaṁ tariṣyāmi duranta-pāram, tamo mukundāṅghri-niṣevayaiva

"The previous great sages have accepted and shown the path of sannyāsa. I have now accepted that very form of life. Now, leaving everything aside, I shall run towards Vṛndāvana. There, taking the name of Mukunda, Kṛṣṇa, I shall cross over the ocean of nescience. Crossing over this māyā, I shall reach Vṛndāvana and fully enter the service of Kṛṣṇa." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.23.57) + (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.6)

In the eleventh canto of Bhāgavat, Kṛṣṇa is Himself giving description of tridaṇḍī- bhikṣu, a brāhmaṇa, how in the last stage he took tridaṇḍa-sannyāsa and how he had to tolerate the torture of the society in different forms. There is in the last śloka one: etāṁ sa āsthāya parātma-niṣṭhām, adhyāsitāṁ pūrvatamair maharṣibhiḥ: "The previous great sages they have accepted, they have shown the path of sannyāsa. That very form of life I have got, I have accepted, I have got now, now what to do? Leaving everything back I shall run towards Vṛndāvana and there taking the Name of Mukunda, Kṛṣṇa I shall cross over the ocean of nescience, of illusion, misconception, the ocean I cross out.

etāṁ sa āsthāya parātma-niṣṭhāṁ, adhyāsītāṁ pūrvatamair maharṣibhiḥ aham tariṣyāmi duranta-pāraṁ, tamo mukundāṅghri-niṣevayaiva

"The ocean of ignorance, nescience, that is misconception, I shall cross over, mukunda sevānaya, by My tendency to serve Mukunda Who is on the other side. Crossing over this māyā I shall reach Vṛndāvana and engage Myself in the service of Mukunda."

With this śloka Mahāprabhu suddenly started towards Vṛndāvana from Katwa and entered into the adjacent forest therein on the banks of Ajai ? River entered there.

prabhu kahe, - sādhu ei bhikṣura vacana, mukunda sevana-vrata kaila nirdhāraṇa parātma-niṣṭhā-mātra veṣa-dhāraṇa, mukunda-sevāya haya saṁsāra-tāraṇa se veṣa kaila, ebe vṛndāvana giyā, kṛṣṇa-niṣevaṇa kari nibhr̥te vasiyā

"Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu approved of the (etāṁ sa āsthāya parātma-niṣṭhāṁ) verse on account of the determination of the mendicant sannyāsī to engage in the service of Lord Mukunda. He gave His approval of this verse, indicating that it was very good. The real purpose of accepting sannyāsa is to dedicate oneself to the service of Mukunda. By serving Mukunda, one can actually be liberated from the bondage of material existence. After accepting the sannyāsa order, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu decided to go to Vṛndāvana and engage Himself wholly and solely in the service of Mukunda in a solitary place." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.7-9)

"Now My duty is to reach Vṛndāvana as soon as possible and there in some solitary place I shall take My seat and go on chanting the Name of Kṛṣṇa."

With this, Mahāprabhu ran towards Vṛndāvana and entered into jungle before evening. And Nityānanda Prabhu, Candraśekhara Ācārya, Mukunda Datta, Jagadānanda, these four they pursued Him, followed. Sometimes He's running, sometimes suddenly He falls on the ground and began to cry: "Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa." Again getting up suddenly again began to run. Sometimes west side, sometimes north, sometimes south, in this way, running, running. Sometimes so swiftly He's running away they cannot trace Him, especially in the night. Then they're all disappointed. "Prabhu, our Lord must have left us." They can't find Him out. Suddenly they heard from far off from a place, in a very wailing tone He's crying: "Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa." Then they ran that side and saw that just on the field He's lying and crying: "Kṛṣṇa."

So anyhow after some nursing again they began to start towards western side, Vṛndāvana side. In this way Nityānanda Prabhu is always wailing, taking the advantage of His trance, He's wandering, wandering in trance, so taking advantage of His trance Nityānanda Prabhu anyhow coaxingly turned His face towards Vṛndāvana this side, in this way. That from Katwa, after, when going long direction side, bhakesa ?

it is mentioned in Caitanya-Bhāgavata, but up to this antala ? on the other side of Ajai, He went, mention is there, they're observing there, that place as the seat of Śrī Caitanya. Then they say Caitanya-daya ?

there is a place nearby they say Śrī Caitanya He turned His face from this side towards east. Anyhow, from the evening the remaining day and night, and then also another day and night, then on the third day in the evening He came back by this side through Kalna to Śāntipura. Nityānanda Prabhu managed anyhow to take Him towards Śāntipura. So today began that sannyāsa.

bhumi mitra pavitra kailasa digvidhi janmaya ratri devasi brahmitay pavitra kailasa raja dvesay ?

In such a trance He's moving that no trace of any direction, sometimes this direction, this direction, and again this direction, no direction.
Running, "I am going to Vṛndāvana, I am going to Vṛndāvana, independent of the space of the material world, Vṛndāvana. Where is Vṛndāvana?"

(Ṭhākura Murtay?) says:

kabe hamhera śrī-vṛndāvana visaya cadiya kabe sudra habe mora kabe habe hera śrī vṛndāvana

What is Vṛndāvana proper? That is a stage of consciousness. Vṛndāvana really, Vṛndāvana, Goloka, all stages of consciousness, difference in the stage. So comes that subjective reality, so all subjective. God says: "Let there be water," there was water. "Let there be earth," there was earth.
"Let there be light," there was light. All come out from His will power, the potency, the sweet will of the Lord, all subjective. If the higher subject wants to make the lower subject to see something, like a hypnotiser, he cannot but see that thing. So this is all in the imaginary world but above imagination also in reality, that is also all subjective.

sattvam viśuddhaṁ vasudeva-śabditam, yad īyate tatra pumān apāvṛtaḥ sattve ca tasmin bhagavān vāsudevo, hy adhokṣajo me namasā vidhīyate

Lord Śiva says: "I am always engaged in offering obeisances to Lord Vāsudeva in pure Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Kṛṣṇa consciousness is always pure consciousness, in which the Supreme Personality of Godhead, known as Vāsudeva, is revealed without any covering." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.3.23)

A śloka from Bhāgavatam, it says: "What is Vāsudeva?" Mahādeva says this to Devī Durga. When Mahārāja Dakṣa the father of Satī, he performed a great sacrifice, invited all the (demi)gods and respectful personalities, and Śiva also was invited, Mahādeva. Not to speak of Nārāyaṇa, or even Brahmā, father of Dakṣa, all others they gave their due respect to Dakṣa Mahārāja, Prajāpati. But Mahādeva he did not though formally he was his son-in-law, and Dakṣa Prajāpati was father-in-law, still he did not show and special respect thinking that formally he is the superior relation. Dakṣa was enraged and he made arrangement for another bigger sacrifice and invited everyone with the exception of Mahādeva, Śiva, to insult him. All world invited only Dakṣa's youngest girl Satī and her husband Mahādeva that were exempted. So all were going to join the, to keep the invitations, going.

Satī's heart is very much mortified: "Father has exempted us, insulting." So she asked her husband: "Why did you not show any respect to him? Formally he's your father-in-law, why did you not give any respect?"

Then Mahādeva answered:

sattvam viśuddhaṁ vasudeva-śabditaṁ, yad īyate tatra pumān apāvṛtaḥ sattve ca tasmin bhagavān vāsudevo, hy adhokṣajo me namaśā
vidhīyate

"Devī, this is not the question of belittling his position, not a question of insulting, but the fact is that my head is always engaged in giving, in dealing respect to Vāsudeva." Who is Vāsudeva? Here it is explained: sattvam viśuddhaṁ vasudeva- śabditaṁ, tama, raja, sattva, from nescience to science, from ignorance to pure consciousness. The viśuddha-sattva, that is the pure uncontaminated consciousness independent of any material touch, it is known as Vāsudeva. Vāsudeva, Who is Vāsudeva? Father of Kṛṣṇa. From him Vāsudeva is coming out, what is, who is he? He is the representation of the uncontaminated pure consciousness free from any contamination of matter, that is Vāsudeva. And yad īyate tatra pumān: in that plane He appears as the enjoyer of the whole, He's Vāsudeva. I am always in communion with Him and my head is always engaged there. My attention, my brain is always captured by the charm of that Vāsudeva. I am guided by that sentiment. So I cannot take off my head from there, attention there, and to engage it in some other place, it is most difficult thing for me. Not that purposely I insulted your father but it is by nature it was so."

So, in Bhāgavatam here we find that what is Vasudeva Vāsudeva. Where is Vṛndāvana, where is Goloka, where is Vaikuṇṭha. We are to test by the standard of this understanding.

So, Mahāprabhu He already in Vṛndāvana, Goloka, in Goloka, Vṛndāvana, Navadvīpa, came to show us He's running in ecstasy, hither thither. Everywhere there is Vṛndāvana. Little after when He met Advaita Prabhu:

ācārya kahe, - tumi yāhāñ, sei vṛndāvana mora bhāgye gaṅgā-tīre tomāra āgamana

Advaita Ācārya disclosed the whole situation, telling Śrī Caitanya

Mahāprabhu: "Wherever You are, that is Vṛndāvana. Now it is My great fortune that You have come to the bank of the Ganges." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.33)

"It is a very, (merry sport?) that you say that we are going to Vṛndāvana, wherever You are there is Vṛndāvana we see, we feel it, wherever You are Vṛndāvana is there. We are still it is a peculiar thing that You say: "I am going to Vṛndāvana." To teach us, this is Your formal expression, in this way Mahāprabhu running hither thither in this way playing. Vṛndāvana is a stage of consciousness above Vaikuṇṭha, the simplicity, the plain dealings, and love divine, simple love, plain, very, humility. They do not think, the peculiarity is this they do not feel that they are in Vṛndāvana, that is the peculiarity there, it is aprākṛta.

Knowledge has been classified under five heads, the lowest is sense experience of ones own, pratyakṣa: what I have experienced through my senses, that is the first stage. The next, higher, I have not experienced by my own senses, but I have gathered from the experiences of others, their sense experience. Scientist have got his experience, I have gather his invention, discovery, I am using that, the second stage. Third stage which is over the stage of human experience, but nondifferentiable, something like deep sleep. When we are awake we say: "I slept very happily, I slept a very good sleep." But at that time we can't assert, in deep dreamless sleep, but when we come back from the deep dreamless sleep we express some sort of experience. "A good sleep I slept." So some sort of hazy experience. That is the subject and material object they come together, material object vanishes in the subject.

After that there is a stage that Śaṅkarācārya, He explains up to this. But Rāmānuja and his Vaiṣṇava followers, other Vaiṣṇava ācāryas, they're of opinion there is a fourth stage that is called transcendental, that exist beyond the scope of senses whether gross or subtle. How is that? A plane when of it's sweet will it can come down to our gross plane of understanding we can feel, we can have some experience. If He withdraws we are helpless, we can't find it. So we can't say that it is under our control, under our own knowledge, we can't count it like that. It is independent, at it's sweet will it may come down and may give some sort of experience and if it withdraws I am quite helpless, I have nothing to do, I may cry, I may pray, but I can't enter that forcibly out of dint of my power. This is to be the fourth plane and that is grand and awe inspiring and powerful, all these we get some experience of there, Vaikuṇṭha.

Then we are sure to say this is adhokṣaja, adhokṣaja plane. Pratyakṣa, parokṣa, aparokṣa then fourth dimension is adhokṣaja, adhokṣaja means we may say underground or you are underground. The knowledge is on the surface, our experience is underground. Or that is underground, the thick cover, if we can pierce through the thick cover that are walling up our experience then we can come in connection with that plane, another plane. That is adhokṣaja, adhakṛtam indriya jñanam, the knowledge that has made down, take down the knowledge of our experience, superior knowledge which has forced down our knowledge of experience of this world, that sort of transcendental, supramental knowledge. That is four classes of knowledge. There is something different in every point not similar with this world.

But Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu come to know that, one fifth stage of knowledge there is which is very similar to this mundane but not mundane, this is aprakṛta. Prakṛta-vata, or according to Bhāgavatam, kevala, kevala, in which one may not have to think that he's out of this worldly knowledge, he's within this worldly knowledge but really it is not so. A very peculiar thing, aprakṛta, no prakṛta, similar to prakṛta, very similar to mundane but not mundane. That is what is Goloka. In other words if you can think that the central knowledge that gives connection to the lowest level of mundane creation, can harmonise the worst portion of illusory world, that is aprakṛta. And that is possible only through love, only through love, the compensation is carried only through love it is possible, otherwise not. Just as there is a saying: "A blind son seems to his mother as a very good eyed son." Ordinarily there is an expression, proverb in Bengali:

kana seva pada locan ?

Really a blind son, one eyed, but mother says: "No, no, my child has a very good eye, like lotus eyed." Blind by the affection, what is mean and low, only compensated by the love that shines very beautiful, that is prema, or love. Through mercy, through pity, through grace, a king can come to play with a boy on the street. Affection can make it possible. The high and low, the difference disappears in such a stage. They think like that we are ordinary, jñāna sunya bhakti, it is known as jñāna sunya

83.1.15-16-19

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Devotion, if we are to say like that, jñāna sunya bhakti. It is above Vaikuṇṭha of the special earth, of the inner potency of Kṛṣṇa, Yoga-Māyā. It is designed and destined in such a way that holding the highest position they think themselves very humble. It is the difference, love removes the difference of great and small, high and low, such a plane is there, jñāna sunya bhakti. So they may not know, sometimes anyone may rouse in them.

Just as Advaita Prabhu says [to Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu]: "By calculation we can find wherever You are there is Vṛndāvana." He says.

Yata vaiṣṇavagana sei sthāna vṛndāvana. (Prema-Bhakti-Candrikā). Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura says: "Wherever we find a true devotee of Kṛṣṇa, there is Vṛndāvana. Outwardly they may think that they are members of this ordinary world. But their talking and the object of their conversation, behaviour, conduct, all concerned with Vṛndāvana."

Of similar with that, though they're there but they cannot feel themselves, that is when they are not very conscious. A king is not very conscious of his power, a plain simple human, a king as an ordinary human being, as he comes to deal. Something like that. A scholar, big scholar like a big doctor when he's coming to do the work of a nurse to a patient; he's a bright scholar, but he has come down through affection to do the work of a sweeper, for his love and affection for the patient, come down, still he is great. It is beautiful. It is Vṛndāvana life. We are told that this is the, a big, without the attitude or air of bigness, ordinary, low, simple, plain, humble. Really they're big, modesty, humility, couched with this. The power, power dressed in affection and love, that is Vṛndāvana. Navadvīpa is also like that. That is jñāna sunya bhakti, in general, it is told.

Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Mahāprabhu says this is the most laudable thing for us to live, this is the highest place. There the Lord is as Kṛṣṇa, and the gopīs, half jungle, they're living as half jungle, forest, who lives in the forest, like that. Not grandeur, not big buildings, but if we can have the eye of grandness then it can be seen that really there is, that grand potentiality is there. From the taṭastha, bīja, from the calculation of fact, their position is very great, but humility, modesty, grace, pity, all these things have made them to our level, and that is very sweet and beautiful form of life. That we find in Vṛndāvana. Mahāprabhu came to show that to us, through Bhāgavatam. Kṛṣṇa is the Lord of that land and with gopa, gopī, all simple, and cows, hills, jungles, Yamunā, they are all helping environment there.

So Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa to teach us, to take us, permanently, to make us inhabitants of that place. And He says that really our own self, we live there, but our consciousness is focused outside, outside, captured by the material mundane aspect of the creation and we think we are suffering. This is all illusion, we are to get relief from this mania, or basis, mania means something like madness, madness prepossessed by some mania, some sort of. Just as a madman, he's wandering in the streets and collecting the pieces of paper and cloth, in this way, we are focused in that way. And this madness gone, we rise in our own home, back to God back to home, back to God back to home. It is like that, we are to go back to our home.

And Mahāprabhu say's: "Your home is like this. A beautiful land, you try for that. Why are you under trouble thinking that horrors of war, and these epidemic, earthquake, then fighting from so many neighbours fighting. So many undesirable diseases, dacoiting, killing, stealing, then the whole, at the bottom of the whole that we have identified ourselves with this body of flesh and blood. Our consciousness thrown, to be conscious that we are identified with this body, and this material world, and we are to retrace, go back to our home and home land is such lovely and beautiful and divine, that is what is necessary."

Mahāprabhu Avatāra, sannyāsa, it is all for them, this purpose to take us back to home, home comfort, home sweetness. If we have home consciousness within, then we shall have to appreciate such proposal, the home sweet, sweet home, sweetness, home. So Mahaprabhu's sannyāsa apparently very cruel to His devotees and to His family persons, but it was meant only to take us to our home, to our home. That segregation and union, to work out union, ecstasy of union, it was necessary for Mahāprabhu to show the separation from His devotees and from His relatives. So separation and union, mutual, help in mutual, standing by mutual help, separation and union, helping one another.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Caitanya. So Mahaprabhu's sannyāsa, renunciation, the great tragedy like thing. Separation.

When Mahāprabhu after five years had come back and He was just on the roof of a big building near Vidyānagara where the brother (Vidyāvācaspati) of Sarvabhauma Paṇḍit was living, He was there. And the people of Navadvīpa, and the whole, man, woman, young, old, they all madly came to see, have a darśana, a glimpse of His face, they all came.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in his internal conception of Gaura līlā, he, just copying the līlā of Kurukṣetra, līlā of Kurukṣetra, of Dvārakā Kṛṣṇa and the gopīs of Vṛndāvana meeting, and the gopīs wanted to take Him from Dvārakā to Vṛndāvana.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura was aspiring like that. He's looking, that sannyāsī Mahāprabhu, then Mahāprabhu after five years when He came to give a visit here, at that time, He's looking on the roof of Vidyāvācaspati Paṇḍit, of the house of Vidyāvācaspati Paṇḍit. The red clad Mahāprabhu and he as one of the members of the Śrīvāsaṅgam, the permanent resident of Navadvīpa.

He wants that just like Dvārakā Kṛṣṇa, He's there, Kṛṣṇa has gone to Dvārakā, He won't come to Vṛndāvana again. Their heart is always burdened with such grief. So Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is praying earnestly. "When will the day come that Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanya Deva will give up His sannyāsa vesh, this sannyāsa, this dress of the ascetic, and again come and join in Śrīvāsaṅgam and together we shall go on in kīrtana in Śrīvāsaṅgam together all here. Now He won't come. He's a sannyāsī, He can't come to His old house and place, so we are deserted by Him. But our aspiration is that we like that this Dvārakā vesh, kingly dress, the royal dress should be removed, and the gopa dress this cowboy dress should be put into Kṛṣṇa and I shall take Kṛṣṇa into Vṛndāvana and we play and rejoice with Him."

So Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is aspiring this sannyāsī dress will be put up and we shall put our dress too. And will get that Nimāi Paṇḍit, Śrī Gaurāṅga, who is as one of us in Śrīvāsaṅgam and we shall chant together and take the Name of Kṛṣṇa and rejoice. When such day will come?"

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in his Bhajana Lālasā (Hankering for Divine Service) he expressed his prayer like that, when Mahāprabhu came here for a few days after His sannyāsa, in this area of Navadvīpa once again.

Gaura Hari. Here I stop. vāñchā kalpatarubhyaś ca.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is written Mahāprabhu met one Raghupati Upādhyāya.

kam prati kathayitum īśe, samprati ko vā pratītim āyātu go-pati-tanayākuñje, gopa-vadhūṭī-vitaṁ brahma

"To whom can I tell it, and whoever will believe it, that the Supreme Absolute, Param Brahman, the Paramour of the damsels of Vraja, is enjoying in the groves on the banks of the Yamunā?" (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.98) + (Padyāvalī, 98)

One saint says: "Whom should I speak, who'll believe this, that Super Brahma, He in the heart of the girls of the milk maids, who will believe it? Kam prati kathayitum īśe, samprati ko vā pratītim āyātu: That Param Brahma, the highest Brahma in the highest state, He comes to mix with the half jungle milk maids, is this to be trusted?" samprati ko vā pratītim āyātu. Anyhow Bhāgavata came and Mahāprabhu came, to praise, to speak it out to the world, and those that have got sukṛti, they came forward to accept.

"Oh it is possible, it is possible and it is the highest. The power or knowledge all futile, He's above power, He's above knowledge. Only by His grace, by His kindness, His pity, that we can find Him in any position, by all these means and arguments we can't, it is possible."

Hardly, men can put faith in such conception of the highest conception of Godhead. The elevationists, the renunciationists, then the calculating devotion, and then complete surrender, complete surrender. And there we find that the beautiful can harmonise everything, no consideration of any dirt, or filth, or mean, or high. He's so high, so noble, anything coming in connection, even those that are filthy, that also becomes purest of the pure. The stealing, the lying, and what we think of as immoral, everything in His connection becomes very, very, pure. Harmonising is of such a complete nature, we harmonise everything in Him. The highest scope, the highest scope of harmony, harmony means unified different things, that is harmony. Harmony means different things, but to give some one thing in those that polarity. The highest degree of harmony can give a sweet tune to everything which in our consideration is the lowest, and the most filthy, higher harmony can even embrace that.

Bhargava, he is always ready to take photo, that is not a good sign. Ear is the most important, not the eye, ear is most important, not the eye, eye may deceive, but ear deceive less.

sutay kitavatar ?

This is one of the speciality of this Gauḍīya Maṭh, our Guru Mahārāj. We must learn to see things through the eye by the direction of the ear. Otherwise we shall see something instead of another thing, misleading. Eye's jurisdiction is very less, but that must be guided by the ear, through revelation. Ear can accept revealed truth, and ears should guide the eyes to see things as it is advised by the ear, otherwise we'll be deceived by the appearance. Appearance is not the reality, what is reality behind the appearance, that is to be known through the ear, sound. śruti. Śruti means ear, śabda brahman, that is more helpful, beneficial, accurate, and distant, giving less distant. Eye can deceive but ear can save. The special preaching of Gauḍīya Maṭh.

Devotee: Sometimes I'm thinking Madhumaṅgala is so fortunate he cannot see māyā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only that, that is eliminated, but that must be adjusted, nothing to be rejected. Eye must be guided by the ear.

Upamayam, to see in the, when we get the sacred thread, the ceremony is known as upamayam, another eye, over the forehead, upamay. Mahādeva is giving three, tridayam, another eye here added. Divya darśana, the sight should not be eliminated I say, but the sight should be guided by the ear. Then his store will be enriched. You see everywhere there are so many research scholars, they're guided by their previous scholars. He reads him and then they try to see what is there and may make more progress by the suggestion from inside. What we see on the surface, that is misleading.

Devotee: Mahārāj, how does the gāyatrī mantra actually work?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In different plane, different light is forecast everywhere. Name also so, everything, the meaning behind, resourceful.

Mahāprabhu when He came from Gayā with surcharged devotion, He as He did previously, was to teach the grammar. Mahāprabhu was a big grammarian, in His previous life, He taught that specially. Then after getting the devotion, His playing is such. He came to explain the grammar, He dreams about Kṛṣṇa in the grammar. He say's: "There is dhātu? means verb. What is verb? Verb means doing, going, thinking, all these, they're all potency of Kṛṣṇa. In this way, deeply going. So many potencies of Kṛṣṇa. The generalisation from the verb, from every word, He enters deep into the meaning underlying, that everything, outcome, of a particular potency and He is Kṛṣṇa in such way. You my boy how these potency you know, the heart vibration, that is also potency, dhātu ? and that is bifurcated in different directions. Going, coming, seeing, hearing, heart stopped, everything stopped. Their potency coming from Kṛṣṇa. And if heart breaks it is a dead body, if you touch it you have to take bath. But the heart is there, he's your father, mother, brother, you take him, adore him, so much, and that is only the dhātu ? vibration. Vibration means potency of Kṛṣṇa. That is pure, that makes everyone pure, makes living, everything, if that potency is withdrawn, everything is dead and gone." In this way He wanted to explain what is grammar.

Then the students they were very much disturbed. "What is this? Such a great Paṇḍit of grammar." They went to the previous teacher of Nimāi Paṇḍit, Gaṅgā Dāsa Paṇḍit. "We are all students of Nimāi Paṇḍit and such a nice professor He was. But returning from Gayā He is explaining in quite a new way. We understand that is very higher philosophy but that won't serve our purpose of studying grammar. You please ask Him because He has regards for you because you are His teacher."

"All right you ask Him to see me tomorrow."

The students went to Nimāi Paṇḍit saying: "Your former professor has called for You." "Yes I shall go and see." He went to see him accordingly.

"What is the matter, Your students complaining to me against You. You do not teach them very, with much care. What do You say about devotion, this and that things? All these are not necessary. What is really grammar, You will teach grammar. Then Your forefathers, You are giving a new light, new meaning, Your forefathers were not devotees and You have come only devotees? You are giving different meanings, then former professors they're all idiot, what do You say?"

"No no." He took feet dust and, "Yes I shall try to obey your order in this way." Gaura Hari bol. Many things to learn.

Devotee: Mahārāj, in the Caitanya-caritāmṛta, in the section with the conversation between Rāmānanda Rāya and Mahāprabhu, Rāmānanda Rāya seems to quote from the Govinda-līlāmṛta and the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, works that were not written at that time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not. This is two kinds of explanation. The general explanation is this, Rāmānanda did not quote but it was supplied as parallel instruction afterwards by the writer of the book caritāmṛta, Kṛṣṇa Dāsa.

Another thing, that in that conversation, points are raised but not in a form of a particular poetry or śloka. That was made afterwards from Rāmānanda, Mahāprabhu heard and from Mahāprabhu, Rūpa Goswāmī, and then he prepared that.

Another deep way of thinking is this. All these treatises they're eternal. What is previous and what is early and what is afterwards, that we cannot ascertain, all is cyclic order, moving. Whether winter is following or summer is following, we can't say, that revolves together, gradually. The whole circle, not by one part, one part, but the whole developed into present state, simultaneously. And that is eternal, if it is eternal everything is eternal.

So in that case, in Mahābhārata it is mentioned that in the beginning Dhṛtarāṣṭra below? it is put, that Dhṛtarāṣṭra he's mourning: "When I heard my sons are doing this, my sons are doing this, I gave my hope for victory." One incident he is quoting and he is saying that, that is in the beginning. How is it possible? After the Mahābhārata that the pastimes finished, then it is possible that Dhṛtarāṣṭra will say this happened, this happened, this happened, this happened. But in the beginning there, as the substance, summary, of whole Mahābhārata.

I asked one Paṇḍit in my childhood, he told that it is nitya, eternal truth. So what is beginning, what is end, it cannot be ascertained, both is simultaneous. To our senses it may come gradually.

Just as sometimes we find in a novel writing they may begin from the middle, then in some way the past things they're reproducing. Or begins from the end then gradually by way of reproduction they're beginning from the first step, but begins from the end and then comes to the, in this way something similar. Everything, there is end, everything, there is beginning, in the internal thing, everywhere beginning, everywhere end.

Do you follow?

Devotee: Why is Rādhārāṇī's Name not mentioned in the Bhāgavatam ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because Śukadeva Goswāmī mainly represents Bhāgavata description and he delivered the same in such an assembly, he did not think them fit to take the Name of Rādhārāṇī with necessary respect. Because the parakīya, Rādhārāṇī was not married wife, mistress, and those persons, scholars, present in the assembly, they were not so high as they could understand this relation of Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa's pastimes with another's wife. They can accommodate some sort of autocracy in Kṛṣṇa, but the corresponding side, that giving up faithfulness to husband, mixing to Kṛṣṇa, they could not digest that much truth. So he did not express the name of the gopīs or madhurya-rasa, that parakīya.

Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jīva Goswāmī has remarked it in this way. They came to take the Name, but went back, could not take. Because the circumstance did not allow, Śukadeva, to express the name of those gopīs, sometimes coming very near to expressing, but he faltered and went back, pradhana gopī. In the name of one of the principal gopīs he gave ten śloka there but did not take the Name, told "the principal gopī amongst them," in this way he avoided, guarded.

Devotee: Vidagdha Madhava he was delayed at the land. They're having this opening of the bridge. Vidagdha and Dayal Nitāi went to see and Vidagdha was the only one there so he was stuck there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And you are not going to take the photo of the bridge opening ceremony? It is Gaurāṅga setu Navadvīpa Dhāma and Ganges bridge, why do you avoid it? Something peculiar you will be able to show, something novel.

Devotee: There are so many people that you cannot get close, you need a telephoto lens.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: On the Ganges bank and the Gaurāṅga setu, ha ha ha, and they are all dhāma-vāsīs (residents of the dhāma), so many dhāma-vāsīs you can collect in your photo, here.

Devotee: There's only one dhāma-vāsī I'm interested in.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. Gaura Hari. Hari Kṛṣṇa. The innate eye. The eyesight should be so keen as to pierce through the coating and to see deep within.

The highest harmony lies in it's capacity in embracing the most revolting things. All harmonised, all embracing truth. Nothing mean, nothing unnecessary, nothing filthy, all valuable, all valuable. More valuable - Kṛṣṇa stealing. Yaśodā tried her best to collect fresh foods in the store, and she will try her best to get the boy to eat. But that is not palatable to Kṛṣṇa, not tasteful, He will go behind and taste it. Stealthily He will take and He will distribute to others, even the monkeys, and then He will declare that is more tasteful to Him, more tasteful. So stealing, to eat by stealing, that is more tasteful, to enjoy by stealing, that is more tasteful. How we are to understand? That is an art, that depriving others I am enjoying, an art. It increases intensity in the enjoyment, "that others deprived, I am tasting," this art of thinking and thought.

There is an artist here, is it not, Sudama Kṛṣṇa, not here?

Devotee: I'm here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Have you found this sort of artistic true here, nature. Generally ordinary eating and eating by stealing. Eating by stealing, depriving others, that is more tasteful, can you produce by art? And also to be punished for that offence, that is also tasteful to Kṛṣṇa. He's weeping and rubbing His eyes and He say's: "Oh don't, mother forgive Me, I won't do these things here after, but this time please forgive Me."

That is also very tasteful. It is very peculiar.

And, bidura lālamcar ? What is this in English, oxymoron, or what is the ornament, rhetoric, in rhetoric, bidura lālamcar ? Which is apparently against the thing. What is that rhetoric in English? Oxymoron or.... bidura lālamcaray maha ca matcriti - uniting the opposites.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

End of side A, start of side B, 15th, 16th, 19th.1.83

Devotee: No it's back there, near the bridge

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, the lecture is going there.

Devotee: Mahārāj, Jayadeva, where did he get his inspiration from, in his writings, since the Bhāgavatam is not mentioning so much?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jayadeva, no mention about any old scriptures there?

Devotee: Well, because Rādhā's Name is not mentioned in the Bhāgavatam, Jayadeva talked profusely about Her.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Before Bhāgavata also Rādhārāṇī's Name was expressed in Hari-Vaṁśa, in Padma-Purāṇa, Brahma-Vaivarta-Purāṇa, in other scriptures already it was out. Bhāgavatam is the last of the Purāṇa's, all Purāṇa, Vedānta, Veda, Mahābhārata, everything finished. Vedavyāsa did not find peace in his mind, then Nārada comes to visit him and say's: "You have given many things but that is not sufficient, so there is no peace in your mind. Now I have come to fill up the gap. You have given much stress on Bhāgavata karma moksha ? highest up to liberation, but after liberation, about positive life you have not written anything very plainly, carefully and clearly. So I have come, that it must be given to the world through you, otherwise people won't regard that, because you have got a great credit in the world of revealed scriptures."

So the last, the Bhāgavatam was given, before that Padma-Purāṇa, Brahma-Vaivarta- Purāṇa, Hari-Vaṁśa, there already the Name of Rādhārāṇī is mentioned, many other stories of Goloka mentioned there.

Devotee: Does the Brahma-Vaivarta-Purāṇa mention a marriage between Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Somewhere married, by marriage, but that is otherwise, that was in secret. Brahmā conducted that, not a social affair. In this way mentioned somewhere, everything may be true. In His will, as He wants to consider, that ultimate root of hypnotism, as He wants to show to abc, they will be compelled to see that. The control from the subjective side. His will. So simultaneously He may show some thing to you, something to me, though we are sitting together, it is possible for Him. That is revealed truth.

Devotee: There's an ant. It's going for the sweetness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They have come to compensate, that you are speaking something wrong, I shall punish you.

Devotee: Mahāprabhu when He went to Gayā there was a sudden transformation, before in many ways His life seemed very ordinary and then all of a sudden.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not ordinary, His life was always extraordinary, but not any expression of devotion, otherwise His life is always extraordinary from the very beginning. A bright scholar. Figure very beautiful and extra ordinary high. Then capturing nature, so many. And scholarship was so much that He defeated so many Paṇḍits and great scholars of the then India. Simply, only in ordinary thing He could put in such a way that scholars they are puzzled, very simple things. Extraordinary personality, but after returning from Gayā, He showed His forgetful nature in Kṛṣṇa prema, fully surrendered. A doll in the play of the waves of the waves of the ocean of Kṛṣṇa prema, He played such a part.

A doll floating on the waves of the ocean of Kṛṣṇa prema like that.

Devotee: What was the cause of that awakening?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is clearly predestined, pre-designed, ha ha ha, spontaneous thing. Everything, the līlā, the pastimes, the movement is eternal. A person he's playing the part of a king, next moment he may play the part of a mendicant, and that is as arranged previously. A sudden change is shown. Everything is prearranged, in a drama.

Object cannot be subject, a subjective play. Dust of earth cannot produce the dust of light. One is light, another is darkness, a dust of stone, and a pensive of ray of the sun.

Stone chips cannot make a sun, stone chips together cannot produce light. So we are objective existence, if subjective light comes to us we can feel, otherwise hopeless. Super subjective area, on the whole.

Only through faith, with earnest faith, we can collect some news of that world carried by the agents of the plane. If we have mania we may give attention, otherwise not. They do not care for your attention, they're self sufficient. Your attention is for your necessity, if you like you may do that. But if you're satisfied with your paraphernalia, circumstance, well and good, you go on. But agents from that plane come down, and they talk of that higher form of union, and some tempted by that, they want to embrace that, disgusted with their present environment.

indriyārtheṣu vairāgyam, anahaṅkāra eva ca janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhiduhkha-doṣānudarśanam

Absence of egotism, an objective view of the miserable defects of material life, that is, birth, death, the infirmity of old age, disease, etc., (Bhagavad-gītā 13.9)

Present environment, to fill up this mortality. So some eternal truths, from here they're charmed by the news, and they earnestly pray, and that may come down to connect. So by earnestness, surrender, prayer, all these are our weapons. Not our knowledge can enter there and measure things like a scientist in the laboratory. No research is possible in that domain. That a tiny soul he will be subject and continuing investigation in that world, making it an objective world, never. It is super subjective, going on super, super, super, in this way. Subjective existence finer, jīva is gross subjective and that is finer, finest, in this way, subjective knowledge is going up. Finest.

Just as in the gross world, earth is gross, water is gross, stone is gross, then more hard substance than stone, this iron, and platinum, there are so, durability, very hard. Hardness begins from some stage, and hardness going to the highest degree to such a miracle substance. So also subject begins from a stage and shows up, fine, fine, subject can know the gross lower existence. But the lower existence cannot pierce and measure the higher subtle existence in the subjective world. For the connection, a drop of water, the skylark, or some bird, a drop of water, a drop of water, and if drop comes that bird can take.

So surrender, devotion, hankering, prayer, all these negative qualifications are necessary, all negative aspect, not assertive, no assertive, no positive. Danya (humility), ātma-nivedanam (surrendering everything to Kṛṣṇa), gopīṛtve varaṇam (embracing Kṛṣṇa's guardianship). All these, including your negative side, to draw the positive towards you, that is the main thing. Devotion means that, dedication, dedicate yourself to the highest degree, then that may care to come to meet you. Dedicate for Him. Not with the object of exploitation, or making any business, or making any fulfilment of your present expectation of consciousness. The opposite, and no concocted things will do, hypocritical humility won't work, genuine humility, sincere, helplessness, that can draw.

Devotee: Will Kṛṣṇa sometimes allow an anartha to stay in a devotee, unwanted habit in a devotee, will Kṛṣṇa sometimes let that stay, because that increases, forces him to.....?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will go with the least attendancy for his real advent, all these anomalies will disappear. Before his real advent, only with a little tinge of news that Kṛṣṇa is coming, they will all fly away. Before the sun rises darkness flies away. Only with a little part of the sun the distant rays, that true light, or something, that will drive away the darkness long before the sun rises. That new light has also got much value, that is not to be neglected, that will preface it, that Kṛṣṇa is coming.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Were Chandi Dāsa and Jayadeva pure devotees, śuddha bhaktas?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. They're considered pure devotees, but that very high order, we should not imitate them. They acquired such a position, after long gap between. Many sahujiyā they imitate Chandi Dāsa and Jayadeva. Mostly Chandi Dāsa because Chandi Dāsa had a connection with a lady who was not married. But Jayadeva had connection with married wife, but no connection of any physical affair. Before they're married that was promised, Jayadeva promised his wife and her father that: "I may marry because Jagannātha ordered give your daughter in marriage to Jayadeva." He came, Jayadeva told: "Yes, if Jagannātha says I can marry but no connection with any physical body it is reassured."

And Jayadeva viewed, his view about Padyavati as a great devotee, a devoted lady, not a wife for his enjoyment.

padyavati charuna charuna chakravati ?

He has written about himself that: "I am one of the servants that are serving the holy feet of Padyavati, she's so great." Jayadeva showed Padyavati as gopī, attached to Kṛṣṇa, not as enjoying body wife, that was Jayadeva. He has mentioned in his book that: "I am one of the dusts of so many dusts on her feet, I am one of the dusts in the feet of Padyavati." Such was the relationship.

In Goloka this prema, the love, not any physical interest, all converted into wholesale service nature, all approach with the spirit of service, no enjoyment, wholesale. Meeting everything similar but no enjoying mood, serving mood. It is unimaginable, inconceivable, to the fallen souls. Everything is there but it is with the spirit of service, pure. And no enjoying tendency, even a particle of enjoying tendency is there, just the opposite. And here also the perverted reflection, from there, otherwise they cannot cross this Vaikuṇṭha and Goloka.

They're all guru's, the land of guru's, superior. He's entering like a slave, everyone will be of that consciousness, "that I am a slave here, all my master." That is the peculiar thing, so it is very, very, difficult to understand. But it is possible, not unintelligible, not unreasonable. Here everything is enjoyable tendency, just the opposite there. So unattached, not only unattached but serving tendency, that is horrible to think from here in this plane. Inconceivable, acintya, still it is, and holy things are of such nature. And to enjoy that is pollution, the spirit of enjoyment that is polluted thing. And less enjoy and gross enjoy, the difference is here. Gross enjoyment we hate and less enjoyment is fickle enjoyment, highcar ? Light enjoyment we regard here and gross enjoyment we blame, but light enjoyment we revere here in the satvic world. But no enjoyment, then serving and serving also degree going up, how much serving tendency. As gods enjoying agrandisement, so also the gross, intense serving spirit, going on up, and up, and the acme is in Goloka Vṛndāvana. Inconceivable.

kaḥibāra kathā nahe, kaḥile keha nā bujhayē, aiche citra caitanyera raṅga sei se bujhite pāre, caitanyera kṛpā yāñre, haya tāñra dāsānudāsa-saṅga

"Such topics are not to be discussed freely because if they are, no one will understand them. Such are the wonderful pastimes of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu. Unto one who is able to understand, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu has shown mercy by giving him the association of the servant of His own servant." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.83)

Not to be disclosed in this earth of mud. Still the religiously mad persons cannot but talk of all these things. And if they talk who is there who will put some value and faith in that? No one does not care, anyone does not come to care their delirium, it is like delirium here.

Ha ha. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari.

sanātana kṛṣṇa prema nilo kena hai ?

"Oh you Sanātana, I am talking of divine love of Vṛndāvana that never comes down to this human society, never, nilo kena hai ? Never comes down to the human society. But if anyhow, any connection comes to anybody, fortunately that never forsakes him, forsakes him. But that does not mean that kṛṣṇa-prema is very scanty. Only one point, or one drop of kṛṣṇa-prema can inundate the whole creation, universe, so big. But still it is so dear, so unavailable here, not available, but scarcity, is scarce."

Gaura Hari bol.

Ha, ha. Wonder, wonder, wonder, wonder, strange, strange.

itam buto guno hari ?

So wonderful, Hari is so wonderful, so strange, astounding still it is, He is. Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: The Ṣaḍ Goswāmīs of Vṛndāvana in their writings they don't seem to indicate Gaura worship, Gaurāṅga worship, Rūpa Goswāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sanātana Goswāmī, they have described Mahāprabhu as Kṛṣṇa Himself, Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa combined, all this they have told. And how to worship Him in suppressed way they have mentioned, and first worshipping started in Kalna, then in Navadvīpa. Then in śāstric way, regular way, when the Mūrti was established in the house of Narottama Ṭhākura, this Śrīnivāsa Ācārya, this Jāhnavā Devī, Vichandra(?) Prabhu, all commanding personality of the Gauḍīya sampradāya, gathered there, and they evolved a regular process how Gaurāṅga may be worshipped, and His followers, in kirtury (?) It is given in Bhakti Raknaka, mentioned.

.....

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

So much deep intense thinking about Kṛṣṇa it is impossible to understand for us, depth of intensity of kṛṣṇa-kathā. Hare Kṛṣṇa. What we cannot feel even, what is Kṛṣṇa consciousness proper, we can't understand, follow, touch, but there it was so much intense, making mad. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Due to beauty makes mad, beauty can make mad in the seer. How that beauty may be beauty, aspiration. None can stand, that experience, fainting.

(Śrīla A.C Bhaktivedānta) Swāmī Mahārāj told Acyutānanda: "What talk I had with Śrīdhara Mahārāj, if I say to you, you will faint." Ha ha ha. So there is a stage of thought where we can faint, can't stand it consciously.

They say that Jaya Tīrtha Mahārāj might have come in Bengal, but no definite news. It was known from Karnarni house that he has come to Bengal with few followers.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

And then there is another news about Hansadhūta Mahārāj, very sad. ISKCON can't tolerate him any longer. He's also showing so much sentimentalism in his preaching campaign. Main thing has mixed chanting and dancing and showing different gestures, postures, sentiments, emotionalism. That is intolerable for a sane man. Divine sentiment is very much cheap coming in the hand of the sentimental mongers.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Difficult. mokṣa-laghutā-kṛt sudurllabhā. Even after attaining liberation from the illusory world, still it is, sudurllabhā, very, very, rare to have, sudurllabhā, very, very, rare to achieve. Then, sāndrānanda-viśeṣātmā, great ecstatic joy knows no bound. And then, śrī-krṣṇākarṣiṇī, at last he forcibly draws Kṛṣṇa to devotee, that is love divine.

kleśa-ghnī śubhadā mokṣa-, laghutā-kṛt sudurllabhā sāndrānanda-viśeṣātmā, śrī-krṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā

"Uttamā-bhakti, the purest devotion, is the vanquisher of all sin and ignorance, and the bestower of all auspiciousness; liberation is belittled in the presence of such devotion, which is very rarely attained, the embodiment of the deepest ecstasy, and the attractor of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Himself." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrvva, 1.17)

So many persons, very cheaply they come to Śrī Kṛṣṇa. When I came here forty years back, one gentleman living on the banks of the Ganges, he told even to me, he told: "I have seen Kṛṣṇa."

"What do you say? You say to the public. We have got some idea what is the sight of Kṛṣṇa, what is Kṛṣṇa, what is His sight. Seeing all these things some idea we have got so don't say to us, say to the ordinary ignorant public."

"No, there is so many witnesses, not only I have seen but I have shown many." "Yes, yes." Ha, ha, ha.

"I have shown on the other side of the Ganges on the tamarind tree, I have shown Kṛṣṇa." And so many names he took. "One is Mathur here, living, you call for him, he will say I have shown him."

"If you are a madman you don't know what is Kṛṣṇa, what is seeing Kṛṣṇa, so you may say anything and everything. But we are the last person to believe it. Not only that I say to you, why are you deceiving your own self. This human form is very valuable. I'm told you are a son of a brāhmaṇa and you are losing your time, this valuable birth. You are a traitor to your own self, you ask yourself."

Then after few months that man, he was in the guise of a lady, so male, he used to take the dress of a lady. Then after few months he came one day, shaving his lady like hair, and taking the male dress, he has come to my hut.

"What's the matter?"

"Yes, what you have said it hit my heart, that not only am I playing treachery with the public but I am a betrayer of my own self."

Devotee: Rāmāyaṇa, they were very, very, intelligent monkeys, yet today we do not see any remnants of such a monkey type of civilisation. So sometimes if someone reads the Rāmāyaṇa they may be attracted to the wonderful qualities of Rāma but they may think this is also auspicious.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A special group of monkey. Suppose there was another monkey section, chimpanzee is most advanced is it? Suppose a race higher than chimpanzee, monkey group, not man group, ha ha ha. What, he's smiling.

Treta yuga that means four years, four years, no four yuga, one lākh, thirty two years, is the area of Kali yuga, four lākhs, thirty two years, charlakravatesh ? That is the measurement of Kali yuga, four lākhs, thirty two years. And twice is Dvapura. Thrice is Treta. So Rāmacandra appeared in Treta yuga, the four lākhs, eight lākhs, nine, ten lākhs, then another, half Treta yuga, twenty lākhs of years before, this Rāmāyaṇa took place.

But according to your research scholars, they say some five hundred years before Christ, or some two thousand years before Christ, that is their jurisdiction. They're counting like this. First we heard that they told that the earth has been created four thousand years back. It is mentioned in the Bible, in the Koran also something like that. But only Hindu mythology told, created crores, crores, years before, (one crore is ten million). And now the scientists, first they tasting the salt in the sea, they're calculating what is the age of the earth. Now perhaps we are told some uranium or something like that, by any change in that metal, the present scientists they try to think out what is the age of the earth. Ha ha.

Devotee: If the men, as the yugas go by, they grow shorter and less intelligent. Is that what happened to the monkeys also, that they grew smaller and less intelligent?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You should not think in empirical line, you must forget that. You shall try to come down from above. That let there be water there was water, let there be light there was light. Everything Divine Will and like a hypnotiser He can show anything and everything anytime and every time. The basis of our experience must be that. We are all labouring under false mania, that this is a rigid world. The stone, the iron, cannot be removed, they're rigidity, all these faults. If He wills iron may melt like water, everything, the will is within, giving position to everything as they are.

End of recording, 15th, 16th, 19th.1.83

* * * * *

83.1.21-22

Devotee: Swāmī Mahārāja once gave me an instruction in answer to a question, he answered my question about one thing then began to tell me about sādhana-siddhi and kṛpa-siddhi.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, that is according to pleasure stages, according to the capacity of catching the truth instalments should be given. Śāstra has done so, with higher plane, with the help of that you are to learn ABC of that plane. Ha, ha, ha, ha. Very crashing, the whole realisation, smashing all the scientific knowledge, science has nothing to do with that, it can only take us, draw us down. This is enemy, scientific knowledge is enemy, will always hunt me away from that position. The knowledge is no knowledge that is enemy, only draw from the back.

"Where are you going? Your trust is going much further, don't believe anything. It will bite you from the back, don't go forward. There will be a ditch and you will fall and you will be lost, don't go."

The science will say something like that. "But you science, what you have told that is all mortal, you science, you can't go beyond mortality. I want immortality, I want to jump in the eternity and seek my position there. I hate you, your stability, your final proposal of finite pleasure, I kick it. I want to jump into the ocean of infinite and there I want to find my eager position, if any. Your proposal of miserable life I hate."

So you are to kick out science in this way. "You are all hateful, immortal, you mortal being, you have come to entice me. I want to be part and parcel of the infinite if possible, otherwise I don't want anything mortal, it is hateful to me." Can't you say? "Your mean proposal, I'm not going to be satisfied with that, my heart is hankering for something more. I have finished what you have really come to propose to me, what smear, I'm not going to fall on your smear. I want to be a part of the immortal world. If I am mortal I be then finished, but if I am immortal then I must live in the relativity of immortality. I want to, and not in mortal irreverence. This body or that mind or that reason, all that living in mortal relativity, calculation, pleasure, end of life, everything is of mortal relativity. I don't like it, I want to cross it off."

Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. "Very trouble some, all destructive, no destructive, your proposal, your statement all destructive. You can't tolerate any constructive proposal. I am going to produce something and you are discouraging me. What is that?"

Devotee: They may think they do not want to be cheated.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Cheating, cheating, cheating, of different planes of cheating. Crossing the cheating then told the land of revelation, land of faith. Always cheating, our knowledge drawn from this mortal world, that is all cheating. Māyā means cheating, māyā, measured, what comes within measurement that is all cheating, all in finite. The calculation from the standpoint of infinite, measured, local values, provincial values are all cheating. We cannot go beyond provincial, local calculation of values, local value calculation. They're all cheating, they cannot represent the reality of the infinite character, all of local valuation. Do you follow? That is māyā, miyate, all measured by local interest, all knowledge here measured by local interest.

Devotee: Supposing a scientist would question your realisation about the infinite world?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: First vacant you of all false realisation, create a vacancy you have already occupied. Make some room empty for the infinite to come down to your plane, allow. Our Guru Mahārāja (Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura) told: "Allow Kṛṣṇa to land in one part of your heart, you'll conquer the whole thing gradually. All other local calculations interest will fly away. Only allow Kṛṣṇa to land in your heart, He will conquer, Kṛṣṇa consciousness will conquer everything, capture you wholesale. He's so sweet and so comprehensive, absolute. Allow Him in the plane of your free will, allow Him to land, He will surely capture. All other considerations will be compelled to vanish, nothing can stand against Him." That our Guru Mahārāja told to one gentleman who was twenty years assistant editor to Manchester Guardian in England.

Devotee: To feel Kṛṣṇa for a scientist, to learn how to feel Kṛṣṇa Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What do you say scientist, science means what? Who makes experiment on mortal things, mortal are false aspect. With the art of misunderstanding, the scientists are plodding in the mud of misconception about the environment. One scientist saying something, another greater saying: "No, no, that is not, leave." One step further, in this way by the empirical method of working one cannot reach infinite. By step by step empirical method, by inductive method, step by step we cannot finish infinite. No number of finite can make infinite.

It is to vacant everything and to invite faith within the soul, that may be awakened, that is buried. These rubbish's must be cleansed and the new plane of faith that will come out, and that will connect with infinite place, that can come. And that is all covered with ashes, it is wasted, rubbish's, covered, it must be cleansed, cleared. The plane of faith will awaken and that plane can connect with the plane of infinite, the soul. Automatic, that is automatic that connection but that is covered by the rubbish's and we are focussed towards this, forcibly focussed towards wrong conception.

Devotee: What can remove that rubbish?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By the agents of the child of that soil, they can remove, the sādhu and the śāstra, no other alternative only the men of that plane can remove these rubbish's. Others they know not anything, how they will clear? They do not know. They're relishing the rubbish's, tasting, distributing, giving a good hoax about rubbish.

Devotee: The sādhu is beyond the plane of faith?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So the help must come from that plane, that is revealed truth, that by the special agents of that land, that plane. Inevitable, indispensable, help from that plane must come to remove our difficulty, that is indispensable, it must come from that plane. Falsehood cannot help one to get out of falsehood, darkness of any type cannot remove darkness. Positive approach is necessary to remove the negative rubbish's which has occupied us fully, we're engrossed in the name of knowledge experience, science, all these things. The ego, that ego of the child of this rubbish, that ego must be dissolved, ego must be murdered by the agents of that plane.

hṛdaya karo sadvanatha ?

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says in the course of Hari-Nāma: hṛdaya karo sadvanatha.

The wholesale destruction of this figure, this body, both gross and subtle, new awakenment will come from within.

Devotee: The position of sādhu, a man, if a sādhu

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sādhu, imitation sādhu won't do, sādhu, there is also real symptom of sādhu, that is also in the scriptures who is sādhu. A Vaiṣṇava Kṛṣṇa conscious person is sādhu, not this Brahmā conscious, not this Virāja conscious, not this Śiva conscious, Kali conscious, so many, sādhu, there are different types. What Kṛṣṇa conscious there all comprehensive absolute beauty, that is necessary to cure us fully from this diseased stage. Not only out of disease, to become out of disease does not mean that I have got good health. Nirmat-sarāṇām satām, in Bhāgavatam (1.1.2) in the beginning it is mentioned: "Only liberated and not holding the highest position."

prasavena mukhari sambhiri asta ?

But the attainment of the positive thing. Only passport won't do, visa is necessary, positive, entrance into positive land is necessary not to get out of the present land.

Devotee: Can a sādhu who is on the level of faith, in the śāstra, just on that level can he deliver a fallen soul to the level of faith, if he is only on the level of faith

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In the land of faith there is also gradation, the boarder faith and the deeper country faith, there is also difference.

brahmāṇḍa vidhi jai virāja brahmāloka vidhi paravyauma pai tavi vai tavi goloka vrndavana kṛṣṇa caran kalpavṛkṣa ?

The creeper of devotion will grow and will gradually climb on these, passes, will pass through Virāja - the Buddhists liberation land, then Brahmāloka - the Śāṅkarite liberation stage, then Vaikuṇṭha - the Rāmānuja sampradāya, and then Kṛṣṇaloka - Goloka, as Mahāprabhu recommended from Bhāgavatam. The Reality the Beautiful not reality the power. After crossing reality the power then the Reality the Beautiful.

Devotee: So as one travels to one realisation to another one may go from one guru to another?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, sometimes it is necessary. If a child may have fortunately a good post graduate professor to begin from ABC, by fortune a child may have as a good scholar to begin his study. Otherwise he may have a less qualified teacher and again crossing that another higher qualified teacher. In this way gradually he may have to go. But if by fortune one miss the saint of the highest type then one guru will do.

So the Lord says: "It is My function, through those gurus, the guru of less of less quality, higher quality, is My delivering potency is there common. You try to see the common thread within the guru, guru in this dress, another in another dress, another dress. But the common thread of devotion is to be traced there. That is chance coincidence, a question of sukṛti, what he gathered previously accordingly."

Yo yaṁ śraddhā sa eva saḥ, According to our śraddhā, faith, we flock to a person, flock round a person according to our classification of faith. There is in faith also, the perfect faith and adulterated faith there may be. In the beginning to have the highest form of faith it is very rarely found. So it is said:

ācāryam mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta karhicit na martya-
buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ

"One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27) + (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46)

"I have come to draw you up. You try to find that finest thread in the teacher, that will help you. Everywhere I am there, I am there, I am trying to meet you and to take you up and this consciousness will help you there, ācāryam mām vijānīyān."

And there is also these various types that are vartma-pradarśaka giving information of a true guru (the vartma-pradarśaka-guru is the person who first instructs the neophyte kaniṣṭha-adhikārī bhakta on the progressive spiritual path of Kṛṣṇa consciousness). Then śāstra also there, then śīkṣa guru (instructing guru) of so many types, different dīkṣa guru (initiating guru), in this way.

The fact is to be considered not the form, but the spirit that is all important. Spirit within, that is to be judged, that is all important. You have guru in Christianity but you have left. Then some or so many gurus have their own family gurus, they've left and come to Mahāprabhu as we did. We had our previous guru in the Śakti culture, left that. Gītā, Bhāgavata has taken me towards this direction leaving aside that worship of the goddess Kali.

Ideal, ideal called me this side, the appreciation of the highest idea of Mahāprabhu. When Mahāprabhu began His preaching so many were converted, how? They left their previous religious conception and came to Him captured by the beauty of His proposal, they come. So Swāmī Mahārāja also preached amongst different sections. They had some sort of conviction, spiritual, but leaving aside have come to hear the advice of Swāmī Mahārāja, why? For the ideal, for the ideal he preached. Form, everyone already had their forms. So:

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

"Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair." (Bhāgavad-gītā, 18.66)

Wherever there is truth our business is with that, and you'll be able to understand the comparative characteristics of the conception of truth, your inner heart will, hṛdaye nābhya nujñāto (Manu-Saṁhitā, 2.1) - (one's own feeling is the guarantee as to whether s/he is making real progress or not).

sattvānurūpā sarvasya, śraddhā bhavati bhārata śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ puruṣo, yo yac chraddhaḥ sa eva saḥ

"O Bhārata, all men have a particular type of faith according to their individual mentalities. The very nature of the living being is based on faith - their internal and external nature is modelled according to their faith. Therefore, their nature may be discerned according to the manner of worship or reverence in which they have faith."

(Bhāgavad-gītā, 17.3)

Yo yaṁ śraddhā sa eva saḥ, according to our śraddhā, faith, we flock to a particular direction. Śraddhā as in Gītā is divided into three, tamasic, rajasic, sattvic, and then nirguṇa the fourth. The definition of the tamasic śraddhā, rajasic śraddhā, sattvic śraddhā, and then nirguṇa śraddhā, it is there.

We must not be afraid of the jungle, we must find out the path. Necessity is the mother of invention. At every step I may be faced with differ, whether I shall go this side or that side, or that side or that side, at every step judgement is necessary, clear and infallible judgement. Who'll guide? At every step, every second, guidance is necessary. Our mind is always thinking, so many alternatives, alternative proposals are coming to me every second to our mind and we are to decide and dismiss one so many and accept one. We must not be afraid of that. In food, in drink, everywhere, in going, everywhere alternative proposals are there.

Devotee: When I first met you I was asking some questions, you were giving some answers, and in one statement you made it kind of disturbed my mind, attracted my mind and to understand as you said: "When the higher taste comes you'll loose all your taste for this world." And the way you said it was not academic, there was definite realisation in the tone of your voice. - Some time back - and it's been there for weeks, almost two months now - and you said: : "When the higher taste comes you'll loose all your taste for this world." And you said it with great conviction and realisation. And I wanted to ask you when that realisation descended into your heart because I know when you spoke that it was realised, not faith but realisation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, she's smiling. You want to take the sweetmeat into your mouth, you give the sweetmeat into my mouth and I shall taste. Your question is like that, ha, ha. It is the result of many past experiences transcendental, sukṛti. We are to enquire into the underground how the creeper begins to grow, the devotional creeper, the underground, then we are told that: sat- saṅgaḥ prāpyate pumbhiḥ sukr̥taiḥ pūrvva-sañcitaiḥ - ādau śraddhā

bhaktis tu bhagavad-bhaktasaṅgena parijāyate

sat-saṅgaḥ prāpyate pumbhiḥ sukr̥taiḥ pūrvva-sañcitaiḥ

"Actually we can recognise a sādhu by sukr̥ti. Apparently we can know him from the śāstras, the scriptures, because the śāstra helps us to know who is a sādhu, and the sādhu gives us the interpretation of the śāstra. So sādhu and śāstra are interdependent, but the sādhu holds the more important position and the śāstra has the secondary position. The living śāstra is the sādhu, but to know who is guru, who is sādhu, we are to consult the descriptions given about them in the scriptures. The symptoms of the sādhu, both of the guru as well as the disciple, have been written in the Bhāgavatam, in the Gītā and in the Upaniṣads. (Bṛhan-Nāradiya-Purāṇa)

ādau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅgo' tha bhajana-kriyā tato' nartha-nivṛttiḥ syāt tato niṣṭhā rucis tataḥ athāsaktis tato bhāvas tataḥ premābhyaudañcati

sādhakānām ayam premṇaḥ prādurbhāve bhavet kramah

"In the beginning there must be faith. Then one becomes interested in associating with pure devotees. Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness."

(Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16)

On the surface the first trace about devotion divine that is śraddhā, faith, and how that faith comes, duty, sukṛti, that unconsciously we are utilised for the purpose of that plane. And that is accumulated to certain quantity, weight, and produces faith. We are told like that, sat-saṅgaḥ prāpyate puṁbhiḥ sukṛtaiḥ pūrvva-saṁcitaiḥ. Acquired by various births previously, drop by drop, or part by part. That is accumulated to a certain degree and produces faith. Faith from the experienced world completely withdrawn, "Where am I." This is unsafe, we can see the unsafe dangerous position where he's taking his stand, "I want some real ground on which to stand otherwise I can't pacify my mind where I am standing."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Drop by drop, constant dropping wears the stone. With that way it comes accumulated and suddenly breaks this plane where we are standing, on our plane below our leg is found unsubstantial. "I am infinite, no position to stand over where I am now. Undone, I am undone, I am unsafe, I am lost." And search, earnest search for some plane to take some stand over that sort of hankering comes like a mad man. "I have to take my position wholesale is wavering uncertain, all taken away gradually, every moment is eaten away by death." Such things come. And eager to take some stand on some real plane and he finds that this body, this is also like that. A dangerous cage, full of so many diseases, and this is not myself proper, it is an encasement, this body. The figure is within, the soul, not even the mind, mind is also full of experience drawn from this false world. The material by which the mind has been constructed that has been drawn from this mortal world, so not to be trusted.

So something, some plane, some reality to be searched within over the mind. This body and mind rejected, they are all false players. So where is the reality, where to spend, and who am I proper? That is adjustment within, then the soul has to come out, and the soul's plane is to be found out, that eagerness, eagerness. Necessity is the mother of invention. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Follow a little? No? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi.

Devotee: So it may come, one small statement may change a whole man's life because of previous sukṛti ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By previous sukṛti, is gathered by the association, chance association of the divine agents. Bhakti is the cause of bhakti, bhakti is causeless, nothing can contribute devotion, only devotion can give devotion. It is the causeless ultimate substance, nothing can produce it, bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā:

smarantaḥ smārayantaś ca, mitho 'ghaughā-haraṁ harim bhaktyā
sañjātayā bhaktyā, bibhraty utpulakāṁ tanum

"The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti-yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, which can only be obtained from those who have it for bhakti alone can cause bhakti. Thus, even within this world, their spiritual bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end."(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31)

And nothing can resist its force also, apratihātā, ahaituky, causeless, apratihātā, irresistible. That is the nature of the most fundamental plane that is love. Does not care for anything for attraction for its activity, its attraction is absolute, the attraction of beauty is absolute, none can oppose, even power also hated. But beauty and love cannot be eliminated, universal demand.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

sa vai puṁsāṁ paro dharmo, yato bhaktir adhokṣaje ahaituky apratihātā, yayātmā suprasīdati

"The supreme occupation (dharma) for all humanity is that by which men can attain to loving devotional service unto the transcendental Lord. Such devotional service must be unmotivated and uninterrupted to completely satisfy the self."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.6)

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, I have one short question. One devotee wrote asking about Śrī Jīva Goswāmī has mentioned he saw the author of Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Śrī Rūpa Goswāmī, himself always had the dhatry garland around his neck. So the question is, it is also said the dhatry garland, Śrī Rūpa Goswāmī wrote he wore one garland, Rūpa Goswāmī, it's quoted from some book but I don't know exactly Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I want to see that reference. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Important things have been repeated in many places in Bhāgavatam. Repetition is necessary of salient points. In Gīta also, repetition so many times, that: "Don't enter into duality, loss and gain, insult and honour, friend and foe, don't allow yourself to enter into that duality." A hundred times it is mentioned in Bhāgavad-gītā: "That is the key point for getting out of this world." Capturing from both sides, from desirable and undesirable, both is capturing. So both desirable and undesirable give up to make yourself free from the positive and negative, both sides, not only one side. The advice from both sides, from spirit and from this side, no compromise is necessary. In this way both friend and foe all equal here, all unnecessary, both friend and foe. Then you can get out of this snare of this body, this is repeatedly warned in this way. Friend and foe both equal, both false, both false in this world, both friend and foe false.

And in the third plane the friend that is the devotee divine, invite them. They're your friends, neither foe nor friend in this material sense. Sometimes they turn as doctor, pushes his knife into the abscess.

cinvanti manum bhasangam mukti ?

By harsh and strong words he cuts asunder the attachment of the mind towards material things. Very sternly he cuts it, like a doctor, operating the abscess he pushes the knife inside the body.

Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

.....

Devotee: You were describing the inspiration that comes to move the hand of one Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Kavirāja or anyone who is truly inspired to write transcendental literature. So I have one question came to my mind, that is one is moved purely by the higher plane to write inspirational literature can there be defect?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: According to the dedicating stage, stage of dedication.

Devotee: Can there be defect in those writings?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That cannot be taken under any law, that is sweet will. Generally every movement from that plane, that comes, originating from the central will, to satisfy Him, the whole Svarūpa Śakti

End of side A, 21-1-83 - side B, 22-1-83.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:is also sectioned, Vaikuṇṭha, Goloka and different rasa, inspiration, and they do accordingly. Inspiration, that vibration from the centre. And here vibration from innumerable local centres of local interest, and there Nārāyaṇa centre, Rāma centre, Kṛṣṇa centre. But all meaning towards the main with some consonance with the main centre. There are also different centres of interests, different interests, vātsalya, sakhya, and other specific but all meaning for the satisfaction of the Absolute. Here also different centres but almost all meant for local interest. All vibration, different vibrations coming into clash for different interests on the whole all of separate enjoyment of these things here up to Satyaloka, the Virāja, Brahmāloka, no traceable vibration originating there. Again from Śivaloka, no traceable vibration originating there. The origin is there of different stages but all centre caring interest. So here in this mundane plane also if they come from higher area they're always connecting with the centre. And some here escape, getting escape from local interest they may realise such a position that they may be used as agent of that world sometimes, maybe used as agent, connected from there and may be utilised as agent. Though not always cent per cent converted into that but they're utilised by the higher officers.

Devotee: So one might be inspired from the higher plane to describe Kṛṣṇa consciousness according to time and place?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe, maybe, if he's so qualified, so reliable, so pure, that he can catch and transmit, he may be selected as agent, agent to reveal the truth of that land.

Devotee: But it is a rare thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rare, of course.

Devotee: Is it possible that someone who is not pure

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is possible. When Mahāprabhu was in Purī He utilised one of His devotees, Nṛsimhānanda, as a mediator. Nṛsimhānanda he lost his senses and being inspired by Mahāprabhu he used to talk here about Him. It is mentioned in the Caitanya-caritāmṛta:

sarva-loka uddhārite gaura-avatāra, nistārera hetu tāra trividha prakāra sākṣāt-darśana, āra yogya-bhakta-jīve, 'āveśa' karaye kāhāṅ, kāhāṅ
'āvirbhāve' sākṣāt-darśane' prāya saba nistārīlā, nakula-brahmacārīra dehe 'āviṣṭa' ha-ilā pradyumna-nṛsimhānanda āge kailā 'āvirbhāva' 'loka nistārība', - ei Īśvara-svabhāva

"In His incarnation as Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa descended to deliver all the living beings in the three worlds, from Brahmāloka down to Pātāla-loka. He caused their deliverance in three ways.

The Lord delivered the fallen souls in some places by meeting them directly, in other places by empowering a pure devotee, and in still other places by appearing before someone Himself.

Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu delivered almost all the fallen souls by directly meeting them. He delivered others by entering the body of Nakula Brahmācārī and by appearing before Nṛsimhānanda Brahmācārī. "I shall deliver the fallen souls." This statement characterises the Supreme Personality of Godhead."

(Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 2. 3-6)

He's in Purī and Nṛsimhānanda here (Navadvīpa). Nṛsimhānanda got inspiration like hypnotisation from afar. Hypnotist can hypnotise only within the circle of his senses. But from far off also one can inspire, hypnotise, can use as medium. It is mentioned that Mahāprabhu did in Nakula Brahmācārī, who told: "Mahāprabhu is doing this, He'll be coming very soon." All these and many things foretold, and that was true and verified.

It is possible, it is mentally. Physically now it is possible by radio, by telephone connection, so many things are being made possible materially. But before it was done mentally, mental psychic powers were more developed previously by the yogīs, the devotees, and not these physical things. Now physically it's being done by scientific knowledge and generally it is easy for people to believe. But it was psychic in previous days so ordinary people could not know how it is being done. We also think it is impossible. But now physically possible by phone you are talking with America, with London. What is this? It is also miracle. And mental plane was previously used for such purpose they got such development. Even the yogīs, not even devotees or in the case of God, but the yogīs could also develop such psychic power as to conduct things in this way.

(Hanuman? or Hanibal? ???) has also recognised in his book that: "We hear that Indian yogīs they can cure diseases from distant place. It is possible I believe because a magnetic force is necessary to cure the disease." It is the opinion of (Hanuman? or Hanibal? ???). "A magnetic force is created and that removes the disease, so I believe that the yogīs previously as it is said, the Indian yogīs could cure the disease by mental force and it is possible." Hanuman? told.

All the big Indian fights they all prove, say, and, that many wonderful things could have been done only by improving psychic power. Even so that they had communication with the demigods, they would come here and they also could go there, but only mentally, and that was a scientific transaction, though subtle, reliable transaction, not imagination.

Devotee: There is a great interest in the West in this parapsychology, this subtle ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Some eight or ten years back, eight Russians came here to enquire amongst the Indian yogīs, that: "How we can understand, we can read things that are far off, in the Moon, or in the Sun, or in the Mars, or in Jupiter? Came here to enquire that the ancient yogīs in India could do and that is very quick. The mental speed, speed of a mind is considered to be the most rapid, most quick, so even more than electric movement, the light. So Russians came to enquire if such yogīs are available. They told: "We have come for material purpose, we have sent a rocket there towards Jupiter and whether by mental speculation, mental energy it is possible to catch that, to get information from there which will be more quick than the velocity of light." Velocity of light, velocity of electricity, electron or something, then quicker. Only mind can be quicker than that and no other material thing can be quicker than the velocity of light, only mind can be quicker, and it had recognition in India. manogati ? (The velocity of light is 186,000 miles per second).

Mind can hear in a second you may remember your American abode, how far, in a second you can remember. Mind can go there, so mind is the quickest conveyance medium. So eight Russian persons came here some ten years back or so, saying: "We have come with some material object if we can utilise the speed of the mind in the case of scientific researches." But they told that: "We failed, we could not do, we could not meet such men, now we are here."

Once I was delivering some lecture in in the assembly of advocates they put a question to me: "What is this? That few years ago also we had connection with the gods, demigods, Satyaloka, and now we have already detached. No god comes here, Devarṣi Nārada and others, so many other gods they do not come here or we cannot go there, disconnected. Only few years before, in the age of Mahābhārata also, freely the gods used to come here and Arjuna and others used to go there in the heaven. What is the reason."

That question came to me. I told: "The psychic power was very much improved at that time. Just as in dream or just as in, (planted?) you know? The departed soul they are drawn and we can have some talk with some departed soul in the (planted?) seance. Just as this is medium through a man or through any machine it is possible this sort of power was very much developed scientifically at that time, now we have lost that."

And I gave some instance, "That suppose now the scientific civilisation has created much wonders, the aeroplane, the buses, the rockets. But if by some atomic war, what is that for which the whole world is afraid, that nuclear war, everything is damaged, the whole civilisation, atom bomb or hydrogen bomb. If some war breaks out and the whole civilisation finished, and then some books may be scattered here and there and they will find that before there was aeroplane, there was bus, all these things. The crippled persons they will be saved after this atomic war, they won't be able to understand. "What is this written in the Scripture? This is all false thing." Atomic war it destroyed the present civilisation and in the books there will be much mention about those things, this aeroplane, this, this, and that, so many, passing. After the war the crippled persons that will remain they won't believe. "What is this here written, it is all false, all imagination." They will say: "All imagination, the scientific improvements all imagination." Nothing remained actually, no aeroplane, no rockets, no this or that, they will think this is all bogus.

Now also it is such, that extensive culture of the mental power is no more, so we are deviated from that position. We can't see that Devarṣi Nārada is coming, if Devarṣi Nārada comes here he'll come in astral body. But my mind is not sufficiently developed to trace that here Devarṣi has come. I won't be able to trace. He won't come with physical body, his astral body, and if he comes here I won't be able to trace him. But if my mind had been sufficiently developed then I could see: "Oh Devarṣi has come." The impression would come to my mind, here Devarṣi comes, here Vyāsadeva comes, here Mahāprabhu, Nityānanda Prabhu has come here. My mind's eye, my minds, that impression in my mind would say it to me that here someone has come but that side is blocked now. Rather with microscope I can see one insect is here, one virus is here, I can see through microscope. This is the age now.

Devotee: Many years ago when (Śrīla A.C Bhaktivedānta) Swāmī Mahārāja came to the West, one devotee arranged for a program, but when it came time for that program there was hardly anyone there, hardly any people came. So the devotee he apologised to our Swāmī Mahārāja: "I'm sorry Prabhupāda no one has come to the engagement." And our Swāmī Mahārāja said: "Well, Nārada Muni came and Lord Brahmā he came."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. "Yes, many come I see, I feel, but you can't see." Just as when Śukadeva delivered Bhāgavatam, his Gurudeva Vyāsadeva, Nārada, Atri, Vasiṣṭha, all came there, the gurus also came. So Swāmī Mahārāja went to the West with so much earnestness to preach the doctrine of love divine, his Gurudevas they went there to see how he is dealing in the way. It is not impossible.

nāhaṁ tisthāmi vaikunṭhe yogināṁ hṛdayeṣu vā yatra gāyanti mad bhaktāḥ tatra tiṣṭhāmī nārada

"My dear Nārada, I do not dwell in Vaikunṭha or in the hearts of the yogīs, but wherever My devotees sing My glories." (Padma-Purāṇa)

By revealed law we can conceive. "Wherever My devotees sing My praises I cannot but be present there." The Lord Himself says : "Nāhaṁ vasāmi vaikunṭhe, I do not live in the transcendental plane; yogināṁ hṛdayeṣu vā - nor in the heart of a yogī, mad bhaktāḥ yatra gāyanti, but wherever My devotees sing with most earnest heart; tatra tiṣṭhāmī - I present Myself there. I take My seat and hear their hearty song. Their singing and chanting carries Me from the heart of the yogī, and even from the throne of My Vaikunṭha. I run towards the place where the yogīs they're chanting, where the devotees are chanting with much devotion, hearty devotion about Me: that is what really attracts Me most." Nārāyaṇa says Himself. So the devotees, higher devotees of Nārāyaṇa along with him they have come and to attend the assembly. It is not hyperbolic.

Devotee: Be developed as the Kali yuga is now or is it finished?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very possible but devotees do not like to waste their time in those affairs, they have no time to loose. Jñāna prayāsa, yoga, this is the system of yoga, they do not care for that, their concentration is towards service.

There is a story that a devotee is very busily engaged in the service of Gurudeva, and he's deeply absorbed. He has attained the satisfaction of the Lord Himself and He has come in disguise. "You, devotee, I'm satisfied with your service, you come, I shall take you to Vaikuṇṭha." The Lord says.

The devotee says: "No, no, I have no time, my Guru Mahārāja has given me, entrusted me with this service. I shall have to attend that. I have no time to go to Vaikuṇṭha with you." Do you follow? Such attention towards the service, even the call to Vaikuṇṭha he's not finding time to attend. "I am concentrated, this is my duty I have been given by my Gurudeva. I have no time to spare to go to Vaikuṇṭha to fulfil my curiosity."

Ha, ha. What is Vaikuṇṭha? No time, such sort of attention, this exclusive attention is necessary, laudable for the devotee. If to some faithful, dutiful, servant, the master says: "No, no, you have laboured a long time, now you are tired, you come and take food."

"No, no, my master I have no time. I shall finish this then I shall go and take food."

It is not impossible a faithful worker he may reply to his master's call that: "Stop the work and come and take some rest."

"No, no, I have no time to take rest now, I shall finish this then I shall go and take rest." This is the responsibility of serving.

Concentrate in such a way, in the service. Kṛṣṇa and Yaśodā, she's boiling milk for Kṛṣṇa, and Kṛṣṇa that Gopāl, the boy Kṛṣṇa..... boy Kṛṣṇa is engaged to suck the breast of Yaśodā. And on the other side the milk is being boiled in a caldron nearby, and the milk is overflowing and going down in the fire. And Yaśodā threw Gopāl from her lap and went to take care of the milk that is flowing away from the caldron. This is like that. It is so extreme example that that is meant for Kṛṣṇa and though Kṛṣṇa is dissatisfied, when Kṛṣṇa is snatched away from His breast He is dissatisfied, still the attention of the materials for the service of Kṛṣṇa, that must be saved. They care so much.

Apparently it may seem that Yaśodā is committing error. The Kṛṣṇa direct satisfaction continuing, He's sucking the breast and Yaśodā forcibly threw Him away and went to protect the milk which in future may be utilised or not utilised. But the tendency towards the things of Kṛṣṇa's service.

"Everything meant for Kṛṣṇa, the whole thing is meant for Kṛṣṇa so I must take care of everything, preserve everything. For the time being Kṛṣṇa may be a little dissatisfied, what does it matter?" That is the tendency, and very fine, very subtle thing to detect and understand, but what is the underlying tendency, that emotion? That everything belongs to Kṛṣṇa. At the cost of the present, future must be kept up, at present we may suffer but we must still store for our future. This sort of tendency is in the interest of Kṛṣṇa, to be appreciated.

So service, jñāna sunya bhakti. "No curiosity, I don't want to be a big juggler, or a big jñānī, or a big person." A humble servant of the gopīs, half educated, half jungle life, that satisfies Kṛṣṇa the most. That point, that humble point, not very grand, very grandeur, that it may be adoring, Vaikuṇṭha, but that is ignored in Vṛndāvana līlā. Simple, simple, plain, ordinary, neither high nor low, "golden mean" is there. The degree of meanness that is also infinite, the degree of nobleness that also is infinite, grandness also infinite, the middle point we may say, the "golden mean."

There the love, love is there, does not want to see more future only the present, concentrated present, love. It may risk whole future, past may not care at all, but act, act in the living present. That grandness, reverence, that is not very suitable for love. The plain life, that is the highest position of the transactions of love. We are to think like that. Grandeur disturbs us in our transaction with true love.

Devotee: In the West, Swāmī Mahārāja has given us Deity worship in a grand way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is arcana, arcana that is specially meant for Vaiṣṇava not in Goloka, arcana. In Rāmānuja sampradāya the arcana holds the important position, but in Gauḍīya sampradāya sevā, service, bhajana. Also in Vṛndāvana and other grand, many positions in a grand style it is seen, the worship, but that is only after realised position. Arcana has been recorded of lower status.

arcayam eva haraye, pūjām yaḥ śraddhāyehate

na tad-bhakteṣu cānyeṣu, sa bhaktaḥ prākṛtaḥ smṛtaḥ

"A devotee who faithfully worships the Deity, but does not properly respect the Vaiṣṇavas or the people in general is called a materialistic devotee, and is considered to be in the lowest position of devotional service." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.47)

Arcana and bhajana, difference, arcana Deity, that is arcana means trial. Before the actual fight that mock fight, when the planes of navy they show some posing o fighting, what is that? What is the name of that? They're showing as if they're fighting, the show of fighting, what is that? Something like mock fight that is a show. So arcana is like that, the previous, with the dolls to acquire some habit and to practice something. As a child they play with the dolls as if after with the dolls as if after marriage they are playing. In this way. That mock playing or something what you say. So arcana something like that, as a preparation to the real service we are engaging ourselves in similar things. In the external plain with the external senses we are making attempts for some service. But there I am also not fully grown and whom the worshipping is going I do not see there fully, a mere appearance. I am not a cent per cent servant and the Deity before me I can't feel that really He Himself is sitting and taking my services. But approximate, dealing with some approximate trial so that after we can come in real connection it will be helpful for me, I'm making some practices, that mahara ? arcana. So it is kaniṣṭha adhikārī.

arcayam eva haraye, pūjām yaḥ śraddhāyehate

na tad-bhakteṣu cānyeṣu, sa bhaktaḥ prākṛtaḥ smṛtaḥ

"A devotee who faithfully worships the Deity, but does not properly respect the Vaiṣṇavas or the people in general is called a materialistic devotee, and is considered to be in the lowest position of devotional service." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.47)

It is material conception, the higher conception one will leave arcana and go to serve a devotee. In the heart of the devotee higher expression of the Lord than the expression of the Lord in the Deity. The more real in the heart of a devotee, the presence of the Lord is more real, more in conscious form. And there in some material form to me, and there in the heart of a devotee the same Lord existing but that is of higher form, very conscious. In conscious form He's present in the heart of a devotee, the devotees after that feeling, that sentiment, that is of conscious matter. But what we find in the Deity here we find those that cannot understand without in terms of sense experience, Bhagavān the Lord has come, has taken the form of a Deity towards them. Those that do not understand anything but which is not in the experience of their, within the bounds of their sense experience, the eye, the hand, the nose, the ear, He comes down to the lowest section as a Deity. But those who can catch His spiritual existence, for them it will be more beneficial to serve a devotee than the Deity.

There was one incident mentioned in Bhāgavatam (eight canto), once you might have heard the story of Gajaraja (the king of the elephants - Gajendra). There was a king in the Southern India, he was engaged, he himself was engaged in worshipping his own family Deity. At that time Mahārṣi Agastya, Agastya Ṛṣi, a devotee, he came to his palace as a guest. The information was given by the man, a servant, to him, to the king who was engaged in the worship. But the king he showed some attitude that he can't see. He heard that Agastya had come, a great devotee, but he did not care to answer in any way that he has got the information. He showed that he's deeply engaged in the worship, he did not hear. After finishing the worship he came and then he enquired, and then made arrangements for his refreshments of the Ṛṣi.

But because when the Vaiṣṇava guest came he attempted a posing that he can't see, he's deeply engaged in the worshipping, he committed offence against Agastya Ṛṣi, Vaiṣṇava offence. And for that in the next life he was the elephant, the life of an elephant, birth of an elephant he got. And when there was a fight between that elephant and another, crocodile, there was a long fight between the elephant and crocodile. And when the elephant was too much tired, he can't fight, he took the Name of Kṛṣṇa. "Lord save me." And that temperament came because he was a devotee, that king he came to take the form of this elephant, he was a devotee internally. So that Gajaraja, that king of the elephants when he could not save himself from the attack of that crocodile he chanted loudly: "Kṛṣṇa."

There is a Bengali saying: Braja rajay pukari kṛṣṇa rakha apta jivana hari ? "Now I am going to be finished, oh my Lord protect me."

Kṛṣṇa ke pukari mathurase godare cari ke dhari goaka hari mari ka mari udhari ?

But the birth of the elephant came to that human king only for the offence that he disregarded the devotee guest with the plea of his own engagement

83.1.22-25

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So you have to respect that first. My appearance in the heart of the devotion, that is more real, both My order, but here you'll find.

When I came first in the Maṭh, Gauḍīya Maṭh, I saw that in a hired house, the Deity of Mahāprabhu was installed in a room on the roadside, on the first floor, ground floor. And I also saw that the Guru Mahārāja, he in the first floor, in a room he was living. I asked a devotee: "That this Mahāprabhu, made by wood, or earth, or what is that?"

He rebuked me like anything. "What do you say, Mahāprabhu He Himself is here. Not by earth or wood or by marble, no. He Himself is here." He told me.

"All right He Himself is here. But why your Gurudeva who is considered to be the greatest devotee, he's not by the side of Mahāprabhu, who Himself is here?" That was my question. "If Mahāprabhu Himself had been present here then the greatest devotee must have to be seen on His side. But he's on the first floor, and He's, the Deity on the ground floor, and near the road, and he's in a safe position, what is the reason?"

Then he told me: "That here is also Mahāprabhu, in his heart there is also Mahāprabhu, he's not without Mahāprabhu. He's always engaged in showing his devotion towards Mahāprabhu who is residing within his heart, and that is higher expression." He told.

I could not understand so much, but still I thought that, "Yes, there must be something, some reality in this argument, in his statement. And afterwards I came to know, that here also Mahāprabhu in devotee's heart, and the Deities there also Mahāprabhu, that this is higher expression than the expression in the Deity.

Para, vyūha, vaibhava, antaryāmī, arcana - In this way, in five gradations that original Deity expresses Himself in this world.

(Rāmānujācārya has classified the expression of the Supreme Entity in five forms: para, vyūha, vaibhava, antaryāmī, and arcana. - para, the central conception of the highest entity; vyūha, His extended self in different functions, in different figures; vaibhava, His appearance in this mundane plane as avatāras like Matsya, Kūrma, and Varāha; antaryāmī, His presence in every heart and every soul, every conscious unit; and arcana, His appearance in the plane of our physical perception as the Deity).

Devotee: In five expressions?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Para, the others in the original position. Vyūha, extended self on all sides to manage the Vaikuṇṭha affairs. Vaibhava, who comes down to this world, Matsya, Kūrma, Varāha, Nṛsiṃha, Vāmana, etc. Who comes down to this material world to do some help to the fallen souls. Antaryāmī, another expression is in the heart, the Paramātmā. Every soul on his side the Supersoul, Paramātmā. And then arca, the fifth is arca, that is, He comes to our level of sense thinking to attract my energy and attention towards that finest plane, from this gross plane, He has come down to me. These five expressions of the Supreme is specially mentioned in Rāmānuja philosophy. para, vyūha, vaibhava, antaryāmī, and arcana.

Devotee: Pastimes we read in Caitanya-caritāmṛta and Bhāgavatam of devotees having direct experience of the Lord through Śrī Mūrti speaking, Sākṣi Gopāla Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sākṣi Gopāla, Rādhāramaṇa, then this Śrī Kūrma. It is also possible. He can assert everywhere, if He likes He can assert Himself everywhere, in the way, according to His sweet will. He is everywhere. Even He came breaking the pillar to Prahlāda as Nṛsiṃha, not Vighraha. And it is easy to come as Vighraha on the whole, it is easy thing. Even He can come from an atom. He can come out and assert with full force. He can do anything.

Devotee: But something is greater to be learned in the association of a devotee than with Śrī Mūrti because the devotee is devotionally better.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes of course, that is passive, and here it is active. And in book also it is passive but more living than Śrī Mūrti. The book, the śāstra, that will give me more than the Śrī Mūrti. And the sādhu will give more than what the book, the scripture can give. It is in general, but to a devotee, everything may be of fullest conception, especially when He wills.

Even a jungle can give you conception of Vṛndāvana and Kṛṣṇa. Everywhere he may find. By His will we can do anything and everything with a devotee. That is a separate thing, otherwise this is under regulation, this regular, ordinary sanction is this, but by special will he can do anything and everything.

Ordinance, ordinary laws of the country and then in the emergent law some ordinance may be proclaimed. Everything belongs to the state during the war, no personal property. Sweet will. His autocracy is above all. General law is there, for general public, general people, students, according to gradation, step by step. But special characteristic is reserved to be utilised anywhere and everywhere.

Devotee: I read in Swāmī Mahārāja's Bhagavad-gītā that prescribed duties can be material, according to the psycho, physical condition of the jīva, or the conditioned soul, he can have prescribed duties. But then the spiritual master he may give some spiritual duties, spiritual instructions.

So there seems to be some distinction.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prescribed, that is in the śāstra for the general?

Devotee: But we're not working on that.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Suppose in the medical book, there is some general instruction, for the patients for the disease. But a specialist, a doctor, he may compare there and he may give something more special, collecting from the general laws to a particular patient. That there are so many medicines recommended for this, but this particular medicine will be much helpful to you. The doctor, the specialist, he may select.

And for in the śāstra the general direction of the public, and a special arrangement may particularly by a doctor who knows the patient very completely, that may be the thing.

Devotee: And a question about, in reading some purports of Swāmī Mahārāja, it appeared that one should not take sannyāsa unless he's sufficiently purified, unless he's free from some anartha's. That it would be wrong to prematurely take this position. Is that correct?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It is also general and particular. When Napoleon came back from Moscow, the greater portion of his army was finished. Then he passed a conscription when he reached his country, France. "Anyone of this age must join the army." And the less qualified army led by the expert general, they could do havoc.

Then what do you say?

Devotee: I'm wondering if sannyāsa.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, sannyāsa. So when under the guidance of a good general, this ordinary soldier may be raised to a higher position for the necessity, he'll get the benefit of the grand guidance. So no risk no gain. It is generally, it is said in Bhagavad-gītā: sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo:

śreyān sva-dharmo viguṇaḥ, para-dharmāt svanuṣṭhitāt sva dharme
nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ

"It is better to carry out one's own duties a little imperfectly rather than faultlessly perform another's duties. Know that even death is auspicious in the discharge of one's duties appropriate to his natural position in the ordained socio-religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous." (Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35)

"Don't risk where you are. According to your capacity, you do the needful. Don't be ambitious. But at the same time: sarva-dharmān parityajya:

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-
pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

"Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair." (Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66)

The clarion call. "Give up everything, come to Me." The constitutional method and the revolutionary method. You may lose but if you gain you will gain very much. With this risk you will march.

tasyaiva hetoḥ prayateta kovido, na labhyate yad bhramatām upary adhaḥ tal labhyate duḥkhavad anyataḥ sukhaṁ, kālena sarvatra gabhīraraṁhasā

"Persons who are actually intelligent and philosophically inclined should endeavour only for that purposeful end which is not obtainable even by wandering from the topmost planet (Brahmaloka) down to the lowest planet (Pātāla). As far as happiness derived from sense enjoyment is concerned, it can be obtained automatically in course of time, just as in course of time we obtain miseries even though we do not desire them."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.18)

In Bhāgavatam. And sarva-dharmān parityajya in Bhagavad-gītā. Revolutionary method. "If you are courageous enough, you want to risk enough, come, take revolutionary, shortly you will attain, get the success and in the ordinary way it will take long, long, time to reach the goal."

Something like this, in śāstra it is admitted. So ordinarily when not such a strong spiritual guardian, you don't take so much risk, as to take sannyāsa. But if under the guidance you get some great personage, you leave everything, take courage and join him. And in a very small time you will gather such merit that if you fall, afterwards you may not harm you much. In the meantime what you have acquired that is enough for lives together.

Do you follow? Something like that. If you get the chance of a higher guidance, a higher market of the war market only two years you will be a priest, a merchant priest? But in ordinary market don't risk so much. In this way, the guidance, the Guru. As you get, you may risk, and if you also find inspiration from within, to jump, you can't control it, you will jump. A leg may be broken but still you won't care, you will march.

That is the:

tasyaiva hetoḥ prayateta kovido, na labhyate yad bhramatām upary adhaḥ tal labhyate duḥkhavad anyataḥ sukhaṁ, kālena sarvatra gabhīra-
raṁhasā

"Persons who are actually intelligent and philosophically inclined should endeavour only for that purposeful end which is not obtainable even by wandering from the topmost planet (Brahmaloka) down to the lowest planet (Pātāla). As far as happiness derived from sense enjoyment is concerned, it can be obtained automatically in course of time, just as in course of time we obtain miseries even though we do not desire them."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.18)

That ten śloka that Devaśi Nārada gave to Vedavyāsa.

"Just concentrate on these, the meaning of these ten śloka's, and go on writing Bhāgavatam. This is the ten outlines I am giving to you."

There is one śloka is this. From time immemorial you are moving in a vicious circle, going up, down, action, reaction, reaction, reaction. But anytime you get some chance, you jump out of that vicious circle. Not describing that stale and eternal path, try to jump, come out. And if you get some harm, does not matter, because here in the vicious eternal circle, you have no chance to come out. So by coming out forcibly you lose something that is also desirable. Because what you gain by that, that is very, very, rare, that cannot be acquired in this ordinary cyclic order. So for the service of the Lord, if you take risk from the varnāśrama dharma - the sannyāsa, brahmacārī, gr̥hastha, vānaprastha, sannyāsa. If you take immature sannyāsa, renunciation, you may lose your character. But if you can get some chance for serving under a pure devotee for the time being, constant service for the time being, you will acquire so much of that valuable thing at that time, that that will help you in your future life extraordinarily.

Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes. I follow.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is the purport. It is mentioned there.

tata kava arjuna udha muchakin ?

What loss you incur there, and what is the development going high and next minute to come down, again going up, and next minute to come down. So the high and low have no peculiar position, but you try to jump out and you incur some loss, for the time being, but for the good cause, you must risk otherwise you won't be able to come out of that vicious circle, so try for that.

So: Sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja, (Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66) - "Come to My revue, My shelter." Ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo - "If any injury occurs there, I am here, I am to compensate." The assurance is there.

So for the good cause otherwise if we are helpless, no hope, no prospect, nothing of the kind. So simply to get the name and fame of the roll of sannyāsa, that: "I am a leader of society, I have taken sannyāsa, ācārya." For all these low reasons don't take risk, don't venture. But for the real cause you must take risk. No risk no gain. That method will be welcome.

Just as an instance Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, he recommended what you told, that not very easily you should give up this gr̥hastha life, householder's life. This is more safe, though speed is not very quick but safe position. But our Guru Mahārāja (Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura), he gave a general call: "Come and try to serve under me, you'll be more gainer." So he did not give much stress on the householder. "Take risk, come, I am conducting a general march towards Mahāprabhu's throne. Come and join me and you will be paid honourably."

Devotee: I was going to say that I've also read in Swāmī Mahārāja's Bhagavad-gītā that a sannyāsa who's not pure in heart is simply a botheration to society.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sannyāsa is of three kinds, one being fully prepared, but how to be prepared? What way? So three kinds, vaidic, dīkṣa also, but the lowest if we get the chance of a good guide, then if at heart I can accept the very destination, then I can take risk. But if I have not a clear conception of the destination I need not take risk. Clear conception, but I am not fit, but by the help of my friends and my guide, I shall try to make thesome loan like thing, that those defects, to compensate those defects, by the power of the guide and the company.

That is necessary. In the eternal path I may receive some injury, does not matter, still I must attend, I must be sincere. If I am sincere, sincerity is always reckoned the highest place, if I am sincere in my destination, that I want that, I'm not satisfied with anything but that, then I should take risk, then I shall get such chance.

jata kalar badra madhur ramashya kinko vaptva bara raja tvam sad atmata ?

In the ordinary life also we may find you must take risk. That inner urge will come that I must take risk, the chance has come to me, you cannot but take risk. But the favourable circumstances surrounded by the friends and guided by the good guardian, they should take risk. The injury that may come due to my ineligibility that will be amply compensated, whatever, small thing I shall acquire in this short time. He is there.

na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid durgatim tāta gacchati pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati

"O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated." (Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40)

But still there will be some who cannot, who is insincere, if by imitating others, he may take such, he will be loser. The imitationist will be loser, the sincere aspirer, he may be rewarded and the imitation won't help us. Imitation. Without having the necessary quality, if only by ambition I want to copy another self, for fame and name, that is another thing, that is bad.

But sincere hankering, inner urge, that must be encouraged. Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid durgatim tāta gacchati. Because He's everywhere and He's supporting the good. He has got a promise, that: "I'll always back the sincere and those that have got good object in life, I'll always back them." But that must be taken sincerely, that is all important, the attempt must be sincere.

Devotee: Mahārāja, this also applies to Hari-Nāma and also to dīkṣa initiation?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, always. Imitation is not laudable. Sincere hankering, that should be encouraged. And what defect is there, that can be minimised and compensated shortly. But sincere hankering must be there, and imitation is bad. The sahujiyā section, they're imitationists. In a short time you want to climb the peak of the mountain. Wholesale engagement, sannyāsa means wholesale engagement in the service, that means sannyāsa. And also in the ordinary sense gr̥hastha and sannyāsī exclusively devoted and partly devoted, in this sense. But there is, it is possible that a gr̥hastha may devote cent per cent, where as a sannyāsī may not devote a small per cent, it is also possible. Because there are so many pāṣada devotees, the eternal devotees they also come here as gr̥hastha bhakta sometimes. But they're not to be reckoned within this circle. This is about the devotee, sādṛhaka, that are within, in the process of realisation, not fully realised soul. Fully realised soul, they may come as sannyāsī, or gr̥hastha, or in any section, they're all right cent per cent, no question about them. But for those that are in the process of realisation, the question is about them. The sincere should be encouraged and the imitationists should be rejected, discouraged.

To oppose the truth, truth comes to embrace us with great speed and greater earnestness. He is also by nature. Only we are bared because of our free choice in the other way. Otherwise that is our birthright in one sense. svarūpe sabāra haya, golokete sthiti: Our inner most right is there but we're foreigner in our own home.

There must be ear of that type which can catch that nectar, sweetness from the sound.

Which is sweet to one that may be bitter to another. According to the taste.

Rūpa Goswāmī says:

syāt kṛṣṇa-nāma-caritādi-sitāpy avidyā- pittopatapta-rasanasya na rocikā nu kintv ādarād anudinaṁ khalu saiva juṣṭā svādvī kramād bhavati tad-gada-mūla-hantrī

"The Holy Name, character, pastimes and activities of Kṛṣṇa are all transcendently sweet like sugar candy. Although the tongue of one afflicted by the jaundice of avidyā (ignorance) cannot taste anything sweet, it is wonderful that simply by carefully chanting these sweet Names every day, a natural relish awakens within his tongue, and his disease is gradually destroyed at the root." (Upadeśāmṛta, 7)

"When our tongue is influenced by ignorance, the inner tongue influenced by ignorance, the Name tastes to be very bitter, the Name of the Lord. But that Name is the medicine to remove that defect in our inner tongue." He says that: "If there is bile, attack of bile in the body, then tongue is affected, then sweet things taste bitter. But the sugar candy, or some sweetmeat, that is medicine to me, that bitterness. And when the bitterness will be, the disease of the tongue will be removed, what was experienced previously as bitter, that will taste gradually sweet, sweeter, sweetest." In this way.

So Kṛṣṇa Nāma is like that. To the ignorant it is very bitter, repulsive. But that is the medicine to remove that ignorance, and then gradually it will come, with His slowly glorious sweetness, that will charm the whole existence.

Devotee: One ISKCON devotee once told our Swāmī Mahārāja that: "You are like a cow giving transcendental milk, but actually like a surabhi cow because you're never running out, always giving." We feel like that with your Divine Grace.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ha ha.

Actually some emblem may excite us about Infinite and we ignore that finite thing, and we are caught by the Infinite, we'll be excited there from.

bon dekhi brahmeray vrndavana ?

Looking to a jungle at once the Vṛndāvana comes in His memory and He's captured by the whole, whole heart captured. A brisky boy will give one the memory of Kṛṣṇa Himself.

So many things in the world. When we are in lower position even the real portrait of Kṛṣṇa and other things, devotees, that may rouse some hatred within us. Ha ha. This is only doll, the idol worshippers, they're causing so much, creating nuisance in the country. In this way. But if one has got a real eye within, he will see not only the Deity outside, sākṣāda govindam ? His mind will be carried to Vṛndāvana, so many līlā. A slight connection, a slight connection will rouse the whole thing. Kṛṣṇa līlā. His Dhāma. Anything.

There is a saying that one devotee saw a vulture in the sky and began to chant: "How sweet, how sweet, how sweet, the vulture." Why? The vulture reminded him about the burial ground, the cremation ground, where so many bodies are left. From vulture, mind goes to the cremation ground and from cremation ground: "Oh there are so many cows and that skin of this cow is utilised in the mṛdaṅga, and when that mṛdaṅga is played on with the chanting of Kṛṣṇa-Nāma how sweet that is." So immediately from vulture the mind coming through that cremation ground to the mṛdaṅga, then to the chanting of the devotees, and as if the sound is entering into his ear and he is: "How sweet, how sweet."

In this way, the connection may come to a proper heart, slight connection may rouse ocean of joy. On the other hand a real thing may come, Kṛṣṇa Himself may come in his front.

"Oh you!" Duryodhana says: "Śiśupāla, you are at the root of all the mischief here."

Ha ha. So seer, looker on, the credit to Him. If no eye, then beautiful things are useless, but if eye is there, can see sweetness from ordinary things, things which is abused generally. Take good from everything. Can take good everywhere. See good everywhere. paramahaṁsa - paramahaṁsa devotee.

Outwardly you seeing this matter and living body, outwardly, but he sees in connection of Kṛṣṇa. Standpoint comes from within and he's overjoyed by that feeling.

Mahāprabhu when He first approached to Purī, Jagannātha, six or ten miles from distant He saw the summit of the temple, and began to cry, and dance, and sing, like anything. Only few miles took long time for Him to come, He can't make any progress. Sometimes falling flat, prostrated, praṇāma, daṇḍavat, sometimes dancing, sometimes chanting, fainting, in this way, only few miles became a long distance. Such, the feeling may be weak.

The eye is necessary. divya darśana, dīkṣa, dīkṣa means to acquire such eye, inner eye, divya jñāna, the second eye upanayam, another eye from within, upanayam, another eye. By sacred thread ceremony, it is meant to be imparted, another eye, to see things around. That is the eye of judgement, theistic eye, try to see with the eye, your friend, your friend with infinite affection for you, don't be afraid of anything. Get the eye to see that you are surrounded by a friendly circle, the depth of the vision of the eye, that is appreciated.

End of side A, start of side B: 25/26-1-83

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kuryāt pāpasya saṅkṣayam - pāpa means previous prejudice which opposes us to read the deeper truth in the background, that is pāpa, the prejudice. Pāpasya saṅkṣayam, the prejudices should be removed.

divyaṁ jñānaṁ yato dadyāt, kuryāt pāpasya saṅkṣayam tasmād dīkṣeti
sā proktā, deśikais tattva-kovidaiḥ

"The process by which divine knowledge (divyaṁ jñānaṁ) is given and sins are destroyed is called dīkṣā by the highly learned scholars who are expert in spiritual affairs."

(Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, 27 - from Viṣṇu-Yamala)

There are those that have got a real knowledge about reality, they say that dīkṣā means such. To really read the inner meaning, inner movement, inner tendency, passing through the cover of things. What is the environment, what is the inevitable, irresistible, inevitable, that must happen, none can oppose. What is that? That is friendly, that is affectionate to us, to be able to read that. The ultimate power is friendly to us. Only local interests are clashing one another, individual interests, provincial, local, they're clashing with one another.

But the Absolute interest, if we can connect with, then we shall see, if our interest may be included in the Absolute interest, if it is possible for us then we shall see everything is happy, everything is good. From the universal calculation there is also my representation, but from the universal calculation, not from misunderstood individual calculation of interest. That is what is necessary and the Absolute Good Autocrat is Kṛṣṇa. Sweetest. Which is above law. That is the most beautiful. Ha ha. No rhyme no reason. Ha ha. Even no room for justice, so sweet, the plane is so sweet that no question of justice can enter there. How can you think that? Autocrat, autocracy, the highest autocracy of the absolute good has no room for justice to enter in its realm. Autocracy, but autocracy of great, that autocracy is highest good, highest good is autocrat. It is not necessary for Him to think for any inconsideration, it is above that. His will is perfect. Let there be light there was light. Let there be water there was water. His will is all right. The Autocrat whose will is all right then no question of any justice, wrong or right, everything is right, highest right. Separation, union, this embracing, and if kicking, bruising, and everything is sweet.

āśliṣya vā pāda-ratām pinaṣtu mām, adarśanān marma-hatām karotu vā
yathā tathā vā vidadhātu lampāto, mat-prāna-nāthas tu sa eva nāparaḥ

"Kṛṣṇa may embrace me in love or trample me under His feet. He may break my heart by hiding Himself from me. Let that debauchee do whatever He likes, but He will always be the only Lord of my life." (Śikṣāṣṭakam, v 8)

The inner taste gives the assurance, whatever outer treatment you get, whatever cruelty may be seen at present to you, but He is the well-wisher, the centre of all good. So when consciousness comes to that high Kṛṣṇa consciousness they never want any separation from that however treatment may come, apparently. Mat-prāna-nāthas tu, "He is my only Lord so cruelly treating over me, still He is my only Lord, so sweet. Mat-prāna-nāthas tu sa eva, None else, He is the only Lord of my whole existence, none else. Though apparently I feel that I am most harshly treated by Him. So sweet."

Can never think any alternative, or being separated from that sweetest centre, it is so sweet. His punishment is also sweet. What of union and embracing, welcoming, punishment to the extreme, that is also sweet. That consciousness grows in ones mind, awakens in ones heart, so sweet. No possibility, there cannot be any hope of our good to any other place, this is the place, the sweetest. He may behave with me in any way but that does not matter. I cannot budge an inch, the slightest, I cannot withdraw from His connection. So sweet, so good, so well-wisher, affectionate, all these considerations. The Absolute is such to all of us.

Mahāprabhu told that in His last śloka of eight śloka He has given, eight poems, last poem says like that.

"He's punishing, yes more, more, punish, punishment from Your hand is also very sweet. Heart is contented. He's my guardian. Whole faith in Him, eternal faith in Him. You're my only shelter, none else. Nowhere have I got my shelter, safe shelter but under Your feet, holy feet." Such consciousness, but we shall pray for the day when our heart will rise up to that standard. What Mahāprabhu wanted to teach us, that this sort of exclusive reliance you must cultivate within you for the highest centre, your guardian. No complaint, no complaint, all possible complaints must be eliminated when we like to approach Him, that is the way to approach.

trṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ
sadā hariḥ

"One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa." (Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3)

All responsibility of evil future with you, there everything is all right. With this consciousness you must begin your journey. The whole responsibility of ones success, or evil effects, all responsibility is with you, not with Him in any way. Then in no time you will reach the plane. If you want to reach the plane then you are to adjust in this way, you are to take within you this thought that that is all good, all blissful. And where I am this is all evil, all nasty. This sort of attitude will bring success for you very shortly.

sadā hariḥ

If you stand face to face, address Him, take His Name. Take His Name, Name means surrender to His feet, by taking the sound, but your attitude, to be fruitful, your journey to be fruitful, the attitude must be such. Trṇād api sunīcena. No complaint against anybody, all complaint against his own previous life, and with pure and open heart you are to approach there. The shortest period will take you there. There, those that live there, they're of such good temperament people, they do not know to complain against anybody, anybody. You are seeing the environment as good as anything. And they're very cautious that they may not create any dirt there, they may not create any dirt, in a pure realm, sphere, and I must not create any dirt here. Very anxious they will be, all purity. This temperament is allowed to enter such plane, where everything is good.

Devotee: Mahārāja, I was wondering since I am just getting over sickness, I experienced several weeks ago when I had very high fever, I seemed to be battling with my faith in the Lord. Wondering why I am suffering in such a gross way? I seemed to be delirious. How does one maintain that faith, that everything that is coming to us is for our good?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: My previous acquisition. āmāra durdaiva name nahi nānurāgaḥ ?

Everything is helpful, eagerly awaiting to help me. But my fate is such that the least demand what is necessary for that, wanting in me. Complete surrender. And they say a smallest ticket I shall purchase, no money. Not ticket of high order, but the most ordinary ticket I shall purchase, then I can enter the drama or the playing ground, but no money. This is something like this.

tuyā dayā aichena parama udārā, atīśaya manda nātha bhāga hāmārā

Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu says: "Whatever may be lacking is on my part. There is no defect on Your side."

"Your grace knows no bounds. But my fate is the worst thing." When we shall come to such consciousness we will be in the relativity of that thing, otherwise sincerely, one cannot say or feel like this. "I have something. I am someone." That is ahaṅkāra, ego, and only when ego finally dissolved, then these statements will come from within. "I have nothing. I am the worst. And You are the most benevolent, and this is my hope, my Lord." That is the capital. What you think to be the capital, that all negative. A real capital that: "I am liquidator, I have nothing, I have nothing, everything belongs to You and I also belong to You my Lord, at the same time. Everything belongs to You, and not without myself, the most wretched person. I have nothing, no quality, nothing of the type, good, but I belong to You, I am Yours."

To approach the Infinite this should be the attitude of the finite, completely merging. So self abnegation, mukti, not only liberation from the mania, from the imaginary pride, but to dive deep into this idea. "I am Yours. Everything belongs to You, and myself also. I have nothing. You can do anything and everything with me, I'm a slave. If You kill me no charge against You, You have got that Lordship over me, You Lord it over, I hold such position in relation to You."

mārobi rākhobi yo icchā tohārā, nitya-dāsa prati tuwā adhikārā

"Slay me or protect me as You wish, for You are the master of Your eternal servant." (The songs of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 13)

"You have every right to do away with me, what thousands like me, they're dissipated, no harm to Your pastimes area." This should be the attitude of the most faithful, suicide squadron of the general. They reach the most subtle type of existence thereby, which is undestroyable, so fine, undestroyable, destructible, cannot be destroyed. Such fine ego, or representation of the finite in relation to the Infinite.

With the dissolution, with creation, so many gross things develop. At the time of dissolution gross things are dissolved, gradually. From gross to subtle, then subtle to more subtle, more subtle, then the highest subtle thing, that remain eternal. Which cannot be traced to have any positive character, that is eternal. Out of negative the positive will begin to come from other side. Yoga Māyā, another structure where every unit is of such type. No possession, no individual possession there.

And Lord said: "Yes I am bhakta-parārdhīno. I am subordinate to all those maidservants, they've purchased My heart, I cannot stay without them. By their serving attitude they've purchased Me in such a way like I can't stand without these friends. They're so dedicated intensely to Me, I can't sustain Myself without them."

hṛdayo, bhaktair bhakta-jana-priyaḥ

The Lord tells Durvāsā: "I am the slave of My devotees; I have no freedom apart from their will. Because they are completely pure and devoted to Me, My heart is controlled by them, and I reside always in their hearts. I am dependent not only on My devotees, but even on the servants of My devotees. Even the servants of My devotees are dear to Me."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.63)

In this way there the world is found, that is another thing. Not a matter of right but the matter, the right of dedication, that develops in other way. Dedication has the greatest force but that is wholly of another type which we cannot be able to think in this plane. This negative light. Mahābhāvadui eka rūpa. The whole ecstatic Absolute feels selfless, before such negative force as a whole. The defeat of the Lord to His servitors. Kṛṣṇa.

Jayadeva Goswāmī, a great devotee poet, he was writing a book in Sanskrit, the Kṛṣṇa līlā, inspired by Him. Then he came in one place where Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa, They in Their secret union, so many sentiments, feelings, come and going. Kṛṣṇa, He's trying His best to pacify Rādhārāṇī in His favour. So eager, that He's about to say that: "I want Your holy feet, I want to serve Your holy feet, please extend it to Me."

Jayadeva could not write it, it came in his pen, before his pen, but he shuddered. "How can I say that Kṛṣṇa the highest God, He'll pray for the holy feet of Rādhārāṇī to serve, I can't." He stopped there and went to take bath in the Ganges.

In the meantime Kṛṣṇa Himself has come with, in the figure of Jayadeva himself and she, Padma, Jayadeva's wife, who was a great devotee, she saw that today, a little quickly, her husband has come. Still she managed everything for his food, etc. Then after taking his food, Kṛṣṇa told, Lord in the form of Jayadeva: "Padma bring Me that book, I was writing that book, producing a copy, give it here to Me."

And she gave. And there was wrote:

dehi pada-pallavam udāram

(Gita Govinda, 10.7)

"Be generous to extend Your holy feet to Me for service."

"Then after doing that I'm going to take rest, you take your food." Now He went to take rest in the bed, in the room.

Now real Jayadeva appeared, Padma was taking prasādam, Jayadeva wondered, "What is this Padma you are taking prasādam ?"

Padma looked puzzled on her face, "What is my master, lord, you're coming now, what is this? You already came and took prasādam, I am taking the remains, now you come?"

"What do you say Padma I am coming just now."

"No, no, no, you came, you took food, you also asked for that book you are writing, manuscript, I gave it to you. You did something then you went to take rest on the bed."

"Let me see the bed, no, no one on the bed." "Then I have committed."

"What is the matter Padma give the manuscript to me." And there he wondered to find what he hesitated to write there that is written. "Oh Padma you are most fortunate lady, the Lord Himself came and took prasādam and you are taking the remains." Jayadeva also went and began to snatch that prasādam. "You are so fortunate. Kṛṣṇa Himself came and took food from your hand and you are taking, let me have that. You are so fortunate you could see Him but I can't, I couldn't."

So Kṛṣṇa is purchased by such devotees, that is also for our encouragement, the wholesale abnegation for Him, what value fetches thereby. Surrender, surrender has got it's positive value, but very, very subtle, it's very difficult to detect that, but still it is, and it is the highest force. Ahañ bhakta-parārdhīno, hy asvatantra: "As if I am parārdhīno, subordinate, as if I am subordinate. Bhakta-parārdhīno, I am under the direction of My devotees. I'm not free, as if I have sold My freedom to My devotees like that. Willingly, I have willingly given up My freedom to My devotees, My position is such. Really I am free but as if willingly I have sold My freedom to My devotees by the money, by the price of devotion in self surrender."

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Who will come to hear this mad talk. Ha ha.

kahibāra kathā nahe, kahile keha nā bujhayē, aiche citra caitanyera raṅga sei se bujhite pāre, caitanyera kṛpā yāñre, haya tāñra dāsānudāsa-saṅga

"Such topics are not to be discussed freely because if they are, no one will understand them. Such are the wonderful pastimes of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu. Unto one who is able to understand, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu has shown mercy by giving him the association of the servant of His own servant." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.83)

Not to be spoken in a normal assembly, only the mad camp, they may discuss all these things. But who will come to reply on these things, topics? But those that have got some taste about these things, they can't leave it. They'll leave anything else, the kingdom, the leadership, name, fame, money, everything. But these sort of subtle discussions and the inter change of these such thoughts they can't avoid, very tasteful. Fame is dangerous and dedication is safe, and pain, aggression is dangerous and killing, reactionary, and highest form of dedication. How, of what type, and how to be attained? That is the problem, and Mahāprabhu and the Vaiṣṇava's, Guru's, They have come to us our relief. "Come this way, this side."

These are very subtle points. With your whole attention try to advance, perhaps a point you will get. One drop is enough, and a drop of your gain will assert, you will see that here is Infinite, the part of Infinite is Infinite, it is such. No number of finite can make Infinite, but Infinite is the original thing and every part of Infinite is Infinite.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

So how much can we take, we can receive, how much thirst we have got? The ocean is there, the ocean is there, how much thirst I may have in my tiny body.

Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Ha ha. I have got a habit that in the midst of discussion sometimes I cry Nitāi Gaura Nitāi Gaura. Even the, that gentleman Acyutānanda, he mentioned in his article in Back to Godhead that when discussing with him, in the middle sometimes I may say Gaura Nityānanda, or some Nitāi, Nitāi. He mentioned in that article, he may trace the beginning. Acyutānanda told that by January he'll come this side, here, but again some news came, for want of money he won't be able to come, someone told.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Sometimes you say: "No risk no gain." So there is evidently risk when one moves forward.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No risk no gain, relative to this plane of life. Where we are, here, especially Bhagavad-gītā has recommended for us: "Don't try for any gain, nor for loss, because everything is false. Gain also false, loss also false. Don't be very particular about any loss or gain here in this plane and then your arrangement will come in a proper place, and there is gain and loss. Not committing offence, going on with dedicating service, that is gain.

brahma-bhūtaḥ prasannātmā, na śocati na kāṅkṣati samaḥ sarveṣu bhūteṣu, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām

"The spotlessly pure-hearted and self-satisfied soul who has attained to his conscious divine nature neither grieves nor craves for anything. Seeing all beings equally (in the conception of My supreme energy), he gradually achieves supreme devotion (prema-bhakti) unto Me."
(Bhagavad-gītā, 18.54)

Both loss and gain equal, all false. Then we come to such a position as to get entrance into higher plane and there is loss and gain again, and offence is loss, and service is gain there, progress is there, sādhana. Loss and gain we shall ignore only in the plane of falsehood, this māyā, the miscalculation, local calculation, individual calculation of good and bad here.

But the attitude should be only the service, not any personal loss and gain and thereby we shall thrive. "However He may deal with me I shall be constantly adherent to the dedication of myself for His service." That should be the permanent beacon light of our life. Loss and gain in terms of His mercy, His affection.

Very particular, not by show. Service, dedication means such, dedication means ignores loss and gain for personal interest and dedicate solely for Him for whom the dedication is necessary. One pointed.

The disciple that is very much faithful, showing faith towards Jaya Tīrtha Mahārāja as Guru, Guru may do anything and everything. I want to put one question to them. His Guru, whether he is putting such faith in his own Guru, Swāmī Mahārāja? Did Swāmī Mahārāja use this LSD, this intoxication? He does not follow his Guru Mahārāja in toto. How can he demand that his disciples will follow him unconditionally? Does he surrender to his Guru unconditionally? His Guru did. He, previously that gentleman was in connection with intoxication, this Jaya Tīrtha, and leaving that he had to come and join Swāmī Mahārāja. That hippy company of intoxication. Jaya Tīrtha published a book also in favour of intoxication. From that society he came away to join Swāmī Mahārāja and he had to leave intoxication. Now again he's taking intoxication and he's asking his disciples to follow him unconditionally. What right has he got to ask the disciples to surrender to him unconditionally? Did he himself do so?

Devotee: He likes having followers.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He has invented something. Sometimes like a madman, stark mad, saying: "I am Mahāprabhu, I am Nityānanda Prabhu, I am Jesus, I am Mohammed, I am Kṛṣṇa, everything I am." All the brain finished. After the brain is extremely damaged, then such words may come through, unmind. "I am Mahāprabhu, I am Nityānanda Prabhu, I am Kṛṣṇa, I am this, I am that, I am everything." What is this? Irrelevant talks.

End of recording.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We can approach God Himself and we can find such a near guardian that if we can live in His family as family man, we can live to serve Him. God is our family head. Sometimes sonhood. Sometimes consortherood. Fatherhood. Somewhere fatherhood, somewhere consortherood, somewhere sonhood, friendship. In different respects the God may deal very familiarly with every soul as is very near and dear, very close, like family man.

But in the Bible He's far off. He's our well-wisher. He supplies all our necessary things. He's good and great, God is good and great, but far off. But here Kṛṣṇa consciousness, He will come to live as your intimate friend in different forms. This is the gift of Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, that is more deeper than Bible has given. The Bible is not antagonistic, not enemy, but a friend in the way, Bible is our friend in the way, not in the goal.

The goal is Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Kṛṣṇa. The father as Kṛṣṇa. And Kṛṣṇa He's sometimes son, sometimes consort, sometimes friend, sometimes master. In different stages He accepts us and our service very intimately, very lovingly, very sweetly. Love, sweetness, beauty, charm, similar things, and He represents that there. He's charming, He's sweet, He's beautiful, He's loving embrace. The ultimate reality is such. Our own heart of hearts is He. He is the heart of our heart. Paramātmā.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: (reading another devotee's letter) - "According to this it is more than just eternal, normally sat means eternal, is that true?" But here he says: "It has no meaning if devoid of relationship with the jīvas." Then he says: "Is this connotation correct? Secondly the latter part of the statement that Brahman was without perception seems impersonal. Is this the correct meaning?"

Then he goes on: "I have read one of the Gauḍīya's yearly souvenirs where they criticise young men and women dancing in so called ecstasy throughout the streets of western cities. In our coming up issue I have tried to explain the reason we all dance through the streets in the west, or for that matter danced at all, being because our guru instructed us in that way. And that our dancing is not seen as rāgānuga, but is vaidhi-bhakti. Am I correct in taking such a stance? I can see the Gauḍīya's criticism. I think that they feel that our dancing is a false thing or imitation. But if we claimed to be in samādhī they would be absolutely right, but I do not think that we have ever claimed or implied such. Can you advise Mahārāja?

Another item I read in the Gauḍīya was that at the ceremony honouring Bon Mahārāja's life, following his passing, there were some words of praise written by Your Divine Grace about the activities of His Divine Grace. I wanted to know if you would mind sharing those plaudits with us.

By Your Grace somehow I am surviving, even growing. But due to my past activities and conditioning it is a very painful experience, at the same time the only experience worth having. So my indebtedness to you is complete. I am bankrupt and I have nothing to give. But your sweetness lingers within me and I cannot fathom how I have come upon such Divine Grace. And I am praying to Mahāprabhu: "Please give me something that I can give to Your Divine Grace. You are the possessor of everything my Lord and I am merely asking that You bless me with some aspect of Your indefatigable opulence so that I may in some small way make an effort to please my Gurudeva. Without Your mercy I am a useless fool, even with Your mercy I am a useless fool, but at least I can be the agent of some of Your value ridden transcendental jewels, for the pleasure of my Gurudeva."

In this way I am begging for Mahāprabhu's supreme mercy. First I beg from Śrīla Bhaktivedānta Prabhupāda, then from Śrīla Hansadhūta, then from Your Divine Grace, and now I am begging and begging and begging again. Even of the unapproachable for me, the Supreme Personality Śrīman Mahāprabhu. I think I am nothing but a mercy wallah, hankering for mercy. All I can do is take, I cannot give one paisa (a monetary unit of India and Pakistan worth one hundredth of a rupee), so actually I cannot call myself a mercy wallah, he would at least sell mercy, I am a mercy thief.

All daṇḍavats to you Śrī Gurudeva Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja.

Your useless dacoit. Dayādhara Gaurāṅga Dāsa." Finished. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

divyaṁ jñānaṁ yato dadyāt, kuryāt pāpasya saṅkṣayam tasmād dīkṣeti
sā proktā, deśikais tattva-kovidaiḥ

"The process by which divine knowledge (divyaṁ jñānaṁ) is given and sins are destroyed is called dīkṣā by the highly learned scholars who are expert in spiritual affairs."

(Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, 27 - from Viṣṇu-Yamala)

The spiritual specialist, they say: "What is dīkṣā? That is a process through which the spiritual knowledge is imparted." Divyaṁ jñānaṁ yato dadyāt. So new knowledge, new estimation about the environment, about the world, awakens in one's heart, new angle of vision arises within. What we saw, that is false, māyā, and what is reality, to want to realise that, to realise the reality. Kuryāt pāpasya saṅkṣayam. And the reaction was due to me, for my false calculation and activity, as a result of that false calculation. These things are cleared up. Pāpa means the reaction I acquired due to my false estimation and transaction with the environment. That is cleared when I get the real estimation of the environment, of the world outside. This is the result of dīkṣā - divya jñāna. Not knowledge from my standpoint, my narrow standpoint, but the standpoint of the most wide view. I see with my narrow selfish outlook. We must get rid of that false notion of selfish enterprise, and replace that by the proper, true, estimation of the environment, of the world outside. And accordingly we shall learn to make transaction with the world. This is dīkṣā.

In doing that we are to understand what is the nature of the world we are living in. We are not masters of what we see. I am not monarch of all I survey. This is totally wrong, down right falsehood. But there is some monarch, we are not monarch, I am not monarch, the monarch is there, and I am also within His survey. 'I am monarch of all I survey.' I am not surveyor but I am an object of being surveyed. The world is being surveyed and I am a part of this world. I am also being surveyed by the monarch of the world. And what is the result of that surveying? To know that and to learn to go on accordingly, according to the instruction of the surveyor proper, Absolute Surveyor. That is dīkṣā - divyaṁ jñānaṁ - divine knowledge, divyaṁ jñānaṁ - what is divine knowledge?

Īśāvāsyam idaṁ sarvaṁ, yat kiñca jagatyāṁ jagat tena tyaktena
bhuñjīthā, mā gṛdhaḥ kasya svid dhanam

"Everything animate or inanimate that is within the universe is controlled and owned by the Lord. One should therefore accept only those things necessary for himself, which are set aside as his quota, and one should not accept other things, knowing well to whom they belong." (Śrī Īśopaniṣad, v 1)

Not only is it false that I am the owner, but none is owner, but only one master. Īśāvāsyā - not one neither many, one but not myself. He is the master of the whole. That is God. The Lord. Kṛṣṇa. And not only the world belongs to Him but we also belong to Him. This knowledge. What are we? We are slave to the master of the world.

jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa' kṛṣṇera 'taṭasthā-śakti' bhedābheda-prakāśa' kṛṣṇa bhuli sei jīva anādi-bahirmukha ataeva māyā tāre deya saṁsāra

dukḥa

"The constitutional nature of the jīva soul is that of an eternal servant of Kṛṣṇa; the jīva soul is a manifestation of divinity which is one with Kṛṣṇa and different from Him. The jīva souls are the marginal potency of the Lord. Though in reality they are servants of Kṛṣṇa, from time immemorial, they have been engaged in misconception, as exploiting agents."
(Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108 & 117)

To feel that this is the truth, I am very small, insignificant, very insignificant. My condition is very pitiful. To crave mercy, to crave help from high for my misguided life, misunderstood life. All these things are being dealt every day. This is the purpose of getting dīkṣā - divya jñāna. To do away with our local experience and to invite the perspective, the estimation from the centre, the surveyor from the centre. What is what. To be introduced newly to the environment. To forget my previous estimation and to invite the new estimation about the thing and to go on accordingly. To control my conduct accordingly. That what we see around us, that has got owner, not ownerless, neither I am owner of them, neither I am owner of what I see, what I survey. At the same time none is owner who are like myself. One owner there is and He's also my owner.

Now how to go on then? Mathematical calculation, this is also property, I am also property, I am a servant, this is His substance. According to the masters will I am to deal with all. That is serving. The Lord is to be served, not to be enjoyed, and His things are also to be served, not to be enjoyed. That will be the deduction, that will be deduced from divya jñāna. I am a serving unit in this world. Neither can I thrive by renunciation, no right to renounce. A slave cannot make any strike, that "I won't do the work," no, you are bound to do your duty. Neither you can go on with the work according to your own whim, nor can you strike, to say that I won't co-operate, no. Only one side open, that you must have to discharge your duty. You do not do that you commit offence and offence means punishable, you will be punished. The fact is so stern, the reality is so cruel. We have no independence of our own. We must not think that we are owner.

At the same time you cannot think that we are owner of our own self, that 'according to my will I can deal with my environment.' No. You are bound. You're duty bound to treat your environment in a particular way, in a reverential way, serving way, then you are normal, otherwise you are abnormal, you are abnormal and you are to be punished. That is aparādha, offence. Sevā, neither bhoga, nor tyāga, neither enjoyment nor renunciation. No right, no right to enjoy, no right to renounce, non co-operate, but only one side open, that is to serve, and we are to face with this cruel reality. At first it may seem to be cruel, to be rough, cruel, but if we can understand the purpose, innate, underlying, then we shall gradually find that this is only the key to happy life.

Neither self aggrandisement, with the help of the others, one wanting to live on others energy, that is insulting, that is cowardice, improper. But because we cannot utilise it only for my selfish purpose, so I must leave it, that is also not honourable, not justifiable. We are living together, we must have some sort of duty towards my environment. I cannot see me cut off things from the environment. An organic whole, the parts are co-related, so we have also got co-relation with our environment, with our four sides things. This is natural. We are a part of organic whole and we have got our respective duty towards one another. Just as this body, one part has got some duty to discharge for the whole and through that to every part.

So neither bhoga (enjoyment) nor tyāga (renunciation). Like the jñānī's (empiricists), the Buddhists, the Śāṅkarites, the tyāgī, neither their formula or estimation is right. Nor the exploitationist, "whatever I see it is for me, I am monarch of all I survey," That view also not true. To understand this deeply. Dayādhara Gaurāṅga is a good scholar but still he's perplexed, nonplussed almost, to understand, intellect. He's a doctor, research scholar, but intellect is not sufficient to make us understand all these difficulties of this life. Not only reading from the scriptures independently, independent reading of the scriptures cannot impart us the necessary light to understand things contained in the books, or scriptures.

ya'o paḍa bhāgavata vaiṣṇavera sthane

Mahāprabhu says: "Go and read, study Bhāgavata from a Vaiṣṇava, try to get the angle of vision from him."

...

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ

Kṛṣṇa says: "You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge." (Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34)

...

ācāryavān puruṣo veda

"Only one who has a guru can know the truth." (Chāndogya-Upaniṣad, 6.18.2)

You must have an ācārya if you want to study that revealed scripture, you can't study it alone, independently. Not in an empirical way, that we'll be able to understand, only in the descending method is it possible. It comes in a descending method, that knowledge. And that does not depend on our literary education. A literate man will understand more and an ordinary illiterate person won't be able to understand spiritual truth, not that. Illiterate can understand and literate may fail to understand. Independent of this worldly scholarship, that is.

Only praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā, serving attitude, surrender. These things are necessary to be illuminated by the higher revealed truth. From Guru, from Vaiṣṇava, through them it will come down to my heart, then to my brain. Or really in my soul, soul will be awakened, soul's body will grow. I shall see it come out from the bondage. In this way, divya jñāna - dīkṣā means all these things. To engage oneself in the quest of the revealed truth through a particular process. Praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā - surrender, honest enquiry, and serving attitude. We can acquire that sort of knowledge, understanding, and we are to adjust us accordingly to get the benefit of dīkṣā.

It is not a mere formal thing, it is not this, that we shall only repeat the mantram I have got. But the mantram wants to say something, he has got it's meaning, and he wants to say something to me, and ask me to do that and I shall have to do that. Then I shall get the desired result. The purpose of the dīkṣā will be fulfilled. But mere repetition of a few technical sounds, that does not finish dīkṣā. Knowledge is transmitted and you must utilise that sort of knowledge in favour of your realisation of higher life, real life, proper life. And eternal life, life after death, life after so many deaths, death also, this will continue. Eternal knowledge of the eternal soul about the eternity. Both the knower and the known and the knowing. These three things are eternal. He'll find himself that I'm an eternal part of this world and there is eternity also, I'm a part of that, and eternal relationship is also there. And from that relation, so many functions, so many activities are presupposed and that should be done, that sort of duty should be discharged. This is dīkṣā- divya jñāna - divya means non mundane, supernatural, transcendental.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In that very place a temple is constructed, he was born there.

Devotee: I didn't have a chance but I wanted very much to go there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just over the way, Jagannātha's chariot is drawn, on the left side, there in Purī he was born. In Grand Road, when chariot's going on the left side.

Devotee: Is it where the Gauḍīya Maṭh āśrama is now?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Mādhava Mahārāja has got āśrama there, he purchased the land and constructed a temple and āśrama there, Mādhava Mahārāja did it.

Devotee: Then I was there, my mistake.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then that, another where Mahāprabhu lived, Mahāprabhu, He stayed there for eighteen years, that is Gambhīrā (a small room in Kāśī Miśra's house in Jagannātha Purī. Through a small window of that house, which is still there, can be seen Mahāprabhu's original wooden sandals, water pot, and bed).

Then Haridāsa Ṭhākura's samādhi tomb. Then Gadādhara Pandit's temple, that Kīśora Gopinātha. Then this side there is a garden house, Jagannātha-vallabha where Rāmānanda stayed, lived, Rāmānanda Rāya. Then there is Sārvabhauma's Bhaṭṭācārya's house. So many. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, he was the son of Veṅkata Bhaṭṭa, in whose house Mahāprabhu stayed for four months continuously, on the banks of Kāverī, Śrī Raṅgam, the highest holy place of Rāmānuja sampradāya. Śrī Raṅgam, near Treatinopoli? Treychi? On the banks of Kāverī River. Śrī Raṅgam. There lived one Rāmānuja Vaiṣṇava, Veṅkata Bhaṭṭa. And Mahāprabhu was guest in house for four months continuous, during cāturmāsya (the four months of the rainy season in India, beginning in the month of Āṣāḍha (June-July), and his boy was Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, and his brother one Prabodhānanda, both of them followed Mahāprabhu to Vṛndāvana. By call of Mahāprabhu both of them came to Vṛndāvana. Prabodhānanda, Gopāla Bhaṭṭa's previous guru and paternal uncle, he lived in Śrī Kuṇḍa Kamavana in Vṛndāvana. And Gopāla Bhaṭṭa he lived in Vṛndāvana in the association of Rūpa and Sanātana as he was asked by Mahāprabhu to do so. Gopāla Bhaṭṭa once came from Vṛndāvana to Purī to see Mahāprabhu, Śrī Caitanya Deva, and Mahāprabhu asked: "You go stay in Vṛndāvana under the guidance of Rūpa and Sanātana."

He did that. He established a temple there, that Rādhāramaṇa Gira? at present in Vṛndāvana. That is the temple of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa. First he was, he came from viśiṣṭādvaita- vāda but he joined this Gauḍīya sampradāya. Gopāla Bhaṭṭa. It is said that he started the temple with Śālāgrāma-śilā (a Deity in the form of a stone from a holy river). But once some merchants came to visit Vṛndāvana and he offered many jewels, jewellery, the ornaments, to the Deities. And Gopāla Bhaṭṭa thought, "My Deity is only Śālagrāma, if mine would have been in a Deity figure then I could get many ornaments and decorate my Lord." It is said that in the morning he saw that from Śālagrāma a Deity has come out, a Kṛṣṇa concept Mūrti, and just on the back in a part, that Śālagrāma is connected. And that was spread, and the greatness of the Deity and temple had much admiration and propaganda. That Rādhā-ramaṇa was the Name of the Deity. Then at present, what, whom we find there, the householder disciple of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, they're living there and continuing the sevā. Generally they're scholars, study about Sanskrit and different scriptures.

Jīva Goswāmī has written this Bhāgavata-Sandarbha, he has mentioned there: "This original rough copy, copy of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, I have systematised them, I have grouped them in a system. First the epistemology, that is Bhāgavata, Tattva-Sandarbha, then Bhāgavat-Sandarbha, Paramātmā-Sandarbha, Kṛṣṇa-Sandarbha, Bhakti-Sandarbha, Prīti-Sandarbha. Six parts of Bhāgavat-Sandarbha or Sat-Sandarbha." That was compiled by Jīva Goswāmī and there is reference, "That Gopāla Bhaṭṭa left some notes scattered here and there, and I have taken, consulted the notes by Gopāla Bhaṭṭa and making a system, I have produced this book Bhāgavat-Sandarbha."

Sanātana Goswāmī Prabhu, he compiled Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa, the Vaiṣṇava treatise book where this Deity worshipping and the formalities of vaiṣṇava-dharma, that how to fast on Janmāṣṭamī day (the time of Kṛṣṇa's appearance in this world), how to manage the worshipping, different Deities. All these things are mentioned in Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa. Vaiṣṇava-śruti, how one, a devotee will pass his days, how you should worship, how the temples, how the vrata, vow, how Hari-nāma should be taken, details have been given in Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa. A big (srudilanth?) He has also mentioned that: "I have taken, I have compiled this with the help of the southern brāhmaṇa Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, his collection, and I am only preparing the tikā, the commentary of it." Both Sanātana and Jīva referred to Gopāla Bhaṭṭa for their books. Gopāla Bhaṭṭa came from the Rāmānuja Vaiṣṇava section and also from the brāhmaṇa class.

There was one disciple of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa by the name of Harivamsa, he was of a little different type, something like sahujiyā. He was seen one day to chew betel nut in the Ekādaśī fasting day, but objection was raised by other disciples of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa against him, his godbrother Harivamsa. And there was some quarrel, and it is said that he got some support from Prabodhānanda, because Prabodhānanda wrote many Sanskrit books. Very good Sanskrit and very fervent and emotional. Vṛndāvana-Sataka, Navadvīpa-Sataka, Rādhā-rasa-sudanidhi, that famous book in praise of Rādhārāṇī. These books are very much appreciated by that section, Harivamsi, who came from the, Harivamsa is their main guru, first guru Harivamsa started a section named Harivamsi. Harivamsa himself was a disciple of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, but some difference, little slackness in the strict life of a austere life of a devotee, little slackness that Harivamsa. That comes from Gopāla Bhaṭṭa we are told.

Yesterday also was the disappearance of that Rāmacandra Kavirāja. Rāmacandra Kavirāja was a disciple of Śrīnivāsa Ācārya. We are told he had a very beautiful figure and a beautiful mind also. He had one house nearby Narottama Ṭhākura, Padar River, on the other side, the left side of Padara, big river coming from Ganges. There Narottama and this side, right side, the residence of Rāmacandra Kavirāja, and his elder brother Govinda Kavirāja. Govinda Kavirāja was a devotee of Śakti.....

End of side A . start of side B.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:was devotee of Kṛṣṇa. He asked

Govinda Kavirāja to hear about the grace of Kṛṣṇa, but he did not give his ear to that. But lastly, when he is almost to die, he prayed fervently to his worshipped Deity: "Please give me salvation."

But it is told that the Deity told: "I have no right to give liberation. I can give different enjoyment of this mundane world, but no emancipation, or liberation from this world." "Then who can give it."

"That only Govinda, Nārāyaṇa, can give that." "Then I ask your permission to worship Nārāyaṇa." "Yes do that."

Then Govinda Kavirāja being disappointed, began his prayer to Nārāyaṇa, Govinda. There is a valuable song, commonly it is chanted.

bhajahū re mana śrī-nanda-nandana-abhaya caraṇāravinda re durlabha mānava-janama sat-saṅge taroho e bhava-sindhu re

śīta ātapa bāta bariṣaṇa e dina jāminī jāgi re biphale sevinu kṛpaṇa durajana capala sukha-laba lāgi' re

(3)

e dhana, yaubana, putra parijana ithe ki āche paratīti re kamala-dala-jala, jīvana ṭalamala bhajahū hari-pada nīti re

(4)

śravaṇa, kīrtana, smaraṇa, vandana, pāda-sevana, dāśya re pūjana, sakhī-jana, ātma-nivedana govinda-dāśa-abhilāṣa re

(1) "O mind, just worship the lotus feet of the Son of Nanda, which make one fearless. Having obtained this rare human birth, cross over this ocean of worldly existence through the association of saintly persons."

(2) "Both in the day and at night I remain sleepless, suffering the pains of the heat and cold, the wind and the rain. For a fraction of flickering happiness I have uselessly served wicked and miserly men."

(3) "What assurance of real happiness is there in all of one's wealth, youthfulness, sons, and family members? This life is tottering like a drop of water on a lotus petal; therefore you should always serve and worship the divine feet of Lord Hari."

(4) It is the desire and great longing of Govinda Dāśa to engage himself in the nine processes of bhakti, namely hearing the glories of Lord Hari and chanting those glories, constantly remembering Him and offering prayers to Him, serving the Lord's lotus feet, serving the Supreme Lord as a servant, worshipping Him with flowers and incense and so forth, serving Him as a friend, and completely offering the Lord one's very self."

(Govinda Kavirāja, Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 100)

Then he began to worship the Deity that was very much adored by his younger brother Rāmacandra Kavirāja. Govinda Kavirāja, Rāmacandra. Several Bengali poems, he has got Sanskrit writings also. That was sent to Jīva Goswāmī and he, Jīva Goswāmī, gave his appreciation of those songs of Govinda Kavirāja. Rāmacandra Kavirāja was friendly to Narottama Ṭhākura. Narottama Ṭhākura and they on the two sides the same river, they lived. And sometime Rāmacandra went to Narottama Ṭhākura to meet him, sometime Narottama Ṭhākura used to come to Rāmacandra Kavirāja, very friendly. Śrīnivāsa Ācārya was of same rank and friendly to Narottama and in that connection Narottama had much affection towards Rāmacandra Kavirāja, his nephew in spiritual relation.

Devotee: In the Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa, are the Vaiṣṇava's supposed to follow all those rituals? Is it important for us to follow all of those rituals?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rituals? In arcanā that is in lower position, they are to follow rituals. omis-adhikāra ? arcanā-adhikāra. Strictly they should observe the rituals, formalities. But when the taste is created, ruci, then they begin the bhāgavata-marga. Then śravaṇa (hearing about Kṛṣṇa), kīrtana (chanting Kṛṣṇa's glories), smaraṇa (remembering Kṛṣṇa), vandana (offering prayers to Kṛṣṇa), that will be principle, not much stress towards arcanā, rituals. But becomes more free when they make progress towards bhajana, anurāga, love, affection, taste. When taste is created, affection is created towards God, then the formalities of rituals are of less importance to them. But for the beginners they should try to follow strictly those rituals for their good, that is vaidhi-bhakti, rituals.

vaidhi bhakta nikarastu raga vibhava navadhi ?

śāstroktayā prabalayā tat-tan-maryāda-yānvitā vaidhī bhaktiriyam kaiścin-maryādāmārga ucyate

"Devotional service which is governed by the rules and regulations of the scriptures (vaidhī-sādhana-bhakti) is also called maryāda-mārga, or the reverential path of devotion, the path of serving the Lord in opulence, by different scholars (such as Vallabhācārya)."

(Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.269)

Rūpa Goswāmī in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, he gives these lines to us. That the vaidhi bhakti, the regulated devotion. The jurisdiction of regulating devotion is up to that stage when our taste for the service of the Lord awakens. abhi-bhāva, pāvanāvatī ?

When our taste is created, our affection, attraction is created for Kṛṣṇa, then stress on the strictness of following the rituals has lessened, not so much place is given for rituals. Taste, laulyam, lobha, greed, greed. Before that we are to follow very strictly the rules and regulations of devotion as prescribed in the religious books, so many Purāṇa, so many Smṛti, Saṁhitā. And all collected and made Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa. Meant for the devotees, Vaiṣṇava devotees.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, is that when one reaches the stage of bhāva ? Is that when the rituals become less important?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When bhāva arouses one is established in rāga-marga, even before that. Ruciḥ, anartha-nivṛtti, then ruciḥ. Niṣṭhā, śraddhā, then bhajana-kriyā, sādhu-saṅga, bhajana-kriyā, then anartha-nivṛtti, then niṣṭhā. Niṣṭhā means nairantaryya, continuous mentality towards Kṛṣṇa, no break, always thinking about Kṛṣṇa, not otherwise. This is niṣṭhā, the continued remembrance of Kṛṣṇa and His own. Then real taste is created after that. After continued remembrance then the taste. Otherwise in the lower position sometimes some taste is seen to be present within us and sometimes our mind is thrown in another way. That is not taste proper. Taste proper is to be located after, niṣṭhā means nairantaryya, that is continued recollection of Kṛṣṇa. Then if any taste we feel within us that is bona fide taste, and from there we can trace rāga-marga, rāgānuga. He can depend on his own inner tendency and he may not care much about the formality of worshipping, worshipping.

Just as suppose for a, who keeps the child, what is she? A lady who keeps another child, nurse? Not only nurse but dhātrī, midwife or what is she? Midwife, who is the representative of the mother, for her, rules and regulations necessary how to nurse the child, to take care of the child, regulations necessary for the midwife, for the nurse. But when there is affection of mother such regulations are not necessary. Out of affection the mother will look after the child, no rules or regulations necessary because her natural affection towards the child will force her to look after the child. But who is not a mother, her own child, for her formality is necessary. "That you must drink milk twice, thrice. Or do this thing, that thing, all these things are there." Duty, but when affection comes from within then the regulations are slackened. When affection, our inner awakening of the soul, and inner affection, the attraction we feel for Kṛṣṇa, the Lord of our heart, then regulations are slackened.

vaidhi bhakta dikha restu raga eva bhava navati ?

As long as that inner taste for the service of Kṛṣṇa does not arise we must take to the śāstric regulations in our daily activities and worshipping. And thereby we shall hope that inner awakening will be done and our inner taste will awaken for the service of the Lord. Do you follow? Am I clear?

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura, there is mention of his mother, but I wanted to know why is there no mention of his father?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because his father did not have any recognition in the Vaiṣṇava society, we are told, so the name of the father is not mentioned. But it is also a rumour created by the anti Vaiṣṇava that the Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura's mother, Nārāyaṇī, who was a niece of Śrīvāsa Paṇḍit, she took, swallowed some betel after Mahāprabhu took it. Mahāprabhu took some betel and some remains offered to Nārāyaṇī. "You take it." And Nārāyaṇī after swallowing that betel nut, already chewed by Mahāprabhu, Mahāprabhu offered something to Nārāyaṇī, "Take it." And after taking that Nārāyaṇī had child within her womb and then Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura came, from her womb. This rumour was spread by the anti Vaiṣṇavite.

But really we are told that when Nārāyaṇī was married, anyhow to a non Vaiṣṇava, who did not have devotion, or affection for the Vaiṣṇava cult. So his name is not mentioned as the father of Vṛndāvana, only Vṛndāvana Ṭhākura, he's acquainted by his mother's name, Nārāyaṇī Nandana. Father's name not mentioned, only mother's name mentioned, Nārāyaṇī, because Nārāyaṇī was a devotee of Śrī Gaurāṅga Deva Mahāprabhu.

Just as Mahāprabhu is also told mostly as Śacī Nandana, not so much as Jagannātha Mīśra Nandana. Very famous Śacī, because when He took sannyāsa before long ago Jagannātha departed. His sannyāsa, His saṅkīrtana, all these came out after His father left and mother Śacī had to bear all these troubles with the son. Leaving this ordinary pleasure of the worldly life, the only son given to exclusive devotion to Kṛṣṇa, showing so many fits, without caring for any improvements in the household affairs. Then after all He left the whole household, even the girl, wife, and He left, took sannyāsa, all these troubles Śacī Devi had to tolerate. So Śacī Nandana, Śacī Nandana, He's told not so much as Jagannātha Mīśra Nandana, His father's name, not so much mentioned.

So also here Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura's father, he was an atheist, but his mother, she was cent per cent devotee of Kṛṣṇa, Mahāprabhu. So her name is mentioned Nārāyaṇī Nandana, Vṛndāvana. Not any trace we find in the literature about his father. And some rumour also spread in the way, that some remains of the betel nut was given to Nārāyaṇī and that was the cause of her pregnancy and Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura came. Amongst the sahujiyā such stories are going on.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, Prakāśānanda Sarasvatī, who Mahāprabhu converted.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That was, and Prabodhānanda other person, Prabodhānanda was the uncle of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, came from south. And Prakāśānanda, some say that he's the founder of Āmrta Braja Pratika, Sisish Gosh has mistaken there that Prakāśānanda was converted into Prabodhānanda, and he wrote all these things. But it is not, because Prabodhānanda he's reckoned as one of the original eight sakhī's of Vṛndāvana. Rādhārāṇī had eight very intimate she friends, Tuṅgavidyā one of those eight, and Prabodhānanda was Tuṅgavidyā in Vṛndāvana. That Prabodhānanda cannot be māyāvādī.

Prakāśānanda māyāvādī aparādhī. Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura writes in Caitanya- Bhāgavata: "Mahāprabhu says that in Benares there is a māyāvādī and a great offender, Prakāśānanda, he does not recognise My devotion and cuts to pieces My spiritual body." conda conda ?" In this way the Prakāśānanda Paṇḍit of Benares has been mentioned and also we find that he's a great māyāvādī Paṇḍit.

And Prabodhānanda he's reckoned as one of the eight principal she friends of Rādhārāṇī, so he cannot be a māyāvādī. These two are separate persons. Prabodhānanda was converted to Vaiṣṇavism but he also might have gone to Vṛndāvana, but not much recognition he got in the Vaiṣṇava society. Both rejected from this side and also not much respect from that side, almost gone to unknown quarters.

Devotee: Kavi Karṇapūra, who has written the Gaura-Gaṇoddeśa-Dīpikā, how does he know who those personalities are in Kṛṣṇa līlā ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is his inspiration? His father was one of those eight sakhī's of Śrī Rādhārāṇī, Śivānanda Sena, former Śivānanda was one of the eight intimate sakhī's of Rādhārāṇī (known as Champakalatā). From him he got the inspiration. When Mahāprabhu was in Purī and met that son Karṇapūra He asked him: "You boy, take Kṛṣṇa-Nāma, Hare Kṛṣṇa."

The boy did not take. Mahāprabhu tried His best but the boy did not pronounce Kṛṣṇa. Then Mahāprabhu told: "What is this? I am making so many chant in the world, chant this Kṛṣṇa Name, chanting Kṛṣṇa, chanting Kṛṣṇa-Nāma, to so many in the world widely and I fail to produce the Name of Kṛṣṇa from the mouth of this boy. What is this?"

Then Svarūpa Dāmodara came to relieve, he told that: "You have given this Name and the boy has taken it, he has īṣṭa mantra, and the mantra one should not speak out. So he has taken the mantram and kept it in the inner quarter of his heart, he won't speak it out." Svarūpa Dāmodara explained in that way.

Then Mahāprabhu out of affection put the big toe of His foot into the mouth of the boy and the boy began to suck Mahāprabhu's toe, and he became afterwards this Kavi Karṇapūra. Inspirations came in him. Such a good poem he has produced very charmingly. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So inspiration, seeing some sign, some sort of similarity, and they could connect, what is what.

Devotee: Also Guru Mahārāja, I have heard that there are twin other Caitanya- Maṅgalas, one by a Locana Dāsa, another by..... Locana Dāsa is one. It does not seem to be bona fide.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not bona fide in all respects, more or less influenced by gaurāṅga- nāgarī, that is not accepted by the true Vaiṣṇava.

Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura himself was in opposition. The first book about Mahāprabhu written by Vṛndāvana. The reference of that we find in Caitanya-caritāmṛtam. Caitanya- Maṅgala was written afterwards, and that had some contamination of nāgarī vada, that Gaurāṅga like Kṛṣṇa, He also mixed with so many girls in the parakīya line, but Vṛndāvana Dāsa he has discarded it wholly. Mahāprabhu never cast a glance towards the girls in this life, he told, not nāgara. Because He's a brāhmaṇa in Ācārya family, and Kṛṣṇa came in the milkman sect. And He has come to show the position of an Ācārya Guru, and Guru may not have such misconduct then who will care for him? Who will take him as Guru if he shows such slack character, mixing with the girls, who will come to take and accept him as Guru, Ācārya? So He never showed that sort of conduct that He mixed with so many girls, never, He was very particular about that, very careful. Still Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura says: "He never by the corner of His eye cast any glance to any ladies or any girls. So the people must not give this name to Gaurāṅga, as nāgara, as a citizen, ordinary citizen. What is general temperament of a citizen, to mix with the man and woman, free mixing, not that. Gaurāṅga was not of that type, He was a very strict moralist, a life He maintained all through." So Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura mentioned this:

se heno nāma prabhu nama sane kane pathe gaurāṅga-nāgara heno sthali nahi boli ?

So none should pronounce such that Gaurāṅga was a frivolous boy who mixed with the girls in a slackened way, none can blame Him in this way. He was very strict about that. It is written by Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura in his book, original book.

But in Locana Dāsa's: "There are many who had connection with Viṣṇu Prīya, and they with the help of Viṣṇu Prīya, Mahāprabhu's wife, with Viṣṇu Prīya they came in connection with Gaurāṅga, Nimāi Paṇḍit."

"No." Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura discarded. "This is all imaginary, this is only a tendency, foolish tendency to make Kṛṣṇa līlā and Gaura līlā similar, to prove that Gaurāṅga and Kṛṣṇa are one and the same. This sort of imagination has been taken resort to, resorted. So we are not at one with Locana Dāsa in that affair."

And many also. Rūpa Goswāmī, Sanātana Goswāmī, then (Raghunātha) Dāsa Goswāmī, Kavirāja Goswāmī, Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura. So many, they have given description about Mahāprabhu but none mentioned in that way. Very strict moralist He was in His previous life. So Gaura līlā is a līlā of an Ācārya, a preceptor, that of a Guru, suiting the taste of a Guru. To please Kṛṣṇa līlā, why Kṛṣṇa līlā is so high, only in the position of Kṛṣṇa the Absolute can show that līlā, not otherwise. Even Nārāyaṇa or all other incarnations of Kṛṣṇa never did so, only with the exception of Kṛṣṇa and no other incarnation of Kṛṣṇa, or Nārāyaṇa, nowhere.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, it is sometimes said that Śrīdhara Swāmī in his commentaries sometimes agreed with Śaṅkarācārya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, he has refuted Śaṅkara, but he had his own sampradāyic creed which is viśuddhādvaita. Amongst Vaiṣṇava sampradāya there are four conceptions with slight differences from one another. Śuddhādvaita by Viṣṇu Swāmī and Śrīdhara Swāmī followed that sampradāya. Then dvaitādvaita by Nimbarka, and śuddha-dvaita was Madhvācārya. Viśiṣṭādvaita by Rāmānuja.

These four Vaiṣṇava specific sampradāyas. One coming from Brahmā, Śrī, Brahmā, Rudra, Sanaka. But there's little difference between them. Śrīdhara Swāmī he comes from Śuddhādvaita, or Viṣṇu Swāmī. And the Vallabhi sampradāya at present, the present time, they also come from the Śuddhādvaita sampradāya. And Mahāprabhu came from Śuddhādvaita sampradāya, Madhvācārya sampradāya, but with modification of acintya- bhedābheda.

So Jīva Goswāmī who was a strict follower of Mahāprabhu, Śrī Caitanya Deva, he differed in some point from Śrīdhara Swāmī. Mahāprabhu mainly supported Śrīdhara Swāmī because he has saved the devotees from the interpretation of Śaṅkarācārya, in Gītā, in Bhāgavatam. Personality of Godhead he has admitted, he has proved, revealed, but impersonalism he encouraged. So mainly Śrīdhara Swāmī is Vaiṣṇava but he followed Viśuddhādvaita and Mahāprabhu's creed was acintya-bhedābheda. So Jīva Goswāmī slightly differed from him here and there in the interpretation of Bhāgavatam.

Just as in Bhāgavatam in the first śloka:

janmādy asya yato 'nvayād itararāś cārtheṣv abhijñāḥ svarāṭ tene brahma hr̥dā ya ādi-kavaye muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mr̥ṣā dhāmnā svena sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ satyaṁ param dhīmahi

"O my Lord, Śrī Kṛṣṇa, son of Vasudeva, O all pervading Personality of Godhead, I offer my respectful obeisances unto You. I meditate upon Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa because He is the Absolute Truth and the primeval cause of all causes of the creation, sustenance and destruction of the manifested universes. He is directly and indirectly conscious of all manifestations, and He is independent because there is no other cause beyond Him. It is He only who first imparted the Vedic knowledge unto the heart of Brahmājī, the original living being. By Him even the great sages and demigods are placed into illusion, as one is bewildered by the illusory representations of water seen in fire, or land seen on water. Only because of Him do the material universes, temporarily manifested by the reactions of the three modes of nature, appear factual, although they are unreal. I therefore meditate upon Him, Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Who is eternally existent in the transcendental abode, which is forever free from the illusory representations of the material world. I meditate upon Him, for He is the Absolute Truth." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1)

The meaning of the word vinimayo, Śrīdhara Swāmī has taken as ascription, he says that: "There is glass, we may take it for light, there is sun ray, moritika ? mirage, we may take it for water, the thing is one thing and we accept that thing as another, this is the meaning of the word, vinimayo."

But Jīva Goswāmī has not accepted that. He has said: "No, the word vinimayo that never means ascription, but it is transformation. The gas, air, may be transformed into water, the water may again be transformed into solid or, and transformation, the glass may come, the stone may come, from water. In this way, air, ether, air, fire, water, earth, all, one can come from the other. By transformation and not one is ascribing another." In this way Jīva Goswāmī has explained, he's differed from Śrīdhara Swāmī. So here and there a little difference he had.

Devotee: Is this transformation the same as vikara or not?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vikara - yes. Not vivarta. Vivarta and vikara are of different kinds. Śaṅkara says vivarta, one thing misunderstood as another. A real transformation is there in the potency. śakti parinam. The potency may admit transformation of it in different kinds, it is possible. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: How are we to take the differences we hear between great Vaiṣṇavas. Like you've just explained the difference between Śrīdhara Swāmī and Jīva Goswāmī. From our point of view they're both great Vaiṣṇavas, but they have some difference

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, amongst Vaiṣṇavas there are much differences. We are to follow the direction of Śrī Caitanya Deva.

In the conception of monarchy much difference. In the conception of democracy, communism, there is much difference. Some common, some different, it will always be there. Even in democracy, even in monarchy, every monarch is different from another monarch, one's rule is different. So this vaicitrī, variegatedness, will always be present. Not that you can find exactly congruent copy of one of the other, it is not possible, some sort of difference must be.

Even there is difference in Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, Svayaṁ-Rūpa, then Svayaṁ- Prakāśa, Prabhāva-Prakāśa, Vaibhava-Prakāśa, Prabhāva-Vilāsaḥ, Vaibhava-Vilāsaḥ, in the conception of Kṛṣṇa Himself. So this distinction, not difference, rather distinction, we are to observe always, we must be alert to find.

A man, from mother, mother sees with some affection. Then his friend from another angle of vision, the wife from another vision, if he's a king the subjects from another vision, one and the same man, different conceptions. All cannot be congruent, some sort of difference there must be, according to their, the perception, the quality, the nature of the perceiver, the conceiver. But mainly something common, something different.

The main Vaiṣṇava groups, they're always after personal, eternal, personal God. These four, Madhvācārya, Rāmānuja, Viṣṇu Swāmī and Nimbarka. "The ultimate reality is personal." Then Śaṅkara and others, their group say: "No. He's impersonal is the highest conception of reality." The main difference but person of what type?

The Svayaṁ-Bhagavān characteristic personality, that is only seen by the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava. The Kṛṣṇa Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, to certain extent by the Nimbarka. But the svakīyā and parakīyā, the distinction is there. Then the śuddhādvaita school, they like more vātsalya. Then the Rāmānuja section they consider Nārāyaṇa to be the original and Kṛṣṇa to be His extension. So much difference there, all may not be congruent. The conception of the truth may also have some degree and difference there.

Sajātīya-bheda, then vijātīya-bheda, sojātīya-bheda. A tree is different from a stone, a tree is different from another tree, a tree has got it's difference within it's own, branch, leaf, root, trunk, all these things. Sajātīya-bheda, the banyan tree then so many other trees also there. Sajātīya-bheda. So in the conception of Godhead that sort of difference, distinction. This Nārāyaṇa. The Kṛṣṇa. The Dvārakeśa. Rāmacandra. Then so many incarnations here. Nṛsimha, Varāha

End of recording.

83.2.4

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the necessity of the sannyāsa, the red robe also they know, they ridicule. If we are afraid of social ill treatment then how can we accept the red robe? That may also be ridiculed. So anywhere necessary, I am taking white robe, or taking red robe. For the beginners it will be very much harmful. Respect of the popular opinion in the name of propaganda, ignoring the rulings of the śāstra and Vaiṣṇava and superior agents.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, because of fear of customs I had to leave my daṇḍa in South America. Shall I make another one, a new one?

Devotee: Why you left it there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is difficult to carry them in the plane, or in the ship, daṇḍam, difficult to carry, with the persons?

Devotee: Sometimes they even go with a drill through it in some countries to see if there is something inside the poles.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then many daṇḍas necessary for one preacher. You will go from this country to that country, to A, B, C, D, everywhere one daṇḍam should be kept separate for his use, because it may not be carried neatly through the planes or ship. That is intolerable

- that daṇḍa will be examined in that way, daṇḍa is considered to be the Puruṣātraye? Puruṣāvatāra. Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī, Garbhodakaśāyī, Kṣīrodakaśāyī. The authority represented in the connection of this mundane world. Three functions of Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa, when the master of the whole of this creation, another every brahmāṇḍa, another every soul in charge.

We are to preach without daṇḍa, or we are to keep separate daṇḍa in different countries, provinces, for our propaganda, or many daṇḍas and no daṇḍas, or not to take and daṇḍa. Without taking the robe of a sannyāsī one may preach. The alternative will be to keep separate daṇḍa in every preaching place, and the third, if we carry the daṇḍa, to tolerate the ill treatment over daṇḍa. That is intolerable, that is not possible. If it is broken, that will be pierced through to find out whether any smuggling object is there, it is intolerable. So many daṇḍas in many places and to go there and to take back daṇḍam, that is somewhat easy, kaiya-vyuha ? With the sanction of the higher authority.

Ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ (to accept everything favourable for devotion to Kṛṣṇa). With or without to preach without any daṇḍa. What is the necessity for carrying a daṇḍa then for preaching, is it impressing if a sannyāsai with daṇḍam if he goes to address the public, religious public? Is it very favourable for preaching or very impressive, why should we carry daṇḍa in India?

Devotee: In India only does anyone know what a daṇḍa means.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But how they can take the Śrī-Mūrti, the Vighraha, Arcā-Mūrti if they cannot respect daṇḍa then how can they respect this Arcā-Mūrti ?

Devotee: When I went to America last time with the Arcā-Mūrti the customs people were also examining the Mūrti and broke the Mūrti. Then I had to put it back together again.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Adulteration and cheating is so much cent per cent so none can get relief from checking. Perhaps smuggling also going on in red cloth, being abused. So Mūrti should not be carried, should be, one should learn how to prepare Mūrti and in his own province he will prepare. And the Mūrti will be pierced through and it will be found what is within. Have they not got some x-ray machine so they can find out what is within the Mūrti? They can find out by x-ray machine what is within the body, a living body. If one has swallowed some gold how do they detect?

Do they pierce the belly? Then how do they understand, find out. Some light in this day for scientific research, some x-ray, some light may be put and it may be found what is put within the belly. So what is within the Mūrti or daṇḍa they can detect with the help of that machine?

Devotee: But the x-ray does not detect everything.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then if at particular plane there is x-ray it is fixed, then you are to avail of that plane. To save such piercing in the body of the Mūrti and daṇḍam. But what about human beings? There are many who swallow some gold.

Devotee: Gold may be detected but not some chemicals, they swallow them and x-rays won't detect them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But how will they find that, they're helpless in that case? So a combined objection must be filed to the authority. Only for these things the checking system is necessary, they should do by the help of the scientific instruments, not by piercing through. That is the molestation in the religious sentiment of the theistic public.

Devotee: When Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura was accompanied in Vṛndāvana by some associates who were dressed in western attire, what was his idea?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His idea was that the outward dress is not disqualification for the inner spiritual realisation. We may accept the outer fashion of the westerners in order to infuse the real spiritual understanding into them, we shall take such risk. And our spiritual standard should not be thought less, the standard should not be considered less efficient, that they cannot conquer the western scientific sections, nations. They should try to convert those that are with this dress.

When Bon Mahārāja went to England with daṇḍam and came back without daṇḍam, he left it there, but that was not welcomed here. He has gone there to establish the position of daṇḍam, and the Śrī-Vigraha. But they can't understand, they think that the difference between idolatry and the Śrī-Mūrti worshipping that should be preached there. To make them understand the difference between Arcā-Mūrti and the idol. The ordinary bombastic and the daṇḍam, we are to preach, we are to create a field for respect for them and not to give away and to accept the.....opportunist, especially in the general propaganda. In the special high case it may be tolerated that without daṇḍa you may work, but for the beginners then it will be ridiculous to accept daṇḍa and to belittle daṇḍa in this way.

Only in the stage of paramahansa Vaiṣṇava can, he may keep the daṇḍa in a particular place and he moves freely. After serving daṇḍam for some time he may put the daṇḍam in a particular place, where it will be respected and then he can move without daṇḍam. At least after twelve years or some time, he will carry with the respect then he may put it somewhere and move. And especially in the case of emergency, if he's very sick, or any other position, temporarily he may give up daṇḍam. Otherwise he'll keep with him daṇḍam and he will try to push into the country the respect of daṇḍam and thereby many things will come into question. Why should we respect this bombastic? Why should we respect this Mūrti ? This Arcā ? Or this miniature dolls? These hard questions will come into field and they must be solved. Otherwise this will be patchwork.

Must go thorough. Progress must be thorough. We are going to attack enemies country and we shall conquer and take possession thoroughly. Otherwise in any place I'll be in danger of being murdered if the conquest is not thorough. Enemies land, the land of māyā is enemies land. We must move here very carefully. We may be attacked from every possible way, we should be careful about that and move. "That my spiritual conviction I shall spread, and that I won't allow anything to enter into that and molest that thought." The enemy camp should not be allowed to enter into our plane. We must remain intact in our plane, standing there we shall attack them and devastation we shall create in the enemy camp. So many oppositions will come, we are to face, and we are to create the position which is this. "What you think, this is not right." The elephant may be more powerful but that does not mean that I shall give salute to the elephant.

"We must enter the enemies country like so many in disguise. And then wherever we shall find favourable to us we shall begin fighting." You want that policy, to enter into the country of the enemy in disguise, suitably? And we shall try to create our position anywhere. That is guerrilla war. You prefer guerrilla war?

Devotee: Sometimes it is necessary.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. And specially trained persons can accept that rarely.

Devotee: Śrīla (A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī) Prabhupāda said to go in like a needle and to come out like a plough.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that also not at cost of the respect of the Deity and the daṇḍam etc. There should be some degree.

Devotee: I went to Russia, to preach in Russia, so when I would enter the country.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The special batch guerrilla, they will have another dress, they should have another dress. Why the daṇḍam will be necessary? Why the Vighraha should be taken there in the beginning? Special batch may be selected for such fight. Then when some ground is gained you can take there daṇḍa, and you can take there Śrī-Mūrti. Otherwise only to dishonour Them, the emblem of the Divinity, we shall push Them first, why? Get some ground, gain some ground and then we can put our Śrī-Mūrti and the holy emblem.

In the beginning the flag will be taken to be dishonoured, no, you go and create some position, then you can take your flag, not to be dishonoured, very soon, very easily. Why the flag will be taken first? We are to keep honour of the Divinity. Not to be looted, exploited by others, that will bring a reaction within me and weakness.

When there is danger of being attacked, Śrī-Mūrti of being attacked, then they put it under ground, they may put in the forest, and fly away, keeping in some safe position.

Fled away because he is going, carrying, the Muslims will come and break it, dishonour. So by concealing the Vighraha somewhere he fled.

And here also when there was some attack, apprehension of some attack over this Śrī- Mūrti of Mahāprabhu they put underground in unknown place.

"The Mahāprabhu is not God. The worshipping his Deity, that can't be allowed here." This Sanskrit, this Navadvīpa, tantric scholars, raised some objection to the worshipping of the Mūrti of Mahāprabhu. At that time It was concealed under ground so that may not be dishonoured.

So in the beginning we won't take things of respect to the enemy camp. We shall go, take the risk. Iconoclast, the Muslims are iconoclast, icon worshipper and iconoclast. Idol breaker. We shall go, we shall take the philosophy, the process of understanding, step by step, how to preach the thought. Cultural fight is the fine fight, conclusive fight, valuable fight is cultural fight.

I once heard that the Sikhs when they enter America, they're shaving their heads and beards. Then they grow, when they enter there, they begin to grow again, then they come back with their beard and hair. But when they want to take admission, suppose perhaps there is some law or something, that without shaving they cannot enter. Something like that I heard.

Rabindranath Tagore was once opposed from entering America, though he got Nobel prize before that, 1910 or 1911 he got Nobel prize, after that he was going to America. For his long beard, perhaps, he was not being allowed. Then some advised him to take special permission informing them that he, Rabindranath, has got Nobel prize. But he did not do, he waited in the ship and wanted to come back from there without landing. Then anyhow the information went to the authorities and they allowed him to get down there. We are told. That world famous movement.

We should try to sacrifice us and not to sacrifice guru, Vaiṣṇava, Deity, and others, respectable things representing the Divinity. We may risk our own selves for the service and create some position favourable and then we shall invite others, to respect Name, to come there. The propaganda must be real and solid. Only outwardly to show the success, that hollow success, what meaning is there? Substantial progress should be made, a cultural conquest, a bona fide progress.

And to dishonour them, who we honour, that is something suicidal. Then more or less from the background we think that they're material, they're material. Suppose if you found to take Swāmī Mahārāja to any particular province very risky, that his life may be at stake, will you allow him to go there? Then about Śrī-Mūrti, Vighraha, we venture, then we have got less faith in Śrī-Mūrti, as it should have been. Daṇḍam also, theoretically we think that there is collection of the Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī, Garbhodakaśāyī, Kṣīrodakaśāyī, all these things. But not so much from the core of our heart. Molestation of the daṇḍa, how can you tolerate? We must search our own heart, with how much sincere respect and devotion we treat all these. The transformation must be wholesale, not lip deep, shallow, transformation for the inner self, we must be sincere for the cause, cent per cent we shall try.

Kurukṣetra, that Kṛṣṇa has come from Dwārakā. And from Vṛndāvana also, the Nanda Mahārāja, the Yaśodā and the gopī's, they're also bound there in Kurukṣetra on occasion of the holy birth at the time of solar eclipse. That time, Prabhupāda (Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura), our Guru Mahārāja, ordered arrangement for an exhibition in dolls to show that incident. That from Dwārakā Kṛṣṇa has come with His party and the gopīs from Vṛndāvana, they have come. So many gods, they have also come and they're meeting there at that place.

There Bon Mahārāja, he was given responsibility to arrange for that exhibition. And Bon Mahārāja was dressing the Mūrtis, the Mūrtis were earthen gopis and Bon Mahārāja was dressing them. And he was dressing the Mūrtis with cloth and necessary garments, and to fix them he was using some fixing pin, the hair, the cloth, he put a pin to fix the cloth.

Then it pained my heart. "You are to show, see with respect these Mūrtis, though they are earthen Mūrti of the gopīs but still we are to see with some reverence and respect, but their body is being pierced with pins to fix the dress." I had some pain, though I was a newcomer. Then I put it to the higher authority that I asked Bon Mahārāja why he is entering the pin within the body for which we should have some respect and devotion.

He answered me: "Oh do you think that this mundane gopī are in this mundane figure?" In this way.

But I was not satisfied with that answer, so I put it to the higher authority and they supported me, that it should not have been done. That body was, that pin was fixed, rather, that should have been used to fix the dress on the body. Gum or something, that should have been used and the cloth may be attached there and it would be fixed and not in the entering. Bon Mahārāja was nailing the cloth with the body, with some iron pin.

We shall try to maintain our position always in the plane of devotion, giving respect to anything and everything, and not to tolerate any disrespect to that sentiment, to that sort of conception. We shall go away from where we are unable to fight and demolish, then we shall be off. But we cannot be a careless onlooker, where molestation will go. If it will be possible for me to stop I shall try hard to stop molestation. If not I shall go away, and not standing I shall look at all those blaspheming.

bhakativinoda nasam basi tari takhay sadamona hari ?

No power, what can I do? But for a king, if he's a devotee, if any disturbance then he must cut his head. It is recommended in the śāstra.

Taking daṇḍam in the plane and whether anything hidden here, in the daṇḍam, the custom officers come and pierce and molest the daṇḍam in various ways and then give it up. Then are we to tolerate this dishonour to daṇḍam, what should we do? Should we not carry daṇḍam or should we keep separate daṇḍam in any and every province, every daṇḍa in every zone, so we may not have to carry, the kayav-byuha ? or no daṇḍa we shall carry when preaching in the international way. What should we do? And Vighraha also. We are taking from here and custom officer will come and pierce through to see, examine, what gold and other valuable articles are hidden under it, and we are to tolerate all these things helplessly. What to do, will we allow or will we not, what can we do?

Devotee: We shall have to tolerate to a certain degree. Aranya Mahārāja did not take his daṇḍa to London for that reason.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So it is better to have them prepared in that province independently. We may learn things how to construct and then going there collect materials and prepare Śrī-Mūrti there to avoid this molestation. And that will have a, cast shadow in our temperament, our own heart, and that will be a scar, a poison, to the affair. The insult of the Vaiṣṇava and the Mūrti and daṇḍam, whom we worship, and I am to tolerate, on my face the molestation, insult of those things. How can we be sincere to our own self, true to our own self, own faith?

Devotee: If the preacher, if he's revolving, if he's preaching in two major places, say he's preaching in India and he's preaching in London, then perhaps he can keep one daṇḍa in India and one daṇḍa in London.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is to be considered. That is rather tolerable than this molestation.

When I was in Madras there was a tridāṇḍī, though tridāṇḍī of ancient type, they do not travel by the train or bus because of that daṇḍa. One of the tridāṇḍī of Rāmānuja sampradāya came to ask me: "Why do you carry this tridāṇḍa in the train and in the bus?"

I answered: "Is there any provision?"

He was eager to follow us but the society did not allow that. But I told him, he came to know, "Is there any śāstric quotation? You can help me. They took daṇḍa on the bus or on the train."

I told him: tat paratvena nirmalam:

sarvopādhi-vinirmuktaṁ, tat paratvena nirmalam hr̥ṣīkena hr̥ṣīkeśa-sevanaṁ bhaktir ucyate

"Pure devotion is engaging all the senses in service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa who is the Master of the senses. In such service, one is totally free from all relative conceptions of material self interest (upādhis), with senses purely engaged in the service of Kṛṣṇa."

(Nārada Pañcarātra)

The purity of our purpose, we hold that. And we try our best to give the respect of the daṇḍa that it may not be molested in any way. Then another, "What is your custom?" "No, we can't take it in bus or in train."

"That was because train and bus was not created at that time. But can you take it by boat when crossing the river?"

"Yes we can do."

"And the boat was created first in your time so that was allowed and these buses and trains, that is new creation, so the ordinary people are putting objection to it." In this way I replied to him. Tat paratvena nirmalam - the object is pure so we take and I see as far as it may not be dishonoured, the daṇḍam, we try to keep up the respect.

End of side A. start of side B.

Devotee: The prash anudaṇḍa ? what does that represent ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It represents by that prash it is in a... a part of a circle, the semi circle and the less, arc, an arc formed. That is meant to be used for cutting the anarthas, or to whom we preach, the emblem of cutting, prash means for chedan, for cutting, meant for cutting the, of the operation of the anartha, which is in the soul, emblem of that.

Devotee: Like Parāśarāma?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, like Parāśarāma.

Devotee: This jīva daṇḍa, when was this added?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "I am here to serve You, to serve You, the Lord who is here in the relativity of the mundane world in small and in bigger group."

Devotee: But this jīva daṇḍa was added by Rāmānuja sect, or Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Perhaps by Rāmānuja, I don't know fully but I think it was there.

Devotee: Quite a stir when Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Ṭhākura began.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He produced it here in Bengal, yes.

Devotee: And Vṛndāvana also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, red cloth also. Though Mahāprabhu and His colleagues had red cloth, still Sanātana Goswāmī in the presence of Mahāprabhu, he took the white dress, dress of niṣkiñcana. That the guru of the sannyāsi, something like that, dictator of the preachers by giving instructions in the form of śāstra. First the code and then the code keeper. So they were engaged in preparing the code, spiritual. And in white cloth, not necessary to advertise them as preachers. They're only engaged for their own benefit, not so much, only by the showing their idea to the public, as much help they can give. But wandering here and there and preaching, that is generally the function of the sannyāsīns.

So Prabhupāda (Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura) created another batch under them, they have given the directions in the śāstra, and to carry out them, to translate them into action. The next lower batch sannyāsīns. They're turiya ? beyond varṇāśrama, atatogsalya varṇāśrama dharma ? beyond varṇāśrama and within varṇāśrama the highest section is sannyāsī. They're expected to travel through the length and breadth of the country, and to preach the religious doctrine to the people. And that was created by Prabhupāda under the direction of those śāstra makers, Goswāmī's, for whom this religious garb, religious uniform was not necessary, this red uniform, the preachers uniform. They're niṣkiñcana, they did not want anything but they only prepared the code, religious code.

Devotee: So by the example of Your Divine Grace, you're also showing that you're also wearing this dress till the very end of your life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, our Guru Mahārāja also did. Everyone, almost everyone whom he gave red dress, they up to their last breath they kept all that. Only Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Bābājī who was a brahmacārī, he took that last day, did not meant himself as a preacher, he took that, after the departure of Guru Mahārāja. And Bon Mahārāja, whimsically, he took for some time then again rejected that, again took the red robe. And Vasudeva Prabhu he wanted to introduce that white cloth and some of the members of the Bagh Bazaar, they take that white cloth, including the last Ācārya Auḍalomī Mahārāja. I am told that he used white cloth. They prefer, crossing Prabhupāda, they prefer to accept the idea of Rūpa and Sanātana. They thought Prabhupāda's idea was a temporary one for the time being, and what Rūpa and Sanātana, at the presence of Mahāprabhu accept the dress, that should be the real dress of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava's. But Mahāprabhu maintained up to last point that red cloth and also some, this Paramānanda Purī, Īśvara Purī, all the godbrothers of the Guru of Mahāprabhu who were in connection, friendly connection with Mahāprabhu, they used to, we are red cloth sannyāsīs, red dress.

Preachers emblem is generally here. And the western preachers, that western school, they generally use gown, is it not?

Devotee: Black gown.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Black gown. What is their name, the Christian preachers, bishops?

Devotee: They are abandoning the gown and just wearing western dress, and the nuns they used to dress themselves very discretely, now they dress like ordinary women.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Their special dress they're giving up, they do not like to advertise that they are preachers, religious preachers, specially grouped, so special group they do not like to accept, but that ordinary man's dress.

Devotee: And for the enrolment for the nuns and priests has decreased almost to nil.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gradually to nil. They're all gr̥hastha mostly?

Devotee: Yes, there's some movement to make it so that priests can marry also. Preachers came to India they would also take the Indian dress and call themselves swami, to try and influence the Indian people to accept them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So adoptability is coming to it's extreme position. Disguise. Spy system. So nothing in the dress but everything is in the creed, that is their principle? What is the principle underlying all these changes into the system, in the preachers? The creed is everything and the garment is nothing.

Devotee: They also want to do away with the more original language. Just as some of the Christian scriptures are in Greek, or Latin, but then they thought no one understands these languages, so they tried to put it all in English. So in the same way there are some of our godbrothers, they think, "Who understands Sanskrit and Bengali, we shall make everything in English, and why should we dress this way, that no one understands, we shall dress like the Americans."

Devotee: If you dress you cannot sell the books.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Forms may be adjusted, readjusted, but the spirit must be kept intact. And it will be happy to maintain the form also, because the form may not be considered drawn from this mundane world. That is also there, but that is in spiritual shape and here it is in mundane.

It is difficult for him as I told. We have noted in your book, in a drama in a theatre, in Germany they put the figure of the God, a bearded old man on the balcony high, there from he's giving direction, something like that. So they do not have the corresponding formal aspect of the God. Some voice, some indefinite things, some sound, etc. But in Vṛndāvana, in aprākṛta, the form is also there but it is all spiritual. Form also cannot be eliminated from the spirit, because the spirit has got it's form and here we shall have the corresponding thing only. The form is also there, it is not abstract. But it can be conceived in the soul's eye, but form is there. Otherwise it will be like māyāvāda - "It is spiritual, non differentiated, something, abstract thing, truth is abstract, without form."

But our conception is not that, everything is there in the fullest way, but it has got its spiritual meaning. So we like to use this mṛdāṅga (drum) and karatālas (cymbals). golokera pravodhana ? Which were used by Mahāprabhu, that should be the highest conducive to that sort of atmosphere. Form we cannot sacrifice. But how that form is indispensably necessary with that spiritual truth, we are to understand. Why Kṛṣṇa is blue, or black, not white? Why Kṛṣṇa is prehunga? Why His eyes are tinged with red? All these things. It has got it's meaning, it is not chance coincidence, or different in the meditation in the view of the different hearts of the devotees. It is there, the standard, and we are to come to that standard. They have given and described, given description of the rūpa, guṇa, līlā, everything. And we are to understand also, the form has got its eternal aspect. Spirit and form, both to be retained.

Devotee: Sanātana Goswāmī in Br̥hat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, when Gopa Kumar is awaiting entrance into Vaikuṇṭha, he sees some sannyāsīs entering Vaikuṇṭha in sannyāsa dress. Generally we conceive of those in Vaikuṇṭha as being four armed and not tridaṇḍī- sannyāsīs, so I did not understand that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not (only) tridaṇḍī-sannyāsī but the Catuḥsana (the four Kumāras), though they're living outside they sometimes go to have interview, visit Vaikuṇṭha to have darśana of Nārāyaṇa and come back. And also generally that are favourite pārṣada, they're of different types, salokya, sārṣṭi, sārūpya, a class of similar figure, some of similar power, sārṣṭi, some aspires after, or acquires the sāmīpya, to remain by the side. Different types of mukti so different types of devotees to be found in Vaikuṇṭha, of similar figure, who are living in the same plane, sāmīpya, sārūpya, salokya. Not nearby but far away, but in the same plane, sāmīpya, sārūpya, salokya, sārṣṭi, similar power almost. There are different types of mukti and they're meant, all not four armed necessarily, similar figure but different figure also may be there.

The she friends of Lakhi, that is also there.

Devotee: The sakhīya

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're also coming and going, sakhīya of Sītā Devī is there, but here no father, mother. In Ayodhyā there is father, mother, also, vātsalya rasa. janitav, vaikuṇṭhāj janito varā madhuri - and just below madhu-purī there is Ayodhyā, there is vātsalya-rasa.

vaikuṇṭhāj janito varā madhu-purī tatrāpi rāsotsavād vṛndāraṇyam udāra-

pāṇi-ramaṇāt tatrāpi govardhanaḥ rādhā-kuṇḍam ihāpi gokula-pateḥ
premāmṛtāplāvanāt kuryād asya virājato giri-taṭe sevāṁ vivekī na kaḥ

"Superior to the spiritual realm of Vaikuṇṭha is Mathurā, where Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa first appears. Superior to Mathurā is the Vṛndāvana forest where Kṛṣṇa enjoyed the rasa dance. Better still is Govardhana Hill, which was the site of even more confidential pastimes of love. But best of all is Rādhā-kuṇḍa, which is situated at the foot of Govardhana Hill, and holds the supreme position because it is over-flooded with the nectar of the highest kind of divine love. Who is acquainted with the science of devotion who will not aspire for the divine service of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī at Rādhā-kuṇḍa?" (Upadeśamṛta, 9)

Devotee: But madhurya also with Sītā Rāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is very limited.

.....

Devotee: Mula-mantra, is that the, astādada chakra mantra ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, recommended by, as inspired by Mahāprabhu when they discussed the different mantrams by Sanātana Goswāmī and by conclusion He gave that, astādada chakra ? though Mahāprabhu took dāda chakra ? from Īśvara Purī. It is written that Mahāprabhu took dāda chakra ? mantram from Īśvara Purī. But by the inspiration, direction of Mahāprabhu, Sanātana Goswāmī discussed different positions of different mantrams and he recommended the astādada chakra and that is accepted in our sampradāya. There are others also who follow amongst the Goswāmīns, this dāda chakra?

But Sanātana Goswāmī was recognised as Ācārya of Mahāprabhu, He gave, He empowered him, delegated His power to declare this smṛti, the formal practices. So our sampradāya has accepted that astarda sakra ? path, more clear, step by step it is given. sambandha, abhidheya, prayojana.

Devotee: I read that Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura initiated Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura in the Nṛsimha mantram when he was a young boy. What mantram is that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is not particularly known but the Nṛsimha mantra is there.

Devotee: Gurudeva, when we are chanting our Gāyatrī mantra, how should we meditate, what should we be contemplating?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally we should try to have conception from Him, from there, about cid-vilāsa (the transcendental dynamic plane). That there is a world in the spiritual realm, over this mundane, this mortal world, there is another spiritual world, and we shall be attentive towards the centre there. The meaning of Gāyatrī is known as the mother of all the Vedic truth, the mother mantra of all revealed truth, that is the symbol which contains the whole Vedic truth, or revealed truth. Gāyatrī, veda mātā, and Veda means know, Veda means "know," no reason or rhyme, "know." Coming from above, "You are ignorant, know Veda," and the mother of Veda, she says what is her conception.

Gāyatrī. By singing which one can get emancipation, highest realisation one can get by singing which, gānat trāyate, by singing which we can attain our liberation. That is Gāyatrī. We are under fetters, under limitation, within mortality, so many defects, but by singing which we can get liberation, and the conception of liberation, that is different. Self determination in Hegelian school, the positive meaning of liberation. Not only to get out of the negative side, but the attainment in the positive line. Self determination. In Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava also, similar. Mukti hitvānyathā rūpaṁ svarūpena vyavasthiṭḥ. What is otherwise with us, to get out of that diseased temporary condition and to be reinstated in one's real position. That is the conception of mukti positive.

So Jīva Goswāmī has connected the meaning of the Gāyatrī to Kṛṣṇa dāśya, he has given. I did not come with it's connection but with this idea I also tried to give a meaning of Gāyatrī, towards the attainment of this service in Goloka. I have given step by step, according to the thinking of the Bhāgavatam school.

Gānat trāyate - by singing which, properly, we can get liberation. In the general it is. We are to conceive different planes, gross and subtle, in this mundane world. It is there, mundane world of different planes, gross and subtle, to that is seventh stage.

Then what is the sun of that world? This is the objective world and the sun, which lightens that which gives expression to that mundane conception, that is soul. The sun, savitur, savitur is synonymous to soul, because soul is only giving light and showing all these things. Without soul a dead body, its eye cannot see, this light has got no value, the soul is - in Bhagavad-gītā also - kṛtsnaṁ lokam imaṁ raviḥ:

yathā prakāśayaty ekaḥ, kṛtsnaṁ lokam imaṁ raviḥ kṣetraṁ kṣetrī tathā kṛtsnaṁ, prakāśayati bhārata

"O Bhārata, as one sun illuminates the entire universe, so does the knower of the sphere of action, the Supersoul, illuminate the whole universe (and the souls within it); and so does the knower of the sphere of action, the soul, illuminate the entire body."(Bhagavad-gītā, 13.34)

Just as the sun makes expressive all this world, so the ātmā is really expressing everything, not the light. The ātmā, the thinker, the subject soul, that is expressing at the root of the expression and the anubhuti, the conception of everything in which we are. Savitur varenyaṁ, and there is something which is to be respected by that expression giver of this mundane world, the soul, which is to be revered by the soul. There is a word. satyam - nirasta-kuhakaṁ satyaṁ paraṁ dhīmahi. (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1).

That satyaṁ paraṁ, superior truth, which is superior to the soul, which can conceive this mundane world in its different stages. There is a realm, subject of the subject, light of the light, and one area, there is one lustrous, one illuminate world.

Bhargo means stage, just like the ray of the sun.

Devasya, and he's ray of another sun, deva, and what is the qualification of the deva, the acquaintance of the deva? Deva means who has, who is lustrous, beautiful, and who is playful. dibdharṭ ? dib ? means to play, and dib ? means to get dikti ? lustre, and deva is, pulinga ? Masculine figure, puruṣa. There is a puruṣa who is playful and who is beautiful, beautiful, playful, that sundara, beautiful, and līlāmaya, has got pastimes, playful.

And His potency, bhargo, and we shall think of Her, that potency. That will give us back in turn, we shall try to attempt, try to give our all attention towards dhīmahi. Dhīmahi means we shall go on meditation, in other words the spiritual cultivation, that is service, we shall engage, because He's our revered and we must culture Him. Revered culture means service, we shall serve Him, serve the bhargo, serve Her.

And dhiyo, and that spirit, the potency of that culture, of that spiritual culture, that is service, sevā, will be given by Him in return. 'Dāsa' kari' vetana more deha prema-dhana. We shall serve, service means without any fruit, no want of fruit. But in turn it comes the more earnestness to serve, the prema we get as remuneration. Prema, prema means the more energy to serve. Our function is to serve and we get remuneration from Him, more energy and more earnestness to serve, that is prema.

Dhiyo yo naḥ pracodayāt. And this from saṅkīrtana I have drawn this gayan - gāna - kīrtana connection of Mahāprabhu, and also the flute sound of Kṛṣṇa. Why? That is when Kṛṣṇa plays the flute, the sound excites, informs all the servitors to be prepared for their service to meet Him in kuñja or anywhere. The flute sound helps the cowboys to be attending for their service, the gopī's to be prepared for His service, and the vātsalya rasa, the Nanda, Yaśodā, they're also excited. The flute sound conducts them also for the engagement of their vātsalya rasa service, to get the highest realisation of service, that flute comes to help us.

So this gān ? is that Kṛṣṇa ghan ? this Gāyatrī. The song which is the basis of the revealed truth, the song, that is the equal of the flute song of Kṛṣṇa and also the saṅkīrtana of Mahāprabhu. All are encouraging us to attain our highest aim in the lovely service of the Supreme Lord, who holds the reverent position of all the souls that are, that the conscious spirit within this mundane world.

So this comprehensive meaning we draw from Gāyatrī covering the whole up to Goloka. Which excites the song, the sound, that encourages us to attain our highest duty. That is the meaning of Gāyatrī. In this way I have given the different light, leading to our highest attainment. The Gāyatrī, veda-mātā, gives birth to the revealed truth, which is the most fundamental plane from which the Vedic revealed truth is coming. Her nature is such. Prakṛti, that is the potency, the most fundamental potency of Kṛṣṇa, which recalls us to our service, who that are away from Him.

Just as the cows are grazing here and there, when Kṛṣṇa sounds His flute, they all come together and prepare to come to gośālā (the cow shed), by that sound of the flute. That guides everything, that sound guiding everything and also guiding, helping us to join our duty, highest duty. That will be the real, deep meaning of Gāyatrī.

Everything must have the connection with the highest plane, we must have connection with the highest centre. Everything must have, some way or other, so everything more or less tries to take us there in the real plane and this is Svarūpa Śakti. The underground flow, incurring current and the external outcurring current is māyā, misconception, trying to concentrate us to local demand, provincial demand, selfish demand. Outcurring current trying to concentrate us towards separate interest, small or large. The most highest incurring current is always drawing us towards the centre. Svarūpa Śakti. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: So on a very basic level, the savitur is considered as the sun god, on a very simple level they say the brāhmaṇas worship Vivasvān the sun god.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The sun god, savitur, but in Bhagavad-gītā it has been given out that sun cannot show because the soul is there, soul can show, soul can help us to feel, not the sun. If no soul the sun's father also cannot show anything to anyone. Really soul can show us, not the sun. kṛtsnaṁ lokam imaṁ raviḥ - (Bhagavad-gītā, 13.34), just as apparently we think that when the sun rises we can see everything, so really the ātmā is there which really shows us everything. Not only this eye showing but this nose showing, the ear showing, everything, because the ātmā is there, central.

The conception of the outside world is possible only by the ātmā not the sun, sun is a relative position. We can take it as analogy, light analogy to the knowledge. Light has been used in many places as suggesting what sort of characteristic the spirit has got, soul has got. It is expressing just as apparently light is expressing, so soul is expressing. So to understand the real position of the soul, the subject, the centre of knowledge, the light has been used in the intermediate position.

Just as light shows us things, so really soul shows us things. But who can understand, who can hold all the conceptions is the function of the soul, they can understand. Then they think that light cannot give everything. Light can give only the figure, but there is the touch experience, the sound experience light cannot give, the scent experience light cannot give. So generally light can give some expression of conception, but really soul gives that conception to everything, at the centre, at the centre of the known experience, of the touch experience, of the sound experience, of the eye experience, in the centre, the mind, the intelligence and the soul.

Just as in Bhāgavatam it is told that the moon is covered by the cloud, by the light of the moon cloud is being seen, but that cloud has covered the moon which we can't see. So the mental system, our world conception has covered the seer, the soul, and by the light of the soul all these things come in our feeling, experience, and they have covered that, ahaṅkāra. Our individual mental system has covered our own soul but we can feel them by the light of that very soul. The sun is covered by the cloud, the cloud is seen by the light of the sun but the sun cloud has covered the sun, we can't see. Such is the position.

Devotee: So savitur also is Kṛṣṇa, above that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, savitur is jīva, jīvātmā, savitur vareṇyaṁ, He has got His revered world there, and what is that? Bhargo, the lustrous world of Kṛṣṇa, and the Bhargo belongs to Devasya Bhargo, he belongs to Kṛṣṇa, they're Kṛṣṇa's potencies. And what is Deva? He's playful and He's beautiful. The Deva is beautiful and playful and His Bhargo means potency, that Svarūpa Śakti who is to be revered by the jīva soul, savitur varenyaṁ, revered by the jīva soul, they revere, and the master of that soil is Kṛṣṇa who is playful and beautiful, and He will supply us with more potency to serve Him.

Dhīmahi, we shall try to cultivate about Him and He will in turn give us more power to go on with cultivation. In the soul area we can go on with by more meditation. Dhīmahi, that is service, because He holds the reverent position, superior position to us. So no other energising is possible in that plane, only showing reverence, that is service, service to the potency.

Dhiyo yo naḥ pracodayāt. Buddhi, suggestion is coming from Him.

prarṇum - gāyatrī gānāt prarṇum ? pran means release from the sound which can take us to our highest goal. In the comprehensive sense that gānāt that all the song has got it's roots in the flute singing of Kṛṣṇa. That gānāt prarṇum?

End of recording.

83.2.5-6

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His autocracy and we are none, but we are to swallow that pill, that tablet, that very tablet we are to use and that will cure us from that jaundice, this bile attack, bile attack it will cure, that pill, Kṛṣṇa consciousness, and wholesale cure. Kṛṣṇa consciousness will cure and cure wholesale, such wholesale cure is never possible in any other conception of Godhead, or devotion, or knowledge, or yoga, or anything else, as Kṛṣṇa consciousness can cure.

To the fullest extent, full fledged theism, it takes possession of every part, every atom of our existence. The body, mind, the conscience, intelligence, everything will be taken possession by Him, Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Even this parakīya, what by His order has come in my possession, there also He can enter. Parakīya generally in śāstra there is the direction that you marry according to śāstra and you can enjoy within them. But Kṛṣṇa's life is not finished thereby, His life everywhere, everywhere, white, black, everywhere. Wherever He is that is white, all blackness, the deepest blackness will be turned into white when it comes in His touch, is so powerful a disinfecting agent. Absolute, because He's Absolute, He's Absolute.

Artheṣu abhijñāḥ svarāṭ, (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1) He only knows what is the purpose of everything, every atom, every atom has got its utility, and what is that utility? Only Kṛṣṇa is conscious of the fact. Artheṣu abhijñāḥ, He knows the purpose of existence of anything and everything, only He knows, artheṣu abhijñāḥ. And then svarāṭ, He's not responsible to explain to anyone for that, svarāṭ, independent. That is everything is meant, everything is for Him, they have got no other purpose of life, any atom has got no other purpose of life but to satisfy Him. This is Hegel's theory. Perfectionism, Panuntheism. That German philosopher Hegel.

abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te

"I am the Lord and I alone am the only enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices, of every action and all movements in this world. Everything belongs to Me, unconditionally, and you must be fully conscious of this fact. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death." (Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24)

"Every movement only to fulfil My purpose, every wave, every occurrence, every existence, all to fulfil My purpose. My position is such, unique position. You are also Mine, you are also Mine, not ordinary, My position, one as an intimate, My heart's friend, bosom friend. You make yourself far away from Me so that you have to search for Me. You belong to Me wholesale, now you have come to such a deplorable position that you will have to search for Me and again by searching also, continuous searching you can't find Me. What is this?"

vinoda bala haya haya haridasa hari nahi pai ?

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's emotion is coming out, "What is this? Who is the servant of Hari he cannot find where is Hari? By innate nature he is the servitor of Hari, he's connected by nature, by creation, by constitutional position he's connected with Hari. And he cannot find out where is Hari? What is the peculiar sum in this world?

This is māyā, and consciously I came to partake in the favour of māyā leaving Kṛṣṇa consciousness from tataṣṭha, marginal position, the peculiar marginal position where freedom was but very weak and the beginning from there. I came to colonise, to conquer a country and to establish a colony there for some purpose in the realm of māyā. I am the master, monarch of all I survey. This tempted me that I shall be a monarch but there I am slave and here I shall become a monarch. I shall predominate over things, exploit the land, whatever small I'll be able to exploit but I did not think the reaction would be a hundred times reaction will come for that colonising stage to subdue. Exploitation, every action equals opposite reaction with interest. Exploitation, it tasted very sweet: 'Oh, I shall exploit, I shall be master.'"

But that is the enemy in me because I can control, I can exploit things of lower nature, the mean association. And if I want the association of the higher then I must have to go with folded hands as a slave. As much faithful slave I shall be so much higher position I shall be able to penetrate, live, to enter. This is Bhāgavatam.

So:

trṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ
sadā hariḥ

"One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa." (Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3)

Mahāprabhu says if you really want to enter into the domain of that holy, high land you must prepare yourself. There, you are smaller than even a blade of grass, little pressure, going down, trṇād api, trṇā means grass, pressure going down. Taror api sahiṣṇunā, I won't give any opposition to anyone, still if opposition comes down to me, taror api sahiṣṇunā. I shall take the position of a tree, when it is cut down it gives shelter to the man with the shade and offers no opposition. You go and cut a tree, tree won't give any opposition, more, he will not withdraw the shade, the shadow from the cutter. If it dies without water it won't beg a pot of water from anybody, the tree. It is going to die for want of water but won't speak to anybody, 'oh, give some water to me I am going to die without water,' no. 'You want to take the fruit? Yes, take,' silent, leave everything. And the world inclemency he will forbear and give shelter to those that are come within the shadow, protect them. This should be the nature of a devotee, all tolerant.

Trṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā, amāninā mānadena, coming to another plane, in the mental plane, from physical, amāninā mānadena, don't ask, don't hanker for any personal respect, honour. At the same time you will show honour to all. Pratiṣṭha, this is the finest and most bitterest enemy, this is the most dreadful enemy, amāninā mānadena. I shall give honour to all but I won't hanker for honour or respect from anyone.

The māyāvādīns, they can give up this material prosperity or material glamour but they can't give up that pratiṣṭha, good name, good position, good fame, good future, good prospect, they're not ready to give it to anybody else. 'So ham,' I am a part of the highest thing whatever may be conceived, I am represented there." This is māyāvādī.

"I am represented, no taxation without representation," that Washington's prime war- cry, "No taxation without representation. We must not pay tax to the person where I shall not be represented. Any other party will judge and I shall feed him, I am the last man to do that. Who will manage about us, I must be represented there, then I shall pay tax, otherwise not." That was Washington's slogan: "No taxation without representation."

So māyāvādīns: "I won't accept anything to be the highest substance where I am not represented in an honourable way, so ham."

But the Vaiṣṇava the opposite: "I am nowhere, He's all in all and I'm most insignificant. He can do anything with me."

mārobi rākhobi yo icchā tohārā, nitya-dāsa prati tuwā adhikārā

"Slay me or protect me as You wish, for You are the master of Your eternal servant." (The Songs of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 13)

Make or mar, He has got the right. So high is He. I am a fallible creature, what greatness may be within me who is fallible? My fallibility is proving definitely that my real position is vulnerable. But the Supreme Lord He's also vulnerable that can never be. He's very, very high. And so my connection will be a very, very small servant, most negligent servant.

But once we can accept such creed we have got on the other hand very high and high position there. As much as one can sacrifice so much respect comes automatically from that side. So self abnegation, so self sacrifice, so pure, now wants nothing so naturally the adoration valuation comes from that side. That, 'So self abnegation, so sacrificing a servant we must show our highest affection to him.' If a servant has got no demand only he wants to serve for our satisfaction and without any demand of any shadow, colour, then we cannot but adore him and show our affectionate hand to him.

This is the clue of Vaiṣṇava dharma and in Kṛṣṇa consciousness without any law, there is no law of sacrifice, no limit, everything belongs to Him, nothing to me, I am only His. That is, there is the highest end of life Mahāprabhu says because He's beautiful, He's sweet, He's charming, He's autocrat, Absolute Good is autocrat. If we can accept His autocracy, autocracy of the Absolute Good we realise most, on the whole. This is the teachings of Mahāprabhu. And this is not unreasonable, not unreasonable. Nirmat- sarāṇām satām, in the Holy Name they are totally devoid of any jealousy, they can easily understand this, that by greatest sacrifice to the Absolute Good we can come nearest to Him, nearest to Him. This is logic.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

dharmah projjhita-kaitavo 'tra paramo nirmat-sarāṇām satām vedyam vāstavam atra vastu śivadam tāpa-trayonmūlanam śrīmad-bhāgavate mahā-muni-kṛte kim vā parair īśvaraḥ sadyo hṛdy avarudhyate 'tra kṛtibhiḥ śuśrūṣubhis tat-kṣaṇāt

"Completely rejecting all religious activities which are materially motivated, this Bhāgavata-Purāṇa propounds the highest truth, which is understandable by those devotees who are fully pure in heart. The highest truth is reality distinguished from illusion for the welfare of all. Such truth uproots the threefold miseries. This beautiful Bhāgavatam, compiled by the great sage Vyāsadeva (in his maturity), is sufficient in itself for God realisation. What is the need of any other scripture? As soon as one attentively and submissively hears the message of Bhāgavatam, by this culture of knowledge the Supreme Lord is established within his heart." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.2)

So we are to get it, indent it for ourselves, and also to carry this news to our neighbours. Mahāprabhu says: "Whomever you meet you talk of this kṛṣṇa-kāṭha, save the people."

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga

"Instruct everyone to follow the orders of Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa as they are given in Bhagavad-gītā and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way become a spiritual master and try to liberate everyone in this land." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9)

Whomever you meet, they're all under eternal mortality, mortal influence, so only this talk is relevant otherwise all other talks are irrelevant. Everyone is going to the jaw of death, this is the total news of this world, the only news, that every second everyone is going and entering the jaws of death. This is the real problem, nothing else, the whole problem if summarised then it will come to this, every second, every atom here is entering into the jaws of death. This is the great and only danger in the world. So other talks are all irrelevant. Try to help him from entering into the jaws of death. This is the meaning and only problem of the whole world. So go and talk with whomever you meet talk with them about Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa. Save yourself, save yourself and save you for your highest goal. Yāre dekha, tāre kaha: Whomever you meet, wherever you meet anyone, only talk of Kṛṣṇa. All other talks are irrelevant, redundant, so Kṛṣṇa.

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa

It is My command. Don't think that you will be in position of guru and the people will come to honour you and you'll forget your own ordinary position and you will be puffed up with pride and you'll go to hell. No, no, no. I order you, go on. The relief work is there and you can't stand idle as an onlooker, you can't. Though I say jump in the relief work, start relief work, I say. Whatever responsibility is there I shall take, you jump into relief work, the whole world is dying always, every second. kṛṣṇa-kāṭha. āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa. kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga: You will get My association only by obeying My orders. Discharging duty that I am entrusting with you, you will find Myself there in the obedience in the discharge of your duty what I imposed on you. So you see whether it is reasonable or not, you judge it, everyone of us can judge. In the mortal world to save them what is the relief work help to the people? Not this clothing, not this feeding, nothing else. Dropping down dead, so many changing.

Once when I was in Madras Maṭh some pleader came: "Oh, you are only talking about Kṛṣṇa and they're dying without food. You won't mind it?"

"No." He, he, he.

"The Ramakrishna Mission they're doing, if he dies then who will hear of you? Where you will get the listeners if they die? So first make them live, feed them, and then get them with the life and then you can talk about Kṛṣṇa to him."

I told him suppose there is a famine, I have got some food, I am distributing them flocking all, so many, a crowd before me I am distributing, distributing food and someone from the crowd left the crowd and fled. What should we do? Should we distribute the food or I shall run to catch him, what shall we do?"

"No, you will distribute, there is many, that is my case."

Many dying but the crowd is always here to hear from me about kṛṣṇa-kaṭha. Why I shall lose my time by running, by chasing after one person and so many are here? So many here I cannot finish them by the distribution. Why should I stop distribution of the nectar and I shall run to catch a man? This is foolish attempt.

Then he said: "Yes, yes, yes."

So only kṛṣṇa-kaṭha, not attention to any danger, there are many, from all sides they're needy of this guidance, proper guidance. So only you must engage yourself thoroughly in kṛṣṇa-kaṭha. Go on talking about Kṛṣṇa. That vibration when Mahāprabhu was going from Purī to Vṛndāvana through that jungle path, the elephants, the deer, the tigers, they also 'Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa' and danced, how? His kṛṣṇa-kaṭha created such vibration so fine, entered the heart of the tigers, and deers, and elephants, and awakened that heart and they began to also 'Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa' and dance. So fine and so surcharged with that force that that vibration entered and roused the heart. How the inner most plane that is covered by elephants body, or tigers body, but within there is the soul and soul is awakened. Just as electric, the finest current enters there and the soul was roused and when soul awakened then 'Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa' began.

So also, every day the environment is full of animation, full of life so great or small. So the vibration that will push, that will strike the soul's plane and create some effect there towards Kṛṣṇa consciousness. So go on contributing preaching Kṛṣṇa consciousness, no other duty, no other work. Do you follow? What do you say? Is it intelligible?

Gaura Hari, Gaura Hari, Gaura Hari.

So (Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta) Swāmī Mahārāja, the length and breadth of the world he went with Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And that you have all come here that is through his earnestness, and he has done up. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Still in his name we are going on with some sort of transaction.

Gaura Hari, Gaura Hari, Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

He has given the letter back to Naika, her letter?

Devotee: Yes.

Devotee: You mentioned that we should serve the environment. But I don't understand how we serve the environment.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Environment is whatever you come in contact with, that is whatever comes to your eye, to your nose, everything you can connect with the infinite, with Kṛṣṇa, with His potency, in this way you are to try to look at. You see you are seeing by the eye, with telescope you can see more, with microscope you can see more, in this way, x-ray you can see through. So our vision has no limit. What we are seeing, only the seeing of an ordinary man and the seeing of a doctor examining the body is different because the backing is his brain. So ordinary man's seeing of the body and a doctor's examination seeing the body is different. So deep vision will expose that everything belongs to Kṛṣṇa, everything is good. The environment we are living in, our reading of it is erroneous. We are reading everything in the environment as it is utilised by us to suit our purpose, as it suits our purpose we are habituated to see things in that way, in terms of our selfish interest, not from the standpoint of infinite.

Īśāvāsyam idaṁ sarvaṁ, yat kiñca jagatyāṁ jagat tena tyaktena
bhuñjīthā, mā gṛdhaḥ kasya svid dhanam

"Everything animate or inanimate that is within the universe is controlled and owned by the Lord. One should therefore accept only those things necessary for himself, which are set aside as his quota, and one should not accept other things, knowing well to whom they belong." (Śrī Īśopaniṣad, v 1)

Everywhere, even every atom, how it stands, it has got infinite backing, constantly being backed. So everything must be viewed with infinite backing or support or idea. Vaikuṇṭha, kuṇṭha means limit, kuṇṭha, narrowness. Limitless, Vaikuṇṭha, the vision which has got no limit, to the infinite estimation with infinite possibilities. An atom you can't think by examining an atom, then electron, proton, neutron, all these things. So whatever we see according to our own interest we'll give a stamp and count it in that way. But we must break out that caged vision of our own interest. We want to see everything from the infinite conception, standpoint.

Īśāvāsyam idaṁ sarvaṁ, everything has got infinite possibilities. Suppose a drop of water, maybe poison to me and it may be medicine to another, then what is that drop really? We are reading according to our own interest. Poison to one and food to another, then what is its intrinsic position independent of mine and his interest, what is that thing? So everything has got no limit, no limit, it is the potency of the Lord, it is obeying Him. It can show any colour, and figure, any time can do anything.

For the necessity of Prahlāda, one pillar when broken Nṛsiṁhadeva came out.

Then, what is there, what is in the pillar? He's everywhere, He can come. Prahlāda told that: "Yes, here is also my Lord, Nṛsiṁhadeva is here."

Hiraṇyakaśipu said: "Where is your Hari? Day and night you say Hari, Hari, Hari, where is your Hari?"

"He's everywhere." "Is He in this pillar? "Yes."

"Then I'll push it with force and break down." Hari came and finished him.

Do you follow? That is ordinary environment appearing, but that is Hari. So in every atom Hari may assert, full presence may be in one drop, in one atom.

mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, jagad avyakta-mūrtinā mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni, na cāhaṁ teṣv avasthitaḥ. na ca mat-sthāni bhūtāni, paśya me yogam aiśvaram bhūta-bhṛṇ na ca bhūta-stho, mamātmā bhūta-bhāvanaḥ

"In an unmanifest manner, I pervade this entire universe, and everything conceivable is situated within Me - and yet, I am not situated within that total entity."

"And again, that is also not situated in Me. Just behold My inconceivable simultaneous one and different (acintya-bhedābheda) nature as the perfect, omnipotent, omniscient originator and Lord of the universe! Although My very Self is the mainstay and guardian of all beings, I am not implicated by them." (Bhagavad-gītā, 9. 4-5)

Mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, "I am everywhere, jagad avyakta-mūrtinā, in disguise, mat- sthāni sarva-bhūtāni, everything is in Me, na ca mat-sthāni bhūtāni, I am nowhere and nothing in Me, paśya me yogam, please try to note My peculiar mystic position Arjuna, Who am I?"

You'll find as our Guru Mahārāja (Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura) used to say: "Puppy brain." Puppy is the child of the dog, puppy? Is it not? Guru Mahārāja mostly used this word "Puppy brain." We want to understand everything by our "Puppy brain." So with our puppy brain we'll read the infinite. Infinite is infinite and every possibility there. We see only things we experience only with measurable, our selfish interest, but there, not so as we see them. They have got independent position and there the potency of the Lord, direct connection with Him. We can't feel, we can't see, but really they're in direct everything in direct connection and under command of Him. We are to see that, we are to feel that, and then we can get the benefit out of that.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Question? You, Parama, you put some question. Where is she?

Devotee: I'm here Guru Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No question, satisfied? You are going from here satisfied?

Devotee: Yes, I'm full to the brim.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Full to the brim? All right, I show my respects, yes, you are happy, you are fortunate.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, I have one question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is that?

Devotee: Madhavendra Purī, I want to know where he got his inspiration from, that where he differed from Madhavācārya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Madhavācārya? That was his previous birth, he gathered that from previous birth, Madhavendra Purī. There was Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa from Keśava Bhāratī, so though Madhavendra Purī's guru Lakṣmīpati was not of māyāvādī class but still dvaita-vadi, not the prema, the love in its very fine stage we can trace from Madhavendra Purī. From him Īśvara Purī then Śrī Caitanyadeva, the prema personified, He accepted him as guru.

The unkoor, the cloth? no, what is that? The bud, the first seed, sprout, coming out of the seed, that is called a sprout? The smallest and the youngest stage, the sprout. So Madhavendra Purī was considered to be the sprout, then Īśvara Purī little grown, and Mahāprabhu accepted that guru.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: I have one question Guru Mahārāja. In the Caitanya-caritāmṛta, in the question about Vakeśvara Paṇḍit. One time, Vakeśvara Paṇḍit said to Mahāprabhu that: "Bring me 10.000 gandharvas and as they sing I will dance."

And Mahāprabhu replied that: "I have only one wing, if I had two, certainly I would fly high in the sky." I could not understand it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vakeśvara Paṇḍit, he was the incarnation of Aniruddha. Vāsudeva, Śankārṣana, Pradyumna, Aniruddha - catuḥ-vyuha. Then Aniruddha's incarnation was Vakeśvara Paṇḍit endowed with prema, a little not ordinary but a little supernatural degree. And he had such energy when in remembrance of Kṛṣṇa conception consciousness was so much intense in him that he used to dance and chant and he had no, his thirst for that never quenched.

Then he applied to Mahāprabhu: "That I'm not satisfied, I won't feel any satisfaction, no end of my satisfaction in dancing and chanting, especially in dancing. So I request You to give my full belly food, You please supply, supply some gandharva who can sing, what is that singing? The continuous race, what is the name? Marathon, so Vakeśvara Paṇḍit says that: "I can't stop my marathon temperament of chanting Kṛṣṇa and dancing. So please help me with some gandharva who can start the saṅkīrtana in a marathonic way, without stopping way, continuous. And then I can feel some satisfaction by dancing."

That feeling, he gave vent to this feeling that: "I never feel any satisfaction in dancing, and the singers or the players they fail, their energy fails and I shall have to stop my dancing with much trouble, much dissatisfaction. I'm forced to stop my dancing. But please grant me..."

dasala sarvha gandharva ?

Gandharva means those that are very expert in singing, expert singers are gandharvas, gand-dharma, gandharvas, singing is their duty, their function is singing, they are known as gandharvas. So 10.000 expert singers You supply to me then I can feel some satisfaction in dancing."

That was the habit of Vakeśvara Paṇḍit to Mahāprabhu. And Mahāprabhu told: "That by getting you as My friend I feel Myself very, very proud that I have got a near friend, a friend very heart to Me. I have secured one and if I get another then I shall fly on the sky. Only one, you are one wing and if I get another wing like you, then I shall fly on the sky, not I shall walk on the earth, I shall fly and more preaching, more propaganda I could do. You are a great help to me."

In this way. That is the meaning. And Vakeśvara Paṇḍit's dancing converted Devānanda Paṇḍit first, and he could realise that explanation he gave to Bhāgavata that was māyāvādā. Then when after sannyāsa Mahāprabhu came here in this Kuliya, the Devānanda Paṇḍit fell on His feet. "By association of Vakeśvara Paṇḍit my ignorance is gone, now I can understand what is the real purpose of Bhāgavatam, the divine love, that is the only purpose of Bhāgavatam I could catch with the association of Vakeśvara Paṇḍit. And I come to beg forgiveness from Your holy feet because previously I did something wrong towards Your devotee Śrīvāsa Paṇḍit."

Devānanda Paṇḍit says. And by the influence of Vakeśvara he could understand that he committed offence against Mahāprabhu and Bhāgavatam and Śrīvāsa Paṇḍit. So he's one of the very energetic preachers, pāṛṣada preacher, eternal preacher of Mahāprabhu. And after Mahāprabhu disappeared, Mahāprabhu lived in Gambhīrā (a small room in Kāśī Miśra's house in Jagannātha Purī), have you seen Purī?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gambhīrā, and there was that Deity worshipping and after Mahāprabhu disappeared Vakeśvara Paṇḍit was installed in His place there. First heir of Mahāprabhu was installed that Vakeśvara Paṇḍit as the mahāntaḥ of that Gambhīrā in Purī where Mahāprabhu lived for eighteen years continuously.

Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

And he was told as Aniruddha. The Pradyumna was this śakha family, this Raghunāndana was Pradyumna. And he (Vakeśvara Paṇḍit) was Aniruddha. And Nityānanda was Baladeva. And Mahāprabhu Himself Kṛṣṇa. So Kṛṣṇa Balarāma and Pradyumna Aniruddha. They're very beautiful, this Raghunāndana Ṭhākura Sarakara very beautiful and beautifully he could dance also.

And in childhood, it is told a story is with him, that his father Mukunda Ṭhākura he was a physician, he even had call from the capital also, from the king. A famous physician Mukunda Sarakara, his son was Raghunāndana. Mukunda had Gopala Mūrti there in his daily worship, some Mūrti. Then when he went out, Raghunāndana was a young boy, sixteen or seventeen or so, he told: "You please, I'm going out, I may be late, you please feed my Deity if I come late."

Raghunāndana says: "Yes, I shall do."

Then Mukunda did not return, then Raghunāndana's mother she prepared all the bhogam and put there and asked Raghunāndana: "You go and offer....."

End of side A, 5-2-83 + start of side B, 5/6-2-83.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:the bhogam. But Deity does not take it. What is this? My father told to make You eat and You don't eat. What is this? You have to eat." He then starts crying. "You do not eat and my father will come and chastise. He asked me to feed the Deity and now You are not feeding."

Then after hearing his cry the Deity had to say that: "Deity does not eat."

"The Deity does not eat? What do You say? You are talking, Deity does not talk but You are talking. No, You will have to eat otherwise my father will come and abuse me and You will have to eat." So his cry was so sincere and earnest that Deity had to take all these things, all these offerings.

Then after finishing that he came out, the mother came to take the Prasādam.

"What is this? The pot is empty. You have finished it?" "No, no, no, I have not taken."

"Then why the pot is empty?" "Gopala has eaten."

"You fool, Gopala He's Deity, He never eats. Only we show and with mantram we offer and we take the Prasādam."

"No, no, Gopala has eaten."

"You fool, you want to make us fools, what is this? Your father he does not know your characteristic, he entrusted you and you have taken it instead of offering."

Then when his father came home his mother also complained: "What is this? You have asked the boy to do and this is the fact. The whole thing finished, I went to take the Prasādam but empty handed. And he says that the Deity has eaten up everything." Then father also tried his best to take out from his boy: "No, you boy, perhaps after offering you were very hungry, you might have eaten."

"No, no, my father, I have not eaten anything. The whole thing Gopala has taken." "You boy, it is not possible, why do you say this lie. We have got so much experience that the Deity never takes food. Only by offering we are to take the Prasādam." In this way.

Then he began to cry, but he says the Deity has taken. Then at last: "Can you show?"

"That I don't know, it is His will."

Anyhow, perhaps he could show one day that the Deity is taking. So such was Raghunandana. Raghunandana, his dancing was very, very, very charming, that Raghunandana and this Vakeśvara Paṇḍit also. And Nityānanda Prabhu, Mahāprabhu He's famous for beautiful dancing.

Gaura Hari bol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Can we understand this?

Devotee: Yes. So all qualities of Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only with the spirit of service, that is the criterion. And how much risk you take for that it is laudable, more valuable. So that is given by Yoga-Māyā and this is by Mahā-Māyā. This is outcurring current and that is incurring current. Yoga- Māyā gives a new dress of devotion, and everything is useful, what is considered to be that lampata ? lampata is women hunters. But in Kṛṣṇa that is the most sweet and purest action. Who can offer, whoever can offer themselves for that. In this way, the strange things, a strange thing which we can consider to be the most inferior, that will have so much value in the purest, in that way. And this is possible only in Goloka and not in Vaikuṇṭha, the lower half, but higher half where the people, where the servitors are activated by the motive, or inspiration, or the action, intuitive action, it is there.

Tat paratvena nirmalam: the purity depends on the process by which Kṛṣṇa is the object of satisfaction.

sarvopādhi-vinirmuktaṁ, tat paratvena nirmalam hr̥ṣīkena hr̥ṣīkeśa-sevanam bhaktir ucyate

"Pure devotion (bhakti) is engaging all the senses in service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa who is the Master of the senses. In such service, one is totally free from all relative conceptions of material self interest (upādhis), with senses purely engaged in the service of Kṛṣṇa." (Nārada Pañcarātra)

As much as intense attempt is made for His satisfaction, so much pure it is, no other criterion of purity. The criterion of purity is as much as it is to satisfy Kṛṣṇa. The degree of goodness or purity will be measured only by one standard, with how much earnestness it is done for the satisfaction of the centre.

Can you think it? No?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then try to see, to conceive what is the standard of purity, standard of divinity, that is only what is done for the service of the centre. Centre carrying service, that is Yoga-Māyā. And sense carrying service of the plurality that is most awkward, reactionary. There also the reaction, but the reaction comes in the form of more earnestness for the service, prema. Dāsa' kari' vetana more deha prema-dhana, appoint me as Your servant and give the salary of love, more and more love towards You, more and more earnest attitude for the service of Yourself.

That is there, and here, the reaction is that whom I am trying to enjoy he will enjoy me. I shall turn into the object of his enjoyment today. I'm master he's servant, I am using, I shall have to be servant and he will be my master, is here reaction. But there they do not want anything but His love and love comes in them and what is the nature of love? That more attentive mood of service towards the centre. No form is to be abused, this physical to be abused or praised. Stealing is bad here but stealing for the service of Kṛṣṇa it is good, it is better than ordinary moral aspect, no question of morality can enter there because it is the kingdom of autocracy, svarat, everything is For Himself, He's svarat. But these laws won't be applied there, just the opposite. That is Kṛṣṇa consciousness, this is sambandha-jñāna, to know what is what, to know where I am, to know who is who to me, and do accordingly.

If I steal your property and I can use it for the service, for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, then you will be paid in return, you will be benefited. Kṛṣṇa consciousness will come down in you in return as reaction. So I am a party to help you to enter into Kṛṣṇa consciousness, I am also being rewarded, no question of punishment for stealing. Do you follow, no?

Devotee: Yes, I follow.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In this way you are to understand everything. Anything which is meant for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa cannot have any bad characteristic there, all good. Because it is meant for the good then the reaction for goodness comes to you, you will be purified. So conceive, variety is there, infinite variety there must be amongst His servitors as we find here, more than that variety may be found there. Virat, it is unlimited world, so variety is numberless, is not possible to find here but especially by us of limited understanding. But there, infinite variety of ego, but ego is golden ego, ego is not lead, or iron ego, golden ego. That is desirable, plurality is there, unity and plurality, but there, in good harmony and here in discord. Diversity, plurality, that is not bad but harmonised, and here in discord that is bad.

There, any quality, fighting with one another, no good thing, but there fighting also is producing some good result. The touch of that magical wand is such, one who is killed there he is also happy, and who is killing he's also happy. Just as in a drama, when you are seeing a drama a man is being killed, poisoned, another man is giving the poison, killing him.

But what do you appreciate there? The process of their function, the credit will go how well they will be able to imitate that action. Because really no death is there, only a show, imitation. So how skilfully one can plot to poison another, how skilfully he can do it naturally, he will be appreciated. And the man who is being poisoned, he also how he can play the part of being poisoned, the appreciation will go there, because real killing is not there.

There also soul is eternal, no killing possible, but only imitation, everything is imitation for the satisfaction. In drama also for the satisfaction of the onlooker, the audience, they are playing. So, there also, for the satisfaction of Him they're showing their activities. Whatever occurs there, all pleasure producing, all ecstatic waves. The form may be otherwise but the material is all right. Just as the other day I sometime told, this pill is very bitter but if you prepare it with sugar, a sugar made pill that will be sweet not bitter, not pungent. What is very bitter if it is made of sugar then it will be, cannot but be sweet.

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet

ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati

Rūpa Goswāmī says: "Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."

(Ujjvala-nīlamanī)

Quarrelling with Kṛṣṇa, the friends sometimes they fight with Kṛṣṇa but that is pleasing to Kṛṣṇa, that mock fight. Sometimes they're carrying Kṛṣṇa on their shoulders and sometimes Kṛṣṇa is carrying the friends on His own shoulder. But all meant to please Kṛṣṇa, and some they may not know that the Yoga-Māyā makes arrangement in that way. Jñāna-sunya-bhakti, Yaśodā is whipping Kṛṣṇa but motherly affection whipping Kṛṣṇa.

And Kṛṣṇa crying, rubbing His eyes, and also admitting: "I won't do this thing again My mother. Please forgive Me." But it is pleasing Kṛṣṇa, it is meant on the basis of pleasing Kṛṣṇa, service. They may not know it, jñāna-sunya-bhakti, such arrangement made by Yoga-Māyā, but the fact is such. The underlying principle of beating the Son, Kṛṣṇa, or the outcome of a great, higher quality, love, affection of Yaśodā towards Kṛṣṇa. Because Kṛṣṇa enjoys it from His innermost heart, enjoying, enjoying that whipping of His mother. Superficially He's showing that by whipping He's feeling pain and He's crying, it is superficial, but at heart He enjoys such motherly affection even in punishment.

In vātsalya rasa, in madhura rasa, a friendly circle. Apparently so many things have been described there that may be meant that this is not service, disservice, displeasing Kṛṣṇa, but it is not so. Internally it is supplying the pleasure of Kṛṣṇa. But here the opposite, sometimes a man may be seen to worship the Deity in very pure dress and pure, all these things, but within there is some aim: "Oh Lord, You please give me something in return, give me some money, or some cure from some particular disease, or save me from my enemies." So some petition there within and outwardly pure arrangements are made but that is filthy ultimately, this kāmāna, sense pleasure. To exact service from Him, giving some bribe openly, and internally to put some petition: "Give this, for five rupees I want five lākhs." This is māyā, this is not service. Yet though externally it's seen to be very pure service, but the poison is within.

And there, the nectar is within, earnestness for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, and apparently on the outside whatever it may be it is all pure, purest of the pure. Because the motive is for God's satisfaction, Kṛṣṇa's satisfaction.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, there's so many great devotees mentioned in Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam and other places, but somehow Lord Śiva is sometimes referred to as the greatest devotee. Is there any special quality Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He is among the grade of classification, in a particular group, there different groups and in one group one is better, best, in this way we are to measure. And the general comparison is there.

na tathā me priyatama ātmayonir na śaṅkaraḥ

na ca saṅkarṣaṇo na śrīr naivātmā ca yathā bhavān

"Neither Brahmā, nor Śiva, nor Saṅkarṣaṇa of Vaikuṇṭha, nor the goddess of fortune Lakṣmidevī, nor even My own self is as dear to Me as you. You are My favourite, Uddhava." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.15)

Began from Brahmā, Sanātana Goswāmī has begun from a brāhmaṇa, rich man who is attending the Kumbha-mela, Allahabad, Gaṅgā, the Ganges, Yamunā. And there, feeding many guests in the tīrtha, from the pure holy place, and also the clothing and other things, that in this incidents began. And ultimately performing Nāma-saṅkīrtana in the end. The first unit he showed there, making good karma and ending with Nāma- saṅkīrtana. There the beginning of the real theistic life.

Then approached him: "You are very fortunate man."

He told: "What fortune I have got? I have nothing." He showed some Mahārāja perhaps in Purī: "How fortunate he is, he is distributing Prasādam to the people, relating sukṛti to so many, and doing this and that, all these things. He's really a man who is making his life fruitful, successful, in this world of mundane type."

Then, Devarṣi Nārada ran to that king and began to praise: "You are so and so."

He also answered: "What do you see? I have nothing. What I did? In the infinite world how much I have got and how many I can distribute to others Prasādam, or clothing, all these things, I am none. Of course I find Indra, he's very fortunate. Kṛṣṇa Himself has come as his brother Vāmana (the Lord's incarnation as a dwarf brāhmaṇa boy), he's making arrangement for His service and doing so many things, so many things. So much facility he has got command over, so much energy of this, both mundane and subtle world's stage."

Devarṣi ran to Indra: "You are very fortunate we have to say."

"You Devarṣi, you praise in vain. What is my position? And whom are you really? A devotee of the really, are holder, you have got command of the whole brahmanda. And you also have close connection with Nārāyaṇa, by inspiration he gives Veda to us, and so many things. He's the most fortunate."

And Nārada ran to Brahmā. Then he began to praise Brahmā.

"What do you say, my son Nārada? Are you mad? Have I not taught you where is Nārāyaṇa and where am I? I am in bondage, what good I am doing? Mahādeva, Śiva, he's of course reliable, he does not care for this mundane life, does not care for any permanent abode, residence, does not care to have a good dress. Always here and there taking the Name of Rāma madly wandering, he'll be a real devotee. What is my position?"

Then Nārada went to Mahādeva, began to praise. "There are some portions in the Veda, Śruti, that say that you are the ultimate Lord of the whole world, and you are a devotee also. Your position is unique. I came to take your shelter, I want your grace."

Śiva was very much enraged and with his trident, that peculiar weapon with three ends, came to teach a lesson to Nārada. "You say that this is the teaching that I am the ultimate reality, what do you say? Have you no common sense? I am always taking the Name of Rāma, Rāma, Rāma, He is my Lord, Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa. And you have come to make blaspheme, 'I am the ultimate reality?' You don't understand the meanings of those Śrutis which makes heard my praise is mentioned so intensely, in this way. To find real devotion you go to Prahlāda, pure devotion. I sometimes go to fight with Nārāyaṇa, I have got partiality for the demons, I give indulgence to so many demons and go to fight on their behalf with Nārāyaṇa. Don't you know that? The Lord has given this most undesirable position to me, He has put me in the opposition party, as leader of the opposition party I go to support against Him, these demons of the world. You don't know all these things what is my most undesirable function I am entrusted with? But practically He is all in all, whatever He does we must all take on our heads, no other way. A most undesirable position I am holding."

Then went to Prahlāda. Prahlāda told: "Oh, Devarṣi, you know everything about me, I am your disciple. Why you have come, neither devotion in me, I don't understand, so why do you? I only by your grace, only can recollect to certain extent, smaraṇa, recollect some, but no service. I'm not fortunate to serve my Lord, only to be satisfied by thinking, speculation, all these things. But Hanumānji he's really fortunate, he has got a great energy and mentality to serve the Lord. And how he's giving service miraculously in Lanka for the delivery from the hands of Rāvaṇa our mother Sītā Devī, how for the release of Sītā Devī, Hanumān showed his valour and killed so many for the service. He's our ideal, ideal devotee is Hanumān."

Then Nārada went to Hanumān again, Hanumān also disturbed. "Yes, those days are gone, Rāmacandra was very affectionate to me, and I did also so much inspired by His grace, it is no credit to me. Now I am here alone, remembering those glorious days of the past. But we hear that Rāmacandra has come again in Kṛṣṇa and giving much favour to the Pāṇḍavas as friend. As master, He showed some grace to me, I can't deny. But now the Pāṇḍavas are very fortunate. Those days of mine gone forever."

Then, went to Pāṇḍavas and met Yudhiṣṭhira. "You are very fortunate Yudhiṣṭhira, the Lord Himself is a friend to you, friend to you. And you are all, good persons sing the glorious fortune you have got, you Pāṇḍavas."

Yudhiṣṭhira says: "What do you say Devarṣi Nārada? I can't understand. What I think every now and then, I shall see I tell you that. I think us to be the most unfortunate, because, we're showing very discouraging examples here. The whole of our life is always in danger, danger after danger, not a peaceful life we find. So people at large they won't come to worship Kṛṣṇa, that is my apprehension. True to say to you that is my only such apprehension comes in my mind, that looking at our life full of danger, variety of danger, whole life we are suffering. So if Kṛṣṇa's friend Pāṇḍava, that means the whole life suffering, won't go to Kṛṣṇa. The people will think like that Devarṣi. That is my apprehension."

"No, no, what do you say Yudhiṣṭhira? Your danger, your unhappy incidents in you, what does it mean? Anything bad coming to the Pāṇḍavas, that means that Kṛṣṇa is coming, that is only a messenger. Any danger to Pāṇḍavas comes as a messenger to say 'Kṛṣṇa is coming.' And we find like that, the messenger, they're all, your danger is always acting, playing the part of a messenger, 'oh Kṛṣṇa is coming,' to say there. So what is that? And your mother also gave statement:

vipadaḥ santu tāḥ śaśvat, tatra tatra jagad-guro bhavato darśanam yat syād, apunar bhava-darśanam Queen Kuntī Devī prayed to Kṛṣṇa: "I wish that all those calamities (poisoning, arson, cannibalism, the vicious assembly, exile in the forest, the battle), would occur again and again so that we could have Your darśana again and again, for seeing You means that we will no longer see repeated births and deaths."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.8.25)

"Let the danger and bad fortune, ill luck, come and remain with me always, because in that time I get the remembrance of Kṛṣṇa. So that is my wealth. And if ill luck vanishes and good fortune comes, I may forget Kṛṣṇa, that I don't want." Queen Kuntī's famous statement is that. "Let ill luck always remain with me, which helps me to think about Kṛṣṇa, and Kṛṣṇa comes. I don't want any good luck that may help me to forget."

"So what do you say Yudhiṣṭhira? Your bad luck means to say Kṛṣṇa is coming, Kṛṣṇa is coming."

Yudhiṣṭhira says: Yādavas, they're really happy always. Kṛṣṇa sometimes comes to visit us but always with the Yādavas, Yādavas are really fortunate. Encouraged by Kṛṣṇa they're moving bravely to every corner without fearing anybody, because Kṛṣṇa is there with them, their master."

Nārada went to the Yādavas and proposed that: "No happy person is in this world like you Yādavas."

83.2.6-7-9-11

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He compensates everything, we do not care for anybody here in this world, bravely we move. But one who wants to know really, then Uddhava is the most favourite of Kṛṣṇa, we are none."

Then Nārada went to Uddhava: "You are the most fortunate I think, all praise of you, even Kṛṣṇa has said that you are more favourite than His own body. What to speak of Baladeva, Lakṣmī Devī, not to speak of Brahmā and Śiva, even Lakṣmī Devī and His own Person is not so affectionate, so favourable, so important to Him, as you are Uddhava, to Kṛṣṇa."

"Yes, yes, what you say it is true, Kṛṣṇa has said that. But as long as I did not see the Braja gopīs it might have been true to certain extent. But when He sent me to see the gopīs in Vṛndāvana, that pride is demolished all together. What sort of love divine I found in the gopīs for Kṛṣṇa, that is unknown and unknowable, unaccountable, inestimable, inconceivable. That is never to happen, we can never have even a peep of that pure love in Vṛndāvana, affection towards Kṛṣṇa, beyond our view. And you know Devarṣi after having a little experience of the smallest part what came in my mind I spontaneously uttered some words, expressions there.

āsā maho caraṇa-renu-juṣām aham syām vṛndāvane kim api gulma-
latauṣadhīnām yā dustyajam svajanam ārya-patham ca hitvā bhejur mukunda-pada-vim śrutibhir vimṛgyām

Uddhava says: "The gopīs of Vṛndāvana have given up the association of their husbands, sons and other family members, who are very difficult to renounce, and they have sacrificed even their religious principles to take shelter of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, which are sought after by even the Vedas. O grant me the fortune to be born as a blade of grass in Vṛndāvana, so that I may take the dust of those great souls upon my head."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61)

"For the moment, I thought that if I could have a birth of a shrub, a creeper in this land, I would have been more fortunate, because the feet dust of those divine damsels would naturally come on my head. So pure affection, and so risky, so intense, unintelligible love I have experienced there Devarṣi. Why do you come to praise me? I am nothing. All my understanding has been surpassed and with wonderful colour it has come to me to show that how dignified and purest love there can be for Kṛṣṇa. I wonder, I'm astounded and humbled."

So different gradations, different sections of people, they say that our groups leader is the highest duty, Śaṅkara.

tatastha haya vicari yati taratama yarjay rasa sri haya sarvotam ?

In one's own department he says: "Oh, our officer is (some mister on?) in there group officer the leader of that party is that gentleman. But that party may not hold the supreme position. So bhakti is of different kinds, different layers, different stages, and there is also gradation. In the pure devotion also, amongst the dāsyā - Hanumān. Sakhya - there is Arjuna one class says, and Vṛndāvana that is sakhya, this Sudama, Subala, highest standard. Then vātsalya is more fine, fine service, there Yaśodā holding the highest standard. In Mathurā, Devakī holding the highest position. In different classifications, different līlās. Sakhya rasa, vātsalya rasa, then madhura rasa, different groups, Candravallī, Rādhārāṇī, and so many other groups also there. But there is comparison possible, taṭastha-vicāra (impartial judgement; comparison of relative and absolute considerations), relative position and absolute calculation, by both we are to understand things. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Yarjay rasa ? The friendly school say: "We don't want to be Yaśodā or Nanda, we are friends to Kṛṣṇa, we play with Them. Sometimes we climb over His shoulder, sometimes taking on our shoulder, sometimes give slap, sometimes get slap from Him. So many freedoms we are so happy we don't want to be a Yaśodā or Nanda. What are they? But in absolute calculation the measurement will come and show the Yaśodā and Nanda is higher there, they have got higher ecstasy and of higher kind, both quantity and quality in favour of the vātsalya rasa. More intimacy is there that we friends we seem to be very intimate but their intimacy is more, higher."

Then the Yaśodā will say: "I want the Gopāla as a son, I don't want a consort, what of this? I am the commander, I can do what I like with my child and they're all under me, they're all under me, they're like servants and I am master."

But anyhow, if the real standard goes to measure then Yaśodā will have to go down sometime. That wholesale capturing is possible only by madhura rasa, twenty-four hour engagement in the service, twenty-four hour engagement in the service of Kṛṣṇa is possible only in madhura rasa, not even in vātsalya rasa, what to speak of sakhya rasa, and the quality is also higher.

The mother may serve the food, and the wife may also serve the same food. We are told that wife's serving is more tasteful than the mother's, mixed with madhura rasa. The service and the full service, or sometimes the chastising stricture, and confidential confidence, in every point the madhura rasa holds the supreme position. In feeding, generally with the parents, larlam parlam ? taking care of the body, and the confidence, confidential discussions, and in all matters it is in the highest degree only in madhura rasa. Every rasa transaction can be disclosed in the madhura rasa service, but madhura rasa service secret cannot be taken out in the friendly circle, or in the filial parent circle. That cannot come here but these things can be taken there, the wholesale. In this way it has been described by the experts of the ontological, the theology of love.

What is that? We are to try to conceive, perceive that is that, it is such and such. From here we can find, from the reflection we are to judge. Just as suppose if we want to investigate about the sun, we get the reflection of the sun in my hand, then from there I can try to trace what is that black spot? What is there? This is mountain, or this is sea, that is that, all these, in the sun or moon's reflection. But at present I cannot connect my eye direct with the sun, eye will be finished, reduced to ashes. So sometimes with this we are to understand what will be there, what will be there. And we are to find the road from the mathematical calculation, this is the lowest position here and the highest by exploitation, renunciation, and then dedication, and calculative and over calculative, spontaneous. Gradual improvement in this way you have to understand things are such and such. The question was they conceived the elements different units of pride, everything is there but only one thing we shall remember, that that is incurring towards the holiest centre. And here, to be innumerable plurality branches like the opposite current, but similar but not same.

kāma-preme dekho bhāi, lakṣanete bheda nāi tabhu kāma 'prema' nāhi haya

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says: "My brother, lust and love appear as one and the same; yet, lust is never love." (Kalyāṇa-Kalpataru, U, 18)

One is darkness another is light, one is filthiness another is purity of the highest type. You are to understand, central carrying, and this is out carrying, we are to understand it very carefully where the difference is, out carrying and in carrying. That is normal, that is healthy, that is true, that is eternal purity. And this is flickering, this is taking us down to the lowest position and disturbing to the whole atmosphere and environment.

Our selfishness must be eliminated and it cannot but be harmful to the environment. The local interest means it will clash with so many other local interests. But central interest that means it will unify the whole interest, prānopahārāc:

yathā taror mula niṣecanena, tṛpyanti tat-skandha bhujopaśākhāḥ prānopahārāc ca yathendriyānām, tathaiva sarvārhaṇam acyutejyā

"Just as if you pour water onto the root of a tree, the whole tree is fed, and just as when you supply food to the stomach, the whole body is fed, so if you can gain knowledge of the prime cause, Brahman, then you can know anything and everything."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.31.14)

Put food into the stomach it will satisfy the whole system, but put food in the eye, put food in the ear, what is that? Anomaly, disturbance, disease, that is there. And put food into the stomach it is for the satisfaction of the whole, it is a pure thing, it is normal, it is truth, it is healthy. So to put our energy, our service direct towards the proper place everything will be fed properly, that will be distributed properly everywhere.

yasmin tuṣṭe jagat tuṣṭam priṇite priṇito jagat

If I satisfy Him everything will be satisfied. If I serve Him everything will be served automatically, and more efficiently, millions of times more efficiently. Pour water into the root the whole tree will be fed. This sort of example has been given us for our understanding, that what is service towards the centre and service towards the smallest part. The difference is great, infinitely great difference. And we are all suffering from that, that local interest, local interest, personal interest and local interest. Local interest means clash between so many local interest, inevitable, a fight and action, reaction. But put everyone to the centre it will come in harmonising way to satisfy everyone's inner demand and taking him up towards purest centre.

Devotee: I'm reading the Caitanya-caritāmṛta that Jagadānanda Paṇḍita was in the mood of Satyabhāmā. Was he just in the mood of Satyabhāmā or was he incarnation of Satyabhāmā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Incarnation of Satyabhāmā. Satyabhāmā's mood is bhāma- pradhana, apparent opposition. Her mood was apparent opposition, feeling, sentiment, more sentimental than considerate, consideration. Sentiment is predominating than consideration. Very sentimental, Satyabhāmā. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And the technical name is bhāma, that apparently oppositionist. Ostentatiously seems to give opposition but from the heart comes no opposition only emotion.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, the material world is rational, is the material world rational?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Material world.

Devotee: Man is rational animal.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rationality is a stage, eternally a stage. The prime cause is autocrat, He's that, svarāṭ, cārtheṣv abhijñāḥ svarāṭ, (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1). Though we find meaning, consideration, rationality in His dealings, but He's above that, highest call, He's free. Rational means to come under some law, rational. Rationality means that you judge by some law, regulation. According to that we may think this is rational, then this is according to some law and regulation. And what is irrational that is whimsical. But ultimately He's autocrat, He's svarāṭ. And rationality in affection there is want of rationality, in love - want of rationality, mercy - want of rationality. In justice there is rationality but which is above justice in the plane of mercy above rationality, above consideration, the grace. Examiner examining the boy and gives a mark according to his rationality, but when the question of grace comes, above rationality. Do you follow?

Justice, rationality, that is based under law, this is that meaning, irrational, what is? No consideration of any regular law, any regulation, that is irrational. What do you say, irrational? That does not come under calculation, under law, regulation, that is irrational. But svarāṭ, whatever He does is all right. Rationalism, intellectualism, more than intellect, love, above intellect. Can't follow?

Devotee: Yes, I think I follow.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Love is above intellect, above calculation. Autocracy is above calculation, absolute good and He is autocrat, and that is the fortune and a blessing of the whole creation that the absolute good is autocrat. Nothing is going to mitigate it, to check it, the movement of the absolute good means no law is coming to check it. That is desirable because it is absolute good, that is the justification. He's svarāṭ, in Bhāgavatam, cārtheṣv abhijñāḥ svarāṭ, well versed in all the meanings, only He knows the purpose of every movement in this world. He Himself knows what is the purpose of every movement in this world of existence within His fist. None can know the whole purpose of the whole movement of this world, only one knows it. And yet, He's above consideration, svarāt, above law, autocrat, despot. Everything for Himself, He's not subservient to anything else, a second thing, then He's svarāt, He's absolute. Everything for Himself, He's not for anything else, everything is for Him. What does it mean? Above rationalism, above any calculation, above any reasoning, above any demand, above any law, above any argument, tarkā-pratiṣṭhānāt.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: You said yesterday that twenty-four hour engagement in Kṛṣṇa's service is only possible in madhura rasa. Would you explain a bit more on that point?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It is mentioned aṣṭakālīya sevā, aṣṭakālīya sevā, the service for eight praharas, one prahara means fourth part of a day or night is prahara. Day and night, twenty-four hours is divided into eight prahara, aṣṭakālīya. And it is mentioned in the arcana kon ? about Mahāprabhu:

And about Kṛṣṇa:

The eight parts of His pastimes, pastimes have been divided into eight parts, and in all parts the madhurya rasa party they have got some sort of service. When He's engaged in most confidential service is possible only in madhurya rasa, and all forms of service, this vātsalya rasa thieving. Then servants service, a friendly talk of a friend. Everything may be within madhurya rasa and more palatable than those respective rasas. All rasa is the mukhya rasa, madhurya rasa is called mukhya rasa, principle rasa, and it contains every sort of rasa within it. So all possible service is possible only in madhurya rasa to remember.

Devotee: Was it useful to set an example that Caitanya Mahāprabhu acted that way?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. In the realistic view only to warn others He showed through His own men. Internally He's not faulty, but externally to help us, to give us warning, He showed like that. In the perfect vision the most, the full-fledged consideration, everything comes like that. Every atom is helping the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, direct or indirect, and what is seen to be indirect at present, in deeper vision sometimes reveals that it is coming towards direct service. Jagāi Mādhāi, patita pavana name sat chiti bhai ?

Jagāi Mādhāi came to show to the world how magnanimous my Lord is. In the beginning it was begun with indirect, came to give a good beating to Nityānanda but ended in how? Submission and singing the Name of Nityānanda Gaurāṅga. And showing the example to the public: "How worse we were, rogue, and how we are converted into honest men by the great Lord."

I think you know the Judas in Christianity?

Devotee: Yes, I know him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who was he?

Devotee: Judas was the one who sold Jesus, he betrayed Jesus.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But I think when Jesus is coming with the cross on His shoulder, passing through the way, suddenly he cast His glance towards Judas. Did you read that? No? When Jesus had been ordered crucifixion, then the cross is put on His shoulder and He's ordered to go to the field to be crucified. And both sides of the way people thronged and passing through them. Suddenly, he does not know, but He's omniscient, suddenly cast a glance to the face of Judas. And with such an impressive way He saw Judas, Judas thought: "I am caught, I am caught, I am responsible for His crucifixion."

But Jesus' vision was to me something else. "Judas, I am exploiting you. Not that you are exploiting Me but I am exploiting you. I am using you to show the greatness of My life to the future world. I am utilising you as a traitor, traitor. Here amongst our followers there was a traitor I knew." He already told: "Who will give the report to the authorities, he's within you. Amongst these twelve, one will betray Me." He already told, He knew, and Judas was there. But He cast a glance in such a revolutionary way to Judas, "Not that you are exploiting Me for birth or money, I am exploiting you for eternity. You will have to stand a sinful person against Me and to preach to the public that I knew that you were a traitor, still I did not disclose and I took you within My followers fully knowing I am exploiting you." With that look of Jesus was that.

And Judas was mad, he ran at once to the authority, threw away the money: "I have committed the worst sin, I can't tolerate it." A negative look. Judas' energy was drawn and drunken, his spirit was drawn. "A so good look, I am a traitor and a look of gratitude to me, what is this?"

In Japan, jujitsu, when one is coming with great force, and he will push, jump on it, he went away and he fell on the head, withdrawn, the opposition withdrawn, and who is coming to fall on the play, the play will jump and he will fall on the face.

Judas was in that position: "He showed so much gratitude to me. I treated Him so evil, ill treated by me but His look is not by vindictiveness but of gratitude, infinite gratitude. That sort of look He cast to me." He was disarmed, Judas was completely disarmed and was mad, feeling, "What I have done, begun." Ran towards the authorities and threw away the bribe money.

Jagāi Mādhāi is also like that, enhancing the beauty of the conduct of their Lord. Sacrifice, sacrifice, playing the part of the negative side, great sacrifice. Forever they're giving away their own fame to make their Lord glorious forever. Their contribution how great Nityānanda Caitanya is that such a great rogue he was delivered. So that sort of part played by Jagāi Mādhāi. Jagāi Mādhāi: "So we are the culprits, the most notorious figures and we were absolved by Gaura Nityānanda." So a great sacrifice, eternal, sacrifice of the eternal fame. He wanted to hit Nityānanda with some earthen pot, that part taken.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

So, if we can look so deep then all negative indirect service becomes direct, comes to direct service. Depth of our vision can detect as much as depth of one's sight he can feel and see so much direct service, even from the indirect section. Māyā is also rendering service, Satan is also rendering service to God by revolting. Without darkness light cannot be perceived. To play the part of darkness, that is sacrifice to show the greatness of light. Satan is making God great, his contribution is apparently negative but one may think that Satan's contribution makes God how magnanimous, how generous, goodness. If Satan did not exist then how could we understand the goodness of God, the greatness of God. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The contribution towards service apparently indirect way but by spacious sight it comes within direct service. So wholesale, everywhere there is the grace of God, even in Satan.

Mahādeva, Lord Śiva says, sometimes He's repenting, moaning: "What can I do? You are absolute, You have engaged Myself to accept the position of a leader of the opposition party. I'm going against You, I am encouraging, giving indulgence to the demons. You have given this post to Me, most unhappy, unfortunate post. But You are absolute, Your order is unchallengable. What to do? I am doing on Your order, obeying Your order. But My heart is not satisfied there My Lord. But I am obeying, carrying out Your order fortunately."

So: vaiṣṇavaṁ yatha sambhu ? So Śiva is a devotee, but He's doing opposition, giving opposition to Kṛṣṇa and Viṣṇu in various ways, and encouraging the demonic powers against Him. Still, vaiṣṇavaṁ yatha sambhu. Direct vision, and indirect, He's the leader of the opposition party, He's fighting with Kṛṣṇa, with His followers, the bhuta, preta, demons, etc.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: What will be the benefit for a disciple that is serving a guru but the guru is fallen and he doesn't know it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Doesn't know?

Devotee: When the disciple doesn't know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ignorance is no excuse. It is not an accidental thing, ignorance. It is earned. Man is the architect of his own fortune. Earned by our karma, previous action, but not to blame anyone. The environment where I am at present, this is already earned by me. So Bhāgavatam wants to teach us don't complain against the environment, it is earned by you. But utilise it to the best use to try to see the grace of the Absolute there is.

Lord Brahmā says: "One who, in the hope of achieving Your grace, goes on enduring the inauspicious fruit of his own karma, and passes his days practising devotion unto You in every thought, word, and deed - such a person is heir to the land of freedom: he attains to the plane of positive immortality." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8)

The anomalies which I am facing, that is ātma-kṛta, it is the product of my own action, so none to blame. We are to take it in that way. It is earned by me so I am to be blamed, none else. Not only that but there is always present the grace of the Lord eager to help me in the disguise of danger of unfavourable environment as I see at my present experience. But that is also necessary medicine to my own disease, to cure my madness that is like a medicine meant by the Lord. He's everywhere with sympathetic hand to extend, everywhere in the most intense danger, His sympathetic hand is present. We are to take it. This will be our attitude and this attitude is the key to solution of our

End of side A, 6/7/9/11-2-83, start of side B, 6/7/9/11-2-83.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:affection hand, only to teach you, to improve you, to help you, not to punish you. We are to see like that, all these, we are advised, and then in no time it will be clear, the mist will be cleared, the bad weather will vanish and sunlight weather will come in return.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

This is a very important śloka in Bhāgavatam, the key to solution of our life, success.

Tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam:
While you are suffering from your previous bad action, try to see the grace of the Lord therein, and in no time it will clear. This Bhāgavata proposes by thought, word, and deed, not partial, but wholesale.

Hṛd-vāg-vapurbbhir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

And we are advised to see everything in connection with Kṛṣṇa, He's playing, in His pleasure, He's playing.

karmani kama nahi tava dhama dhana ?

If any lady comes to you: "Oh, she's for the enjoyment of Kṛṣṇa, not for anyone, what to speak of me, not to be enjoyed by anyone, but only for Kṛṣṇa." The ladies are for Kṛṣṇa, the money for Nārāyaṇa - Lakṣmī for Nārāyaṇa, and the glory, the fame for Gurudeva, Baladeva, Nityānanda, Who gives the Absolute to the world. He's eligible to command all the fame, all the glory of the world. Because He's glory to everyone by distributing the Absolute Good, Baladeva, guru, Nityānanda. The whole fame, whole credit is under His claim, He can claim the whole credit, the whole glory, or fame. And the whole energy Nārāyaṇa can command. Enjoyment of lady love reserved for Kṛṣṇa. Kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā - (wealth, women, prestige). Three owners of the three aspects of enjoyment, kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Their due. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The whole credit will go to guru who is distributing the truth to the world, whole credit, he commands the whole credit. Guru means Baladeva, and in madhurya rasa Rādhārāṇī, She commands the whole credit of giving Kṛṣṇa to the world. Kṛṣṇa belongs to Her as if Her property. Kṛṣṇa is the property of Rādhārāṇī, She can distribute Him to any and everybody. In the highest type of vision She's so. And a little lower, Baladeva, Nityānanda, vātsalya, sakhya, without madhurya, vātsalya, sakhya, śānta, dāsyā, all commanded by Baladeva, Nityānanda. And only madhurya rasa including all the different types commanded by Rādhārāṇī. She can give Kṛṣṇa wholesale and they can give partly, partly, up to vātsalya rasa. Wholesale distribution can be allowed only by Rādhārāṇī.

Gaura Hari.

Śukadeva could not take the Name of Rādhārāṇī in that scholarly assembly when he was giving Bhāgavatam, no mention of Rādhārāṇī's Name in Bhāgavatam. Jīva Goswāmī has given the explanation why in that scholarly section who cannot appreciate that higher form of parakīya love, they are scholars but they are not high type devotees. So Śukadeva could not take the Name of Rādhārāṇī in that assembly of the scholars. Who will fail to appreciate the parakīya rasa sevā, service of Rādhārāṇī, of the gopīs. Absolute type of service not under any law, regulation, either social or religious, crossing both social and religious law. Religious conception and social demand, crossing everything, the complete unconditional surrender towards Kṛṣṇa, that is the highest position. Wholesale surrender, wholesale surrender neglecting the existing social and religious law of the country, ignoring society as well as religion. So much risk to serve Kṛṣṇa with whole heart, that is found there. So Rādhārāṇī's Name could not be taken in the scholar's assembly by Śukadeva Goswāmī, this is the explanation as given by Jīva Goswāmī in his Sandarbha.

Gaura Hari bol. So when taking the Name of Rādhārāṇī I give some praṇāma: "Oh, please forgive me, I am not qualified to take Your Name, I am not qualified. I am making much, saying much in my small tongue, in my mean tongue I am taking Your Name. Forgive me, forgive me, I have got the audacity of taking Your Name. Gaura Hari. Forgive me." She is so high, so great, so noble, we don't, we can't consider ourselves fit to take Her Name. Śukadeva Goswāmī did not take Her Name in the whole of Bhāgavatam where he has given what is the true perception, true idea of divine love, the basis of divine love has been shown there rightly. Above knowledge, love is above knowledge, above intellect, above rationality, as he told, rationality, above rationality, intellectualism, the plane of love. The vibration of that plane is love absolute, absolutely towards Kṛṣṇa ignoring all other demands coming from the near environment.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...should also be taken here, they also came and we had a talk and I tried to instruct this lady Manjuali, Vaiṣṇava Charan also cried, wept, both. Anyhow they gave consent: "Again he may go for the service of Kṛṣṇa, we are releasing him for Guru Mahārāja's service." And they want to keep the prestige of ISKCON he should return to ISKCON as a sannyāsī which was already conferred to him by Kīrtanānanda Mahārāja.

I asked: "Give a letter of request to Kīrtanānanda Mahārāja for giving you a second time this sannyāsa, this robe, and he has to go to Katwa were Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa, to get your mental strength there. At that place you take sannyāsa again what you got previously from Kīrtanānanda."

Charu Swāmī was sent and Charu Swāmī handed over the red cloth of sannyāsa as well as that daṇḍam, there just on the spot of Mahāprabhu's sannyāsa. And he took, weak minded person, could not keep it, again

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Approach, how we can improve our position and approach nearer to Kṛṣṇa, by leaving away our internal hankerings for any other things than Kṛṣṇa and His servitors. That is the problem for everyone, how, just it reminds me that these hard chances are coming to take us a step further towards glorious things. What apparently we think that this is troublesome and heart aching, and trying to push us down, but actually it is not so. So Queen Kunti invited such unfavourable positions. Unfavourable positions, they come only to give us a lift. We are under trial. Anyhow we must have to cross the line and advance, go forward towards Kṛṣṇa. One by one, waves are coming to take us away from Kṛṣṇa, but we must swim across to go nearer. The waves will surely come, surely come. These are coming to us as test to prove our faithfulness to Him, to take proof, faithfulness in service. So we should not be afraid of those waves that are coming apparently to push us away, but really it is not so. So we must not be afraid: "With heart within and God overhead," we shall boldly stand those tests, we have to stand. It is not that the path will be strewn with flowers, all covered with flowers, not that at all, not at all.

It is continuous, it is dynamic, it has got no end, even the competition is in the higher stage, in the higher stage. And the original representative of particular service of particular rasa, they're holding a similar position. "I can't serve, I can't serve, I am not satisfied by rendering service to my boy or to my friend but to my Lord." No satisfaction, no satisfaction, that means it is always progressive eternally, eternally progressive. The journey in the infinite is like that, of such nature, always running, running, running. Progressing, progressing, no end. And with this disappointment: "I can't, I fail to do to my satisfaction, I fail to render service up to my satisfaction." This is the very nature in the world of infinite. We are finite beings, lost there. But still we have got our paraphernalia of our own nature there, there. Long journey, long trouble, but if we have good association, good group, in a group we are going, then the disappointment, dejection minimised if we have a favourable group for us to make a long journey. By chatting with them, talking with them about the Lord, we can go, we can't know the weariness of the journey, long walking, fatigue, we forget all these things. So:

kr̥ṣṇa-bhakti-janma-mūla haya 'sādhū-saṅga' kr̥ṣṇa-prema janme, teṅho punar mukhya aṅga

"The root cause of devotional service to Lord Kṛṣṇa is association with advanced devotees. Even when one's dormant love for Kṛṣṇa awakens, association with devotees is still most essential." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.83)

Kṛṣṇa-bhakti-janma-mūla haya 'sādhū-saṅga', the very origin of the devotion to Kṛṣṇa comes from the association of the sādhu, kr̥ṣṇa-prema janme, teṅho punar mukhya aṅga, and when we acquire a drop of divine love within our heart then also our hope, solace, consolation, health, everything, we get from the association of the devotees, of the devotees. The devotees are all in all, from the beginning up to the end, our favourable companion can help us in our journey towards infinite. They're something solid, some concrete, similar in nature with me. So only with inter change of our thought, our good, bad, everything, our hope, our despair, everything they can appreciate and in a group we can go on. Sādhū-saṅga.

Otherwise if we are alone we'll think: "Oh, what are you doing, I am wild goose chasing, chasing a wild goose." A reaction may come and he may leave his bhajan and go away. So our Guru Mahārāja (Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura) gave very much stress on the association of the devotees.

Duṣṭa mana! tumi kiserā vaiṣṇava? pratiṣṭhāra tare, nirjanera ghare, (Vaiṣṇava ke ? Who is a Vaiṣṇava?) "You want in a solitary place to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa? This is a hoax of Māyā, she will come and take you by your ear, we won't be able to fight for a long time if alone." But always try to be with the more, to do anything and everything, service, with so many other devotees you will get strength from one another. And a long march will be a very pleasant thing to you. So a sincere devotee will always hanker after a good association, good company, who will be able to help me, giving encouragement at every stage. "No, it is here, very near, let us go, let us go, a little more and then we shall get some clue." In this way anyhow the mutual help.

The 'Napoleonic Chair.' I was told that once Napoleon reached somewhere with his soldiers in a marshy land, and standing, standing there for a long time they're very much tired and at least they wanted to take a seat for some time. Can't go on standing any longer. Then he put them in a circle and asked them to take their seat. Everyone is giving seat to another and he is also sitting on another's lap. In this way in a circle everyone was a seat and everyone got a seat. Do you follow? In a circular way, so everyone gave a seat on the thigh to one and he also took on the other, in a circular way everyone could take their seat.

So sādhu-saṅga is like that, when my mind is a little depressed he will come to encourage me. When you are a little depressed I shall go him. It is a long journey. There is scripture, there are other lights of the sādhu by consulting them, by remembering them, reminding their association. In this way it is very comfortable, the journey, to go towards. The books, that is secondary, and the primary assistance should come from the living books, living scriptures, that is the Vaiṣṇava, the saint. Otherwise one will think for some time, for few days, he's not very advanced stage, then it is nothing, mere imagination, he felt, leave everything and went back, that is, so, pratiṣṭhāra tare, nirjanera ghare, tava "harināma" kevala "kaitava:" (Vaiṣṇava ke ? Who is a Vaiṣṇava?)

Kaitava means savinar ? deception, self deception, self deception. If you are really hankering for God consciousness you should not be afraid of seeing God consciousness in some other person, you must feel encouraged, hanker, so:

'sādhu saṅga,' 'sādhu saṅga,' - sarva śāstre kaya lava-mātra sādhu-saṅge sarva-siddhi haya

"The verdict of all revealed scriptures is that by even a moment's association with a pure devotee, one can attain all success." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.54)

It reminds me more from the letter of that lady whom we called daughter, when this Manjuali, after weeping she gave consent: "Yes Mahārāja." I quoted the example of Viṣṇu Priya, Viṣṇu Priya allowed her about Nimāi Paṇḍit Śrī Caitanyadeva to go away from, to work for Kṛṣṇa consciousness and she live whole of her life, she was a girl of fourteen, but she lived a solitary life giving Nimāi Paṇḍit towards the people to get Kṛṣṇa consciousness. So you also give up your husband, and your son will also become a general I told, this little Vaiṣṇava Charan when grown up, with proper training, he will also turn to be a general to fight against Māyā like his father. Very much encouraged to accept, then anyhow they went away to London and this gentleman went towards (Purī?) But to our disappointment that attempt does not seem to be successful, does not seem to be successful, but deplorable. What to do? His will, will of the Absolute. We must think it is all for the best, it is all for the best.

viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ dīnabandho dayāṁ vā gatiṁ iha na bhavataḥ kācid anyā mamāsti nipatatu śata-koṭīṁ nirbharaṁ vā navāmbhas tad api kila payodaḥ stūyate cātakena

"O friend of the needy, whether You chastise me or reward me, in the whole wide world I have no other shelter but You. Whether the thunderbolt strikes or torrents of fresh waters shower down, the Cātaka bird (who drinks only the falling rainwater) perpetually goes on singing the glories of the raincloud."

Rūpa Goswāmī says: dīnabandho dayāṁ vā: "Oh, the Lord of the poor, helpless, You may show kindness to me, or You may come to punish me very cruelly, the cruel punishment may come from you. It is also possible. Or a gracious, either punishment or kindness, grace, You may do. You may administer anything, You are free, You are Absolute. But what is my position? My position is that I have no other alternative whatever You to, however You want to deal with me I shall have to accept it on my head patiently. No other alternative I have got, no alternative for me to go away from You. Whether You punish me or You grace me, both is one, equal to me, I won't go back.

Just as the example we gave of a particular bird. What is that bird? Cātaka, in Sanskrit the name is Cātaka. There is a kind of bird who always drinks water from the rain, raindrops, and never are they accustomed to take any water, however thirsty, from the ground. Whether it maybe a spring, or the river, or lake, from nowhere they will take even a single drop of water however thirsty they may be they'll always pray to the sky, to the clouds: patijal ? Their sound is similar to this: "A drop of water, a drop of water." In this way they try with their faces above, their faces above to the sky: "A drop of water." And water may come profusely in the rain or a thunder may also come and efface him from the world. He does not care whether thunder coming or water coming. But he will always go on praying: "A drop of water, a drop of water." In this way, our position is just like that. Whether punishment comes like thunder, heavy punishment to demolish me, efface me from the world or a huge water, rain water to bathe me, to quench my thirst within. No other alternative to live, ananya bhajana, exclusive devotion, I am meant for that, I am designed for that, I am destined for that. You are my master, You are my Lord, and not for the temporary transaction, eternal."

Such preparedness we must have we must have within ourselves, then we will be able to taste how sweet, how sweet the experience we can gather from the service. We are up to mark, if we are up to mark then we can get the chance of some extraordinary sweet taste in the service of the Lord. As much as hunger, so much sweet taste in the tongue. Sweetness depends on the hunger. A healthy body is measure by the hunger, whether the man is healthy we can measure it by his appetite, yes appetite is all right, he has full belly. So appetite, we are to increase our appetite, appetite, our earnestness, requirement for Kṛṣṇa. And a slight touch of His grace will inundate our heart with the most desirable sweetness we cannot conceive any time in our life, inconceivable taste, Kṛṣṇa.

In Vṛndāvana we find none is satisfied by discharging his duties towards the service of Kṛṣṇa, all mad to do and dissatisfaction: "I can't do, I'm not able to do up to mark." Below the mark, all these things, that is the peculiarity. This should be the relationship of the finite towards the infinite, finite and infinite, only such relationship is possible. Finite can never say: "I have got in my fist, within my fist."

But at the same time it is a peculiar thing that one will think, just as by him saying that one does not, can't see, he wants, this at any moment he may die, this fact one may not think, and the same time, ye paramayi apare dhan ?

A monied man is never satisfied with his cash, always saying: "I am in want, but he has got money." Always: "He has got money, I am in poverty." That is the nature with the monied man. "I have no money but he has got money."

And here also: "I have no devotion but he has got devotion, Kṛṣṇa is there." That is a point of understanding to us. "He's full in my Gurudeva, he is tasting." The pāṛṣada, they are mad in tasting, but that very pāṛṣada devotee (eternal follower or associate servitor), he says: "No, I am not feeling any touch of Kṛṣṇa, where is He?" Generally this is the case and whenever a little connection, little touch, they become mad, sambhoga, vipralambha (union and separation).

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura.

The feeling of separation is normal and safe, and the feeling of union is mostly treacherous to the lower section. They may mistake one thing for another thing. The possibility of going down. So Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanyadeva He showed for us the path of union in separation, safest way. "I have got Him," that is dangerous. Mostly the cases are bogus, we must be very much careful about that. We may not think getting anything and everything I have got some touch of the Lord. There we must be very, very careful.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With this warning that may be distributed.

No letter from another Post Office to the land? That Mysore (?) including Nārāyaṇa, and then as Vṛnda he has got some position in the management of the whole of Vṛndāvana līlā. Again she has got some particular function in Braja līlā as an individual gopī, three phases. And sometimes Rādhārāṇī Herself says that: "All My attainment is due to the grace of Tulasī Devī. In My previous life," She says: "I showed My reverential service to Tulasī Devī, so I have got some favour of Kṛṣṇa this life." In this way She is representing Her. These are all in jñāna sunya, devotion mixed with ignorance, jñāna sunya bhakti, mixed with ignorance or independent of measuring the immeasurable.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Another question she has got?

Devotee: She is asking: "Is it better in Kṛṣṇa consciousness to use skills and desires you have, or is it better to go out on book distribution, and which is more purifying? And what service do you want me to do for you?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One, book distribution, another, this arcana ?

Devotee: Is it, her idea is that she wants to teach Gurukula, and sew for the Deities.

And caring for Tulasī Devī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By the higher Vaiṣṇava, that has got some immediate value.

Devotee: She's asking: "Why is it an offence to pick Tulasī leaves on Dvādaśī? (Dvādaśī is the twelfth day after the full moon or new moon).

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because it is supposed that Tulasī Devī, she has observed Ekādaśī fasting. (Ekādaśī is the eleventh day of the lunar fortnight when one fasts from grains in order to increase devotion to Kṛṣṇa, observed twice a month).

If we get bhakti then automatically every inauspicious things will be removed. General devotion means kleśa-ghnī.

kleśa-ghnī śubhadā mokṣa-, laghutā-kṛt sudurllabhā sāndrānanda-viśeṣātmā, śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā

"Uttamā-bhakti, the purest devotion, is the vanquisher of all sin and ignorance, and the bestower of all auspiciousness; liberation is belittled in the presence of such devotion, which is very rarely attained, the embodiment of the deepest ecstasy, and the attractor of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Himself." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrvva, 1.17)

By the progress of devotion in general, all these stages we will have to pass through. The first step, all the troubles will be removed. The second, all good symptoms will awaken. The third, śubhadā mokṣa-, laghutā-kṛt, even we shall be able to belittle mere liberation and emancipation. Then, sudurllabhā, yet it is very hard to get the grace of devotion. The fourth, then sudurllabhā sāndrānanda-viśeṣātmā, inexpressible and very, too much intense joy, the devotion can give us

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Give us all these effects to us. So a devotee of the higher order, he must not play to any place, or any prayer that absolves me from the sin. He will say, the first class devotee will say, will pray: "Whatever I have done wrong I am ready to suffer for that to the paisa (a monetary unit of India and Pakistan worth one hundredth of a rupee). But only my prayer is that I may get a drop of nectar of the favour of Kṛṣṇa." That should be the prayer of a real devotee.

paśu-pakṣī-kīṭa-ādi balite nā pāre śunilei harināma tā'rā saba tare japile se kṛṣṇa-nāma āpani se tare ucca-saṅkīrtane para-upakāra kare ata eva ucca hari' kīrtana karile śata-guṇa phala haya sarva-śāstre bale

"The animals, the birds, and the insects cannot chant the Holy Name, but by hearing the Holy Name chanted they can benefit. Chanting the japa of the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa purifies oneself, but the loud saṅkīrtana of the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa benefits all living beings. Therefore, loudly chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa in kīrtana, and you will get one hundred times the benefit of chanting japa. This is the verdict of the śāstras."(Caitanya-Bhāgavata-Ādi 17.279-281)

"I may according to my karma, I may be a bird, I may be a beast, or I may be a worm, insect, in the heaven or in hell. I don't care for that. According to my own karma let me suffer for that. But only my prayer that I may not be devoid, or maybe deceived from the favour of Kṛṣṇa, I get that, His grace, devotion I want, only devotion I want."

nasta dharmi navasunjayi naiva karma komokay, yad yad bhavam bhava tu bhagavan purva karma anu rupam ? And Bhaktivinod:

pasu pakti? Let me, to enjoy my result of good works in heaven, or if I have to suffer for my bad actions in previous lives we are to go to hell, I don't want to get out of that. My karma I shall have to suffer or enjoy, I don't care for that. But my prayer, not to take away that sin or that good merit or bad merit, but only my prayer is for pure devotion independent of these two. Neither happiness nor suffering, neither happiness from happiness nor from suffering I want relief. Let it be according to my previous karma. The least, what I want from this moment, I won't try to waste that favour of Kṛṣṇa to face with any eventuality. Whatever I shall acquire, a drop, I shall acquire friends, that must be the nectar of the highest order. And lower things can deal with these things heaven and hell. To remove, to deliver us from hell or from heaven very lower things can do that. But Kṛṣṇa's favour we shall pray only as a positive attainment, and never to minimise our previous, the result of the bad activities of misconception, misconception is nothing for that. I want the visa, don't care for passport. If I get visa, passport will come automatically. Something like that. If I get visa, no passport trouble will be able to trouble me, something. This Māyā, to do away with Māyā it is nothing. But the positive attainment in the domain of Kṛṣṇa, that is a very higher thing. By passing Māyā we can attain Virāja Brahmāloka, mukti, the marginal position, but why should I waste my energy only to acquire a position in the marginal land? All my attempts must be focussed towards the prayer of a position in Goloka, that I shall try, and that will be gain of very higher order, highest order. I shall pray automatically this will be done.

There was one case in Sāvitṛī - Satyavān Purāṇa story. Sāvitṛī from Yamarāja she wanted boon, she was a chaste lady. Went to the forest with her husband knowing that that day, she knew that that day was the day of death of her husband, so she followed her husband Satyavān to the forest. And suddenly Satyavān, Sāvitṛī knew already, Satyavān did not know. "I feel some ache in my brain, I want to take a sleep." Sāvitṛī was ready. On her lap Satyavān put his head. He was cutting wood there and slept and heart failed, died of heart failure.

Yamarāja came to take him, first his agents came but they found that Satyavān was on the lap of his chaste, very pure wife. They could not venture to take him. Then Yamarāja himself came. Sāvitṛī is there with the head on her lap. Yamarāja told: "You leave it, he's dead, you leave his body."

Then Sāvitṛī told: "Yes, you take him."

Yamarāja took him, that soul, Sāvitṛī is approaching, by her penance's she's approaching, following in pursuance of her husband. Yamarāja told: "O you why do you come? I'm taking him, you must go back."

But, "No, I can't go, I shall go also," in this way.

Yamarāja told: "No, you don't come. Why do you disturb my activity? This is the arrangement of the creator Brahmā and you must obey that."

Sāvitṛī told: "It is better to die than live without husband," in this way.

Then Yamarāja told: "I am giving some boon to you, accept and be satisfied."

"What boon you will give?" Then she wanted, her father-in-law and mother-in-law they were blind, "Let them get eye."

"Yes, they will get eye."

Second, then again going, "No, I'm not satisfied, can't live." "Then take another boon."

"If you are pleased to give boon, then they have lost their kingdom, now they may be installed in their own kingdom."

"Yes, I say they will get back their kingdom." "All right." Again Sāvitṛī going.

"Again you are coming?"

"Yes, I can't live without the company of my husband. I'll take another boon." "Yes, what is that?"

"I want one hundred sons."

"Yes, you'll get one hundred sons."

Then again she is going. "And why you are coming, you are already told that I shall get one hundred sons."

"If you are taking my husband how can I get sons?"

Then Yamarāja was perplexed: "Yes, that's true." Then what to do? He appealed to the higher force and sanctioned Sāvitṛī's boon. She got her husband back. So Yamarāja was already committed: "That you have got, you will get one hundred sons."

Then Sāvitṛī put the demand: "You have already sanctioned that I shall get one hundred sons, you can't take my husband."

So if we get some space in Goloka we cannot be detained in this mundane world. Why should we bother ourselves that Tulasi Devī who can give me a place there, they please clear the dirt on which I am standing, that is self-deception. Do you follow? No?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So always to the higher entity we shall pray for the higher service of the Lord. Wherever we are we won't care for that, that automatically will be solved. If we get some higher appointment there, then automatically they can't detain us here. So a śuddha bhakta, a pure devotee, from the core of his heart he will never pray for anything else, that will be waste of energy. "Only pure inclination toward the service of my eternal Lord, that I want, I know nothing else but the loving service of my eternal Lord, that I want. I do not know anything else."

The gopīs, when Nārada came for the feet-dust. In Dwārakā, when Kṛṣṇa is playing that He has got a very bad headache and only the feet-dust of a devotee can remove that headache. So Nārada approached so many, none came forward to give feet-dust to Kṛṣṇa. "Kṛṣṇa says: 'I am suffering great pain, all these things.'"

"No, no, we don't believe that, this is all to test us. We are the last persons to give feet-dust to our venerable husband whom we think to be God Himself, never."

Then Nārada came to Kṛṣṇa. "Have you got the medicine?" "No, no, none is prepared to give feet-dust to You my Lord."

Then: "Nārada, go, go, go to Vṛndāvana, you seek for that there, go."

Nārada, by the power of yoga, he at once came. The gopīs talked there: "Oh, how is Kṛṣṇa? Nārada, you have come, perhaps you are coming from Dwārakā?"

"Yes, yes, I am coming. Kṛṣṇa is suffering from headache very much."
"How? He is suffering?"

"Yes, He is suffering."

"And no medicine, no cure?"

"Well only feet-dust of the devotee, that is the medicine, nothing else can cure Him.

So I have come here, you are so many devotees."

"Oh, take, take feet-dust, say you give your feet-dust. We don't know who is the proper devotee, give feet-dust, collect feet-dust and take."

Nārada was astounded: "What is this? No one, even myself I do not venture to give, thus the queens told, ' Nārada, you are a devotee, you give your feet-dust.' I also can't. But these ladies they're offering their feet-dust by competition, 'Oh take, please take hers, take hers,'" in this way. He stood dumb. "What do you think? You are giving feet-dust to Kṛṣṇa. Don't you know the consequence?" "Yes, what consequence?"

"Eternal hell."

"We are prepared for that Nārada. We only are concerned with His pleasure, we do not care for our future, we do not care for our future. Our whole attention is to seek for pleasure for Him."

So a pure devotee won't pray for anything but for the higher service of the Lord our heart, they can't see anything else, nothing he can see for him or her for their own pleasure but only the pleasure of Kṛṣṇa. Forgetful, as in Christianity also, there is self sacrifice and greater than that is self forgetfulness, self forgetful self is there, but forgetful for the pleasure of the Lord. No self interest. Self forgetfulness that is unconscious of their own particular interest, it is merged in the interest of the whole Lord Absolute. So a pure devotee should never want anything else but the pure service of the Lord. He does not care to know any other thing, can't see even.

Once, after the Pāṇḍavas and Kauravas got their training finished in the school of Droṇācārya, Droṇācārya to test them he put an artificial bird on the top of a tree, and asked them one by one: "Pierce, mark the eye of this bird I have put on the top of the tree." First he called up Yudhiṣṭhira, he was the senior most: "You are to mark, pierce the eye of the artificial bird that I have put on the top of the tree. Take your bow and arrow." And Yudhiṣṭhira at once came. "What do you see?"

"I'm seeing all." "Bird?"

"Yes."

"The whole bird?" "Yes."

"The tree?" "Yes."

"Are you seeing me?"

"Yes. I'm seeing everything." "Give up, give in your arrow."

Then in this way he say, this man, that man, then at last called for Arjuna. "You are to do this."

"Yes."

"Have you fixed you mark?" "Yes."

"What do you see?" "I see the bird."

"No tree, none else?" "No."

"The whole bird?" "Never, no, only the eye."

"The bird and only the eye, and you can't see anything else?" "No, only the eye I am seeing."

"Yes, mark."

So a pure devotee he can't see anything else, but hear the praise, the joy of his Lord of his heart. They're unconscious of everything. Let it be, whatever You may like. So that pure devotion of that Tulasī, or anyone, a pure devotee won't pray for anything else if he's got that higher sukṛti, śuddha bhakti, prema bhakti, the seed of prema bhakti. Only Kṛṣṇa's pleasure, the pleasure of my Lord cent per cent, unconscious of his own body, mind, everything. That is the type. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Do you understand?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Hari. Mahāprabhu says: mama janmani janmanīśvare, bhavatād bhaktir ahaitukī tvayi:

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, I have one question about Tulasī. The devotees here at the Maṭh, they say even if the japa-mālā is not real Tulasī Devī, when you touch, when you count the beads, you turn that japa-mālā into Tulasī Devī. My question is this, is it important to have japa-mālā of Tulasī Devī or not?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is higher consideration. What I really want to revere, if we consider them of this mundane thing that is offence, it is offence.

arcye viṣṇau śilā-dhīr guruṣu nara-matir vaiṣṇave jātī-buddhir viṣṇor vā vaiṣṇavānām kali-mala-mathane pāda-tīrthe 'mbu-buddhiḥ śrī-viṣṇor-

"Anyone who considers the worshipping Deity of the Lord to be made out of wood, stone, or metal; who considers the Vaiṣṇava Guru to be a mortal man; who considers a Vaiṣṇava to be limited by the confines of caste, lineage, or creed; who considers the holy foot-wash of Lord Viṣṇu or a Vaiṣṇava to be ordinary water, although such water has the potency to destroy all evils of the age of Kali; who considers the Holy Name and mantra of Lord Viṣṇu, which vanquish all sins, to be common sound vibration; and who considers the God of gods, Lord Viṣṇu, to be merely on the level of the demigods - such a person is a diabolical devil."

(Padma-Purāṇa)

Arcye viṣṇau śilā-dhīr: if we think that what we worship that is stone; guruṣu nara- matir: seeing Gurudeva to be a man; vaiṣṇave jātī-buddhir: and if we see the Vaiṣṇava as brāhmaṇa, śūdra, all these things; viṣṇor vā vaiṣṇavānām kali-mala-mathane pāda- tīrthe 'mbu-buddhiḥ: and the feet water, or the caranāmṛtam of Viṣṇu, Vaiṣṇava, if we think that is water; viṣṇau sarvveśvareṣe tad-itara-sama-dhīr: and the Master of all, Lord of all, Viṣṇu, if we think one of many gods, then nārakī saḥ: we shall have to go straight to hell.

yasyātma-buddhiḥ kuṇape tridhātuke sva dhī kalatrādiṣu bhauma ijya dhīḥ yat tīrtha buddhiḥ salile na karhicij- janesvabhijñeṣu sa eva gokharaḥ

"One who believes this body, which is composed of mucus, bile, and air, is the self, who thinks of his wife and children as his bodily expansions, and who considers the land of his birth worshipping, who visits the holy places simply to go swimming, without seeking shelter of the holy saints who live there, is no better than a cow or an ass. His conception of reality is condemned." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.84.13)

One in Bhāgavatam and one in Padma-Purāṇa. yasyātma-buddhiḥ kuṇape tridhātuke: in this body if one thinks he is the soul, identifying the soul with the body, tridhātuke. Sva dhī kalatrādiṣu: the wife, children, they're my own, if one thinks like that. Bhauma ijya dhīḥ: and our worshippable object is something material, if we think, bhauma ijya dhīḥ. Yat tīrtha buddhiḥ salile: and thinks this water is purifying, identifies purity with water, this material thing. Sa eva gokharaḥ: he may be considered as an ass which can be used only to carry the food of the cows, gokharaḥ, kharaḥ means the ass that carries burden, gokharaḥ means that cannot be utilised for the purpose of human utility but only for the beast, very lower conception of beast.

So we are to take us out of identifying spiritual with material, spiritual that is necessary, not material. We are to understand the real position. Rāvaṇa, he stole away Sītā Devī, and a devotee of the primary class was very much shocked to hear that. And when Mahāprabhu was a guest with that Rāmanūja devotee, he anyhow managed to give some food to Mahāprabhu and he himself observed fasting, and he's always bewailing. Mahāprabhu told: "Why you don't take food?"

He told: "I want to die. I had to hear that my mother Janaki, Sītā Devī, She was stolen by a demon. I shall have to hear that in my ear? I want to die. I won't like to live any longer."

Then Mahāprabhu consoled him: "No, no, you don't think like that. Sītā Devī, She is Lakṣmī Devī Herself, She's cinmaya, She's consciousness personified, not body of any material stuff, this flesh and blood. Sītā Devī's body is not made of flesh and blood. So what to speak of Rāvaṇa to forcibly carry Her, Rāvaṇa even cannot touch, even cannot see Her. Sītā Devī is made of such stuff that Rāvaṇa he cannot see Her, cannot touch Her. This is the fact. Don't disturb your mind, this is the fact I say you take prasādam." Then he took prasādam.

Then Mahāprabhu went to further south and in one place He found that the devotees are reading Kūrma-Purāṇa, and there it is mentioned that when Rāvaṇa came to steal away Sītā, She took shelter into fire and Māyā Sītā and the fire god gave some imitation Sītā to Rāvaṇa. Then after killing Rāvaṇa, attaining victory, when Rāmacandra is taking Sītā from Lanka, Rāmacandra told that: "To prove Her chastity She must enter into blazing fire, then if She can pass away from that test I shall accept Her. Otherwise She is for a whole year She is with the demon family, I can't trust Her chastity."

Then so many devotees began to weep but at the order of Rāmacandra the fire was ready and Sītā Devī had to enter into the fire. The fire quenched, Sītā Devī came out without any change, a smiling face. Devotees began to give joy, "Sītā Devī ki jaya." This was written in that Kūrma-Purāṇa.

Mahāprabhu asked the reader: "Please give Me that old page and put a new written page there. I found one brāhmaṇa whose too much troubled thinking that Sītā Devī was stolen by Rāvaṇa. I want to show this old page of this book to convince him it was not My consolation but you find it is already written in the śāstra that Sītā Devī, Rāvaṇa could not touch Her, that real Sītā Devī. She's consciousness personified, not matter, not any flesh and blood or anything, bone, only.

Just as a ghost can show his figure, a yogi can show his figure, but God won't be able to show such figure? He can do. By His will, "Let there be water," there was water. "Let there be light," there was light, there was water. His will is law, whatever He wants to do at once that is done. And He will have to have a permanent flesh and blood body? At His will He can show anything as He likes, He's all spiritual, no touch of contamination of any mundane substance there. But still can maintain. That eye is not this fleshy eye, Their eye, ear, everything is here but They're not.

Just as in dream this eye does not work, this ear does not work, but still we see, we feel, we work in dream. So in the mental plane are also the activities possible, so mind is also half material. Then transcending that there is pure spiritual world and there also some spiritual eye, spiritual ears, spiritual mind, everything is spiritual it is possible.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

In the war field when two tanks come to fight, one tank is pushing against another tank, the man within is safe, the tanks are moving like demons and one is pushing another, in this way, crashing, the man is within.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

So soul is within this body and soul has got its own body, own plane of living, own food, everything of its own in the spiritual realm. This is perverted reflection, we are to aspire after that line, and purity depends on love, sacrifice. Love means sacrifice. Die to live. We are to die wholesale as our interested life here and another sort of interest will awaken within us and we shall live there in that plane. That is our aspiration and for that we have left our houses, that concrete friends, the father, mother, son, child, the property, so many things left. And in quest of such life we are out, we are out. We have no charm, we have finished our charm for the mundane property, mundane things, and we are out to seek something which is super- mundane. Mundane means mortal, under mortality, every second it is dying, every second. On which we are depending through this body, wholesale is dying, passed, every second dying. So we want to be out of this death, this dying land, and if possible to live in a land where there is no death, amṛta, which is without death that is sweet.

Vaikuṇṭha in the consideration of infinite perspective conception, Vaikuṇṭha, kuṇṭha means limitation, Vaikuṇṭha means unlimited. To live in Vaikuṇṭha, to live in the relativity of the infinite whole. Again there is specification there, we can find when we enter and settle there, specification in different ways.

Just as these mundane things, suppose anything, an earthen doll, they can occupy some space, but if there is a flame, light, one light has got its own jurisdiction, take another light, this light is intensified, that is also, but again withdraw that light we can't say that this light only occupies this position and that light that position, all mixed. That light withdrawn one light is light and light here and here mixed the water hot and cold mixed together, and that may be removed, the light may be removed. Intensity may be less but that sort of limitation there is.

So in the infinite also amongst the units there is also limitation of another type. That one light everywhere in the room and another light also everywhere in the room. But still it has got when removed some sort of form went away. So consciousness also may, conscious unit also may come and live together and also go away. That is also of another type coming and going. And there also in Goloka it is just like here, all things seem to be limited but not limited. We are told that it is managed by Yoga-Māyā for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa. And here, this Kṛṣṇa is in its highest play, form of play. Mahāprabhu told, Bhāgavata told: Svayam Bhagavān, He's adjusted in a human way. The mode of life of the Lord in the highest position is very close to the human life.

krṣṇera yateka khelā sarvottama nara-līlā nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa
gope-veśa, veṇu-kara nava kiśora, nata-vara nara līlāra haya anurūpa

"Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being."

(Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101)

That to the highest limit of the infinite that can, highest conception of the infinite can harmonise all things apparently limited. Apparently limited but that also can be harmonised. The stealing, lying, and other things that are very objectionable, that also can be harmonised by the Absolute Good.

This is more beautiful, this is the most beautiful, that what seems to be defective that also can be harmonised by the Absolute. That is the highest position of harmony which can harmonise even what seems to be unharmonisable, that is also harmonised. There is stealing, lying, deception, all these things. This is filthy, objectionable, evil, but evil things are also utilised in the harmony of the highest order. It is so good, nothing can be bad coming in its contact, like touchstone, whatever touches that turns into gold. Something like that. Whatever comes in His connection that is good, such goodness is the centre.

.....not harmonise here, kṛṣṇa-līlā, full of immorality. But no morality, it is more than moral if it is connected with Absolute Good. His own thing He's stealing, what's bad? What is bad there? Own thing, everything is His own, or everything meant for His satisfaction. So that has finished everything.

That philosopher Hegel told: "Everything, Reality means everything for Itself." So He is the only enjoyer, you have got no right to give any remark, who are you? As long as you think that your position is somewhat substantial and you give some opposition you are nowhere, you are under māyā.

Cārtheṣv abhijñāḥ svarāṭ - (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam (1.1.1), He only knows for what purpose what is meant, what is created, only He is the knower, and He's svarāṭ: He's Absolute. We are to admit that then we can live in a harmonious way. And as long as we shall think we can fight for our right we are nowhere, we are in the jungle, in the jungle civilisation. Everything for Him, then He can be Absolute. And we are also for Him not that He's for us, if we can think completely that we are for Him then we can find only that He's for us also. Otherwise not, He's another party to compete, we make Him another party and we want to compete with Him. But in us there is a spirit within us, and full submission then we can find He's for us, we are for Him perfectly then we can see He's for us. How beautiful, how beautiful to find our pleasure as a part dependent with His pleasure. Our freedom a part under His freedom. In this way connected we can find then we can come in harmony and we'll then be happy, otherwise not.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Suppose some food is necessary, at that time if I go to for writing books that will be luxury, according to the necessity of the place the valuation of the service should be calculated.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

End of side A, 11/12-2-83, start of side B.

Devotee:Nityānanda Prabhu depending on the rasa he's situated in, or depending on the disciple's attraction to a specific rasa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What do you say?

Devotee: He's asking if the guru is a manifestation, the guru, it's in the śāstra, the guru represents Nityānanda or Rādhārāṇī, depending on the rasa. So his question is, depending on the rasa he is situated in, does he represent Nityānanda or Rādhārāṇī or the disciples' taste, the disciples attraction to a specific rasa ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't follow.

Devotee: The disciple is coming with an attraction, perhaps sakhya rasa, maybe madhurya rasa, so

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In his development gradually it will come within, with the awakening of the soul from the identification of the body and mind. Even coming out of the renunciation tendency when in the service. Then the first way, whether in Vaikuṇṭha or in Goloka, first be decided that. If not he's satisfied after staying some time in Vaikuṇṭha, then he will get connection of the higher sādhu, agent, and he will be taken in the higher sphere. In Bṛhad-Bhāgavatāmṛta you might have read it is clearly depicted there. Then gradually he will go somewhere else on the way to Ayodhyā, from there to Dwārakā, from there to Vṛndāvana. And according to the awakening in the heart the environment will be tasteless gradually.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hyderabad Maṭh, he's the ācārya of that Maṭh at present in ISKCON. He had a talk with Purnananda and he told that, "I shall go to see Śrīdhara Mahārāja during Gaura Pūrṇimā ceremony." He showed much cruel attitude towards Madhav Mahārāja in Bombay Maṭh, Vṛndāvana, Vṛndāvana also or Bombay. Very rudely dealt with Madhav Mahārāja and also another, but now a little change has come in him, want to be, he Trivikram Mahārāja to refute, but no necessity, it will be a waste of energy. By Kṛṣṇa's will everything will be, whatever He wants that will come. So I have no idea in the beginning, always I am saying, "wait and see, wait and see, for a year or two, wait and see." Then appealed to them for you to remove your grievance, appealed to them to remove your grievance. Then I told, "then all the affected people combined and give some ultimatum to them, combined ultimatum. If you don't take notice of our grievances then we shall combine and we shall have to do our own way, helping the disappointed, dejected, we shall form an association as a relief work. As a relief work we shall begin in an organised way. Those that are cast away, dissatisfied, disappointed, to collect them together and try to help them, may not go from the path of (Śrīla AC Bhaktivedānta) Swāmī Mahārāja, and Mahāprabhu and Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And that was done gradually within five years or so. Now if the Lord wishes it will thrive, otherwise what He wants that may take place.

I have not a mind to oppose them, organised opposition, no. Swāmī Mahārāja has done, by the grace of the Lord, in a short time such magnitude of great activity, that should not be given any opposition. Only a relief work like work, endeavour, relief work. According to the sukṛti, from the inner adaptability, the awakening which is effected by the circumstantial influence, with the awakening the inner soul as it comes to, comes out with some taste and according to that taste he will adjust himself with the environment, according to his internal taste he will find "these are my own, this paraphernalia, these friends, this type of service, these seem to be my own, very, very tasteful according to taste." You may kill some sort of food and some animals may be let loose, according to their choice they will take the food. So the awakened soul he will be able to select proper environment for him, inner taste will guide him, "this is very charming, this is charming me, attracting my heart. I always seem to be helpless, I can't control me. So much attraction I feel for the particular scene." In that way he will be guided, intuition will direct him, what we say here to be intuition, there also intuition when undiscovered tendency in the self, that will come to him for selection. For acceptance, elimination and acceptance, selection and elimination, that will go with the sādhana, with the process of realisation, elimination and selection, that will come sādhana, slow, gradually it will come.

Why you have come? You are perhaps under Christianity? Mostly. What you have come, why Kṛṣṇa consciousness attracted your soul, your inner heart? You had some sort of conception of some sort of religion but why you left that? So many formalities, such association, so many friends within that circle, why you have left? Who takes you here in Kṛṣṇa consciousness? Where from you have come? Taking some risk, the country, the society, the religious conception, why you have left them and come forward for Kṛṣṇa consciousness as a general? That tendency will again push into the selection of different departments of service in Kṛṣṇa consciousness. "That inner tendency, inner liking, hankering, everything, this sort of service is very pleasing to me, I can't but associate with this sort of service." That will be guide, cooperation with caitya-guru, the guru inside, dictator inside. He's outside and inside. When we cannot catch the dictation of the inside caitya-guru we want some guidance from the mahāntaḥ-guru outside and scripture. And when we reach a certain stage from there our rucīḥ may guide us, our inner dictating tendency, that may guide us like intuition. As birds, beast, they're guided by intuition.

Devotee: Mahārāja, it seems that there are so many of our Godbrothers who are leaving the association of ISKCON, but they're still not coming to hear from you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Devotee: He's saying many devotees have left the ISKCON movement, they are finding reasons not to come.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, it is not very easy thing to swallow, so many difficulties in the way, the previous tendency, and also the possibility of offences in the choice of free will, in the choice of free will. The defect is there, it is not a perfect thing. Sādhana means acceptance and elimination but in there also so many difficulties and disturbances. From the past tendency they do not allow us, "I know it is true but my previous tendency won't allow me to accept and to undergo that penances or pain that is necessary for the service." So many difficulties in upaśākhā, just as: bhāgyavān jīva guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde:

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya
bhakti-latā-bīja

"Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151)

"If a devotee commits an offence at the feet of a Vaiṣṇava while cultivating the creeper of devotional service in the material world, his offence is compared to a mad elephant that uproots the creeper and breaks it. In this way the leaves of the creeper are dried up. The gardener must defend the creeper by fencing it all around so that the powerful elephant of offences may not enter. Sometimes unwanted creepers, such as the creepers of desires for material enjoyment and liberation from the material world, grow along with the creeper of devotional service. The varieties of such unwanted creepers are unlimited. Some unnecessary creepers growing with the bhakti creeper are creepers of behaviour unacceptable for those trying to attain devotional perfection, diplomatic behaviour, animal killing, mundane profiteering, mundane adoration, and mundane importance. All these are unwanted creepers. If one does not distinguish between the bhakti-latā creeper and the other creepers, the sprinkling of water is misused because the other creepers are nourished while the bhakti-latā creeper is curtailed."

(Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.156-160)

The creeper of devotion it becomes a sprout and gradually grows, but Kavirāja Goswāmī says here, the creeper is there, main creeper of devotion, but there are so many weeds, they get that watering, nursing, and so many weeds may also grow along with the main creeper of devotion. What are they? Latāra saṅge uṭhe 'upaśākhā' - 'lābha', 'pūjā', 'pratiṣṭhādi' yata upaśākhā-gaṇa: the question of lābha, gain, very apparent gain, something, mainly position. Otherwise the appreciation creates so many enemies, growth means creates some enemies also, come previous, some new enemies come. Śākhā, lābha, pūjā, to gain maybe for money, to the love of women, then pratiṣṭha, hankering for fame, popularity. So many things may come when one is going up, so many difficulties come on the way to check him, and we are to remove them consciously. So many difficulties come on the way and we are to save us from so many so called enemies of our aspiration with the help of guru, sādhu, and scripture, our own sincerity, and then gradually we shall grow. As much as we shall grow, there also we shall find some other difficulty. So it is not full of roses, the path is not full of roses, you may think it is a difficult path to walk on. Then as much as we go nearer to the goal we become more and more free. In the beginning variegated difficulties come to take us, our previous karma-phala, tendencies of different type they chase us to keep us within their jurisdiction. But when anyhow meeting these difficulties, passing them, conquering them, if we can go and make some progress, go further, as much as we shall go higher, difficulties will be lessened. But still some sort will follow, especially pratiṣṭha, so:

trṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ

sadā hariḥ

"One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa." (Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3)

When wandering in the path we shall be well equipped with these healthy mood, then less opposition we shall have to meet. Tṛṇād api sunīcena, humbler than a blade of grass, so I won't be, won't allow myself to be a cause of hitch with the environment, I won't allow myself to be the cause of any hitch with the environment. First nature, mood, second, sahiṣṇunā, taror api, still if attack comes from outside I shall try to forbear it silently without giving any opposition.

Amāninā, I won't try to have any popularity, any good name or fame I won't hanker. At the same time I shall have to give proper respect to the environment, to everyone that are in the environment outside. We shall offer respect but we don't draw any respect, we won't desire any respect from outside. In this way we shall try to go on our way then there will be less difficulty we'll have to face.

Again when we are in a mission, an organisation, then under the guidance of the higher realised soul then you can face many dangers. When you go to preach so many difficulties you will have to face, but with the help of the higher guidance we can fight, we can subdue them, or we can invite them to be higher leaders. In this way we can give opposition for our position, preaching means offensive for offensive, we shall attack there. At that time we shall not take that we shall give no opposition to the outside, sahiṣṇunā, very patient. Know when we are engaged in preaching as soldiers we shall approach and face opposition and I shall try to disarm him, but if he can't I shall invite him to be disarmed to my guru, to be disarmed. In this way I shall go on carrying the orders of the Vaiṣṇava. There if I'm wounded also by the local environment, but my spiritual stamina will increase by obeying the order of the higher agent, Vaiṣṇava, Hari's pada, and sevā, thereby I shall be more benefited.

Vaiṣṇave pratiṣṭha, I won't want any popularity from the ordinary public, they are all almost insane, but I want position in the eye of the Master, of my Gurudeva: "Yes, he's an encouraging boy, he will prosper." When they will look on me with some affection of encouragement, that will be my capital. Their liking for me, that will be my capital. Their good will, that will be my capital in my way towards, passing my way towards higher realm.

But when we are alone in a solitary place we are going on with chanting the Name, then also of course this trṇād api sunīcena must be strictly observed. But when fighting under a general in a preaching campaign our attitude should be a little different, more towards carrying out the order of the higher spiritual general. That will be more, love, more gaining.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, Badrīnārāyaṇa Prabhu's just arrived.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Badrīnārāyaṇa Prabhu, is it? Suddenly fell from the sky? Where is Anurādhā?

Devotee: She is still in Canada.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Canada? Not well?

Devotee: She's well, but some more tests, examinations have to be done on her. She should come in a month.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So progress is very slow, but improving, but it may take time? She may not join Mahāprabhu's birth celebration?

Devotee: She will try.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Will, try, then you will have to go back again?

Devotee: Only to Calcutta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To take her, or anyone will come?

Devotee: Only to Calcutta, she will come to Calcutta alone, and from Calcutta ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course it will be easy to take her from there. All right, now where from you are coming? From Calcutta? You have not eaten anything, prasādam ? Go wash your hand and feet and take some prasādam then I shall talk with you further. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: We've seen sometimes a disciple, a devotee go in to māyā after Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, previous tendencies always trying to draw back. The acquired tendency when we are wandering in this world, we are acquiring so many, earned as a reaction, whatever action we are doing we are incurring opposite reaction. So they're in very subtle forms stored in our minds and whenever I shall going back, they'll draw from that side. So it is not that whenever I like to do anything mostly I shall do, it is not possible. So many things, attraction from different things going, wherever we go saved for me, you have taken this loan from me and please clear the loan and then we go. So many things in the environment will come and stand in our front, "where do you go? Clear my loan and then I shall allow you to go." Hundreds and thousands may come to trap a devotee, which is not very easy to trap us. We must have strength and above all we must have some divine favour. Mama māyā duratyayā in Bhagavad- gītā, "It is My potency, that māyā potency, illusory potency, misconception, that also backed by Me."

daivī hy eṣā guṇamayī, mama māyā duratyayā mām eva ye prapadyante, māyām etāṁ taranti te

"This "trimodal," supernatural, (alluring) deluding energy of Mine is practically insurmountable. However, those who fully surrender exclusively unto Me can certainly surpass this formidable fantasy."
(Bhagavad-gītā, 7.14)

"So with your sweet will you will dismiss her, that is not possible. If you go to fight with her alone you will be defeated, destroyed without number. But if you have some certificate recommendations from Me, then the māyā, the misunderstanding, will be less engaged and sometimes show the way to that. Mama māyā duratyayā mām eva ye prapadyante, so if you surrender to Me, and that is sincere, then the māyā will not be courageous enough to give opposition to you because she will know that you have got My backing and she will leave you alone. And even when a jīva soul is liberated māyā comes with a very submissive attitude, "Oh, why do you leave me, my lord? Please stay with me, I shall try to give you in all respects. Why do you leave me?"

In this way nitya jīva comes to the status of a Śiva, Mahādeva, when liberated. Then māyā offers him, "Why do you leave, my lord? You stay here with me, I shall serve you, try to satisfy you according to my mind."

In this way.

And when under māyā, within her clutches, he plays with her like anything, can't, don't allow him to go away. So many loans he has got here, there. "From time eternal you are roaming, wandering within my domain and incurring debt. Wherever you are you are eating and you are taking comfort, help from many ways, and that is getting loan from me and that loan must be cleared in (details?) minimum I shall, he has made loan. He is there." So it is not a very easy thing. Only when backed by the divinity, higher power than māyā, then māyā becomes gentler, does not come forward with much difficulty, disturbance. Mām eva ye prapadyante, māyām etāṁ taranti te: "Who comes to surrender to Me, and I accept his surrender, yes, you are Mine, when he's wholesale devoted and surrendered and I accept, yes I accept you, then māyā can't. Because she knows that I have the backing of her Master, her Lord, her Lord is backing."

So the sādḥaka, according to the degree of his surrender, according to the degree of the acceptance coming from higher, recommendation coming from higher, his progress will be such. Not a very easy thing, but it seems to us they get recommendation from above. Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati:

pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati

"O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated." (Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40)

When sincerely one is of same thing, then the Lord is omniscient, He sees everything, He comes for his sympathy and then his way is clear, in accordance with his sincere service. That is the main thing, śaraṇāgati, surrender. Prapanna-jīvanāmṛta, ambrosia, to hear so many stories, tales, of the surrendered devotees we are encouraged to surrender ourselves and we get a chance. In Prapanna-jīvanāmṛta there are many quotations from very dignified sādhus, saints, and if you go through that then you'll get encouragement within. "So many devotees in so many different stages, they're speaking like this, their feeling sentiment is like this." By all this we must feel much encouragement to surrender and if we can surrender encouraged by their example then according to the surrender relief comes from above. Śaraṇāgati, that is the only thing. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written Śaraṇāgati, a very, Bengali book. That is translated also by me. And in Prapanna-jīvanāmṛta I have also collected many valuable passage from many places and put together, classification, systematically. That will help us. One of my Godbrothers, very senior Godbrother, he told me once that, "You have written Śaraṇāgati, every day I read just that." He's perhaps the senior most of all our Godbrothers, Paramānanda. At the age of thirteen he came to our Guru Mahārāja. Paramānanda, he told me, "The others read one chapter of Bhagavad-gītā every day but I read your Prapanna-jīvanāmṛta, one chapter every day. Because so many sayings of so many great devotees are very beautifully arranged and placed there." Perhaps he was the earliest disciple of our Guru Mahārāja, Paramānanda.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

.....here, forty years ago. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, I just have a personal question I would like to ask. I came over here intending to stay till Gaura Pūrnimā and have your association. But I'm wondering lately if I'll be able to stay that long?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, you will have to do some service, and sometimes staying here, sometimes doing service. To stay is not a physical thing, body may be far away but we may stay nearby only by our submission, submission of a soul to another soul means association, and not bodily association, the attitude, the attitude of a soul to another soul that means the real association, not bodily closeness is association.

Mahāprabhu told Rūpa Goswāmī, Rūpa Goswāmī wanted to stay with Mahāprabhu in Purī, Mahāprabhu told: "No, you go to Vṛndāvana, what I say, do that then you will be with Me. But you will come to thrust your own whim on Me, that does not mean that you are coming and living in My association."

So souls' association not barred by any physical distance, material distance, only submission, our attitude of submission, that takes us to a particular soul. Physically he may be far away but he will be near only when he's earnest to receive His direction in that mood, then only he can associate. Physically two may live together but of different type, different thought, different mentality. So it is necessary sometimes to stay. Always eating does not give nourishment, but eating in suitable time, that can give nourishment. So taking something and distributing that, then someone again to take capital and to distribute, in this way, śravaṇa kīrtana, śravaṇa kīrtana, to listen to and to give vent to that feeling. From the higher capitalist to take something and to give to the lower. Again vacant, again to take again, in this way transaction should be made.

So, John Edmondson, what does he say? He may reach here before the last week of February, today's the eleventh or twelfth? Twelfth.

Devotee:the Name of Kṛṣṇa at least once but the following year he says that a Vaiṣṇava is somebody who always chants the Name of Kṛṣṇa. Then I don't understand why he gave two different answers to the same question. Could you please explain?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, I don't remember the narration very clearly, but I have some hazy recollection for he'll repute it. First here the Kulingrami people, they approached him and put the question: "Whom should I understand to be a Vaiṣṇava?" Then he first told that: "Wherever you will find a single Name of Kṛṣṇa in the lips you may take him as Kṛṣṇa's. Then again they put the same question, then he told: "When you find without stopping, incessantly one is taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa, you will know him as a real devotee and you will try to serve him. Third time told: "If you find anyone, a devotee of Kṛṣṇa, by whose sight you feel to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa, then he will be the highest type of devotee of Kṛṣṇa. These three classes he divided, but the Name must be free of offence, not nāmābhāsa or nāma-aparādha. If you find a single Name, real Name, pure spiritual Name, in the lips of any gentleman you will take him as a devotee of Kṛṣṇa, that is kaniṣṭha-adhikārī. And the next higher, intermediate, whenever you find one is taking, try to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa always, then you will try, if you find such person who tries to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa almost always, a tendency, you will try to serve him and there you will be benefited good. And if it is possible in your fortune, fortunately if you can find any Vaiṣṇava such that whenever you come to see him you find excitement in you to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa.

jara dekhili mukhay isay kṛṣṇa-nāma ?

Whenever you come to his association you feel the tendency within you to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa. Then if you find that type of devotee then you will try your best to do anything for him that he says. Three classes of devotion, we find in Bhāgavata in one type:

arcayam eva haraye, pūjām yaḥ śraddhāyehate
na tad-bhakteṣu cānyeṣu, sa bhaktaḥ prākṛtaḥ smṛtaḥ

"A devotee who faithfully worships the Deity, but does not properly respect the Vaiṣṇavas or the people in general is called a materialistic devotee, and is considered to be in the lowest position of devotional service." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.47)

And:

īśvare tad-adhīneṣu, bālīṣeṣu dviṣatsu ca prema-maitri-kṛpopekṣa, yaḥ karoti sa madhyamaḥ

"The devotee in the intermediate stage of devotional service is called a madhyama- adhikārī. He loves the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is a sincere friend to all the devotees of the Lord, shows mercy to the innocent and disregards the envious."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.46)

And:

sarva bhūteṣu yaḥ paśyed, bhagavad bhāvam ātmanaḥ bhūtāni bhagavatya ātmany, eṣa bhāgavatottamaḥ

"The first class devotee sees Kṛṣṇa in everything, and everything within Kṛṣṇa." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.45)

Three classes of devotion according to Bhāgavata is here. And another in Purāṇa:

surarṣe vihitā śāstre harimuddiśa yā kriyā saiva bhaktiriti proktā tayā bhaktiḥ parā bhaved

"O sage amongst the demigods - Nārada! Those activities prescribed in the revealed scriptures for satisfying the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Śrī Hari, are called the regulative principles of bhakti (sādhana-bhakti), by which practising one may attain the highest bhakti (prema bhakti)."

(Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.13) This third class beginner, and the second class:

laukikī vaidhikī vāpi yākriyākriyate mune hari-sevānukulaiva sā kārya bhaktim-icchātā

"O great sage! If one aspires for devotional service one should perform all one's activities, whether they are mundane or Vedic, in such a way that is favourable for the service of Śrī Hari." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.93)

(from Nārada-Pañcarātra) This is middle class, and:

īhā yasya harer dāsyē, karmaṇā manasā girā nikhilāsv apy avasthāsu, jīvan-muktaḥ sa ucyate

"A person acting in Kṛṣṇa consciousness, in the service of Kṛṣṇa, with his body, mind, intelligence and words is a liberated person, even within the material world, although he may be engaged in many so-called material activities."

(Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.2.187)

The highest class, this is also a type, Bhāgavata classification, this Purāṇic classification

83.2.13-15

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In his last days our Guru Mahārāja used to say, every now and then: "Religion is proper adjustment." We are improperly adjusted with the environment, that is the trouble. So:

prāpañcikatayā buddhyā, hari-sambandhi-vastunaḥ mumukṣubhiḥ parityāgo, vairāgyaṁ phalgu kathyate.

anāsaktasya viṣayān, yathārham upayuñjataḥ nirbandhaḥ kṛṣṇa-sambandhe, yuktaṁ vairāgyam ucyate

"That renunciation which is practised by those desirous of impersonal liberation and rejects things in connection with Śrī Hari, thinking them to be material, is called phālgu- vairāgya, external or false renunciation."

"That renunciation in which there is no attachment for the objects of the senses, but in which everything is seen in relationship to Kṛṣṇa and all things are engaged in His service is called yukta-vairāgya, or practical renunciation."

(Padma-Purāṇa) + (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.125-6)

As recommended by the Buddhists, or Śāṅkarites, the salvationists:
"That give up everything and reduce yourself to zero, give up connection with everything, and as in deep sleep, so you are to reduce yourself to that stage, that is the perfect."

But this has been rejected hatefully by the Vaiṣṇava, specially the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, those that are under the direction of Mahāprabhu. This is phalgu, or temporary, phalgu means which is apparent. Near Gayā there is a river whose name is Phalgu. That is, whenever we remove the sand from the bed of the river we can see the current is passing underground, but on the bed it is all sand, all sand, phalgu. So renunciation cannot be complete, it may be, however long time, still it is temporary.

ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ āruhya kṛcchreṇa paraṁ padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādrṭa-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ

(Someone may say that aside from Vaiṣṇavas, who always seek shelter at the Lord's lotus feet, there are those who are not Vaiṣṇavas but who have accepted different processes for attaining salvation. What happens to them? In answer to this question, Lord Brahmā and the other demigods said:)

"O lotus-eyed Lord, although non-devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32)

In Bhāgavatam this śloka, the Brahmā in his hymns, addressing to Kṛṣṇa:

Ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas: "Oh You lotus eyed. Ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta- māninas. Those that can conceive themselves completely disassociated with their environment, completely disassociated, disconnected from the environment, completely liberated, emancipated. Mānina, they think like that, but actually it is impossible. Vimukta- māninas, they think themselves that they're perfectly independent of the environment, as if in sound sleep. But sound sleep is not a permanent thing, the reaction will come from the seed, and the sprout will come again. Inevitable.

Tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ: Their calculation is wrong totally, because they have not counted You, their counting is independent, they and the environment. But You are there to harmonise both, to keep connection with both the parties. They forget that, they can't understand that. If they can find that centre, then they can understand that their relation, the environment and his relation is not in his hand, it is in the hand of the Absolute, and it is unavoidable. It is not in their hand, it depends. And his position is an organic part, not an independent part from the environment, but his position is an organic part. So he and he has common relation there and management comes from there whether united or separated, or how related or not related, all that depends on the centre and not on them. They cannot negotiate independently, or discuss, or adjust independently of Him.

Tvayi asta-bhāvād: Because they do not count You they're on the, between You and them there is a wall, they cannot pierce the wall and understand the barrier, cannot break the barrier and come in connection with You, so they commit such wrong.

Aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ: What is their ultimate position, realistic position is what?

Āruhya kṛcchreṇa param padam: After much trouble they rise up to the highest point of liberation.

Āruhya kṛcchreṇa param padam tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādr̥ta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ: And from there they do not count the upper relation and adjustment with the main centre. All these calculations omitted, so they have to fall back again, hurled down for this mistake.

So we are not to shun, not to abandon anything, but we are to come to a satisfactory, harmless, adjustment. Not only harmless, but the adjustment that can give our fulfilment of life. This is phalgu-vairāgya, and what is yukta-vairāgya, just the opposite.

prāpañcikatayā buddhyā, hari-sambandhi-vastunaḥ mumukṣubhiḥ parityāgo, vairāgyam phalgu kathyate.

"That renunciation which is practised by those desirous of impersonal liberation and rejects things in connection with Śrī Hari, thinking them to be material, is called phālgu- vairāgya, external or false renunciation."

(Padma-Purāṇa) + (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.125)

Apparent, not real, undercurrent, in the very subtle most plane there we cannot detect. So who can detect that, that from revealed plane, from God's, who can see anything and everything, from His, the real prospect, He is coming through Veda, revealed scripture. What is that?

anāsaktasya viṣayān, yathārham upayuñjataḥ nirbandhaḥ kṛṣṇa-sambandhe, yuktaṁ vairāgyam ucyate

"That renunciation in which there is no attachment for the objects of the senses, but in which everything is seen in relationship to Kṛṣṇa and all things are engaged in His service is called yukta-vairāgya, or practical renunciation."

(Padma-Purāṇa) + (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.126)

Only you will have no greed to enjoy the environment, anāsaktasya, you must not have any particular tendency to enjoy it. But the thing is not to be blamed, your enjoyable tendency is to be blamed. So you must withdraw your enjoying tendency, that you are master of the thing, you can enjoy it in your own satisfaction. That sort of tendency must be withdrawn, anāsaktasya viṣayān, yathārham upayuñjataḥ.

And you are required to behave with them properly. And what is that properly? That is in connection with the calculation of the central interest. Neither you can enjoy, nor can you reject. A function between you and the environment is fixed already by His will. Ha ha, you can't change it. That thing belongs to Him, you also belong to Him, and how you are to deal with your endeavour that is also already pre arranged and you can't evade that. Only you are to be in re-adjusted position.

Anāsaktasya viṣayān, no local interest should be imposed. Yathārham upayuñjataḥ, just proper, independent of you and He, the central, the real function between, relation between, that must be awakened, a real transaction. Yathārham upayuñjataḥ nirbandhaḥ kṛṣṇa-sambandhe, and what is the key to that, the test, the criterion? kṛṣṇa-sambandhe, how you can utilise the environment for the service of Kṛṣṇa. You are a servant and here is the object of service, you can't reject that. You are bound to utilise the object for the service of your Lord. You are a servant and this is the object of service, it is not meant for you. At the same time it is not so that you can reject them and you can live independently without anything, this is also artificial life. It is not truth. So whatever is helpful for the service of the Lord, we must take care about those things that they may not be lost, may not be missed.

What is necessary for the service of Kṛṣṇa, we must be attentive to the protection of that thing. That indifference, to protect things, which may be utilised in the service of Kṛṣṇa, that is no devotion. Sometimes we may think we have adopted the way to get out of this mundane world. Why should we be so much particular about these things? As much as possible we shall try, to keep things that are necessary for the service of Kṛṣṇa, properly. Proper attention should be given, to anything and everything, only for the purpose of the service of Kṛṣṇa.

Both exploitation and renunciation, both is bad, both is unnatural, both is unwholesome. And no fulfilment can be reached by either method, exploitation or renunciation. We are to be initiated in this angle of vision of life. This is Goloka. Everything may be harmonised by Him. He's so good, so great. Nothing coming in His contact can be wrong, it is only wrong when it is in contact with things that are defective. So nothing, everything is all right, if it is in connection, one condition, if for Kṛṣṇa. Everything is for Him. Everything is for Him, when deviation from that point, there is anomaly, derangement, and reaction, and misery. Misery is the outcome of māyā, that miscalculation, misrepresentation, miscalculation. It comes as the outcome of miscalculation.

And proper calculation, and to follow that is devotion. And that very life, nature is dedication, and dedication towards the centre, and the Absolute centre, and nothing less than that, that will fetch good value. Nothing less than Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead. Other demigod's they're also local, their position is also provincial, local.

Kṛṣṇas tu bhagavān svayam.

ete cāmśa-kalāḥ puṁsaḥ, kṛṣṇas tu bhagavān svayam indrāri-vyākulaṁ
lokaṁ, mṛdayanti yuge yuge

"All the above-mentioned incarnations are either plenary portions or portions of the plenary portions of the Lord, but Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa is the original Personality of Godhead. All of them appear on planets whenever there is a disturbance created by the atheists. The Lord incarnates to protect the theists." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.3.28)

The Absolute Reality the Beauty. Everything is justified when it is meant for Him, His satisfaction. Then there is one thing we have to understand, and we must try to follow, this is devotion. Goloka. Criterion is this, and this is the test, we shall try to examine, how far, it is meant for Kṛṣṇa, for His satisfaction. Of course that depends on our realisation, stage of realisation, otherwise anything we may think, "Oh this is for Kṛṣṇa's satisfaction, Kṛṣṇa is satisfied." I have done something and I may say, utter the words: "Yes Kṛṣṇa is satisfied." Ha, my mere statement won't be exactly what is with Him. The Absolute position is there and we are to realise our position, that is sādhana. By the help of the saints, as well as the scriptures, revealed, and saint and scripture of different types.

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya
bhakti-latā-bīja

"Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service."

(Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151)

It is not a relative thing, it is absolute and all relative positions, we shall have to learn to eliminate, and understand what is absolute. What is absolute, how it is absolute? We are to learn that, gradually, by progressing in a proper line, proper method, accepting sādhana. This śravaṇa, varaṇa, sādhana, āpana, prapanna, five stages in our development of our realisation. And both the scripture, sādhu, śāstra, guruvarga.

Three things must come to prove that one thing. The saint, opinion of a saint, the scripture, and ones hearty response. Hṛdayenābhyanujñāto (Manu-saṁhita 2.1): The approval of the inner heart, with the opinion of the revealed scripture, and also which we'll be given, directed, or dictation of a proper saint. And the saint can be found only by the help of the scripture, and the scriptures meaning also will come from the saint, proper. They're inter-dependent, we are to face that, the ultimate guidance, our sukṛti. Brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva: It is our good fortune, if we acquire sukṛti, that will guide me. Birds of the same feather flock together.

It will carry me towards proper place. I'll be able to meet that and by comparison I'll be able to understand what degree of truth is where, the conception, the truth, absolute truth, and relative truth. What is the criterion of the Absolute Truth? How it is absolute? All these things to be understood by the reference of the scriptures, sādhu, and one's inner approval, heart approval.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Every step we are doing that, always eliminating and accepting, elimination and nomination, acceptance. Every time we are in progress, dismissing something and accepting another thing, always. This is progress, this is life, this is dynamic in character. And sometimes also if we are cursed, we may go down, more to down, down, down, that also happens in this world. Always everything going up, and no setback? It is not so, there is setback also. So a caution is given there in the śāstra, the aparādha, the error, the negligence, the idleness, so many things that may push us down. We must be cautious of the fact.

It is not a question of blind faith. The understanding is also possible, to apply here. And that will be astonished, your understanding will be astonished finding new things, things of new order. Gītā says:

āścaryavat paśyati kaścīd enam, āścaryavad vadati tathāiva cānyaḥ āścaryavac cainam anyaḥ śṛṇoti, śrutvāpy enam veda na caiva kaścīd

"Some see the soul as astonishing, some describe him as astonishing, and some hear of him as astonishing, while others, even after hearing about him, cannot understand him at all." (Bhagavad-gītā, 2.29)

The most wonderful, your own self is also wonderful, what to speak of Paramātmā, Nārāyaṇa, and Kṛṣṇa. Your own soul, your personification proper, that is also of wonderful conception. Āścaryavat paśyati kaścid enam, when you come to conceive one's soul: "Oh how wonderful type of existence it is. So diabolically opposed to this material and mental things." Āścaryavat paśyati, and when one begins to give description about the soul, he's also charmed, enchanted. "What am I saying? Can I say? Can I give vent to it properly, about the soul proper which I myself am?" āścaryavac cainam anyaḥ śṛṇoti, those come to hear, they're also astounded. "What is this? Such strange things we have never heard before. Such thing is possible? Ātmā, eternal, all knowledge, all pure and eternal. Without food it can continue. A member of the eternal plane. How is it possible? And it is an understanding principle, an atom that can understand himself and that can understand others also."

Our Guru Mahārāja used to give some example, many a time I have mentioned. A boy is born in a dark cell, then someone has come to tell him: "You come out and I shall show you the sun, it is very wonderful, the sun."

Then the boy will take a light, a candle with him. "No, no, why do you take the candle?"

"Without candle how can I see the sun?"

"No, no, to see the sun candle is not necessary."

"You are be-fooling me, without the help of candle nothing can be seen, and you say the sun can be seen by the sun, without help of candle, I don't trust."

Then he'll be forcibly taken.

"Oh, sun is seen by his own light, not only that, sun can show the whole thing, me, you, others, all things can be shown by the sun only. Is it possible?"

ātmā parijñāna-mayo vivādo, hy astīti nāstīti bhidārtha-niṣṭhaḥ vyartho 'pi naivoparameta pumsām, mattaḥ parāvṛtta-dhiyām sva-lokāt

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.22.34 says:) Ātmā is self effulgent, it can show itself, it can show others. Only devoid of it, we are suffering from suspicion, and half knowledge, and ignorance. But when we can come to ātmā, we can feel ātmā by his own self. And at the same time by the standard of that light, we can comparatively know what is non ātmā, what is not soul. That also can be understood indirectly by feeling the position of ātmā.

ātmā bhava dusyajya srotavbadhi jnatabadhi jnasitavbha ?

The Upaniṣad's clarion call, calls of out: "What are you doing, what are you busy in? Give up all these. Try to find out who you are. You are ātmā and ātmā is worth, every movement, you can command every worth, commanding every drop of energy, to know it it is so full and so dire necessity in you. What do you do? First give up everything.

Oh, you, why have you engaged in wild goose chasing? Stop, come to know who are you, you're ātmā, you're soul. All the energy must be utilised in this. aye dusyajya ?

You must exert to see. mantaba ? And if any mental ātmā bhava dusyajya mantaba ?

With whole of your mind try to capture, to think it. srotavba ? If anything to be heard, then hear about soul, your soul, you.

nidhi jnasitavbha ?

Any concentrated energy, if anywhere to be invested it is only in this, for this campaign, in searching for your own self. First the beginning, the start of your energetic movement must begin from here. Try to understand you, your own self, your own ātmā, of what nature it is. Then you are to seek out what things will be necessary for the upliftment or development for that thing, otherwise it is all false engagement. Know who you are and what is the demand, then you'll know ātmā wants Paramātmā. He's hankering to come in connection with Paramātmā. Higher type of ātmā there is, and that is generally said the plane of God, but partial. Then there is, the yogīs are after that. Then there is devotion of Nārāyaṇa, Vasudeva, Brahmā, Nārāyaṇa. And supreme most position is held by Kṛṣṇa consciousness, Kṛṣṇa conception. The Autocrat. Absolute Good. Reality the Beautiful. The beauty, the sweetness, the charm, all charming. Ha ha ha. Struck dumb, seeing His charming, the centre of charm. Attraction, attraction is charming, beauty is charming everything and has made possible, cosmos out of chaos. Charm, beauty, that has given the very life of cosmos. Kṛṣ - ṇa. Attract, attraction, and He has reaction, to satisfaction, attraction and satisfaction, that is the coming and going, attraction and giving, it's rendering satisfaction. Kṛṣ - ṇa, Kṛṣ means to attract, and ṇa means dealing in satisfaction, action reaction. The Absolute centre. That is Kṛṣṇa, with His paraphernalia.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi

Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, if someone is attracted for a long time to a particular rasa but is not fully satisfied, then can he aim for another rasa ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha ha. No question of selection, rather it is automatic. Ha ha, ha ha. They can't hold him back. The inner tendency, attraction will be such they can't avoid. His own nature, what to do? It is not a dress that I shall reject something and take up another, put on, not like a garment, putting on and putting off. It's coming from within out of necessity, the adjustment cannot but come.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Nitāi Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi.

Mahāprabhu was satisfied with Emperor Pratāprudra when He found that the king has engaged himself in a very mean service, that of a sweeper. The king is doing the service of a sweeper attracted Him most. He Himself, when gaṇḍicā mārjana (cleansing of the Gaṇḍicā Temple), Jagannātha will come to Gaṇḍicā, Mahāprabhu with His party, in His utariyam ? He's collecting the dust and He's throwing it outside, then washing. Jagannātha will come.

So nothing is neglected but we are attracted, when with those menial service, we have got much, we can attract the attention of the high, high. So nothing is insignificant when it is connected with Him. Still there is gradation, gradation is there. Sincere beginning of the service must have always tendency to go towards lower side. But by Kṛṣṇa's will they will be accepted for higher satisfaction. But their, the devotee's tendency will always be to go to the mean services, so called, not anything is mean, but so called mean.

Śrīla Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī says: "I want the service of a servant, and I want to show my reverence towards sakhya, friendly service.

sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu namo 'stu nityam dāsyāya te mama raso
'stu raso 'stu satyam

The sakhya-rasa. The confidential service, I am not fit for that, I always try to revere that, to show my reverence, and I shall try to, if possible, if accepted, to do the meanest service. If I get that engagement, I am rewarded more than anything."

So full satisfaction, that should be the attitude. But Kṛṣṇa will take him up: "No, do, to serve Me in this way." Then what to do, we have to do that. According to the rasa it is such, for us. And those that are eternal friends, they won't go that side, won't admit. Ha, ha. A part and parcel, and surcharged with Yoga-Māyā, with the spirit of that particular service of that particular level, surcharged, injection by Yoga-Māyā. And Kṛṣṇa is pleased by that aggression, by the aggression of the friends, He's pleased, when it is manipulated by Yoga-Māyā. But we should not be puffed up in that way, we're beginners, not nitya- siddha, sādhana-siddha line. None realised have come to realise. So our nature should be favoured that they're showing Dāsa Goswāmī Prabhu. Always try to go downwards.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Nityānanda Prabhu, He broke the daṇḍam into three parts. "Mahāprabhu My Lord, He will carry you daṇḍa, I won't tolerate, I can't tolerate that My Lord will carry you in His hand." And some say that He broke it into three parts, into tri-daṇḍam, not eka-daṇḍam of māyāvādī, but tri-daṇḍa of the Vaiṣṇava sannyāsīn.

Any questions?

Devotee: Did Nityānanda Prabhu and Caitanya Mahāprabhu appear at the same time, or was Nityānanda Prabhu older, did He appear before?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That you will find in the books. Nityānanda Prabhu was almost twelve years older than Mahāprabhu, nearly. And Acyutānanda was that Advaita's last son, youngest son, he was more younger, Acyutānanda. When Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa and went to visit Śantipura, at that time Acyutānanda was about five years old. So nearly nineteen years junior than Mahāprabhu, and Nityānanda twelve years elder than Mahāprabhu. Thirty one years older is Nityānanda Prabhu than Acyutānanda, Acyutananda's the youngest son of Advaita Ācārya.

What makes you to ask this Acyutānanda and Nityānanda's age?

Devotee: No it was not Acyutānanda, it was Caitanya Mahāprabhu and Nityānanda Prabhu, because I read in Adi-līlā.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nearly twelve years elder, Nityānanda Prabhu. When Nityānanda came to Navadvīpa, at that time, twelve years. Mahāprabhu began saṅkīrtana, and Nityānanda Prabhu came here, for twenty two years, ten years or twelve years elder, something like that.

Nityānanda after visiting all the holy places of pilgrimage, then He joined Navadvīpa līlā. And He was disciple of Mādhavendra Purī, Godbrother of Īśvara Purī, Mahāprabhu's Gurudeva. Nityānanda Prabhu, Advaita Prabhu, They're all Godbrothers to Īśvara Purī, whose disciple was Mahāprabhu, Śrī Caitanya Deva. This is all shown to us. Līlā.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, it's said that Swāmī Mahārāja he was attracted to sakhya-rasa, he was writing as if his līlā was sakhya-rasa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sakhya-rasa. I do not know what he has written, but I found it such position from his only one letter, what he wrote when he was going to America.

Devotee: Yes, that's the poem.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That letter has been given to me and I read that, and from there I could suppose that his position, he's satisfied with that sakhya līlā. He mentions there that his Gurudeva is Rādhārāṇī, madhurya-rasa, and he's asking Kṛṣṇa's help, in his discharging the duty which is ordered by Rādhārāṇī, given by Rādhārāṇī to him. He says that: "Rādhārāṇī will be satisfied if You help me in my carrying out the orders of Rādhārāṇī." For the preaching purpose he's begging the help of Kṛṣṇa in his campaign, because Rādhārāṇī will be satisfied and his Gurudeva is representing Rādhārāṇī. That is mentioned there. From there I conjecture. And what playfully he has mentioned there, "After finishing this job, I shall again join Your Vṛndāvana līlā as a friend and we shall play to our highest sentiment, in this way." There from it may be conjectured that his acme of serving pleasure is within sakhya-rasa, a supposition.

Devotee: So many devotees, disciples, that come to Swāmī Mahārāja, they have some, possibly, attraction for the Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not necessarily, all that will come under him, they will be forced to enter into sakhya-rasa, it is not that. Maybe in madhura-rasa, further, he may come with another mūrti, another dress, garment, attitude. So:

ācāryam mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta karhicit na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ

"One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27) + (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46)

The ācārya-ship is not fixed in any type of devotee. We are requested to understand that oneness in ācārya-ship. "I am ācārya, I am ācārya indefinite. In particular man I can approach in a particular way. I am infinite, indefinite."

End of side A... side B... 13,15-2-83

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not all of a sudden that the highest realising sentiment will grow in one's heart. Gradually he will feel within himself, according to the degree of awakenment he will be able to find who is he properly. In Sanātana Goswāmī's Bṛhat Bhāgavatāmṛta the Gopa Kumār is gradually, in accordance with his awakenment of the inner heart and sentiment he's led to different planes of life. But not feeling satisfaction again some connection from the higher, and he's taken to the higher plane next. Again some time he's staying there. After some time some dissatisfaction came in him, and another agent came from another higher position and he's taken there. In this way, gradually, according to his own inner awakenment, he's taken to different, higher planes. It is found there in Bṛhat Bhāgavatāmṛta.

Devotee: Mahārāja, in the Bhāgavatam, in the eleventh canto, and also in the seventh canto, the sannyāsa of dharma, that is mentioned, it seems that one has to go to a forest and he stays in one place for only one day.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is external, that is external, one day in every place, kuṭīcaka, bahūdaka, that different stages. First kuṭīcaka, he will construct a cottage and he will live there for some time.

Then bahūdaka, the next, second stage, he won't fix himself in a particular place but he will take different types of water. Bahūdaka means many types of variegated waters, that he will wander, to any and every place and go on practising his own life.

Then haṁsa, the next, third stage will be haṁsa. Haṁsa means, water and milk mixed together, but the swan can take out the milk leaving the water intact. So he will be sāru- grahi ? Whatever he may mix, what society he may mix, he must try to take the very gist of truth, leaving that which is unnecessary, in the society. That is haṁsa.

Then paramahaṁsa, the highest stage is paramahaṁsa, that wherever he may stay, he will be all right. No external environment will be able to affect him or to change him. The highest position. These are the, and again more than that it is said sometimes that avadhūta of the fifth stage, at that time he's particularly seen to mix with the filthy atmosphere, but that can never affect him, that is the fifth stage. In this way it has been mentioned, in general, independent of Godhead.

Sannyāsa is of three kinds, vidvat, vibisva, and narottama. Vidvat sannyāsī has been described of such a degree, that when one can understand fully, he even leaves his body, and gets relief of that bondage, immediately, that is vidvat. And vibisva gradually he wants to accept different stages and pass through that and go to the highest realisation. And there is another, narottama - hṛdi kṛtvā hariṁ gehāt pravrajat:

yaḥ svakāt parato vecha, jāta-nirveda ātmavān hṛdi kṛtvā hariṁ gehāt, pravrajat sa narottamaḥ

"A narottama, or first class human being, is one who awakens and understands, either by himself or from others, the falsity and misery of this material world and thus leaves home and depends fully on the Personality of Godhead residing within the heart."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.13.27)

He wants Hari and finding in his heart, he gives up his family life, and wanders here and there, but Hari, in his heart he wants. And naturally whenever there is a congregation of the saints, he stays there.

mac-cittā mad-gata prāṇā, bodhayantaḥ parasparam kathayantaś ca mām nityaṁ, tuṣyanti ca ramanti ca

"My devotees mix together, talk about Me, and exchange thoughts that give consolation to their hearts. And they live as if this talk about Me is their food. It gives them a high kind of pleasure, and they find that when they talk about Me among themselves, they feel as if they are enjoying My presence." (Bhagavad-gītā, 10.9)

The sādhu saṅga, so the summary of everything for a Vaiṣṇava sannyāsī is this, that he will mix with the sādhu, the Vaiṣṇava saints. And what is the mixing with the sādhu? That is serving him. In other words he will serve under his Guru. That will be the most profitable. If such high Guru is not in his conception, such guide, high guide, then also within the equal association, he will try to maintain the higher thoughts, divine, within his heart, by such activity. And the association means a form of service, serving attitude. Without serving attitude, we cannot enjoy a saint, a Vaiṣṇava. To associate with a Vaiṣṇava means to serve a Vaiṣṇava. To associate with anything holy, that means to serve. Otherwise if I exploit, I want to get some pleasure from the environment, I shall have to go down. Serving spirit must be maintained in ones heart, and that will be dynamic and gradually lift him from higher to higher. And a static aim is with the māyāvādī's, that is different order. They want to have a temporary life full of rest that has already been discarded. That is impossible, temporary it may be possible, the slumber, the samādhi, but the samādhi will break down one day.

In Rāmānanda Rāya, those that aspire after highest salvation, they have ultimately come to be a fossil. They're unconscious, fossil is also unconscious, not conscious of his own soul, fossil. Stava deha in Rāmānanda Rāya, he may become a Himalaya, or an Alps, long, long, time, sleeping there, no awakening of any consciousness. And deva deha, the demigods, there they enjoy and the punya, the merit is finished, then again come here to work to begin his life fresh, with fresh prospects.

.....

Devotee: In the second stage of sannyāsa.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kuṭīcaka, bahūdaka, haṁsa, paramahaṁsa, and then again, there the sections divided, vidvat, vibisva, and narottama, three kinds of sannyāsa, vidvat, vibisva, and narottama. Again every sannyāsa subdivided into four stages, kuṭīcaka, bahūdaka, haṁsa, paramahaṁsa. Vidvat sannyāsa does not come under division, because when it is taken it is finished. He thinks himself in such a sweet position he at once leaves his body and vanishes, vidvat. He does not want to, this is of course not Vaiṣṇava sannyāsa, he does not want to lose any time here, he's so disturbed with the present atmosphere he does not want to live here even for a second, finishes himself. This is not very optimistic line. Vibisva, he comes under regulation. Vibisva means itcha? Not finally fit, but he wants to be fit. In vibisva sannyāsa four sections, kuṭīcaka, bahūdaka, haṁsa, paramahaṁsa.

The first to settle in a particular place, with some simple and humble life, and to go on with the mantram. And bhikṣa, taking food by bhikṣa. Not talking much with anyone, or mixing with the society at large. This is the first stage.

In the second stage, he will try to mix with the society, not only in that place, but he will have an experience of the wide world, as much as possible. And come in connection with different classes of men and to test what he has done, whether it is right or wrong. He must consolidate his position by meeting and coming in contact with different forces, anti as well as favourable and unfavourable. karikṣa ? Test, the life of test, stage.

The third haṁsa, haṁsa means, he will try his best to draw what is the essence of every teachings, every book, every society, every community, every different conceptions of theism. All these, he may contact, but he will try to draw the essence. The third stage.

And fourth stage is the stage of ones well established position. He may do this, that, anything, but he's settled in his idea what he got previously from his Guru, perfectly undisturbed, he may pass his time. Whatever things may come from outside, can't disturb him in such position, he will live and then one day he will pass away.

And another is narottama sannyāsa. They do not care for all these things, formalities, but their simple thing that they will take shelter to Hari, to Nārāyaṇa, who is within, who is within. Thinking of Nārāyaṇa he will wander here, there, tīrtha. But his main thing will be the worship of Nārāyaṇa, whether in Vṛndāvana, Purī, or some such place, Ayodhyā, according to his conception. In this way is a devotional class. He may be a tridaṇḍī - hr̥dī kṛtvā hariṁ gehāt, pravrajat (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.13.27). Will take shelter under the holy feet of Hari, and he will leave the worldly life, and will wander here, there, everywhere, taking the Name of the Lord, and mixing with the devotees of the Lord, in this way. This is the general conception of the sannyāsa. This is some negative side, the positive side will be in the case of narottama sannyāsa.

When we take particularly to this system, in a practical way, we want to deal it very successfully. Then we are to find that anyhow we must come in connection with the service of the Hari, Guru, Vaiṣṇava. Merely the recollection of Hari is not forceful enough to expedite our realisation. Something positive should be done.

Just as Prahlāda Mahārāja told, when Nārada went to see after Mahādeva, went to see the positive participation in devotional line to Prahlāda. Prahlāda told: "What do I do Devāśī? You know everything about me. I am simply trying to recollect my Lord. Recollection, remembrance, but remembrance is not enough, it is very weak connection with Hari. Mere remembrance, it is śānta-rasa, may be found and taken and counted as śānta-rasa. A very weak but favourable position towards the service. But actual service of Hari, always to be busy to find out how we can satisfy Him, that is the laudable thing, and I have not got that temperament. If you want really a devotion of Hari, just go to Hanumānji, he's surcharged with the spirit of serving Rāmacandra. How wonderful he did it. So I am in weak position. It is his grace that I am not engaged in any worldly thoughts, but very meagre and lower order, not very intense remembrance I have got about Hari."

So the mere connection with Hari is not enough. That is good but from there we have to enter into the serving stages. And there also are classification and intensity also. Really we come to face the opportunity, by taking sannyāsa, exclusively giving up everything, and the whole time service of the Hari. Not mere recollection or remembrance only, but actual service to satisfy Him, that is necessary. So dāśya, sakhya, vātsalya, madhura, that will come gradually in the retinue there after.

Do you follow? Who asked this question?

Sannyāsa, the renunciation has been described in this way. All these things you will find in Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhara perhaps, vidyat, vibisva, narottama sannyāsa.

Devotee: What is the spiritual significance of taking water from different parts of the world? You said the other day that in the bahudaka stage the sannyāsī takes water from different parts of the world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is not very important for our section. Bahudaka, udaka means water, bahudaka means multifarious types of waters. The significance is that he will wander in many places and drink many different types of water. That is only a connection, to show, really, water is not the important thing that he will drink. But many variegated natures of water means various countries he will move, that is mixed with various types of men and culture, and consolidate his own position, whether he is moving on rightly or wrongly. That is the purpose internally.

Devotee: Mahārāja, for the Vaiṣṇava's, what is the position of bābājī ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bābājī, that position was given by Mahāprabhu, was taken by Sanātana Goswāmī, just in presence of Mahāprabhu. Bābājī vesa, was first taken by Sanātana Goswāmī in Benares in front of Mahāprabhu, and Mahāprabhu gave His consent, it is supposed. That is considered to be above the sannyāsa, above. That is generally considered the paramahaṁsa beda ? sannyāsa āśrama.

nāhaṁ vipro na ca nara-patir nāpi vaiśya na śūdro nāhaṁ varṇī na ca gr̥ha-patir no vana-stho yatir vā kintu prodyan-nikhila-paramānanda-pūrṇāmṛtābdher gopī-bharttuḥ pada-kamalayor dāsa-dāsānudāsaḥ

"I am not a priest, a king, a merchant, or a labourer (brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra); nor am I a student, a householder, a retired householder, or a mendicant (brahmacārī, gr̥hastha, vānaprastha, sannyāsī). I identify myself only as the servant of the servant of the servant of the lotus feet of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the Lord of the gopīs, who is the personification of the fully expanded (eternally self-revealing) nectarean ocean that brims with the totality of divine ecstasy." (Rūpa Goswāmī's Padyāvalī, 63) (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.80)

Nāhaṁ vipro na ca nara-patir nāpi vaiśya na śūdro nāhaṁ varṇī means brahmacārī, na ca gr̥ha-patir - gr̥hastha, no vana-stho - vānaprastha, yatir vā - sannyāsa. These four stages in āśrama. Now nāhaṁ vipro - I am not within that, I am above. Even a sannyāsī he has got some sort of position. He is also to follow some regulations, some particular forms of life.

But bābājī, when they are considered to be above any sort of law, no position in the society. The sannyāsī have got some position in the society, as a general guide of the society, Guru. But bābājī, they do not care even for anything. They cut off all connection with the society, and they're given wholesale towards Vraja Vṛndāvana sevā, in Vṛndāvana, and in parakīya bhajan also they're engaged.

But our Guru Mahārāja (Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura), he saw that the imitationists, they are accepting the dress of bābājī, but they're not fit for that, for the standard. So in the dress of bābājī, their bābājī dress is being misused, and in the name of that dress they're going on with adulteration. The sahujiya. There are so many different outcomes of that degraded bābājī section.

They're not fit for that high position, but take the dress, and go to imitate the thing, but it is impossible for them to catch the real spirit of life. So they degrade and create so many pests in the society, and create a bad name for Rūpa and Sanātana, and Mahāprabhu, and Gauḍīya Sampradāya at large.

So he laid stress in this sannyāsa. "You first prepare yourself, that the head of the society, as a teacher of the society. Then when such high time will come, then you may see to take to that position, if you find necessary. That does not depend on external dress but internal improvement. Really that thing depends on internal improvement of ones heart or realisation and does not depend on the external dressing." So this way Prabhupāda (Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura) came and created this sannyāsa, tridaṇḍa sannyāsa, Vaiṣṇava sannyāsa, and to preach that bābājī, our guru above us.

"And we do not recognise you, anyone taking the dress of bābājī, no, you are not bābājī. Only external dress cannot give you the honour of the post of bābājī. But you are all hypocrites, and you are dis-serving the society and the Vaiṣṇava proper. We don't care, you all go down, don't venture to take the dress, to pollute the dress of Rūpa and Sanātana, never do this."

This is the warning of our Guru Mahārāja. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So Prabhupāda (Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura) introduced the sacred thread, become a brāhmaṇa first, brahma-loka, then virāja, brahma-loka then paravyoma, Vaiṣṇava place. First become a brāhmaṇa, daiva-brāhmaṇa, try to acquire the quality of a brāhmaṇa, and have the sacred thread, then above this the Vaiṣṇava, crossing brahma-loka.

But they put this kopin, the bābājī class they do not use, they are afraid of using this brahma-sutra, but they use kopin. But kopin, Guru Mahārāja told is higher, higher, kopin means to stop all mundane sensual inclination to the utmost, so don't venture to take kopin, as Rūpa and Sanātana did. Before that try to, in a position of a brāhmaṇa, take the sacred thread if you have courage and real sincerity to go towards spiritual world, then come forward and take sacred thread, and red robe. And then make some substantial progress in the spiritual line, then you will find yourself quite safe, in the spiritual line, not only that but established in Kṛṣṇa līlā in Vṛndāvana. Then you may take the honour of that dress of Rūpa and Sanātana, otherwise to dishonour them, you should not imitate that dress. That was the temperament of our Guru Mahārāja, and he inaugurated this tridaṇḍa sannyāsa into the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava school. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Once I was in Vṛndāvana, one educated brahmacārī, he took bābājī in Kaliban? I had a talk with him.

"You don't have any respect for the bābājī's, and we are in the line of Rūpa and Sanātana."

Then I told him: "We think that we are within āśrama of sannyāsa, that is servant of Rūpa and Sanātana, of the bābājī section real. We pose ourselves to be the servants of the bābājī."

"That is well and good."

"But we do not know that and at the same time you should know that we cannot give you people the position of that bābājī. We do not accept you as bābājī, you are intruder, you're intruder, forcibly entered physically, the plane. Fools rush in where angels fear to tread, your position is such."

Then he was infuriated. "You don't care for us, yes?" "No."

Then that man who posed as a bābājī, he was caught red handed. And he himself left that position, came back to family life. Not exactly family life, but giving up this bābājī vocation, he came to the town and he was educated, he began to coach students and thereby to earn something and eat. It is such.

Gaura Haribol.

It is a hard nut to crack. Not imitation can take us there, but by the grace of the Vaiṣṇava, the inner awakening, inner awakening, that can only be affected by the service of Kṛṣṇa and His servants, His devotees. One must earnestly try to achieve that sort of stage really and not outwardly. Proper realisation is necessary, the conviction, the faith, the faith will take us to the complete realisation, the faith.

A man, a friend, died somewhere, news came, I began to cry. Why? I don't see that he's dying here, my friend is dead, dying, but only through faith I began crying, my friend has died. Through faith from far away, the feeling may arouse and many things may be done through faith. So for the farthest world, the faith, faith is a positive thing, it is not imagination. Imagination is worthless, faith is not imagination. It is more substantial than anything. What we experience here, that is futile, that is nothing, that is illusion. What we feel, what we say concretely, realisation of the world, the concrete world, that is all hallucination. But faith is such that it can show in a very subtle way the truth, more than mathematical calculation. The computer is showing so many things beyond the reach of our senses, by mathematics.

Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

So Giri Mahārāja has been bitten on the face while sleeping. Who will come?

Swāmī Mahārāja told that he is the most wretched person, in Bengali he told, Swāmī Mahārāja. I told Tamal Kṛṣṇa. So that he told. Bengali word, not goonda, but something like desperate, the Bengali word I'm trying to remember.

of a soldier, he has committed something wrong and he must be punished. But (Queen) Victoria, she did not like to deal the first case with punishment. She wanted to release him. But the advocate on the other side told: "That thrice he's already forgiven, thrice, so this is the fourth time, you can't forgive him."

But still Victoria is only pushing, pressing: "What you say everything is against him, but can't you insight any instance in his favour?"

Then that gentleman, he could understand her position and told: "His house of life is said to be good, household life."

Then Victoria: "Then this time also, when some goodness can be traced in him, so this time also forgive him."

I incited this example when I requested the committee, they forgive this time, first time, all them, the Hansadhūta, then this Jaya Tīrtha Mahārāja, Tamal Kṛṣṇa and some other.

.....

I am taking a portion of his energy, consciously or unconsciously of him, and I'm connecting with the service of Kṛṣṇa, through a devotee. So he's surely being benefited in his life eternal. This accumulated, this energy utilised, through some devotees, that will be accumulated and when sufficient in parimarm ? in magnitude it will attract him towards the Lord, it will create śraddhā in him, faith in him.

So our Guru Mahārāja, previously told that: "I want one lākh of paisa, pence."

(one lākh is 100,000 - paisa - a monetary unit of India and Pakistan worth one hundredth of a rupee). Then when one gentleman came here with three lākh of rupees to construct a temple, one of his sannyāsa disciples told him: "Gurudeva, you wanted one lākh of paisa, but three lākh of rupees have been given by one single man."

Then he answered: "I did not want from one person. One lākh of paisa means from one lākh of men, creating sukṛti in at least one lākh of persons."

So to collect, apparently it may seem that I am a beggar and he is a giver, but really I am giver under the direction of the Lord and he is beggar, I am giving him unconsciously some, injecting some goodness in him, sukṛti. That is nirguṇa, nirguṇa means transcendental, a drop of transcendental devotion, I am giving him in return, by utilising his energy unconscious of him, I have put in some service of the Lord. This is the underlying principle of begging from door to door or any place, that they're using the mortal world, their energy is being more and more mortalised. But I am giving some connection with immortal, through his energy and that is sukṛti, and sukṛti when sufficiently accumulated, creates śraddhā.

bhaktis tu bhagavad-bhaktasaṅgena parijāyate

sat-saṅgaḥ prāpyate pumbhiḥ sukṛtaiḥ pūrvva-saṅcitaiḥ

"Actually we can recognise a sādhu by sukṛti. Apparently we can know him from the śāstras, the scriptures, because the śāstra helps us to know who is a sādhu, and the sādhu gives us the interpretation of the śāstra. So sādhu and śāstra are interdependent, but the sādhu holds the more important position and the śāstra has the secondary position. The living śāstra is the sādhu, but to know who is Guru, who is sādhu, we are to consult the descriptions given about them in the scriptures. The symptoms of the sādhu, both of the Guru as well as the disciple, have been written in the Bhāgavatam, in the Gītā and in the Upaniṣads."
(Bṛhan-Nāradya Purāṇa)

Sukṛti will bring us to the association of a sādhu, no other way to come to the feet of the real sādhu, only sukṛti can come (previously?) So for that, and also for us, to give everything for the service of Kṛṣṇa, that is our name, fame, everything. Our credit, everything we should devote to Kṛṣṇa, wholesale. "I shall devote to Kṛṣṇa, I shall do anything and everything for His satisfaction, through His devotees, and scriptures."

So if you like to do some service, I think I asked Parivrājaka Mahārāja also, he perhaps, his visa may allow him to stay for fifteen or some, more days. So for at least ten days he may approach the religious public, they help this festival to be managed.

"So you come and you also help. Many sādhu's and many ordinary gr̥hastha's, men, women, they will come for the circumambulation of the nine islands. Navadvīpa. Mahāprabhu. With saṅkīrtana. That will be a very religious scenery. You all come and see and partake in that and for that some rice with some vegetable oil, some potato, whatever you like to give, give us, we shall take it."

This way, the method is in this way to collect funds for the annual celebrations.

To try in our hands but the result will be in the hands of Kṛṣṇa. Sometimes this experience we have got, sometimes we tried hard in one place, but no sufficient result, but in another place with least endeavour we get much. Where we give more attention, sometimes we fail there, and with very least attention and management we get more. It is managed by Kṛṣṇa. So we do not know what will happen, but we shall try.

karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana

mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi

"I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties." (Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47)

Don't look after the results, but concentrate yourself wholesale in the discharge of your duty. That there may not be any fault in discharging your duty, that is your part. And what result will come, good or bad, you have nothing to bother with that. It is His will. With this spirit we are to go on collection. And also underlined, that if I can get something from him to be utilised for the service of Mahāprabhu, then this man will be unconsciously benefited for his eternal life. That will be in the subconscious area.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Never bother your head, but wholly concentrate in your (practice?) and your duty. This is the key to success of ones life towards eternity. Then we come very close to eternity, the eternal will, the absolute will. I am doing so much, expecting, how my labour is met with the eternal will, but I must not be dejected, must not be dejected. Try to satisfy myself under any eventuality. That is a test in our life. This is not an endeavour for a day or two, but I am going to practice my transaction with the Infinite, with the Absolute for whole life. With that spirit and courage we shall come in the field.

End of recording.

83.2.13-15

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In his last days our Guru Mahārāja (Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Thākura) used to say every now and then: "Religion is proper adjustment." We are improperly adjusted with the environment, that is the trouble. So:

prāpañcikatayā buddhyā hari-sambandhi-vastunaḥ mumukṣabhiḥ parityāgo vairāgyaṁ phālgū kathyate

"That renunciation which is practised by those desirous of impersonal liberation and which rejects things in connection with Śrī Hari, thinking them to be material, is called phālgū-vairāgya, external or false renunciation." (Padma-Purāṇa)

(Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga 2.125)

As recommended by the Buddhists or the Śāṅkarites, the salvationists, that: "Give up everything and reduce yourself to zero, give up connection with everything and as in deep sleep so you are to reduce yourself to that stage, that is the perfect." But this has been rejected hatefully by the Vaiṣṇava, especially the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, those that are under the direction of Mahāprabhu. This is phālgū, temporary, phālgū means which is apparent. Near Gaya there is a river whose name is Phālgū, that is whenever we remove the sand from the bed of the river we can see the current is passing underground, but on the bed it is all sand, all sand, phālgū. So renunciation cannot be complete, it may be, however long time still it is temporary.

ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddhabuddhayaḥ āruhya kṛcchreṇa paramṁ padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādr̥ṣṭayuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ

(Someone may say that aside from Vaiṣṇavas, who always seek shelter at the Lord's lotus feet, there are those who are not Vaiṣṇavas but who have accepted different processes for attaining salvation. What happens to them? In answer to this question, Lord Brahmā and the other demigods said:)

"O lotus-eyed Lord, although non-devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet."
(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32)

In Bhāgavatam this śloka. The Brahmā in his hints addressing to Kṛṣṇa: 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas: "O You lotus-eyed, ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, those that can conceive themselves completely disassociated with their environment, completely disassociated, disconnected from the environment, completely liberated, emancipated, mānina, they think like that but actually it is impossible. Vimukta-māninas, they think themselves that they are perfectly independent of the environment as if in sound sleep, but sound sleep is not a permanent thing. The reaction will come from the sleep, the sprout will come again, inevitable.

Tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ: Their calculation is wrong totally because they have not counted You, their counting is independent, they and the environment. But You are there to harmonise both to keep connection with both the parties, they forget that, they can't understand that. If they can find that centre then they could understand that their relation, the environment and his relation is not in his hands it is in the hands of the Absolute. And it is unavoidable, it is not in their hands, it depends, and his position is an organic part not as an independent part from the environment but his position is an organic part. So he and He has common relation there and management comes from there whether united or separated, or how related or not related, and that depends on the centre not on them. They cannot negotiate independently or discuss or adjust independent of Him. Tvayi asta-bhāvād: because they do not count You there on the, between You and them there is a wall, they cannot pierce the wall and understand the barrier, they can't break the barrier and come in connection with You so they commit such wrong.

Aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ: What is their ultimate position? Realistic position is what?

Āruhya kṛcchreṇa paraṁ padaṁ: After much trouble they rise up to the highest point of liberation, āruhya kṛcchreṇa paraṁ padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādr̥ta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ, and from there they do not count the upper relation and the adjustment with the main centre, all these calculations omitted so they have to fall back again, hurled down for this mistake.

So we are not to shun, not to abandon anything, but we are to come to a satisfactory harmless adjustment. Not only harmless but the adjustment that can give our fulfilment of life. This is phālgu-vairāgya, and what is yukta-vairāgya, just the opposite:

prāpañcikatayā buddhyā, hari-sambandhi-vastunaḥ mumukṣubhiḥ
parityāgo, vairāgyaṁ phalgu kathyate

Apparent not real, undercurrent, in the very subtlest plane there we cannot detect. So who can detect that that from revealed plane, from God's, who can see anything and everything, from his real perspective is coming through Veda, revealed scripture. What is that?

anāsaktasya viṣayān, yathārham upayuñjataḥ nirbandhaḥ kṛṣṇa-sambandhe, yuktaṁ vairāgyam ucyate

"That renunciation in which there is no attachment for the objects of the senses, but in which everything is seen in relationship to Kṛṣṇa and all things are engaged in His service is called yukta-vairāgya, or practical renunciation."

(Padma-Purāṇa) + (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.126)

Only you will have no greed to enjoy the environment, anāsakta, you must not have any particular tendency to enjoy it. But the thing is not to be blamed, your enjoying tendency is blameable, so you must withdraw your enjoying tendency that you are master of the thing, you can enjoy it in your own satisfaction. That sort of tendency must be withdrawn, anāsaktasya viṣayān.

Yathārham upayuñjataḥ: And you will be required to behave with them properly, and what is that properly? That is in connection with the calculation of the central interest. Neither you can enjoy nor you can reject. A function between you and the environment is fixed already by His will, ha ha. You can't change it, ha, ha. That thing belongs to Him, you also belong to Him, and how you are to do with your endeavour that is also prearranged and you can't evade that. Only you are to be readjusted position.

Anāsaktasya viṣayān: No local interest should be imposed, viṣayān. Yathārham upayuñjataḥ: Just proper independent of you and He, the central, the real function between, relation between, that must be awakened, real transaction. Yathārham upayuñjataḥ nirbandhaḥ kṛṣṇa-sambandhe: And what is the key to that? The test, the criterion? Kṛṣṇa-sambandhe: How you can utilise the environment for the service of Kṛṣṇa. You are a servant and here is the object of service. You can't reject that, you are bound to utilise the object for the service of your Lord. You are a servant and this is the object of service. It is not meant for you. At the same time it is not so that you can reject them and you can live independently without anything, this is also artificial life, this is not truth.

So whatever is helpful for the service of the Lord we must take care about those things that they may not be lost, may not be missed. What is necessary for the service of Kṛṣṇa we must be attentive to the protection of that thing. That indifference to protect things which may be utilised in the service of Kṛṣṇa, that is not devotion.

Sometimes we may think we have adopted the way to get out of this mundane world, why should we be so much particular about these things? As much as possible we shall try to keep things that are necessary for the service of Kṛṣṇa, properly. Proper attention should be given to anything and everything only for the purpose of the service of Kṛṣṇa. Both exploitation and renunciation, both is bad, both is unnatural, both is unwholesome, and no fulfilment can be reached by either method, exploitation nor renunciation.

We are to be initiated in this angle of vision of life. This is Goloka, that everything may be harmonised by Him, He's so good, so great. Nothing coming in His contact can be wrong, it is only wrong when it is in contact with things that are defective. So nothing, everything is all right if it is in connection, one condition, if for Kṛṣṇa. Everything is for Him, everything is for Him, when deviation from that point there is anomaly, derangement, and reaction and misery. Misery is the outcome of māyā, that miscalculation, misrepresentation, miscalculation, it comes as the outcome of miscalculation. And proper calculation, and to follow that, that is devotion, and the very life, nature, is dedication, and dedication towards the centre and the Absolute Centre and nothing less than that. That will fetch local value. Nothing less than Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead. Other demigods, they're also local, their position is also provincial, local. kṛṣṇas tu bhagavān svayam:

ete cāmśa-kalāḥ puṁsaḥ, kṛṣṇas tu bhagavān svayam indrāri-vyākulaṁ
lokaṁ, mṛdayanti yuge yuge

"All the above-mentioned incarnations are either plenary portions or portions of the plenary portions of the Lord, but Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa is the original Personality of Godhead.

All of them appear on planets whenever there is a disturbance created by the atheists. The Lord incarnates to protect the theists." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.3.28)

The Absolute Reality Beauty, everything is justified when it is meant for Him, His satisfaction. That is one thing we are to understand and we must try to follow. This is devotion, Goloka. Criterion is this, and we must, this is the test we shall try to examine how far it is meant for Kṛṣṇa, His satisfaction. Of course that depends on our stage of realisation, otherwise everything we may think, "Oh, this is for Kṛṣṇa's satisfaction, Kṛṣṇa is satisfied." I have done something and I may say, utter the words, "Yes, Kṛṣṇa's satisfied." My mere statement won't be exactly what is with Him, the Absolute position there and we are to realise that position, that is sādhana. And with help of the saints and as well as the scriptures revealed, and saint and scripture of different type. So:

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya

bhakti-latā-bīja

"Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151)

It is not a relative thing it is absolute, and all relative positions we shall have to learn to eliminate and understand what is absolute. What is absolute? How it is absolute? We are to learn that, gradually, by progressing in a proper line, proper method, accepting sādhana, this śravaṇa, varaṇa, sādhana, āpana, prapanna, five stages in our development of our realisation.

(śravaṇa-daśā is the stage of hearing; then varaṇa-daśā is when one accepts the principle, the devotional teachings; and then comes sādhana-daśā, the stage of practice and struggle; then, in the āpana-daśā stage of advanced realisation, one feels peaceful in bhāva-bhakti, the first opening of the bud of divine love, which in the stage of prapanna-daśā, full surrender, becomes prema-bhakti, pure love of God)

And both the scripture, sādhu-śāstra guru-vargya cittete koriya

Three things must come to prove that one thing, the opinion of a saint, and the scripture, and one's hearty response. Hṛdaye nābhya nujñāto (Manu-saṁhita, 2.1): The approval of the inner heart with the opinion of the revealed scripture and also which will be directed by the dictation of a proper saint. And the saint can be found only by the help of the scripture, and the scriptures' meaning also will come from the saint proper. They're interdependent. We are to face that, the ultimate guidance our sukṛti.

Brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151) our good fortune, if we acquire sukṛti that will guide me. "Birds of the same feather flock together." It will carry me towards proper place. I will be able to meet that and by comparing I'll be able to understand what degree of truth is where. The conception, the truth, absolute truth and relative truth, what is the criterion of the absolute truth? How it is absolute? All these things to be understood by the reference of the scriptures, sādhu, and one's inner approval, hearts' approval.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Every step we are doing that, always eliminating and accepting, elimination and nomination, acceptance. Every time we are in progress, dismissing something and accepting another thing always, this is progress, this is life, it is dynamic in character. And sometimes also if we are cursed we may go down, more down, to down, down to down. That also happens in this world. Always everything is going up and no setback? It is not so. There is setback also. So the caution is given there in the śāstra, the aparādha, the error, the negligence, the idleness, so many things that may push us down. We must be cautious of the fact.

It is not a question of blind faith, the understanding is also possible to apply here. And that will be astonished, your understanding will be astonished finding new things, things of new order. Gītā says:

āścaryavat paśyati kaścīd enam, āścaryavad vadati tathaiva cānyaḥ
āścaryavac cainam anyaḥ śṛṇoti, śrutvāpy enam veda na caiva kaścīd

"Some see the soul as amazing, some describe him as amazing, and some hear of him as amazing, while others, even after hearing about him, cannot understand him at all."

(Bhagavad-gītā, 2.29)

It's most wonderful, your own self is also wonderful, what to speak of Paramātmā and this Nārāyaṇa and Kṛṣṇa. Your own soul, your personification proper, that is also of wonderful conception. Āścaryavat paśyati kaścīd enam: When you come to conceive one's soul, "Oh, how wonderful type of existence it is. So diabolically opposite to this material and mental thing." Āścaryavat paśyati, āścaryavad vadati, and when one begins to give description about the soul he is also charmed, enchanted, "What I am saying? Can I say? Can I give vent to it properly about the soul proper which I myself am?"

Āścaryavac cainam anyaḥ śṛṇoti, and those who come to hear, they're also astounded, "What is this? Such strange things we have never heard before. Such thing is possible, ātmā, eternal, all knowledge, all pure, and eternal. Without food it can continue. A member of the eternal plane. How is it possible? And he's an understanding principle, an atom that can understand himself, and that can understand others also."

Our Guru Mahārāja used to give some example, many a time I have mentioned: A boy is born in a dark cell. Then someone has come to tell him: "You, come out, I shall show you the sun, it is very wonderful, the sun." Then the boy will take a light, a candle with him. "No, no, why do you take the candle?" "Without candle how can I see the sun?" "No, no, to see the sun, candle is not necessary." "You are fooling me. Without the help of candle nothing can be seen. And you say the sun can be seen by the sun without candle. I don't trust." Then he'll be forcibly taken, and he will be ... "Oh, sun is seen by his own light, not only that, sun can show the whole thing, me, you, others, all things can be shown by the sun only. Is it possible?" So:

naivoparameta puṁsām, mattaḥ parāvṛtta-dhiyām sva-lokāt

Ātmā is self effulgent, it can show itself it can show others. Only devoid of it we are suffering from suspicion and half knowledge and ignorance. But when we can come to ātmā we can feel ātmā by his own self and at the same time by the standard of that light we can comparatively know what is non ātmā, what is not soul. That also can be understood indirectly by feeling the position of ātmā. (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.22.34) atma bardi dustyajya srovavyani baddhi jata bani udyasitabya ?

The Upaniṣads, the clarion call, calls of all: "What are you doing? What are you living in? Give up all these, try to find out who you are. You are ātmā, and ātmā is worth, every movement, can command every worth, commanding every drop of energy to know it, it is so full, and so dire necessity in you. What do you do? Give up everything.

Oh you, why are you engaged in wild goose chasing? Stop, come to know who you are. You are ātmā, you are soul. All the energy must be utilised in this, dustyajya, you must exert to see, mantavya, and if any mental

With the whole of your mind try to capture to think it, srotavya, if anything to be heard then hear about soul, your soul, you. Nididasitabya, any concentrated energy if anywhere to be invested it is only in this, for this campaign in searching for your own self. First the beginning, the start of your energetic movement must begin from here. Try to understand you, your own self, your own ātmā, of what nature it is. Then you are to search out what things will be necessary for the upliftment or development for that thing. Otherwise all false engagement. Know who are you and what is the demand, then you'll be able, ātmā wants Paramātmā. He's hankering to come in connection with Paramātmā, and higher type of ātmā there is and that is generally said the plane of God but partial.

Then there is the yogis are after that, then there is devotion of Nārāyaṇa, Vasudeva, Brahmā, Nārāyaṇa, and supreme most position is held by Kṛṣṇa consciousness. The Autocrat Absolute Good Reality the Beautiful, the beauty, the sweetness, the charm, all charming. Struck dumb seeing the charm, the centre of charm, ākarṣiṇī, attraction, attraction, charming, beauty is charming everything and has made possible cosmos out of chaos. Charm, beauty, that has given the very life of cosmos. Kṛṣ - ṇa, attraction and as reaction satisfaction, attraction and satisfaction, that is the coming and going, attraction and giving, rendering satisfaction. Kṛṣ - ṇa, Kṛṣ means to attract, and ṇa means that is dealing in satisfaction, action reaction. The Absolute Centre, that is Kṛṣṇa, with His paraphernalia.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, if someone is attracted for a long time to a particular rasa but is not fully satisfied, then can he aim for another rasa ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. No question of selection, rather it is automatic, ha, ha, ha. It can't hold him back. The inner tendency attraction will be such he can't avoid. His own nature, what to do? It is not a dress that I shall reject something and take up another, put on, not like a garment putting on and taking off. It is coming from within. Out of necessity the adjustment cannot but come.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Nitāi, Dayal Nitāi.

Mahāprabhu was satisfied with Emperor Pratāparudra when He found that the king has engaged himself in a very mean service, that of a sweeper. The king is doing the service of a sweeper attracted Him most. He Himself when Guṇḍicā-mārjana, the Jagannātha will come to Guṇḍicā, Mahāprabhu with His party in His uturium ?

He's carrying the dirts and He's throwing outside. Then washing, Jagannātha will come.

So nothing is negligent but we are attracted when with those menial service we have got much, we can attract attention of the high, high. So nothing is insignificant when it is connected with Him. Still, there is gradation, gradation is there. Sincere beginning of the service must have always tendency to go towards lower side. But by Kṛṣṇa's will they will be accepted for higher satisfaction, but their, the devotees' tendency will always be to go to the mean services, so called. Nothing is mean but so called mean.

Dāsa Goswāmī says: "I want the service of a servant and I want to show my reverence towards sakhya, friendly service."

sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu namo 'stu nityam dāsyāya te mama raso
'stu raso 'stu satyam

The sakhya-rasa. The confidential service I am not fit for that, I always try to revere that to show my reverence and I shall try to if possible if accepted to do the meanest service. If I get that engagement I am more than, rewarded more than anything. Full satisfaction, that should be the attitude. But Kṛṣṇa will take him up: "No, do to serve Me in this way." Then, what to do? We have to do. According to the rasa it is such, for us. And those that are eternal friends they won't go that side, won't admit. Part and parcel and surcharged with Yoga-Māyā with the spirit of that service of that particular level, surcharged injection by Yoga-Māyā. And Kṛṣṇa is pleased by that, that aggression, by the aggression of the friends He's pleased when it is manipulated by Yoga-Māyā.

But we should not be puffed up in that way, we are beginners, not nitya-siddha, sādhana-siddha line. Non realised has come to realise. So our nature should be favourable that they're showing Dāsa Goswāmī Prabhu. Always try to go downwards.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Nityānanda Prabhu He broke the daṇḍam into three parts. "Mahāprabhu, My Lord He will carry you daṇḍa ? I won't tolerate, I can't tolerate that My Lord will carry you in His hand." And some say that He broke into three parts the tri-daṇḍam, not eka- daṇḍa of Māyāvādīs but tri-daṇḍa of the Vaiṣṇava sannyāsīs.

Any questions?

Devotee: Did Nityānanda Prabhu and Caitanya Mahāprabhu appear at the same time, or was Nityānanda Prabhu older? Did He appear before?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That you will find reading the books. Nityānanda Prabhu was almost twelve years elder than Mahāprabhu, nearly. And Acyutānanda was that Advaita's last son, youngest son, he was more younger, Acyutānanda. When Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa and went to visit Shantipur, at that time Acyutānanda was a child of about five years old, so nearly nineteen years junior than Mahāprabhu. And Nityānanda Prabhu twelve years elder than Mahāprabhu. So thirty one years older Nityānanda Prabhu than Acyutānanda. Acyutānanda's the youngest son of Advaita.

What makes you to ask of this Acyutānanda and Nityānanda's age?

Devotee: No, it was not Acyutānanda. It was Caitanya Mahāprabhu and Nityānanda Prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nearly twelve years elder Nityānanda Prabhu.

When Nityānanda Prabhu came to Navadvīpa at that time twelve years. Mahāprabhu began saṅkīrtana and Nityānanda Prabhu came here, twenty two years, ten years or twelve years elder, something like that. Nityānanda Prabhu after visiting all the holy places of pilgrimage then He joined Navadvīpa līlā. And He was disciple of Mādhavendra Purī, Godbrother of Īśvara Purī, Mahāprabhu's Gurudeva. Nityānanda Prabhu, Advaita Prabhu, They're all Godbrothers to Īśvara Purī whose disciple was Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanyadeva. This is all show to us, līlā.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, it's said that (Śrīla A.C Bhaktivedānta) Swāmī Mahārāja he was attracted to sakhya-rasa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I do not know what he has written but I found it such position from his only one letter what he wrote when he was going to America.

Devotee: Yes, that's the poem.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That letter has been given to me and I read that and from there I could suppose that his position he's satisfied with that sakhya līlā. He mentions there that his Gurudeva is Rādhārāṇī, madhurya-rasa, and he's asking Kṛṣṇa's help in his discharging the duty which is ordered by Rādhārāṇī, given by Rādhārāṇī to him. He says that Rādhārāṇī will be satisfied if you help me in my carrying out the orders of Rādhārāṇī for the preaching purpose. He's begging the help of Kṛṣṇa in his campaign because Rādhārāṇī will be satisfied and his Gurudeva is representing Rādhārāṇī. That is mentioned there. From there I conjecture, and what playfully he has mentioned there after finishing this job I shall again join Your Vṛndāvana līlā as a friend and we shall play to our highest sentiment, in this way. Therefrom it may be conjectured that his acme of serving pleasure is within sakhya-rasa. A supposition.

Devotee: So many devotees, disciples who came to Swāmī Mahārāja, they have some, possibly attraction for the er Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not necessarily. All that will come under him they will be forced ...

End of side A, 13/15-2-83 side B, 13/15-2-83

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It gradually according to the awakenment of the inner heart and sentiment he's led to different planes of life and not feeling satisfaction again some connection from the higher and he's taken to the higher plane next. Again sometime he's staying there, after sometime some dissatisfaction came in him and another agent came from another higher position and he's taken there. In this way, gradually, according to his own inner awakenment he's taken to different higher planes which is found there in Bṛhad-Bhāgavatāmṛta.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, in the Bhāgavatam in the eleventh canto and also in the seventh canto the sannyāsa of dharma that is mentioned it seems as if one has to go a forest, one has to live in a forest and he stays in one place for only one day.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is external, that is external one day in every place. Kuṭicaka, bahūdaka, there different stages. First kuṭicaka he will construct a cottage and he will live there for some time. Then bahūdaka the next second stage he won't fix himself in a particular place but he will take different types of water, bahūdaka means many types of variegated water, that he will wander to any and every place and go on practising his own life. Then haṁsa (parivrājakācārya), the next third stage will be haṁsa, haṁsa means water and milk mixed together but the swan can take out the milk leaving the water intact. So he'll be sāragrahi, wherever he may mix, what society he may mix, he must try to take the very gist of truth leaving which is unnecessary in the society. That is haṁsa. Then paramahaṁsa, the highest stage is paramahaṁsa, that wherever he may stay he will be all right. No external environment will be able to affect him or to change him. The highest position.

These are the, and again, more than that it is said sometimes that avadhūta the fifth stage. At that time he's particularly seen to mix with the filthy atmosphere but that can never affect him, that is the fifth stage. In this way it has been mentioned, in general, independent of Godhead.

Sannyāsa is of three kinds, vidvat, vibitsa, and narottama. Vidvat sannyāsī has been described of such a degree that when one can understand fully he even leaves his body and gets relief of that bondage immediately, that is vidvat. And vibitsa, gradually he wants to accept different stages and pass through that and go to the highest realisation. And there is another, narottama: hr̥di kṛtvā hariṁ gehāt pravrajat (Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 1.13.27): He wants Hari and finding in his heart he gives up his family life and wanders here and there but Hari in his heart he wants. Then naturally whenever there is a congregation of the saints he stays there.

kathayantaś ca māñ nityaṃ, tuṣyanti ca ramanti ca, (Bhagavad-gītā, 10.9)

The sādhu-saṅga. So the summary of everything for a Vaiṣṇava sannyāsī is this, that he will mix with the sādhu, the Vaiṣṇava saints. And what is the mixing with the sādhu

? That is serving him. In other words if he will serve under his Guru, that will be the most profitable. If such high Guru is not within his conception, such high guide, then also within the equal association he will try to maintain the higher thoughts divine within his heart by such activity. And the association means a form of service, serving attitude, without serving attitude we cannot enjoy a saint, a Vaiṣṇava. To associate with Vaiṣṇava means to serve Vaiṣṇava, to associate with anything holy that means to serve. Otherwise if I exploit, I want to get some pleasure from the environment I shall have to go down. Serving spirit must be maintained in one's heart and that will be dynamic and gradually lift him from higher to higher.

And the static aim is with the Māyāvādīs, that is different order. They want to have a temporary rest, a life full of rest. That has already been discarded. That is impossible, temporarily it may be possible. The slumber, the samādhi, but the samādhi will break down one day.

stava deha deva deha ca va discati ?

In Rāmānanda Rāya. Those that aspire after the highest salvation they have ultimately come to be a fossil. They're unconscious, fossil is also unconscious, not conscious of his own soul, fossil. Stava deha in Rāmānanda Rāya, he may become a Himalaya or an Alps, long, long time sleeping there, no awakenment of any consciousness. And deva deha, the demigods, there they enjoy and the punya, the merit is finished then again come here to work, to begin his life fresh, with fresh prospect.

Devotee: In the second stage of sannyāsa, the bahūdaka

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kuṭīcaka, bahūdaka, haṁsa, paramahaṁsa. And then again there the section divided vidvat sannyāsa, vibitsa, narottama, three kinds of sannyāsa, vidvat, vibitsa, narottama. Again every sannyāsa subdivided into four stages, kuṭīcaka, bahūdaka, haṁsa, paramahaṁsa.

Vidvat sannyāsa does not come under division because it is when taken it is finished. He thinks himself in such a safe position he at once leaves his body and vanishes, vidvat, he does not want to, this is of course not Vaiṣṇava sannyāsa, he does not want to lose any time here. He's so disturbed with the present atmosphere he does not want at all to live here even for a second, he finishes himself. This is not very optimistic line.

Vibitsa comes under regulation, vibitsa means icha, not finally fit but wants to be fit. In vibitsa sannyāsa four sections, kuṭīcaka, bahūdaka, haṁsa, paramahaṁsa. The first to settle in a particular place with some simple and humble life and to go on with the mantram, and biksa, taking food by biksa, not talking much with anyone or mixing with the society at large. This is the first stage. In the second stage he will try to mix with the society not only in that place but he will have an experience of the wide world as much as possible and to come in connection with different classes of men and to test what he has done whether it is right or wrong.

He must consolidate his position by meeting and coming in contact with different forces, anti as well as favourable, and unfavourable of parikṣa, test, the life of test stage.

The third, haṁsa, haṁsa means he will try his best to draw what is the essence of every teachings, every book, every society, every community, every different conception of theism, all these he may contact but he will try to draw the essence. The third stage.

And the fourth stage is the stage of one's well established position, he may do this, that, anything, but he's settled in his idea what he got previously from his Guru perfectly undisturbed he may pass his time. Whatever things may come from outside can't disturb him in such position he will live and then one day he will pass away.

And another is narottama-sannyāsa, they do not care for all these things, formality, but their simple thing that they will take shelter to Hari, to Nārāyaṇa, Who is within, Who is within. Thinking of Nārāyaṇa he will wander here, there, tīrtha, anywhere, but his main thing will be the worship of Nārāyaṇa whether in Vṛndāvana, Purī, or some such place, Ayodhyā, according to his conception, in this way the devotional class. He may be a tridaṇḍī. He will take shelter under the holy feet of Hari, and he will leave the worldly life and will wander here, there, everywhere, taking the Name of the Lord and mixing with the devotees of the Lord, in this way. This is the general conception of the sannyāsa.

This is some negative side. The positive side will be in the case of narottama- sannyāsa when we take particularly to this system in a practical way we want to deal with it very successfully, then we're to find that anyhow we must come in connection with the service of the Hari, Guru, Vaiṣṇava. Merely the recollection of Hari is not forceful enough to expedite our realisations, something positive should be done.

Just as Prahlāda Mahārāja told when Nārada went to see after Mahādeva, went to see the positive participation in devotion line to Prahlāda. Prahlāda told: "What do I do Devarṣi? You know everything about me. I am simply trying to recollect my Lord. Recollection, remembrance, but remembrance is not enough, it is very weak connection with Hari. Mere remembrance it is śānta-rasa, may be taken to be counted as śānta-rasa, a very weak but favourable position towards the service. But actual service of Hari, always to be busy to find out how we can satisfy Him, that is laudable thing and I have not got that temperament. If you want really a devotion of Hari just go to Hanumānji, he's surcharged with spirit of serving Rāmacandra. How wonderfully he did it. So I am in weak position. It is His grace that I am not engaged in any world thought but very meagre and lower order not very intense remembrance I have got about Hari."

So the mere connection with Hari is not enough, that is good but from there we are to enter into the serving stages and there are also classification and the intensity also. Really we are come to face the opportunity by taking sannyāsa exclusively giving up everything and the whole time service of the Hari. Not mere recollection, remembrance only, but actual service to satisfy Him, that is necessary. So dasya, sakhya, vātsalya, madhurya, will come gradually in the retinue thereafter.

12

Do you follow? Sannyāsa, renunciation, has been described in this way. You will find in Gauḍīya-Kaṇṭhahara all these things, all these things you will find in Gauḍīya- Kaṇṭhahara. Vidvat, vibitsa, narottama sannyāsa.

Devotee: What is the spiritual significance of taking water in different places? You said the other day that bahūdaka sannyāsī takes water from different parts of the world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is not very important for our section. Bahūdaka, ūdaka means water, bahūdaka means multifarious types of water. The significance is that he will wander in many places and drink many different types of water. That is only a connection, connection to show. Really, water is not the important thing that he'll drink. But many variegated nature of waters means various countries he will move, that is mix with them, various types of men and culture and consolidate his own position whether he's moving on rightly or wrongly. That is the purpose internally.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, for the Vaiṣṇavas, what is the position of bābājī ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bābājī, that position was given by Mahāprabhu, taken by Sanātana Goswāmī just in presence of Mahāprabhu, bābājī-veśa was first taken by Sanātana Goswāmī in Benares in front of Mahāprabhu and Mahāprabhu gave His consent it is supposed. That is considered to be above the sannyāsa, that is generally considered the paramahansa-veśa. Sannyāsa āśrama:

nāhaṁ vipro na ca nara-patir nāpi vaiśya na śūdro nāhaṁ varṇī na ca
gr̥ha-patir no vana-stho yatir vā kintu prodyan-nikhila-paramānandapūrṇāmṛtābdher gopī-bharttuḥ pada-kamalayor dāsa-dāsānudāsaḥ

"I am not a priest, a king, a merchant, or a labourer (brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra); nor am I a student, a householder, a retired householder, or a mendicant (brahmacārī, gr̥hastha, vānaprastha, sannyāsī). I identify myself only as the servant of the servant of the servant of the lotus feet of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the Lord of the gopīs, who is the personification of the fully expanded (eternally self-revealing) nectarean ocean that brims with the totality of Divine Ecstasy." (Padyāvalli, 63 & 74) +

(Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.80)

Nāhaṁ varṇī means brahmacārī, na ca gr̥ha-patir means gr̥hastha, no vana-stho means vānaprastha, yatir vā means sannyāsa. These four stages in āśrama. Now nāhaṁ vipro, I am not within that, I am above. Even a sannyāsī he has got some sort of position, he is also to follow some regulations some particular forms of life. But bābājī when they are considered to be above any sort of law, no position in the society. The sannyāsīns have got some position in the society as a general guide of the society, Guru. But bābājī they do not care even for anything, they've cut off all connection with the society and they're given wholesale towards Vṛndāvana sevā in Vṛndāvana. And in parakīya bhajana also they're engaged.

But our Guru Mahārāja he saw that the imitationist they are accepting the dress of bābājī but they're not fit for that, for the standard. So in the dress of bābājī their bābājī dress is being misused and in the name of that dress they are going on with adulteration, the sahajiyā. There are so many different outcomes of that degraded bābājī section. They're not fit for that high position but take the dress and go to imitate the thing. But it is impossible for them to catch the real spirit of life so they degrade and create so many pests in the society and create a bad name for Rūpa, Sanātana and Mahāprabhu and Gauḍīya sampradāya at large. So he laid stress in the sannyāsa. "You first prepare yourself that the head of the society and as a teacher of the society. Then when such high time will come, then you may see to take to that position if you find necessary. That does not depend on external dress but internal improvement. Really that thing depends on internal improvement of one's heart or realisation and does not depend on the external dressing. So this way Prabhupāda (Bhaktisiddhānta Sarawatī Ṭhākura) came and created this sannyāsa, tridaṇḍa sannyāsa, Vaiṣṇava sannyāsa. And to preach that: "Bābājī's our guru, above us. And we do not recognise you anyone taking the dress of bābājī, no, you are not bābājī. Only external dress cannot give you the honour of the post of bābājī. But you are all hypocrites and you are disserving the society and the Vaiṣṇava proper. We don't care, you'll all go down, don't venture to take the dress to pollute the dress of Rūpa, Sanātana, never do this." This is the warning of our Guru Mahārāja.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So Prabhupāda introduced this sacred thread, become a brāhmaṇa first, Brahmāloka. Then Virāja, Brahmāloka then Paravyoma Vaiṣṇava play. First become a brāhmaṇa, daiva-brāhmaṇa, try to acquire the quality of a brāhmaṇa and have the sacred thread. Then above this the Vaiṣṇava, Vaiṣṇava, crossing Brahmāloka. But they put this kopin, the bābājī class they do not use, they are afraid of using this brahma- sutra but they uses kopin. But kopin Guru Mahārāja told it is higher, higher. Kopin means to stop all mundane sensual inclinations to the utmost so don't venture to take kopin as Rūpa, Sanātana did. Before that try to, in a position of a brāhmaṇa take the sacred thread if you have courage and real sincerity to go towards spiritual world then come forward and take sacred thread and red robe and then make some substantial progress in the spiritual line. Then when you will find your self quite safe in the spiritual line, not only that but established in Kṛṣṇa līlā in Vṛndāvana, then you may take the honour of that dress of Rūpa, Sanātana. Otherwise to dishonour them you should not imitate that dress." That was the temperament of our Guru Mahārāja and he inaugurated this tridaṇḍa-sannyāsa into the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava school.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Once I was in Vṛndāvana, one educated brahmacārī he took bābājī in Kalivan. I had a talk with them. "You don't have any respect for the bābājī ? And we are in the line of Rūpa, Sanātana."

Then I told him: "We think that we are in āśrama of sannyāsa that is the servant of Rūpa, Sanātana, of the bābājī section real. We pose ourselves to be the servants of the bābājī."

"That is well and good but we do not know that."

"And at the same time you should know we cannot give you people the position of that bābājī, we do not accept you as bābājī, you are intruder, you are intruder, forcibly entered physically the plane. Fools rush in where angels fear to tread. Your position is such."

Then he was infuriated. "You don't care for us, yes?"

"No." Then that man who posed as a bābājī he was caught red handed and he himself left that position and came back to family life. Not exactly family life but giving up this bābājī vocation he came to the town and he was educated, he began to coach students and thereby to earn something and eat. It is such.

Gaura Hari bol!

It is a very hard nut to crack, not imitation can take us there but by the grace of the Vaiṣṇava the inner awakening, inner awakening, that can only be effected by the service of the Kṛṣṇa and His servants, His devotees. Must earnestly try to achieve that sort of stage really and not outwardly. Proper realisation is necessary. The conviction, the faith, the faith will take us to the complete realisation, the faith.

A man, a friend died somewhere, news came, I began to cry. Why? I don't see that he's dying here, my friend is dead, dying, but only through faith I began to cry, "my friend has died." So faith, from far away the feeling it may rouse and many things may be done through faith. So for the farthest world the faith is a positive thing it is not imagination. Imagination is worthless. Faith is not imagination, it is more substantial than anything. What we experience here that is futile, that is nothing, that is illusion what we feel, what we say concrete reality in the world, concrete world. That is all imagination. But faith is such that it can show in a very subtle way the truth more than mathematical calculation. The computer showing so many things beyond the reach of our senses, by mathematics.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

So Giri Mahārāja has been bitten on the face, while he was sleeping, while sleeping who will come?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja told that he's the most wretched person, in Bengali he told, Swāmī Mahārāja. I told to Tamal Kṛṣṇa. He told a Bengali word, not goonda, but, something like desperate, the Bengali word I am trying to remember of a soldier, he has committed something wrong and he must be punished. But (Queen) Victoria she did not like to deal the first case with punishment, she wanted to release him. But the advocate on the other side told that thrice he's already forgiven, thrice, so this is the fourth time, you can't forgive him. But still Victoria is only pushing, pressing: "You are, what you say, everything is against him, but can't you incite any instance in his favour?" Then that gentleman he could understand her position and told: "His household life is said to be good, household life." Then Victoria: "Then this time also when some goodness can be traced in him so this time also forgive him." I incited this example when I requested the committee they forgive this time, first time, all them, the Haṁsadhuta, then this Jaya Tīrtha Mahārāja, Tamal Kṛṣṇa, and some others

.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I am taking some portion of his energy, consciously or unconsciously of him, and I'm connecting it with the service of Kṛṣṇa through a devotee. So he's surely being benefited in his life eternal. This accumulated, this energy utilised through some devotee that will be accumulated and when sufficient in parimam, in magnitude, it will attract him toward the Lord, it will create śraddhā in him, faith in him.

So our Guru Mahārāja previously told that: "I want one lākh of paisa."
(one lākh

=100,000). (paisa = a monetary unit of India and Pakistan worth one hundredth of a rupee). Then when one gentleman came with three lāhks of rupees to construct a temple, one of his sannyāsī disciples told him: "Gurudeva, you wanted one lākh of paisa but three lākhs of rupees have been given by one single man." Then he answered: "I did not want from one person. One lākh of paisa means from one lākh of men, creating sukṛti in at least one lākh of persons."

So to collect, apparently it may seem that I am a beggar and he is a giver. But really I am giver under the direction of the Lord and he's a beggar. I am giving him unconsciously some, injecting some goodness in him, sukṛti, that is nirguṇa, nirguṇa means transcendental, a drop of transcendental devotion I am giving him in return by utilising his energy unconscious of him putting to some service of the Lord. This is the underlying principle of begging from door to door or any place. They're abusing in the mortal world, their energy is being more and more mortalised, but I am giving some connection with immortal, through his energy. And that is sukṛti and sukṛti when sufficiently accumulated creates śraddhā.

sat-saṅgaḥ prāpyate pumbhiḥ sukṛtaiḥ pūrvva-sañcitaiḥ

("Actually we can recognise a sādhu by sukṛti. Apparently we can know him from the śāstras, the scriptures, because the śāstra helps us to know who is a sādhu, and the sādhu gives us the interpretation of the śāstra. So sādhu and śāstra are interdependent, but the sādhu holds the more important position and the śāstra has the secondary position. The living śāstra is the sādhu, but to know who is Guru, who is sādhu, we are to consult the descriptions given about them in the scriptures. The symptoms of the sādhu, both of the Guru as well as the disciple, have been written in the Bhāgavatam, in the Gītā and in the Upaniṣads." (Bṛhan-Nāradiya Purāṇa)

Sukṛti will bring us to the association of the sādhu, no other way to come to the feet of the real sādhu, only sukṛti can come previously. So for that and also for us to give everything for the service of Kṛṣṇa, that is our name, fame, everything, our credit, everything we should devote to Kṛṣṇa wholesale. I shall devote to Kṛṣṇa, I shall do anything and everything for His satisfaction through His devotees and scriptures given. If you like to do some service, I think I asked Parivrajaca Mahārāja also, he perhaps his visa may allow him to stay for fifteen or so more days. So at least ten days he may attempt the public, religious public, they help these festivals to be managed. "You come and you also help. Many sādhus and many ordinary gr̥hastha men, women, they will come for the circumambulation of the nine islands, Navadvīpa, Mahāprabhu, with saṅkīrtana. (The nine islands of Navadvīpa Dhām are: Antardwīp, Sīmantadvīp, Godrumadvīp, Madhyadvīp, Koladvīp, Modadrūmadvīp, Jahnūdwīp, and Ṛtūdwīp). That will be a very religious scenery. You all come and see and partake in that. And for that some rice, wheat, some vegetable oil, some potato, whatever you like to give us we shall take it there." This way, the method in this way to collect funds for the annual celebrations.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We try in our hands but the result is in the hands of Kṛṣṇa. Sometimes this experience we have got, sometimes we tried hard in one place but no sufficient result. But in another place with least endeavour we get much. Where we give more, much attention, sometimes we may fail there and with very least attention and energy we get more. It is managed by Kṛṣṇa. So we do not know what will happen but we shall try, we shall try.

karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana

mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi

Kṛṣṇa said to Arjuna: "I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties."

(Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47)

Don't look after the result but concentrate yourself wholesale in the discharge of your duty that there may not be any fault in discharging your duty. That is your part. And what result will come, good or bad, you have nothing to bother with that. It is His will. With this spirit we are to go on collection. And also underlined that if I can get something from him to be utilised for the service of Mahāprabhu then this man unconsciously will be benefited for his eternal life. That will be in the subconscious area. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Never bother about that, but wholly concentrate in your duty. That is the key to success of one's life towards eternity. Then we come very close to eternity, eternal will, the absolute will. I'm doing so much expecting how my labour is met with the eternal will. But I must not be dejected, must not be dejected, try to satisfy myself under any eventuality. That is the test in our life. This is not an endeavour for a day or two but I am going to practice my Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:uses for himself, nor he abandons anything, but accepts anything and everything only for His satisfaction. That is Vaiṣṇava.

karmani kama nahi tava dham taha mali keval yadav ?

He is the only enjoyer of all the lady experience. And kanak, money, all for Nārāyaṇa, Lakṣmi. Lakṣmi for Nārāyaṇa. And pratiṣṭhā, name, fame, that is for Gurudeva, Baladeva, Rādhārāṇī. Who gives, the famous, who is the famous? Who can give the Absolute to others. That is the highest fame, name, highest name belongs to him who can give God to others. No more fame is possible anywhere. The Vaiṣṇava Guru, they distribute, they give Kṛṣṇa, distribute Kṛṣṇa to the whole world. So they are the most, their credit is the highest, most famous are they, Baladeva, Rādhārāṇī, Nityānanda, Gurudeva. The fame, the name to him, and Lakṣmi the money, energy for Nārāyaṇa. And the lady enjoyment reserved only for Kṛṣṇa.

karmani kama nahi tava dham taha mali keval yadav ?

Only Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead. He is the master everywhere of everything. Beauty, beauty, enjoyer of beauty. Eye beauty, ear beauty, food beauty, everything, beauty stage is enjoyed by, reserved for Him, Reality the Beautiful.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Our own experience is the guarantee. How we understand the purity in other departments? How? This is more life, this is vague life. This is more salt, this is less salt. This is more sugar, sweet, this is less sweet. How do we understand? That may be applied everywhere, it is possible. The tongue can say that this is less sweet, this is more sweet.

So with intelligence, how can we understand this man is intelligent and he's a fool, stupid. How can we understand? If we are acquainted with what is reason, what is intelligence, if we understand ourselves, then we can find this man is intelligent and this man is stupid. How do we understand?

Other things, that same thing, common sense may be applied here. Different departments. The ear has got its sound, sweet sound, this is very regulated sound, the ear can say about sound. Eye can say about beauty. Tongue can say about taste. So also our reason can say where is reason. So also our purity will say where is purity. Purity in renunciation or purity in service? Everyone has got his own jurisdiction, the jurisdiction of the ear to ascertain what is good, bad. Tongue, touch, and reason, and also the inner purity, fairness, fairness.

Which is higher, the renunciation or service? Service means renunciation plus doing something. Not half enjoyment and half service, not. Not to enjoy anything, not to lord it over anything. I have connection with something outside, but not for my selfish purpose but to help His existence. After renunciation I have got enjoying connection, I cut off, I don't enjoy. Again I want to serve, is something more. In this way we are to understand what is more pure. To neglect something because it is harmful to me and again to help that thing in a right spirit and not in the name of help to kill it, to destroy it. And all calculation from the centre, in relation to the centre, not my faulty local calculation. We are to understand that also that my calculation may be faulty. There are higher planes and that calculation will be higher. In this way what should be the highest calculation I shall have to understand and follow, and that capacity is within me. Everywhere in our life we use such things otherwise we are stone.

Living things means there is calculation and good or bad conception, and reject the bad and accept the good. And what is good, what is bad? That also, that qualitative difference also we know indifferent plane, and plane also lower plane and higher plane, that also we can understand. That this man is living in the lower plane of life, this is higher plane, and how it is low and how it is high, that standard of measurement is here. And that is in general, the enjoyment is bad, renunciation is in the middle, and the service of everything that cannot but be the highest. To do good to everything. And what is that good? That is not to be calculated by my understanding but from the central calculation. Goodness, that we are to accept.

Not rupee or dollar or yen or rubble, but gold standard should be measured. Not partial. And what has got its prominent position with the gold, that paper must have a higher value. Which is in the credit, a small paper, given the stamp, dollar, that will be ten times rupee. The credit is there. So from the central calculation. So we are to understand for ourselves, the idea of enjoyment, the idea of renunciation, and idea of service. And service calculative and service spontaneous. What is higher, what is better? We are to understand for ourselves the degree of purity, how much where? Otherwise why we should enter at all in the society. Before we enter at all in the society we must have to test it, and to satisfy our full understanding that I am jumping, where? That is surely a better plane, higher plane, and only for this it is higher. Not for any ulterior motive, and if anyone comes with some ulterior motive he'll be deceived, if anyone does not come with sincere heart he'll be deceived, he can't stay for long.

At the same time also it is said our knowing faculty fails to appreciate, jñāna sunya bhakti. That I can know, I can measure, I can weigh, this very idea is disqualification. The faith is more reliable than our knowledge of weighing things good and bad. Faith can take us nearer to that higher domain where our calculating faculty resigns to enter. How much calculation? What unit I have got to measure the distance of the sun and so many stars? This inch, this mile, all this futile, that light years must be taken in for the measurement, light years. What is light year? One second, a hundred and seventy five miles speed and that is twelve years that sort of speed, that is unit. With that unit we are to measure such great distance.

So faith can measure to certain extent. Our knowledge of experience of the environment has got nothing to contribute in that area. Faith, śraddhā, 'yes, it is possible, yes, it is heart's approval, heart within is approving and not my knowledge.' Knowledge is running from this quarter to that quarter, the whole area of his experience, and getting out the file and record, all these things, but no record there, there is no record in all the files I have got, knowledge will say, finished.

But the heart will respond: "Yes, it is home like thing. I feel that it is like my home, home like thing. So I must take risk to go to my home, the sound of sweet home is coming to my heart, the approval of the heart will come. I think I am quite at home with this idea. It is very sweet, let me risk and give a lift.

(In the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Lord Brahmā said to the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa):

"Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3)

No possibility of any being a loser, but gainer, it gives like the sun ray in the morning some sort of news coming from my sweet home. That inner feeling that will help him embrace the truth. Śraddhā, sukṛti, the comprehensive solution.

kr̥ṣṇe bhakti kaile sarva karma kṛta haya

("We should have faith that if we do our duty towards the Absolute, then all our duties to the environment are automatically done.) (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.62)

If I put food to the stomach, the whole body is fed. If I pour water into the root, the whole tree is fed. This is the most encouraging thing. If I do service to the centre, the whole universe will be fed. The most encouraging principle. I must jump here. And sweetness, sweetness, beauty above power, mercy above justice, all these things will appeal to the heart. The mercy is above justice, affection is above punishment, beauty, sweetness is above power. This is good, will appeal to the heart. I want that thing. In this way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pure and impure, superior and inferior.

By which we can know the unknowable, that is the principle learning. We are in bondage, this is the concrete fact, trouble with us, we are under bondage, we are under mortality. All our attempts are redundant, abnormal, irrelevant, without the style of get out of this mortal zone, that has got realistic view. He's always devoured by this fate in the jaw of the death and he's running after luxury or enjoyment, that is all foolish, madness. So real education will be such which can help us to get out of this bondage, this mortality, that always dying stage, egoistic feeling. Aparā, that is which is of lower type of education, that is education to continue under this bondage and to search for relief from the fleeting difficulties, temporary difficulties. To run after that phantasmagoria. That is lower class of study by which we only give attention to the immediate problems and not the permanent eternal problems. But by the study by which we face the real and eternal problem, that is study proper and that study is revealed scripture, study of them.

Then today also in general the Sāraswati pūjā, bhagvedi ? that means aparā vidyā ?

Ordinary learning under this three dimensions which is concerned with our senses and the body interest, try to solve that, that is one class of study. But higher class of study is that which gets us relief from the wholesale troubles, and that is not only negative but positive by the attainment of the, by the fulfilment of our life. That is the higher study.

So Viṣṇu Prīya Devī she appeared also this day, this day. When the people are mad with this material study of lower type, at that time, that day, Viṣṇu Prīya Devī, the potency of Śrī Gaurāṅga, Nārāyaṇa, who generally comes here to distribute the Name of Kṛṣṇa to relieve the people every yuga, Yugāvatara, Yugāvatara Gaura Nārāyaṇa, and His potency Viṣṇu Prīya Devī she appeared in this day.

And leaving her Mahāprabhu went away when she was a very young girl at that time. And she also led a very strict spiritual life. We are told that she used to take the Name as long as Śacī Devī lived, she was under her guidance, used to nurse her, obey her, to look after her, she was an old lady, mother-in-law, engaged in her service, exclusively devoted to her. But after that Śacī Devī disappeared very soon and then Viṣṇu Prīya Devī was independent.

One old servant, Īśāna was there, another his brother Vamśi Vadanānanda was his guardian living there. And she did not get out of the room, or house, the high compound wall. And she used to count the beads, count the beads and counting one bead she put some counting emblem by rice, one Name one rice, one Name one rice. One means sixteen Names one rice. In this way how many rice she counted and she boiled them and offered to the Lord Kṛṣṇa and she used to take that much, that much, so her body emaciated gradually. But she continued that sort of life of privation, austerity, very strictly she was.

She came, her father was Sanātana Mīśra. Her brother's lineage is still found in Banapura near Kalna and she established Mahāprabhu's Vighraha for her life worshipping, whole life. And the Vighraha first when Vighraha was presented to her she told that it is not up to mark. Then third time when the Śrī Mūrti was taken to her she suddenly covered her face. It was so vivid, vividly representing Mahāprabhu, Nīmāi Paṇḍit, Śrī Gaurāṅga. Then that Vighraha, her father's lineage they're worshipping therein Mahāprabhu perhaps. But as is the case within the mundane world gradually everything degrades, so they're also in the same line, not practising their holy observances. Eat anything and everything. And anyhow just like a trade the Vighraha worship is going on there in their own way and the, as general the pūjā that has been, the Deity is the property and every partner has got his own share. They look after some six months, or even three months, or one month, or a fortnight. In this way according to the relative keeping the worship is also divided and they do and what pranami comes, not only pranami, pranami as you read, they receive, and also they have appointed a tax like thing, give. Everyone, every onlooker must give one rupee, or two rupees, or (eight tanners?) or something must give. Pay and then you'll be allowed to have a vision. Gauḍīya Maṭh is against that. A poor man who cannot pay the visiting money then he won't be able to have a look of the Deity. What is this? So as much as possible as one can give he will give so much pranami, pranami should be given of course for the respect of the Deity. But there should not be any fixed rate that one must pay a rupee then he'll be allowed to have a look, this is trade. So we are against that way, their system. And also those that are worshipping they do not follow the strictly regulations of a pure devotee. All these things going on. But still, that is the Deity, of course, after worship was almost nearly five hundred years ago, so many times that has been changed. And also they show the wooden sandals of Mahāprabhu which Mahāprabhu gave to Viṣṇu Prīya Devī. That sandal is still here continuing. In this way, here the Deity.

In previous days sometime some complaint came from the Hindu public who are learned, especially the śakta brāhmaṇas. "That Mahāprabhu, he was a man. Why his figure will be worshipped?" There was some famine or some flood and they complained like that to the king of Krishnanaga under whose jurisdiction this pūjā used to take place. Then for fear of that, that the pūjā may be checked, may be closed by the order of the king, so underground they managed to keep for some time the pūjā.

Then Manipura Mahārāja came and one paṇḍit from Vṛndāvana, Tota Purī he also came and there was a discussion of the scripture and the brāhmaṇa paṇḍits they could not refute the argument of that Tota Purī paṇḍit. He proved that according to śāstra the Yugāvatara is Śrī Caitanyadeva. And also the Manipura Raja came and he was an independent king at that time, he took leave from Mahārāja of Krishnaga, certain portion of the land there, and he started worship of Mahāprabhu, every day doing. Krishnaga zamindar line under the Mohammedan rule could not oppose. So in this way that worship continues.

Then it was on the other side of the Ganges, and at that time this river Sarasvatī, she was this side and gradually that Sarasvatī approached towards that northern side. And the town on the other side of the Ganges, the course of Sarasvatī went that side and all broken the people they used to come this side. In this way the town came this side and that side was jungle. But this Deity was also brought to this side of Navadvīpa, before, it was on the other side, Māyāpur, Yogapiṭha there.

In this way Viṣṇu Prīya Devī she lived worshipping Mahāprabhu's Deity and very strictly following the rules of a pure devotee. And in a very, observing too much austerity, she did. Viṣṇu Prīya Devī's day of appearance today.

Another, Raghunandana, who is supposed to be the Pradyumna āvatara. Vāsudeva, Saṅkarṣaṇa, Pradyumna, Aniruddha. The four delegated appearance of Kṛṣṇa, and also in Vaikuṇṭha. That Pradyumna, he came in the family of the sakhas in Śrī Khanda near Katwa. And from his childhood he was a born devotee necessarily.

And one day his father Mukunda Sakha, he was a good physician, kavirāja, he had some important call from a place which was a little far off. Before leaving the house there was no other person to take the charge of worshipping Gopāla Mūrti there, their family Deity, he asked the young boy, Raghunandana: "Raghunandana you please look after my Deity that He may get some food, send His way. You please feed Him, feed the Deity." Raghunandana was a simple boy. His mother prepared the dish for the bhogam. Raghunandana performed his pūjā regular then the bhogam was offered. And he thought, a simple boy, young man, thought what is given to the Deity the Deity will take it, eat it. And especially his father told: "You must give bhoga to my Deity." And he thought the Deity will eat. He put the dish before the Deity and shut the doors as his father did, then entered again the room and found it is there as it is and began to cry. "What is this? My father asked me to feed You and You are not eating. Father will come and punish me. What is this?" Began to cry. Again he tried bhogam, closed the door. "Please, You take this Prasādam otherwise I will be punished by my father." In this way, twice, thrice, then Gopāla had to take that food.

Then his mother came. "Why so late, so late, you open the door, I shall take the Prasāda and distribute to all. Your father will come soon perhaps. Then he opened the door. "What is this?" Mother came to take the Prasāda: "What is this? Nothing here, you boy, you have eaten up everything. You are to offer to the Deity and the Deity takes it, not physically, but by His glance, gracious glance He accepts misti bhoga and we take all maybe, with that Prasāda we go on. A small quantity we'll distribute to everyone then other foods also take. But today what is this? The whole pot is empty. What is this?"

"No, no, Gopāla has eaten, no, Gopāla has eaten." "You are lying. Gopāla never eats."

In this way, then the father came, mother wept. "You have given the charge of worshipping to this foolish boy. I produced the dish, the bhoga to the Deity and when I came very late I came to take the Prasādam and the dishes were empty. The boy must have eaten it but he says Gopāla has eaten it. You see how your son has grown. So much down right lies, falsehood, he speaks that Gopāla has eaten."

The father also pressed. But that one line: "Gopāla has eaten. I cried but first Gopāla did not eat, but I cried, appealed, prayed, cried, appealed, then Gopāla ate it."

"Is it?" Then what to do? Some other day he was given again to do that. "You try to get Gopāla to eat this." And some other day also he did so. "What is this? This boy can feed the Gopāla, this Prasādam Gopāla eats Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This way, then we shall be considered a proper candidate to march in the infinite world. That is the key.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Also very particular about this nirjana bhajana, this solitary taking of the Name, or thinking, meditation. No, not reliable.

.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's so wonderful that in spite of all these cheatings everything is all right. Ha, ha. How it is possible? Cheating is also more than grace, grace, cheating is not cheating. When you think, suppose mother affectionately is cheating her child if he's not fit to get proper diet. When he's sick she may not give a sort of diet to him, she may give other children some food and may not give that very food to another child. That is the affection in the bottom. The difference in the dealings of the same mother to different children, that may be in different ways but it is all affectionate and healthy. So vaicitra, variety, variegatedness means difference in response from the centre. As you deserve so you have. You may think that I am being deceived but it is not deception, it will fit you best, you may not know, you may not know, jñāna sunya bhakti, ignorant faith. "You do not know everything. But in My dealing there is nothing wrong, absolute good."

He's cheating, stealing something from someone and giving that thing to another one. In such dealing also there is fairness and perfect affection. Ha, ha. He is stealing His own things. Yaśodā has kept things for His utility. He can take it, He can take it plainly, but He won't take it, He will steal it, steal it. And causing some agitation in the mind of the mother, causing a sort of impression, happy impression, though apparently it seems to be very, she seems to be angry, Yaśodā, but still at heart she's very, very satisfied. "My Boy is my Boy. They say that He's not my Son. Some say He's God. Some say He's a great soul. He's not my Boy. Who? He's stealing, feeling, playing with me, I am punishing Him and He's crying. He's my Boy. But they say wrong, foolishly." Very satisfied at heart. "He's my Boy, exceptional qualities but my Boy. He's not God, He's not God. If He's God then I am nowhere. I'm an insignificant woman and He's God how can I have any connection with Him? That is horrible. I can't tolerate that, that He's not my Boy He's God, I can't tolerate that idea."

Ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

So what is cheating and what is giving? Everything may be played as in a drama. Drama's credit is in show not in the matters that is dealt within it. Only the cleverness in the show, that is the credit of the drama, and not in the fact. If a man can show, play the part of a thief or a dacoit very well then the applause will come: "Oh." So concerned with the show, not with the material in the drama. So like that.

First I was told in Benares by Guru Mahārāja, Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura. He was talking with a Māyāvādī, discussing, in course of that, I was a newcomer but listening to his words with very rapt attention, I marked, he told:

siṅgha prasena arovin dwaraka ?

The lion is devouring this prasena anabadit prasena ?

Prasena was perhaps the brother of Satyabhāmā, siṅgha prasena anabadit ?

Satrajit's son in the morning he went on a pleasure tour in the jungle and one lion charmed by the dazzling appearance of the gem murdered that, killed that gentleman Prasena and took that gem with him.

In that incident Guru Mahārāja is explaining there that the both parties are enjoying. Prasena, though he's killed, but still he's enjoying, enjoying. And the lion he's also enjoying. Both the parties are enjoyers, none losers, because real death is not possible in that playing, both are enjoying, both. One who is dying and one who is killing, both the parties are enjoyers. We are to understand that, how it is possible. The gainer and the loser in the same incident, gainer and the loser both are gainer and none is real loser. Such is the playing. We are to try to understand how it is possible. Both the parties, one is being murdered and there is murderer, both are gainer, none is loser. Ha, ha. Such is the play, it is a play, līlā, līlā means play. Not really any loss, that is līlā, līlā.

Ahaituky apratihātā, which is causeless and which is irresistible. The wave, the vibration, that is existing and moving and that is cent per cent irresistible and cent per cent causeless, automatic, automatic, none can oppose it. That is devotion, that is prema, that is love. But it has got its flow in a crooked way.

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet ato hetor ahetoś ca,
yūnor māna udañcati

"Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa." (Ujjvala-nīlamanī)

In a crooked way, but still it is playing, līlā means such. Everything, ārtheṣv abhijñāḥ svarāṭ, (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1), He knows what for these movements, only He's supposed to know, none else. And svarāṭ, He's not to explain for His movement to anyone else. He's self-sufficient, svarāṭ. He's master of His own, not responsible to explain His movements to any other person. Then He's not svarāṭ, not Absolute. Because He's Absolute so He won't have any responsibility to give explanation for any movement of Him to anybody. And ahaituky apratihātā. This must be the nature of the Absolute Good. And it is wholesome at the same time. Svarāṭ, Who is free, absolutely free, Who is Absolute Good He should be free. Absolute Goodness that should get all sort of freedom, and not absolute bad and not relative bad or relative good. Only Absolute Good has got Its full play. It is desirable for anyone and everyone. So the autocracy and He knows Him fully, ārtheṣv abhijñāḥ svarāṭ. How do you say? Tene brahma hṛdā, (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1), through Veda, through revealed scripture, and that He sends through the creator here. Bhāgavata's first śloka. Tene brahma means Veda, revealed scripture, tene, He extended here in this mundane world. Ādi-kavaye means the first creator, Brahmā, through him He extended this Vedic Truth, the revealed scripture, here in the mundane world for us to understand, to follow, that I am so and so. Otherwise we can't know Him. Unknown and unknowable. Avāṇ-manaso gocaraḥ (the mind is full of misconception). Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas:

nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūṁ svām

"One cannot understand the substance of the Paramātmā, the Super-soul residing within everyone's heart, by means of expertise in logic, intelligence or learning. When the living entity begs the Lord for His mercy, being desirous of His transcendental loving service, then the Supreme Lord reveals His self-manifest form directly before him."

(Kaṭha-Upaniṣad, 1.2.23) + (Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 2.3.2)

Only when He wants us to make Him known we can know Him, otherwise not. He wants, and how much He wants to be known by us we can know that much only, nothing more. His will. Muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ, (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1), the great scholars they will fail totally to understand, to follow this idea. The sūrayaḥ means the scholars, they can't understand all these things, can't accept, can't understand, can't follow, muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ.

Tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā, (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1), What you see here concrete, the matter, the water, the gas, the heat, the fire, the ether, all transformation, one into another. Now what is very hard next moment that can be converted into gas, or ether, electricity, maybe transformed. In this way, into mental consciousness, into understanding and intelligence also it may be converted.

As our Guru Mahārāja used to tell: "If you can break the electron, atom, proton, the most constructive smallest piece, still it is matter. Again if you break you will find consciousness." That was his argument. "If you can break, you can smash, the last particle of matter, then you will find consciousness. It is under, at the back of every existence is consciousness. It is in the plane of consciousness that the material dusts are moving, you will have to find. The magnitude, atomic energy with the least magnitude, break it, you will find consciousness." Sometimes he told like that. "The background of all the existence is consciousness."

Tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā. "So what do you say to be rigid matter, or water, or air. It is real and non real. It is My sweet will, sweet will. I am at the back. If I withdraw, nothing they will be. I am everywhere I am nowhere. Everything in Me nothing in Me. Pasyama,

My, this mystic inconceivable position try to understand.

Dhāmnā svena sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ satyaṁ param dhīmahi. By His ray only we can see what is what, dhāmnā svena sadā, when His wish comes to act in us, then we can know what is proper and what is improper. Nirasta-kuhakaṁ, unreliable things are withdrawn. Satyaṁ param dhīmahi, truth and real truth, truth is always real and again real higher truth, what is that? Satyaṁ means existence, that is not finite. Already we find in the Vedas that satya has been given, truth has been given perfect importance, full importance. But the Bhāgavata says under adjective param satyaṁ, satyaṁ param.

In Brahmā's tol,

satya baddham satya param kasatyam, satya sejoni nijan satoja satyatmakam tam saranam prapanna ?

Truth, truth, truth, so many aspects of truth.

satya sesatyam rdha satya netram ?

Truth of the truth, satya sesatyam means literally truth of the truth, satya sesatyam. Satyam param dhimahi, satya means not law, not any, the inner substance, satya sesatyam, the truth of the truth, the essence of the essence, satya sesatyam.

Rdha satya netram, satya sejoni nijan satoja, how the conception of Kṛṣṇa, and the conception of truth are interrelated, it is mentioned here. Truth is the most comprehensive word, truth. But truth is not sufficient, it is not full, so many modifications in truth. That is wonderful to hear and to understand. Truth is the most general conception, truth. But it is not satyam param dhimahi, let us meditate on the highest truth. What is that? Who is helping the very existence of truth, so called. So

satyatmakam tam saranam prapanna ?

"We have come to take refuge under You my Lord, who has got so many variegated postures and gestures and relations with what we know as the truth proper. Truth is not sufficient, You are above truth. Truth is truth to us because You are there in the background, You connect us with the truth then we can know the truth. So without You everything is nonsense, You are

.....gods have come and with folded palms he's singing in praise of Kṛṣṇa. There this poem in Bhāgavatam we find, begins with that, satya baddham satya param.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi
Gaura Hari.

So our number of, let us hope wherever this body may be does not matter, only by thinking we can come together, similar thinking keeps us closer. Similar thought, similar heart, similar movement, similar aspiration, that brings us nearer. The body may be far off, does not matter.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi
Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

So I close here.

Devotee: Concerning a Deity, a brahmacārī who has a Deity, who carries a Deity with him. What is some prescribed worship of the Deity for the brahmacārī, not for householders?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Deity worship is necessary in the primary stage. Just as our ear experience can help us by taking Name, hearing, so eye experience cannot be excluded, that also can help us. If material sound can help, then material vision can also help. Through that also transmission is possible. When we have faith in sound, sound is more subtle but still it is material thing, sound, which is received by the ear, this material ear, sound material. So material eye can see material form and that experience also can help us. He can come through that medium also, but that must have spiritual connection, that is what is all important.

All sound, the Nāma-aparādha, we may take name from any man in the street, that won't do. But from a proper Gurudeva we must have the mantram or the Nāma. Why? The sound has also classification, śabda-brahma, that real sound and the spiritual sound. Do you follow?

So, what we can see that also may be spiritual and also can be material. So matter won't help us to get out of the material experience but a spiritual sight can help us to get out of the material, as spiritual sound can help us to get out of the material sound. So everything, everything, that transcendental medium. But it is more efficient, the sound more subtle, more efficient. Prasāda, taste, that also real Prasāda, that also helps us to get out of the material conception of life. Touch also like that, everything, everything if backed by transcendental interference then everything may help us, even our dress, tvayopabhukta-srag-gandha: If we dress ourselves Uddhava says:

tvayopabhukta-srag-gandha-, vāso 'laṅkāra-carccitāḥ ucchiṣṭa-bhojino dāsās, tava māyām jayema hi

"Adorned with the articles that have been offered to You, such as garlands, fragrant clothing, and ornaments, we, Your personal servitors who partake of Your holy remnants alone, will certainly be able to conquer Your illusory energy (māyā)."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.6.46)

The famous statement of the devotee Uddhava: "We shall conquer this illusion of māyā, our illusory experience, only by engaging ourselves in the service of Your Prasāda remains. Srag, this mālā, Prasādi mālā. Gandha, the, which You have already taken, that sweet scent. Srag-gandha-, vāso, the dress what we have already taken to that Prasāda dress also. Alaṅkāra, and other ornaments also. We can, what You have used, that Prasāda, that it is remains You have given it to us. With this idea we shall conquer the māyā, this world of misunderstanding. Only anyhow to connect sincerely with things connected with transcendental Lord, that is necessary. So ucchiṣṭa, the sight, our eyes must not be let loose to see anything and everything. But wherever I shall see seeing connection of the Lord, His figure, His dressing, His ornaments, His Dhāma. The eyes must be engaged in His connection, ear must be engaged in His connection, tongue His connection, touch His connection, everything should be engaged in His connection. And that must be developed, that sort of experience, then we shall get out of this mundane environment. Do you understand?

Then also it is mentioned:

yena janma-śataiḥ pūrvam, vāsudevaḥ samārcitaḥ tan-mukhe hari-nāmāni, sadā tiṣṭhanti bhārata

"O descendent of Bhārata! What was previously obtained by hundreds of lifetimes of worshipping Vāsudeva through arcana - Deity worship - can now be attained by vibrating the Holy Name of Śrī Hari; therefore you should always keep the Holy Name upon your tongue." (Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, 11.237)

One who has used himself in arcana for a hundred births, then he will find that automatically in his tongue the Name of the Lord will appear. Yena janma-śataiḥ pūrvam, vāsudevaḥ samārcitaḥ, this Vāsudeva Mūrti has been worshipped for a hundred births, then he will have some facility in taking the Name of the Lord which is more subtle. So arcana for the lower class, and the Nāma for little higher class, arcana. But arcana depends on sound, sound also guides our arcana. Who cannot independently take the facility of the sound, some model is necessary for him, in the lowest stage, arcana. He will be allowed to handle the things that will, he can't concentrate on the sound and the meaning underlying the sound. But if he's allowed to handle the Vighraha, with the hands, with the eyes, and so many movements, he will have the facility and in his stage he will think it's some realistic movement for him. The wholesale more demand on the bodily engagement in arcana than sound. Sound is more abstract and arcana is more concrete. Much energy is necessary to perform arcana, but to take the Name very least energy is necessary, to take the Name. And arcana you are to do many things. So the movement it will catch the movement of the whole body and regularly you will have to rise in the morning for maṅgala-ārati, then you are to purify yourself, and then to attend, and then to take the bhoga, and taking out, āraṭi, all these things. More physical intense engagement in arcana.

Devotee: For a brahmacārī who doesn't have any fixed residence

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmacārī or sannyāsī does not matter, but that stage of the devotee is conscious not only the form, the stage, the internal realisation, accordingly. But generally the sannyāsī they are meant for preaching and brahmacārī is for the arcana. But in brahmacārī dress also one can preach, in gr̥hastha dress also one can preach, the preaching thing is something else. Arcana also, a gr̥hastha may do arcana. Anyone can do anything but the general classification is that arcana in the beginning and the Name is a higher form of service, Nāma-bhajana.

When to take Name means to preach, that is something solid, and when to only take the Name that may be abstract and there is possibility of self deception, self privation, no attention may come, the repetition of the sound is going on with any sort of idea. Arcana means we must have to utilise some energy more than in Nāma- bhajana. Nāma-bhajana is higher than, must be in higher plane, and arcana in the physical plane has more necessity. That is a gr̥hastha he should have arcana because he's in gr̥hastha āśrama he's to deal with many things ..... material things and very little in the sound. The serving attitude in connection with the personal truth must have connection whatever we do here. Either arcana or bhajana, preaching or śravaṇa, kīrtana, smaraṇa, vandana, any form of devotion, the very life, very spirit is to have connection with the Supreme. Some sort of movement must be created in our mental plane, and some change must be brought in our mental system. That is the tendency of exploitation and renunciation, both must vanish and it will be replaced by the tendency of service. We are serving units, we are not a member of the world of exploitation nor a hunter of the imaginary liberation. But we are a concrete part of the realistic world, whole centre, the Lord is all good. Die to live. Everything for Himself. We are for Him, we are not for us, our individual interest, but we are for the whole and whole is revered, whole is sweet, whole is healthy, wholesome, loving. That sort of change must come in our midst, anyhow, utmost trying.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:who are connected with the misconceived area. And the second representative of Him as Garbhodakaśāyī, He's at the bottom of each brahmāṇḍa. There are innumerable brahmāṇḍas. And Kāraṇodakaśāyī is at the back of all the creation in the ocean of māyā. So many bubbles are floating on the ocean of māyā, misunderstanding. And the next, there are so many brahmāṇḍa constituent parts of the māyic world and at the bottom of each brahmāṇḍa there is one Whose Name is Garbhodakaśāyī, the representative of Kāraṇodakaśāyī. Just as with the governor or district magistrate and this local magistrate. In this way the Kāraṇodakaśāyī at the head of the whole misunderstanding area and He has got some connection so that we may think Him as Mahādeva, Śiva, Who is in connection with māyā. The consciousness has got direct connection with misunderstanding, misconception, that which is at the root of the whole misconception area, Kāraṇodakaśāyī, and so many constituent parts in the misconceived area and every representative in the Garbhodakaśāyī, or Hiraṇyagarbha, He represents Kāraṇodakaśāyī in each brahmāṇḍa, Garbhodakaśāyī, Hiraṇyagarbha. And from His navel, this navi, a lotus coming forth and there the fourteen stages of misconception have been adjusted. And on the top there is Brahmā, and through Brahmā He begins creation. That is this cosmic world, cosmos, and Garbhodakaśāyī.

And then another representative of His, the third, He enters into every jīva soul, Kṣīrodakaśāyī, or Paramātmā. So three puruṣa, one at the bottom of the whole māyic, the whole misconceived area. Another at the bottom of the whole brahmāṇḍa, the constituent parts. And the third puruṣa-avatāra at every jīva soul's heart, at the heart of every jīva soul to guide him as Paramātmā. Three phases of Nārāyaṇa, Viṣṇu, within this Paramātmā who is at the heart of every soul, individual, He's known generally as Kṣīrodakaśāyī or Paramātmā or Viṣṇu. He's palankata, He maintains, He sustains everything here in the māyic world. Satya, raja, tama, creation and destruction and the sustenance is in the middle. Creation and destruction, raja and tama, and the sustenance in the middle, that is done by Viṣṇu, creation by Brahmā, destruction by Rudra, Mahādeva. Which we find in this mundane world of misconception.

And Advaita Ācārya is identified with Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī (a.k.a Kāraṇodakaśāyī) Who is at the background of the whole of misunderstanding creation. And also His another aspect as a devotee just in the verge, in the lower position of the Vaikuṇṭha Nārāyaṇa. This is Advaita Ācārya. And as Mahā-Viṣṇu's devotee, he comes, he appears here, just as before Mahāprabhu comes, and he began to pray: "We see so many painful stages and positions of the jīva suffering." And perturbed by that, moved by that, he prayed for the Lord to come here and to deliver and to save them from the clutches of māyā and by giving them proper devotion and attraction and affection for Kṛṣṇa consciousness. So first Advaita Ācārya descends here and then he looks around and finds that people are all apathetic to the truth, to Nārāyaṇa. They are very fond of worshipping demigods, so many demigods. And going on with their temporary pleasure searching, mad with that without caring for their own soul or liberation or the life after liberation to have a proper adjustment in Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And he's too much disturbed by this scenery, he prays very fervently for the Lord to come here and to preach the Name, the Supreme Name, Nāma-saṅkīrtana by which a general amnesty and peaceful trial may be done to start a campaign towards home, back to God, back to home. This Nāma-saṅkīrtana, and Mahāprabhu with others they also gradually come down here and begin Their Nāma-saṅkīrtana.

The Kṛṣṇa Nāma and Kṛṣṇa, one and the same, that vibration, that sort of sweet vibration anyhow taken down to this miserable ocean of the world. That is where all they do not understand their own interest, own self, or the environment, but they're madly dancing. As a drunkard they dance without caring or knowing about who are they or where are they, what for they're dancing. Just as they say these people are madly engaged in their self-killing attempt. But there, that vibration of the highest type of love divine brought in, and with that saṅkīrtana disinfecting this atmosphere and also creating some influence which can attract them passing so many stages towards Vṛndāvana, the place golokera prema dhana, to Goloka, Vṛndāvana conception of the highest position of reality or consciousness, spiritual world. Which is above justice, above knowledge, above calculation, above morality. The mercy, the affection, the love, the beauty, charm absolute. That is the type there.

I wrote a poem about my Guru Mahārāja long ago, it runs in this way.

nikhila-bhuvana-māyā-chinna-vichinna-kartrī vibudha-bahula-mṛgyā-mukti-mohānta-dātrī śīthilita-vidhi-rāgārādhya-rādheśa-dhānī vilasatu hr̥di nityaṁ bhaktisiddhānta-vāṇī

"Slashing and smashing the illusion of the whole mundane plane, Dealing the deathblow to the scholars' manic search for liberation's throne; Relaxing calculation, for the realm of Pure Devotion in Love of Śrī Rādhā's Lord Supreme: O Abode of Divine Love - Divine Message of Śrī-Bhakti-Siddhānta, May you dance and play and sing your song within my heart forever."

Nikhila-bhuvana-māyā-chinna-vichinna-kartrī, our Guru Mahārāja's name was Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī, Saraswatī means vāṇī, words, expressions, his talk, his speech, vāṇī, Saraswatī means vāṇī, speech. With the speech, with the storehouse of which I am, Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī, what does he mean? His name, what does it mean? Saraswatī means vāṇī, that is his words surcharged with what? The first thing is nikhila-bhuvana-māyā-chinna-vichinna-kartrī. We can find in his speech that he's cutting asunder all the ties and attraction of all the people in this world for mundane purpose, the world of exploitation. His speech is always cutting asunder, demolishing, smashing everything in this misconceived world. All the misconceptions are being smashed by his words, this is the first effect of his words.

And the next, vibudha-bahula-mṛgyā-mukti-mohānta-dātrī, the second result we find from his speech that he goes to deplorable ends all the different attempts of the great theological scholars to search for liberation. Bhukti means enjoyment, mukti means liberation, emancipation from enjoyment. He puts a stop to all scholarly investigation of all different kinds of conception of liberation. That is the second result of his speech, his words. This effect, first stops enjoyment and second stops liberation. So this is nothing, mere liberation is nothing. That is, we must get something positive and not only liberation from the negative that is not the highest acquisition, so vibudha-bahula-mṛgyā, vibudha means scholars, bahula means their various and deep attempts for the solution of the liberation, the attempt. That is smashed also by his words.

And the third, śithilita-vidhi, loosening the strictness of the rules and regulations, raga, which is our inner earnestness and faith and attraction, affection, love, only through that to take us towards rādhēśa-dhānī. By that to worship, to serve, where Rādhārāṇī is serving Her own Lord. Takes us there.

These three steps, by first step he drives away all our moha, our ignorant attraction for this māyic attraction for the enjoyment of this material world in the misconceived area. And the second also he discourages only to search for liberation or emancipation from this enjoyment. That also he discards, he offers something positive. And what is the nature of that positive? If we make much attention towards the śāstra, the rules regulations, calculation, according to that if we approach towards our achievement then that will be less gaining, less gaining. But if we neglect any calculation and from the heart of our heart, we with much earnestness without caring for rules regulations, śāstra, mahājana, sādhu, we can offer our heart for the charming Lord, beauty, and where Rādhārāṇī is serving in that, through that divine love, Her consort, Her Lord, that he really wants us to gain. Our Guru Mahārāja's words are surcharged with such things. First smashing this misunderstanding and neglecting mere liberation and also discouraging the calculative devotion. And finally he's giving us the unlimited beauty and domain of love and to approach through the love of our hearts, sincere love of our hearts. That is his gift. His words are a storehouse of such things. Firstly neglecting all these three stages, this brahmāṇḍa, then the Brahmāloka, and Paravyoma, neglecting entrance into Goloka. And there that sort of wealth he come to distribute to all.

nikhila-bhuvana-māyā-chinna-vichinna-kartrī vibudha-bahula-mṛgyā-mukti-mohānta-dātrī śīthilita-vidhi-rāgārādhya-rādheśa-dhānī

Neglecting the formality but with the heart's spirit, proper spirit, and love, the searching for Kṛṣṇa, he gives us, encourages us that thing within us and that can lead us to the domain where Rādhārāṇī has been through Her highest love is worshipping or serving Her Lord Kṛṣṇa. That he gives us, in one very short śloka.

That is appreciated very much by Acyutānanda and (Maṅgala Nira?) When this Maṅgala Nira went to see Acyutānanda, Acyutānanda before that he told something: "By the request of ISKCON some are against me."

Maṅgala Nira told that: "I saw him and I told, do you remember that stanza of Śrīdhara Mahārāja? That nikhila-bhuvana-māyā-chinna-vichinna-kartrī. He also told: "Yes, I remember. That comes from his heart and you have said something against him. What is this?"

"I was somewhat manipulated to do that."

Then he wrote a letter. Have you seen that letter of Acyutānanda's?

Devotee: Yes, I've read it many times.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Many times, after coming or before?

Devotee: After coming.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he told that I like to come here. But I did not reply to his letter. Let him come, if he comes then I shall talk. That gentleman heard from me something. He lived here for nine months and heard from me and gave an article into Back to Godhead. And that was appreciated very much I was told by him. From shore to shore he told, just pronounced these words, from shore to shore it was very much appreciated, this article, the materials I got from you and I wrote in the Back to Godhead.

Then a reaction came against him: "Leaving away (Śrīla A.C Bhaktivedānta) Swāmī Mahārāja you are taking in another gentleman as a preceptor, in the preceptorial line, you are indenting another gentleman from Navadvīpa. This will loose our credit."

Then some pressure came, then he came here to enquire from Govinda Mahārāja because Swāmī Mahārāja gave a letter in the name of Govinda Mahārāja, that: "I rely on Śrīdhara Maharaja. I send them two disciples there and they will remain and they will be able to learn true devotion from him. With this idea I send them there."

So Acyutānanda told them that: "By the order of Swāmī Mahārāja I came and he has written that I shall have to learn many things from Śrīdhara Mahārāja. So I did, I heard from him, I am not to be blamed for that."

But at that time that letter could not be found. Ha, ha. The original letter that could not be found. So he had to tolerate some undesirable things from his Godbrothers.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The form and the ideal. So Kīrtanānanda came: "Do we not care for form?" "No."

Form breaker. You are also all of that type. You were already in some formality, either Christianity, or Islam, or Judaism, or something, you were there within the form. Why you have broken that form and come joined Swāmī Maharaja? For the ideal. If the form can distribute the proper ideal then that is all right. But mere form cannot be respected. As long as it's doing service to the highest ideal, so long the form should be encouraged and that should have recognition. Otherwise deviating from the ideal that form is abusing itself. So we are not worshippers of form, we are worshippers of the ideal. sarva-dharmān parityajya - sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ:

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ

"Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair." (Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66)

śreyān sva-dharmo viguṇaḥ, para-dharmāt svanuṣṭhitāt sva dharme
nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ

"It is better to carry out one's own duties a little imperfectly rather than faultlessly perform another's duties. Know that even death is auspicious in the discharge of one's duties appropriate to his natural position in the ordained socio-religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous." (Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35)

That is also to make too much for the form. We must die in our own position where we are born. But again, sarva-dharmān parityajya, the revolutionary advice is there. No risk no gain. If you are caught by the high ideal you must leave the formalities outside you, around you, and march boldly towards the ideal. Especially in this human form it is very rarely to be found and if we lose this chance then again when we shall get that on another occasion such a chance we are not sure of that. So this most valuable time in human body we shall try our best, utmost, to march towards the goal recklessly and boldly so that our, with the great devotees, the agents of Kṛṣṇa on our head, they will help us, guide us. Those unknown and who are para-duhkha-duhkhi, always feeling pain for other's suffering. Those magnanimous guides are on the way, they will help us to take towards our goal. We shall try our utmost. He is there, He is everywhere. Na hi kalyāṇa- kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati:

pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati

"O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated." (Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40)

If I am making an attempt for higher things, then how can I be disturbed by the agents of Satanic clan. He's there. I must be sincere in my search, that is what is necessary, I must be friendly to my own self. That is sufficient. Others cannot do anything on us much injury, much harm others cannot do. We are our own enemy. We must have control of our own house, that is what is necessary. And with the help, heart within, God overhead. He's everywhere with His full mercy. He's eager to receive us as His friend and we must prepare ourselves wholeheartedly to make advancement towards Him, that is what is necessary. He's everywhere, He's hearing everything. Only we have built wall against Him, our own built wall must be broken down. That is misconception in the form of exploitation that is enjoyment, and renunciation, mere liberation. Not positive participation into His service. So cruel, so hard hearted we are. But when that wall is broken we can find His self everywhere, everywhere, His assurance.

man-manā bhava mad-bhakto, mad-yājī māṁ namaskuru mam evaiṣyasi
satyaṁ te, pratijāne priyo 'si me

"Think of Me, serve Me, worship Me, offer your very self unto Me, and surely you will reach Me. Sincerely, this is My promise to you because you are My dear friend."

(Bhagavad-gītā, 18.65)

yo māṁ paśyati sarvatra, sarvaṁ ca mayi paśyati tasyāhaṁ na

praṇaśyāmi, sa ca me na praṇaśyati

"For one who sees Me in everything and everything in Me, I do not remain unseen and he also is not unnoticed by Me: he never sways in his thought of Me."

(Bhagavad-gītā, 6.30)

"Who wants to, tries to see Me everywhere, I always protect him, seeing Me everywhere, and ultimately he sees Me everywhere and while in this life or after he cannot but be within Me or within My direct consciousness. Try, that I am to be searched."

Kṛṣṇānusandhāna (the search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa.) Searching we are always for our little negligent comforts. That must be dismissed, brushed aside. Search for Kṛṣṇa. Where Mahāprabhu showed: "You, My friends, show Kṛṣṇa to Me, I can't stand without having a glimpse of His figure, My Lord's figure." Searching, deep hearted searching for Kṛṣṇa. His worth deep searching, worth deep searching. And the searching as much as it will be deeper so much we'll be sustained, it will feed us, that sustenance that will feed us, give us strength for searching more and more, bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā:

smarantaḥ smārayantaś ca, mitho 'ghaughā-haraṁ harim bhaktyā
sañjātayā bhaktyā, bibhraty utpulakāṁ tanum

"The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31)

The bhakti will encourage bhakti, devotion will produce devotion, in this way, further we shall go. The capitalist with a small amount he begins the business, but rolling business, rolling gradually capital grows and the income also grows. In the beginning with small capital a merchant may begin his business, but in the rolling business the capital also grows and the income also grows. So in this way, bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, devotion will breed devotion, devotion will breed devotion, produce devotion, in this way it will go on.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

One who has got this sort of higher experience of divine love in their heart, they cannot find any taste anywhere. Nothing is tasteful to them but Kṛṣṇa, none less than Kṛṣṇa conception of the Lord, friend, can satisfy them anytime. Who are they?

"And who are satisfied with Me:

maya santustamana sadba suka maya do ?

"Whatever direction he will cast his glance he will find: 'Oh, good news is coming,' who is satisfied with Me. And who cannot find Me whatever direction he casts his glance he will find only anxiety and trouble."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

yasmin tuṣṭe jagat tuṣṭam priṇite priṇito jagat

(By satisfying Kṛṣṇa, the whole universe becomes satisfied, for one who is dear to Kṛṣṇa is dear to the whole universe.)

If we can find Him, then we'll be quite at ease. "Oh, my guardian is everywhere, His hand is everywhere. Everything under His control and He's my friend, my guardian. Then why should we care for anything else here, I won't care for anything because everything must have to come through the direction of my guardian's hand. He's friendly." Suhrdaṁ sarvva-bhūtānām:

bhoktāraṁ yajña-tapasāṁ, sarva-loka-maheśvaram suhrdaṁ sarvva-bhūtānām, jñātvā mām śāntim ṛcchati

"I am the enjoyer of the results of sacrifice performed by the fruit-hunter, as well as the results of austerity performed by the liberation-seeker - I am their only worshipping object; I am Nārāyaṇa, the indwelling monitor of all planes of life, and the Supreme Worshipping Personality who awards liberation. And I am the well-wisher of all - I am Kṛṣṇa, the devotee's most adorable friend. The soul who thus knows My true identity attains the ecstasy of knowing his own original divine identity."
(Bhagavad-gītā, 5.29)

"I am the controller of everything but I am friendly to everything, to everyone." So when you can realise this fact then only you are relieved from all sort of anxiety, no anxiety, because the director and dispenser of everything, I am represented there, well represented, He's my friend, my well-wisher, my guardian. Then no anxiety.

Suhrdaṁ sarvva-bhūtānāṁ, jñātvā mām śāntim ṛcchati: "He can only find peace, who can see Me everywhere over all."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Here I close the class.

Devotee: Caitanya Mahāprabhu ever carry a tridaṇḍa, or only eka-daṇḍa ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Formerly He took eka-daṇḍa but mentally or spiritually He took tridaṇḍa, because, after taking that eka-daṇḍa when He was starting towards Vṛndāvana He chanted a śloka and that is mentioned in the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam from the chapter of tridaṇḍī bikṣu. In Bhāgavatam, eleventh canto, where Kṛṣṇa is giving advice to Uddhava there is a story relating tridaṇḍī bikṣu of Avantī, Avantī (means Jain, parent with Jain ?) in Gauḍīya.

Where Kṛṣṇa took His training from Sāndīpani Ṛṣi. Got His sacred thread of a kṣatriya and passed sometime there. Went to fetch (a few jewels ?) from the next jungle in the āśrama of Sāndīpani, Avantī. There a rich brāhmaṇa he was very miserly and not discharging any duty of varṇāśrama. Everyone was very much vexed with his behaviour. At last his face turned down and everyone came to be his enemy, the dacoits, the thieves, then the borrowers of money, and then the court case. So many disasters at once fell on his head and he turned to a poorest man of the town. Then he took tridaṇḍam and left his house. "Why this great change in my life? What is the cause? This is the time, or the planets, or my ill fortune, my karma, or the society, or the gods? Who is the real cause of my misery?"

Discussing all these points he took tridaṇḍa and began to wander at large in the country. And at last he came to the conclusion, there was a śloka from his mouth:

etāṁ sa āsthāya parātma-niṣṭhām, adhyāsitāṁ pūrvatamair maharṣibhiḥ
aham tariṣyāmi duranta-pāram, tamo mukundāṅghri-niṣevayaiva

(The brāhmaṇa from Avantī said:) "I shall cross over the insurmountable ocean of nescience by being firmly fixed in the service of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa. This was approved by the previous ācāryas, who were fixed in firm devotion to the Lord, Paramātmā, the Supreme Personality of Godhead."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.23.57) + (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.6)

At last he came to this conclusion: "By accepting this dress of a tridaṇḍa I shall engage my thought, word, deed, in the service of Kṛṣṇa and cross the ocean of ignorance and misunderstanding. And I shall reach the feet of Mukunda for His service in this way."

So Mahāprabhu took externally the daṇḍa from a Māyāvādī sannyāsī Keśava Bharatī, though just before His taking sannyāsa He gave His mantra to the ear of that sannyāsa guru. That sannyāsa guru sanctioned that: "Yes, this is the mantram I am to give to You."

In this way He took it from him and as soon as He got that daṇḍam He ran madly towards Vṛndāvana singing this śloka of Bhāgavatam, this poem, tridaṇḍī bikṣu.

And what is tridaṇḍa ? Eka-daṇḍa māyāvāda eka-daṇḍa, only one, nothing else.

And the tridaṇḍa, puruṣa-avatāras, Kāraṇodakaśāyī (Mahā-Viṣṇu), Garbhodakaśāyī (Viṣṇu), Kṣīrodakaśāyī (Viṣṇu), representation of these three aspects of Godhead that are in connection with this mundane world. And also it shows the way that you control your body, word, and mind - thought, and engage, the punishment, daṇḍa, punish them for their previous activities cooperating with this world. And from this time engage them in the service of Kṛṣṇa and not for any other purpose. This is that tridaṇḍa. I have taken it, now I am meant only for the service of Kṛṣṇa and not for any other worldly purposes. With this token in hand one goes out here, there, everywhere. Kāya- mano-vākya (thought, word and deed). He'll chant the Name of Kṛṣṇa, think the līlā, the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, and as body also he will roam about the holy places of Vṛndāvana, Navadvīpa, the līlā form of Kṛṣṇa, in this way. And if they have got any positive engagement in coming in connection with the sādhu, superior devotee, then under his direction he may have engagement more intensely learning higher devotion by engaging the body, the mind, and the words, in the service of Kṛṣṇa for preaching the noble and greatness of the Name of the Lord. That sound aspect and from sound many other aspects also come in connection. That is tridaṇḍa, three, representation of three.

And also at the same time it is as Kāraṇodakaśāyī (Mahā-Viṣṇu), Garbhodakaśāyī (Viṣṇu), Kṣīrodakaśāyī (Viṣṇu), the three aspects of the Supreme Lord that are in connection with this mundane world. Kāraṇodakaśāyī, that is the root of the whole māyic sphere. Garbhodakaśāyī, at the bottom of one brahmāṇḍa. And Kṣīrodakaśāyī at the heart of every jīva. In this way three aspects of the Supreme Lord that are connected with this mundane, misconceived portion of the truth. Their representation.

And there is another representation of His own servitors, tridaṇḍa equal, and one a little less, and that less represents the jīva himself, the carrier of daṇḍam, jīva daṇḍam, there represented. "That I am ready as used myself in the service of the Lord.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol! Nitāi Gaura Hari bol!

In Manu-saṁhita also it is mentioned tridaṇḍa, vākya daṇḍam, mano daṇḍam, kāya daṇḍam, these three are punished down. The mind, body, and words, for their misapplication

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: the pipe, the some of tobacco, and
.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: taṭastha, impartial judgement. We are to understand all these things.

So Guru generally any point connected with Kṛṣṇa to make himself known to the environment. "Come to Me, come to Me. But what am I? Gradually you will come to know. First call, come to Me, I am such and such in a general way." Then as one will advance more and more, he will gather knowledge particular after particular about Him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then he asked Gadādhara: "A great saint has come here in Navadvīpa. Will you go to see him paṇḍit ?"

Gadādhara, he was very fond of saints, "Yes, I shall go when you take me there." Then Gadādhara Paṇḍita, as a young boy of sixteen or seventeen was taken to his house. Gadādhara Paṇḍita saw he is sitting on a good sofa, curled hair, and that is also brushed in a good style and very scented oil is also mixed there. And with a pipe tobacco smoking and that is also very gorgeous type. So at heart Gadādhara Paṇḍita he hesitated and thought otherwise. "You told that you will show a saint. This is the type of saint? What is this? He's a man who dives deep in luxury, tobacco smoking, that also in a gorgeous way. Curled hair scented. And the sofa, the bedding, all valuable. Some many ornaments, house is ornamented. And he has come to show me a sādhu ? What is this?"

Mukunda could understand the mind of Gadādhara Paṇḍita, his heart he could understand, then he in a good voice, he was a good singer, Mukunda. He began singing a śloka in Bhāgavatam.

aho bakī yaṁ stana-kāla-kūṭaṁ, jighāṁsayāpāyayad apy asādhvī lebhe
gatiṁ dhātry-ucitāṁ tato 'nyaṁ, kaṁ vā dayāluṁ śaraṇaṁ vrajema

"How astonishing! When Pūtanā, the wicked sister of Bakāsura, tried to kill child Kṛṣṇa by offering Him deadly poison on her breasts, she reached a position befitting the Lord's nursemaid. Could I ever have as merciful a shelter as that of Lord Kṛṣṇa?"

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.2.23)

This śloka from Bhāgavatam was chanted by Mukunda very sweetly. After the death of Pūtanā, after Pūtanā is killed, Kṛṣṇa gave her the very high position of His own nurse in Goloka, He granted Pūtanā. He killed her Himself by sucking her breast, Pūtanā. You know the tale of Pūtanā. Pūtanā was the sister of that Bakāsura, Bakī, so her name was Bakī, Bakā, her brother he was a great demon and his sister Bakī means Pūtanā. Pūtanā was sent to search after and kill Kṛṣṇa. They're all agents of Kaṁsa sent to Vṛndāvana because Kaṁsa heard when that Devī Kātyāyāni slipped from his hand and he went to dash her into death, but slipped from his hand and went up and told: "Who will kill you He's growing in Gokula." This was told by her. Then Kāṁsa wondered, "What is this?" Then he had some suspicion that in Gokula the Kṛṣṇa must be growing so he used to send so many demons in search of Kṛṣṇa and if possible kill Him. So Pūtanā was sent, she came with the garb of a very affectionate lady. "Oh, Yaśodā, you have got a very beautiful good child I heard. Where is He? Where have you put Him? Oh, you have put Him in such neglected condition. How hard is your heart? You don't know to nurse such a beautiful child." She pressed and took Him, took the child and put on her breast.

Kṛṣṇa of course He knew everything and waiting for the breast. And when put sucking her breast that sucking was with such tremendous force that she came out with her real figure, a gigantic figure and cried at last, dreadful figure and died, fell dead, Pūtanā. And then Kṛṣṇa granted her the position of His eternal nurse, dhātri.

Here the śloka:

aho bakī yaṁ stana-kāla-kūṭaṁ, jighāṁsayāpāyayad apy asādhvī lebhe
gatim dhātry-ucitām

The Pūtanā, that lady demoness, she went to kill Him and He's so gracious, Kṛṣṇa is so gracious that He rewarded her with the position of eternal nurse of Him. So kind. So leaving Kṛṣṇa whomever I shall go towards, such a grand and gracious and kind Lord. Who approaches to kill, what to speak of worshipping, she's going to kill Him, anyone going to kill Him, and He granted her that eternal position of His own nurse. So gracious, so kind, where shall we get. And leaving Him whom shall we approach for worship?

This is the purpose of the śloka. Mukunda chanted in a sweet voice and it entered into the ear of Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi. The change came in his mind and body also. He left the pipe, the pipe fell on the bed. Began to move, began to cry. Then tearing his hairs, then tearing his dress, tearing the bedding. He's convulsing continued. And from the bed he fell on the ground, there also convulsion can't be stopped.

Then Gadādhara Paṇḍita was very much affected: "Oh, what is this? How great the devotee in his heart. I misunderstood him. Only a śloka of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam was chanted and so much high divine love dawned in his heart that he forgot himself totally. All this luxury, all these things, even his body, and he's rolling on the bed and tearing things. What? The śloka of Bhāgavatam has given such impression in his heart. Such a great devotee he is."

Then after an hour or so or more, I don't know, it was finished, then Gadādhara Paṇḍita came to Mukunda. "I have committed offence to this great saint. I thought that what sort of sādhu you took me to see? He's a man of luxury, his dress, his body, his hair polished, all these things, smoking. What sort of sādhu? But you are very kind to me. You chanted one śloka of Bhāgavatam and I saw what change that śloka brought in this great holy man. With my own eyes I saw all these things. Now I think first I took that he's how? What sort of saint is he? I have committed against him. Now try to deliver from that offence."

In this way came. Then Gadādhara Paṇḍita told that one thing. "My Lord is Śrī Gaurāṅga. I shall ask, take His permission. I have not yet taken any initiation. Anyone who is to enter into the line of devotion he must have initiation. So I am not yet initiated. If I take initiation from this holy man, then as guru he will forgive me all my offences and then I will be relieved. You please ask whether he will accept me as his disciple or not. And I am also to ask Nimāi Paṇḍita, He's my guardian."

Then Gadādhara Paṇḍita approached Nimāi Paṇḍita, Śrī Gaurāṅga, Viśvambhara. "Oh, that is the proper man to initiate you. He has come here from Sitagrama(?)"

Already Mahāprabhu began to cry, Premānidhi, his title was Vidyānidhi, Mahāprabhu used to call by Premanidhi that Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi. "Bāpay Puṇḍarīka, Bāpay Puṇḍarīka." Mahāprabhu inspired by the feeling of Rādhārāṇī suddenly He's crying one day: "Puṇḍarīka Bāpay, Puṇḍarīka Bāpay." He's crying.

Then this Mukunda and others asked: "Puṇḍarīka, who's this Puṇḍarīka? Is he a sādhu of our neighbourhood in a far off place? Then Puṇḍarīka must have come. Mahāprabhu is crying taking the name of Puṇḍarīka, "Bāpay Puṇḍarīka, O My father Puṇḍarīka." Inspired with the feeling of Rādhārāṇī.

Then He went, Mahāprabhu says: "Yes I know Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi, Premānidhi. My father has come, you take initiation from him."

Then Gadādhara Paṇḍita took initiation from Puṇḍarīka.

Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi outwardly he's a gr̥hastha, a man of luxury but inward he was a great devotee. His friend was Svarūpa Dāmodara, a very intimate friend. And once he went to Purī and it so happened that in the front of Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi the pandas of Orissa, the new clothing put on Jagannātha, but that clothing was not washed. There was some application of rice boiled water. What is that? Rice is boiled and then some water...

Devotee: Starch?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That was smeared on the cloth and without washing that cloth that has been given to put on Jagannātha. Then Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi told: "These fellows they do not know what is śāstric practice, holy practices, do not know. These pūjā people they're savage, they're half civilised. Without washing they're going to put on such cloth which is that mark that the cloth extract of rice, that they gave and they're putting."

Then at that very night Jagannātha and Balarāma appeared in his dream. "And what do you say? You have come to find fault with My servants, servitors here? A long way you have come to see Me and you are finding fault with My eternal or daily servitors." Both of Them began to give slap on both cheeks of Puṇḍarīka and in the morning Puṇḍarīka saw his two cheeks had swelled up by the slap of Jagannātha and Balarāma.

Then he went to Svarūpa Dāmodara. "You see friend, I did some, I committed some offence. Jagannātha is so gracious He does not care for the defects of His devotees, His attendants. But I took some offence and so both Jagannātha and Balarāma this night have punished me with slaps and both of my cheeks are swelled so."

Svarūpa Dāmodara knew his value. "Oh you are, you have got the favour of Jagannātha's punishment. We do not have such favour. You are so great, you are so intimate devotee of Jagannātha that They have come to punish you. But that punishment we do not get any day. You are fortunate enough in this way."

This is Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi, very intimate devotee. So much so that he's told to be the father of Rādhārāṇī, that Vṛṣabhānu King's incarnation. His day of appearance is also today.

Then another, Dāsa Raghunātha. You perhaps everyone of you have heard his name. He was the son in the Hoogly near Bandan(?) station that side, zamindar's son (landlord's son). At that time their income was twenty lākhs, and twelve lākhs to be given to the Muslim bursar, king. And eight lākhs net income. (one lākh = 100,000). Only one son, father and elder uncle, elder brother of father, and only one son, Raghunātha. And his heart began to cry for Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

When Mahāprabhu after sannyāsa He went to on the way to Vṛndāvana He went to Ramakeli. And after seeing Rūpa Sanātana came back here, stayed in Advaitabhavan. Raghunātha anyhow got permission from his father and came to see Śrī Caitanyadeva at Śāntipura Advaitabhavan. And Mahāprabhu several days stayed there and Raghunātha also stayed so many days there always praying, always praying: "How can I get rid of this affectionate protection of my guardians. I want to follow Your path, I want to follow Your footsteps. But I am a rich man, I am under the strong rule of my father and my greater uncle, elder uncle. How can I get relief in this way?"

So anyhow Mahāprabhu told him: "Be calm and quiet, don't be very bogus, and don't be very strictly a renouncer, but as much as necessary you take the help of food etc, everything, food, bed, everything don't do too much. Neither more enjoyment not more renunciation, follow the middle path yukta-vairāgya.

cidhau grhayau naha batu ?

Don't be mad but go on and follow the middle way and then Kṛṣṇa will be gracious enough and He will give you relief from this bondage. You go home."

With this benediction of Mahāprabhu he went home. And anyhow once he met Nityānanda Prabhu, Nityānanda Prabhu blessed him. All these things you'll find in the books. Then one day anyhow he managed to escape from his home and went to Purī, went to Purī, about fifteen days perhaps he used to walk, only three days he took anya Prasādam by bikśa otherwise on other days anything, a little water or a little milk begging anyhow went.

And sixteen years he lived in Purī with utmost, utmost vairāgya, abnegation, abnegation. He used to anyhow to beg Prasādam from the gate of Jagannātha Temple. Sometimes he used to take food from chatram(?) Lastly we are told that the Prasāda of Jagannātha which even, which is extra, superfluous, given to the cows of Jagannātha, the cow also did not, could not eat it for its rotten scent. That was left in some place, Raghunātha used to collect that rotten Prasādam of Jagannātha's and took to his quarters and with much water he used to wash them and whatever little solid Prasādam he found, applying some salt he used to take that. It went to Mahāprabhu. "Raghunātha, he's taking Prasādam in this fashion these days."

Mahāprabhu was charmed, He went to see. Just one day He was present when Raghunātha was taking that sort of Prasādam. Mahāprabhu took it forcibly and ate it. "I say I have eaten many types of Prasādam but so sweet Prasāda I have never taken, I have never taken so sweet, so tasteful Prasādam. Raghunātha, you take such Prasādam every day and you all deprive Me, deprive us of such Prasādam. How Jagannātha gives you Prasādam, how sweetness is here?"

In this way Raghunātha's conduct was such. He was the only son of a big zamindar and his case was such vairāgya. Then after the disappearance of Mahāprabhu Raghunātha went to Vṛndāvana. He did not like to keep up his life any longer, he thought, "From the top of Govardhana I shall fall down and finish mine." But there he met Rūpa Sanātana, and thought, "Oh, Mahāprabhu has not gone, He's still here in Rūpa and Sanātana he could find Mahāprabhu living in their writings, in their behaviour, in their fashion of discharging the duties faithful to Mahāprabhu as ordered." So (Raghunātha) Dāsa Goswāmī: "Oh, Mahāprabhu is living in Rūpa Sanātana so I can't leave this world."

So very closely he followed Rūpa Sanātana and what they wrote he studied. He himself also wrote many passages, many fine beautiful devotional passages he has given us. So much so he's considered to be the ācārya prayojana-tattva, what is the highest end of our life in Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava school. That was given by Raghunātha very, very clearly, that is Rādhā-queen-kuja(?), Rādhā-queen-kuja, "Oh Kṛṣṇa." No, he's addressing to Rādhārāṇī.

"My Reverent Lady, if You are not propitiated with me, this low servant, then I do not want anything else. Neither I want this Vṛndāvana, nor my life, even I do not like Kṛṣṇa, I don't want to have Kṛṣṇa, His grace, if I do not get You with Him. I want Your grace, I want Your service. We cannot venture to approach Kṛṣṇa for His direct service. You can do it and we can help You so that You can help sometime and use our energy for the service of Kṛṣṇa. We are, You are our highest point of realisation, fulfilment of life is with Your service, not direct service of Kṛṣṇa."

In this way he has given, and this is the siddhānta of the rūpānuga Vaiṣṇava - Rādhā- dāsyā, Rādhā-queen-kuja(?) So prayojana-tattva ācārya this Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī, his birth day or day of appearance is today.

This appearance and the disappearance day of Viśvanātha Cakravartī. You might have heard about him. He was a brāhmaṇa on the other side of the Ganges, Algadesa(?), this Devagram. A great scholar in Sanskrit, an erudite scholar, he had vast study of the different scriptures. He, a very elaborate commentary of Bhāgavatam given by Viśvanātha Cakravartī and also Gītā, commentary on Gītā - Rasika-ranjan. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has given two interpretations in Gītā, one Vidyāna-ranjan by Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa, and Rasika-ranjan by Viśvanātha Cakravartī. He dealt about the very sweet aspect of the līlā, Viśvanātha Cakravartī, especially in Gītā and Bhāgavatam. In Bhāgavata he has very, very elaborate commentary. And so many other books also. He has also shown as (Śrīla Kṛṣṇadāsa) Kavirāj Goswāmī in Govinda- līlāmṛta, full eight hours, eight prahara (a three hour period) means twenty-four hour service to Kṛṣṇa. (Aṣṭa-kālīya-līlā). This Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura has written Śrī-Kṛṣṇa-Bhavanāmṛta there the twenty-four hours service to Rādhārāṇī, that is given by him how it is possible. And many books, Tridaṇḍim-Dukhana (?). Sanātana Goswāmī has given Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, a substance, a short summary as given by Cakravartī Ṭhākura's Bhāgavatāmṛta, Amṛta-Kana, a drop of nectar, kana means drop, and nectar Bhāgavatāmṛta. Sanātana Goswāmī a summary of Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta given by Cakravartī Ṭhākura. Kiran-Ujjvala-Nīlamanī, the very high order of madhurya-rasa vilāsa, gopī and Kṛṣṇa given. It is described relation in Rūpa Goswāmī's Ujjvala-Nīlamanī, and Nīlamanī Kiran, a ray of the gem of Ujjvala-Nīlamanī. In this way a very short description of what is found in Ujjvala-Nīlamanī by Rūpa Goswāmī.

Bhakti-rasāmṛta-bindhu-sindhu, the ocean of this bhakti-rasa, the juice of devotion given by Rūpa Goswāmī. And sindhu-bindhu, a drop of the ocean. In a very short book he has given the summary of all these books given by Cakravartī Ṭhākura.

This is the day of his disappearance. Lastly he left everything and resided in Rādhā- kuṇḍa and his bābājī name was Harivallabha. Viśvanātha Cakravartī sannyāsa name, bābājī name was Harivallabha. And there he spent his last days and disappeared.

Another two gentlemen's day of disappearance, one was Bhāratī Mahārāja our Godbrother, a senior sannyāsī of Prabhupāda (Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura), he was a good preacher. And Siddhāntī Mahārāja is continuing his mission in Calcutta.

Another is Parvata Mahārāja, he preached in Orissa from where this Advaita Dāsa has come. Advaita Dāsa has gone to attend that annual ceremony day of disappearance of Parvata Mahārāja and also the annual festival of the Maṭh, he came to attend that. He also was a very good preacher, he was born in this Sarugangas(?). From the beginning from his childhood he saw Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura next door, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura show the kunja he built and lived there for his last days. Parvata Maharaja at that time he was Haripada Bhattadesi(?), he told me: "I saw Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is chanting with very high, at the top of his voice, just as a man calls for another person who is far off, crying hard. So Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura used to take the Name as if he's calling Kṛṣṇa who is very far, at the highest pitch of his voice. 'Hare Kṛṣṇa' in this way he saw him chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa. His birth place is Svarūpa Gañja and while young he went to our Guru Maharaja (Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura) and lived for some time in Purī, then got sannyāsa and preached. A very, very hard worker we found him, from sometimes Gauḍīya Maṭh Utsava ceremony period, from eight in the morning to eight at night he's wandering and begging for the service of the Lord, we found, hard worker. And also very, only two paisa, today suppose four annas maybe. (A paisa is a monetary unit of India and Pakistan worth one hundredth of a rupee. An anna is a former Indian copper coin, worth one sixteenth of a rupee). This fried rice but he took it and whole day labouring, bikśa, for the service of Gurudeva I saw.

The day of disappearance of these two Godbrothers also this day. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So anyhow by our good fortune, good luck, from previous karma and sukṛti we have come in connection with such thought.

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya
bhakti-latā-bīja

"Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151)

The appreciation, our soul, that is the witness or evidence what is our inner approval that we have come to such a thought which can be thought to be the highest realisation of life ever conceived. Kṛṣṇa consciousness is the highest realisation and anyhow we have come to its connection and we are trying our utmost that we may go on forward, go forward on this way until and unless we come to our highest destination. Let our superiors, our Guru, our guide, help me in our feeble attempt that one day we may go up to their feet and may be allowed to get direct service of them.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Markani-Saptamī, marka means Māgha, marka, Markani- Saptamī. The waning and waxing, waxing fortnight of the month Māgha (January- February) which is represented by the symbol of markara, generally a class of fish that lives in the sea in the jyotiśa astrology. Saptamī, the seventh day in the waxing moon in the month of Māgha occurred. Rasicakra(?) twelve months, twelve emblems. This day, the day of advent of Advaita Ācārya, Markani-Saptamī. Advaita Ācārya.

Advaita Ācārya is told to be the incarnation of Mahā-Viṣṇu.

mahā-viṣṇur-jagat-kartā māyayā yaḥ sṛjaty adaḥ tasyāvatāra evāyam advaitācārya īśvaraḥ

"Lord Advaita Ācārya is the incarnation of Mahā-Viṣṇu, whose main function is to create the cosmic world through the actions of māyā."

(Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 6.4)

Who is at the background of the whole misconceived area. Puruṣāvatāra, Kāraṇodakaśāyī, Garbhodakaśāyī, and Kṣīrodakaśāyī, these three incarnations of Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa, the relativity with this misconceived world, in three forms, in three phases. Mahā-Viṣṇu, Sada-Śiva and Mahā-Viṣṇu, almost similar. One aspect is devotional function towards the higher, another function to supervise and manage the misconceived area of the whole misconception and proper conception.

Brahma is the buffer state, the marginal line. On the other side the beginning of the specified liberated area in the spiritual realm. That is Sada-Śiva, or Mahā-Viṣṇu, the worshipping stage of the conscious area all devoted that current towards the centre. The first trace from this side. And the last trace from the central side, nearby māyā. That is Mahā-Viṣṇu, Advaita Ācārya. From the other side, the inner side of Vaikuṇṭha, Brahmāloka, that side is when Śiva, a devotee Śiva. When after crossing the nirvīśa the non-differentiated part when again differentiation is found in the illusory area there is Śiva, māyādvēśa Śiva, māyāpati Śiva.

mayam prikr̥tim vidvām maya me saram (?)

The jīva soul as a general when master of māyā and not within the clutches of māyā, this misunderstanding, misconception. That is Mahā-Viṣṇu, Kāraṇodakaśāyī. He's in a plane, and by His, indeed, the slight suggestion, the working in the misconceived area can begin. Tal-liṅgaṁ bhagavān śambhur, in Brahmā-saṁhita (8), the ray from Him coming and entering into misconceived area. That is Śambhu, passing that non-differentiated conscious and half-conscious area. Coming, the ray coming, the focus coming into dark area, from the true conception to the misconception, like a breeze coming.

End of recording, 18/19/20-2-83.

83.2.21-22-26-27

Came from that demon Manimar and he came here as Śaṅkara, that is the opinion. But we do not accept that. What was given by Mahāprabhu, we put that on our head. And also Śaṅkarācārya told that, Madhvācārya told that the gopīs in Vṛndāvana they are all heavenly prostitutes. Of course it is mentioned that some such entered into them, into their body. Just as Drona entered into Nanda, Dhara into Yaśodā. There are so many things come and live together with one soul, it is possible, it is mentioned in many places. So they may come to live along jointly with the gopīs, but really gopīs are very high, higher than ordinary conception of any Deity of any places. But Madhvācārya had some sort of opinion in this way.

Then also he preached, as we are told by one of his very paṇḍita scholarly followers, that in Śrī Mūrti, within, there is the Deity. Whereas we think that wholesale of Śrī Mūrti is Divine. And we had a talk with one of the biggest ācāryas of the sampradāya, but he could not stand when I cited the example that when Kṛṣṇa was hit by an arrow by Jarābad, then blood was oozing from His body. But that blood is not material blood, that was a show. So also with the Śrī Mūrti, though it may be seen to possess some of the mundane characteristics, that is all māyā, misconception, really it is all spiritual.

Just as Sītā Devī, Sītā Devī's body was not mundane though it was treated like mundane by Rāvaṇa. It was allowed to be treated like that purposely, but the body was not mundane in any way.

So some difference we have got from the Gauḍīya standpoint of Śrī Caitanya Deva with Madhvācārya. But still as He accepted this Keśava Bhāratī as His sannyāsa guru, He accepted Īśvara Purī, Mādhava, they all came from Madhva group, Madhvācārya group mantram. And the Gaya at that time was a big seat, a temple of the Madhva school at that time of Mahāprabhu.

So Madhvācārya he was very strong, he is told to be the incarnation of Hanumān and Bhīma. They say they connect with Madhvācārya Vyāsadeva, and Bhīma Kṛṣṇa, and Hanumān Rāmacandra. As Hanumān's duty towards Rāmacandra relation, as Bhīma's duty towards Kṛṣṇa, this friendly service, and so Madhvācārya's relation towards Vyāsadeva, Vyāsadeva is also incarnation of Viṣṇu. In this way they put it, the Madhva sampradāya.

Madhvācārya one day he had strength, very Herculean strength. There was a piece of stone which was removed from one place to another for some purpose, to bridge over or something. And there it is written: "This piece of stone was carried from that place, here to this place, by the single hand of Madhvācārya. What is not possible to be carried by at least twenty or more strong people, with one hand Madhvācārya carried the same." It is mentioned, it is written in that inscription there in the stone.

Then Madhvācārya when he went to Digvijayī Paṇḍita in his journey, to hold meeting and refute in the opposite party, he had a bull which carried his books, necessary books for the evidence of the, to be shown to the opposite party. And once one disciple asked him: "After you who will preach your doctrine, and who will write commentary on your books, valuable books?"

He pointed out to the bull: "This bull will do that."

Then after Madhvācārya, his four disciples successively sat in his throne. Padmanābha, Śrī Madhava, Śrī Padmanābha, Śrī Nṛhari, Mādhava, Akṣobhya, Padmanābha, that Acyuta Prakha, first disciple, that was the first successor, Madhva, Śrī Padmanābha, Śrī Nṛhari. Then there was Narahari, he was a minister of this Behanara royal family, that Narahari, good scholar, he was the second successor. Then Mādhava, the third successor was one Mādhava, direct disciple of Madhvācārya. And the fourth, Akṣobhya, the fourth successor of Madhvācārya and his own disciple.

Then Akṣobhya was thinking one day, whom to accept in succession in our line. Madhvācārya told: "That this bull, he will come afterwards to preach my doctrine." In this way, in a preaching campaign he's sitting in a mango garden, and a tank, a lake, was on the side, and suddenly found that a man dressed in military dress, garment, uniform, just came and there was a bathing ghāṭa. And he got down into the tank, and with his mouth connecting with the water he's drinking. Then that suggestion of Madhvācārya just came in his mind. This man is just like a bull drinking water in the tank, a suggestion came. Then after he had finished his drinking, this Akṣobhya Tīrtha called him nearby. And then began to talk with him and gradually found that he's much interested in religious philosophy. And he became his disciple. And afterwards he became Jayatīrtha. Akṣobhya Jayatīrtha. Jayatīrtha was a great scholar, and he has written the books very argumentative especially against the Śāṅkara school. Jayatīrtha, one of his books is named "Shudhar", shudhar means nectar, nyāya-suddha, the nectar in logic, nectar in logic. That is the name of the book, and that has earned much fame against this māyāvādī school, refuting is very natural, and very strong, in that Jayatīrtha's book. His madhachari ? and other things, madhachari Madhvācārya .

You know the guru-paramparā, Śrī Madhachari? Jayatīrtha, then Rājendra, then Vidyānidhi, some nidhi, then Lakṣmīpati. From there Mādhavendra Purī comes. Vyāsatīrtha Tanudas through Lakṣmīpati and then comes Mādhavendra Purī. From Mādhavendra Purī the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava they reckon their origin, a new line, deviation from, because previous to Madhavendra Purī, real symptoms of divine love in Kṛṣṇa was not to be seen anywhere. From Mādhavendra Purī it is traced, that love divine, living love, living love divine for Kṛṣṇa can show so many signs in the mind and body that makes one cry, dance, or so many other feats, emotions may come from divine world in the devotions of our affections in Vṛndāvana. Vraja-bhakti, in the Vṛndāvana type of bhakti, this Mādhavendra Purī. And from Mādhavendra Purī comes Advaita Prabhu, Nityānanda Prabhu, and Īśvara Purī, and from Īśvara Purī, comes Śrī Caitanya Deva.

In this way from the Madhva school, the Gauḍīya school has sprung up, though there is much difference between the theological conception of both the parties. Still we respect Madhvācārya as he preached against advaita school of Śāṅkara, advaita school. And he established the difference between the servitor and the served and it is very natural and real difference. The servitor, the Lord, and the servant, a real difference. And jīva is servant, and He is the Lord, to receive the service. And not in any time he can be one with the Lord. This is blasphemy, in very strong term he has abused this, that to think that, it is the most heinous thing, the servant in some time or in any time, He can attain the post of His servitor, never, eternally different, then bhakti can stand. The bhakti is eternal when the difference between the Lord and His servant is eternal. Then only bhakti can be eternal, otherwise the bhakti will be finished.

What is this? Very strongly Madhvācārya placed this position, from Upaniṣad bekha? then this anubekarnam ? The Vedānta and many others, the Mahābhārata have got their explanation and many other scriptures. They are all strongly based on difference of the Lord and His servants, jīva and Bhāgavan, and difference, eternal difference and the gradation between the servitors.

This world is also real, although it is not fictitious, then if at all fictitious why we are caught, then no trouble, all imaginary, then why we are feeling so much trouble? All these things. He has got some sort of reality, but we can get escape from this influence of māyā, ignorance. So Madhvācārya's day of appearance today, we must show some reverence.

"All glories to Śrīman Madhvācārya Prabhu, who is known as Ānanda Tīrtha, the holy abode of transcendental bliss. The wise know him as the boat for crossing over the ocean of material existence, and so they always chant his glories." (Prameya-ratnāvali)

His name after taking sannyāsa was Ānanda Tīrtha. The paṇḍits, the scholars, they accept them as the boat by which we can cross this world of nescience, ignorance. By His instruction, by His grace, we can cross this ocean of nescience to go to the liberation, and liberation means to attain the service of the Divine Feet of the Lord Kṛṣṇa , Nārāyaṇa.

Gaura Hari.

Yesterday, the day was of Madhvācārya. Today, Rāmānujācārya disappeared. He lived near about 125 years we are told. Of all the Ācārya, the first opposition was given from the Vaiṣṇava section towards Śaṅkara's māyāvāda, run by Rāmānujācārya, his viśiṣṭādvaita- vāda. Śaṅkara's philosophy is known as advaita-vāda or keval advaita-vāda. Rāmānuja's philosophy is known as viśiṣṭādvaita-vāda, Panuntheism. Pantheism and Panuntheism. Disinct, absolute with distinction within.

Rāmānuja followed a particular school in southern India, and before him his sampradāya was existent. And they can trace the origin of the present sampradāya, in the modern age, from one Satakopa. Satarji, Satakopa, Manmalar? All these names. He did not know Sanskrit, but in Tamil language, the origin has come, and that gradually developed and Sanskrit knowing people also came to join that.

Rāmānuja sampradāya has conceived there many Ālwārs, or the agents from the Vaikuṇṭha, has come in that country. One was Kūreśa, Kūreśa, a contemporary of Rāmānuja. One Kulaśekhara Ācārya he was king of Kerala, but a great devotee. He has written many Sanskrit verses, which is known as Mukunda-mālā-stotram, that is contribution towards pure devotion, successful contribution to establish pure devotion. He lived nearby, in first century A.D. before Śaṅkara.

So the basis of Rāmānuja sampradāya, of course they trace from Lakṣmī Devī. The catuḥ sampradāya, the four pure Vaiṣṇava sampradāya origins come from four persons. Śrī Brahmā. Śrī Lakṣmī, from her began the Rāmānuja sampradāya. Śrī Brahmā from Brahmā. Then Madhvācārya came this Brahmā-Madhva sampradāya, Mahāprabhu Caitanya Deva. Rudra sampradāya. Viṣṇu Swāmī, Śrīdhara Swāmī, they all come from Rudra sampradāya. Śiva, He's the first propounder of that sampradāya, śuddhādvaita, śuddhādvaita. Śaṅkara philosophy keval advaita, vidadvaita. Śrīdhara Swāmī or Viṣṇu Swāmī, Rudra sampradāya, śuddhādvaita. And Madhva is śuddha-dvaita, not śuddhādvaita, śuddha-dvaita. And dwaitādvaita Nimbarka, origin from Sanaka, Sanātana, Sanandan, and Sanat Kumāra. Catuḥsana (the four Kumāras).

And Nimbarka was the middle age Ācārya, he has got bhāṣyam, commentary on Vedānta, pariyad bhāṣya nimbarka. Rāmānuja has got his bhāṣya vedānta. Every, Madhvācārya has got bhāṣya, Śrīdhara Swāmī has got bhāṣya. Then Gauḍīya sampradāya has got bhāṣya, bon vedānta. Śrī Bhāṣya is the name of the commentary of Rāmānuja.

There is no caste distinction in the Vaiṣṇava school of the Rāmānuja sampradāya. The main, first, modern Ācārya, he comes from a so-called lower class section, that Satakope? But he's revered very extensively by the Rāmānuja Vaiṣṇava. Satakope, Satari, Nanmalar, all these is his name. And from there so many Ālwārs of so many dissents of the agents of Vaikuṇṭha, from Vaikuṇṭha, so many, especially twelve in number, dasavavar? And as I told that king of Kerala, he is considered also one of them, numbered as one of them.

Then Yāmuna Ācārya, from where it got more strength in the in the Śrī sampradāya. Yāmunācārya. When he was a boy (of twelve years old), there is a story, he was reading in a he gave an announcement to all the paṇḍits under that state that: "If you accept me as the principal paṇḍit in the whole kingdom then no trouble. But if any of you think that you can defeat me in scholarship, in discussion, theological discussion, then you come."

A challenge was given, issued by the court paṇḍit of the then king of Kerala. And a token was sent: "That whoever will accept this, a golden pumpkin, he must catch this, keep it, and he will come to sit in a discussion with me about the scriptures."

Then Yāmunācārya, boy, he was reading in a tol, school, and the challenge came to his teachers tol. Teacher did not want to displease the paṇḍit so he did not care to take the challenge, accept the challenge. But this boy, Yāmunācārya, he asked his teacher: "Why don't you accept the challenge?"

"No, no, he's a good paṇḍit. We receive much help from the state, if he stops that, then much disturbance will be for want of money in my administration in the schools, so I don't like to disturb that man."

But that boy he didn't care. "If you do not accept the challenge I shall do it." "Yes, in your own risk you may do."

And he caught that golden pumpkin. They are rather astonished, the agents. "You boy, you have the courage to fight with that great paṇḍit, a court paṇḍit. What do you do? You don't know how great a scholar he is?"

"No, I know or do not know, but I want to sit in a discussion with him and I think I will be able to defeat him."

What to do?

Then the boy was presented in that day, the fixed date, in the court he attended. And just going to attend, the king and queen through the window, they're looking at the path by which the boy will pass towards the assembly where the debate will take place. Then the queen is on the side of the boy, a very beautiful and clever boy, intelligent look. "He will conquer."

The king said: "No it is not possible, our court paṇḍit is a great learned man of high experience, this boy what he will ..."

"But I say this boy will win," the queen told. "No, no, no."

Then there was a bet.

"If this boy wins the fight what he will do? I say you will have to give your daughter and half of the kingdom, are you ready?"

The king told: "Yes."

Anyhow, the boy came in the court, a large public throng, crowd. "The boy is coming to fight with the great renowned scholar of the king. What is this?" There is a great uproar.

And they sat face to face, and the court paṇḍit asked: "You boy, will you be able to answer my questions? You want to question me? Put your questions, whatever you will say, I'll do away with that, smash your questions."

The boy put very strong common sense, put three questions. First question is that, "Your mother is not a barren lady? That is my question, you must, you will have to demolish it. I say that your mother is not barren, now you have to prove that your mother is a barren lady. Next the king is a sinner. I say the king is not a sinner, and you'll have to prove that the king is a sinner, a criminal, or something. And the third, I say the queen is chaste, and you will have to prove that she is not chaste."

These questions created a great mood. What to do, what to answer, how to refute it? A dangerous position. Then for some long time the paṇḍit was in a very serious mood and waited silently. Then he came out: "These are absurd questions you put to me, you boy, can you prove this, can you prove against this?"

"Yes I can."

Then there was a great commotion. He failed and this boy he will now answer his own questions, so bold answers, how can he do this? And there must be some evidence from the śāstra. Then anyhow he quoted one śloka from the śāstra and proved that somewhere written that: "Whose son, the lady who has produced a son like you, who has got no real merit, but only boasts about his merit, she's a barren lady. Bogus son, a cheater, who gives birth to a cheating man, she's called a barren lady." He gave some quotation from some śāstra and also, like, something like that, he produced some quotation from some Purāṇa. "Whose son is worthless, his mother can be considered as a barren lady, should be considered."

Then there was so many other paṇḍits, and so they approved, and they gave their claps in favour when he produced the quotation from some Purāṇa. Anyhow the first question finished.

Next, "The king is a sinner." How to prove that the king is a sinner? Then also he proved from the quotation of the śāstra that the king is receiving the rent from the subjects, and with the money the sin of the subjects is always passing to the king. And the king, to get out of that sin, he practices many sacrifices, yajña, towards many gods, and thereby he keeps himself released from the sin.

Gave some quotation from Purāṇa. And he told that with the money going towards the king, their sin is also passing through that. And as it is continued always taking more money and trying to get out of the sin, sins of the subjects are being accumulated always in the king. And king also by performing yajña, trying to get relief from that sin. But it is always continued, so he may be taken that he's committing sin, he's sinful. In this way he proved with quotations and the paṇḍits were satisfied, then that man was benumbed.

Still one question to be answered, that is the most dangerous. "The queen is not a chaste lady?" That question also he put in this way, all from the quotations of the śāstra. The king is supposed to hold some eight gods in him, Indra, all these things, some demigods are supposed to stay with the king, in his body always. It is mentioned in the śāstra. With him perhaps six or eight demigods are always living with him. So when he enjoys something the gods are also enjoying with him. So in this sense it may be thought out that the queen is being enjoyed by many. In this way he produced the śāstra quotations.

There were other paṇḍits who also approved. This man could not speak anything against him. But this boy got the extraordinary victory there, and his name from that time was Pritivadhi Vankara. There is still a Maṭh in the South, the sampradāya, the name is Pritivadhi Vankara. "Who is a dreadful figure to the opponents." Pritivadhi means opponent, and vankara means "dreadful, furious to opponent." That Maṭh continues today. This was Yāmunācārya boy, young boy.

Now as there was a bet between the king and the queen, the boy was married with the daughter of the king and half of the kingdom given to the boy.

Now this Yāmunācārya , he came from a Vaiṣṇava family, he engaged himself in some study, and also in the enjoyment of the kingdom. One Vaiṣṇava (called Nambi) saw that he's a great genius, but now he's married, he's become king, it is a great loss to our sampradāya. The Śaṅkara māyāvādī sampradāya, they are rising their head so much. And there are not so many good scholars on our side to fight with them. So he thought that anyhow, that Yāmunācārya, he must be taken out from his enjoying life as a king, and if he takes up the cause, then of course the Śaṅkara school we can make them down.

So he used to, Yāmunācārya was very fond of a particular vegetable, śak, the leaf of vegetable (called tuduvalai). And that man managed to collect that sort of vegetable every day and give regular supply to the cook of the king, Yāmunācārya. One day Yāmunācārya told: "That I like very much this vegetable, but this is not available all year round, so where do you get it?" he asked the cook.

"I do not know, but one gentleman he supplies it for you."

"Why one gentleman, outsider, he supplies this my favourite vegetable every day, ask him the cause." He asked and, "I want to see him once." Then he told "Yes." Fixed a day and he came, and when he was present before him he began to cry.

"What is it brāhmāṇa, you are crying, I did not do any harm to you. You love me so much that every day you gather from anywhere these vegetables I love so much, and just meeting you, you began to cry."

"You do not know what pain we are feeling for you." "Why, I did not give any pain to anybody."

"No, no, you have done."

"You say what I have done wrong."

"You have left our sampradāya and you are mad in enjoyment as a king, but you forget that you are such a great scholar, and lost to our sampradāya. The māyāvādīns, they are encroaching our sampradāya and you are sleeping. We can't tolerate this, you must come out to save our section, our Vaiṣṇava sampradāya, you are the saviour."

Then anyhow he was affected. "Yes I am trying to do."

So gradually he came to the study and to write books against the māyāvāda, so many things he wrote. And when he was sufficient aged, old, Rāmānuja was a boy then, rising boy, rising scholar, this Rāmānuja.

Rāmānuja has also got peculiar history. Rāmānuja he first began his study near a paṇḍit teacher who came from Śaṅkara school, named Yādavaprakāśa. He was a good paṇḍit and he used to teach many students. Rāmānuja very young boy, he's admitted in his school, he's serving his gurudeva. Gurudeva.....

End of side A, start of side B of tape.

Rāmānuja very young boy, he's admitted in his school, he's serving his gurudeva. Gurudeva is teaching so many students, grown up. And there came one line, (Chāndogya) Upaniṣad, (tasya yathā) kupyāsum punḍarīkam nayanam (evam akṣini) and he, as Śaṅkara explained it, kupyāsum punḍarīka nāyānam. Nārāyaṇa's eye is reddish like the buttock of a monkey. The buttock of a monkey is red, kopi means banara, that monkey. Asana where kopi takes his seat, the part on which the kopi, the monkey takes his seat, that is the buttock, and that is reddish. So Nārāyaṇa's eye is compared how? As red as the buttock of the monkey. He was explaining as Śaṅkara did.

Rāmānuja could not tolerate that sort of explanation and tears fell on the back of the professor. He was perhaps rubbing the back or something, or the head, serving his guru, the professor Yādavaprakāśa, and a few drops of his tears fell on his back.

"You are weeping, why you are weeping, what is happening here, is there any pain in your body suddenly, why do you weep?"

Rāmānuja had to tell: "By hearing your interpretation of the Upaniṣad."

"Interpretation, what interpretation I have given which can make you weep and shed tears?"

"You compared the holy eyes of the Lord Nārāyaṇa with the buttock of a monkey, as red as the monkey buttock."

.....

Devotee: Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Prabhupāda, he used to recommend for brahmacārī's the worship of Nṛsiṃhadeva, along with Prahlāda Mahārāja, for gr̥hastha's Lakṣmī Nṛsiṃhadeva, and for sannyāsī's Nṛsiṃhadeva alone. Could you please explain a little bit?

Guru-Mahārāja: Where do you find it?

That Ramakrishna himself went to attend that drama and he showed so much charm, "Oh." One young prostitute, she played the part of Śrī Caitanyadeva. And Ramakrishna was very much impressed. "Oh." And even the next day he went to see her in her own quarter. "Oh, you have given me much pleasure, I am much impressed so I have come to see you in this way."

So we shall try not to attain anything which is food for the mind, or food for the senses, but food for the soul. We must hanker after food for the soul.

nivṛtta-tarṣair upagīyamānād, bhavauṣadhāc chrotra-mano 'bhirāmāt ka uttamaḥ-śloka-guṇānuvādāt, pumān virajyeta vinā paśughnāt

"Glorification of the Supreme Personality of Godhead is performed in the paramparā system; that is, it is conveyed from spiritual master to disciple. Such glorification is relished by those no longer interested in the false, temporary glorification of this cosmic manifestation. Descriptions of the Lord are the right medicine for the conditioned soul undergoing repeated birth and death. Therefore, who will cease hearing such glorification of the Lord except a butcher or one who is killing his own self?" (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.1.4)

Of course the Lord's līlā that is sweet, no doubt, but this mundane sweetness, and that sweetness differs. That is not one with here. We must be always careful not to mix these two together. Arcye viṣṇau śilā-dhīr (Padma-Purāṇa). When we shall look to the Deity, we must warn ourselves very cautious not to identify the stone with the Deity. The Ganges water, or caraṇāmṛta, not to identify the experience of our senses with that holy thing, that is separate thing, beyond my sense experience.

We are always, 'I can't understand, I can't see.' This should be our failing, 'that I can't approach the reality, it is there but I can't understand. If that happens to make me understand then I can understand. It is all unknowable, all unintelligible. Still it is there, I can't see.' In this way.

That must not be identified with our sense experience. We must try to find out that it is something else, something else. What I can command by my senses, it is not there. It is in that mood, that colour, that show, but it is not that. What it is I can't feel, I can't understand. It is aprākṛta, it is transcendental. It is not one with my sense experience thing. This sort of feeling should always be when we attend some transcendental object. That is always on the subjective side, super subjective side, not in the objective side. That can never be experienced by our senses, nor by our mind, or even by our intelligence. It is on the higher subject, the matter, the sense, the mind, and then the enjoyer, then the intelligence, and then the soul, and Supersoul on the other side. That is no eye, that is feeler. Subjective symptoms should be tried to trace subject. It is in that side, all subjective, not in the objective side. But only to remind that, that comes in symbolic form but it is not identical with that, with the help of this.

Just as the watch is not the time. Watch can show some conception of time but time is not contained within the watch. The watch may be wrong, disorder, we will be frustrated.

So here, what we can feel, that can have some corresponding to remind me of that, but that is not this, always this sort of:

māyā deesh māyā varsh isvaraya jiva ved ?

The permanent distinction between jīva, jīva is susceptible to māyā, victim of māyā, and He is the master of māyā, on the other side. Māyā is servant, māyā is handled by His own sweet will, but we are to handled by māyā, misunderstanding. Otherwise we will be misguided, misled. So no material attraction should invite us, we must be very careful about where my aim will be always in the transcendental. And it is not very cheap, to get that is not very cheap. The help must come from above.

Hare Kṛṣṇa . Gaura Haribol.

Even very few of the liberated souls can go up to that stage of confined consciousness. Even consciousness, even intelligence fails to guide us in the higher level. Only grace, only grace of the highest person may be our capital in the highest position. They will guide us. And even our intelligence, reason, all will fail.

Hare Kṛṣṇa . Nitāi Gaura Hari.

Simplicity, sincerity, love, affection, but must be independent of mundane relativity. That's the trouble. We are a child at present in the mundane soil. It is very difficult to shake off the mental propensities and experiences. Pratyakṣa, parokṣa, aparokṣa, in the third stage aparokṣa, that is complete withdrawal from the world of experience, complete withdrawal, aparokṣa. Then adhokṣaja, then entrance into some other world. And that is all consciousness, and not only made up of such consciousness, my soul is built up by which, Supersoul, Supersoul soil.

vaikuṇṭhara pṛthivy ādi sakala cinmaya māyika bhūtera tathi janma nāhi haya

"The earth, water, fire, air and ether of Vaikuṇṭha are all spiritual. Material elements are not found there." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.53)

The earth, the air, the water, everything, they're all spiritual and not only ordinary spirit, Supersoul. The spiritual substance by which I am made of, higher than that, Vaikuṇṭha. There I am to go, how is it possible? I shall have to travel there, travel, wander, but the soil is more valuable than myself who will walk on the soil. The soil is made of higher stuff than one who will walk over the soil. It is almost impossible. Still it is possible only when any necessity from that land comes for me, only then. So for His satisfaction, Reality is for Itself, so for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa I may be taken over, I may have to walk over a soil, the stuff of which is of higher order than one who is walking over, than my soul. Can you dream? Can you imagine? The soil on which we shall have to walk, that is more venerable, more valuable, than one who is walking over, that is myself, ourselves. When it is possible, only possible when a demand is coming from the upper side.

"Admit him and to come to Me". They will have to obey the order. "Yes, you go there, you go there." Only for the purpose of the satisfaction to attend any call from the highest position, that is possible, otherwise not. So sevā, service, service of Kṛṣṇa, that can only allow us to walk over the soil which is made up of higher stuff than we ourselves.

It is more than imagination, more than dream. Still it is necessity for His satisfaction. So it has been stressed very highly, the kṛṣṇa-priti, kṛṣṇa-priti, for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa we are to go there, never otherwise. Our inner soul has got the capacity to attend the call of Kṛṣṇa and that soul may go over the Vaikuṇṭha, over Goloka, Vṛndāvana, anywhere and everywhere, which is made of higher material than our soul is, it is almost absurd thing, almost absurd.

So the māyāvādī says: "No, we can go up to abscissa from the negative side we can withdraw, and we are to stay permanently in abscissa, we can't go higher."

(The jīva comes from taṭastha-loka, the marginal position or the abscissa

But only devotional cult comes to us to give this information, that yes, it is possible to go up, but only with the object of satisfaction, not concoction of satisfaction. Real necessity, then we may be allowed. By service my heart will be so pure, and so intolerant, that we cannot live without the service of the Lord. We may be allowed to pass over the soil. So it is not a very cheap thing, it is not emotion or anything else. The reality is so cruel, so stiff, so high. Only showing some tears, or some shivering sentiments, gesticulation, no chance. How much purity, self abnegation is not sufficient, but Kṛṣṇa interest, Kṛṣṇa higher servant interest, that is all in all, that must be created within our heart. Kṛṣṇa interest, kṛṣṇa-priti, kṛṣṇa-prema, that is the thing.

So Mahāprabhu says: "Not a drop of that divine love of that Kṛṣṇa is within Me. I'm shedding tears so much, but it is only to canvass the people, show to the people, 'oh you see how fortunate I am. I have got kṛṣṇa-prema, which great numbers of liberated souls cannot hope to get, I have got,' I am shedding so much tears only for canvassing to the ignorant public for My fame that I am a great devotee. But really not a drop is within Me." Mahāprabhu says.

How great a warning it is. Now should we try for this, or we should go home and live happily with our mundane family? What is this? This is a hard nut to crack.

Gaura Hari bol. Mahāprabhu Himself says. So the great devotees, they're of the same temperament. "I am trying but have not yet got, not yet have I got." None says that I have got within my fist. But it is a very peculiar thing, that one says that I have not got it, but that devotee has got, they say, they can see he has got some favour in him, favour of Kṛṣṇa in him, but I am devoid of that, I have not got. That is a peculiar thing. I have no money, but that gentleman he has enough money. A monied man, he may not think, generally, 'I have no money, some, scanty, that is for no purpose, he has got substantial money.' So this is the nature. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. It is written there, we all overlook.

vaikuṇṭhera pṛthivy ādi sakala cinmaya māyika bhūtera tathi janma nāhi haya

"The earth, water, fire, air and ether of Vaikuṇṭha are all spiritual. Material elements are not found there." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.53)

The soil, that is the earth, the water, the air, everything of Vaikuntha, is made of spirit soul, and I come from taṭastha-śakti, and they from svarūpa-śakti, higher potency. We jīva are the outcome of taṭastha-śakti, the marginal plane, and they're of the svarūpa-śakti. So the one who is sprung up from this taṭastha-śakti, only with the help of svarūpa-śakti can they go over that land which is more valuable than him, only by their help. So according to the visa they will be allowed to travel over that soil. Passport has nothing to do. The visa, and there must be nature of visa also. How much confidential freedom may be attached to any particular visa, will he be able to see the governor, or see the president, see the king, see the queen, such visa, or ordinary visa to wander about the street but classification of visa also. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. So here in this mundane world ...

Affection is such a thing, very valuable, and the possessor cannot say that I have got affection, I have got love for Him. "No, no, how much love have I got for Him, nothing." That is the nature of love.

Hare Kṛṣṇa . Nitāi Gaura Hari bol.

Love can only give. The nature of love is only to give and never to assert that I have love. Even that is also denied there, that I have got love. Love is such a thing that one who possesses that thing, he can never say that I possess that thing, I have got in my possession real love. So fine, so undistinguishable, and so valuable, and so free in it's nature, so subtle, so susceptible, sentient, touchy, all these things.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says: "Suddenly I may have a flash that Śrī Gaurāṅga is Gadādhara, but the moment I wanted to look at it a little attentively, vanished.

vicakṣaṇa kori' dekhite cāhile, hoy ānkhi-agocara (Gītāvalī, 8a). Suddenly it may flash something wonderful, but only when I am more attentive to catch it, finished."

So susceptible, so subtle, so independent, so valuable. It is for that thing we are trying. Independent. So wholesale surrendering to Him, still no surety that we shall get it, the condition is such. On the other side He is very gracious, He comes to our level to uplift us, that is also true, but that is His will, His will. That is not our demand, we have no right to demand in that way. But from His side everything is possible for Him, He can do anything and everything. He may take up the most fallen and neglect the higher position also. Everything is possible with Him, He's free, fully free. No explanation to be given to anybody from Him.

Should we try to get friendship with such susceptible, and such rare, and such whimsical, beautiful, ha ha ha. But His beauty is such that everyone wants to become His slave, beauty, and beauty, love, all similar, love is beauty, beauty is love. Hare Kṛṣṇa .

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, how are we to propagate or preach amongst the ordinary people?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We shall, so this is our safe position, that who will go on carrying the order of some superior agent. amara gaya guru

.....?

His order I am carrying out. I have got it by succession from the scriptures, from the succession agents, successive agents, I am doing. This sort of relative connection in the case of the Infinite, everywhere there is centre, nowhere there is circumference. Infinite means everywhere is centre, nowhere is circumference. We may find agent anywhere, but if you want to go to measure, no possibility. From the scripture, I am floated to a particular stage, to catch a particular conception of truth, connecting with that I may go on. Selflessness, self surrendering, and self inspiration.

Vaikuṇṭha, kuṇṭha means measurement, Vaikuṇṭha, immeasurable, Vaikuṇṭha means a plane of immeasurable. We are to think like that, our measuring temperament won't have any position there, so we are to jump there, should we? Ha ha. The world of limitation, we can measure the length, breadth, this height, so many things within our conception. From this reality, should we jump into this land of infinite uncertainty? But we are told that this is transient angle of vision, from reality, this is also like that. We are fools to think that this will remain this for eternity, never. Everything is Vaikuṇṭha, everything is infinite.

The atom, break it, the electron, break it, proton, neutron, again if it is possible to break that, in this way, this is also going infinite way, no end, no end, no finite, all infinite. Only the relative position we feel something, everything is infinite. Our Guru Mahārāja used to tell, that break the most finest constituent part of the world, the atom, electron, etc, again break it, ultimately you will find that Vaikuṇṭha, infinite, infinite, is at the back ground of everything. Which is measurable to you, that is only relative, holding relative position for the time being, then again it will merge into infinite, so not reliable. What you see, what you trace, what you feel, nothing is reliable, nothing will stand there forever, so all unreliable, all uncertain, and calculate that and live.

We are afraid to dive into the water, but fish and others, they're enjoying that sort of climate within the water they're happily living. So the souls in Vaikuṇṭha, there they have acquired merit to stand there. They are living happily. From here we are seeing the impossibility, the uncertainty there, but already there are so many devotees, and their company is encouraging, and it is reality. So sādhu-saṅga, sādhu-saṅga, everywhere the trace is laid, the association, the company. We cannot know the trouble of travelling, or anything else, what is where, which is which, if we have got a good friend, an intimate friend, if we get there, everything will be easy. So guru, Vaiṣṇava, sādhu, all these things.

Hare Kṛṣṇa . Hare Kṛṣṇa .

This is from this side, there are many things to be talked of from the other side, by grace everything is possible. They're benevolent, they're gracious, they're very generous. Everything good is there so we must not be a pessimist. If we go from the line of right, then we have no hope but their gracious nature, then of course we can hope many things, this little difference makes a great gulf. The ego and their grace. Ego is unfit, but we must be conscious of their grace only, forgetfulness, self forgetfulness, for their grace, that can easily take us in that soil. Self forgetfulness for their interest, for the interest of that soil, self forgetfulness, degree of self forgetfulness, nature of self forgetfulness, that also can be traced. Self forgetfulness may be of different types, different qualities, that is also possible.

They're not afraid if they distribute their own thing then that will be finished. That is infinite, no fear of finishing. So the persons they're not afraid that if I distribute our own capital to the newcomers, then we will be in want, no, that is infinite. So not that sort of limited prejudice can be traced there, only what is unfitness in our side. It is very difficult for us to find out our inner self, which is made up only to give, without taking anything in remuneration. That is the nature of that material, nature of that substance, only to give. By giving we are calculating how much I can gain and how much I am giving for the return. This sort of filthy mentality must be given up, this m̐yā. Giving, that is normal and that is within us, and that must come together, birds of the same feather come together. Everything will be all right. Only sādhu-saṅga, by the association of the devotees we must have training to give, serve means to give, self effacement, self surrender, self effacement, self giving self dedication, finish, self forgetfulness, finish.

Today is the appearance day of Narottama Ṭhākura.

So hard. After long period of service we heard our Guru Mahārāja say to one of his sannyāsī disciples: "You have not seen me, you could not meet me." So many years of service he's rendering under him, still we heard him say that: "You could not see me, what am I?" But still he's giving him so many duties to him, to do all these things. After about twenty years service we heard him say: "You did not meet me, could not see me, what you have seen, I am not that, I am something else."

Another thing I heard from him, when a brāhmaṇa, a priest, got mantram from him, and was talking outside that "this sort of mantram I have got, this way." Suddenly I entered the room and found him in a very despaired mood.

"They are all trying to understand and catch the meaning, as if they have got everything in the mantram. But I am devoting lives after lives, but still I am unable to touch the thing."

I suddenly entered the house and I found that his look, his eyes are disappointed, in despair, showing some sign of despair. What is that? Then I found that he's muttering something, my ear attended what he's very mildly talking. I found that he's attentive to the talk outside, then I gave my attention towards outside, what sort of talk is going on there. I heard that they got mantram just now and they are trying to realise the meaning, explain the meaning of the mantram. They have got initiation and very cheerfully they are trying to consult the purport of the mantram hopefully.

But here within he says: "I don't touch the real thing, but only from outside I'm dealing it, with the mantram, disappointing. After long trial from different births after births, I am towards that aim, but still I am not able to touch, and you beginners you think that with the mantram you have got everything."

In this way, the infinite characteristic. So the measurement of the progress is taken in some negative way. As much feeling of separation, as intense feeling of separation, progress is that much, negative measurement. How much demand, how much hunger, earnestness for the truth, so much he has got. Hankering is the capital, hankering, that is the negative side, hankering. I am so low, so mean, no other way but Your grace.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says: ye yatha patita haya, tava dayā tata tāya, tāte āmi supātra dayāra

"Your grace is given in accordance with the necessity of those who really deserve it. In that consideration, I have some claim. I am fallen of the fallen, the most fallen, so I have some claim to Your grace." (Gītamālā, Yāmuna-bhāvāvali, 19)

"As much as one is fallen, s/he deserves so much for Your grace my Lord. And in that consideration I am the most fit person. I am the most fallen, so I have got the greatest demand for You, I can demand for Your grace. I am fit because I am the lowest. I am the meanest of the mean, so I am Your prey, You must have to come to show Your grace to the meanest."

But that feeling must be sincere, not imitation, must be sincere, there's the rub, difficulty is there, the sincerity.

End of recording.

83.2.28

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Call Gaurāṅga, as the object of our worship, if we can do so then the Rādhā-Govinda will be in our fist, that was his... and Prabodhānanda Saraswatī, the Gurudeva of Gopal Bhaṭṭa Gosh:

yathā yathā gaura padāravinde, vindeta bhaktim kṛta puṇya rāśiḥ tathā tathot sarpati hr̥dy akasmāt, rādhā padāmbhoja sudhāmbhu-rāśiḥ

Prabodhānanda Saraswatī Ṭhākura says: "As much as we devote ourselves to the lotus feet of Śrī Gaurāṅga, we will automatically achieve the nectarine service of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī in Vṛndāvana. An investment in Navadvīpa Dhāma will automatically take one to Vṛndāvana. How one will be carried there will be unknown to him. But those who have good fortune invest everything in the service of Gaurāṅga. If they do that, they will find that everything has automatically been offered to the divine feet of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. She will accept them in Her confidential service and give them engagement, saying: "Oh, you have a good recommendation from Navadvīpa; I immediately appoint you to this service."

(Caitanya-Candrāmṛta, 88)

(The internal identity of Śrī Prabodhānanda Saraswatīpāda (the writer of this śloka) is the sakhī known as Tuṅgavidyā, amongst the eight principal sakhīs in Vraja-Maṇḍala. She became Prabodhānanda in Gaura-līlā.)

As much as one can install Śrī Gaurāṅga within his heart, he will find automatically that he's taken to the holy feet of Śrī Rādhārāṇī. Automatically, unconsciously, he's led to the holy feet of Śrī Rādhārāṇī if he can take refuge to the holy people of Śrī Gaurāṅga Mahāprabhu.

So Nityānanda Prabhu preached for Mahāprabhu's devotion, and He had to do that within the masses and to mix them very freely. And because for a tyāgī, a sannyāsī (those in the renounced order of life), one who is red clad, to approach intimately the gr̥hastha, householders, where there must be so many ladies, girls, etc, with a red robe, to freely mix with the householders, it does not look well in the society. So He was advised to marry. A married man he can easily mix with the family members and none will come to make any remark, so much, so much. But if a sannyāsī, if he becomes the guest of any householder for long time there will be some bad name for the sannyāsī, the red clad. So Nityānanda Prabhu was seen to accept the married life.

Nityānanda, this name indicates that He was a brahmacārī, not a sannyāsī. And according to the Śāṅkara school, the ānanda, caitanya, prakas, and svarūpa, these are the titles of brahmacārī. So Nityānanda, we do not find any token of sannyāsa with Nityānanda, no daṇḍa (a staff carried by sannyāsīs), no kamaṇḍalu (a water pot carried by sannyāsīs), but red cloth. Only there is, one point we find, that in the house of Śrīvāsa, Śrīvāsa angam, in the compound of Śrīvāsa. Nityānanda Prabhu is seen to be engaged in Vyāsapūjā, what is generally done by the sannyāsīns, but those sannyāsīns that do not like to accept married life, they also may do like that. The name says that He was a brahmacārī, a brahmacārī can enter into household life, no social discrepancy.

Anyhow, after that private talk with Mahāprabhu in Purī, Nityānanda came to Bengal.

Mahāprabhu requested Him to select His zone of preaching, Bengal. Bengal was given by Mahāprabhu to Nityānanda for His preaching campaign, specially. Rūpa and Sanātana on the other side, with śāstra, and Nityānanda was in charge of preaching department in Bengal. And He tried His best to accept people about Lord Gaurāṅga, and He had to mix very intimately with the ordinary householders, and He married, for that purpose, for the facility of preaching, He had to accept the married life.

What was your question?

Devotee: His particular nature, if there was some reason for His particular nature, His avadhūta nature?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Avadhūta nature, that is overflowing with love divine, overflowed, half mad, that is avadhūta. Does not care for any social practices, rules, regulations, all these things. Avadhūta, avadhūta means, the highest stage of a man of renouncing. The kuṭīcaka, bahūdaka, haṁsa, paramahaṁsa, those are the four stages of the sannyāsīs, an ascetic. And the highest stage, paramahaṁsa means the general highest stage, who under any circumstance can take out the very gist, the very substance of the things. No external disturbance can discourage or deviate him from his own principle, he's paramahaṁsa. He's always settled in his object, no temptation can take him away from his position. He's paramahaṁsa.

And avadhūta is something more. What is there? He's generally seen to mix what is objectionable, avadhūta. Paramahansa, he's well established in truth, nothing can take him away from his object, from his aim. And avadhūta, he's seen generally to mix it with things which are objectionable, in the general standard. Suppose a paramahansa he may not care if there is any nasty thing, suppose the stools, or a piece of bone, on the way. By touching that his position may not be lessened, he may not care, may not care, or any tempting things no attraction. But avadhūta, he purposely takes them up. Either this bone, he's taking that, there is stool, so much filthy, but he's seen to mix with that, smear that on his body. That is what is objectionable, that is found in him. Such a stage, but internally he's maintaining his full confidence, or his full attention and adherence to his cause, but outwardly he's seen to mix with objectionable things. That is avadhūta, avadhūta. Dhūta means washed, washed, is cleansed with water, washed, dhūta, pavitra. Avadhūta, ava means which is pure that has again come in contact with lower things, that is avadhūta, ava means connection with objectionable lower things, that is ava, lower, ava means lower, that is avadhūta.

So Nityānanda Prabhu was so much self sufficient in His own errand that He did not care, He did not have any thought whether He's mixing with things objectionable or non objectionable, nothing, no fear of that. So He's called avadhūta.

Mahāprabhu's famous saying about Nityānanda is this:

javani biniart javani parni bishaybar shondi carlayum tatarbi brahmano vandum nityanandam jagat guru ?

"If Nityānanda is seen to catch hold of the hand of a lower class girl, yavani pani, yavana means those that do not have any respect for the Vedas, revealed truth. Most lower. Generally the Muslims they're thought as yavana here in India. Who does not have any recognition about the Vedas, and who are killers of the cows. Generally no recognition for the Veda and who kills the cows, generally they're reckoned as yavana. If Nityānanda is seen to catch hold of the hand of a girl, of a yavana family, or if He's seen to enter into the wine shop, still you know for certain that Nityānanda is worshipping by Brahmā. He's the Guru, the guide, the universal guide to Divinity." Mahāprabhu's order is such standing. Nityānanda is so great, so high, naturally so.

Sanātana Goswāmī has given the special explanation about the rasa-līlā of Balarāma, Baladeva. Kṛṣṇa is only, it is said, that Kṛṣṇa can go on doing rasa-līlā and none else. No other, in no other form, even Nārāyaṇa, or any other form, does Kṛṣṇa ever play the rasa pastimes. But we have seen, we are told, we have seen in the book, the Baladeva has His rasa-līlā, what is this? So Sanātana Goswāmī in his commentary he has mentioned especially, that outwardly Baladeva is participating in rasa-līlā, but really if we can find His attitude, He is in His own heart, He's engaging Kṛṣṇa to play in that way. Externally He's participating, He's seen to participate in rasa-līlā with the so many gopī's, dancing, singing, chanting, and touching. But Sanātana Goswāmī is giving warning, that is outward, but internally, in His heart, Baladeva is making Kṛṣṇa to go on with these pastimes, this enjoyment. He's separate.

So Nityānanda Prabhu should be thought like that. Whatever He's doing externally, but internally no other aim but to satisfy Śrī Gaurāṅga. Cent per cent He's established there. Outwardly whatever may be seen, but inward, He's cent per cent devoted towards Śrī Gaurāṅga, and that is Nityānanda proper. We are to understand that.

heno nitāi vine bhāi rādhā kṛṣṇa pāite nāi

Narottama Ṭhākura says (in Manah-śikṣā) that without the help of Nityānanda, without His grace, without the grace of Nityānanda, don't venture to approach Rādhā- Kṛṣṇa, Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa. Acquire the grace of Nityānanda and your heart will be cent per cent purified, then you can go safely towards Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa līlā without any apprehension. If you can get the grace of Nityānanda, you're sure to get the grace of Gaurāṅga. And when you get Gaurāṅga you get both Rādhā and Govinda combined with that. No further attempt you will have to make especially for the attainment of the participation in Rādhā- Govinda, the highest pastimes.

So Nityānanda Prabhu is avadhūta, cent per cent pro Gaurāṅga, for Gaurāṅga. However outer behaviour, conduct He may be, one may see, He may seem to show, cent per cent. Mahāprabhu's recommendation, that He's avadhūta, don't care, full of sympathy for the people to distribute Kṛṣṇa prema, and Śrī Gaurāṅga prema, and not an atom to be found in His figure otherwise, otherwise, so did not care.

Suppose a man who is sufficiently strong. If in our stage we are to pass through a pathway, road, very carefully we shall try. That there is a pit, there is a level land, there is some tree, all these things to consider and to go make progress. But a strong man, he may not care if his leg, his foot fell on a pit, he does not care. Or if he pushed any bush with his feet, he does not care, he's strong enough. Something like that.

No necessity to show any external control, or this, cannot do so, so mad in their errand that no time to spare for these externals. Above consideration, overflowing prema, love, love or affection overflowing. No consideration, no time to manage them to take in, overflowing, overflowing. Sufficient that may be, and to take care: "Oh what the other people they will think and say, and they will say oh":

yad yad ācarati śreṣṭhas, tad tad evetaro janaḥ sa yat pramāṇam kurute, lokas tad anuvartate

"Whatever action is performed by a great man, the general masses imitate and follow. And whatever standards the great personality sets by exemplary acts, the whole world pursues as the right conclusion."
(Bhagavad-gītā, 3.21)

Kṛṣṇa says: "I shall, I also follow some rules and regulations of the śāstra because if I do not do that then others will follow Me and they will be in danger. So to keep up a standard, though I am above every rule, still I follow the rules and regulations, because the others will be in danger."

But here the position is so. So over flown that cannot check, this is also a stage, this is avadhūta. And also as we find in the Yadava, the Yadava did not care anybody. Even the so many Ṛṣis, they're so much mad with the wine of the idea that Kṛṣṇa is our protector, they care fit for anything else. The Ṛṣis came, they are only, they are to, cut jokes with them, they prepared something with some bow, all these things. "Kṛṣṇa is there." Subconsciously they're of such mentality that Kṛṣṇa is there. "Whatever I shall do He will manage." Rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāśah - (confidence in the Lord's protection). Don't care for that. That overflowing indulgence. "That Kṛṣṇa is there, we do not care for anybody." Such mentality is there.

And in avadhūta also we find, may not care. In Bhāgavat also there is a story of avadhūta, avadhūta is lying, he does not care to go on to pass stool to a little distance. Whatever coming he's eating and passing stools there in a filthy position. In this way that avadhūta is lying. But internally he's not, man does not show poor theistic conception, he has got enough, but outwardly he's seen to be an ordinary paralysed patient. In this way.

So Nityānanda Prabhu He did not care for anything, only one thing, that bhaja- gaurāṅga. "Accept Gaurāṅga. All attention, be all-attentive to Gaurāṅga and you will have to do nothing else. Only take the Name of Gaurāṅga. Accept Him as your leader, as your deliverer. Nothing else is necessary, I say. I show by My behaviour. I do not care for anything. Only concentrate to Gaurāṅga and you will have everything, the highest thing you will get."

This sort of example and advice in His endeavour, everything, Nityānanda showed like that. Avadhūta. May not care for any rules, regulations of the scriptures. They are all ordinary. But if you only get one drop of medicine that Gaurāṅga came to give that will suffice. A Himalaya quantity of medicine won't be able to cope with that. What type of grace or highest purpose, fulfilment of life Gaurāṅga has taken here. Nothing is necessary only accept that, a little. And that will not only cure you, it will take you to the highest position. What the Brahmā and the Śiva, they aspire after but do not get, what Gaurāṅga can do, can give you.

dhyeyaṁ sadā paribhava-ghnam abhīṣṭa-dohaṁ tīrthāspadaṁ śivaviriñci-nutaṁ śaraṇyam bhr̥tyārti-haṁ praṇata-pāla bhavābdhi-potaṁ vande mahā-puruṣa te caraṇāravindam

"O Mahāprabhu, Your lotus feet are the highest object of meditation, for they not only destroy the pain of material existence, but they bestow the greatest fulfilment to all souls who take shelter beneath them. Your lotus feet even purify all saintly persons and holy places. Lord Śiva and Lord Brahmā aspire to take shelter beneath Your lotus feet. O Mahāprabhu, You give shelter to all who simply bow down before You. You relieve all the miseries of Your surrendered servants. In the grand ship of Your lotus feet, we can cross over this ocean of material miseries. O Mahāprabhu, I bow down before Your lotus feet."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.33)

brahmādi ye prema-bhakti-yoga vāñchā kare tāhā vilāimu sarvva prati ghare ghare

"Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu came as the most gracious Descent. He brought such nectar, even a drop of which is aspired after by the masters of creation and dissolution of this visible world, Lord Brahmā and Lord Śiva." (Caitanya-Bhāgavata, Ādi-līlā, 5.152)

.....

śiva-viriñci vancita cetana ?

The Brahmā, Śiva, they're aspiring but not getting.

brahmādi deva jari dani jani pai ?

That highest thing Gaurāṅga has come down to give you, no necessity of anything else, only take a drop of that. That will take you to the highest position, highest fulfilment, nothing necessary. So Nityānanda was of that nature.

yena bhaje tāre bale danta ṭṭṇa dhari, āmāre kiniyā laha bala gaura-hari eta bali nityānanda bhūme gaḍi yāya, sonāra parvata yena dhūlāya loṭāya

"The compassionate Nityānanda Prabhu most humbly approached those who did not feel any loving appreciation for Śrī Gaurāṅga due to their false pride and hard heartedness. Not to hurt their pride, He took a few blades of grass between His teeth as a token of humility and appealed to them saying: "O dear friend, try to understand that your own highest good is Gaura Hari. You can attain the greatest fortune of your life if you connect to Him with love and devotion. Please take His Holy Name, even if only once, and chant it from the core of your heart. With devotional faith speak about His glories and share your relish with other devotees. Sincerely pray for His grace, for you will surely receive great spiritual benefit. I am your most well wishing friend. If you can please take My advice and act accordingly then you can own Me forever."

"Imploring in such a way, Śrī Nityānanda's heart melted in spiritual compassion. Incited by that deep emotional ecstasy He became so tender before those proud people that He invalidated all their pride. As an act of noble humility He began to roll on the ground before them. As His form became decorated with the dust of the earth the devotees around Him beheld with tearful eyes the extraordinary manifestation of causeless mercy of Prabhu Nityānanda. They marvelled at how their divine guru-tattva, could sacrifice His exalted position and honour and come down to the dust of the earth with such compassionate humility." (Locana dāsa Ṭhākura)

Eta bali nityānanda bhūme gaḍi yāya, sonāra parvata yena dhūlāya loṭāya. With this appeal from door to door, Nityānanda wandered, especially on the two banks of this? appealing to the people. "Accept Gaurāṅga, nothing else necessary. I shall be your slave if you do that, please accept, please accept."

In this way he began to roll on the gate of every householder. His preaching process was like this, approaching every householder, appealing him with earnest humility. And so much so He's weeping, crying, and rolling on the front of the gate, as if a golden mountain peak, peak of a golden mountain is rolling on the gate of the person. Generally their heart melted and they would come to help Nityānanda.

"Yes, avadhūta sannyāsa Mahārāja, we shall try our best what You want us to do."

In this way Nityānanda preached in Bengal. The Bengal was filled with the tantrics at that time and the nyāyaics, the logicians, the great, the famous logicians was at that time staying in Bengal, especially Nadia. Nyāya and also tantra and also smṛti, the general varṇāśrama-dharma, that was in full swing at that time in Bengal. And Nityānanda had to come and avoiding the discussions and any other process, He used to wander through the length and breadth of Bengal with such a humble appeal to accept Gaurāṅga. And He is known as avadhūta because He did not care, He did not find that any care should be taken for anything else, only to take the Name of Gaurāṅga, and then Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa. It is sufficient, it is over sufficient. Nothing is necessary.

Just as there is such a medicine, "You take this medicine and about the diet, oh whatever you like you can eat. The medicine is so strong, poisonous medicine so strong, that only take the medicine, a drop. And about your bathing and eating, no rules and regulations necessary, because the medicine is very strong."

Something like, no care is necessary to be taken for any formality, only give your heart to Gaurāṅga and He will manage everything.

Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Nitāi Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol. Gaura Hari bol.

Devotee: I have a question about Śrī Kṛṣṇa's pastimes. In every day of Brahmā can we understand that Kṛṣṇa, He manifests pastimes on this earth planet in this universe. So is it that Lord Brahmā, he steals the cows away from Kṛṣṇa and forgets Kṛṣṇa's true identity every day of his life?

End of side A, start of side B

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Once sahastra yuga, on the twenty eighth yuga, once in a day of Brahmā, He comes, and Brahmā had to steal His cows, so yes. How is it possible that Brahmā forgets everything? Every day he forgets everything, and he is Brahmā the creator of all of us, ha ha. Not only that, to teach us, the same Brahmā in Vṛndāvana līlā, by stealing the cowboys and the calves, then Brahmā could know that He's above Nārāyaṇa. He told that: "I have got some conception of Nārāyaṇa but I can't understand You. I can understand Nārāyaṇa somewhat but I can't understand You, so You must be above Nārāyaṇa."

Something which is above Nārāyaṇa, that is in his field, zone of Brahmā. But again that Brahmā when gone to Dwārakā to meet Him and Kṛṣṇa told: "Which Brahmā has come?"

Then Brahmā was perplexed. "Any other Brahmā?" Then anyhow he told: "That yes, the father of Sanaka, the four headed Brahmā has come, just inform Him."

And there when he was present, was called for and he was present, he found so many Brahmā's, so many Brahmā's. He's only four headed, a hundred headed, thousand headed, billion headed Brahmā's are there, and they're all showing their respects to His holy feet. He knew that He's so high, of superior position, but still Brahmā goes there and cannot ascertain how it is. So specially Brahmā is also under māyā, Śiva he's also under māyā, seeing Mohini Murti, Śiva is mad, he's mad. So Brahmā and Śiva are so great and serious personages to us, but to Him, a child of His play. Just as a mother tries to help her boy to sleep and the boy is in such a posing, the mother touches the boy, the boy makes as sleep.

So His will is such, will is such.

It is mentioned in Bhāgavatam, that just as in the daytime we cannot see glow worm. Within sun ray, the ray of the stars, they are all under, all unclear, their small ray is swallowed by the sun's rays. And just as the darkness of mist is swallowed by darkness of new moon. So Brahmā's māyā is devoured by Kṛṣṇa's māyā, and Brahmā's knowledge also disappears in the knowledge of Kṛṣṇa. Cannot be traced if Kṛṣṇa wills, every day.

We also commit like that, many a time we think we should not eat this but anyhow we repeat that same thing. Brahmā is also under this influence of māyā, karma-kanda, exploitation.

karmaṇām pariṇāmitvād, ā-virincyād amaṅgalam vipścin naśvaram paśyed, adṛṣṭam api dṛṣṭa-vat

"An intelligent person should see that any material activity is subject to constant transformation and that even on the planet of Lord Brahmā there is thus simply unhappiness. Indeed, a wise man can understand that just as all that he has seen is temporary, similarly, all things within the universe have a beginning and an end." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.19.18)

Brahmā is also under the jurisdiction of reaction. The Brahmā is the first guru of the Gauḍīya Sampradāya. Guru is Kṛṣṇa, guru is generally Kṛṣṇa, we are to take, His delegation, His representation. Brahmā is the Adi-guru, Śrī Brahmā, Rudra, Sanak, Lakṣmī Devī, then Brahmā, then Siva, and Catuḥsana. They are supposed to be the first inaugurator of these four pure devotional currents, but Brahmā is being attacked with ignorance, fallible, Brahmā is fallible it is seen.

Mādhvācārya has not accepted, Mādhvācārya he has left those two chapters of brahmā- vimohana, from Bhāgavatam. He did not accept that Brahmā, our Adi-guru, he can be fallible, no, he could not.

But Gauḍīya Sampradāya is other, acceptance. Everything is possible by Kṛṣṇa. Everything is possible. Of His līlā purpose, He can interfere with every wave, every vibration, He's the Master, Commander of every vibration, any time, every time. For us if we drop a letter into the post box it is out of our hands, but for the government, they have posted the letter, they can catch it anywhere and get it, save it. So Kṛṣṇa's independence, anywhere and everywhere, in the past, present, future.

The Sandipani Muni was the teacher of Kṛṣṇa. When His career there of learning was finished, then Kṛṣṇa proposed to give some dakṣiṇa, guru-dakṣiṇa. The Ṛṣis approached his wife: "That Kṛṣṇa wants to give some guru-dakṣiṇa, what do you want?"

The Ṛṣis wife told that: "We are told that He is not an ordinary man. Some say He's God Himself, and He can do anything and everything. So if He can bring back my dead son I will be satisfied much. Ask Him for guru-dakṣiṇa, He should give my son whose dead."

And the Ṛṣis proposed that to Kṛṣṇa. "Your mother wants her dead son back."

"Yes alright." Kṛṣṇa took this dead boy from Sankapur(?) he was laid(?) there. And we are told that son was Madhumāṅgala.

So we are well versed in our own logic, ha ha, but our logic, how far it, the limit is, or it's worth, substantial. We may think of the magician, everything possible can be done by a magician, but that magic is also a negligent part of this knowledge even here.

It is told that Vṛndāvana is a limited portion and the infinite is within that. It is told that rasa līlā rātri ?, one brahmā-rātri was entered into that, it is told, that true story.

Once an old brāhmāna with great trouble reached Badrinārāyaṇa, and as soon as he reached Badrinārāyaṇa, that place, the doors were being closed. He wanted to have darśana but already it is being closed. Then he heard from the persons that were seen there. "When it will open, tomorrow?"

"No, no, after six months. Now the winter comes, the doors closed for six months, after six months the temple will be again opened."

The brāhmāna was disappointed, dejected, almost doomed. "Nārāyaṇa, I have come with my last breath, caring the last drop of energy in me. And Your door closed, I could not see You my Lord."

The persons there tried to request him to come down along with them.

"No, I won't go, no possibility that I shall leave here after and have darśana of Badrinārāyaṇa, and if I cannot have darśana what will be the necessity of this life. I won't go back, I shall stay."

They tried their best but they could not dissuade the brāhmāna from his determination, they led away, night, long. After some time the brāhmāna heard a man is coming towards, riding on a horse and one man reached there and came down from the horse.

"Oh you brāhmāna you are here, what is the matter? All gone and you are here alone."

"Yes such is the condition, what to do? I won't be able to come again to have darśana, so as my fate I shall die here, but won't go back."

"Then, what, that is your determination?" "Yes."

"All right let us have a play here."

So with some chess, or something, some play began, nightfall and the whole night they engaged that man, engaged the brāhmāna in that play.

Then there was sunrise, early morning, early morning. Then the people with music again came to open the door. They were astounded to find that brāhmāna standing there, the brāhmāna also astonished. "What, you cheater, you told that you won't come next morning, but you have come. I am an old man and you played joke with me, and next morning you have come to open."

They can't understand. "What do you say brāhmāna, we are coming after six months." "No, no, only one night, one night, one night. You say after six months you are coming and opening the door. What happened here? You say only one night, but you all went, the night, fall of night, came in. And one horse rider came, his figure is beautiful, young, and stout and strong. And he began playing with me and then when he told that I shall have some business, I shall go, I saw the dawn, the sunrise, I am wandering here, there."

They were all astonished. "What is this, then you really got the darśana of Badrinath Gi, He came to save you."

So in one night as in the rasa-līlā, here six months within one night, what is there? Only the subject is controlled the seer and not necessary to control the seen, everything is like that.

yadā sa deva jāgartti, jadedam ceṣṭitam jagat yadā savṛti-śāntātmā, tadā sarvvaṁ nimīlate

"When the jagad-puruṣa or universal form of the Lord, falls asleep. Then everything naturally falls asleep along with Him. Then there is no more creation, no more external activity because all are dissolved. And again, with the awakening of Him, everything becomes active." (Mānu Saṁhitā)

When the Brahmā rises up from slumber, then every movement in this world begins its energetic advance, and when he sleeps, everything gone. The creation means this. Subjective expansion, which is within as a seed in the consciousness, that comes to be expanded, and we find so many things. Again adjust, when we are sleeping, everything enters there in the zero, and as soon as we wake, gradually we come in the past world of our consciousness, past experience of the world comes to our front. Again when we go to sleep, all withdrawn, in a point, and as soon as we awake, from that one point it is expanded. The whole world of our consciousness comes out from that zero point, all from subjective origin. What we are seeing outside, it is also in the mind of the universal subject.

Ideal realism. Hegel also says like that. It is when the ideal is everything.

Then one question came: "You say that I have got one pound in my pocket. If I imagine will there be a pound here in my pocket?"

Hegel answered: "In the universal mind that is, otherwise we cannot think it out.

What is not real we cannot think it out, it must be somewhere, in the mind, as idea, ideal realism." Hegel's philosophy is known as ideal realism. Berkley also says like that: "The world is in the mind, not the mind in the world, but world is in the mind." Every man has got his own world within his mind. World means his experience of the world, may differ, in every case. So subjective, causal, pastimes, all coming from the subjective endeavour. So all, everything, what we think to be concrete, to be matter, that is a class of conception of the mind. The stone, the Darwin theory is smashed here.

Swāmī Mahārāja requested that Svarūpa Dāmodara: "You try to smash this Darwin theory, that fossil is the prime cause of the whole creation." Svarūpa Dāmodara came to me to consult. I gave him this idea, idea, the Berkley's theory. "That world is in the mind, not mind in the world." You will say fossil, what is that fossil, it is black, or it is hard, or something, but without consciousness, that is only a reflection into the consciousness.

The other day also I told some gentleman: This Rahu, the sun has solar eclipse, lunar eclipse, it is described in Bhāgavatam as Rahu dettya ? A demon is devouring the sun, the moon, it is described in this way in Bhāgavatam. I told that it is also true, why, how? We are concerned with consciousness. Whatever the fact may be outside, we can feel a part of consciousness. Spirit can understand spirit. So that is a part of consciousness, that solar eclipse, this particular planet is going to cast shadow on that planet. This sort of experience is a part of my consciousness, and part of my consciousness, consciousness is living thing, and so that is also a living thing, so that may be called by the name of Rahu, or Ketu, anything else. Personality, consciousness means person, the fact is that and I am only connected with the corresponding conception of the thing, and that conception is a part of consciousness, and that is part of consciousness, is person. So the incidence can be given the name Rahu, or something else. It is not inconsistent, so all is conscious.

sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad brahmātmāikatva-lakṣaṇam vastv advitīyaṁ tan-niṣṭaṁ kaivalyaika-prayojanam

"This Bhāgavatam is the essence of all Vedānta philosophy because its subject matter is the Absolute Truth, which, while non different from the spirit soul, is the ultimate reality, one without a second. The goal of this literature is exclusive devotional service unto that Supreme Truth."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.13.12)

Oneness, oneness, don't allow yourself to deviate from a particular point of understanding. The śāstra says, this is this, but your sense experience says, no that cannot be this, that cannot be this.

I had a discussion with a great big Ācārya of the Mādhva school there. Anyhow he told that: "We strike the Śālagrāma-śilā with the hammer, it is reduced to dust."

Then Bon Mahārāja, that Mādhava Mahārāja, myself, we all shut our ears. There was a great sensation amongst the audience there, all educated men in Madras. They put: "Why do you put your palm into the ear?"

"It is unhearable."

"Why? It is the fact, ha ha, it is the fact."

We say: "No, it is not the fact, it is the deception of the fact." How? He does not admit that, he also takes so many arguments from the śāstra. Then one point he was defeated. I asked him: "When Jarābad, that hunter, threw arrow towards the sole of Kṛṣṇa, the blood came out or not?"

"Yes, blood came out."

"Is that real material blood?" "No."

"Then it is seen by the eye that blood is oozing, it is just like blood and you say it is not this ordinary material blood."

He say's: "But Kṛṣṇa's body is not material but we saw and the ordinary people seeing that material body and blood oozing, but we should not believe that."

"Sīta Devī was forcibly taken by Rāvana. Mahāprabhu consoled the brāhmaṇa, the devotees, that ordinary eye cannot see Sīta Devī even, what to question to take Her way, carry Her, can't touch, can't see how he'll be able to touch, to catch Sīta Devī.

So blood oozing, we say no, it is not material blood, and saying that is Śālagrāma if it is beaten, if it is smashed, we see but it is all deception, just like that, the blood oozing from Kṛṣṇa 's feet. Then that man could not say anything.

Kaivalyaika-prayojanam. I quoted from Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam this śloka. We must not allow ourselves to come into the lower plane of the laws of this concocted material world. We shall try to stick strictly in the plane what is sent to us from the upper level, it is sweet. The magician is showing so many.....

End of recording.

83.2.28-29-30

Devotee:and then it begins with a Foreword by Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, his talk about the Bhāgavata and the principle of new revelation. And then after Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, there's a picture of him, and his Foreword.

Then there is a Preface that is written by our Guru Mahārāja (Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Maharaja) and he's speaking about you. And then there's a picture here of our Guru Maharaja and you sitting on the vyāsasana.

That is Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī. That is a picture of your divine grace.

And this is a list of your books: Ambrosia in the lives of the surrendered souls, The Search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa: Reality the Beautiful, Guru and His Grace, Śikṣāṣṭakam, Prema- Dhāma-Deva-Stotram, Prapanna-jīvanāmṛta, Bhagavad-gītā, Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Kīrtana-Mañjuṣā, and Gauḍīya Darśana Journal (founder).

And that's the introduction about rasa, everyone is searching for rasa. And then you talk about kṛṣṇānusandhāna, the Search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa.

This is the first chapter, it's called 'Kṛṣṇa Consciousness Love and Beauty.' This talk, the 'Banner of Love,' of divine love.

This is the quote: "The boast of heraldry the pomp of power." This is 'Dive Deep into Reality.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu reading or Mahāprabhu hearing?

Devotee: Hearing, He's hearing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And reading? Gadādhara Paṇḍit? Who's reading?

Devotee: Who's reading? I'm not sure. Do you know who's reading?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Purī?

Devotee: It looks like Purī because Haridāsa Ṭhākura is there. In Purī, so who would that be? Gadādhara?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

nīlāmbhodhi-taṭe sadā sva-virahā-kṣepanvitam bāndhavam śrīmad-bhāgavatī kathā madirayā sañjīvayan bhāti yaḥ śrīmad-bhāgavatam sadā sva-nayanāśru-pāyanaiḥ pūjayan gosvāmi-prabaro gadādhara-vibhūr-bhūyāt mad-ekā-gatiḥ

"On the shore of the broad blue ocean, Gadādhara Paṇḍita used to read Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam to Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who was suffering from the great internal pain of separation from Himself (Kṛṣṇa). Gadādhara Paṇḍita supplied the wine of Kṛṣṇa-līlā to intoxicate his afflicted friend and give Him relief. As he read, tears would fall from his eyes like flower offerings onto the pages of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. May the pleasure of that brilliant personality, Gadādhara Paṇḍita, the best of the Goswāmīs, be my only object in writing this book."

Devotee: One śloka is there

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One śloka of mine.

Devotee: Next edition.

Devotee: Here's Kṛṣṇa, it says, 'Autocrat, Despot, and Liar.'

This is, it says, 'As Śrī Caitanya, Kṛṣṇa came to preach about Himself.'
Where you said: "How shamelessly Kṛṣṇa is pleading for Himself." And:

man-manā bhava mad-bhakto, mad-yājī māṁ namaskuru mam evaiṣyasi
satyaṁ te, pratijāne priyo 'si me

"Think of Me, serve Me, worship Me, offer your very self unto Me, and surely you will reach Me. Sincerely, this is My promise to you because you are My dear friend."

(Bhagavad-gītā, 18.65)

And this is a chapter, second chapter called 'Saints, Scriptures, and Gurus.' And this is when you were speaking to those boys from Holland, those Dutch boys.

That's a picture of Kṛṣṇa instructing Arjuna, it says: 'Cure Thyself.'
Because you said: "One German scholar said that Bhagavad-gītā says not to try and correct the environment but to go within yourself and cure thyself."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Adjust thyself.

Devotee: Dissolving Ego.

Devotee: This talks about dancing in the happy waves of the sweet, sweet waves of Vṛndāvana. Blissfulness.

This says, Hegel's "Self-Determination."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Die to live. Hegel.

Devotee: Yes, Hegel, die to live. This says, 'Saints: Living Scriptures.'

And then here's a picture of your divine grace and the picture says, "Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja lecturing at his āśrama in Navadvīpa." And then the quote says: "The association of scriptures and saints can lead us to the ultimate realisation."

This is when you talked about world war three, when you said, "It is a point on a line, a line on a plane, a plane on a solid."

This says the: 'Zone of Nectar.' Of which you're the GBC

This is the third chapter called 'Fossilism versus Subjective Evolution.' And in the introduction it says: "The following chapter is an excerpt from a conversation between Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja and neurophysiologist Dr. Daniel Murphey, Ph. D."

And this is about Subjective Evolution, The Ghost of Darwin, Fossil Fathers, Karmic Boomerang, Science Devours Itself - sucks its own blood, Neutron Bomb: Death Ray.

And then this is the chapter 'Origin of the Soul.' Because you said: "This question was a thousand times asked and a thousand times answered." So we put this, your explanation about the taṭastha. 'Electrons of Consciousness.' And about Gandhi saying: "We want the right to do wrong."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: And this chapter is 'Knowledge Above Mortality.' You said that is knowledge proper. And 'Superknowledge.' 'Knowledge through Sound.' 'Vedic Revelation.' And this is some Sanskrit from Bhagavad-gītā just to show the people the original language for some authenticity.

Then this is, 'Reality: by Itself and for Itself.' Then we have, 'Guru - Heavier than the Himalayas.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: Then, 'The Land of Dedication.'

Then this is chapter six, it's called the 'Six Philosophies of India.' And this is that song, keśava! tuyā jagata bicitra, of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Then it has this 'Analysis, Yoga, and Logic.' 'Atomic Theory and Karma.' And then, 'Dissolve Your Mind' - Buddha.

And then in this next chapter, this is chapter seven, it's called, 'Beyond Christianity.' And this was when different devotees they were asking you questions about Jesus. So you said: "Is He a member of the stagnant world or the dynamic world?"

So this says: 'Adam and Eve: Forced to Labour.' Then, 'Father, Son, and Ghost.' Because you said: "The ghost conception is like the brahmavāda nirviśeṣa."

And this tells the story, in Germany they put a God figure in a balcony, an old man with a beard, as the figure of God you said in Germany they put an old man in a balcony. So then we put a beautiful picture of Kṛṣṇa and it says: "The centre of all attraction is Kṛṣṇa. His attraction is by beauty, by love, and by charm, not by coercion and force."

So then this one says, 'Beyond Jesus.' And then here you tell the story of Professor Nixon, and the bishops telling him to go to India to meet the Lord face to face. So the bishops say: "Go to India."

Then we have this picture of Jesus Christ and it says: "We must cross the threshold given by Jesus Christ. He has declared, 'Die to live.'" And then you said here, you said:

"So is the position of Jesus stagnant or progressive? Where He has reached is that finished forever or is He dynamic."

Then a devotee says: "The Christians will say that He has full knowledge."

And you said: "So is He stagnant there, finally fixed, is that Jesus' position? Do the bishops say that His position is final? Does He have a progressive life or is Jesus alone barred from making further progress? Is He a member of the dynamic world or the stagnant world?"

So this will be a thunderbolt to the head of the Christians. It will revolutionise. This says, 'Reincarnation - Transmigration.' 'Do Unto Others' Includes Animals.'

And this is chapter eight called, 'Levels of God Realisation.' And that's the Bṛhat- Bhāgavatāmṛta when you were giving a summary of Sanātana Goswāmī's Bṛhat- Bhāgavatāmṛta. And here's a picture from a South Indian Temple of Brahmā and Śiva, because in that story Nārada Muni is going to Brahmā, then to Śiva.

And then this is explaining 'Neutral love of God,' śānta rasa.

Then a picture of Hanumān, 'Hanumān: Servant of Rāma,' dāsya rasa. Then 'Kṛṣṇa's Friends, the Pāṇḍavas,' sakhya rasa.

Then we have, 'Uddhava: More dear than 'Kṛṣṇa.'

na tathā me priyatama ātmayonir na śaṅkaraḥ na ca saṅkarṣaṇo na śrīr naivātmā ca yathā bhavān

"Neither Brahmā nor Śīva are as dear to Me as you; My elder brother Saṅkarṣaṇa is not as dear to Me as you, nor even Lakṣmī Devī. Even My own Self is not as dear to Me as you." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.15)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Like a ladder!

Devotee: Yes, a ladder. Then:

āsā maho caraṇa-renu-juṣām aham syām vṛndāvane kim api gulmalatauṣadhīnām yā dustyajam svajanam ārya-patham ca hitvā bhejur mukunda-padavīm śrutibhir vimṛgyām

"The gopīs of Vṛndāvana have given up the association of their husbands, sons and other family members, who are very difficult to renounce, and they have sacrificed even their religious principles to take shelter of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, which are sought after by even the Vedas. O grant me the fortune to be born as a blade of grass in Vṛndāvana, so that I may take the dust of those great souls upon my head."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61, Uddhava)

Then this is chapter nine, it's called 'The Kṛṣṇa Conception.' And this is where you explain how Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta, he was giving dīkṣa to one gentleman that you brought to him from Calcutta. And he said: "Kṛṣṇa must be allowed to land in our hearts."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And He will conquer everything.

Devotee: So that chapter is there, where you talk also about 'Mental Mushrooms.'

praviṣṭaḥ karṇa-randhreṇa, svānāṁ bhāva-saroruhā dhunoti śamalaṁ kṛṣṇaḥ, salilasya yathā śarat

"The sound incarnation of Lord Kṛṣṇa, the Supreme Soul (i.e. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam), enters into the heart of a self-realised devotee, sits on the lotus flower of his loving relationship, and thus cleanses the dust of material association, such as lust, anger and hankering. Thus it acts like autumnal rains upon pools of muddy water."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.8.5)

Then this is chapter ten. It's called 'The Hare Kṛṣṇa Mantra.' And this is a talk that you gave when giving dīkṣa, your general talk. About chant Śrī Kṛṣṇa-Caitanya, Prabhu Nityānanda, Śrī Advaita, Gadādhara, Śrīvāsādi Gaura-bhakta-vṛnda. Then the mahā- mantra. There's a picture of Mahāprabhu and the Pañca-Tattva in Naga-saṅkīrtana. Then here's a picture of your divine grace chanting on japa-mālā.

Then this is explaining the ten offences. First offence, 'Abusing Saints.' Second offence, 'The Demigod Worship.' Third offence, so then the ten offences are explained. And there's a heading for each one.

Then Nāmābhāsa, then four different kinds of Nāmābhāsa Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The reference of Ajāmila.

Devotee: Yes, that is there, the story of Ajāmila.

Then this is chapter ten, this is called 'Service of the Holy Name.' And this is when I brought Satsvarūpa Mahārāja here once to see you with Tamal Kṛṣṇa Maharaja. And Satsvarūpa Mahārāja asked you, he said: "Sometimes I'm chanting japa but I think of services that my Guru has given me."

And then you said: "Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta was in favour of kīrtana." And you gave a talk about the importance of serving attitude. And you said about like, "Chanting without serving is like firing a gun without any bullets in it." And that mentions how you say that: "Kīrtana is a fight, preaching means to fight with māyā."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Offensive for offensive, kīrtana.

Devotee: So here the breaker says, 'Preaching Means a Fight.' Then it says: 'Gauḍīya Maṭh: War Against Māyā.' Then here's a picture

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Totalitarian war.

Devotee: Yes. Here we have this photo of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura. And it says: "Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura, Founder-Ācārya of Gauḍīya Maṭh, declared totalitarian war against māyā, and even all other existing conceptions of religion."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. We will be paid by this expression only, a single expression will satisfy.

Devotee: Then this says, 'Vṛndāvana Express Train.' Because you said: "Kṛṣṇa-Nāma takes you to 'Vṛndāvana and no where else.'"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, without stoppages in the intermediate stations.

Devotee: This says, 'Quality not Quantity.'

Then this chapter is chapter twelve, it's called the 'Nectar of the Holy Name.' And this is where you're speaking about the Prema-vivarta of Jagadānanda Paṇḍita as published by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

And then Rūpa Goswāmī's verse:

nikhila-śruti-mauli ratna mālā, dyuti nīrājita-pāda-paṅkajānta ayi mukta-kulair upāśyamānaṁ, paritas tvām hari-nām saṁśrayāmi

"The acme of all the Vedas, the Upaniṣads, are like a string of transcendental jewels. The tips of the toes of Your lotus feet, O Holy Name, are eternally worshipped by the radiance emanating from those jewels. You are constantly worshipped by the great liberated souls (headed by Nārada and Śuka, whose hearts are reposed in complete absence of worldly aspirations). Therefore, O Name Divine, I surrender unto You in every time, place, and circumstance." (Nāmāṣṭakam, 1)

So then there's a picture here of Śrīla Rūpa Goswāmī, and then it says: "A sixteenth century portrait of Śrīla Rūpa Goswāmī, who is described in the Caitanya-caritāmṛta as 'an exact replica of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu.' He authored one hundred thousand verses on Mahāprabhu's instructions."

And then that verse is there: nikhila-śruti-mauli ratna mālā, and then your explanation. Then where you say the Vedas would only be a jungle of sounds, the Vedas, if they're not pointing to the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa.

Then here's a picture of your Deities, Guru-Gaurāṅga-Gandharva-Govindasundar, and Tapanā Mīśra, he's offering the āratī lamp. Because you said: "Just as while performing āratī we offer a lamp to show the Deity form of the Lord, the principle śrutis are helping us to have this clear conception: by sound only can we have the Supreme Lord."

Then, this says: 'I Want Millions of Ears.'

tuṇḍe tāṇḍavinī ratim vitanute tuṇḍāvalī-labdhave karna-kroḍa-kaḍambinī ghaṭayate karṇārbudebhyaḥ sprhām cetaḥ-prāṅgaṇa-saṅginī vijayate sarvendriyāṇāṁ kṛtim no jāne janitā kiyadbhir amṛtaiḥ kṛṣṇeti varṇa-dvayī

"When the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa appears on the lips of a devotee, it begins madly dancing. Then the Name takes over and handles him as if the person to whom the lips belong loses all control over his lips, and the devotee says: 'With one mouth, how much can I gather the ecstasy of the Holy Name? I need millions of mouths to taste its unlimited sweetness. I'll never feel any satisfaction by chanting with only one mouth.'

(Vidagdha-Mādhava, 1.15)

Then this says, 'Ecstasy of the Holy Name.' 'Ocean of Nectar.' Where you said: "Sometimes he thinks I am in an ocean of nectar. My whole existence is within an ocean of nectarine liquid."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ānandambudhi-vardana, you are increasing the ocean.

Devotee: And then this is the last chapter, it is called 'Reality the Beautiful.' And it is the talk of Rāmānanda Rāya and Mahāprabhu.

So there is a theme. You said: "The Search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Reality the Beautiful," so in the beginning, just like these boys are visiting you from Holland, they're searching India, they engaged in this search. Then we find out that Jesus He's at a particular stage of search. But then at the end of the book we find out in this conversation that even Mahāprabhu Himself, that Kṛṣṇa Himself is searching for Kṛṣṇa.

So this explains, shows, beginning with varṇāśrama, this shows about the talk of Rāmānanda Rāya thatyes. Then it starts varṇāśrama, 'Ultimate Goal of Life.' Then, 'Devotion Mixed with Desires,' karma-miśra-bhakti. Then jñāna-miśra-bhakti, 'Knowledge and Devotion. Then brahma-bhūtaḥ, you said 'Beyond Spirit "Go Deeper." So it has a very dramatic ending, it starts building up, the book, to a crescendo. Then, 'Divine Slavery.' Then, 'The Science of Rasa,' rasa begins, dāsyā rasa. Then here, 'God the Friend,' so sakhya rasa. 'God the Son,' vātsalya rasa. 'Mathurā: The Kṛṣṇa Conception,' and you said there that: "Rūpa

Goswāmī leaped from Vaikuṇṭha to Mathurā in one stride, in Upadeśāmṛta, where Sanātana goes step by step in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta. Then the next page says, 'Conjugal Mellow.' And then comes the position of Rādhā, 'Rādhārāṇī, Queen of the Gopīs.'

rādhām ādhāya hṛdaye tatyāja vraja sundariḥ

"Her devotional service is categorically higher than that of all the other gopīs.

The whole group of gopīs can be cancelled for one: Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī." (Gītā-Govinda, 3.1) + (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.106)

Then, 'Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa: Union in Separation.' Then here's one picture of 'Rādhā and Govinda, and it says: "Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa, ecstasy Himself and Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, the embodiment of ecstatic love of Godhead."

Then, 'Śrī Caitanya Avatāra.' Because you said that this hints at the appearance. Then, 'Rāsarāja: Ecstasy Himself.'

And then Mahāprabhu's 'Transcendental Madness.'

Then here's a picture of Mahāprabhu with Svarūpa Dāmodara and Rāmānanda Rāya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: 'Rāsarāja and Mahā bhāva, the other aspect, 'Rāsarāja ...

Devotee: Yes, that's presented.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahā bhāva presented?

Devotee: Yes, but in the breaker it says, 'Rāsarāja: Ecstasy Himself,' but in the text Mahā bhāva is presented.

And then here's the picture of Mahāprabhu, Rāmānanda Rāya, and Svarūpa Dāmodara, it says, "These associates of Mahāprabhu they assisted Mahāprabhu in tasting ecstatic love of Kṛṣṇa during the last twelve years of His manifest pastimes." Then this verse:

rādhā kṛṣṇa-praṇaya-vikṛtir hlādinī śaktir asmād ekātmānāv api bhuvi purā deha-bhedam gatau tau caitanyākhyam prakāṣam adhunā tad-dvayam caikyam āptam rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalitam naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam

"I worship Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who is Kṛṣṇa Himself, enriched with the emotions and radiance of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. As the Predominating and Predominated Moieties, Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa are eternally one, with separate individual identities. Now They have again united as Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya. This inconceivable transformation of the Lord's internal pleasure-giving potency has arisen from the loving affairs of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.5)

And you explain like summer, autumn, winter, and spring, we cannot tell where is the beginning of this. Then this is the page where you say that the Predominating and the Predominated Moieity are mixed and an extraordinary ecstatic feeling is there. Kṛṣṇa is overpowered by His potency and He Himself is searching after His own Self, kṛṣṇasya ātmānusandhana, Kṛṣṇa Himself is engaged in the search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: savajana, viyojana, prayojana avatari, searching for Himself.

Devotee: Who is Śrī Kṛṣṇa Reality the Beautiful. The influence of Rādhārāṇī over Kṛṣṇa has transformed Him into a devotee and He is searching Himself. Sweetness is tasting itself and becoming mad and it is a living sweetness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mad and dancing.

Devotee: Yes, that comes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And distributing, chanting, that is distributing.

Devotee: Then it says, "And it is living sweetness not dead or static but dynamic ecstasy - sweetness endowed with life. And He is tasting Himself, the personification of happiness, ecstasy, and beauty, and dancing in madness, and His performance of kīrtana means distributing that ecstasy to others. The ultimate sweetness, or ānanda, is such that no other thing exists than can taste itself and express its own happiness with such intensity. I have described Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu in the Prema Dhama Deva Stotram.

ātma-siddha-sāva līla-pūrṇa-saukhya-lakṣaṇaṁ svānubhāva-matta-nṛtya-kīrtanātmā-vanṭanam advayaika-lakṣya-pūrṇa-tattva-tat-parātparam prema-dhāma-devam-eva naumi gaura-sundaram

"The highest conception of the Absolute Truth must also be the highest form of ānanda, ecstasy. Mahāprabhu's dancing indicates that He is full of ecstasy, and His kīrtana is distribution of that rasa. So, if we scientifically search out who Mahāprabhu is, we cannot but find that He is the Ultimate Reality. He is mad in tasting His Own internal nectar, and His dancing is the outcome of His transcendental ecstasy. And He is chanting, distributing that to others. So, studying quite closely the character of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, we cannot but think that He is the Supreme Absolute Truth, in Its fullest, and most dynamic expression."
(Prema Dhama Deva Stotram, 66)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The conquering conclusion.

Devotee: Then this is the last paragraph of the book. "The highest conception of the Absolute Truth must also be the highest form of ānanda, ecstasy. Mahāprabhu's dancing indicates that He is full of ecstasy, and His kīrtana is distribution of that rasa. So, if we scientifically search out who Mahāprabhu is, we cannot but find that He is the Ultimate Reality. He is mad in tasting His Own internal nectar, and His dancing is the outcome of His transcendental ecstasy. And He is chanting, distributing that to others. So, studying quite closely the character of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, we cannot but think that He is the Supreme Absolute Truth, in Its fullest, and most dynamic expression."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now how it is taken by the ISKCON as well as the other scholars? Not yet known?

Devotee: Well the scholars, we're going to be presenting it to them when we go back. We have a list of around fifty scholars in America whom we're going to present this book to and I think that it will meet with their loud approval.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Let us see, wait and see, how they may take it. And any opinion of the ISKCON members? No? Not yet?

Devotee: Well, not of the official members of ISKCON, no.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Have they got it? No?

Devotee: These are advance copies, these are special copies, and the book will be available on the 31st. The printer will start shipping it, they're going to ship 3,000 copies to South Africa where Yudhāmanyu Prabhu will fly there and begin to distribute them. And the 2,000 copies will come to San Jose. Then we're going to start sending them to different scholars and distributing them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Totalitarian war against all, māyā and all the so called conceptions of religious world.

Giri Mahārāja he missed the friend?

Devotee: No. He came with me but he left his money in the Hotel Bankok. So unfortunately the money is there. He's trying to connect with that hotel.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the matter with the Bankok? So many cheques are being robbed there and his money. There is some agent?

Devotee: No. It was his absent mindedness, he left it in the hotel shower. So I'm taking shelter of that verse in the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam where Prahlāda Mahārāja says if you lose some money in the street you may come back and find it there, by God's grace. Whereas if you try to protect your money very well it may get taken away from you.

Devotee: Mukunda Mālā Vilāsa Prabhu, he is the one who worked very, very hard on producing this book (The Search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa: Reality the Beautiful) for the pleasure of your divine grace. He was working many hours, sometimes not even sleeping at night, editing this book, typesetting it, and tolerating me, and all the different things that went in it. So he's trying to come here in one week.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After you go back there?

Devotee: No, he's trying to come now but he's having difficulty getting all the money together.

Search for Śrī Kṛṣṇa: Reality the Beautiful. That is the advertisement.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Religion is proper adjustment.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:there you do something but he's gone coming back. Dhira Mahārāja already planned this work he's trying to give vent to your feeling.

Devotee: (Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta) Swāmī Mahārāja (presents) Preface.

We are very fortunate to hear His Divine Grace, Om Viṣṇupāda Paramahaṁsa Parivrajakācārya Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Mahārāja. (By age and experience,) in both ways, he is senior to me. I was fortunate to have his association since a long time, since perhaps 1930. At that time he had not accepted sannyāsa,

..... from the very beginning I knew that he was a pure devotee of Kṛṣṇa.

So, I wanted to associate with him. Kṛṣṇa and Prabhupāda, Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, liked him to prepare me. Our relationship is very intimate.

After the breakdown of our spiritual master's institution I wanted to organise another institution making Śrīdhara Mahārāja the head. Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura told me that Śrīdhara Mahārāja is one of the finest preachers of Kṛṣṇa consciousness in the world, so I wanted to take him everywhere. This was my earnest desire. But since he could not go around the world and preach, at least the people of the world should come to hear from him.

For spiritual advancement of life we must go to someone who is actually practising spiritual life. So if one is actually serious to take instructions from a śikṣa guru Devotee: Then there's a line missing, and it says: "or instructing spiritual master, then I can recommend him the one who is the most competent of all my Godbrothers. This is B.R. Śrīdhara Mahārāja.

Devotee: I consider Śrīdhara Mahārāja to be even my śikṣa guru, so what to speak of the benefit that others can have from his association.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Death blow to ISKCON. (assembled devotees laugh)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So called ISKCON, not ISKCON proper present artificial ISKCON.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: attracted you, otherwise there was no chance of your coming with this book. But some special power influenced you to come just in this day of his appearance, advent.

Devotee: Yes. It is your divine grace.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Or divine arrangement. You could not come, we thought you can't come but suddenly the telegram and you already come. Specially with this book complete in the birthday of Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: 1933 I carried that Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya from Madras (Lordanall Place?) to Māyāpur Yogapīṭh, 1933 perhaps. Now after fifty years, similar book, original conception has come again. Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: You sent us one telegram saying that you've made your heartfelt prayer to Mahāprabhu for our success. So it's only by your divine grace, Guru and Gaurāṅga, that we're able to present this today.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This commends the heart for prayer, ha, ha, ha. What you have produced that is almost a medicine to encourage, to excite the heart to work for prayer.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: negligible negligence.

Pure eyes are necessary to see the līlā of Gaurāṅga here. Only variegated prejudices are covering our real vision, or estimation, vision and estimation covered by our own created prejudices. They can't allow us to see things independent of our own interest of different types. They're like so many dusts covering the real glance to see properly what the environment, what is there. The whole trouble is there. Anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna, some fleeting desires, then some organised attempt to exploit, then indifference to the environment of different type, these. And to read the environment from the selfish standpoint but not preparedness to receive the standpoint of the universal angle of vision. The trouble, the problem is there, problem.

buddha bhakti kriya visaya duli te kamani se bara tattva vaibay dekhi te ?
Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

So not only unprejudiced but there is also some positive qualification.

That is interest for the līlā of Śrī Gaurāṅga, or Śrī Kṛṣṇa etc. Not only to brush aside the undesirable prejudices within us but positive affinity towards the real nature of things outside. Reality, By Itself and for Itself. By Itself on the background but for Itself that is floating over. Everything meant for Him, that positive prejudice is necessary for us. Everything for Him, for Him. And Gaurāṅga Mahāprabhu came here with His party to introduce this vision that everything for Him.

Beauty, Reality the Beautiful, and by serving the Beauty we can contribute something to make it more beautiful, and to make others also beautiful. Service is good, sacrifice, service, that is the unit of beauty, harmony. By sacrifice we can participate into a real harmony and harmony is beauty, harmony is beauty, and harmony contributed by the sacrifice of so many units together for the common end. So we can make ourselves beautiful, environment beautiful, and we can add to the beauty of the beauty if we really can understand what is service and sacrifice ourselves into that positive. Die to live, self participation apparently, apparently self sacrifice of self Devotee: Abnegation?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Abnegation, negative side. Positively is giving oneself, that die to live. Self dissipation or something. Disown the selfishness. The positive, dynamic.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Then Beauty will come on our front, the Beauty. When our contribution will be for the Beauty, Beauty will come to flow, to show it on us.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. The beauty, sweetness, we all want sweetness, beauty, all these things. Inherent nature, and that is harmless. But how to get that raso vai sa ? That is only by service.

Sevonmukhe hi jihvādaḥ svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ:

ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ sevonmukhe hi jihvādaḥ svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ

("Because the name of Kṛṣṇa is identical with Kṛṣṇa Himself, and on the absolute spiritual platform, Kṛṣṇa's name, form, qualities, and associates, cannot be appreciated by the material senses. However, when one engages the tongue in chanting the Holy Names of the Lord and tasting the remnants of the Lord's food, Kṛṣṇa gradually reveals Himself to the purified senses of that devotee." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.234)

The very gist of spiritual life is sevonmukhe, whether taking the Name, or talking about Him, or whatever form may be of the serving attitude, innumerable types of service, the very life will be the serving attitude, dedication. Otherwise all imitation, all may be imitation. We should not be afraid of sacrifice. Die to live, a very good expression. Dying means our ego, who are we, we are means a particular type of ego. But to die means to dissolve that ego, more and more you dissolve your ego, more and more you come in contact with the universal plenary position. So die, die, die to live.

"One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa favourably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service."

Divine sound, begin with the sound, sound aspect Mahāprabhu told. The sound aspect of Divinity, begin there and everything will gradually come before you if you can approach in a proper line under proper guidance.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

"Something most wonderful and miraculous has happened because the Divine full moon Śrī Caitanyacandra has graciously illuminated the sky of everyone's heart, imbuing them with ambrosial transcendental love. Being deeply attracted by that, the materialists have given up talking about their wives, children and mundane affairs. The paṇḍits have given up arguing the scriptural conclusions, the yogīs have given up the difficulty of controlling the breath, the ascetics have given up their austerity, and the impersonalist renunciates have given up their pursuit of impersonal philosophy. Now there is only one exclusive and super excellent taste, the nectar of pure devotional service, compared to which, nothing else is attractive anymore." (Caitanya-Candrāmṛta, 113)

When Mahāprabhu had His descent here Prabodhānanda Saraswatī, the preceptor of Gopāl Bhaṭṭa Goswāmī, he's describing. Strī-putrādi-katham jahur viṣayaṇaḥ: those that are busily engaged in household talks for the time being that was stopped. They began to talk about Śrī Gaurāṅga, giving away their household talk they began to talk about Śrī Gaurāṅga:

"What He is doing, what He is doing?" To the general talk of every lip was Śrī Gaurāṅga when He came here.

Śāstra-pravādaṁ budhā: and the scholars they're fighting with the, to find out the proper meaning of the śāstra, the revealed scriptures. They for the time being stopped that and began to read what Śrī Caitanyadeva is doing: "What He's giving out to us? What is that? Is that the real purport of the whole scriptures?"

Yogīndrā vijahur marun niyamaka-kleśaṁ: and those controller of, the yogīs that are out to control their lower

End of side A, 28/29/30-2-83, start of side B.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I shall enjoy as a result of that penances. There is a party whose business is like that. The suffering first, not that enjoying first and then suffering. No, suffering first and then we shall enjoy. Tapas tāpasāḥ: they also gave up their positions for the time being.

Jñānābhyāsa-vidhiṁ jahuś ca yatayaś: the sannyāsīns, renunciationists, they also for the time being stopped their culture about Vedānta. Athāto brahma-jijñāsā, brahma-jijñāsā (Vedānta-sūtra). Janmādy asya yato (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1). Why brahma-jijñāsā ? Because everything coming out of it so that is the prime cause and we must be acquainted with the prime cause of the whole. It is most reasonable. Brahma-jijñāsā. They also left their campaign for the time being.

Jahuś ca yatayaś caitanyacandre param āviṣkurvati bhakti-yogapadavīm naivānya āsīd rasaḥ: when Mahāprabhu came with a novel style of devotional sentiment all lost their affinity in their respective departments.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Śrī Gaurāṅga. Gaura Hari. To understand Him it requires great fortune, bhāgya. Eliminate exploitation, renunciation, and calculative service. Love, infinite sacrifice, infinite sacrifice, for whom?

For whom? Who is meant in a constitutional position to be the receiver of all of the whole, that peculiar position. That Absolute Centre, that Absolute Centre Who can consume them and digest. Who can receive the produce of all and can digest them and can distribute them in some form or other. Like the stomach receives the food and distributes properly. Stomach knows how to distribute and what sort of food where. So put food into the stomach not into the liver or to the lungs.

na krt eva karma phalaṁ sri kṛṣṇaya samatitanstu ?

All the religious experts here they're all one in opinion that all the results should be given to Kṛṣṇa, the all attractor. All attractor Kṛṣṇa means attractor, the all attractor Who can attract who has got some supernatural power of attraction. He can attract. Kṛṣ - ṇa, two functions, to draw and to distribute and the distribution makes everyone happy. Just as the stomach draws the food and distributes it in the form of blood or something. So Kṛṣ - ṇa, to attract everything that is not a small matter to attract everything. And then Kṛṣ - and then ṇa, na means that vidhi vacaca ?

When religious receives and when religious everyone feels satisfaction by that type of product. Kṛṣ - ṇa. And He is accepted as the all consuming principle underlying. Kṛṣ - ṇa. Good or bad does not matter. Kṛṣ - ṇa.

Sun attracts water of different type and then it also supplies in the way of the gas, the cloud, pure water which is desirable for us. He attracts water of different types but when he gives back it is very healthy. So Kṛṣ - ṇa, connect with that, Mahāprabhu told that, connect with that. The life of your life, the existence of your existence, the desirability of you desire. The basic principle of all our existential hankering.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

And the jñāna sunya bhakti, jñāna sunya bhakti, some oxymoron or something like which seems to be of opposite concern. Just as when we are a child in the mother's womb, no knowledge for our own improvement is there, a child. But the motherly affection helps her/him. And Mahāprabhu says to attain that stage that will be most desirable and judicious, judicious. Throw yourself in some motherly care, the land of affection, opulent affection, affection herself that will nurture you. Your intellect of the child is unnecessary when in it's very early stage as a baby. No growth of care taking intellect there but automatically in such position s/he's well handled.

So there is a plane where you need not try yourself for your good, it is automatically done. Try to acquire that plane for your home where everything is automatically and perfectly done to satisfy your selfish, satisfy your real welfare, automatically done.

Jñāna sunya bhakti, jñāna sunya bhakti, no necessity for you to calculate what is good for you what is bad for you but the atmosphere will do what is necessary on your behalf and that will be perfect good. So jñāna sunya bhakti, jñāna sunya bhakti, the most peaceful stage of life, jñāna sunya bhakti, peaceful. And when you are labouring engaging your reason to improve you sometimes by exploiting the environment, or how you can look after your own interest. So much trouble, the stage of this trouble it is not a good life. A good life is to acquire such a stage, such a plane of life where automatically everything is done to my best interest, jñāna sunya bhakti.

Gaura Hari bol!

That is intelligence, reason, Mahāprabhu says that. And still you are not desired to be idle there, you'll have your engagement. And that is also very peaceful, peaceful. Suppose if you can get any service where all our fundamental necessities are free, the quarter, the food, all free, and then we work some. The indispensable necessities of life are automatically supplied, we have no worry for that. And then also we do some service quite happily, something like that, the jñāna sunya bhakti. Everything necessary for us automatically done to our highest satisfaction. Still we are engaged in some loving service more and more. And the company is also there suitable, and the competition also is there but all happy competition, happy competition harmonized by the same quarter which sometimes may be apparently seen to clash with one another. But still it is not so because the common interest comes at the side between them, in this way. From far away we are having some idea. Mahāprabhu came with all these things, as I told, on a special train, to book a special train. Our Dhir Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja, Goswāmī Mahārāja has pointed out that, a special train booked from Navadvīpa and to leave Vṛndāvana. No halt in any place. jñāna sunya bhakti, Kṛṣṇa- loka, Vṛndāvana line.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

We are to be educated what is to be desired, what should be our summum bonum of life, that is all important, all important factor to select. Anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna, devotion and this prema bhakti, love divine. Different planes. Bhāgyavān jīva, sukṛti, previous sukṛti helps us for selection and free will has got little part to play.

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde pāya
bhakti-latā-bīja

"Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151)

The resultant of all different lives, the forces which you used in different lives here.

Mādhvācārya says: mukta pragraha, a rein unlatched, a rein of the horse, the horse is always controlled by the rein but when rein removed the horse runs at its own way. So every word when we take off the rein from the meaning it will reach to Kṛṣṇa as to find its origin. And by our local interest we put rein and try to take the meaning to this direction, that direction according to our own interest, local interest. But with the rein removed:

na te viduḥ svārtha-gatiṁ hi viṣṇuṁ, durāśayā ye bahir-artha-māninaḥ andhā yathāndhair upanīyamānās, te 'pīśa-tantryām uru-dāmni baddhāḥ

Prahlāda Mahārāja says: "Persons who are strongly entrapped by the consciousness of enjoying material life, and who have therefore accepted as their leader or guru a similar blind man attached to external sense objects, cannot understand that the goal of life is to return home, back to Godhead, and engage in the service of Lord Viṣṇu. As blind men guided by another blind man miss the right path and fall into a ditch, materially attached men led by another materially attached man are bound by the ropes of fruitive labour, which are made of very strong cords, and they continue again and again in materialistic life, suffering the threefold miseries." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.31)

All the meanings of all the words and everything will run towards the centre, towards the centre. Mukta pragraha vidhi, or jahatsata ajahatsata, these things are being analysed in Mādhva philosophy.

Mahāprabhu also began to explain the grammar in that light when He returned from Gaya. He began to explain grammar as a devotional scripture, grammar. To go, to do, all these to analyse, what is doing? What is doing? All potency of Kṛṣṇa. He deeply analysed everything, every wave coming from Him. This some is sleeping, some is exciting, reading, running, all different potencies coming from the centre, different waves coming from the centre. So dhātu (?) means clear all the verbs they have got their origin from Kṛṣṇa, so what ever word comes to Him, He says He takes it to Kṛṣṇa. A new line of explanation came from the back (of ankaba?) everything.

The students went to complain to the teacher of Mahāprabhu, Gaṅgā Dāsa Paṇḍit. "He used to teach us exceptionally well previously, but now after coming from Gaya how He explains things we can't understand." Some say: "We understand but it won't serve our purpose of present life." Went to complain to Gaṅgā Dāsa Paṇḍit who was the teacher of Mahāprabhu, Nimāi Paṇḍit.

Gaṅgā Dāsa Paṇḍit asked them: "Send Him to me I shall request Him to teach you properly." That information came and Mahāprabhu visited. "You Nimāi, why do You explain things in a peculiar different way, new fashion? What's the meaning?"

"No, no, by the grace of your feet dust none can challenge Me."

"Yes, I heard Your Name as a teacher. But what is this after coming from Gaya You are explaining things in a different way. Your students came to complain to me. One thing you should remember I remind You that go in a proper channel as the ancients have chalked out. What do you think that You are a devotee and Your forefathers and the other scholars they're not devotees? What do You mean that You have come to preach a new thing crossing Your forefathers and other respectable persons of the country. You have come to create a new thing here that's not desirable."

Mahāprabhu told: "No, by the grace of your feet dust what I shall do rightly, you need not trouble yourself in this way."

That universal vision everywhere to save us from local prejudice, local interest, and no interest. Local interest, and no interest, no interest is also a dangerous thing, to be reduced to zero. That is also all devouring, all devouring temporary demon. But interest is there and that should be properly located. 'Religion is proper adjustment' our Guru Mahārāja used to tell: 'Religion is proper adjustment.' We are in discordant way like a discord, discord needs to be eliminated. And apparent discord also we find in Vṛndāvana but that is of quite different type that comes from another centre of interest. That encourages more in our progress, that sort. Nitāi. Nitāi.

I feel much tired, hopelessly tired, so I take leave of you.

.....

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vṛndāvana to be the highest which seems to be mundane, apparently, and he's making the basis of that, that you must fully love. After Śaṅkara, Rāmānuja, what Mahāprabhu has given if we have got free thinking then we can eliminate the old ācārya and find out something, we may prepare ourselves for finding something higher. With this attitude if we try to understand then we'll be able to appreciate what Mahāprabhu has given. And if we allow ourselves to be fully captured by the previous ācārya then we will have no freedom to give them up and seek a new one and realise and appreciate Mahāprabhu's decision and advice. It is an examine he's preparing for that. The free will, you may make your free will the so called interpretation of Upaniṣads This higher principal has been delivered and Mahāprabhu is giving that and we have got our free will from the religious stereotype conceptions, then we can appreciate the new thing Mahāprabhu has given we'll be able to appreciate. So we must not make our free will slave to the ancient interpreters of the Vedas. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

anarpita-carīm cirāt karuṇayāvatīrṇaḥ kalau samarpayitum unnatojjvala-rasām sva-bhakti-śriyam hariḥ puraṭa-sundara-dyuti-kadamba-sandīpitaḥ sadā hṛdaya-kandare sphuratu vaḥ śacī-nandanah

"May that Lord, who is known as the son of Śrīmatī Śacīdevī, be transcendently situated in the innermost chambers of your heart. Resplendent with the radiance of molten gold, He has appeared in this age of Kali by His causeless mercy to bestow what no incarnation ever offered before: the most sublime and radiant spiritual knowledge of the mellow taste of His service." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.4)

Never delivered in this world ever been delivered. A new thing Mahāprabhu has come to give to us and we must have our free nature to welcome that. If we are prejudiced, we are covered with the old prejudice, it will be difficult for us to understand what Mahāprabhu wants to give. That is the

And also gives some hint in the Vṛndāvana līlā, the free love, the Kṛṣṇa, gopī Kṛṣṇa, anurāga means that free. Even not bound by the social laws and Vedic laws. A hint to that also we may find here: svajanam ārya-patham ca hitvā bhejur mukunda-pada-vīm śrutibhir vimṛgyām:

āsā maho caraṇa-renu-juṣām aham syām vṛndāvane kim api gulma-latauṣadhīnām yā dustyajam svajanam ārya-patham ca hitvā bhejur mukunda-pada-vīm śrutibhir vimṛgyām

"The gopīs of Vṛndāvana have given up the association of their husbands, sons and other family members, who are very difficult to renounce, and they have sacrificed even their religious principles to take shelter of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, which are sought after by even the Vedas. O grant me the fortune to be born as a blade of grass in Vṛndāvana, so that I may take the dust of those great souls upon my head."

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61, Uddhava)

How that can be the highest, the highest attainment in Vṛndāvana ignoring the existing social laws and also the association of our so called guardians and well wishers. The Kṛṣṇa's position is so high, so loving, so natural, so innate, that that must if there is any comparison everything should be cancelled and selection must go to His holy feet. Neglecting all other possible engagements and demands from us from any other side. That also a hint is there.

Ke (who?)

Devotee: Aksayananda

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How do you do?

Devotee: Very well, by your grace, very well.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ha, ha. Very well. You are always very well. Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. Our Guru Maharaja told: "When we are very well, when we are in bhajana we are very well. Otherwise the physical comfort is not very well."

Haridāsa Ṭhākura he was put into prison by the Kāzī, (the Mohammedan magistrate named Cāṇdrakāji - Chāṇd Kāzī). He was considered criminal because he used to take Kṛṣṇa-Nāma (used to chant the Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra), coming from the Mohammedan association, put into prison. But when released the co-prisoners they're also very mortified, "That we got one prisoner so taking Hari-Nāma, such holy temperament and he's going away."

Then Haridāsa Ṭhākura gave blessing to them: "I bless you to be as you are at present."

Then they misunderstood, some of them. "You bless that we shall remain in this prison-house as we are?"

Then some complain came, Haridāsa Ṭhākura told: "That is not the meaning. At present, by my association, you are all conscious of some sort of God consciousness, your mind is filled up. So my blessing is only looking to that aspect. Kṛṣṇa keep you in this temperament as you are at present that some holy conception predominating in your mind at present, Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa. Not your physical environment but your mental aspiration. I bless for that."

So how we are, and how we are in relation with Kṛṣṇa, Vaiṣṇava, Guru, that is our proper concern, existence. Other existence to be ignored and eliminated. That is real life, life proper is there in which we are in connection with Kṛṣṇa. That is considered to be the life. Others ignored, māyā, māyā means illusion, that has no value, negative value.

Who is he?

Devotee: Vidagdha Mādhava.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And where is Dayādhara?

Devotee: I think Dayādhara went to Calcutta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When?

Devotee: Yesterday, with Brahmā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With Brahmā.

Devotee: He had something to do there. He wanted to get a battery pack. He's coming back, Dayādhara will come back.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Brahmā?

Devotee: He's gone to San Jose

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, San Jose. And where is this newly initiated gentleman?

Devotee: Balarāma?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Balarāma.

Devotee: He's staying with me.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With you? Here?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now he's not here?

Devotee: He's taking Praśadam, downstairs.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Consulting my Gurudeva I showed some special conduct about him that he may be of service to the Sudhir Goswāmī Mahārāja and Aksayananda Mahārāja and also this Maṭh. His father has got some money and if he remains in connection with his father he can do some monetary help to enhance this movement. A sincere boy, he wants to do that so he may be utilised by Mahāmaṇḍal, especially Dhira Kṛṣṇa

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: our own hand to quash the revolt. This is suicidal, suicidal. This will slacken the very foundation of ISKCON, the such attempt. And the gainers will be the opposite party.

Nityānanda Prabhu He got the wound on His head, from Jagāi Mādhāi, and that promoted His propaganda to a high level, Nityānanda Prabhu. Even Mahāprabhu went to punish them, Nityānanda Prabhu stopped, stopped: "No, not this time. In this avatāra such action not look well but it is beyond Our promise."

So (Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta) Swāmī Mahārāja when attacked here by the local goondas in ISKCON Temple in Māyāpura, whether you know or not, I heard he sent a saṅkīrtana party on the street. They (the goondas) entered the compound and showed some rowdism by physically striking some of the devotees. Then Swāmī Mahārāja ordered: "Form a saṅkīrtana party and go out on the street. And if any attack comes you all tolerate." And it was done, he was present within, and the party was sent on the road with saṅkīrtana to be prey to all those goondas but they vanished gradually.

Rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāśah, goptrtve varaṇam tatha?, He will protect.

I (reveal the main Maṭh ?) of our first staying in a rented house on the banks of the Ganges. Some senior, sober man, an advocate who loved me, he told that: "There is a conspiracy to finish you."

I remarked, that some gentleman, he took the name of some gentleman, he told on my face, that advocate says that: "Śrīdhara Mahārāja will be finished very soon. So you may not stay in a solitary place on the banks of the Ganges, you go on the inner side of the town." I remarked that: "If that gentleman has got the power to do to make or mar then it is better to die. Kṛṣṇa is not there." Kṛṣṇa is there and he thinks that he can do anything and everything that he has become the ultimate authority, then it is better not to live in this life. Nothing. So many times came such things.

Rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāśah. Who is the protector? Who is the keeper in the practical life?

We are to understand, we are to examine ourselves, examine ourselves.

So Jesus is revered for His sacrifice of life, so length and breadth the Christianity could spread. Not so much for His principles but as much for His sacrifice it spread like anything. Why? If I am accepted in the political field also, so may persons they say if I am accepted as a sacrifice for the cause then I will be fortunate. It is not so easy, it is not so easy to acquire such fortune that I'll be prey for the service of Kṛṣṇa. It will be individual consideration at least, and in a group we may sometimes take up a Vaiṣṇava is being molested so we must try in any way. That conclusion comes from another plane, not for one's own self but if a Vaiṣṇava is being molested, disturbed, and it will be our duty to drive away those inauspicious forces. Adjustment is there. Viṣṇu, Vaiṣṇava, to protect them we shall take any measures sincerely but not for ones own self.

Rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāśah, goptrtve varaṇam, accepted Him as my protector, sustainer, my guardian, my everything. "I won't care for my own protection." Sometimes in sakhya rasa we find that.

raksakala hetu bhumi stela jani, manu carobu hani jamuna pani ?

We shall indulge in welcoming dangers. My friend is there. We do not care for anybody. We may take poison, the braja rakal, the Kṛṣṇa's friends, they were aggressors to drink poison. "That Kṛṣṇa is there, whom we should care? Nothing, not that there is nothing to be afraid of, Kṛṣṇa is there." So such indulgence one may have in śaraṇāgati. Rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāsaḥ, He'll protect me. Others protection I won't accept, I shall hate others protection. In the physical world, who'll protect? I deny if any proposal comes we should deny. "I am under His care." Is it not practical then? Is it all theoretical, abstract, my life is an abstract thing, only imagination, religion is imagination not in practice?"

This is our own case, but in the case of the molestation of the Guru, Vaiṣṇava, Vighraha, there of course that chance we get and that is within devotion, not for one's own. He will say: "No, let him do, let him do." Abusing, abusing a Vaiṣṇava will say: "No, what abuse? I am already filled up with so many abuses, so this abuse is nothing. So many things of abuse within me." And the fact is that if one Vaiṣṇava is abused then the abuser he takes up the defect himself. The poison is taken by him, it is transferred, transferred. If one is above abuse and any abuse comes to him, then who abuses he gets that, he eats it, and he becomes more pure, more pure. So Vaiṣṇava ninda vancor, very dreadful thing. But if we are well wisher, well wishing there, then not aparādha. To the subordinate if any defect is there the guardian will say: "Oh you have got these defects you must be careful, careful." With well wishing, then he may utter. Otherwise:

su apani samajanai vaisnave ninday ?

May he be in the position of Mahādeva (Śiva), but if he abuses any Vaiṣṇava he will be punished. But if with the abuse there is affection, from his one heart wants to remove that bad habit then it is all right, well wishing. Otherwise only to remark it will be dangerous, it will be transferred to him.
